Restraint reigns at debate

Despite the negative campaign literature being distributed throughout the township, candidates competing in the Aug. 4 Republican primary were fairly restrained at a recent debate sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

You could say that 90 minutes isn't a whole lot of time for 14 politicians to speak their piece. But Plymouth Township's 14 candidates competing in the Aug. 4 Republican primary had a chance to state their views on some issues before the township in a candidates forum Wednesday at township hall. Forceful attacks on opponents, evidenced in campaign literature from supervisor candidates, didn't happen here. Then again, there was a subtle dig or two at opponents, without naming names. And when presented with questions from the League of Women Voters and the audience, no candidate stumbled, although there was a moan or two from the audience when one quoted John Kennedy. The forum opened with questions directed to the four candidates for supervisor, lone treasurer candidate Mary Brooks and clerk candidates Marilyn Messengill and Denise Radtke. In opening statements, supervisor candidate Stephen Boak said his candidacy "was born out of frustration and hope." "My frustration is shared by a lot of people I've talked to in contacts around the community," Boak said, saying change is needed. He also pointed to his work in the county prosecutor's office, where he administered a staff of 175 and a multimillion dollar budget. Charles McIlhargey, township building director also running for supervisor, said that with 35 years experience in

Stewart: opponents attempt intimidation

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

John Stewart's supporters have come back swinging against charges that he violated the township ethics policy. They're threatening to get the federal government after township trustees who are making charges against Stewart and police Chief Carl Berry, assigned to investigate the charges. "For them to threaten to sue him (Berry) is harassment," supervisor Gerald Law responded. "He is only performing his normal police duties as dictated by the board."

It all started when charges were made against Stewart, a township supervisor candidate and current trustee. The township board convened a hearing in recent weeks to review charges he violated the township ethics policy by holding a "campaign fun(d)raiser" at the township park. Board members also charge that in his job as attorney, Stewart violated the ethics policy by representing clients charged with drunk driving in the township before the local district court. Stewart said he has affidavits from clients showing that he had a surrogate appear on his behalf in court on those cases. Campaign manager Dan Troutman said ethics violations charges against

Stewart "are indicative of the real dark side to the McIlhargey campaign." All current township board members, except Stewart, are McIlhargey supporters. Stewart supporters say the ethics probe seeks to tear down Stewart to McIlhargey's advantage. "There is no dark side to McIlhargey's campaign," McIlhargey said. "I have not been involved in the probe," he said, adding Stewart supporters "are trying to undermine people that have come out in support of me." Attorney Ronald Karp, a Stewart supporter, wrote in a letter to police Chief Carl Berry that the investigation "is a blatant and illegal attempt to threaten or intimidate John Stewart in

Trustee candidates debate at forum

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Sure, the Plymouth Township supervisor's race might get the most attention, but those trustee candidates aren't exactly a dull bunch. The seven candidates for four seats on the township board also took their turns speaking out at the League of Women Voters-sponsored forum Wednesday at township hall.

The two incumbents seeking re-election to the board defended their work to maintain a good community, while most of the challengers took shots at the current administration over the Western Townships Utilities Authorities project. In a two-minute opening statement, K.C. Mueller said she wanted to make a contribution to the community in at least three areas.

"I want to make the highest and best use of the land for the most people," Mueller said, adding her background as a Realtor would serve her. She also seeks to end "political power wars" that mean increased costs for taxpayers, explore shared services with the city, and as a trustee I pledge to do my homework before I cast my vote."

Taco Bell opens

A new Taco Bell restaurant opened Friday north of the border (Canton's that is) in Plymouth Township. The restaurant is at 205 Ann Arbor Road, west of Lilley, between the Fox Hills Chrysler dealership and Evola Music. The fast food chain closed its store on S. Main Street Thursday night. That restaurant had limited parking and no accommodations for drive-through service. The new restaurant has more parking and a drive-through window. Taco Bell now has one location in the city of Plymouth (at Main and Mill streets) and the new restaurant in the township. The eatery celebrated the grand opening of its newest facility by placing a giant taco on the sidewalk in front of the building and inviting passers-by inside.

Fate of Farmer Jack building still uncertain

BY ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

It appears to be a standoff. There's no change in the status of the old Farmer Jack building on Main Street. The building has stood vacant in the city of Plymouth since Farmer Jack closed Dec. 3, 1988.

Apparent disagreements regarding the potential use of the building between the landlord and tenant are at the core of the store remaining empty.

The old store is currently leased to Borman Inc., owners of the former Farmer Jack grocery chain, now owned by the A&P Co.

Farmer Jack leases the 16,855-square-foot store for $3,000 a month from owners Stanley Dickson Jr. and Thomas Pomaroli.

On the current lease, Farmer Jack has one year remaining and an option for five more years.

"We are reviewing the property from the standpoint of re-use for our own purposes," said Ted Simon, a Farmer Jack official. Simon would not comment on whether the company would exercise its option on the lease for another five years, saying that information was proprietary.

K.C. Mueller, a local Realtor who organized the Nov. 23 picket at the vacant Farmer Jack store and the Farmer Jack store in Canton, says she's concerned both as a resident and a businesswoman in the community.

Mueller contacted Farmer Jack when she was approached by a non-food entity in town interested in leasing the building. She said Simon agreed to let the potential tenant tour the building.

Mueller said the leasing price was $7-9 per square foot and owner Dickson said he'd consider $8 per square foot for the non-food tenant, with the tenant making the repairs.

"The sad part is we got very, very close to agreeing to a price," Mueller said.

She said that when she went back to Dickson with an update, he changed his mind and upped the price about $1 a square foot, which she said made the cost prohibitive. "Drywall alone will cost $100,000," she said.

Mueller sees the problem as twofold. The lease for the building requires that the tenant sell food, and she believes the $3,000 lease cheaply insures non-competition with Farmer Jack — especially when compared with the cost of running a full-page ad in a major newspaper.

Mueller sees the other side of the conflict as the owners having bought the building as an investment 10 years ago, and getting the Farmer Jack with the building. The current rent is low for the market, according to Mueller, and the building is best suited to be a grocery store, as it was for 30 years.

She doesn't believe the owners want to invest cash to renovate the building to accommodate a non-food entity, and they are waiting until the cost to buy out the lease comes down, as it will as the lease gets closer to termination.

Simon says the issue is not letting competition into the store, but rather a tenant/landlord issue.

Dickson said his hands are tied, and that Farmer Jack is the only one who can sublease the building. And as long as Farmer Jack pays its rent, there is nothing he can do, he said.

government, "I believe the central issues in this election are experience, skill and temperament necessary to lead this community into the future and meet challenges of the horizon.

He called for implementing sound business practices, maintaining the land use plan and "holding the line on tax increases" while "establishing a dialogue with adjacent communities."

John Stewart, current trustee and supervisor candidate, said, "I want to continue working with citizens to move Plymouth Township forward," adding he was an independent trustee committed "to putting citizens first."

Stewart said he'd called for an independent audit of the Western Townships Utilities Authority, adding the audit saved taxpayers money. "I am the only candidate for supervisor who has spoken out on the concerns of citizens the last four years," he said, excepting Boak.

Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, former Oakwood Hospital associate administrator and supervisor candidate, said this election will determine the path the township will take into the next century.

"We need government that is open, honest and accessible and responsive to our needs," she said, adding she brings integrity and professionalism to the office. Keen-McCarthy criticized the attention paid by the current township administration over several matters, including the spending of $1.6 million to build a fire station, then not having adequate funds to pay for staff and the purchase of "an ice cream parlor," the former Friendly Restaurant, as a township office.

Clerk candidate Denise Radtke said the next clerk "has two responsibilities — the day-to-day operation of the clerk's office and policy making," adding she has "a wealth and depth of experience" working with citizens.

Radtke said the board "should hold the line on the budget, and we must maintain our present services with no additional taxes." Radtke said she would keep an open mind on sharing services with the city.

Marilyn Massengill, also running for clerk, stressed that she has been a township employee for 23 years, has worked seven years in the clerk's office and is certified as a Michigan municipal clerk.

"I've been exposed to the decision-making process by which the township has grown and prospered," Massengill said, adding she would seek "innovative ways to keep taxes under control."

Carol Davis, former head of the Plymouth District Library Board, said, "I believe my knowledge and skills benefit the township."

"Economies of scale can be met by working together with the city of Plymouth and Canton Township," she said. Davis added that while she was on the school board, "I served on a committee that tackled common problems, I'd like to reinstate such a committee." Davis said she'd answer all calls and letters if elected.

Incumbent Abe Munfakh cited his experience on the board and on the township planning commission. "We developed a master plan that has made for a community we can all enjoy, that has made us the envy of southeast Michigan."

Munfakh said he would continue to seek to keep taxes low, and cited his active involvement on township committees studying issues, including the cable TV, police and recycling committees.

Charles Curmi said the issues before voters include reducing spending and keeping taxes down. "We need some credibility improvements and a new leadership style," Curmi said, adding he has experience as an engineer and manager analyzing information to make sound decisions.

"We must return our township to equitable leadership," he said, and pursue fiscal restraint while building trust.

Kay Arnold stressed that, "I'm not supported by any special interest group." She cited her experience as business manager of a collision firm, as a member of board of directors of the Community Federal Credit Union, and that she was named volunteer of the year by the chamber of commerce.

"With my financial background I will be an asset to this board," she said. Arnold said she'd seek to improve the quality of service without raising taxes, explore shared services where cost savings can be found and seek "more recreational facilities throughout the township."

Joe Van Esley said Plymouth Township was a healthy community, but controversy over the Western Township Utilities Authority bidding practices "have given it a cold."

He said the township should seek shared services with the city where beneficial, and in general seek cooperation "not confrontation." Van Esley said the township should stick with its land use plan and see the city "as the commercial center. We should work hand in hand with the school system and the county for recreational opportunities for all." He said the township should seek road improvements to Powell and Ridge roads and give access to township hall to all citizens.

Incumbent Ron Griffith cited his experience on the township board and as a Schoolcraft College administrator. "It has not been an easy four years," he said, but added the township has expanded fire services, improved police technology and helped perform street improvements, while continuing work on a new sewer system.

"Our children will live to benefit from that decision," he said. "Because of our past and present leadership we do have a quality township," Griffith said, adding, "any change must be explained to the taxpayers."

Almost real Youths train for police work

By BARBARA WILSON
STAFF WRITER

They could be our future law enforcement officers, and they're getting a jump on their training through the Explorer program.

These people, some as young as 15, are learning all the ins and outs of being a police officer with the Canton Township Police Department.

"We try to make it as realistic as possible," said program leader Sgt. Joe Bippus. "Of course, we pay close attention to their safety and would never put them in potentially dangerous situations."

One Explorer participant dropped out of the program after witnessing a hanging victim when driving along with an officer on patrol. Bippus said leaving the program is nothing to be ashamed of, but it is good that the young people know what is involved before they invest valuable time in law enforcement training.

Explorers is a program offered through Boy Scouts of America for young men and women between the ages of 15 and 21. The program is offered through many companies and agencies to provide young people with a realistic look at careers.

Bippus currently supervises 13 youths in the Explorers Program at the Canton department. They meet once each week, listen to speakers, work on drills and participate in community events.

"I think it's important because I see something lacking in kids today," Bippus said. "I think it helps to build character in young people."

Most of the Explorers under his supervision would agree with him.

"I have some friends who could benefit from this type of discipline," said Ken Constantino, an 18-year-old Eagle Scout who just joined the group. "This is a fun way to learn about being a police officer and it's always better to work with police rather than run from them."

Bippus runs the program like a paramilitary group. Participants do drills and, when they act up, they drop to the ground for push-ups.

They wear military uniforms, march and exercise on a regular basis.

Residents may see the Explorers at community events like the Liberty Fest and the upcoming FLIP for DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) pancake breakfast. They operate finger-printing stations at area festivals to identify youngsters and they help to direct traffic.

"We want them to know the value of morals and understand the importance of being involved in their community," Bippus said.

Taking it in: Jessica Smirno listens to details about the Pancake Breakfast where the Explorer Post will be working.

STAFF PHOTOS BY BILL BRESLER

In training: Explorer Post stands for inspection. Mike Ward's belt buckle was not properly shined — he was penalized 10 push-ups.

Each month, the Explorers are assigned an officer and they go along on patrol. They learn how to make traffic stops and are made aware of the boredom sometimes associated with patrol work.

If there is a situation that is potentially dangerous, the Explorer is dropped off and is then picked up by another officer.

The Canton group also recently returned from a weeklong police camp in Grayling organized by area police Explorers leaders.

At the camp, the Explorers work on the physical skills test that must be accomplished each month by police officers, as well as learn more about the profession.

"I can't believe the young people that can't do the skills test," Bippus said. "We have 40-year-old police officers that pass it all the time. These kids should be in better shape than we are."

Constantino, a John Glenn High School graduate, and other participants agree that the physical aspect of doing the job is important.

Basic course work: Explorer Post takes notes on the next detail they will be assigned.

Firm stands by community, builds office in Plymouth

By ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

A two-story, 18th-century-style building going up on Ann Arbor Trail, west of Harvey, will be the new home of Post, Smythe, Lutz & Ziel, an accounting firm that has been in the city of Plymouth since 1961.

Anticipated move-in date is Oct. 1.

The firm has two offices, in Plymouth and Wayne. The Plymouth office move has been four years in planning, according to Dennis Siegner, co-owner with David Williamson of the Plymouth office. After looking at existing structures, the firm decided to build a facility designed to meet its needs within the city.

In May 1991, the land now under construction was identified as the future site, said Siegner, and the firm felt the time was right because the cost of construction would be manageable.

"We believe in the community," said Siegner, regarding the decision to build in the city of Plymouth. "Our client base is here. We feel it is in the best location for the future of our firm."

Post, Smythe outgrew its current facility, according to Siegner, who has been with the firm 15 years.

The current facility which houses 12 employees and services clients is 1,800 square feet. The firm leases the office space from retired owners Roland Lutz and Harvey Ziel. It is now for sale or lease.

The new 6,000 square-foot site will be owned by Siegner, Williamson and Robert Bake, a local real estate broker. The building will include 2,000 square feet for storage and 4,000 square feet of office space.

At the new building, the firm will also have capacity for a cable hook-up that will enable it to handle fiber-optics from local area networks. The target date for the local area network is three years.

The building was designed by Plymouth architect Joe Phillips and his intern, Stanley Cole. It will be handicap-accessible without ramps.

At the current site, Siegner said his partner serviced a handicapped client in the client's van. After the move, that client will be able to come into the office. He said the facility also will be easier for elderly clients to use.

"All the staff will enjoy the ambiance of being downtown," said Siegner.

Siegner has already enjoyed the cooperation of his future neighbors.

Jerry's Accordion allowed the construction firm to run an electrical extension cord from his building until full electricity was available at the site.

The Christian Science Church agreed to let Post, Smythe re-configure the property to eliminate a retaining wall and railing.

Post, Smythe, Lutz & Ziel's customer base is 20 percent government auditing, 50 percent small business, and 30 percent individual tax and specialized consulting.

A building going up on Harvey Street near the path at Tonquish Creek and to the rear of the Post, Smythe site is a new office for two local dentists, William and Thomas Covington. Construction is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Man sentenced for sexual assault

A Plymouth Township man was sentenced July 14 in Detroit Recorder's Court to 2 1/2 to 15 years in prison, after earlier pleading guilty to two third-degree counts of having criminal sexual conduct with a Livonia youth.

Judge Dominic Carnovale sentenced Carl Richard Tucker, 42, who had pleaded guilty to having relations with the youth. The incidents began when the youth, now 16, was 12. Tucker was lodged in Jackson prison.

Teen joins pops orchestra

BY BARBARA WILSON
STAFF WRITER

Delia Chien of Canton is only a sophomore, but she is putting "all of her ducks in a row" for the future.

The 15-year-old Plymouth-Canton High School student was one of just 20 area youth selected to perform in an all-area pops orchestra sponsored by Twelve Oaks Mall. Her selection to the group netted her a $1,000 college scholarship and an opportunity to perform under the direction of Goofy, of Disney fame.

"It should be a lot of fun," said Chien, who auditioned twice for her spot as a violinist. "We play all pop music and I'm used to classical."

"Pink Cadillac" is not exactly a tune the Detroit Symphony Civic Orchestra would be expected to play. Chien is a part of that group, too.

The pops orchestra will actually be under the direction of a conductor from San Francisco which Chien finds to be rather impressive. Goofy will be standing in as a guest conductor during a performance Aug. 1 at the Novi mall.

Chien first began to play the violin when she was in second grade. She had already studied piano, but wanted to take up an instrument that was better suited for a group performance.

She chose violin. Her older brother plays the viola and her mother plays and teaches the piano.

Chien's mother, Fumei, loves classical music and has always exposed her children to it, although she said she has never pushed it on them.

the free exercise of a right secured to him by the Constitution of the United States.

"There are criminal statutes," Karp continued, "which expressly prohibit a law enforcement officer or public official" from interfering with a candidate for elective office.

"You might be well advised to seek the advice of an attorney... who can give you an objective, competent legal opinion about the full implications of your investigation and your liability."

Karp sent copies of the letter to supervisor Gerald Law, trustees Smith Horton, Ron Griffith and Abe Munfakh, clerk Esther Hulsing and treasurer Mary Brooks.

Horton said that once ethics violation charges were lodged with the township. "The ethics committee, if it is to follow the legally prescribed process as written in the ethics policy adopted by the township board, must pursue an investigation.

"To do otherwise would quite rightfully lead to accusations of 'cover-up' against the committee," he said.

Horton, who is McIlhargey's campaign manager, added that Karp's allegation that the committee is conspiring to intimidate Stewart's right to campaign "is ridiculous and erroneous."

BRIAN J. CZAPLA
Services for Brian J. Czapla, 34, of Belleville, previously of Plymouth were July 22 in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. Burial was in Hillside Cemetery in Belleville. He was born March 19, 1958, in Dearborn. He died July 19 in Ypsilanti. He was raised in Plymouth and graduated from Plymouth-Canton High School in 1976. He was a machinist at Fairlane Gear in Canton. He is survived by his wife, Janet Czapla of Belleville; parents, Eugene Czapla of Plymouth and Phyllis Czapla of Plymouth; brothers, Dana Czapla of Ann Arbor and Kevin Czapla of Portland, Ore.; several nieces and nephews. The Rev. David Lesniak officiated. Memorial contributions may be given to charity of choice. Arrangements were made by Schrader Funeral Home.

BARBARA TRUDELL
Services for Barbara Trudell, 89, of Plymouth were July 21 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield. She was born Jan. 5, 1903, in Detroit. She died July 17 in Ann Arbor. She moved to Plymouth eight years ago from the city of Detroit. She received her bachelor's degree in education in 1959 from the University of Detroit and completed her master's degree in education at Eastern Michigan University. She taught in public and parochial schools in Detroit and Dearborn Heights and retired from the Crestwood School District in 1968. She attended Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and the Newman Community.

She is survived by daughters, Mary Plante of Livonia, Joan Knoeri of Plymouth and Barbara Burch of Plymouth; sons, George Trudell of Plymouth and John Trudell of Grosse Ile; 17 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren and one brother, the Rev. Monsignor John G. Mattie of Washington.

Monsignor Mattie officiated. Memorial contributions may be given to Capuchin Monastery or the charity of your choice. Arrangements were made by Schrader Funeral Home.

Incumbent faces tough battle in prosecutor's race

BY WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

The Wayne County Prosecutor's race centers on:

- The incumbent's record in office.
 - Union politics.
 - City/suburban politics and, possibly, the hidden hand of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.
- In short, it's a typical Wayne County Democratic primary.

Incumbent John O'Hair, 62, and state Sen. Virgil Smith, 55, are fighting it out. Both are Detroit residents.

Though it's only a primary, the Aug. 4 election is decisive. No Republicans nor any third party challengers will appear on the fall ballot.

Smith, a state Legislator since 1976, is taking O'Hair to task over the office's conviction rate.

"There's a survey — and it's a county executive's office survey — that shows the conviction rate is 43.6 percent," Smith said. "One of his (O'Hair's) problems is that he's not screening cases properly."

O'Hair, however, said the report

'We can't get everybody, but I'd say our record is pretty good. Criminals are being held accountable for their actions.'

*John O'Hair
Wayne County prosecutor*

doesn't stem from executive's office but from a Detroit Recorder's Court consultant. (An executive's office spokesman confirmed the report came from the court, not the executive's office.)

"To tell you the truth, I don't know where their figures come from," he said.

In contrast, O'Hair offers a report of his own showing a conviction rate hovering around 92 percent for each of the past four years for all cases — including those settled through plea bargaining.

"We can't get everybody, but I'd say our record is pretty good," he said. "Criminals are being held accountable for their actions."

Smith has received heavy union backing — the UAW, AFL-CIO, AFSCME and the Michigan Education Association are in his camp — at a time when the contract with assistant county prosecutors is expiring.

Delays in settling a contract three years ago had a devastating effect on department morale, Smith said. "You can't have good morale in a situation like that," he said.

O'Hair said he doubted the contract delays had the negative effect Smith claims, adding he became even more involved than usual in settling the contract.

"Normally, it's the county that settles the economic issues, the prosecutor who settles non-economic issues," O'Hair said. "But I did become involved in settling the contract."

Smith has also received backing from the Detroit-based 1st and 13th District party organizations.

O'Hair said he believes Coleman Young is the driving force behind his rival.

"Virgil Smith is Coleman Young's man," he said. "Coleman

'I was the primary sponsor of Wayne County court re-organizing legislation. I've worked with judges, I've practiced in the courts.'

*Virgil Smith
primary challenger*

Young has been upset with our office since the prosecution of (ex-Detroit Police Chief) William Hart."

The mayor's office declined to return telephone calls on the subject. O'Hair has received endorsement from suburban Democratic groups, including the 15th, 16th and 17th District organizations in western Wayne County.

He's also received backing from the Police Officers Association of Michigan, Wayne County Association of Police Chiefs and Wayne County deputies and commanders unions.

The incumbent is stressing his accomplishments.

"Our Probe Unit, focusing on the habitual criminal, and our child abuse unit have been particularly successful," O'Hair said.

Smith, who maintains a private law practice, is stressing his experience with judicial and law enforcement issues.

"I was the primary sponsor of Wayne County re-organizing legislation," Smith said. "I've worked with judges, I've practiced in the courts."

O'Hair has been prosecutor since 1983. He had spent the previous 15 years as a Wayne County Circuit Judge and served three years as a judge in the old Detroit Common Pleas Court.

Policy defended

Elsewhere in this newspaper there is an article containing excerpts from a letter by Ron Karp, attorney for trustee John Stewart, to members of the township ethics committee.

In 1989, the Township Board of Trustees passed a resolution adopting an "ethics policy." The purpose of the policy is to establish standards of ethics to guide the conduct of township employees and elected officials.

The presumption of innocence prevails in hearings before the ethics committee just as it does in a court of law.

To assist in determining whether the basic facts of the allegations are true, the ethics committee directed the chief of police to make an investigation.

cess saying, in effect, that the duly authorized investigation is somehow depriving Mr. Stewart of his right to campaign for elective office and threatening legal action against Chief Berry and Ethics Committee members.

Given the fact that allegations of ethics policy violations by Mr. Stewart were lodged with the township, the ethics committee, if it is to follow the legally prescribed process as written in the ethics policy adopted by the township board, must pursue an investigation.

Dusbiber mourned

Plymouth Township Concerned Citizens mourn the loss of our founder, leader and mentor, Warren M. Dusbiber, who died July 11, 1992.

Warren taught us that you do not always have to shout to be heard and that knowledge and perseverance are powerful tools.

A man of quiet dignity and strong convictions, Warren was always there for us — always watching over us.

Bear wrestling OK

I'm writing to you about the article in Thursday's paper (July 16, 1992) about the bar bear wrestling.

In my opinion, I see nothing wrong with this bear wrestling. The biggest man on this earth could not hurt this bear.

I subscribe to a bowhunter's magazine published by Ted Nugent and I'm sending you a quote from the magazine. This quote is from Ingrid Newkirk, founder of PETA.

Gomer Quote: "Animal liberationists do not separate out the human animal, so there is no rational basis for saying that a human being has special rights."

Brian M. Mayer, Belleville

Elect new leaders

In your issue of July 16, Tom Kalis' letter reminds us why not to vote for any current member of the Plymouth Township board or anyone with a minute connection with Mettetal or Sewergate, such as appointees etc.

A good question to ask each board member at League of Women Voters gathering follows:

As an elected trustee serving on the Plymouth Township board over the past 3 1/2 years, it was your sworn duty to set policies and oversee the board on administration actions — in short, protect the interests of residents and taxpayers from the misuse of public money.

Why did you allow the purchase of Mettetal Airport to happen? Three thousand concerned community citizens signed a petition to put a stop to Mettetal. Warren Dusbiber did what the trustees were afraid to do.

The Observer recommends Mueller, Curmi, Van Esley. They are not a part of Mettetal or Sewergate. As for supervisor, go for Keen-McCarthy. She is also free of scandal.

Have you noticed that of all flyers sent out to seniors, the present incumbents make no mention of their complete failures? All they state is that they supported, not initiated, all the nice things they had put in front of them.

We need new leaders from the top down. Let's not perpetuate the present by electing failures.

Go for it 100 percent,

Frank Millington, Plymouth

Position redefined

I would just like to redefine my position as far as my working in Plymouth Township is concerned.

I will not personally do any developing in Plymouth Township. I will not vote on anything that will be a conflict of interest, but I currently have a few listings that projects are not pending on, but someday could.

In the event a vote arises on any of these properties, I will not discuss it with the board members or vote on it.

I hope this clears up my position. I have personally been denied access to the township hall before and will not deny anyone else access.

Joseph Van Esley, Plymouth

Stewart criticized

When the John Stewart Camp attacks the integrity of an individual like Esther Hulsing who has dedicated her life to the betterment of this community — it goes too low.

Joanne Hulce, Plymouth

McIlhargey best

It is heartening to see a breath of fresh air on the political scene.

Charles McIlhargey certainly represents a sharp contrast to the other candidates for township supervisor.

Mr. McIlhargey has been articulating a positive and forward thinking agenda for the betterment of the community. While the other candidates have become mired in mud slinging, negativism and in some cases juvenile delinquent behavior.

I, for one, have no doubts as to whom the best candidate is to lead the township forward.

John Morano, Plymouth Township

Dem candidates for sheriff address election issues

Democratic voters will select from among three candidates seeking the party's nomination for Wayne County Sheriff. Candidates are: incumbent Robert Ficano of Livonia, Wayne County Commissioner Kevin Kelley of Redford Township and Charles Nemeth of Dearborn. The winner of the Aug. 4 primary will face Republican Dennis Malin of Dearborn and Tish candidate Daniel G. Tackett of Taylor in November.

The Democratic candidates were invited to submit biographical information, photographs and answer the following questions. Nemeth did not supply a photograph.

Name: Robert A. Ficano
Address: Livonia
Age: 39
Occupation: Sheriff of Wayne County
Education: B.A. 1974 — Michigan State University; J.D., 1977 — University of Detroit Law School
Professional Affiliations: Michigan Bar Association, Elections Law Committee —

State Bar of Michigan, Livonia Bar Association, Governor's Correctional Officers Training Council, Southeastern Chiefs of Police, Wayne County Chiefs of Police
 Civic Activities: Optimist Club, Livonia Jaycees, Metropolitan Crippled Children's Society — former president, Livonia Board of Education, Board of Canvassers, former member. Livonia Task Force on Declining Enrollment, Italian American Club of Livonia — General Counsel, St. Collette Church member.

1. What is the primary responsibility of the Wayne County Sheriff and what qualifications do you bring to the job?

The primary responsibility of the Wayne County Sheriff is to provide inmates with safe, secure and humane treatment. In addition, the sheriff's department provides security to: Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport, county parks (park patrol), 142 square miles of waterway, secondary roads and court services.

Qualifications that I bring to the job are: nine years experience, legal background as an attorney, extensive community outreach, allowing me familiarity with countywide citizen needs and neighborhood concerns.

2. What cost-saving ideas can you offer taxpayers? Be specific.

Highlights of 1991 revenue generating programs:
 • Executive division: $6,408.
 • Court Service: $150,595.
 • Contractual police officers: $4432,040.
 • OUIL: $7,015.
 • Drug enforcement: unit of 28

position is totally self-funded from narcotic forfeiture.

• Do Drugs, Do Time: anti-drug police task force, first-time offenders are offered drug treatment as opposed to prosecution. Service fee is $180.

• Airport Security: unit of 102 positions is funded by the airlines.

• FOC Enforcement: unit is totally self-funded by the state. Fees are paid for serving warrants and making arrests.

Name: Kevin F. Kelley
Hometown: Redford Township
Age: 33
Occupation: Wayne County Commissioner representing the 9th District (Redford Township and northwest Detroit).
Education: B.A. from Central Michigan; M.A. (1986) in public administration from Western Michigan University.
Professional Affiliations: American Society of Public Administration.

Civic Activities: Redford Township Jaycees.

1. What is the primary responsibility of the Wayne County Sheriff and what qualifications do you bring to the job?

To administer the general operation and budget of the Department while providing the best available training and equipment for the officers to enhance their ability to enforce the law.

My education and government experience have sharpened my administrative skills and fiscally responsible attitude. I am prepared to revitalize the department.

2. What cost-saving ideas can you offer taxpayers? Be specific.

A balanced budget which provides effective spending for training and equipment is key. We need to reduce the present level of duplication of services. By increasing the level of municipal cooperation, the department would be recognized as a regional agency available to provide service and support.

 DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY AUGUST 4

Paid for by O'Hair for Prosecutor, 2189 Burns, Detroit, MI 48214

Primary information

Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on election day, Tuesday, Aug. 4. Voters are reminded that they may vote in only one party's primary. Voters may not split tickets in the primary. To do so will spoil the ballot. All voters may cast ballots in non-partisan races for various courts. If you have questions, call your local clerk's office before election day.

CLARIFICATION

Millage rebate sought

Local governments want jail tax money back

By WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

Local cities and townships are lining up demanding a rebate from the county jail tax.

But county officials say it's all a misunderstanding.

A resolution demanding the county return the .1-mill collected annually for an as-yet unbuilt juvenile detention facility has been spreading like wildfire among local governments.

Canton passed it May 26. Since then, it's been passed by Redford, Garden City and Westland.

"This is money that should go back to local government," said Redford Trustee Garth Christie, a leader in the movement to have the money returned.

The resolution was also approved

'You'd think this would be a big issue. But a lot of the voters I've talked to aren't really aware of it.'

Garth Christie
Redford trustee

by municipal officials in Dearborn, Inkster, Romulus, as well as Sumpter and Van Buren townships.

County voters approved a 1-mill jail tax four years ago. Since, then the bulk of the money has gone to construction of the new county jail in Hamtramck, though local officials claim one-tenth of the levy was to have been set aside for youth.

Assistant county executive Dale Jurcisin, however, is urging municipalities to be patient.

"I think their whole premise is wrong," Jurcisin said. "We are working on a comprehensive plan."

The matter was tabled in Livonia, where Jurcisin is a city council member.

The issue, Jurcisin said, is that some communities receive county money for youth services programs; others do not.

The state recently announced its own plan, ultimately shifting youths from state institutions to community-based programs.

The new state program drew strong encouragement from the executive's office.

Return of money to the locals was expected to be an issue in several county commission races — Christie, who is running for a commission seat in Redford and eastern Livonia, said his involvement grew out of his candidacy.

But whether the issue will ever reach the commission or just go quietly away isn't certain.

"We're really waiting to see what other communities do," said Redford Clerk Marilyn Heldenbrand, who also supports the resolution.

"You'd think this would be a big issue," Christie said. "But a lot of the voters I've talked to aren't really aware of it."

RESENTING ARTHRITIS

If you have arthritis and need fluid removed from your knee or other joint, you may undergo an unusual experience. When you undertake the procedure, you become tense and may feel light headed or nauseated. Yet other times, when you are donating blood, or having laboratory tests drawn, you feel no such reaction.

Physicians are used to seeing these responses which represent more than the pain of the procedure itself. Often what you are expressing is resentment. In the case of joint aspiration you are revealing anger over your arthritis: that the condition isn't going away, that you can't control it without help, and that you have to spend time and money in a doctor's office. Worst still, you must take medicine daily and therefore are continuously reminded of your limits and impairment.

Don't be distressed by your reaction. Such feelings of frustration are natural. Moreover, your doctor can accept your outburst if that is the single way you rebel against your condition. Expressing resentment in the doctor's office is a far better airing of your feelings than if you stopped taking your medication or cancelled your office appointment.

Physicians realize you are revealing feelings not attitudes when you express bitter complaints over minor procedures.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Be brave: Experiment with exotic fresh fruit

Momma was never one to try something a little different. In all honesty though, 30 years ago Cinnamon's Produce Market in Wyandotte never really offered the more trendy upscale fruits and vegetables that are commonplace in many of today's markets.

Mangoes, carambolas and Crenshaw melons were just beginning to be imported on the west coast. Their prices, as well as availability, were out of reach, especially to a family whose dad worked two jobs just to keep it afloat.

This is the season for fresh fruits, jams and jellies. To many, fresh fruit can be as simple as strawberries, blueberries and cantaloupe. But when it comes to enjoying a wide assortment, local produce markets are brimming with a multitude of selections.

In her book "Uncommon Fruits and Vegetables," Elizabeth Schneider offers a compendium of information on more exotic alternatives. From Atemoyas to Ugli fruit, unusual fruit selections abound and they taste equally as good sliced and eaten straight or made into delectable jams, jellies and sauces that could easily win an entry into an gourmet's cookbook.

Blood oranges

Blood oranges are gaining in popularity in the United States. Having long been a popular favorite in Europe, this huge, sweet orange with a scarlet interior makes for an inventive marmalade and can be interchanged with regular oranges with minor effort.

The membrane is a little tougher than a normal orange, but the blood orange is sure to enliven any fruit salad with shards of colorful beauty.

Another personal favorite is the gooseberry. Uncle Earl relished sister Rosie's homemade gooseberry pie. Resembling a small cherry tomato in size, its flesh is the same color and tastes somewhat like a cross between a tomato, strawberry and a grape. Gooseberrys are sweet with a slightly bitter aftertaste and, in addition to making a great pie, also make for an outstanding jam or jelly.

Aromatic guava

The guava is gaining in popularity, probably because of its juice, which frequently ends up in a blend of health food juice selections. The guava is very aromatic and its smell has been said to rival either the aroma of a sports locker or something from the Garden of Eden. The secret to choosing a good guava is to smell it.

The unripe versions will smell downright zozish, while the riper ones accumulate almost a floral aroma. The flavor is that of tutti-fruity, with the texture being pleasantly gritty.

Kumquats have been around for a while, but still, most of us have yet to acquire a liking for their taste. Serve kumquats like you would grapes. The rind is deliciously sweet while the pulp is puckery sour. Tossed in a simple fruit salad, or made into jam, kumquats are very versatile and absolutely delicious when pureed and rubbed over a crown roast or served with roast duck.

One of the most revered Chinese fruits is the simple lychee. Having been enjoyed for over 2,000 years, the fruit is about the size of a ping-pong ball wrapped in a shell that resembles a bur without prickles.

The consistency and taste is similar to peeled grapes, but if there's one thing the lychee has in its favor, it's the aroma that makes for fine eating, whether tossed in a salad, made into jam, or smoothed into a velvety reduction sauce.

Magnificent mangoes

Mangoes are considerably better known than apples in more places around the globe, second only to the banana and coconut. There are many different varieties with the little Asiar ones being tops in flavor and Keitt, and Palmers being more readily available. Their skins are smooth and the meat tastes like a silky custard when perfectly ripe.

The ripe mango will have the feel of a ripe avocado with the stem end emitting a mild, sweet aroma. Hearty enough to stand up to smoked or grilled foods, chunks of mango are wonderful additions to chicken salads.

I would be remiss in my duties if I failed to mention the papaya. Probably the most readily available of all the fruits listed above, the papaya can be green, orange, rose or yellow skinned and encompasses a smooth meat similar to a melon. But in all honesty, it's the black caviar like seeds that add the true flavor, crossing between nasturtium blossoms and peppers. Papaya can be eaten raw, pan-fried, pureed into a velvety sauce or cubed and tossed into a salad. It makes a great salad dressing, in addition to an aromatic chilled soup.

These are just a few of the exotic fruits to be found markets today. It's just the tip of the iceberg, so to speak, and there are many other fruits available. Ask your grocer for more information and start experimenting!

JAMMIN'

Homemade preserves make peachy gifts

Fire up the canning kettle to preserve fresh, juicy Michigan fruits. Making preserves is rewarding, and doesn't take a lot of time.

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

Fess up! How many of us are closet jar savers, hoarding against the day when we're going to make jam, jelly or preserves? Who doesn't have a box of jars tucked under the sink, or boxes of jars in the garage, behind the bikes waiting to be filled with plum conserve or strawberry jam?

There's no time like the present. Stores and farmer's markets are loaded with Michigan fruits, fresh and juicy. Peaches and plums are ripening as we speak. Sugar is selling for half price at many area supermarkets. This is the Christmas to amaze and delight your friends with gifts of your very own preserves.

"Jam making really isn't a lot of work, and it doesn't take a lot of time," said Jean Noth of Redford. "I really enjoy the process of preserve-making. It's relaxing, and there's such a great feeling of accomplishment when you have six or eight jars of sparkling strawberry jam or currant jelly."

Noth also likes that she controls the ingredients when she makes the jam, and knows everything is natural and pure.

Strawberries have no natural pectin so preserves made without added pectin are likely to be thin. "But, if you add pectin, you need a lot more sugar. A thinner jam is versatile," said Noth. "It can be used over ice cream, as well as on toast or buttermilk scones."

A neighbor gave her some red currants a few years ago, and Noth made currant jelly out of necessity. "Taking all the little green things off the ends is rather time consuming. But the good thing is you can save the juice and make the jelly whenever you feel like it. I like to make it in the wintertime. It's such a cozy thing to do then.

For Jan Winship, making her famous plum conserve and peach marmalade means Christmas in July. She's not even deterred by an imminent move from Novi to Farmington Hills. "Everything's packed but my jars, my canning kettle, and my wooden spoon," she said.

"Preserving keeps me out of the malls in December. While other people are fighting the crowds and making decisions, I'm putting together festive little ribbon-trimmed baskets of 'Jan's Jams.'

"If I feel like it, I might add a few homemade cookies. For one friend, I buy a special British 'shelter' magazine and box of salt-free crackers."

Winship always tries to buy Michigan fruit to make jam. "Maybe it's just my imagination, but it seems to have more flavor and juice, possibly because it's closer to home than California fruit."

When it's jam making time, Winship buys two or three kinds of plums — Italian plums, red plums, and a round chartreuse tart Japanese plum. Unlike peaches, plums don't have to be mashed. Just cut them off of the pits into pieces about the size of a nickel.

"An interesting side of recycling jars donated by your friends is that you find out a lot about their eating habits," said Winship. "Turns out I have one friend who devours jars of olives while she watches TV. I never would have known that if she hadn't given me a big box of empty olive jars."

Winship's philosophy of cooking is never read a recipe that begins with the word "mince," but, for her peach marmalade, she'll go through the trouble of peeling peaches.

When I open one of those jars in January, and the fresh peach aroma fills the kitchen, the little bit of effort is all worthwhile.

Serve hot chicken salad for special occasions

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC

Winner Dinner Recipes

HOT CHICKEN SALAD

- 4 whole chicken breasts, cooked
- 3 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
- 1/2 can condensed cream of chicken soup
- 2 cups celery, finely chopped
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 can water chestnuts, 8 ounce size, drained and chopped
- 1 can mushroom pieces, 4 ounce size, drained
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds
- 2 Tablespoons onions, minced
- 2 Tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 1 can fried onion rings, 3 1/2 ounce size, slightly crushed

Discard skin and bones from chicken; cut into 1-inch pieces. In a large bowl, combine all the ingredients except for the cheese and onion rings. Pour the mixture into a 9 by 13-inch baking dish. Sprinkle with the cheese and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Sprinkle the onions over the casserole and bake for another 15 minutes. Serves 6-8.

EASY RICE PILAF

- 1 medium onion, diced
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 stalk celery, diced
- 1/4 cup long grain rice, uncooked
- 2 cups chicken broth butter or margarine

salt
pepper

Saute the onion, garlic and celery in a small amount of butter or margarine until the onion is limp. Add the rice, stirring often until the rice is golden. Add the chicken broth, cover and simmer until the rice is tender, stirring occasionally. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

DELICIOUS RASPBERRY PIE

- 1 package raspberry gelatin, 3 ounce size
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 1/4 cups boiling water
- 1 package frozen raspberries, 10 ounce size
- 1 Tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 package cream cheese, softened, 3 ounce size
- 1/2 cup confectioner's sugar, softened
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- dash salt
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- 9-inch baked pastry shell, cooled

Dissolve gelatin and granulated sugar in boiling water; add frozen berries and lemon juice. Stir until berries thaw, chill until partially set.

Blend the cream cheese, confectioner's sugar, vanilla and salt. Fold in small amount of whipped cream, then fold in remainder. Spread half of the white cream cheese mixture over the bottom of the pastry shell. Cover with half of the red gelatin mixture. Repeat the layers. Chill until set.

BETSY BRETHEN

As summer continues to sail by, this week's Winner Dinner menu offers you a make-ahead meal that is perfect for those special occasions when the ubiquitous hamburger and hot dog dinner just doesn't cut the mustard.

Thanks to Gloria Bills of Plymouth for sharing her recipes for hot chicken salad, easy rice pilaf and raspberry pie. She loves this tasty menu and first served it when she hosted a baby shower.

Bills and her husband, Jim, are the proud parents of two young Korean children whom they adopted when each of the children was four months old. Delighted and thrilled, Bills exclaimed that adopting them was the best thing they have ever done.

Because she has worked as an executive secretary for 14 years at AAA Michigan, Bills considers herself fortunate indeed to have her mother, Catherine Vella, come to their home and take care of their children. A tremendous help to her daughter and son-in-law, Vella is much loved by her grandchildren.

Although Bills enjoys cooking, she makes an effort to plan and prepare her family's meals for the coming week on the weekend so that when she comes home from work she can spend time with her family. After all, she considers taking care of the three very special people in her life — her husband and two children her most important and rewarding job.

Thank you Gloria Bills, for sharing your recipes with us and congratulations on being selected this week's Winner dinner Winner. All the best to you, and until next time, I encourage all of you to please jot down your family's favorite slimmer Winner Dinner and send it my way.

Submit recipes to be considered for publication to Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham, 48012.

All submissions become the property of the Observer and Eccentric newspapers. Each winner receives an apron with the words "Winner Dinner" on it.

JEAN NORTH'S BUTTERMILK SCONES

3 cups sifted flour

3 Tablespoons sugar
2 Tablespoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
½ cup currants or raisins
1 cup buttermilk

Mix dry ingredients, add ¼ cup butter and blend in with pastry cutter. Add ½ cup currants or raisins. (Hint: if you bring raisins or currants to a boil and cool before adding to scones or cookies, they won't get hard.)

Add 1 cup buttermilk, mix lightly with fork, and knead gently for about 1 minute. Dough should be crumbly. Roll out ¼-inch thick on a floured surface. Cut into diamond, triangles or rounds. Place on greased baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes, until tops are golden. Makes 24-36 depending on size.

STRAWBERRY JAM

1 quart strawberries
4 cups sugar
juice of ½ lemon

Put stemmed berries in a 10-inch heavy cooking pot (not aluminum). Cut a few of the berries to release a little juice. Add four cups sugar (Noth uses ¼ cup sugar to 1 cup strawberries).

Stir the mixture very gently with a wooden spoon over low heat until it has "juiced up." When it is bubbling, cook for another 15 to 20 minutes over low heat. Stir occasionally to make sure the mixture isn't sticking to the bottom of the pan. Remove from heat, and sprinkle surface with juice of ½ lemon. Let set for a few minutes, spoon into jars and seal.

From "Joy of Cooking," Betty Crocker.

JAN WINSHIP'S PEACH MARMALADE

1 dozen medium peaches, 4

2 or 3 thin-skinned oranges
6 cups sugar
Boiling water
Dash of cinnamon

Pour boiling water over about a dozen medium peaches. Peaches should be a little firm, and not too ripe. (You want to end up with 4 cups of sliced peaches). After a few minutes, the skins will loosen and will slip right off the fruit with the help of a small paring knife.

While the peaches are soaking, quarter two or three thin-skinned oranges and remove the seeds. Grind the oranges, including the rinds, in a food processor. Put the ground oranges and 6 cups of sugar into a very heavy cooking pot (not aluminum), and bring to a boil. Turn the heat down, and simmer for about 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, skin the peaches and slice them. After the orange has cooked for 15 minutes, add the peaches, bring to a boil, and simmer for another 20 minutes.

Remove from the heat. At this point, you may add a tiny amount of ground cinnamon, if you prefer. Spoon into sterilized jars, add paraffin, or seal.

Try something different, experiment with exotic fruit

See Larry Janes' story on Taste front.

BLOOD ORANGE JELLY

Peel from 3 blood oranges, coarsely cut
3 cups water
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
¼ cup blood orange juice
1 ¼ cups sugar

Combine peel and water in heavy, non-reactive pot. Boil gently until peel is tender, about 40 minutes. Drain liquid and measure; there should be a little less than 1 cup. If there is more, boil to reduce. Discard solid rinds.

Return the liquid to the pot with lemon juice, blood orange juice and sugar. Bring to a boil, stirring frequently. Boil until mixture reaches a jelly stage. (large heavy bubbles that roll and pop).

Test as follows: Dip a clean metal spoon into the syrup. Move away from the steam, then tilt so jelly runs off. If it forms a steam or drops in two distinctive drops, continue boiling. If two drops travel slowly along the rim and edge, remove from heat, pour into sterilized jars, cool, cover and refrigerate.

GOOSEBERRY AND APPLE PIE

2 prepared 9-inch pie crusts

1 ½ pounds, tart, firm apples, like Granny Smiths
1 pint gooseberries, cleaned
½-¾ cups sugar
1 Tablespoon cornstarch pinch salt
Topping:
1 egg white
1 Tablespoon rum or brandy (optional)
1 Tablespoon butter or margarine

2 teaspoons sugar

Quarter and peel the apples. Cut into slices and place in a bowl with gooseberries. Stir together sugar and cornstarch and toss with fruit. Allow to stand while preparing the pastry.

Place roasting pan or baking sheet in bottom of a preheated 450 degree oven. Place one prepared pie crust in the bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Beat egg white with rum until foamy. Brush bottom crust with mixture.

Heap fruit into pastry. Top with butter bits and brush the rim with remaining egg white mixture. Lay top crust on, press lightly and seal ends with fork tines. Cut small vents on top. Set pie on baking sheet in the preheated oven. Lower heat to 375 degrees and bake for 35 minutes. Cool on a rack.

Have dinner at home, let 'Your Personal Gourmet' cook

KEELY WYGONIK

Now you can enjoy a gourmet meal, cooked by someone else, in the comfort of your very own home. Mark J. Mocerio of Troy will come to your house, cook dinner, serve, and even do the dishes. "It's like having a restaurant in your house," said Mocerio who just launched "Your Personal Gourmet, Inc."

Mocerio is a kind of traveling restaurant. He likes to have a consultation with customers before the dinner to check out the kitchen and see what cookware he'll need to bring. Call (313) 641-0904 to make dinner arrangements. Customers choose items from a menu that features a variety of gourmet items. Appetizer choices include, oyster pillows, Southwestern black bean cakes, and smoked salmon ravioli.

There are three gourmet pizzas, a variety of soups, including chilled cucumber cream with smoked salmon and roasted eggplant and garlic soup. Spectacular salad offerings include a Louisiana chicken and corn salad, and strawberry and spinach salad.

For entrees, diners have a choice of six pasta entrees, 10 seafood entrees, seven poultry entrees, five lamb entrees, six pork, veal and beef entrees. Adventurous diners will like the three game offerings — Roast New Zealand Venison, Breast of squab and Loin of Venison, Woodland Style

Desserts are heavenly: Florida Sunshine Key Lime Pie or White Chocolate Mousse with dark chocolate sauce, for example.

Dinners are priced at $62.50 per person for full dinner and services. Dinner includes; choice of appetizer or gourmet pizza, soup, salad, entree with accompaniments and dessert, bread and butter, and non-alcoholic beverage.

Services include; preparation and service of dinner and complete clean-up of kitchen, utensils and dinnerware.

Mocerio will provide the cookware, and will try to accommodate customer requests for reduced calorie, nutritional or vegetarian selections.

"I want this to be the best meal people ever tasted," he said. "I don't want people disappointed."

He plans to offer gift certificates, a great idea for what to get the person who has everything.

Quench your thirst for beer knowledge

AP — Burgers and beer make a tasty team, but with the myriad of brews on the market, which beer wins the toss?

Beer has been brewed as far back as 6,000 B.C. So, before you pop the tab or flip the cap on your next beer, get to know a little bit more about this ancient thirst quencher.

Lager Beer: Most beers brewed in the United States today are lagers. Lager beers characteristically are pale colored, mellow tasting and light bodied. They range between 3.2 percent and 4 percent alcohol and average about 150 calories per 12 ounces. Lagers are bottom-fermented, which means the yeast sinks to the bottom of the vat during fermentation.

Light Beer: American brand "light" beers have fewer calories (70 to 130 per 12 ounces) than lager beers because they're made with a reduced amount of malt and grain. They usually have less alcohol, too. In Europe, the term "light" has a different meaning. It distinguishes pale lagers from dark lagers.

Ales: Unlike lagers, ales are fermented at high temperatures by yeasts that float. They're more full-bodied and hoppier tasting than lagers (hops is the grain used to make beer). They range in color from pale to deep amber.

Porters and Stouts: These beers are variations of ales. Porters are dark brown, full-bodied and less hoppy tasting than ales. Well-roasted barley gives these brews a bit-sweet flavor.

Stout: Stout is also flavored and colored by roasted barley. It has a darker color and more intense, bitter hop taste than porter with a dense, almost syrupy body.

Bock: German-made bock beer was originally made during the winter months for drinking in the spring, though it's now produced year round. Dark brown in color, bock beer generally tastes sweeter than lager, and is full-bodied, with a sharp, strong aroma. The alcohol content may be more than double that of lager beers.

Malt Liqueur: Malt liqueur is another lager-type beer, usually with a higher alcohol content. A malt liqueur is marked by a darker color, more bitter flavor and more robust aroma than lager.

soft drink storage area, where the temperature is between 40 degrees F and 50 degrees F.

Most bottled beer comes in protective green or brown bottles plus cardboard packaging to help screen out light, which damages beer's taste. But it's still wise to keep your beer out of the bright indoor light or sunlight.

Unlike wines, beer doesn't improve with age. Brewers maintain strict quality control and stock rotation procedures to ensure the freshest product possible. At home, store beer no longer than a year for the best flavor.

How to Serve Beer

Although many people enjoy their beer ice cold, low temperatures numb the taste buds. To better appreciate the true aroma and taste of beer, serve it at 45 degrees F for lagers and lighter beers, or 50 degrees F to 60 degrees F for ales, porters and stouts. That means storing your lager and lighter beers in the refrigerator or a cooler and your ales in a cool, dark place, such as a basement.

Lemon turkey stir-fry delicious

"You are what you eat," said Matt Mchargue, 15, of Richmond, Ky., winner of the "National Turkey Lovers' Recipe Contest for Teens." His Lemon Turkey Stir-Fry with Pasta is made from turkey breast cutlets, fresh spinach and a variety of flavorings such as soy sauce, lemon pepper and white wine vinegar.

Here's the winning recipe.

LEMON TURKEY STIR-FRY WITH PASTA

- 1 1/2 pounds turkey cutlets or slices, cut into 1/2-inch strips
- 1 Tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 Tablespoon white wine vinegar
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon lemon pepper
- 2 Tablespoons olive oil
- 6 medium green onions, sliced
- 1 medium fresh lemon, cut into 10 thin slices and

finely sliced
1 clove garlic, finely minced
1 bag (10 ounces) fresh spinach, washed, drained and chopped
1 pound linguine, prepared according to package directions, and drained parsley for garnish

In self-closing plastic bag combine turkey, soy sauce, vinegar, cornstarch, and lemon pepper; shake bag to coat turkey thoroughly. Refrigerate 30 minutes to allow flavors to blend.

In large skillet, over medium heat, saute turkey and marinade in oil 2 to 3 minutes or until turkey is no longer pink. Add onions, lemon slivers and garlic; continue to cook until onions are translucent. Stir in spinach and cook until just wilted.

To serve, combine turkey mixture with hot linguine and garnish with parsley and lemon slices, if desired. Serves 6.

Healthy dish: Lemon Turkey Stir-Fry with Pasta uses turkey breast cutlets, fresh spinach and lemons creating a refreshing, elegant meal that's easy to prepare.

Use condensed milk in desserts

AP — Even though they both come in cans, evaporated milk and sweetened condensed milk are as different as black and white. If you're tempted to substitute one for the other, don't. Here's why:

Evaporated milk, available in whole, low-fat, or skim form, is simply milk from which the water has been removed. Unlike condensed milk, it contains no sugar. Nutrients, such as vitamins A and D, may be added. When mixed with an equal amount of water, evaporated milk is equivalent to whole or skim milk.

Sweetened condensed milk is a concentrated blend of whole milk and sugar. It is condensed by a special vacuum cooking process.

You can use sweetened condensed milk as a base for many desserts, such as caramelizing it into silky golden topping to pour over cake or ice cream.

To caramelize, simply pour one can of sweetened condensed milk into the top of a double boiler. (Never heat an unopened can because it can burst.) Place the pan over boiling water. Over low heat, simmer for 60 to 90 minutes or until thick and caramel colored, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and beat with a wire whisk until smooth.

Four the caramelized milk over cake or ice cream. Or, for a creamy, rich dessert, fold whipped cream or whipped topping into the caramelized milk. Spoon it into cream puffs or layer it in parfaits with fruit.

You can also use sweetened condensed milk for desserts without caramelizing it first. Try these easy ideas:

Chocolate sauce: Heat sweetened condensed milk with some chocolate pieces and a few dashes of vanilla extract. Drizzle it over chunks of fresh fruit, angel food cake, or marshmallows. Or, pour it into a fondue pot and use the fruit, cake and marshmallows as dippers.

Pie fillings and puddings: Add acidic ingredients, such as bottled lemon juice or orange juice concentrate, to condensed milk. Then, watch it thicken without any cooking, just like magic.

Surprise guests at your next cookout with 'food on a stick'

LOIS THIELEKE

Surprise your friends and family at the next backyard get-together and serve "food on a stick." Fire up the grill, grab your chef's hat, your skewers and some food, and you're ready to make kabobs.

Kabobs are a do-ahead meal with finger-food appeal. I am not just talking about roasting marshmallows on a stick, but appetizers or the main entree, the vegetables and desserts, the entire meal. Think of this as a stir-fry on a stick or a new twist to fondue. Kabobs are hands-on fun and healthy for the diet-conscious.

Grilling is one of the oldest methods of cooking and by taking the heat out of the kitchen everyone will enjoy the summertime meal.

Clean grill

Forget the foil for the vegetables, cook them directly on the grill rack above the coals. Vegetables directly on the grill have a wonderful smoky flavor that enhances their natural taste so the old standby potato or onion take on new character.

Make sure the grill rack is clean, remove the grill rack and spray with a vegetable cooking spray so the food won't stick. Do not spray rack over hot coals, the spray could cause a flame.

When grilling small or fragile food such as seafood, place a wire cake rack parallel to the grill rods, this will prevent food from falling through and on the coals.

Choosing skewers

Choose skewers that are long and sturdy, that are either square or oval so that when the food softens during cooking, it will not fall off. Metal, wood or bamboo skewers work fine. Soak the bamboo and wood skewers in water several hours before using so they do not burn.

For a backyard cocktail party, make the appetizers on a stick, they are easy to handle for guests. These can be all fruit, all vegetables or a combination with a meat. Choose foods items that cook, at the same rate, not some large pieces and some tiny, keep them uniform in size.

Try bananas, kiwi fruit, pineapple, watermelon, strawberries or fresh peaches on a stick. For a marinade to brush over grilled fruit use, orange juice, lime juice or a maple syrup or honey glaze. Use just enough so the fruit does not dry out. Fruit just needs to be heated, not cooked mushy.

Seafood appetizers such as one or two shrimp with fruit are fun for dipping in sauce or melted butter.

On a hot day and you don't want to stand over the grill, let people thread their own skewer and cook the kabobs themselves. Set out fruits, vegetables, meat, seafood and the skewers, everyone can select what they like.

Grilling vegetables

Vegetables are simple to grill and require little treatment beyond cleaning. Almost any vegetable can be cooked on the grill, but you may need to parboil some vegetables that require a longer cooking time.

Tomatoes and mushrooms skewered together with chunks of meat cook too quickly and tend to fall off before the meat is cooked.

Skewer soft vegetables separately and add to the grill just a couple minutes before the meat is done. Good vegetables to put on a stick are zucchini, asparagus, carrots, eggplant, snowpeas, sweet potatoes, green onions, squash, leeks and bell peppers.

Generously brush the vegetables with melted margarine, butter or olive oil for flavor and to prevent sticking. Cook directly over medium hot coals until fork tender and slightly charred. (A little char is tasty, but a lot of char is nasty).

Place food on the skewers, leaving space between each piece to allow for heat penetration and thorough basting.

Meat kabobs are generally marinated to help tenderize. The acids in vinegar, wine, fruit juice or commercial marinades break down the protein in the meat to make them more tender. Marinate the meat, (always in the refrigerator) precook any vegetables that need it then chill everything overnight or until you're ready to grill.

Do not use leftover marinade that the meat has been setting in for last minute basting or sauce.

Walnut dressing tops showy garden salad

AP — Whether your "garden" is just outside your back door or in your local supermarket, you and your family will delight in this showy salad.

GARDENER'S CHOICE SALAD

- 1 cup shelled peas
- 1 tablespoon chopped red onion
- 1 recipe Walnut Vinaigrette
- 1 1/2 cups sugar snap peas or pea pods
- 1 1/2 cups broccoli flowerets
- 6 cups torn mixed salad greens
- 1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 4 ounces scamorza or mozzarella cheese, sliced
- 4 ounces smoked turkey breast, sliced

In a small saucepan bring 1/4 cup lightly salted water to boiling. Add peas; return to boiling.

Drain peas in a colander, cool under cold running water. In a small mixing bowl combine peas, the tablespoon of chopped red onion and 1 to 2 tablespoons of Walnut Vinaigrette. Cover and chill for 2 to 24 hours.

Remove strings from snap peas. Cook snap peas and broccoli in lightly salted boiling water for 3 minutes. Drain in a colander, cool under cold running water. Line a serving platter with salad greens. Add walnuts to the chilled pea mixture. Arrange pea mixture, snap peas, broccoli, cheese and turkey on greens. If desired, garnish with dill, onion slices and edible flowers. Serve with additional dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Walnut Vinaigrette: In a screw-top jar combine 1/4 cup walnut oil, 1/4 cup white-wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons water, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon snipped fresh chives, 1 tablespoon Dijon-style mustard and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Cover and shake well to mix. Chill. Shake before serving. Makes about 1 cup.

Step around the heart of it NYC doesn't sleep during summer

BY TERRY TRUCCO
NEW YORK TIMES SYNDICATE

For some New Yorkers it's almost a reflex action to leave the city in the summer. But for those who stay — and those who visit — summer in Manhattan has a distinctive set of charms.

Even with big events such as the Democratic National Convention, summertime Manhattan has a little less bustle, a little less hassle. And this summer, in particular, New York City has lots to offer, including a dazzling lineup of plays on Broadway.

Manhattan is looking good at the moment. The frenzied building of the late '80s has slowed considerably.

Instead, the city is upgrading what it's got. Familiar museums, notably the Guggenheim and the Morgan Library, have enlarged their premises and restored old buildings with splendid results.

And in the past two years more than a dozen old hotels, including Beekman Towers, the Drake and the Plaza, have been renovated top to toe, often with stunning results. A number of pleasant, modestly priced hotels have sprouted up as well.

Manhattan is also trying hard to please its guests. Times Square recently unveiled two portable information kiosks. Each is an outsize steamer trunk on wheels with a multilingual concierge inside who hands out maps, brochures and advice.

Manhattan can be intimidating, of course. One way to make it manageable is to concentrate on what's new. This guide, while hardly comprehensive, will give a hint of the intriguing sights, shops and entertainments that may not have existed on your last visit.

Sightseeing

A happy addition to Central Park last month was the 90-minute guided trolley tour. Air-conditioned and painted a jaunty red, the trolley holds 32 passengers, costs $12.50 and departs weekdays at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. from Grand Army Plaza at Fifth Avenue and 59th Street. Information: (212) 360-2727.

Bryant Park, the elegantly landscaped square behind the New York Public Library at 42nd Street and Fifth Avenue, isn't exactly new. But it was officially rededicated in May after an $8.9 million restoration and looks terrific, with cleaned statues, mended wrought-iron fences and 2,000 perennials in the garden.

The stately new Garden Court at the Morgan Library, 29 East 36th St., (212) 685-0008, is a glass-enclosed conservatory where visitors can admire the ginkgo tree and ficus- and bougainvillea-covered wall year round.

Opened in October, the conservatory is a pleasing bridge between the neoclassical library and Morgan House, the adjoining 45-room Victorian brownstone. Open Tuesday to Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. There is a suggested contribution of $5.

The Guggenheim Museum, Fifth Avenue at 88th Street, (212) 423-3500, reopened last week after two years of renovations, with new galleries, a smart cafe and an expanded shop. An architectural highlight is Frank Lloyd Wright's sky lit small rotunda, previously closed to the public. "Masterpieces From the Guggenheim Collection" is on view to Aug. 27. Open daily except Thursday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Admission: $7.

Opening on the same day was the Guggenheim's new SoHo branch, 575 Broadway, near Prince Street, currently showing "From Brancusi to Bourgeois," modern and contemporary works from the collection, to Aug. 27. Open Sunday, Monday and Wednesday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., Thursday to Saturday 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Admission $5.

A new Broadway theater season is under way with a full house of recent hits, including "Falsettos" at the John Golden Theater, 252 West 45th St., "Jelly's Last Jam," at the Virginia Theater, 245 West 52nd St., and the megahit revival of "Guys and Dolls" at the Martin Beck Theater, 302 West 45th St. Tickets, $45 to $65, can be bought by phone at (212) 239-6200.

For movie buffs Lincoln Center's Walter Reade Theater, 165 West 65th St., at plaza level, (212) 875-5626, opened in December, offering vintage and international films. Screenings start at 2 p.m. Admission is $7.

Shopping

The past two years have been rough ones for many Manhattan merchants as an alarming number of vacant stores, large and small, attest. But SoHo, now a hip shopper's haven, is thriving.

All fixed up: The Guggenheim Museum reopened recently after two years of renovations, displaying new galleries, a smart cafe and an expanded gift shop.

The right binoculars can bring a vacation into focus

Good view: A good pair of binoculars is a much-underrated travel accessory

BY EVERETT POTTER
SPECIAL WRITER

A good pair of binoculars is a highly underrated travel accessory.

Some weigh less than 8 ounces and can be carried in a shirt pocket or tucked into a knapsack.

Binoculars can add to the pleasure of a cruise — for observing sea birds, whales and dolphins, watching port activities or identifying ships on the horizon.

Vacationers can take binoculars hiking, cycling, cross-country skiing, to the racetrack or the opera.

They can make an avid bird-watcher out of travelers who don't know a heron from a bluejay.

And costs vary to suit a range of budgets that is nearly as great as the available ranges of magnification.

An inexpensive pair of binoculars may cost as little as $85; a pair with more sophisticated optics can easily reach $500 and up.

But price is not everything. An inexpensive pair of binoculars may cause undue eyestrain or "eye fatigue." An expensive pair may be more state-of-the-art than the casual buyer ever will need.

Before buying any pair of binoculars, it's important to understand how they differ.

First of all, binocular models are identified by two numbers, such as "7 x 35" or "8 x 20." The first number indicates the degree of magnification. For example, "7 x" means the image is magnified seven times its normal size; "8 x" means eight times.

As with camera lenses, the larger the magnification, the more important it is to hold the binoculars steady. Otherwise, the image will blur and shake. Usually, any lens greater than "10 x" calls for a tripod to keep the image steady.

The second number refers to the millimeter size on the front, or objective, lens. The larger that lens is, the more light it can gather — and the larger and heavier the binoculars will be.

Binoculars come with various fields of view: the width of the image area. The wider the field of view, the easier it is to track moving objects, such as birds or racehorses.

The binoculars should be comfortable. Those who wear eyeglasses and find binoculars difficult to use may need to look for models with rubber eyecups that can reduce the distance between the eyes and the lenses.

Finally, binoculars should be easy to focus. The distance between eyepieces should be adjustable for maximum comfort.

Most of today's models offer central focusing, usually by turning a wheel between the eyepieces. Many also come with "diopter correction" on the right eyepiece. This allows the right eyepiece to focus separately to accommodate eyesight variations.

In terms of models on the market, probably the most significant and sophisticated new binoculars have been introduced by Carl Zeiss Optical Inc., the famed German manufacturer.

For the first time, the company has applied its advanced optics technology to compact travel binoculars in a line called the Zeiss Design Selection, with "8 x 20" and "10 x 25" binoculars, each weighing a mere 6.5 ounces.

Zeiss also uses "phase-shift multicoating" to cut down on glare. The glasses can be used for long periods of time without causing eye fatigue.

They fit comfortably into the palm of one's hand and fold into a lightweight, hard-shell case for protection. But the quality has a healthy price tag: the "8 x 20" lists at $530; the "10 x 25" is $575.

Many dealers will discount these prices, but it's best to think of Zeiss as the BMW of binoculars. For information contact Carl Zeiss Optical Inc., 1015 Commerce St., Petersburg, Va. 23803 or call (800) 33-2984.

Minolta Autofocusing Binoculars use the same technology that's found in Minolta Maxxum SLR cameras.

The "8 x 22" model, which retails for $302, automatically focuses on images at distances from 6.6 feet away to infinity. The sleekly designed "10 x 25," at $342, is good for images at a distance of 9.2 feet to infinity.

For information contact Minolta Corp., 101 Williams Drive Ramsey, N.J. 07446.

Nikon offers a wide range of binoculars for travel. Their new Sportstar series is affordably priced. The all-purpose binoculars fit into a pocket or purse.

C. J. RISAK

Donahue hopes to coach again

Suppose this is a fear harbored by all, which is why it's usually confined to the deepest recesses of our minds. And there it remains for most of us, a fear that fortunately is never realized.

Losing your job — for whatever reason — is horrifying.

But imagine losing it after enjoying what could only be termed as an unqualified successful year? How would you feel if, after breaking all company sales records, and doing it without violating any company rules, you came in one day and found out you were sacked?

Obviously, your first question would be Why? The answer given: Financial problems.

How do you argue with that? You can try, insisting that what you did generated more revenue than it cost. You could provide all sorts of supporting data, but if the decision by the people in charge has already been made, it won't do any good.

It's too late. You're through.

Glen Donahue has faced all this in the last three months. Last winter he coached St. Mary's College's men's basketball team to a single-season school-record for victories, guiding them to their second-straight NAIA District 23 championship and the ensuing NAIA National Tournament.

In five years, he took a program on the brink of collapse (former coach Rick Zalenski left just a few weeks before school opened in 1987, leaving an opening which Donahue filled) to one of the best in the nation.

Success isn't enough

And, unlike others (Zalenski, who left to coach Bristol College in Tennessee, put that program on probation a year later), Donahue did it while following the rules. Of the 15 players he coached and were eligible to graduate, 11 got their degrees; two others are expected to in December.

St. Mary's had never been so successful in basketball. And with the possible return of Joachim Jerchow, a native of the Netherlands who was a standout as a freshman at St. Mary's in 1989-90, combined with six returning seniors (including All-American Jimmy Bolden, from Detroit Country Day), it seemed the team would be even better.

Then came that fateful April announcement, one that shocked everyone and completely upended Donahue's world: Due to financial restrictions, St. Mary's basketball program was canceled. Immediately.

Now what? Here he was, a 57-year-old retired school teacher, without a job in a market with precious few openings. "I've looked at everything."

Donahue said Tuesday in the office at St. Mary's he still works out of, running summer basketball camps. "I'll consider a high school job, but I don't want to do it unfairly. I don't want to take a high school job for a year and then leave for a college job. And I've been coaching college for so long, I'd be like a duck out of water (in high school)."

Always a coach

But, Donahue added: "I want to coach. Always, in my life, I planned on coaching until I was 70-plus."

Considering he has nearly 600 career wins in his 31 years, including more than 500 college wins in 24 seasons, one might think he could find a job easily. But the late date in which he started searching combined with such a small market has left him still looking, still hoping.

It's the mark of the man that his first concern was for his players and coaches. Amazingly, nearly everyone on the roster has a place lined up to play and finish their schooling. Bolden, easily the district's best talent, has committed to NCAA Division I Wichita State.

It will be Bolden's third college. He played a year at NCAA I South Florida, a didn't like it and transferred to St. Mary's. It's a credit to both Bolden and Donahue's program that his final choice was based more on academics than basketball: More of his credits transferred, so Bolden could complete his degree faster.

Finding a place for a senior to play for only a year is not easy, but Donahue managed. Terrance Hughes is bound for Georgia Southwestern; Jeff Szczepanski, Spring Arbor; Fred Russell is considering Biola College in La Mirada, Calif.; and Kevin Karafa, a redshirt senior (junior eligibility), Northwood Institute.

Only Marvin Morrison, a senior bothered by knee problems last season, is considering coming back to finish his education at St. Mary's (all scholarships will be honored, according to the administration).

Kings win regular-season title

The Kings finished as the only unbeaten team in the Metro Summer Hockey League during the regular season. Now the quest for the post-season tournament championship is under way.

On the final night of the regular season, the Kings won a showdown Wednesday with the Wolves to capture first place in the Metro Summer Hockey League.

Larry Pilut scored five goals to pace the Kings in their 13-8 victory. Jim Mitchell and Joe Sellers added two goals and four assists apiece.

Tim Osborn was the game's top scorer, however, with five goals and three assists for the Wolves. Joe Burton added a goal and four assists.

In another game Wednesday, the Spartans defeated the Bulldogs 7-4 behind a two-goal, two-assist performance by Dave Weaver. Brian Lindstrom and Vic Decina scored two goals each for the Bulldogs.

The final regular-season standings are as follows: 1. Kings (8-0-1), 2. Wolves (6-1-2), 3. Broncos (6-3), 4. Spartans (5-4), 5. Canadiens (4-3-2), 6. Huskies (3-3-3), 7. Falcons (4-4-1), 8. Lakers (2-6-1), 9. Bulldogs (1-7-1), 10. Wildcats (0-8-1).

The top five teams qualify for the Bakes Division round-robin playoffs, the bottom five for the Windy City Division games. That schedule will continue through Tuesday, Aug. 4.

The top two teams in each division then will play for their respective championships — the Windy City at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 5, at the Westland arena and the Bakes at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 6, at the Plymouth arena.

On the first night of the divisional playoffs Thursday, the Kings stayed unbeaten with an 8-6 victory over the Spartans.

The score was tied 4-4 after two periods and 6-6 late in the game when Mitchell got the winning goal with 1:54 remaining. Chris Smith added an empty-net goal with 29 seconds left.

Smith finished with three goals, Mitchell and Pilut two apiece. Paul Pachkevitch and Josh Wiegand tallied two goals each for the Spartans.

In another Bakes game, the Broncos posted a mild upset when they defeated the Wolves 11-7 Thursday for their seventh consecutive win.

Mario Muzucca scored once and set up teammates four other times. Brian Wiseman and Jon Bowen chipped in two goals each.

Joe Burton had two goals and one assist for the Wolves, Lou Tallerico one goal and two assists.

Hines Park in playoffs despite loss

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

All the running Dave Wood has done this summer to keep in shape has helped Walter's Appliance stay in the race for a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoff berth.

Wood, who has shed 15 pounds since last year and now weighs 205, improved to 5-0 as a pitcher with a complete-game 7-1 victory over Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury at Livonia's Ford Field.

The win gave Walter's third place in the final standings with an 18-10-2 record and 38 points. Hines Park was in fourth place at 16-13 (32 points) with one game remaining. Each team earned a berth in the four-team playoffs that begin Tuesday at Ford Field.

Wood, a right-hander from Berkley and Henry Ford Community College, allowed four hits, struck out six and walked two. Hines Park's only run came in the sixth inning after Scott Rodgers (Plymouth Salem) and Jason Riggs (Plymouth Canton) had consecutive singles and Rodgers came home from second on a throwing error.

"Last year, I liked to work out (with weights) so much I put on weight," Wood said. "I started running a lot more and not lifting as much and I like it."

Walter's will likely play second-place Delwal in Tuesday's first playoff game at 8 p.m. Hines Park, which finished the regular season Sunday against Tecumseh, will likely meet Livonia Little Caesars (the first place team prior to Friday) at 5:30 p.m.

Hines Park lost four of its last six games and in that stretch scored only 12 runs. Jeff Paluk (Plymouth Salem) suffered the loss after allowing four runs in the first and two more in the fourth before leaving.

Paluk, 4-4 overall, allowed only three hits but walked five and hit a batter.

"Right now, Rodgers is our only guy stepping out in the middle of the diamond and taking charge," Hines Park coach Dave Carroll said. "We've quit scoring runs and that puts pressure on the pitchers and defense."

Walter's scored four runs in the first on four walks, a Hines Park error and a double by Craig Overaitis (Livonia Franklin). Joe Brusseau (Borgess), Jeff Pendell (Churchill), Overaitis and Paul Pirronello (Catholic Central) scored.

Lou McKaig was safe on a fielder's choice in the fourth and later came home on a single by Overaitis. Keyin Young (Farmington) made the score 6-0 with a sacrifice fly scoring Brusseau, who was hit by a pitch. Brusseau walked to lead off the sixth and scored the final run on another sacrifice fly by Young.

"We're in the playoffs and that was one of our goals," Walter's coach Mike Keller said. "We'll be here Tuesday, ready to play ball."

Caesars rallies

Little Caesars used its final at-bat well, staging a seventh-inning rally to edge Walter's Appliance 3-2 Wednesday at Ford Field.

Caesars prior to Friday was 19-9 (38 points) with two games against Tecumseh remaining.

Jerry Shippe's bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh won it for Caesars, breaking a 2-all tie.

Walter's pitcher Bryan Pfeifer loaded the bases with one out in the seventh and Keller summoned former Redford Catholic Central righthander Steve Ross from the bullpen.

Ross immediately yielded the base hit to Shippe, which scored pinch-runner Larry Gagne.

Dave Roman went the distance and earned the win for Caesars. Walter's had five hits, including two from Jeff Pendell.

Wirebaugh goes 6-1

Derek Wirebaugh won his sixth game Wednesday, pitching Delwal to a 5-4 win over Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury at Ford Field.

Wirebaugh went six innings, striking out six, walking one and allowing 10 hits.

Delwal had eight hits, including three from Chad Chapman. Jason Valente chipped in two hits, one RBI and four stolen bases.

Concealed Security reaches tourney final

The Concealed Security Connie Mack baseball team reached the championship game of the Macomb district over the weekend at Kyte Monroe Field in St. Clair Shores.

Concealed (25-13-1 overall) won two of its first three games in the double elimination tournament and played the Macomb Riggers in Saturday's title game.

Some of the most anxious moments came Friday afternoon when Concealed beat Tecumseh (Canada) 2-1 in eight innings. Concealed received a third-round bye before playing Tecumseh.

Concealed got excellent pitching from starter Dan Gusoff and reliever Dan Scutchfield. Gusoff allowed three hits, one run and walked four before leaving with a 1-1 tie after 6½ innings. Scutchfield earned the win, pitching hitless relief over the last 1½ innings.

Tecumseh scored the first run in the fourth before Concealed tied the score in the bottom of the sixth with two outs. Matt Green walked with two outs, stole second base and came home on Craig Petersen's single. Concealed broke the tie in the eighth.

Paul Kuhn singled and went to second on a bunt by Todd Piniewski. Cuba Gregory was safe on a bunt to put runners on first and third and after an intentional walk to Mark D'Antonio, Green singled to bring Kuhn home.

Concealed started the tourney with a 6-3 loss on Thursday afternoon against Riggers. D'Antonio was the losing pitcher, 11 hits and three walks.

D'Antonio had two hits and an RBI and Gusoff had a two-run single in the third that gave Concealed a 3-2 lead. Riggers took the lead for good in the fifth with two runs.

Concealed won for the first time, 13-1, over Rochester in a game played Thursday afternoon. Chad Zann was the winning pitcher in the five-inning mercy game, allowing only two hits.

Concealed scored nine runs in the first inning on six hits, two walks and a hit batter. D'Antonio was 3-for-4 with five RBI. Lee Gardner and Green each had two hits and an RBI.

Bowling should be Olympic sport

AL HARRISON

OK sports fans, now that you're nestled on the couch enjoying the Olympics, let's see if any bowling flashes on the screen.

During the last Olympic games, bowling was run as a demonstration sport. This time around, golf and women's softball will replace bowling.

I want you to know there has been a major effort put forth to make bowling a medal sport.

More than 110 million people in 80 countries bowl at least one game per year. Around the globe, approximately 12 million people compete in organized leagues.

Bowling rules are universal and so is the equipment used. Now, could someone please tell me why bowling is not part of the Olympics?

It's one of the oldest sports in the world, dating back to 5,200 B.C. Worldwide, 7 million games are bowled each day — and still no Olympics. Why?

Well, sports fans (bowling fans in particular), I have great news. Bowling will be present in Barcelona. We just came in through the side door, that's all.

Thanks to the resourcefulness of the American Bowling Congress, the Bowling Proprietors Association of America, the Women's International Bowling Congress and the Brunswick Corp., bowling will be in full bloom in Olympic Village. Brunswick is an official supplier in Spain and has installed a state-of-the-art bowling and billiards facility there. The facility will give the sport of bowling an opportunity to support the Olympic movement by providing an important form of recreation for athletes from around the world.

In addition, there will be clinics and daily bowling exhibitions, demonstrating to people from all over the world the merits of the game.

This bowling center will include 16 Bowlervision lanes for the free use of some 15,000 athletes from 170 nations.

The center will close for two weeks right after the Olympics and then reopen for the Paralympic Games, which run from Aug. 29 to Sept. 17 for handicapped athletes.

The total cost of this facility will be in excess of 1 million dollars.

The expense and effort were deemed worthwhile by Don Hillman, chairman of the BPAA's Olympic Committee.

"We really need a presence in Barcelona," Hillman said.

Together with Brunswick, the BPAA, ABC and WIBC all felt it was vital to include bowling somehow during these Olympics to keep its momentum going for the future and hopefully making it a medal sport.

Actually, bowling would be great for the Olympics. The sport is scored objectively, much of the world bowls, and men and women compete according to identical rules and with similar ability.

Then there's the historical angle: Bowling, in its present form, began in 1895 — within a few months of the first modern Olympics.

■ SUPERSTARS RESULTS

Canton Parks and Recreation Services had its annual Youth Superstars contest July 18 at Griffin Park. More than 50 youths tested their skills in the 50-yard dash, Frisbee toss, soccer, baseball, golf and basketball. Following are the winners according to age group.

Olive Ikeh was the girls 13-15 winner with perfect 10s in all events.

The girls 10-12 division had a tie between Amy Dorogi and Meaghan Nolan with 51 points apiece. Dorogi scored 10s in basketball, Frisbee and golf. Nolan in soccer, running and baseball.

Jacqueline Sledobnick won the girls 9-and-under competition, scoring 10 in all six events for 60 points. Leslie Ziegler was second (41) and Angela Scott third (31).

In the boys competition, Howard Gearns was the 13-15 winner with 43 points, including a 10 in Frisbee. Adam Cunningham and Justin Marcis shared second place with 36 points apiece.

Andy Power won the 10-12 age group with the help of 10s in basketball and running. Robert Wiloughby was second and Teono Wilson third.

Adam Forbes edged Ryan Cunningham for first place in the 9-and-under group, 42-41. Forbes scored 10s in basketball and running. Cunningham in golf and baseball. Eric Covert was third.

■ DAVIS MAKES PLAY

Brian Davis of Canton, a member of the Royals baseball team in the Wayne/Westland Youth Athletic Association, single-handedly executed a triple play earlier this month.

Davis, who was playing center field, caught a flyball on the run and subsequently stepped on second base to double off a runner who had left for third. Then he tagged another runner going from first to second.

Despite the brilliant effort by Davis in that inning, the Royals lost the game to the Mets. Davis, a fourth grader at Walker School, would like to be a Major League player when he gets older.

■ TENNIS RESULTS

The Canton Singles and Doubles Tennis Tournament was played July 11-12. Following are the results of the age-group finals.

Boys 10-12 singles: Vinnie Ikeh defeated Gagan Palrecha (6-4, 7-6); boys 13-15: Matt Potter defeated Steve Shumard (6-3, 6-0); men's 20-29: Gerry Chang def. Theo Ulinfun (6-1, 6-7, 6-2); men's 40-over: Randy Whately def. Jeff Holmquist (6-3, 6-3); girls singles: Olive Ikeh def. Shazia Ahmed (7-5, 6-3); women's singles: U.K. Ikeh def. Kathy Stella

(2-6, 6-3, 7-5); boys 15-under doubles: Matt Potter/Gagan Palrecha def. Riley Whately/Vinnie Ikeh (6-1, 6-3); men's doubles: Jason Grimm/Kevin Laber def. Chris Bray/Eric Baden (default).

■ SOCCER TRYOUTS

• The under-19½ Canton Juventus state champion soccer team will have open tryouts 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Aug. 1, at Centennial Educational Park, corner of Joy and Canton Center in Canton. For information, call Wolfgang Henkel (451-0786) or Jerry Parent (455-5139).

• Tryouts for the Northville Sting, a 1977 boys Iltch Division Little Caesars premier soccer team, will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Northville Soccer Field, off Sheldon between Five Mile and Six Mile. The tryouts are open to boys 15½ and younger, from all areas.

For more information, call Bob Pizzuti at 476-1883.

Donahue

A place for all — but one

Other squad members and their new schools: junior Brian Koscielski (Wayne State); redshirt sophomore Jason Shafer (St. Clair Community College); sophomore Chris Delaney (Brock University in St. Catherine's, Ontario); and redshirt junior Marc Eversley (considering Georgia Southwestern and Cumberland College, Ky.). Junior Brian Smith is undecided.

Even Jerichow has found somewhere else to go. He will attend NCAA II Hawaii-Chaminade. Donahue's assistant coaches are taken care of, too — son Kevin will coach St. Clair Shores South Lake, and Denny Butcher will coach the Milford-Lakeland girls team.

But what about the head man? "I've applied throughout the U.S.," he said. He's also in consideration for a couple of coaching jobs at Canadian colleges.

But time is running out. He knows it; Donahue is facing a winter without coaching for the first time in 31 years.

He is left to sit in his office, wondering how this happened. "I don't know how they can justify it," he says when pondering the decision made by St. Mary's Board of Trustees. "I'm still in shock. In no way do I know of any reason why they dropped it."

What about a lack of finances? "That's easily used as a reason," he answers in disbelief. "The more I think of it, the more confused I get. This was an ideal situation. They were all achieving academically."

He used to love his job at St. Mary's. He was up early and in the office by 8 a.m., often staying until the evening hours. Unless it was a game day, of course — then he might not get home until nearly midnight.

It's different now. "This has been a very, very devastating experience for me," Donahue said. "I'm still not over it."

"We have a father-son basketball camp coming up in mid-August (21-23) and another camp Aug. 9-13. I'd like to clear out of here after that first camp."

"I want to get out of here. It's a traumatic experience for me just to come in every day. I'd like to find another job and just . . ."

He waves good-bye. After giving so much, it's no wonder he feels betrayed.

Two good reasons for an employee to be out of the office.

Today, the National Guard and Reserve makes up over 44% of our armed forces. So when people who work for you need time off to serve, please be supportive. While there may be many good reasons to be out of the office, there can be none better than protecting our country's future.

Looking for someone special? A bowling partner, a travel companion or someone to share your life? Every Monday and Thursday your Observer & Eccentric Newspapers will publish a PERSONAL SCENE directory—listings of people who are looking for people. PERSONAL SCENE has five classifications—men seeking women, women seeking men, people who want to share sports interests, seniors who need companionship and people who need someone with whom to travel. PERSONAL SCENE also takes advantage of our electronic age. When you've composed your five-line listing, which will run free for eight issues, call 591-0900 and our ad takers will be happy to help you record your message so that it can be heard by people who are interested in what you've said in your ad. You will never receive unwanted calls at your home, all responses will be recorded and left in your electronic PERSONAL SCENE message center. Note: It will cost $1.49 per minute to check the responses to your listing. Readers who wish to respond to a listing in our PERSONAL SCENE directory, may use a touch-tone telephone to call 1-900-454-8088 and the special number which will appear in each ad. The cost to do this is also $1.49 per minute. To place your own PERSONAL SCENE ad, call 591-0900/FAX 953-2232 or Mail us this coupon: The following is kept confidential. HOIRIOISICIOPIE

By C.C. Clark

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Think everything through twice before you act. Impulsive decisions could leave you with more trouble than you bargained for.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Travel or a change of residence is definitely in your future. Keep your mind open to new ideas. Don't become too superstitious.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
There could be some stormy days on the romantic front for you. Keep a cool head and try to see things from the other person's perspective.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
Stand your ground and ask for what is rightfully yours. Don't pretend to be happy if you are not; make an effort to get out of grievous situations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You may have a chance at new employment, though it will be temporary. Puttering in the garden or at home will bring you pleasure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Boredom could cause you to do something foolish and immature that you will regret later. Treat people with the respect and dignity they deserve.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Quarrelling will cause you grave problems. Diplomacy will get you where you want to go; use it to your advantage.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
Avoid judging others too harshly. You may be feeling disillusioned by those who made great promises but have failed to come through.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
One of your fondest wishes could soon be fulfilled. Listen to sound advice from those who want to help. Material temptation is conquered.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Don't destroy a friendship over a silly argument. Keep plugging along and don't be frustrated by obstacles. You will achieve great success.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
You will be tempted to go astray, but stay on the right path. You don't need the guilt from intentionally causing someone else pain.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Put off making major financial decisions at this time. Fear of moving out of a particular situation could hold you back from achieving your dreams.

"To Be the Best" is glitzy, glamorous fun

Wagner, Hopkins top energetic ensemble

By Carl Spinks

Fans in over 90 countries have seen the miniseries version of Barbara Taylor Bradford's "To Be the Best" since it was released last year. Now, American audiences get their chance when CBS presents the two-part, four-hour dramatization of Bradford's exciting tale of greed and glamor on Sunday, Aug. 2, and Tuesday, Aug. 4.

Emmy winner Lindsay Wagner heads the energetic ensemble cast as strong-willed Briton Paula O'Neill, the designated heir to the Harte's Department Store empire founded by her grandmother. Under O'Neill's farsighted, humane guidance, employees have cheerfully adopted the store's motto, "To Be the Best," and business has flourished. Now, her sights are set on conquering America.

Unfortunately, her plans are no secret to evil Jonathan Ainsley (Christopher Cazenove), O'Neill's charming, vindictive cousin who was banished from the family business for embezzlement. Aided by his wily (and equally duplicitous) benchman Tony Chiu (James Saito), Ainsley plots an elaborate scheme to gain controlling shares of the business and depose O'Neill. As Ainsley's evil machinations pick up speed, it becomes clear that only canny Jack Figg (Anthony Hopkins), O'Neill's droll director of security, can prevent corporate upheaval.

The densely woven story contains many subplots. Days before he is dispatched to Hong Kong on behalf of the business, Paula's gentle cousin Sandy (Blake) learns that he is dying of leukemia and decides to indulge his gambling addiction with one last fling in Macao. In so doing, he becomes yet another pawn in Ainsley's villainous schemes, and his downfall is tragic. Chilling, too, is the fate of another Harte's employee, lovely Madelena O'Shea (Fiona Fullerton), who finds herself terrorized by an old boyfriend, an alcoholic soap-opera actor played by Stuart Wilson.

Wagner is a longtime audience favorite, and her performance in "To Be the Best" is up to the actress' usual standard. Hopkins, an Oscar winner for his powerful performance in last year's "The Silence of the Lambs," is a formidable presence as stolid, keen-eyed Figg.

Cazenove is accustomed to playing villains, and his performance here is a slice of delicious evil. Stephanie Beacham ("The Colbys") plays Arabella Sutton, Ainsley's viperish fiancée in an intoxicating blend of schemer and siren. Saito excels in his role as the deceitful Chiu, creating a sort of Asian lingo.

The miniseries was directed by Tony Wharmby from Elliott Baker's teleplay of Bradford's novel. Richard Bradford, the author's husband, produced the work, which was filmed on glamorous locations in New York, London, Hong Kong and Macao.

For its many merits, "To Be the Best" is not without flaws. Some viewers may find the characters and setting rather dated, a throwback to the Reagan-era days of "Dynasty" and "Dallas." The dialogue occasionally seems a bit overstated (especially Beacham's), and Alan Parker's musical score lacks subtlety.

Biondi enters Olympic pool again

By Dennis Hernandez

U.S. team member Matt Biondi has a chance to accomplish what has not been done by any male swimmer in almost 100 years of Olympic history — gold medals in three different Games.

At the Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain, the 26-year-old Biondi will have the opportunity to add to the gold medal he won at the 1984 Los Angeles Games and the five gold medals he earned at the 1988 Seoul Games. A favorite this year in the 100-meter freestyle (he holds the world record in that event), Biondi is also slated to compete in the 50-meter freestyle and the 400-meter freestyle relay.

Biondi says, "As a kid I never thought that I'd swim in the Olympics or amount to anything in the sport. I just took it one step at a time and tried to enjoy myself. It turned out to be quite an experience."

With two Olympics already under his Speedo, Biondi is as excited about these games as he was about his first.

"We have the strongest team that I've ever been associated with in my nine years of international competition," he says. "The women are a great deal stronger than I've ever seen, and the men are more experienced. We have more record holders and more world champions than any team I've ever been on."

"I think you'd have to be brain dead to not be excited to race in this one."

Bob Costas is the host for prime-time coverage of the 1992 Summer Olympics, nightly on NBC.

CABLE NEWS

Sports and Reagan's swan song

By Dan Rice

The Summer Olympics are foremost in the minds of sports enthusiasts this week, and ESPN's SportsCenter aims to please with live Olympic updates weekday mornings beginning Monday, July 27.

To see two guys fighting over a purse, tune in to Showtime on Saturday, Aug. 1, for Showtime Championship Boxing live from the Las Vegas Hilton. The doubleheader pits Hector "Macho" Comacho against Tommy Small for 10 rounds, while Julio Cesar Chavez defends his WBC Super Lightweight Championship against Frankie Mitchell in a 12-round event.

A greedy billionaire (that's not so hard to believe) makes a bet that he can survive a month as a homeless person using nothing but his wits in Life Stinks. Mel Brooks plays the man with many lessons to learn in the comedy debuting Sunday, July 26, on The Movie Channel. Lesley Ann Warren, Jeffrey Tambor, Stuart Pankin and Howard Morris co-star.

Always executive material, former president Ronald Reagan's last movie role (so far) was in 1964's The Killers as a brutal crime kingpin. On Saturday, A&E airs this drama about a million-dollar robbery and two hit men who decide to hunt down the man who hired them: Lee Marvin, John Casavetes and Angie Dickinson co-star in the adaptation of an Ernest Hemingway story.

Tuesday on AMC, Fred MacMurray and Katharine Hepburn star in Alice Adams.

Lady in Spain: Launi's Barcelona dream

Athlete/nutritionist looks to life ahead

By Steven Alan McGaw

"I'm getting pretty nervous, like always," Launi Meili said candidly in an interview conducted earlier this month. "Everyday, I'm working as hard as I can to do what I can do when I get there."

What Meili does is shoot, expertly, for the U.S. Olympic shooting team. A finalist in the 1988 Olympics, Meili has a wealth of awards tucked away, including a gold medal from the 1991 U.S. Olympic Festival. In her career, Meili has set over 100 national and three world records. All that, however, is the past. Now, the Washington native's focus is on the 1992 Games.

"I feel I'm shooting as strong as I ever have," says Meili, who competes in the three-position and air-rifle events. An avid aerobicicer, Meili also uses visualization exercises in her rigorous training program.

"I visualize myself having the perfect hold, the perfect squeeze and follow-through and then the perfect shot," Meili explains.

Meili declares this is her last Olympics.

"There are other areas I want to excel in," she says. "I've put a lot of years in shooting. Now I'm ready to round out my life."

Meili helps her Olympian peers reach their potential by working as a nutritionist in the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. Trained at Eastern Washington University, Meili says, besides training and natural ability, "Diet is the next factor in an athlete's performance."

Besides planning OTC menus, Meili offers individual tips for athletes, from the carbohydrate-rich diets of cyclists and swimmers to those in highly weight-restrictive sports like boxing and wrestling.

And does the world class shooter herself observe an exotic or highly restricted diet?

"Not really," she answers, with a laugh, "but I try to cut down on fats. I could always stand to lose 10 pounds."

As a member of the U.S. shooting team, Launi Meili is in Barcelona, Spain, for her second, and final, try at Olympic gold. A degreed nutritionist, Meili has supported herself by working at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado.

BITTS AND PIECES

Happy happy, joy joy; inventive game show

They're ba-ack Cult cartoon cut-ups Ren and Stimpy can be seen in the first of 20 new episodes beginning Saturday, Aug. 15, on Nickelodeon, when the network introduces a two-hour block of original programming in prime time. The animated chihuahua and feline lead off the second hour, following Clarissa Explains It All and a new variety show, The Roadhouse, from In Living Color writer Buddy Sheffield. The evening ends with a 'round-the-campfire suspense anthology, Are You Afraid of the Dark?

John Kricfalusi, creator of The Ren & Stimpy Show, considers his gross-out slapstick comedy "purely a kid's show" and is amazed at the adult following it has gained. A la The Simpsons, the series is now attracting guest stars, including Frank Zappa, who will be heard this season as the voice of the pope.

Here's a game show with lights, buzzers and bells — and that's just the contestants. Wink Martindale and Bill Hillier are the executive producers behind Why Didn't I Think of That?, a new series which has amateur inventors competing for cash and prizes. Due to premiere this September in syndicated markets, the show features Wil Shriner (Home Show) as its host. The producers just completed a contestant search in New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles, but if you have built a better mouse trap and want to play, call 1-800-766-3507.

Also declared for Aug. 15 is the next thing in MTV's "Choose or Lose" election-year campaign for its viewers. The network's Rock the Vote Telethon is set to air live for seven hours and will enlist the aid of musicians and other celebrities to encourage those of age to register to vote. An 800 number will supply voter-registration information and a chance at a grand prize.

Keanu Reeves plays an undercover FBI agent in Point Break, airing Friday on HBO.

Ren and Stimpy

Saturday on TNN, Jimmy Buffett lends his high spirits to a one-hour edition of The Texas Connection.

Q: I have been trying to locate the video of a movie I've seen several times, but I don't know the name. It was a hilarious Western starring Kirk Douglas, who wore a black outfit, had clinking spurs on his boots and a black horse that was smarter than he was. It was just a succession of mishaps. —Dorice Watts, Kerrville, Texas.

A: The movie of which you write is The Villain, co-starring Ann-Margret and Arnold Schwarzenegger. Directed by stuntmaster Hal Needham, The Villain is patterned after a Road Runner cartoon, even using the "Looney Tunes" theme music in its finale.

Q: While in San Diego, I saw a movie in which Randolph Scott played a Marine (an officer, I believe). The picture also starred Noah Beery Jr.

A: As I recall, Beery's character or a buddy Marine married and left for overseas. I seem to remember the song "I'll Be Seeing You" being played. Could you please assist me in finding this movie? —L.B., Hurley, Wis.

A: Most of the action you describe occurred in 1943's Gung Ho!, in which Randolph Scott and Noah Beery Jr., who were frequently paired in action flicks, indeed played buddy Marines bent on capturing a Pacific island once lost to the Japanese. (The phrase "gung ho" is Japanese for "work together," and at the time, the title was meant as a slap in the face of the enemy.)

The Sammy Fain-Irving Kahal song, which was a hit for Frank Sinatra and the Tommy Dorsey Band, among others, was used as the theme song and supplied the title for another movie made a year later: I'll Be Seeing You stars Joseph Cotten as a shell-shocked war vet who meets and falls in love with a female state prisoner on furlough played by Ginger Rogers. Liberace used the song as his trademark closing piece. The movie is not available on videotape.

Q: Please help me. I'm trying to find out the name of a movie that starred Michael Parks and Janet Margolin. —J.N.T., Greensburg, Pa.

A: 1965's Bus Riley's Back in Town starred Parks as an ex-sailor whose homecoming leaves him questioning his life's directions. Ann-Margret plays his wealthy ex-girlfriend, with Janet Margolin, Brad Dexter, Kim Darby, Larry Storch and David Carradine rounding out the cast.

Q: My friends and I love the show Dark Shadows, and when the show went off the air, we were pretty mad. I heard somewhere that it was coming back on the air. Is it true? If so, when? —Jessica Pick, Portland, Ore.

A: The Dark Shadows you were watching was an NBC update of the original series, which aired from 1966-1971. In all probability, the newer Dark Shadows will not return to television. However, the original series is slated for a full rerun on the newly conceived Sci-Fi Channel, a property of USA Networks, which has planned a Sept. 24 launch date. If you liked the copy, you're sure to enjoy Jonathan Frid, as resident vampire Barnabas Collins, in the original.

Q: When a game-show contestant wins, do they have to take all the gifts? How do they pay the taxes if they do not have the money? —Marilyn Sights, Cherokee Village, Ark.

A: Mom might have been able to make us take our medicine as kids, but when we grow up and win prizes on a game show, no one can make us take them. Though the gift and sales taxes on the high-priced items and cash winnings are pretty steep, I don't believe there is a crisis in finding willing takers for the merchandise. Someone having trouble paying the tax bill for a new Rolls-Royce could always sell it and pocket the leftovers.

Saturday science: How 'Things Work'

By Chris Carpenter

Ever wonder what a key does to make a lock open? Just ask a woolly mammoth.

The cumbersome yet clever beasts which roam David Macaulay's children's book The Way Things Work climb from his pages to network television to clear up this and other puzzles of physical science in an upcoming animated children's program of the same name. From inclined planes to pulleys, The Way Things Work marks the brain's crowning achievements through hilarity that spans the ages.

In a rare effort on behalf of an entity other than PBS, the Children's Television Workshop will produce the series based on Macaulay's book for ABC's fall 1993 Saturday-morning lineup. Though the prehistoric ponderings are "embedded" with science, CTW executive Marjorie Kalinz promises the show to be amusing above all else while avoiding the Neanderthal hijinks of typical children's fare.

"We're not kidding kids about learning," Kalinz says. "Kids like to learn if they're having a good time, and on Saturday morning they don't want to be didactic."

"I hope there's enough in the spectrum to allow all sorts of shows to exist, but I do hope shows become more responsible, because that's the way we're reaching kids. We're trying to entertain and educate. That's very hard to do."

Luke Perry plays Dylan McKay in original episodes of Beverly Hills, 90210, airing Wednesdays on Fox.

Bloom's career blossoms at night

By Candace Havens

Each week it seems there is a daytime actor who has decided to leave a steady job on the soaps to try his luck in feature films and prime-time television. Unfortunately for most actors, they end up wishing they hadn't left.

Not so for young Brian Bloom. After portraying the popular Dustin Donovan on As the World Turns for five years, Bloom has succeeded in the crossover to prime time with the upcoming CBS series 2000 Malibu Road, where he is working with some of today's most popular actresses, Drew Barrymore, Jennifer Beals and Lisa Hartman.

"The show is about four women from different walks of life, who all move into this beautiful mansion out on the beach," says Bloom. "It's a very sexy, romantic kind of place, especially through the eyes of our director, Lisa plays a character named Jade who owns the mansion but has to rent rooms to the other three women because she needs the money. The thing that is special about the show is that even though these women live in the same house, they each have their separate stories," says Bloom.

"I play a guy named Eric Adler, who is the heir to a Hollywood dynasty," says Bloom. "His parents are TV and movie producers and he loves them very much, but he has certain things he wants to prove to them, the town (Hollywood) and to himself. He falls in love with Drew's character and they have a star-crossed lovers kind of thing."

The director of 2000 Malibu Road is Joel Schumacher, who is known for his feature films (Flatliners, Dying Young). "He is a really cool director and he always seems to have an eye for young talent," says Bloom.

So why did a big-time filmmaker decide to do a television show? "He and producer Aaron Spelling have been talking about working together since probably before I was born," says Bloom. "I think Schumacher's perspective is another thing that will make this show special in that every week we will be shooting a mini-hourlong movie," says Bloom. "It will be set up and more stylized like a movie and have the polished touches of a movie. I think that is what everybody is hoping for."
