Greene is newest commissioner

There was a good crop of candidates to take the place of outgoing city commissioner Jerry Vorva. But the nod went to Stella Greene, who has long been active in city politics and has been a member of the city's downtown development authority.

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth's newest city commissioner is Stella Greene, of the city's downtown development authority.

Mayor Robert Jones appointed Greene on Monday. She fills the term of Jerry Vorva, who is unopposed in the state House race Nov. 3 and resigned from the commission Sept. 30.

The term Greene was named to expires in November next year.

"I'm pleased and honored to have been selected," she said, adding she hoped to earn the respect of fellow commissioners.

Greene said she planned "to be responsive, a responsible representative of the citizens," adding, "The budget is the most important issue to deal with."

Greene, 45, had shown interest in city affairs in recent years, asking questions at city commission and other government meetings, before being appointed in December to the city downtown development authority.

She said she hadn't sought to fill Vorva's unexpired term. "I was approached concerning the position," she said.

By joining the commission, Greene becomes the only woman member. The last female commissioner was Mary Childs, whose term expired last November.

"I don't think being female brings anything different or unique to the board," Greene said.

Pumpkin promotes pizza pie

By DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

One good thing about all the rain this summer is that the free pumpkins Dale Mickelson is giving away, as a promotion to his pizza business, are bigger than ever before.

The small and medium pumpkins that he would have purchased in the past rotted from too much moisture, he said. Some of the big ones that survived made it to the front of "Dolly's Pizza" on Lilley south of Joy in Canton.

"The price almost doubled this year for the pumpkins," Mickelson said.

More than one ton of pumpkins, home grown from Bordine's farm in Canton, decorate the front window of his Golden Gate Shopping Mall business.

Everyone who makes a pizza order of more than $6 gets a free pumpkin. And those people who fill-out an application can win a painted squash in a weekly drawing. There's no purchase necessary.

Five painted pumpkins, with faces from the funny to the ghoulish, will be given away weekly.

"Everyone has a different preference," Mickelson said. "I try to keep a good variety. The oddest shaped pumpkins are the most fun to work with."

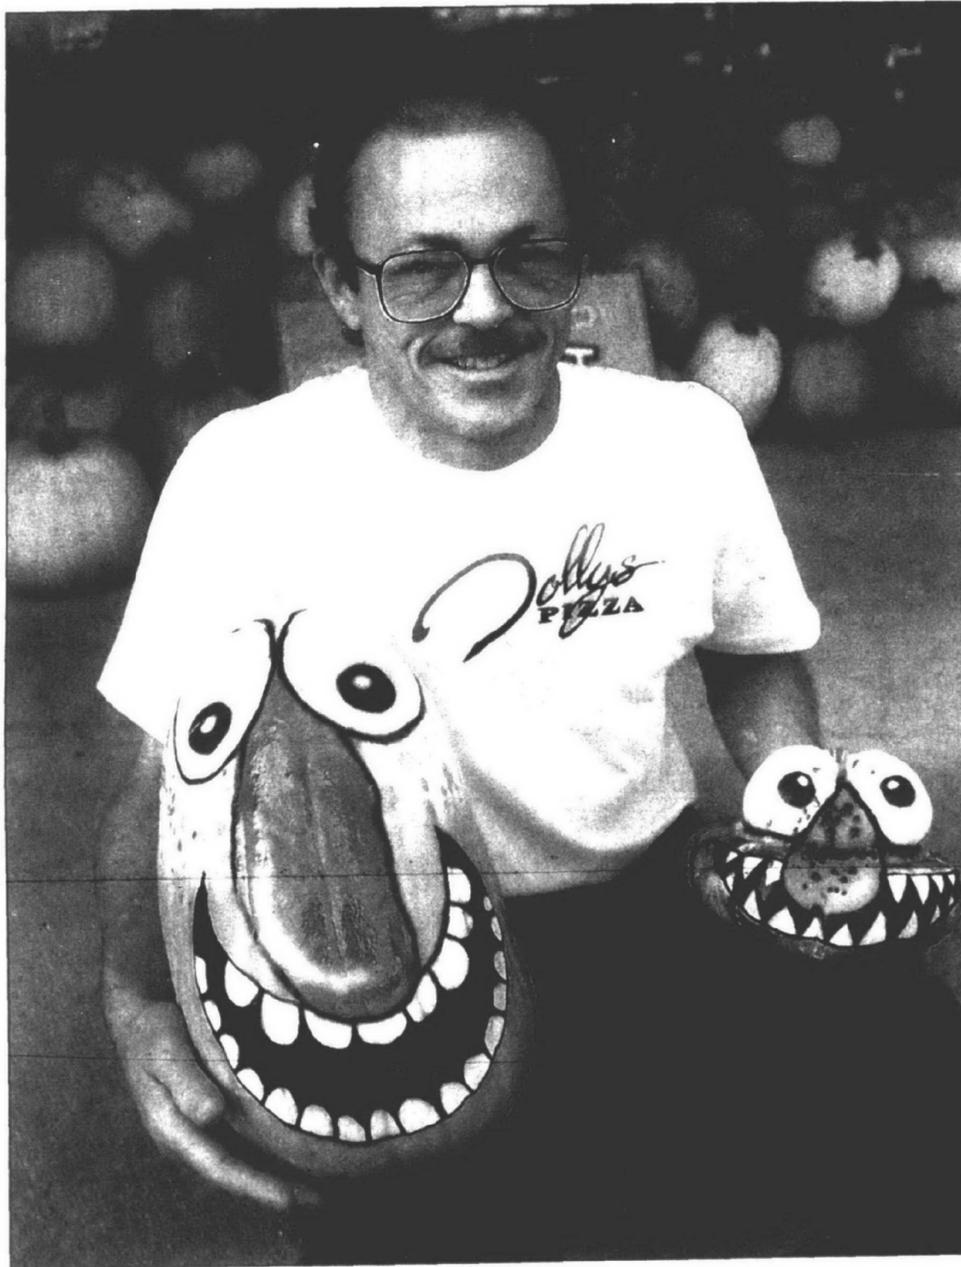

A grand prize 250 pound pumpkin will be picked randomly from the applications on Saturday.

"A lot of people stop and want to know how to get (the pumpkins)," according to Mickelson adding that he gave away 2.5 tons of pumpkins last year.

"I have to admit it's good for business, but it's a lot of fun," he said.

Mickelson paints the pumpkins along with his three children, Connie, 16; Scott, 14 and Tina, 12. They also work at Dolly's along with their mother, Jo.

The Livonia residents have been painting and selling pumpkins for five years.

Teacher denies hitting Farrand student

By M.B. DILLON

Robert Gale, a veteran teacher, pleaded not guilty Tuesday in 35th District Court to charges he struck a student at Farrand Elementary School.

Judge John MacDonald set a pre-trial hearing date of Nov. 9 and released Gale on $500 personal bond. The misdemeanor carries a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and/or a $500 fine.

"This involves a basic problem between a student and a teacher," said Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry. The mother of third-grader Alexander Parsons filed the complaint.

"We must presume Mr. Gale is innocent until proven guilty in a court of law. That's what our system of justice is all about," said Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent for personnel and employee relations. "If he is proven guilty, we will take appropriate disciplinary action within our ability to do so."

Marvann Ligato Freydl, Gale's union representative with the Michigan Education Association, said, "Never has such an allegation been made about Mr. Gale in his 25 years of teaching, and he absolutely denies ever striking this child. Mr. Gale is looking forward to his day in court where he is confident his innocence will be established."

"The student claims that the incident occurred in front of the whole class. Mr. Gale says that he merely moved the student's desk away from his friend, which upset the student and his friend."

The incident allegedly occurred Oct. 1 and was reported Oct. 31, Berry said. "Ten days after the incident, it's going to be very hard for us to tell one way or the other what happened," said Berry.

The police report filed by the student's mother says the incident occurred on the way back from recess. The boy claims he was struck after he told the teacher another student made a derogatory comment about Gale.

Save that forest, township asks school district

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

If efforts by Plymouth Township officials and residents are successful, 17 acres containing a climax beech and maple forest won't be sold to developers by Plymouth Canton Community Schools.

The school district purchased the property adjacent to Plymouth Township Park off McClumpha between Ann Arbor Trail and North Territorial for possible use as an elementary school site in 1968 for $60,000.

After determining the land wouldn't be needed for a school and placing it on the market, the district received an offer in April from a Farmington Hills developer. The Selective Group offered the schools $890,000, contingent upon rezoning that would permit up to 37 lots for single family houses.

Residents who prize the woods launched a petition drive protesting the sale of the land, which is zoned for public use.

Township officials, who've long contended that ideal use of the acreage would be to add it to the existing park, sought and obtained the right of first refusal from the schools that expired Oct. 15.

In a letter to the district written just prior to Oct. 15, Plymouth Township Supervisor Gerald Law reviewed recent discussions between the township and the schools and asked for a two-year moratorium on the sale.

A moratorium "would give Plymouth Township the opportunity to secure a grant and citi-

City trying to keep downtown post office open

In an effort to keep pressure on the U.S. postal service to keep Plymouth's downtown post office open, a city commissioner has outlined concerns in a letter to U.S. Rep. William Ford.

Commissioner Bill McAninch said he talked to Ford about the matter after a recent candidates forum in Livonia. Ford is running for re-election in a re-drawn U.S. House district that includes Plymouth.

McAninch told commissioners Monday that Ford reported commission concerns over service reduction at the downtown post office to federal postal service officials, who then contacted McAninch.

McAninch said a subsequent letter was sent to Ford to outline commission concerns.

"I feel very strongly about this post office situation and I'm going to keep pushing," McAninch said.

In his Oct. 12 letter to Ford, McAninch wrote, "It appears to many Plymouth residents and business people that the USPS is in the process of subverting the agreement which was made with

'The loss of postal services downtown would have a very harmful effect on the economic viability of our downtown commercial district.'

this community four years ago, to continue to operate a viable downtown postal service center. Since opening a new main post office in Plymouth Township, services and hours at the longtime post office on Pennington downtown have been cut.

The loss of postal services downtown would have a very harmful effect on the economic viability of our downtown commercial district," McAninch continued.

He suggested that by cutting services, the postal service "is inentionally trying to discourage the public from using the downtown facility.

"We are very concerned that if this pattern continues, resulting in the public being forced to go to the inconvenient Beck Road facility as the only source for various services, then the use of the downtown location will obviously decline," he said.

"The USPS may then use the reduced downtown customer level as a justification for discontinuing the downtown postal service center.

The city downtown development authority earlier this year nearly negotiated a deal with the postal service for the DDA to buy the post office building, put up for sale by the postal service, and then rent space in the building for use by the postal service as a service counter.

But the postal service's recent reorganization has put that deal on hold.

Big band invitational a hit in return to P-C

Plymouth-Canton struck up the band — 26 bands to be exact — when they hosted the Great Lakes Invitational Marching Band Competition Saturday.

"We're hoping to make it an annual event," said the Rev. Bill Myers, a Plymouth-Canton Music Boosters member.

This is the second time, the first in many years, that Plymouth-Canton has hosted the invitational and boosters are calling it a success, despite the good possibility that as a fund-raiser the event fell short of the $15,000 goal.

Inclement weather Saturday was blamed while the 26 bands played and strutted their stuff at the Centennial Educational Park.

"The purpose is to create a program that is enticing where you can play music well, march well, and create something pertinent to a theme and that is entertaining," Myers said.

Because the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Marching Band hosted the event, the 205 band members did not participate in the competition. But the band put on quite a performance with music from Stephen Sondheim's "Sweeney Todd." The marching band's color guard drove home the musical's thriller theme. Director Glen Adsit was unavailable for comment.

No doubt Saturday was a busy day with bands beginning at 1:30 a.m. and marching through 10 p.m. Each band was given 12 minutes to play and march for judges who watched from the field and the press box.

"We bring a band on the field every 15 minutes. While one band is getting off the field another is coming on," Myers said.

Bands were judged according to school size on marching, percussion, winds (reed and brass instruments) and the colorguard.

The Lake Park Lancers from Roselle, Ill., took first place, followed by the Jenison High School Marching Band in second place, the Livonia Franklin Marching Patriots from Franklin High School in third, and fourth went to the Marching Spartans from Stevenson High School, Livonia.

The Lake Park Lancers also captured the best in colorguard, and marching and maneuvering. The Jenison band took the best designation in percussion and winds.

The next step on the marching band tour is the state competition at Eastern Michigan University Oct. 31. Fifty-to-60 bands are expected to participate.

For those of you who didn't brave the colder weather Saturday you can watch the invitational when Omnicon of Michigan cablecasts the production in a series, which has not yet been scheduled.

First place: The Lake Park Lancers of Roselle, Ill., not only traveled the farthest for the marching band invitational, but also took the first-place award.

zens the opportunity to pursue a millage," said Jim Anulewicz, township director of public services.

Residents are studying the possibility of asking voters to approve a levy of about .65 mills for one year to generate $500,000 to purchase the land. (The levy would cost the owner of an $80,000 house $26, and the owner of a $280,000 house $59.)

Joanne Lamar, president of the Glenview Homeowners Association, says residents "still want the woods to be used as a nature area. We don't need more development in this area, so we're keeping up with our petitions and phone calls. We're thinking about different ways to raise funds to buy the land."

Anulewicz said the township proposed an alternative plan as well. "If indeed the board for whatever reasons determines that they cannot wait and want to move forward, we've offered an alternative to develop under cluster housing."

Cluster housing would permit construction of 18-20 houses, while preserving open space including the seven wooded acres.

Plymouth-Canton school board president Roland Thomas said the board "hasn't had a chance to talk about it (the township's proposals), nor do we know where the administration stands. We've asked Ray Hoedel (associate superintendent for business) to be prepared to discuss it Monday asked for an administrative position on the property."

Superintendent John Hoben and Hoedel were unavailable for comment.

Anulewicz is hopeful the site will be preserved for public use.

environment, I bring that aspect to the city commission," she said.

Greene said she recently went back to work. She is married to William, with two children ages 6 and 12.

While the commission unanimously approved Greene's appointment, Commissioner Dennis Shrewsbury said before the vote that Rosita Smith — a challenger in the 1991 commission race who wasn't elected — should have been chosen.

Shrewsbury said that since Smith was the highest eligible vote getter not making it to the commission in the most recent election, she deserved to be named.

Shrewsbury and some others backing Smith said this was a precedent, pointing to Jones' selection in March last year after Dennis Bila resigned. Jones was elected to a new term last November.

"Ms. Smith worked very hard at her election campaign last year," Shrewsbury said, adding there were 230 petition signatures from residents supporting her addition to the commission.

But Jones said a review of the last 10 appointments to fill commission vacancies showed only he was the highest vote-getter in a previous election not winning a commission seat.

Former Mayor Jack Kenyon, who appointed Jones, said Jones was chosen on merit, not because of where he'd finished in the previous race.

"I think it would be unfortunate if we had an automatic succession situation," said Commissioner Bill McAninch.

"Without regard to this situation it doesn't seem to be the best way to fill a vacancy," he said.

"I'm disappointed but wish her well," said Smith, a city planning commissioner.

In evaluating candidates, Jones said, "I looked at skills — communications skills, business skills, government experience and their understanding of the commission job."

While Jones said "I did everything I could" to not consider gender in his selection, he said Greene's addition to the commission "gives us another point of view that we didn't have."

Jones said Greene was selected for her DDA experience and experience in business, adding there were several good candidates.

Lansing pols hope to alter system of financing schools

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The wraps are coming off a year-long effort by state lawmakers to abolish local school property taxes and replace them with higher state income and single business tax rates.

Seven Republican state representatives and five Democrats make up the Group of 12. Their plan would place the entire $8 billion cost of public schools on the state.

"The Republicans suggested we not pursue this aggressively in the fall campaign for two reasons," said member James Kosteva, D-Canton.

"They did not want it to become part of a partisan campaign, and they did not want to undermine the governor's Cut and Cap proposal."

Members listed

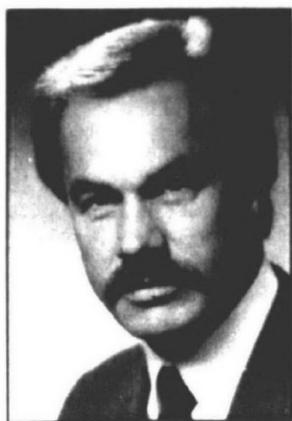

Area members of the group are Democrats Kosteva, William Keith of Garden City, chairman of the House Education Committee, and Wilfred Webb, former Hazel Park school superintendent who is leaving the Legislature; and Republicans Barbara Dobb of Union Lake and Susan Munsell of Howell.

Outstayers include Democrats Lyn Jondahl of Okemos, chairman of the House Taxation Committee, and James O'Neill Jr. of Saginaw, chairman of the House subcommittee on school aid; and Republicans Bill Bobier of Manistee County, Jessie Dalman of Augusta, Donald Gilmer of Holland, Michael Nye of Litchfield and Glenn Oxender of Sturgis.

"They are city and rural, representatives of in-formula and out-of-formula districts," said Dobb, a first-term member and accountant who opposes using the value of a house to determine school taxes.

How it works

Of the current $8 billion cost,

■ The state Legislature could pass the proposed 90-percent tax increase without voter approval, said Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton.

the state provides $2.8 billion, local property owners most of the rest.

As outlined by Kosteva, the plan would:

■ Eliminate all $5 billion-plus in property taxes for local school districts and shift the entire burden to Lansing. (Property taxes to pay off bonds would be unaffected.)

■ Raise the state personal income tax rate from 4 percent to 7.6 percent.

■ Raise the single business tax rate by 3.7 percent. Dobb said it would assure business continues to pay 32 percent of local school taxes.

■ Give every school district state aid of $4,800 to $4,900 per child. This would resolve the inequity of some districts having as little as $2,500 per child while others have $9,000.

■ Temporarily allow suburban districts spending more than $4,800 per child to continue levying property taxes to make up the difference. But those districts would have to vote on a local "piggy-back" income tax if they wanted to continue spending more than $4,800.

■ Remove most "categoricals" from the state school aid formula, leaving only special education, bilingual schooling and transportation. The remaining categorical money would go into the general school aid pot.

"The value of property is no longer a reflection of your ability to pay," said Munsell, a second-term lawmaker and member of the Education Committee.

An accountant, Munsell said the plan would help senior citizens who can't keep up with property taxes that rise due to inflation in the market value of their houses.

Old plan changed

The new plan bears some similarity to the so-called Nye-Oxender plan floated a few years ago. Kosteva said that plan would have eliminated all property taxes, even for municipalities, counties and community colleges.

Dobb and Kosteva said the new plan would be unveiled after the House opens its post-election session Nov. 5.

"The specifics have yet to be finalized," said Keith, promising to hear comments from business and school people.

Gender equity in schools

GOP males say bill 'doesn't go far enough'

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

School districts would be required to make gender equity and multi-culturalism part of their 3-5-year improvement programs under a bill passed by state representatives.

But majority Democrats shot down a Republican attempt to make public schools pay for the retraining of graduates whose first employers find them deficient in any basic skill.

The gender equity bill was passed 76 to 22 late last month amid male Republican complaints that it didn't go far enough.

"It's fatally flawed," said Rep. Tom Middleton, R-Ortonville, "because it doesn't deal with equity for handicappers."

Rep. William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe, added that House Bill 5901 also should require schools to do something about gender and handicapper equity, not just "give reason or excuse for non-action."

Sponsor was Rep. Mary Brown, D-Kalamazoo. Co-sponsors included Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, Justine Barns, D-Westland, Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, Georgina Goss, R-Northville, Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak, and Susan Munsell, R-Howell.

Now in a Senate committee, the bill would amend the school code by asking for specific descriptions of "gender equity components of the school improvement plan."

It also requires the core curriculum "shall be fair to each gender and shall be multi-cultural."

Warranty loses

A day earlier, the House rejected, on nearly a party-line vote, a Republican plan for certified diplomas. Under it:

■ An employer hiring a person within two years of high school graduation could find the worker deficient in basic skills.

■ The school district would have to administer basic skill tests. If the worker flunks, the school would have to offer remedial work or pay another district to do it if the graduate has moved within Michigan.

The amendment was offered by lame duck Rep. Claude Trim, R-Waterford. He based it on a Senate-passed bill sponsored by Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham.

At least one community college, Henry Ford in Dearborn, offers employers a warranty on its graduates' skills.

Republicans bashed Democrats for refusing to report the Bouchard bill out of the House Education Committee for a floor vote.

"If you want this bill to go down in flames, then adopt this amendment," warned Democrat William Keith of Garden City, chairman of the Education Committee.

"We had a hearing on it. The Michigan Association of Schools Boards, the Michigan Education Association, the Michigan Federation of Teachers — all are against it."

Keith said the Bouchard bill should be amended, as educators wish, to let the employer see the graduate's attendance record and grades.

"You (Republicans) call them interests, but they're on the cutting edge of what takes place in education," Keith said.

The Trim amendment lost 47 to 51 with 11 not voting. All area lawmakers voted with their parties except Republicans Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak and Gordon Sparks of Troy, who voted no.

Rep. Michael Bennane, D-Detroit, chastised Republicans for "grinding the wheels to a halt. It's malarkey."

But GOP minority leader Paul Hillemonds, who hopes to become House speaker if his party takes control after Nov. 3, said a majority of the House is continually frustrated at the Democratic leadership's refusal to take up bills.

"This issue isn't allowed to happen. There's a majority for no-fault (auto insurance) reform, for medical liability reform. . . .

"But the folks who control the procedure don't allow it to happen. I hope the public understands that."

The legislature could pass the proposed 90-percent tax increase without voter approval, Kosteva said, but voters could be asked in 1994 to approve two constitutional changes:

■ Earmarking the new income and SBT rates for local schools.

■ Substituting a sales tax increase for part or all of the income tax increase. The constitution caps the sales tax at 4 percent but doesn't cap the income tax.

"We chose the income tax for two reasons," Kosteva said.

"First, deductibility. You can deduct a state income tax from your federal income tax. If you used the sales tax, Michiganders would pay $300 million more in federal income taxes.

"Second, progressivity. The income tax is far more progressive than the sales tax."

Some doubts

Gov. John Engler, who is supporting Proposal C on the Nov. 3 ballot, said through a spokesman that the lawmakers' plan "would be devastating on small businesses and also hurt renters."

Proposal C would cut school property taxes by up to 30 percent, require the state to make up the difference but provide for no state tax increase.

Local school officials, among other critics, loudly doubt the state can find $1.3 billion more for schools without raising state taxes.

Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, who usually works with Keith and O'Neill on helping poorer school districts, gave their new plan little chance of passage.

"Their hearts are in the right place. I'm just skeptical of a plan that has an income tax increase of that magnitude. And I have a problem with abolishing the property tax — it's very stable," DeGrow said.

Helping families: The Salvation Army's third annual "Adopt A Family" program is headed this year by Howard Matthews, director of social services for Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

Salvation Army: 'Send us needy local families'

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

To make sure no child is without a Christmas, the Salvation Army is getting ready to start its annual Adopt A Family program. Beginning Nov. 2, needy families are urged to call the Salvation Army office in Plymouth if they're going to need help this Christmas with food or family presents.

"We treat people with respect and dignity and as much as possible guard their privacy," said Howard Matthews. It's the third year for the program, and his first year heading it.

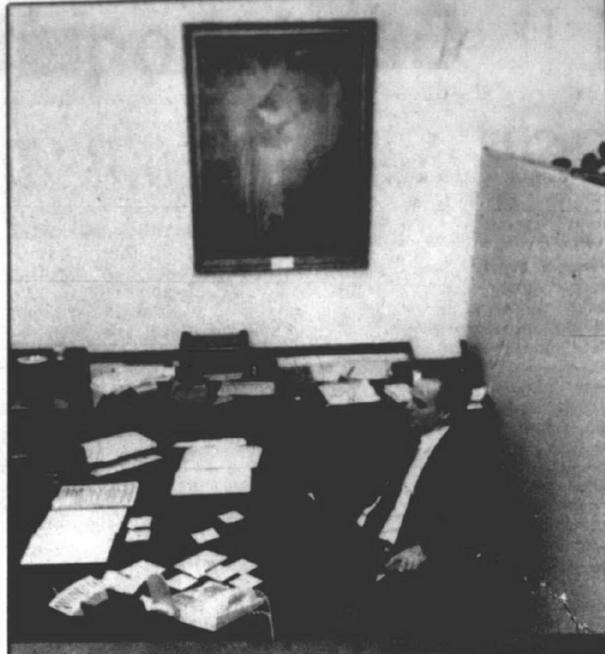

Matthews is director of social services for the Salvation Army office serving Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

Allowing families some anonymity is important, Matthews said, especially in this affluent section of Wayne County where folks might be embarrassed to ask for help.

"Our goal is to help over 300 families this year," Matthews said. "Our pledge is no one without a Christmas."

Businesses, school groups or families interested in "adopting" a family are also urged to call the Salvation Army to signify their interest in the program.

The number to call, for those seeking help or offering to give it, is 453-5487.

"The Salvation Army is synonymous with Christmas. Everybody knows that if they're in need they can go to the Salvation Army," Matthews said.

While the Army is a Christian organization, Matthews stresses that people of all beliefs receive help if they meet financial guidelines.

"We get Moslems, we get Buddhists, every denomination," Matthews said.

"Clients come in and we screen them and decide if their need is legitimate," he said.

The Salvation Army follows government guidelines on what constitutes poverty level, but Matthews said these aren't strictly followed.

"A lot of it is a judgment call on my part," he said.

Those seeking to adopt a family are told clothing sizes, gender and ages of family members.

Plymouth gets report

The first quarter-by-quarter update report on the city's finances was presented to Plymouth city commissioners at their regular meeting Monday.

The practice of preparing and presenting the reports was praised by commissioners, including Bill McAninch. He said that by making public the updates on city finances, the commission was meeting a goal to be more open about city finances.

The first quarter fiscal year 1992-93 report revealed no impending financial problems, with city revenue and expenses running nearly as planned.

Liberal author 'sells' OU audience

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

If political liberalism is as hard to sell these days as Lenin statues in Moscow, then author Louis "Studs" Terkel is an expert salesman.

Just before a speech Monday at Oakland University, Terkel said he hoped to "aggravate" the students in the audience, but charmed them instead with the folksy, human, common-man approach that typifies his books and illustrates his political stance.

Wearing a red-and-white shirt, red vest, red socks, "Spencer Tracy" hat and three fat rubber bands around his right wrist, the 90-year-old author ran a comb through his thinning white hair a few minutes before the speech and said, "I want to look distinguished."

Having heard that students these days are best described by the words "torpor and apathy," Terkel thought he might shake them up a bit and get them to thinking about, for example, why the old War Department is now called the Defense Department. ("Because you can challenge war, but you can't challenge defense.") pressed the assembled 250 students, staff and faculty with effortless humor and unpretentious humanity.

"He was delightful," said West Bloomfield resident Kathy Kaupinen. "He's more than funny. He's real human."

In his unscripted hourlong talk, plus a question-and-answer session, Terkel decried the state of the nation and said he's voting for Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton for president, but with reservations that he compared to preferring tuberculosis to terminal cancer.

Terkel said none of the three main candidates are talking about "real cuts" in the military budget, which he believes should be about 50 percent.

"A cut of 50 percent would solve every (social) problem we're talking about. (But) the welfare bums in the Pentagon live on (military spending)."

Terkel said the 1983 invasion of Grenada was a good example of the military mentality and an attempt to make up for the shame of losing the Vietnam War.

"By God, we beat Grenada," he said. "That's like Muhammed Ali in his prime knocking out Woody Allen."

In the same vein, Terkel wondered why riots in Los Angeles rivet our attention, but 9,000 people applying for 1,000 jobs in Chicago does not.

■ said big American corporations are "owned by people who don't have the slightest idea who you are and don't give a damn who you are."

■ said that "a woman belongs in the home. Of course she does. So does a man, too."

■ called peace through strength "a phony phrase if there ever was one."

■ and just for laughs said, "I can't drive a car. I can't drive a bike. I fall down when I dance."

"(Terkel) is a throwback to the '60s," said Bob Thomas, OU's placement office director. "He touches the humanity in all of us."

Rochester Hills resident Susan Kerekes said, "I like the way he talked about the sense of community and working together."

Freshman journalism student Jill Allan admitted that her presence in Terkel's presence was a class assignment, but said, "I feel more on level with him than I would with Larry King."

Maybe it's the nickname. When queried about its origin, Terkel said, "Everybody asks me that," then added, "I wish it were what you think it was, but it wasn't."

He acquired the sobriquet as a young man because he was enamored of a book entitled "Studs Lonigan."

Author: Louis "Studs" Terkel impressed the assembled 250 students, staff and faculty with effortless humor and unpretentious humanity.

Much later, a publisher suggested that the nickname be used on one of Terkel's books in lieu of Louis because it sounded so much better.

And Louis has been Studs to almost everyone ever since. "No one calls me (Louis) except my wife," he said.

Public hearing Monday on county millage

Wayne County officials have scheduled a public hearing Monday to hear citizen input on a plan to continue taxing county residents $7.91 per $1,000 of assessed property value.

The hearing will occur at 10 a.m. in Room 402, fourth floor of the Wayne County Building at 600 Randolph St. in Detroit.

Without the public hearing, County Executive Edward H. McNamara and the county commission would be compelled by law to lower the millage levy from 7.9111 to 7.8949.

County general counsel Ben Washburn said the county will collect 1.26 percent more revenue if the commission approves the continuance of the 7.9111-mill levy.

Even so, that won't keep pace with inflation, and Washburn said the county may be forced to lay off 200 people near the end of the 1993 fiscal year next summer or fall.

State board of education

S'craft trustee among 9 vying for 2 seats

Nine candidates are seeking posts on the Michigan State Board of Education. There are two seats available with eight-year terms ending Jan. 1, 2001.

A brief biography of the candidates, their plans to make students more competitive in a global marketplace and what they see as the most important education issue are outlined below. The candidates provided this information in response to a questionnaire issued by the League of Women Voters Oakland Chapter. The information if provided here as a service to our readers.

■ Democrat Roman P. Bochenek, 59, is a resident of Detroit. He holds a doctorate from the University of Michigan and is a retired educator with 34 years experience. He has served as a school district financial manager, a federal program director, a department chairman and classroom teacher. A U.S. Army veteran, he has been married for 24 years and has two children.

Bochenek said early preschool intervention is needed in Michigan, as well as additional emphasis on reading, writing, math and science at all levels.

Moving the schools to a post-industrial economy framework is a critical issue, Bochenek said.

■ Democrat Kathleen N. Straus, 68, is a resident of Detroit. She has a bachelor's degree in economics from Hunter College. Straus is a retired education administrator and former president of Center for Creative Studies. She served as associate director of Michigan Association of School Boards, staff director of Michigan State Education Committee, president of League of Women Voters of Detroit. She also served as chairman of the State Board for Public Community Colleges.

Straus plans to set policies and develop curricula which encourage students of diverse backgrounds to learn together.

The most important issue facing schools in Michigan, Straus said, is to reduce disparities between districts and devote more of the state's resources to education.

■ Republican Dorothy Beardmore, 65, of Rochester, is currently president of the State Board of Education. She is a graduate of Cornell University. Before being elected to the state board, she served on local and intermediate school boards. She was elected to board of directors of the National Association of State Boards of Education.

Beardmore plans to proceed with the updated "Standards of Quality and Curriculum Guidelines," and upgrade the Michigan Educational Assessment Program program. She calls for the re-certification of teachers as well.

The most important issue facing schools, Beardmore said, is securing sufficient state funding to assure equitable education for all students. She also supports structural changes in statewide taxing policies.

■ Republican Harry Greenleaf, 56 of Livonia, earned a bachelor's degree in engineering management from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is a corporate technical education manager for Ford Motor Co. He is a former part-time instructor at Hudson Valley and Henry Ford Community College. He was trustee and chairman of Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees. He served on the Michigan Community College Association. He is married and has two grown children.

As a board member, Greenleaf plans to advocate a commitment to lifelong learning and support student computer literacy achievement. He emphasizes a career-focused education and "tech-prep agreements between K-12 districts, community colleges aligned toward present, future employability skills."

Greenleaf said the most important issue facing the schools are overall achievement and dropout rates.

■ Huntington Woods resident Fayanne Kaufman is a member of the Tisch Independent Party. She has an education specialist degree and a master's degree in art education. She is the recipient of the Wayne State University Woman of Wayne Award.

Kaufman plans to integrate art and design into education to open new areas of opportunity and to emphasize computer science skills and "higher math and greater language skills."

Kaufman said the most important issue facing schools will be the restructuring of school finance.

■ Laingsburg resident Donald Schneider represents the Tisch Independent Party. He did not respond.

■ Libertarian Mary J. Ruwart, 42, is a resident of Kalamazoo. She earned her doctorate degree from Michigan State University. She is a senior scientist working in AIDS research for the Upjohn Co. She spent 16 years as an instructor and assistant professor of surgery at St. Louis University Medical School.

Ruwart plans to support the schools of choice program promoting competition among the schools to help students survive in a competitive environment.

Ruwart said schools of choice is the most important issue facing the state.

■ Detroit William Roundtree, 42, represents the Workers' World Party. He is an African-American disabled Vietnam-era veteran with a son in the Detroit school system. He is an activist for affirmative action, women's, gay and lesbian rights.

As a school board member, Roundtree would hope to recover tax abatements from corporations to upgrade and provide textbooks, computers, laboratories, recreational and cultural facilities throughout Michigan.

Roundtree believes the most important issue facing the schools is equitable education for all students.

■ Nancy I. List, 49, of Grayling, represents the Natural Law Party. She has a bachelor's degree in education from Kutztown State College. She is a lab aide in the ceramics department at Kirtland Community College. She has taught day care and worked in inner-city school districts.

List plans to introduce scientifically proven programs to "increase intelligence, creativity and moral reasoning in students regardless of age."

List considers the most important issue in education to be the development of students' full mental potential through programs such as Head Start, nutritious lunches and transcendental meditation.

BLOATING AND DISTENTION: A Distressful Abdominal Complaint

Many people attribute bloating and distention to excessive bowel gas which is not necessarily the case. These individuals are suffering from a condition of the Irritable Bowel Syndrome that affects primarily the small bowel which gives them the sense of overdistention.

The evaluation required for the patient with bloating and distention is dependent on a number of factors including age and duration of the problem. Organic disease of the gut - particularly carcinoma of the colon and Crohn's disease - can be present with bloating and distention and these conditions should be ruled out.

Treatment of the bloating patient usually is not curative and the most important component of therapy is psychological rather than physical. Simple assurance and explanation lead to dramatic improvement in most cases.

When my routine pregnancy suddenly wasn't...

I was glad I'd chosen Hutzel. From the beginning, my pregnancy was described as "normal." So when I wanted a private room—one where labor, delivery, and recovery could all take place—my doctor had no objections. But if something went wrong,

I wanted to know my baby and I would also have the most knowledgeable specialists and the latest medical technology nearby. So I chose The Detroit Medical Center's Hutzel Hospital.

To my surprise, Hutzel's private LDRP (Labor, Delivery, Recovery, PostPartum) rooms were among the most spacious and beautiful I'd seen. I was glad I could be in one—and that I'd chosen Hutzel. Because at the last minute, my baby developed complications and a team of Hutzel specialists was right there to provide the care we both needed.

Like a lot of other women, I've learned there's no such thing as a "routine" pregnancy. Thank goodness there's Hutzel Hospital.

Retiring S'craft secretary served all 3 presidents

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Considering the sensitive information Schoolcraft College's Joyce Ludwig has seen, yet never talked about, it's no surprise that she would request the following angle for a feature story about her.

"Tell more about the accomplishments of the college than about me," she said.

Well, Schoolcraft's story has been told rather well in a book by the late Samuel Hudson ("Reaching Out . . . A History of Schoolcraft College"), but Ludwig's 28-year Schoolcraft career, mostly as secretary to all three presidents, has yet to be chronicled.

She hired on in June 1964, just two months before the first classes in Schoolcraft history convened. Schoolcraft's first president was Eric Bradner.

"I knew a college was starting and just for the heck of it I went down and put in an application," she said.

Twenty-eight years later, Ludwig is preparing for retirement (in December) and a trip to Raleigh, N.C. to visit daughter Barbara, who will likely have delivered Ludwig's first grandchild by then.

College president Richard McDowell thinks so much of Ludwig that he's planning a Dec. 3 retirement party for her.

"Joyce is very competent, very personable, very organized and efficient, but also a good friend to many on the campus and will be very much missed by all of us," McDowell said.

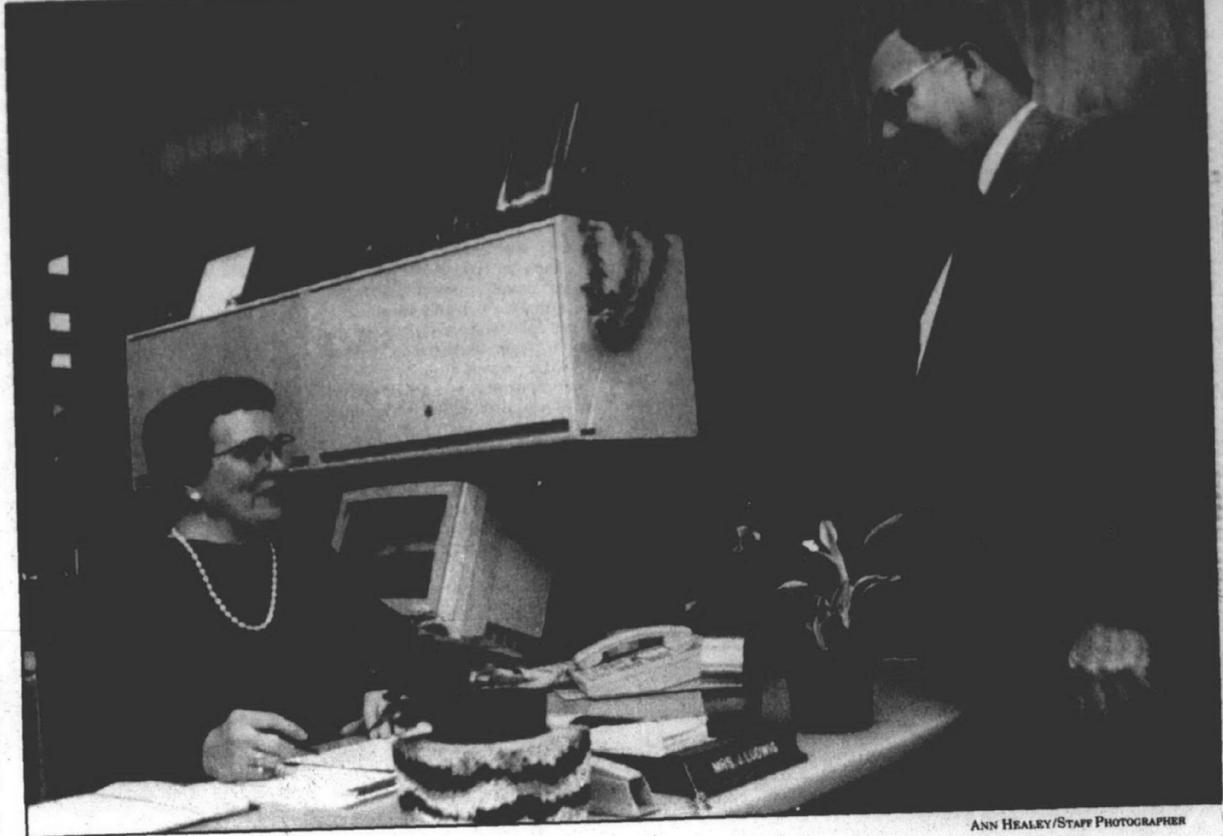

Ex-college president Nelson Grote, a Kentucky resident now, hopes to attend the party for his former secretary.

"She's just a great person, a great human being," Grote said, "a good person to have in your office to give you that smile and comment on the brightness of the day. Sometimes that's just what you need."

Grote was Schoolcraft's president from 1971 to 1981, and Ludwig worked with him throughout that span. "Her standards were extraordinary," he said. "If (a letter) wasn't perfect, she didn't mail it. I don't know if I had anyone else in my 21 years as a president or chancellor who was more productive."

Grote also noted that Ludwig could be trusted absolutely with the "extraordinarily sensitive documents" that often passed through her typewriter.

"(At times) we were bargaining with the very people she had lunch with," he said. And, at times, Ludwig's lunch companions tried to pump her for information they could use in the negotiations. "But Joyce was able to

Of course, we could build them faster. It's just that we won't.

If you've tried to get a Saturn recently, you may have been a little disappointed when you discovered there weren't as many on our lot as you had hoped to find. Frankly, you caught us off guard. Your demand has exceeded even our wildest expectations.

So, why don't we just build more? Well, when you take as much time as we do in building each car, you can't always make them as fast as people want them. Sure, we could make some compromises—even look the other way when things were less than perfect—and make quite a few more cars. It's just if we did that, then they wouldn't be Saturns.

A DIFFERENT KIND OF COMPANY. A DIFFERENT KIND OF CAR.

Leaf collection

Leaf collection at the curb in the city of Plymouth has begun. "Residents should only rake their leaves to the curb, and the department of public works will collect and deliver them to a composting facility," said Joe Russell, city solid waste coordinator. Other yard waste such as grass clippings and small branches should continue to be placed in clear bags or in containers and set out on garbage day. Leaf collection continues until all leaves are collected, usually by December. Residents should direct questions to Russell at 455-1392.

Ballot reviewed

If you're confused about ballot proposals before voters in November, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce will try to sort them out at a breakfast and presentation at 8-9 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 28, at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The proposals to be reviewed are "A," on property assessment limits; "C," on property tax reform; and "D," on auto insurance reform. Those interested in attending should make reservations by calling the chamber office at 453-1540.

Hulsing honored

Plymouth Township clerk Esther Hulsing was honored at a breakfast meeting 8-9 a.m. today at the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce office in Plymouth. Hulsing, who is retiring in November, has been a longtime friend to the chamber and has served on the chamber's economic development committee.

New business

A ribbon made of money was cut in a ceremony marking the opening of the Old Kent Bank Plymouth office at 1200 S. Sheldon. Bank and city officials joined in the ceremony. The ribbon was donated to the Plymouth Historical Society and the Community Council on Aging.

Ford, Geake square off in debate

The Ford versus Geake debate focused on jobs, education and health care. But for students in a special government program, it was seen through youthful eyes.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Kristie Kacvinsky is offended by state Sen. Robert Geake's pro-life stand.

"I feel he offended all women," said the Close Up student, one of 15 who attended a debate between Geake and his opponent, incumbent U.S. Rep. Bill Ford, hosted by the Canton Economic Club Wednesday.

Kacvinsky wasn't alone in her feelings. Fourteen of the 10th and 11th grade students in the special government class said Geake didn't address abortion in cases of rape.

And the students were adamant: Abortion is the most important issue in this election year, followed by financing for public education.

That's not so for fellow student Pat Russell, the only student who supported Geake's bid against incumbent Ford in the 13th Congressional District race. Jobs — not abortion — are the most important issue for Russell, who's concerned whether he'll get a job when he graduates college.

"Ford spent most of his time defending himself," Russell said. "Geake was just trying to get to the truth of what Ford has done in office."

Criticisms or mudslinging bothered the majority of the students who say they want to hear how each candidate stands on the issues — instead of each other.

Geake who criticized Congressional spending, said Ford voted for a fish farm in Iowa, a ferry boat in Samoa and $25 million for franking privileges.

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Clinton reaction: U.S. Rep. Bill Ford, D-Taylor, told the crowd he is looking forward to working with President Clinton. The reaction of Ford's opponent, State Sen. Bob Geake, R-Northville, at right, says it all.

"I thought we came here to talk about issues important to the country, not that childish stuff," Ford shot back.

Ford ripped into his opponent on choice. Geake told the audience he supports educational choice. Ford asked how he could support that but not choice for women. "Are you sure you want to give choice to schools and not to women?" Ford asked.

Again, Geake clarified his position on women and choice. "Women have a choice on a date to be responsible with their behavior." That comment stung a majority of the students, one of whom asked whether Geake supported distribution of condoms at public schools. "I do not believe it is appropriate to be giving out condoms," Geake said, referring to possible lawsuits when pregnancy occurs.

Ford put sex education in the local officials' realm. "Appropriate sex education is what the local board of education, and parents who elect them determine is appropriate at that time."

Geake told the audience his purpose in seeking Ford's longtime seat "is to clean up Congress." The public, he said, is "overregulated, overtaxed and under-served by Congress."

Ford, in his 28th year in Congress, said now is the time to keep him in office. As chairman of the education and labor committee, Ford said more will now be done, particularly if Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton is elected.

"In very short order, I think we'll be able to deliver on what he (Clinton) has been saying on education," Ford said.

Student Dave Buzynski said he preferred Ford because he didn't have to criticize Geake to make his position clear. "He concentrated on issues." To Lee Bonner, Ford simply answered audience questions better. "Ford has more substance to his answers," said Jaclyn Harder. "He didn't have to mudsling and accuse to get his points across."

Livonia man is angry: Home called dope den

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Anger and fear are the reasons a strange sign now stands in the front yard of a house at 39130 Richard in Livonia. The sign reads, "We are the Worleys."

The homeowner, Michael Worley, is angry that an anonymous letter left at about 300 houses in his neighborhood mistakenly identifies his house as being the site of a drug raid that took place last year.

Worley, a retired Detroit police officer who now is a local Realtor, also is angry that the letter writer goes so far as to urge residents to show up on Halloween — in costume and carrying picket signs — to protest the alleged drug dealer's continued presence in the neighborhood.

Since the letter appeared last week, Worley says numerous cars have driven slowly by his house, both day and night. He erected the sign within minutes after reading the letter and noting that his house had been incorrectly identified as the house where the drug raid took place.

Livonia Police confirmed there was a raid in the area.

An investigation, being conducted by federal agents with the cooperation of Livonia Police is ongoing, said Livonia Police detective Lt. Mike Murray.

No arrests have been made to date, Murray said. Worley fears that the misinformation in the letter might lead to a backlash or violence against his family.

And he is afraid that mayhem may break out if residents do as the letter writer urges and congregate near his house on Halloween. "I'm a retired police officer, and I abhor narcotics," Worley said. "But to show up in costume like the Ku Klux Klan? That's outrageous. Halloween is for kids."

Worley's house is spotlighted in the letter when the writer incorrectly describes the suspect house as "the fourth house on the north side of the street."

An Adams resident, Pat Howell, sent a copy of the letter to the Observer.

Like Worley, Howell is fearful that the words used in the letter, such as "low-life sleazoids," coupled with the request to picket the house on Halloween, could lead to mob violence.

"When I read the letter I thought there was the potential for danger," Howell said. "People shouldn't take the law in their own hands. It's Halloween, and there's a potential for danger to kids. And I feel sorry for Worley, that they (identified) the wrong house. He is simply protecting his family and home."

Howell sent a copy of the letter to Mayor Robert Bennett and Livonia police.

Worley also reported the letter to police, asking them to beef up security in the area, a request that police have agreed to.

"We want people to know there will be an increased police presence in the area and hopefully that will deter any problems," Murray said.

Worley said his wife, who is recovering from surgery, is "scared to death" because of the cars that are stopping in front of their house at night.

Man charged with breaking into area newspaper boxes

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER
STAFF WRITER

A Canton Township man on probation for stealing thousands of dollars from area newspaper boxes was charged Wednesday with additional break-ins of boxes at two Livonia shopping centers.

Theodore William Enright, 40, stood mute and a not guilty plea was entered for him by 16th District Judge James R. McCann on three counts of breaking and entering a coin-operated device and one count of possession of a device to open coin-operated devices, both three-year felonies.

McCann ordered a $10,000 bond for Enright and scheduled preliminary examination for Tuesday, Oct. 27.

Enright pleaded guilty earlier this year to thefts from Observer & Eccentric and other newspaper boxes in Wayne and Oakland counties.

Livonia Police arrested Enright about 2:15 a.m. Tuesday.

Police reported finding $652.15 — mostly in quarters, dimes and nickels — inside Enright's 1984 Ford van.

Officers on patrol said they first spotted the van parked at the Mid-Five shopping center.

Police said they saw a man loitering near the Aco Hardware store and moving his hands between the back of a Livonia Observer box and his pockets several times.

The man then walked to the Observer box in front of the Farmer Jack supermarket and repeated the process, police said.

First of America understands that by helping businesses succeed, we help the economy and community. The expansion of Thomson-Shore's facility, for example, created 35 jobs. And we can't measure the value of that

Ford and UAW unite to set up child care center

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER
STAFF WRITER

Livonia will be home for a first-of-its-kind regional day care center for children of Ford Motor Co.'s hourly employees.

The UAW/Ford Child Care Center — expected to open in September 1993 in a new building on Ann Arbor Road east of Eckles — is a joint project of Ford Motor Land Development Corp. and the UAW.

It will be run by a non-profit organization and will serve as many as 200 children from 13 plants in metro Detroit, including Livonia Transmission, Wayne Assembly, Sheldon Road plant in Plymouth, and Parts Division plants in Livonia and Redford Township.

Currently, the UAW refers employees to outside agencies for child care.

The pilot project was negotiated in 1990 contracts between the UAW, Ford, GM and Chrysler and represents "a first step in what we think is going to be an expanding area," said Bill Corey of the UAW.

"Right now our membership is on the older side," Corey said. "But retirements are going to mean younger workers coming in, and you also have social changes like single-parent families to deal with."

Ford has about 17,000 UAW members working in western Wayne County, according to Corey.

"We believe the majority will be from immediately surrounding plants like Livonia and Sheldon Road. At least that's where our surveys indicate the demand is," Ford spokesman Fran Englehart told the Livonia City Council Monday.

The 16,000 square-foot center will feature indoor and outdoor play areas and a staff of 30. It will primarily serve infants and toddlers.

Initial hours will be 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday-Friday.

"That's comparable with our first and second shifts," Englehart said Monday.

"As we crank this thing up and determine the needs of our employees that could be subject to change."

Employees will pay a fee on par with outside child-care agencies in the area, said the UAW's Corey.

The Livonia City Council is expected to approve a waiver use for construction of the center at Monday's voting meeting.

The planning commission recommended approval at its Sept. 29 meeting.

The waiver is necessary because the former Christenson's Nursery property has a split zoning — half designated commercial and half for office use.

Ford will buy four acres on the back half of the nearly 8-acre site and seek a rezoning for the project.

Council members praised the project and Ford's efforts to work with nearby homeowners during Monday's study session.

"I think you have an outstanding project here," said councilman Ron Ochala. "I'm very excited for the neighborhood and for Ford Motor Company."

Some residents on Minton, Grandon and other area streets have requested a wall separating the center from area homes to the south and west.

Others favor the 4-foot berm with trees as originally proposed, said Dave Cisco, president of the Dover/Arbor Neighborhood Association.

The proposed wall was also part of a 1988 agreement between residents and property owner Antonio Scapattici, who was planning a shopping center for the site.

Those plans never materialized.

"We spent a lot of time looking at the neighborhood, and we feel very strongly that we want to be a part of the community," Englehart said.

Architects worked hard to make the single-story building compatible with its surroundings, he said.

Students helping restore historic Perrinsville school

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Built in 1856, the dilapidated Perrinsville School at Cowan and Warren roads in Westland is being restored to its 1890s appearance, with the help of some students from the Livonia Career Center.

The project won't just rescue a part of Westland's history. It will bring history alive for today's students, who will be able to visit the old school and see where their ancestors learned the three R's.

"We've been hoping to have it restored for years," said Virginia Braun, who heads the Perrinsville restoration committee.

The city is using a $45,000 state grant and $28,000 in local funds to restore the school where students of all grade levels learned in the same room. The school closed in 1937.

The money may not even cover the cost of materials, much less the labor. But the city got lucky, because teacher Monte Shettler and 13 students from the Livonia school district's Career Center have volunteered their time and labor to restore the brick school.

"I'm really excited about it," Shettler said. "So are the kids."

On a recent day, the students worked on the foundation of the 936-square-foot school, which also has a 10-by-10-foot main entrance. The students — future builders who are receiving class credit — began their work in September.

Shettler refers to his students as the "A Team" because all 13 of them have virtually perfect marks in his class. But they've had their work cut out for them at Perrinsville.

In the building's loft, they found bats — both dead and alive — and had to clean up several inches of — shall we say — bat waste. Then there was the poison ivy growing on and around the school. It had to be sprayed by city workers.

The students still face the task of repairing a crack in the northwest corner of the building — a crack caused by a car that slammed into the school as it turned a corner on Cowan.

"We will certainly be here for the year," Shettler said.

One important task will be to make progress on a new roof before winter sets in. The students are trying to get most of the outside work done now, so that much of the inside work can be done during colder months.

"We're restoring as much of the building as possible to the way it was originally," Shettler said.

Jay Gilbert, Westland's community development director, said the city is even expected to locate the original bell that would be put back into the bell tower. Old-fashioned wooden desks also will be brought in.

Gilbert commended the students, saying, "We have been ecstatic about working with them."

He also lauded Shettler's efforts, saying the teacher of 26 years should be on the popular "Home Improvements" TV show.

Without the free labor, the city probably would've had to pay as much as $300,000 for workers, Gilbert said.

What Should A Program For Gifted Children Offer?

Gifted children have needs that go beyond what can be offered in a regular classroom setting, where instruction often is paced so slowly that the bright student becomes bored and discouraged. And where, at times, the gifted child's need for in-depth learning is neglected. What, then, should a gifted program offer to address the specific needs of bright students?

- Freedom to be creative
- Small class size
- Experiential learning
- Opportunity to see learning applied to life outside the classroom
- Permission to enjoy learning

All gifted education programs, whether in public or private schools, should have these basic features. If you would like more information on Gifted Education, Gibson School's Gifted Program for 4-13 year olds, or the Gibson School Lecture and Discussion Series (GLAD), please call or write:

High tech grant

No need to rush for computers

The loss of a $6 million federal grant to plug the Plymouth Canton schools into the high tech revolution isn't the end of the world. There's still local money available for computers in the classroom and there is the often forgotten teacher.

But first the loss of the federal money. It went to a Texas district, according to Education Week, because of political considerations.

The loss put schools Superintendent John Hoben at odds with U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell. Hoben was critical of the loss, because of the politics involved.

However, Pursell noted that the Plymouth Canton school district really didn't score that well on its grant application and probably wouldn't have gotten the money, despite the politics.

It's understandable that Hoben is disappointed over the loss of the grant because he and other school officials wanted the district to be the national pilot program for high tech in the classroom.

It was a nice, professional goal, but there was some complaining in the community from parents who wondered why there was $12 million in local money for computers, while the district laid off more than 50 teachers and made cuts to the curriculum.

We understand why that happened, but we share the concern of the parents. What difference does being a nationally recognized district mean to the kids and their parents? None.

The district has $12 million to spend on high tech because the money was approved in a public vote on a bond issue. That bond issue covered the building of new schools and spending on equipment. By law, bond issue money can't be spent on teacher salaries.

On the squabble between Hoben and Pursell, the two have patched it up and say they will try to obtain grants and foundations to make up for the lost $6 million.

But while we wish them success, we have reservations about the rush to high tech.

Teaching kids how to deal with changing technology is an admirable goal. However, we just hope schools don't get too carried away with computer wizardry and forget about the teachers.

Putting teachers in classrooms should be the first priority of a school district and the hardware used by them the second. It's too bad the school district has placed itself in a situation where there's money for high tech computers, but not enough to rehire the laid off teachers.

Computers and high tech are important but are only the frosting on the cake. They can't replace a caring human being who has a wealth of experience to share with kids.

Tax plan is bad for education

In previous editorials, we have opposed Proposal C for two reasons.

First, the "cap" plan will result in neighbors with similar houses paying different tax bills — punishing young homebuyers.

Second, Proposal C promises the state will reimburse school districts for the revenue they would lose under the 30 percent "cut," but there's not enough money to pay them without (a) endangering public and workplace safety or (b) raising state taxes significantly, which Gov. John Engler refuses to admit will be necessary.

There is a third set of reasons for rejecting "Cap" provided by our local school districts.

Wayne County districts

Proposals A and C "promise little in the way of relief to the majority of our residents and will even further erode the foundation of funding for school districts and municipalities" — Clarenceville school board.

"That cut is supposed to be reimbursed by the state . . . Where is the state going to get the money to reimburse school districts? We believe they are not going to get the revenue. It would force local school districts to have millage elections to make up for losses" — Ray Hoedel, Plymouth-Canton associate superintendent for business.

"We'd still be at risk. Will they (state) stop paying in to the state pension fund? They stopped paying some Social Security for the first time this year. They can give it back and take it away again" — Joseph Marinelli, Livonia superintendent.

"Both (A and C) would erode Redford Union's ability to sustain its property tax base, and neither would provide reimbursement for lost property tax revenue, lost administrative fees or increased administrative costs" — RU board resolution.

"Ninety-seven percent of our dollars come from local property taxes. I don't know how many financial losses like this our district can be expected to take" — Jan Jacobs, South Redford superintendent.

Anyone who is serious about cutting local property taxes must spell out in advance what state taxes will be raised to pay for them. Proposal C fails miserably. "Cut & Cap" will cut the quality of life and cap Michigan's recovery.

'No' on A, too

Proposal A is the orphan plan. It was placed on the ballot by the state Legislature, but its supporters have abandoned it, and no committee was formed to argue its case to voters.

Proposal A would cap property assessments at 5 percent. The property would be reassessed when the home is sold.

It has the same flaw as Proposal C — a homebuyer 10 years from now will pay higher taxes than a neighbor in an identical house who stays put. Proposal A is fundamentally unfair and potentially demoralizing to taxpayers. It, too, should be defeated Nov. 3.

Fence not solution

I am appalled by the plans of the "friends" of Miller Woods to build a parking lot and fence in the woods.

It seems incongruous to me that the neighborhoods around the woods have chosen to preserve the beauty of their surroundings with deed restrictions on fences. Yet a group that says it wants to preserve this beautiful forest thinks the best way to do this is with a parking lot and chain link fence.

The problems the "friends" cite — people taking plants, littering or riding bikes in the woods — will not be resolved by a fence. Unfortunately, if someone is brazen enough to dig up trillium in a clearly marked nature preserve, that person will feel a right to go through a gate and do the same.

I, too, am opposed to the actions of some that are damaging to the woods. I don't think the way to stop them is with an ugly fence. The only thing the fence will inhibit is the wildlife that currently inhabit the woods.

The "friends" would have you believe that just a handful of people are opposed to their plans. In fact, almost 100 have already indicated their opposition to the parking lot and fence.

Citizens: This is your school board that agreed to this plan to ruin the forest. This is the Kiwanis Club that is paying for it. (I won't be donating to them again if this is how the money is used).

Let's think again about what we are trying to preserve here and find a better solution. Several have been proposed to the "friends" by concerned neighbors of the woods. Unfortunately, they are not interested.

Proposal C cuts state revenue

It's beginning to look as though the only close contest in Michigan's elections will be over Proposal C, cutely named "Cut & Cap."

If adopted, the proposal would cut local property taxes levied to support schools by 30 percent over five years and limit assessment increases to 3 percent a year. The state would automatically reimburse local schools for lost revenues.

Supporters include Gov. John Engler and the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce. Opponents include labor unions, school folks and a bunch of Michigan dignitaries, including former Gov. William Milliken.

Despite a bunch of mutually misleading TV ads, polls so far indicate that likely Michigan voters are pretty much split down the middle on Proposal C, with a lot of folks undecided.

Everybody agrees that Michigan's property tax burden is too high, especially when compared to our Great Lakes neighbors. And when pressed, everybody even agrees that Michigan's total tax burden is no higher than our neighbors'.

So if the effect of Proposal C were merely to shift the basis of taxation from real property to something else like income, there would be little debate.

But it's not that simple. It now seems clear that Proposal C would cut, probably drastically, into state revenue. And nobody I have talked to in Lansing, Republicans or Democrats, has the slightest idea how to pay for it.

Watch the numbers for the first year Proposal C is in effect.

Assuming no other big tax increase (Gov. Engler's vow), the state will have to reimburse local school districts nearly $420 million to pay for their lost revenue.

Maybe that cost can be made up for by revenue growth. Let's get real optimistic and say the recession ends, so Michigan's revenues increase by $500 million in 1993-94. That leaves the state $80 million ahead.

But that $80 million won't cover the $342 million in one-time accounting gimmicks and fund raids approved by the Legislature to balance this year's budget.

So the state of Michigan will have to find something like $250 million to cover the difference.

PHILIP POWER

Where? Oh, from non-essentials like the State Police or our state parks system. Or from appropriations to universities. Or from what's left of our mental health system.

The potential for truly serious damage to Michigan is so great under Proposal C that it's fair to ask, what's really going on here?

I think the answer is simple: Gov. Engler and others have looked with admiration at the number President Reagan and his crew did to the federal budget. Convinced that government itself was the problem, they figured that if taxes could be cut enough to provoke a horrendous deficit, the result would be a radical cut in the size of government.

Their only mistake was that Washington insiders (Congress, President Bush) were quite prepared to finance government operations by running up the deficit.

But Michigan has a constitutional prohibition against deficit spending. So if you cut taxes radically through Proposal C and can't have a deficit, you must cut the size of state government.

What's really going on here is a radical attempt fundamentally to downsize Michigan's structure of governmental services, conveniently disguised as a proposal to reduce property taxes.

Radically cutting the size of state government may or may not be a good idea. But it's an idea that should be debated and voted on according to its merits, not through the fiction of a cutely named ballot proposal.

Won't pay

When cigarettes increased in price from 8 cents to 10 cents per package, I was forced to stop smoking because I could no longer afford the cost. At that time high school athletes furnished their equipment and were responsible for their transportation. If you smoke it looks like your family has two choices, either you ask your children to give up sports or they ask you to give up smoking. The only problem with our tax system is that it is far from being fair. There's plenty of money for taxes if it's fairly assessed. How much are old coots to sacrifice so your kids can participate in sports?

If Jeff Counts wants mob-rule and harassment, why not move to where they have it. I can no longer afford your paper. Cancel my subscription at once.
Graham B. Durling, Livonia

Help seniors

Mr. Counts, if you would teach your children to go out and help us seniors mow our lawns, shovel our snow, paint up and fix up our homes, then maybe us old coots could afford more of our Social Security money to pay teachers to care for your children which you don't seem able to do yourself.

P.S. Better quit those cancer sticks or you won't live to be an old coot.
Ernest Alley, Garden City

High salary

Can someone explain why the Plymouth Township supervisor's salary is approximately $10,000 more than the same position in Canton? I'm assuming each person works the same amount of hours each week. Furthermore, sheer population figures would seem to indicate Canton's position is more demanding.

This item is offered as a suggestion to the new in-coming Plymouth Township supervisor as a means of "truly" establishing a leaner budget.
Roger L. Kehrier, Plymouth

Senior responds

As a courtesy to anyone else who might read this response to Jeff Counts' article of Oct. 12, I will refrain from the use of profanity.

Considering the fact that, as a resident in Livonia for almost 25 years, it is possible that some of my tax dollars over the years may have contributed to his education. As one of the "old coots," one who has always supported any millage needed for educational improvement or extension, I feel I was robbed or he has been smoking a "roll-your-own" as shown in your photo. Posing as he has, with cigarette in hand despite all cancer records, is indicative of ignorance or arrogance or both.

Castigating (to chastise; punish; criticize severely) senior citizens as he has done is a real "scatter-shot." Most of us have grandchildren and are concerned for their future as much as we were for our own children. We are keenly aware of the need for excellence in education, including fringe areas like sports and music. Just how much has he contributed in time, expertise or physical and financial support to past millage issues as they appeared? His so-called "solution" is idiotic.

As a former cubmaster, scout leader, baseball manager and coach, PTA representative and, oh yes, member of AARP and a grandfather of four beautiful children, I have to take issue with him. I understand his distress, but, his lambasting of the "old coots" was totally irresponsible. I'd like to know what he thinks of his parents. What do his children think of their grandparents? What does he think of minorities? I think I already know.

Please excuse the abrupt closing. I suddenly feel the need for another bloodpressure pill right now.
Anthony Brehler, Livonia

Kosteva questioned

Kosteva seems like a pretty nice guy, but I sure have a hard time with some of his legislation.

In his literature, he promoted himself as a co-sponsor of Public Act 25. PA 25 reduced the local boards of education to mere puppets of the state, there simply as salesmen to raise millages.

PA 25 mandates that all schools receiving state aid (which includes even out-of-formula schools) move toward state accreditation standards using the state's Model Core Curriculum as a guide. Any public school which does not comply can be shut down by the state.

Does accreditation mean a quality education? Absolutely not. The new standards removed the traditional Carnegie units in math, science, etc. to a vague set of behavioral outcomes, or Outcome-Based-Education. OBE is the newest controversy in education which can allow psychological manipulation of children to "political correctness" rather than an academic education.

To assess the changes in attitudes on students made by the OBE, Standard II of the new proposed accreditation standards stresses measuring student growth and development, not academics. Should our children be used by the state as pawns to fulfill some sociologist's dream instead of being educated? I think not.

But the proof is in the pudding. PA 25's new state Model Core Curriculum's World Studies' objectives state that students should be involved politically in the making of new laws and policies. A few years ago some neighborhood children came home literally in tears over their dreaded fears of a millage not passing. Now the majority of high school students, who amazingly do not support proposal C, a Republican proposal, support Kosteva. Big surprise.

I think it's time for PA 25 to be overturned, Kosteva to be bumped out of his role in increasing big government, and the schools get back to teaching facts rather than propagandization.

Income tax illegal

Enclosed is a copy of the "Liberty Amendment." It was authored in 1949 by Willis Stone who was a member of the California State Legislature at the time.

It is designed to repeal the 16th amendment to our Constitution which is the personal income tax amendment. Stone could see in 1949 what was happening to our country and what is happening today concerning our economy. He saw that the 16th amendment is a burden on the people.

The 16th amendment is not legal in the first place. It was put into effect by a federal judge in 1913.

This is not legal according to our Constitution which our Masonic brothers and all others who worked on the Constitution intended it to be. Has this federal court gotten so powerful that they can dictate their views on their brother citizens? That is the next step to anarchy.

The elected officials of our government all are sworn to uphold the laws of our Constitution. If this oath of office is taken 100 percent seriously then the 16th amendment would be found null and void immediately.

The Constitution was written by Masons and others with the same concept in mind. That is a fact that I try to convey to people who do not know why it was written as it stands. I believe our concept of liberty comes from the Masonic background which was worked into the Constitution by Brother George Washington and all other Masons who helped write it. They did not want to see the economy held down by taxation. That is why Thomas Jefferson stated to the signers of the Constitution, "We have a Republic, if we can keep it."

When the citizens' rights are impaired by personal income tax then it is not a Republic any more. We must repeal the 16th amendment using the "liberty amendment" in its place to return ourselves to a republic and become a great nation again. I thank you.
Ronald L. Nickels, Plymouth

Not happy with cars

The six worst inventions are: 1. Money, 2. Guns, 3. Automobiles, 4. Religion, 5. Bulldozers, 6. Chainsaws.

My priorities in life are: 1. Food, 2. Clothing, 3. Shelter, 4. Medical care, 5. Education, 6. Recreation.

Automobiles kill millions of people, they pollute the air, land and water. We spend billions on roads, overpasses, parking lots, factories, garages, gas stations, etc. It uses up valuable minerals that could be used for my priorities. It doesn't solve the transportation problem. Do I have to tell you how to solve the problem?

The auto workers could work for my priorities. All that labor wasted building junk that is obsolete in a few years.

Mr. McCosh, I even hate to drive a car nowadays. Driving is murder. I hate cars and what it is doing. I'm scared also. Don't you have a better subject to write about?
Jake Jarvela, Southfield

About character

Does it require character to question the character and patriotism of one's opponent for the Presidency of the United States? I think not.

Does it require character for a 23-year-old college student to question the leadership of his government and not follow blindly?

Didn't it require character for the tens of thousands of Americans to protest an unjust war in Vietnam?

Because of these protesters, didn't the Vietnam war end sooner than if they did not protest? How many thousands of our boys' lives were saved because of those protesters? Yes, I think Bill Clinton has character.

Rocks contend for district title

Salem perfect in WLAA

Plymouth Salem won its eighth game without a loss in Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball Tuesday, 46-34 over visiting Walled Lake Western.

The Rocks were outscored 13-8 in the second quarter and trailed 21-17 at halftime, but they rallied in the second half with a 29-13 advantage.

Salem held the Warriors to four points in the final quarter while posting 15 for itself.

Cyndi Platter scored 17 points and pulled in nine rebounds for the Rocks, 8-6 overall. Shelly Sockow added 12 points and Christy Parimucha nine. Sockow also hauled in nine rebounds, and Parimucha got six assists.

"We got it done in the second half," Salem coach Fred Thomann said, adding Western tried to run a delay offense the whole game. "We stepped up the pressure, got some steals and went to the free throw line."

The Rocks made 19 of 27 free throws, the Warriors seven of 16. Erin Vicary scored 14 points for Western, 4-4 and 6-7.

Salem plays host to Westland John Glenn tonight before meeting Plymouth Canton and WLAA co-leader Livonia Stevenson in back-to-back games next week on Tuesday and Thursday, respectively.

Agape rallies to victory

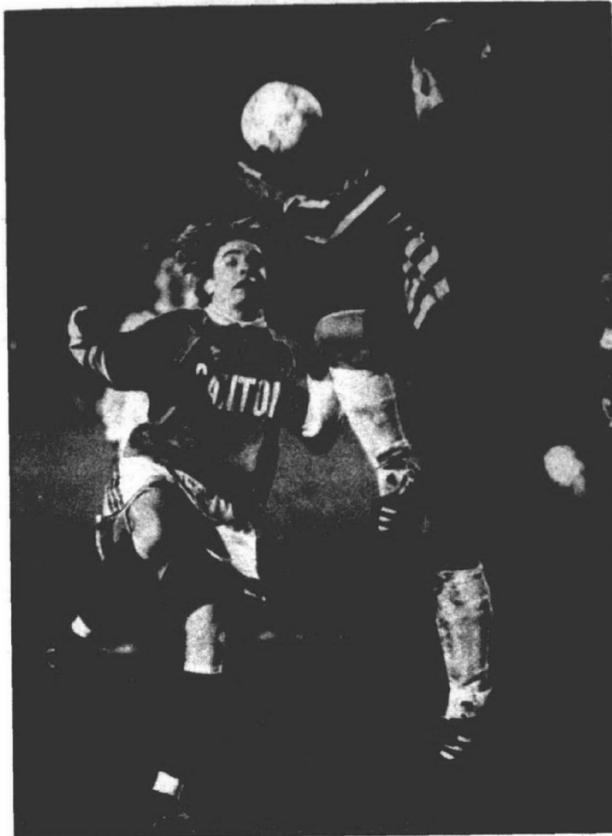

Plymouth Agape Christian stayed unbeaten in the Metro Christian Conference with a 45-41 girls basketball victory Monday over host Wixom Christian.

Tanya Gowen scored 20 points for Agape, 10-0 and 12-0 overall. K.C. Younkin and Terenah Baisch added 12 points apiece.

Agape trailed by eight points with two minutes left in the third quarter, but it turned the deficit into an eight-point lead early in the fourth behind the play of Gowen, Younkin and Baisch.

Amy Bell scored 12 points for Wixom, 8-2 and 5. Agape plays its final league game Tuesday at home against Garden City United Christian.

District soccer

Salem save: Salem goalkeeper Paul Dood makes a leaping catch in front of Canton's James Bossieux in district tournament play Monday. The Rocks won 2-1. See story on Page 3B.

Plymouth Salem is experiencing a resurgence in post-season soccer play. With everyone but Jason Oberhelman (who had a season-ending injury) healthy again, the Rocks advanced to the district championship game Saturday at Northville High School.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Salem is a much better soccer team when it has all its players healthy.

The Rocks demonstrated that Wednesday night by avenging an earlier loss to host Livonia Churchill, 3-2 in a second-round district tournament game.

For the first time in more than five weeks, Salem put its original starting lineup on the field. The Chargers won 4-2 two weeks ago when the Rocks were minus Tom Baker and Brian Spuck.

"The starting 11 is like a machine," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "The motion, sequence and team work are there when we have all 11."

Unlike the first game, the Rocks had Churchill trying to catch them. Joe Perron's second goal eventually decided the issue with 21:51 remaining.

"The first time without Spuck we were able to go through them a lot easier," Churchill coach Mark Mason said. "Today, with Baker in there, it made it tough to keep track of all the quick players they have."

"They have a lot of speed that we don't have. We couldn't keep up with some of their faster players. It was hard for us to get behind, because we don't have that kind of speed and have to rely on short passes."

The Rocks (16-4-2) will play the South Lyon-Novici winner for the district championship at 2 p.m. Saturday at Northville High School. The Chargers finish 11-5-3.

"We played the two toughest (district) games in the state," Johnson said, referring also to a 2-1 victory Monday over Plymouth Canton. "They were as good as any. These two teams could beat anyone."

On the winning goal, Spuck sent the ball to the opposite side, behind the Churchill defense. Perron was able to dribble up and score his 13th goal of the season before the defense could recover.

Churchill was awarded a penalty kick with 16 minutes left after a handball violation in the box. Salem goalie Paul Dood made a diving, game-saving stop on Vincent DeMassa's shot.

Churchill keeper Kal Kaliszewski kept the Chargers in it with saves on shots by Scott Buczek and Mike Kley. Salem's Chris Saline had a big takeaway with 1 1/2 minutes remaining, and Dood was called on to make another save in the last minute.

Perron scored his first goal with an assist from Buczek at 16:23 in the first half, but the Chargers tied a minute later when Pete Owens knocked in the rebound off a Charlie Roberts direct kick.

Jeff Kley gave Salem a 2-1 lead in the 51st minute, lofting a high shot from the left side. Kaliszewski leaped and tipped the ball, but it rolled backward into the net.

The Chargers tied again six minutes later when Vince Troiani's header kept the ball in the middle, giving DeMassa a direct line to the Salem goal.

Salem girls 2nd in regional, return to state tennis finals

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

After finishing fifth in the Western Lakes Activities Association girls tennis tournament, Plymouth Salem redeemed itself with a strong performance in regional play.

The Rocks finished behind host Dearborn and qualified to compete in the state finals for the second consecutive year Saturday. The Pioneers had 25 points, Salem 18 and Plymouth Canton 11.

"It shows the other teams we lost to that we're better than we showed," Salem coach Judy Braun said. "Salem traditionally peaks at the end of the season; that's what you're supposed to do. We came through when it counted."

The Rocks had regional championships at two flights, including the prestigious No. 1 singles where sophomore Jennifer Clack defeated Livonia Ladywood's Liz Gunn in the final.

Gunn won the first set 6-4. Clack won the second 7-6 after prevailing 11-9 in a marathon tie-breaker and the third 6-3.

"It's always interesting to watch her play," said Braun of Clack. "She's young, ambitious and determined. She's a neat kid."

Clack's only setbacks this year were a pair of losses to Stephanie Geelhood of Walled Lake Central. Where she is seeded will play a big role in determining how Clack does at state, according to Braun.

"Enough people have seen her play over the course of the last year who know her. She has some advocates," Braun said. "If they seed five and take Jenny into consideration, she stands a chance of having a good tournament. I think she will no matter what because she's a competitor."

Salem's Melissa Kowalis and Natalie Graves won the No. 1 doubles championship, defeating Dearborn in the final. Kelly Kirkpatrick earned three points for a second-place finish at No. 3 singles.

The Rocks were seeded at every flight, which gave them a first-round bye and at least two points from every singles player or doubles team when all advanced to the semifinals.

Deepa Sreenivasan, who reached the quarterfinals in the state tournament last year at No.

Kwak Jin Shin and Cindy Wierzbicki played No. 2 doubles, Amy Sullivan and Christy Moyr No. 3 doubles.

The Salem and Canton teams had hoped to qualify for state together, according to Braun, but the seeding outcome worked against that plan. The Rocks and Chiefs were on the same side of the bracket in every singles flight and had to play each other in earlier rounds.

"We were rooting for each other," Braun said. "We had planned on decorating cars red, white and blue. We talked about wearing red, white and blue uniforms and going as (one) Canton-Salem (team)."

The Chiefs were second at No. 4 singles with Pam Reynolds, and the doubles teams of Shazia Ahmed/Kelly Caulfield and Kelly Reeber/Kara Fiegenschuh were runners-up at No. 2 and 3.

"We didn't let Salem or Dearborn get many easy points," Canton coach Barb Hanosh said. "We were right in there, and I think someday we'll be up there, too."

Spartans stun Chiefs, 48-43

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Livonia Stevenson is no longer an unknown quantity in the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball race.

The Spartans proved they are for real, pulling off a stunning 48-43 upset against a well-seasoned and veteran Plymouth Canton team, defending WLAA champions and ranked No. 4 in Class A.

Stevenson is now 13-0 overall and 8-0 in the league (tied with Plymouth Salem). Canton, meanwhile, dropped to 12-2 overall and 6-2 in the WLAA.

Junior point-guard Mo Drabicki enjoyed her finest hour as a Spartan cager, lighting up the Chiefs for a game-high 24 points to go along with five steals and five assists. She hit eight of nine free throws.

Stevenson also put the clamps on Canton's senior center Stephanie Gray. Smothered inside by a host of Spartans, led by 6-3 senior Julie Martin, 5-11 freshman Stacey Nichols and 5-11 senior Patty Diamond, the 6-1 Gray had only 11 points on three-of-13 shooting from the field.

"We wanted to deny them inside and stop Stephanie," Stevenson coach Wayne Henry said. "We decided that we were going to let somebody else win the game."

"We knew all about their defensive pressure, but we had to play as good of defense as they play and I thought we did a decent defensive job."

The rest of the Chiefs were stymied as well with Christie Saffron the next best on the offensive end with nine points.

"We're not attacking the basket well and I was disappointed in our shot selection," said Canton coach Bob Blohm, whose team shot only 35.8 percent from the field (14 for 39). When we needed a rebound, or a stop on defense, we didn't get it."

Canton led most of the way except for the early stages of the game when Stevenson senior guard Lori Shingledecker, who also sang the national anthem, hit a pair of three-pointers to give the Spartans a brief 6-2 advantage.

The teams were tied at 12 after one quarter, but Canton nudged ahead at intermission, 24-21, and carried a 35-30 lead into the final

All games important now for SC men's soccer team

The tune-ups are over. From this point forward, every match Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team plays will be a factor in deciding their fate.

On Saturday, SC hosts Cuyahoga CC in its final scheduled regular-season match. Cuyahoga is a half-game behind the Ocelots, having lost to them 5-2 in overtime Sept. 26. SC is unbeaten in regional play at 7-0 after Saturday's 4-0 triumph over visiting Columbus State CC (Ohio).

Should the Ocelots lose to Cuyahoga Saturday, they would have to reschedule a match with region foe Lakeland CC. The two teams were supposed to play at SC Oct. 10, but transportation problems by Lakeland forced a cancellation.

If the Ocelots lose to Cuyahoga, they would have to beat Lakeland to force a playoff for the Region 12 title and a trip to the NJCAA Inter-regional Tournament.

SC seemed to be rounding into tournament form against Columbus, according to coach Van Dimitriou. "The guys were absolutely ready to play," Dimitriou said, adding that this Saturday "I really feel we'll be ready to go."

Cuyahoga won't be easy to beat. "They have individuals who can counter and are very dangerous," said Dimitriou. "They can match us (talent-wise) individually, but they can't match us as a unit."

Against Columbus, the Ocelots "moved the ball as well as they have in any game all year. They were really working. They realize it's getting close to crunch time."

Dominic Vella (from Livonia Churchill) opened the scoring 12 minutes into the match, using a quick move to beat a defender and convert a cross from Wayne Worosz (Redford Catholic Central). Jeff Cardinal made it 2-0 at the 32-minute mark, heading in a cross from Bill Lanspeary (Livonia Stevenson).

SC upped its lead to 3-0 before halftime when Vella scored again, this time getting a through ball from Cardinal and beating two defenders at the 39-minute mark. The final score came 20 minutes into the second half and Andy Cosenza (Plymouth Salem) got it, converting a pass from Mike Presley (Plymouth Canton).

SC, which improved to 10-1-1 overall, won't be at full strength against Cuyahoga. Forward Matt Lividini, who was nursing a hamstring muscle pull earlier in the season, has been hampered by a groin muscle pull. He's expected to play.

SC WOMEN'S SOCCER

The Lady Ocelots' unbeaten streak reached five games before coming to a crashing close Sunday at Florissant Valley CC in St. Louis with a 3-0 loss. Still, they accomplished something first — they knocked off regional rival Central State (McPheerson, Kansas) 4-1 Saturday at Flo Valley.

The weekend split left SC with a 4-8-3 overall record. The Lady Ocelots will play Central State Nov. 7 for the right to advance to the NJCAA Tournament.

Amy Krajewski (Salem) was the difference for the Ocelots against Central. The sophomore sweeper twice defeated Central's efforts at an offside trap by dribbling through the defense and eventually scoring goals. Krajewski added a third score on a direct kick from 30 yards out that she planted into the upper right corner of the net.

Kara Kramer opened the scoring, intercepting a Central defender's pass intended for her keeper. Kramer stepped in between and knocked the ball into the net for a 1-0 lead.

Central tied it when SC defender Dee Lorenz put the ball into her own net while trying to play it back to keeper Kim Owczarzak (Farmington). But Krajewski righted that miscue, dribbling through the Central defense as it pushed forward in an attempt to catch SC offside. Krajewski lost the ball, but it bounced to Joy Hosinski, who centered it back to Krajewski for the goal.

Krajewski's direct-kick goal made it 3-1 at the half, and her steal and breakaway in the second half earned her a hat trick.

"She was awesome," said SC coach Nick O'Shea of Krajewski.

"She was on fire. But it wasn't like she was playing totally offensive. A team like that, that runs the offside trap, you've got to take advantage of it. She did."

Although SC couldn't match Flo Valley Sunday — indeed, the Lady Ocelots scored again into their own net, Krajewski with the dubious honor as she tried to clear the ball back to Owczarzak — it wasn't all bad.

"We came out slow after playing the day before, but we looked pretty good at times," said O'Shea.

SC VOLLEYBALL

This streak continues. The Lady Ocelots ran their Eastern Conference volleyball record to 8-0 Tuesday with a lopsided 15-6, 15-4, 15-6 win over visiting Macomb CC. SC improved to 23-6-2 overall.

"I thought we played well," said Lady Ocelot coach Tom Teeters. "Macomb played better against us than they did the first time, and scored less, so we must've improved."

Julie Wood led the attack with 11 kills (a .320 kill average). Dani Sheehy had nine kills (.350) and six blocks; Erica Edwards had seven kills (.266) and five block assists; Nancy Ehlert totaled five kills (.400), five block assists, 18 assists-to-kills and three service aces; and Tracia Clendenen collected 12 assists-to-kills and three aces.

SC's serving, which bothered Teeters during the Jefferson CC Tournament 10 days earlier, has improved. Janine Sproul led with five service aces. Defensively, Shannon Capstick and Jennifer Dampousse each had six digs.

Last Thursday, SC managed to beat Henry Ford CC in three-straight, very tight games, 16-14, 15-12, 16-14 at SC.

Wood led the attack for the Ocelots with 16 kills (a .317 kill average). Ehlert had 22 assists-to-kills and Clendenen added 10 assists and five kills.

Defense was the difference, and Edwards led the defense with four solo blocks and seven block assists. Sheehy added five total blocks, and Sproul, Capstick and Ehlert each had 12 digs.

Henry Ford CC slipped to 4-3 in the conference.

Regina downs Ladywood

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

If anybody is looking forward to Sunday's change in daylight savings time, which will result in an extra hour of sleep, it's Harper Woods Regina's Paula Sanders.

Sanders leaned on the bleachers Tuesday after Regina's come-from-behind 40-36 victory at Livonia Ladywood, which all but clinched the state-ranked Satellites a second-place finish in the Catholic League's Central Division behind Birmingham Marian.

Regina has to win one of its remaining two games to clinch second.

"I'm going to get a lot of sleep tonight," said Sanders, who will attend Michigan State University. Sanders was double and triple-teamed throughout the night by several Blazers, scoring just six points, half her average.

Coach Diane Laffey wasn't bothered by Sanders' uncharacteristic offensive output.

"It doesn't matter to me if Paula isn't scoring as long as she's doing other things like rebounding and making steals," said the Regina coach.

"They were triple-teaming me, but that left other people open," agreed Sanders. "I'll take one point and win instead of scoring 50 points and lose."

Sanders made the key play of the game, stealing a backcourt pass and scoring a layup to give Regina a 37-36 lead with 1:18 remaining.

"I didn't see the pass coming," admitted Sanders. "I just went toward the basket and the ball was there. I guess I was lucky."

Three free throws by guard Tiffany Romeo accounted for the game's final points.

The Satellites, ranked No. 5 in Class A, improved to 11-3 overall and 4-2 in the league. Ladywood, which failed to avenge a 59-44 loss earlier in the month, fell to 12-3 overall and 4-3 in the league.

"We got off to a slow start the first time we played them, but we started off better tonight," said Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh. "I thought we set a good tempo early, but we self-destructed at the end."

"We're used to scoring a lot of points, but we started to get conservative and didn't look to take the ball to the basket."

Ladywood's five seniors scored just seven points. Sophomore Tara Overaitis led the Blazers with 20 points.

"We got poor performances from our seniors," Kavanaugh said. "Tara had a good game, but it's not enough to have a good game from a 10th grader, one player, to win a game."

An 11-0 run in the first quarter gave Ladywood a 13-6 lead entering the second quarter. Two consecutive steals and baskets by Overaitis gave the Blazers their biggest lead at 17-8.

Regina pulled to within 23-18 at halftime by scoring the last five points of the second quarter.

Ladywood's scored just three field goals. The Satellites were able to narrow the Blazers' lead to 31-29 entering the final quarter, despite scoring just one basket.

An offensive rebound and putback by Maria Kady gave Regina its first lead of the game at 32-31. Layups by Anne Poglits and Overaitis put Ladywood up 35-32, but the Blazers managed just a Melissa Campbell free throw in the game's final 5:10.

The Satellites held a 41-27 rebound advantage.

quarter. But the Spartans, behind the brilliant floor play of Drabicki, made their move in the final quarter.

They went ahead for keeps with 4:22 remaining on a Drabicki basket, 38-37. (She had 10 in the quarter.)

Shingledecker (10 points) and Ann Marie Aquino also came up with clutch hoops down the stretch, but a soft baby hook on a drive by Drabicki with only 1:47 remaining, giving Stevenson a 46-41 lead, broke the Chiefs' back.

"Mo was outstanding, but she had some help, too," Blohm said. "She penetrated to the basket and made some big shots. We were only down one point when she made a great play out of our trap and they ended up scoring."

"The last four minutes they (Stevenson) just did a better job of finishing."

Canton turned the ball over 19 times, but Stevenson had only 12, a tribute to Drabicki's floor leadership.

"I'm really proud of the way she played in the second half," Henry said. "She had better control of her passes and she made better choices."

"She was not intimidated by their defense. She didn't pick up her dribble out at 19 feet."

Despite their unbeaten record, the Spartans were considered underdogs going into the matchup.

They had not played any ranked teams, while Canton owned wins over highly regarded Harper Woods Regina, Birmingham Marian and St. Joseph.

Stevenson, however, had beaten Walled Lake Central, while Canton was upset last week by the Vikings.

"Stevenson has a nice ballclub, they've come a long way from last year and obviously they're competitive in this league," Blohm said. "Right now they're as good as anybody in this league, and we're kind of stuck right now."

Rocks top rivals: Mike Kley of Salem maneuvers to control the ball in front of Canton opponent Jeff Fliss during district play Monday.

Salem tops Canton in OT

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Senior defender Tom Baker, returning to Plymouth Salem's boys soccer lineup after missing six games with an ankle sprain, did more than just shore up the Rocks' defense Monday night.

Baker's advice to teammate Joe Perron helped Salem score a goal in sudden-death overtime and beat Plymouth Canton 2-1 in a Class A district game at Centennial Educational Park.

The Rocks were 15-2-2 heading into a second-round game Wednesday night at Livonia Churchill.

After receiving a pass from teammate Scott Buczek, Perron sent the ball to winger Ryan Phipps, who blasted home the winning with 9:45 left in the first overtime.

"I heard Baker yell, 'Cross it to the right,'" Perron said. "I didn't look (when he passed). Phipps was there and put it in the goal. We all played for our hearts and went out and accomplished what we came to do."

Phipps had a similar chance earlier in OT, but, after taking a pass from Mark MacInnis, his hard shot from 10 yards out went right into the arms of Canton goalkeeper Ryan Henkel.

"I knew I had the near post this time," Phipps said.

Phipps missed the last three practices with the flu.

"The kid who got the winning goal is tough as nails," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "He doesn't score many, but they're all big goals."

The loss ended Canton's season at 10-4-5 overall. The Chiefs, who lost and tied two regular-season meetings with Salem, also had a scoring chance in OT, but a header by Jeff Fliss sailed over the Salem net.

Canton will have a solid nucleus returning, despite losing senior tri-captains Owen Crosby, Henkel and Mikeal Wdowia to graduation.

"I thought we had them with the header at the beginning of overtime," said Canton coach Don Smith, who added a defensive lapse might have contributed to the game-winner. "Everyone started bunching to the man (Perron); he gave it off and it was a pretty pass. It was a good ballgame. They played tough."

Salem took a 1-0 lead midway through the first half as Perron scored off an assist from Phipps.

But Canton tied the score with 1:13 left when junior Eric Stoschlein sent a pass to Fliss, who stopped the ball and drilled it past Salem goalkeeper Paul Dood.

Baker helped the Rocks keep it even and looked at full strength despite missing the last month of action. He even was involved in a second-half collision with Henkel, battling for a loose ball.

"Tom settles everyone down, controls the middle, holds the ball and lets our wingers take off," Johnson said. "When we don't have Tom, we have to bring Perron back on defense."

PCA 4, WILLIAMSTON 2:

Plymouth Catholic Academy rallied in the second half Monday to defeat host Williamston in a first-round Class D district soccer game.

The Eagles, who trailed 1-0 at halftime, got two goals from sophomore Ryan Thomason and one each from sophomore Dan House and freshman Shaun Walker. Jamie Wilson, House and Thomason also had one assist apiece.

Walker tied the score, Thomason's second goal with 10 minutes left was the game-winner and House added an insurance goal.

The victory marked the second time in 13 years and first since 1985 that PCA (8-6-2) has advanced to the second round of the district.

CC shuts out Giese, beats Farmington, 3-1

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Anthony Verrino and Matt Giese forgot they were best friends at the start of Wednesday's Class A boys soccer district semifinal game at Canton Municipal Park.

"I ran into him a couple times and we had words in the beginning," said Verrino, Redford Catholic Central's senior forward.

It's hard to say who won the war of words but CC was convincing on the field, beating Giese and Farmington High School, 3-1, to advance to Friday's 5 p.m. district final at Southfield High School.

The Shamrocks, 13-2-2, met the winner of Wednesday's game between Livonia Stevenson and Livonia Franklin.

"I'm not impressed with either team (Stevenson or Franklin)," said Verrino, who gave CC a 1-0 halftime lead. "I think we've got a real good shot."

CC's Rich Walos and Matt Kopmeyer each hit the goal post in the first half before Verrino broke the scoreless tie with a minute left on a goal assisted by Kopmeyer.

"His goal was terrific," said Giese, "He got it at his feet, turned his man and shot it right in the corner."

Walos scored a pair of goals in the second half, one coming on an assist from junior Jamie Heitert and one on a direct kick to make the score 3-0. Almost as important to CC's fate was its defense against Giese, who finished with 27 goals for the season and 53 for his career.

Giese's only opportunity to score came early and that was stopped by CC goalkeeper Matt McGivney. Jeff Parent marked Giese most of the game but he got help from his friends in white shirts.

"We watched him (Giese) every minute. That was our strategy,"

CC coach Phil LaJoy said. "Farmington is a good team and we knew we'd be in for a fight."

Farmington finished the season at 10-6-3.

"Giese didn't get the ball enough," Farmington coach Luke Juncaj said. "We had a hard time getting the ball away from our goal. Their forwards were very good and fast."

Farmington goalkeeper John Comai made 15 saves, including an impressive one near the end of the game off a header by Heitert.

Farmington's goal came from Chris Meller with three minutes remaining and CC ahead 3-0.

"We weren't as fired up as we needed to be," Giese said.

Giese was sad to see his high school career end but he's glad Verrino was able to continue his.

"Call me after you get home," he shouted to Verrino after the game.

So they still are best of friends.

Lions post varsity grid victory

Tony Hollingsworth scored two touchdowns Saturday as the Canton Lions celebrated homecoming with a 30-6 varsity football victory over the Ann Arbor West Wildcats.

Hollingsworth recovered a first-quarter fumble and ran 30 yards on first down for the first TD. He scored again later to make the halftime score 24-0.

Enzo Fabbro ran for a TD and Phil Bahrou passed to Damon Arnold for another.

Ryan Hoffman kicked a two-point conversion, Brandon Jones and Eric Sarrault combined for a safety, John Harrison caught a conversion pass from Bahrou and ran for another extra point.

Defensive standouts were Joe Krall, Brandon Jones, Arnold, Bahrou, Brian Lehane, Nick Ruest, Brett Burleson and Kevin Butler.

The Lions suffered their first loss in the freshman game, 13-6. Doug Flateau scored the touchdown, which tied the score in the second quarter.

Archie Kinney, who foiled the Wildcats first extra-point attempt, led the Lions with five tackles. Marko Harbar, Chris Trott, Jacob Lyons, Jason Carruthers and Brendon Wheeler also played well on defense.

The Lions lost the JV game 28-0 despite the efforts of Jordan Jones, Rob Malchow, Gordin Perrin, Bryson Wolf, Jason Brafford, Bill Peterson and Mike Hoelscher.

The Lions play the Ann Arbor West Eagles at noon Sunday.

Shamrocks win Sturgis meet

Redford Catholic Central's boys cross country team made last weekend's trip to Sturgis worthwhile.

CC visited the nearby campus of Notre Dame and saw the Golden Dome and on Saturday won its seventh Sturgis Invitational in the last 10 years. The Shamrocks placed first with 30 points.

Grand Rapids Christian was second (62), followed by Holly

(102), Traverse City (132), Kalamazoo Loy Norrix (150), Ann Arbor Huron (162), East Kentwood (165), Portage Central (181) and Jackson (210).

"It was a real nice day to run, the sun was out, wasn't windy," CC coach Tony Magni said.

The top seven CC runners enjoyed personal best times.

CC runner Mike Mittman placed second with a time of 16 minutes, 24 seconds. Mittman just nosed out third place Jamie Fitzgerald (16:25), who led most of the race.

"Jamie worked awfully hard the first three miles and I knew it would be tough for him to hang on," Magni said. "But he ran a real nice race."

Damon Harris placed fifth (16:28), Mark Leo seventh (16:40), Joe Leo 13th (16:58), Jeff Wollschlager 22nd (17:15) and Brian Smith 26th (17:23).

Steelers rout Westland Comets

Nick Kanaan scored two touchdowns on runs of 3 and 11 yards Sunday as the Plymouth-Ganton Steelers varsity football team blanked the Westland Comets 27-0.

Rob Johnson, who set up Kanaan's first TD with a fumble recovery at the opposing 15-yard line and scored the extra point after the second, ran 51 yards for another score.

Chris Movinski scored the final TD with a 1-yard run. Lawrence Nunn rushed for 63 yards and Brandon Cruz 51.

Tim Kocoloski made seven tackles, Johnson and Tony Ziegler six apiece and Ben Herman four. Paul Kraus had two fumble recoveries for the Steelers (4-2), and Chris Williams blocked a Westland punt.

The Steelers won the freshman game 20-0 as Andy Kocoloski scored twice on a 28-yard interception return and a 27-yard run.

Bobby Curtis, who led the Steelers (5-0-1) with 83 rushing yards, dashed 57 yards for the third TD. Kocoloski and Ian Winter, who gained for 48 and 37 yards, ran for extra points.

Todd Lawler, Chris Sherfey and Brad Wells were defensive standouts.

The JV team (4-1-1) tied the Comets 6-6. The Steelers scored first on Eric Coburn's 3-yard run. Kevin Salla rushed for 61 yards and Joe Kanaan 52.

The Steelers play the Westland Meteors, beginning at noon Sunday at Wayne Memorial High School.

10-PIN ALLEY

Today's sermon is about the religion of bowling.

Most bowlers at one time or another have prayed for one more strike or that the last shot would stay on the lanes. So many things can happen on the lanes that can be considered just plain lucky.

pocket hits except the ninth frame which looked a sure split.

As they tore up No. 10, they discovered a cross had been buried there just beyond the foul line. Turns out that the original owner, Ted Hochstein, had for some reason placed it there when the lanes were first being installed.

It so happens that a few years ago one of his own grandchildren bowled a 300 game on that very pair, 9 and 10. I wonder how many bowlers ever had a "Hail Mary" strike on that lane.

A couple of years ago, there was a funeral for an avid bowler named Bill Stewart of Farmington. While his bowling buddies came to pay their last respects, the widow asked his friend, Paul Koenig, if he would take Bill's place on the team in the Our Lady of Sorrows League. He agreed to do so, and as he was leaving, the widow told him "Bowl a 300 game for my Bill."

Paul Koenig is an excellent bowler, but he had never recorded a perfect game, at least not until that next night at Bel Aire Lanes where he banged out a 300 in the third game. His shots were all

League football titles at stake

BY DAN O'MEARA AND BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITERS

The Wayne-Westland School District could have two league champions in football Friday.

Westland John Glenn can win its first Western Lakes Activities Association title since 1987 at Walled Lake Western, and Wayne Memorial can gain a share of the Wolverine A Conference crown with a win over Southgate.

Redford Catholic Central will earn another Central Division championship and Prep Bowl appearance Saturday if it defeats Harper Woods Notre Dame.

Crossover games in the WLAA and Metro Conference offer some even matchups this week, making the prediction game a bit difficult.

Speaking of which, Dan O'Meara jumped in front after going 13-2 last week and pushing the season total to 76-26. Brad Emons was 11-4 and stands 74-28.

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Lansing CC at Redford Union, 7 p.m.: The Class B Cougars are having a disappointing season at 3-4, according to one insider. Coach Phil Booth has just one losing season in 21 years at the school; however, Catholic Central has lost back-to-back games for the first time in a decade and failed to win the Capital Circuit Conference for the first time in five years. The Cougars are led by linebacker Scott Gillespie. The host Panthers also have lost their last two games and dropped to 3-4. PICK: The Cougars win this version of Cats.

Garden City at Willow Run: These Cougars — the Garden City variety — are tri-champions of the Northwest Suburban League. Its first title by a Garden City team since old East High accomplished the feat 20 years ago. Bob Eisminger's team has won its last two and stands 5-2. The Cougars face a Willow Run team (4-3) that had a four-game win streak snapped by a 28-14 loss to Dearborn Heights Robichaud. PICK: The Cougars get a vote of confidence.

Red. Thurston at Melvindale: The Eagles (5-2) had their hopes of winning a share of the Tri-River League title dashed as a result of a 9-7 loss to Taylor Truman. The defeat also ended Thurston's four-game winning streak. Melvindale (3-4) has fallen on hard times after a good start. The Cardinals won three straight after a 7-6, overtime loss to Monroe St. Mary-CC in the opener but have lost their last three, including a 20-10 loss to Crestwood last week. PICK: Thurston gets back on the winning track.

Southgate at Wayne Memorial: The Zebras (5-1, 5-2) must avoid an emotional letdown following their first win over Fordson since 1976. Wayne has won its last five after losing to Adrian and Monroe and is entertaining thoughts of the playoffs. The Zebras can't afford to be looking ahead to that dramatic regular-season finale next week against Glenn. The Titans (1-5, 2-5) have lost their last three games. PICK: The Observer duo stays aboard the Wayne Express.

Wald. Glenn at W.L. Western: For the first time since the WLAA was created in 1982, Farmington Harrison won't be in the championship game. Glenn (7-0) played the Hawks five times and won titles in 1985 and 1987. Some say the Rockets, ranked ninth in Class AA, have their best team since the late '70s. Western (7-0) is enjoying its finest season and won its first Western Division crown. Both have big, strong teams, but Glenn might be more explosive and have a little more speed with the Besco brothers as wide receivers. PICK: The Rockets launch a successful mission.

N.Farmington at Northville: The Raiders (4-3) snapped a two-game losing skid with their 33-6 win over Farmington and still entertain an outside hope of making the Class A playoffs again. Northville (5-2) has won five of its last six, the only loss being an overtime game with Western. The Mustangs, who beat Harrison 24-21 with a late field goal Saturday, seem to have gotten better as the season progressed. PICKS: Emons rides with the Raiders, but O'Meara sees the Mustangs riding off with a win.

Farmington at Liv. Churchill: One of the WLAA's winless teams will have a victory this week. The Falcons look stronger on paper. They were in close games with Walled Lake Central and Livonia Stevenson but lost by a TD or less. Farmington battled Plymouth Salem two weeks ago before losing 21-13. The Chargers haven't scored a point since the second week of the season, and an 18-0 loss to Plymouth Canton last week was their closest score. PICKS: Farmington gets the nod.

Liv. Stevenson at Ply. Canton: Both teams started with four straight losses and have won two of their last three games. With the Spartans leading 7-0 and driving for a second TD, a fumble proved costly last week against Salem. The Rocks drove 92 yards, took an 8-7 lead and won 29-7. The Chiefs have momentum following their shutout win over Churchill and won this game 9-7 last year. PICKS: With an election near, Adia's boys rally to the cause.

Lutheran North at Clarenceville: This Metro Conference crossover holds promise of being a fine game. North was beaten 22-6 by Harper Woods last week, dropping the Mustangs to 3-4. Clarenceville also is 3-4 but has won three of its last five, and a mere five points stood between the Trojans and victory in the two losses — Cranbrook (7-6) and Lutheran East (32-30). PICK: Chalk up another win for Clarenceville.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all games 1 p.m. unless noted)

Ply. Salem at Liv. Franklin: The Patriots (5-2) have lost two of their last three but still entertain hopes of making the Class AA playoffs. Franklin has a legitimate chance but must rebound from its loss to Walled Lake Western and avoid a Salem surprise. The Rocks (4-3) have won their last two and looked tough with junior Rob Shepley carrying the ball against Stevenson. Expect a low-scoring game as both teams can get bogged down offensively but play good defense. PICK: Franklin stays on track for its first post-season appearance since 1975.

W.L. Central at Farm. Harrison: After beating North Farmington three weeks ago, the Vikings (3-4) have been outscored 69-15 in their last two games by Stevenson and Glenn. Harrison's only win in the last five games was against Churchill. The Hawks (3-4) have been close in every game they've lost with the possible exception of Walled Lake Western, which scored twice in the fourth quarter for a 21-7 win. Two field goals and eight points separated Harrison from Franklin, Canton and Northville. PICK: The Hawks still have a lot of fight left in them.

Hamtramck at Lutheran Wald., 2 p.m.: This Metro Conference crossover game pits a pair of 1-6 teams against each other. Lutheran Westland has lost six straight since winning the opener. The Cosmos took their first win two weeks ago, 18-14 over Harper Woods, before getting crushed by Clarenceville 44-0. The Warriors gave once-beaten Lutheran East a game but fell 28-24 last week. PICKS: O'Meara's fate hangs with Hamtramck; Emons hangs with the Home(town) Boys.

St. Agatha vs. St. Alphonsus, 5 p.m. at Det. Lutheran West: The Aggies (3-1, 5-2) can catch their breath after that 14-7 loss to unbeaten and state-ranked Center Line St. Clement. St. Alphonsus (0-4, 2-5) has lost four in a row — all in the Catholic League C-Section. The Arrows have scored points against every team except St. Clement but have a habit of giving up a lot more. PICK: St. Agatha has the Arrows quivering.

Redford CC vs. Notre Dame, 7:30 p.m. at Liv. Clarenceville: First, the Shamrocks (3-0, 7-0) must take care of business, then plan for a trip to the Silverdome and rematch with DePores next week. Notre Dame (1-2, 3-4) beat Southgate Aquinas in its last game 14-0 but will have trouble matching up with CC. After tough games on four consecutive weekends, the Shamrocks clobbered U-D Saturday, 34-6. PICKS: CC takes the fight out of the Irish.

SUNDAY'S GAME

Bishop Borgess at Cabrini, 1 p.m.: Two winless teams face each other here, also. Both are 0-4 in the Catholic League Tri-Sectional Division and 0-7 overall. Comparative scores offer little help; both teams have lost games by big margins. PICK: The coin, please! Cabrini wins the toss, maybe more.

CC gridders pound U-D Cubs

Redford Catholic Central's 34-6 football victory Saturday over the University of Detroit-Jesuit was costly.

The Shamrocks lost running backs Freddie Taylor and Jason Krueger to leg injuries and had to ask junior Jon Wolfe to carry the rushing burden in the second half.

Krueger sprained an ankle and Taylor aggravated a turf toe. Both are listed as questionable for Saturday night's game against Harper Woods Notre Dame at Livonia Clarenceville.

"We're going to practice with the idea that they're not going to play," CC coach Tom Mach said Wednesday. "When you run the ball (like CC does), it does scare you. We think we'll be OK (with Wolfe and Tate Dobbs as backups) but it's hard to lose your two top backs."

Mach hopes Krueger and Taylor are 100 percent for the Catholic League championship on Halloween night against Detroit St. Martin DePorres at the Silverdome.

Wolfe was impressive, scoring a pair of touchdowns and gaining most of his 74 yards after half-time. Krueger, a senior fullback, gained 67 yards on four carries and scored once before leaving. Taylor left the game after gaining 10 yards on three carries and scoring once.

The Shamrocks, who are 7-0 overall and 3-0 in the Catholic League Central Division, scored 20 first half points after falling behind 6-0 on U-D's first drive.

The Shamrocks had a pair of scoring drives to lead 14-6 after one quarter. Krueger's 12-yard dash capped a 60-yard drive and Adam Borchert's first of four extra points made the score 7-6.

The Shamrocks went ahead 14-6 with 1:53 remaining in the opening quarter when quarterback Chris Barbara threw 28 yards to Joe Lopez for a TD.

CC defensive back Dave Morelli recovered a fumble at U-D's 35 and three plays later Taylor scored from the five for a 20-6 lead with 11:08 left.

'Forever Plaid' witty, great songs

"Forever Plaid" continues at Ferndale's Magic Bag Theatre through Nov. 27. For ticket information, call 645-6666.

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER

You remember the guy groups, those close harmony Joe College types with the short hair, matching jackets or crew sweaters and voices that blended so smoothly they seemed Osterized.

"Forever Plaid" is an affectionate and hilarious send up of this 1950s musical format that works at two levels with equal success. It is a sparkling comedy that kids the guy group conventions and the "nifty, neat, keen" good guys of the era while at the same time honoring the music with fine close harmony arrangements.

The book on this bright and giddy musical is simply a clever hook on which to hang a cabaret presentation of witty comedy and great songs. It seems that one night in 1964 the as yet unheralded singing group Forever Plaid was on its way to its biggest gig yet at an airport hotel when their car was hit by a bus carrying a load of Catholic school girls to the Beatles appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show, ah what symbolism.

The girls were all right but the Plaid's died only to find themselves awaking in a theater 28 years later with a chance to give the concert they never gave.

The professional company at the Magic Bag offers cabaret theater at its finest in an appropriately intimate setting.

The four Plaid's are each clearly differentiated through the evening and each played with zest by the outstanding cast.

Bruce Blanchard is Smudge, the deep voiced member of the group who gets to let loose on "Rags to Riches." Jonathon Brody is the well named Sparky, a bundle of non-stop energy with a constantly mobile and expressive face. He takes lead on the the mysterious "Perfidia."

Todd Heughens is the shy, younger tenor Jinx, subject to nose bleeds and anxiety attacks who finally lets it all out in a Johnny Ray-like rendition of "Cry." Finally, the anchor of the group is the forever romantic Frankie (weren't all romantics named Frankie then) played with proper aplomb by Rick Meads.

He delivers a stirring tribute to harmony with deep sincerity. A nod also to the snooty piano player Kevin Cole who provides musical and comic accompaniment.

The show is continuously inventive. The group hails their personal hero Perry Como with twinkling stars and renditions of "Papa Loves Mambbo" and "Catch a Falling Star."

They take a musical trip to the Caribbean with banana lights and a singalong. They even get modern with "She Loves You, yes squire bob." But the comedy reaches its apex with a three minute version of the Ed Sullivan Show that leaves nothing out.

Finally, though, it is the pre-rock music that matters most. It was writer-director Stuart Ross' love for the music that inspired him.

Ross' choreography brightly exaggerates the dance routines. You remember those Four Freshman, Four Aces, Four Lads hits — "Moments to Remember," "No, Not Much," "Shangri-La" and that show stopper "Love is a Many Splendored Thing." It's all here and we're glad it is.

Charming cast in warmhearted drama

Performances of the Jewish Ensemble Theatre production of "Today I Am A Fountain Pen" continue through Nov. 8 at the Aaron DeRoy Theatre at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield. For tickets, call JET at 788-2900, visit any Ticketmaster outlet or call 645-6666.

CATHIE BREIDENBACH

War II when Jews worldwide felt horror at the happenings in Europe.

Against this historical background, the Yanover family of the Soo wrestles with bigotry, hypocrisy, and the question of Jewish identity.

The warm-hearted production of "Fountain Pen," directed by Evelyn Orbach labors to overcome—a convoluted, slow-moving plot and too-frequent scene changes. Orbach nearly succeeds in camouflaging the play's flaws by capitalizing on the abundant charm and warmth of the characters. In fact the play just escapes being too warm and too cute — but escape it does because the whole cast turns in unpretentious performances that exude genuine warmth. First prize for loveliness goes to Irving, the precocious 10-year-old son of Esther and Moses Yanover. Irving is a skinny, bespeckled kid who wears corduroy knickers with argyle socks. He's so quick he quips one-liners even standing on his head. Scott Lenter and Adam Rothkind share the role of Irving.

Second prize for loveableness goes to Ardenshensky, the impish 78-year-old narrator who also plays bit parts in the production. Last season, Sol Frieder played Ardenshensky in JET's production of "A Rosen by Any Other Name," the middle play in the Horovitz trilogy, and he returns to the plum role this season.

He debuts two new scenes Horovitz wrote especially for this production. Frieder is convincing as a courtly Yiddish gentleman whose jokes speak deep wisdom.

Frieder's German/Yiddish accent is the real thing, his gray beard doesn't come off after the performance, and he comes by his wise old gentlemen look not with masterful makeup but by living 70 odd years. Frieder is utterly charming especially when he resolves the question of whether a Jew who keeps a kosher kitchen would still be a good Jew if he knowingly ate bacon bits at a Chinese restaurant as the Yanovers did.

"Being Jewish is bigger than a pork chop," Ardenshensky pronounces with comic wit on the question of hypocrisy and Jewish identity.

Rochelle Rosenthal as Esther and Harry Carlson as Moses play Irving's parents who love to talk, bicker and spout one-liners almost as much as their son does.

'The Music Man' delights audience

Performances of the Michigan Opera Theatre's production of "The Music Man" continue through Oct. 25 at Fisher Theatre in Detroit. For ticket information call 874-SING or TicketMaster, 645-6666.

KEELY WYGONIK
 Some musicals are timeless, "The Music Man" is one of them. It's as relevant today as it was when it opened on Dec. 19, 1957. The Michigan Opera Theatre's production was directed by University of Michigan theater director Brent Wagner and conducted by MOT's assistant music director, Suzanne Acton.

If you don't already know, "The Music Man" based on the book by Meredith Willson, tells the story of "Professor" Harold Hill (James Brennan) a quick-talking, slick co-artist who warns parents in the small town in 1912 Iowa, that "There's Trouble in River City," — a pool table, that will corrupt their youth.

He cleverly convinces townspeople that River City needs a boys marching band to keep the youth occupied, and charms parents into buying instruments and band uniforms.

What he doesn't tell them is — he can't tell one note from another, knows nothing about teaching music, and plans to skip town with their money.

To gain credibility, he tries to gain the confidence of town librarian, Marian (Jeanne Lehman) who also gives piano lessons.

As the story unfolds, the audience is treated to delightful toe-tapping music and lyrics written by Willson. Songs like — "Seventy-Six Trombones," "Wells Fargo Wagon," "Marian The Librarian" and "Fill There Was You."

Love conquers all, truth triumphs, and justice prevails as the professor confesses to Marian that he doesn't know anything about music, and plans to skip town. Marian tells him to hurry before he's caught, and in his defense, says the town is better because he passed through.

He, of course, doesn't leave. Tommy Djilas (Josh Rhodes), who is smitten with the mayor's daughter, Zaneeta Shinn (Meghan Hakes), called a troublemaker and forbidden to see her, saves the day. He marches on stage with the boys band. It doesn't matter that everyone is playing off key, the parents love it.

When quarreling members of the school council portrayed by the award-winning barbershop quartet "Stay Tuned," that includes Birmingham native, Lee Hanson, find harmony singing ditties like "Lida Rose," it's hard to stifle a laugh.

I'm sure we'll be hearing from Erin April Webley of Orchard Lake again. As Amaryllis she is delightful. In the song "Good-night My Someone," which she sings with Marian, Webley's voice is strong and carries well. She's sweet, yet outspoken, and charms the audience.

Everyone in the cast did a marvelous job. Broadway dancer/choreographer Mary Jane Houdina is very talented. In the opening scene, the combination of music, and movement gives the illusion of salesmen traveling on a train. Their newspapers move up and down, and they move in a way that depicts movement. Houdina's work is truly art in motion.

Children in the audience seemed to enjoy themselves, there are a lot of children in the cast for them to relate to, and I hardly noticed a fidget. Take them to see the show, MOT makes it affordable — with the purchase of two full-priced tickets, children's tickets are only $10 each, subject to availability.

Pianist to present recital at Schoolcraft

The Schoolcraft College Music Club will present pianist Anton Nel noon to 1 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 28, in the Forum Building Recital Hall, F 530 on campus.

The recital is free. A Meet the Artist reception will follow the performance.

For more concert information, contact Schoolcraft's Department of Music at 462-4400, Ext. 5225. Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile Roads in Livonia.

Nel's remarkable and versatile career has taken him to many parts of the world since he made his debut at age 12 with the Beethoven C Major Concerto after only two years of study.

Today, he is considered one of the outstanding pianists of his generation. He has appeared with orchestras and as a recitalist across North America as well as in parts of Europe and Africa. He has performed at Lincoln Center's Mostly Mozart Festival, with the Chicago Symphony at the Ravinia Festival, and in numerous engagements at the Aspen Music Festival.

Nel is a graduate of the University of Witwatersrand in South Africa and the University of Cincinnati.

He has won many prizes, including first prize in the 1987 Naumburg, 1986 Joama Hodges International Piano Competitions, and prizes in the 1982 Pretoria and 1984 Leeds International Piano Competitions. He recently received a Distinguished alumni award from the University of Cincinnati.

A gifted and dedicated teacher, Nel is a professor at the University of Michigan.

He has also served on the pianofaculties at the University of Texas and Eastman School of Music.

Program features classic children's tales

"Rainbow Tales," a program of classic tales for children, opens 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, in the Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberly at Wayne State University, Detroit.

"Rainbow Tales" is an eclectic collection of popular children's stories from around the world. When a group of children are asked to choose playtime activities, reading is the last thing on their list.

Eventually, they are convinced that reading can be fun. What follows is a rollicking storytelling experience for both the young and the young at heart.

The play is under the direction of Addell Austin Anderson, director of the Black Theatre program of the Department of Theatre.

"The stories have universal appeal and references are made throughout the program that make it suitable and enjoyable for adults," she said. "The program is designed so that the audience will immediately recognize the stories."

The cast includes: Andrea Krass (Troy), Michael Musto (Walled Lake), Christina Riopelle (Rochester), and Stacy Stoltz (Garden City).

Reid Downey is scenic and lighting designer and Mary Copenhagen is designing costumes.

All proceeds benefit the Martin Molson Scholarship Fund, which is awarded annually to an outstanding undergraduate theatre major.

Performances of "Rainbow Tales" are Friday, Oct. 30 and Nov. 6, at 7 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 31 and Nov. 7, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.; and Sunday, Nov. 1 and Nov. 8, at 2 p.m. A special performance is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 14, at 10:30 a.m., as part of artstart, Wayne State's workshop series for children.

Uniformly excellent cast in 'Pygmalion'

The Meadow Brook Theatre production of "Pygmalion" on the campus of Oakland University continues through Oct. 25. For ticket information, call 377-3300.

BY HUGH GALLAGHER
STAFF WRITER

Before "My Fair Lady" there was "Pygmalion," George Bernard Shaw's slightly more acidic version of Professor Henry Higgins' transformation of flower girl Eliza Doolittle into a lady.

The Meadow Brook production is a fine reminder that the original play still has bite, wit and a musical quality of its own. But for those who love the musical, it is also an interesting opportunity to see how Shaw's political comedy was spun into the world's finest musical romance.

Is there anyone who doesn't know the plot. Higgins wagers that he can use this skills as a teacher of elocution to turn even a caterwauling flower girl into a lady, or better yet, a proper shop girl.

Director Terence Kilburn and designer Peter Hicks give us an attractive but not sumptuous Edwardian setting. Kilburn also seems more interested Shaw's dazzling argument of the sexes, which is really a bitter take on marriage then and now, and less interested in the transformation of Eliza that gives the play and its musical stepchild its greatest emotional quality. Still Kilburn gives us a lot of Shaw and several interesting character interpretations in the hands of a uniformly excellent cast.

Carl Schurr's Higgins is a rumpled, grumpy, unintentionally nasty nerd with none of the elegance of either Rex Harrison or Leslie Howard, the film Higginses. Schurr lumbers and even stumbles about, hunched shouldered and constantly distracted, but he bites off Shaw's witty misogyny with assurance. He is a younger and rougher Higgins.

Sherry Skinker's Eliza is given little middle ground between the bellowing, prudish almost animal-like flower girl and Higgins' creation. But she is quite strong in both parts and pulls off the hilarious "at-home" at Mrs. Higgins' with dead pan finesse.

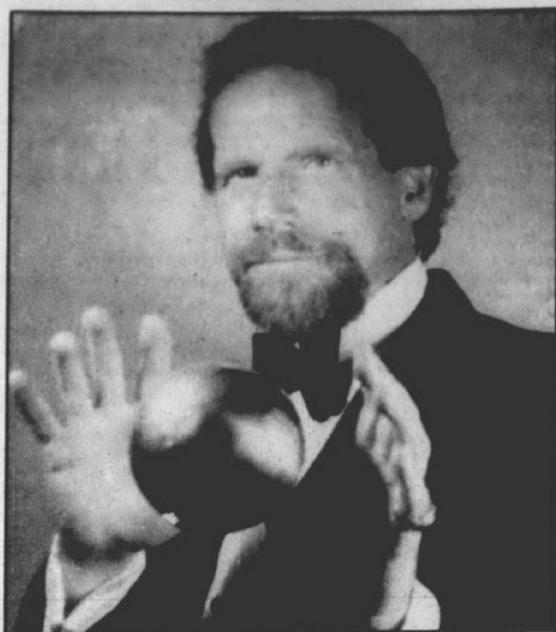

Shaw's best lines are reserved for that great spokesman of the "underserving poor" Alfred Doolittle. The Meadow Brook production is blessed with an experienced and perfect Doolittle. Donald Ewer dominates every scene he's in, charging full tilt into this paragon of lower class life, eyes rolling, hands fluttering as he argues two sides against the middle to work a little benefit for himself from Eliza's "situation."

Wil Love is another proper fit as perfect gentleman Col. Pickering, all polish, politeness and good heart in contrast to Higgins. Kay Tremblay is also excellent as the warm and reconciling Mrs. Higgins, forever exasperated by her son but in a wise and ladylike way.

Those who love the musical will note how Lerner and Loewe softened the hard edges of Shaw's wit and created a more likeable curmudgeon in Higgins. They will also note how Alan Jay Lerner took his lyrical cues from Shaw but made from them songs of charm, humor and sweet romance, creating with Loewe's unforgettable music the best transfer of one great work of art into another.

Bill would toughen hunter trespass laws

The state Senate has passed Sen. William Faust's bill to simplify and toughen the hunter trespass law.

"It should be good for both hunters and landowners," said Faust, D-Westland. His Senate Bill 808 will go to the House in November.

If enacted, the bill would:

- Allow a property owner to give a hunter either oral or written permission to hunt. Currently, permission must be in writing.
- Require a person who wants to post no-hunting signs on property other than his own to get the owner's written permission.
- Increase the second-offense penalty for hunting without permission to $1,000 from the current $100. (A jail sentence of 90 days also is possible.)
- Allow the court to revoke a violator's hunting and fishing license for up to three years.
- Allow a peace officer to seize property, such as an off-road vehicle, of a trespasser tearing up another's land.

Supporting the bill were the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Michigan Farm Bureau and the Michigan Forest Association.

Osprey: Cosmopolitan bird nests here

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

As I stood in the grocery check out line, I noticed the magazine Cosmopolitan. The first thing that came to mind was the osprey and peregrine falcon. They are considered cosmopolitan, that is they are found in all the major biographical regions of the world, or almost all of them.

When osprey came to mind, it reminded me of the osprey I saw in August at Pte. Mouillee. That particular bird was migrating south for the winter. Osprey nest in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula and throughout the Upper Peninsula. When fall approaches, they migrate to the southern states or all the way to Central America and northern South America.

In the mid 1970s, there were only 80 pair of osprey in Michigan. Their numbers had declined markedly because of the DDT that was in their food. A breakdown product of DDT known as DDE caused their egg shells to become very thin. When an adult sat down to incubate, the eggs cracked and the embryo died.

Since the mid 1970s, though, their numbers have increased. As early as 1988, their numbers had doubled. But even today they are on the threatened list of Michigan's wildlife. So observing an osprey in Michigan is a thrilling sight because it is rare, but also because Osprey are magnificent birds.

They feed primarily on fish. Like terns, they fly 30-100 feet above the water and search for a fish. When a fish is spotted, they fold back their wings and dive toward the water. At the last moment before impact with the water, they rear their heads up and extend their legs and feet down into the water. A bird may go completely under water.

If it does go underwater and catches a fish, an osprey then has to pull itself up and get its wings above the water surface. Once the wings are above the water surface, the wings are pumped forward to get as much lift as possible. Not only does it have to pull its own weight out of the water, an osprey may also pull up to a four-pound fish, too. That is quite an accomplishment for a 2-3-pound bird.

Talons of osprey are designed for catching and holding slippery fish. Each talon measures about a third of a circle. On the bottom of each foot are spiny scales that help the bird grasp the fish. Unlike other birds of prey, the osprey have toes that are all the same length, which allows even grasping distribution.

Their long, angled wings and slim bodies profile the basic black-and-white coloration of the osprey and make them enjoyable to see at any season of the year.

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

Rare and fine: Observing an osprey in Michigan is a thrilling sight because it is rare, but also because they are magnificent birds.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

Hosts families are needed

Families are being sought to host foreign exchange students from South America, Europe and Asia.

The students, ages 15-18, will arrive in this country in January to spend five months studying in local high schools and living with area families.

All the students have studied English for at least four years, and they have sufficient funds to cover personal expenses.

Families with or without children can be host families. For more information, call Lynn Levenbach at 453-8562 or Amber Crowell at 1-800-322-4678.

S'craft offers test workshops

Schoolcraft College is offering workshops on the Graduate Record Examination and the General Management Aptitude Test.

Both workshops will meet from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on six consecutive Saturdays beginning Oct. 24.

To register or get more information, call 462-4448.

Area police officials back Clinton

Several area law enforcement officials recently endorsed Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton for president.

They include: Canton Township Public Safety Director John Santomauro, Wayne County Prosecutor John D. O'Hair, a Democrat, and Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano, who is running for re-election on the Democratic ticket.

Designing logos: Dick Nicolson helps companies develop images and identities through graphic representations.

Businesses get a leg up with logos

■ How a company is perceived by its public often starts with a company image or logo. But translating a company's identity into a symbol that can be readily identified takes more than putting pen to paper.

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

It's difficult to put a value on image.

But without it, businesses tend to have problems surviving, designers, public relations professionals and image consultants maintain.

"Non-verbal communication can make or break a business," said Joyce Knudsen, owner of Image Maker in Bloomfield Hills. "The first thing you have to do as a reporter is get people to talk. As a consultant, the first thing I have to do is get people to know I exist."

"Everyone has to do something to set themselves apart from everyone else," said Beverly A. White, a marketer for Graphic Visions in Northville.

"Nowadays, CEOs are seeing that it's more important," said Dick Nicolson, president of Nicolson Design in Bloomfield Hills. "The logo sometimes is the first and only thing the market will see about your company."

A good logo, image or identity won't guarantee more business, professionals say. But it's difficult to get invited to the dance if no one knows who you are.

Nicolson designs logos and develops plans for the logos' presentation.

"When we look at image design, we try to portray what image a company thinks it should be," he said. "Big companies are so visible, they don't have to go into a detailed image. When you think of Chrysler and GM, you think about cars."

"A lot is input from client," Nicolson continued. "You research how a company is perceived by its market by talking to its clientele. Owners are probably the last ones to know how they're perceived in the marketplace."

Nicolson's own stationery consists of "Nicolson Design" printed in black letters in one corner plus the basic shapes — triangle, square and circle in the primary colors of red, blue and yellow in the other corners.

He recently designed a logo to be used to promote the 1994 U.S. Figure Skating Championships. "We had to create an image that immediately told you it was skating, it's going to be in Detroit and it's going to be special."

His design — a pair of skaters as a hood ornament on a classic car.

The philosophy is the same for business.

"The basic goal in any logo is to give a clear, concise, simple message that can be identified almost immediately," Nicolson said.

Take, for example, a logo he designed for the former owners of Charley's Restaurant Group. "We tried to create a '40s tavern look with older style lettering and a plain, simple

Commercial trade exchange records growth in bartering

BY R.J. KING
SPECIAL WRITER

As a growing number of companies are being sent to the regulatory woodshed due to fraud, falsifying corporate data and outright embezzlement, commercial trade exchanges are moving in the opposite direction.

In recent years, companies have been turning to exchanges as never before, taking advantage of a stone-aged method of trade — bartering — to fight off the economic slowdown.

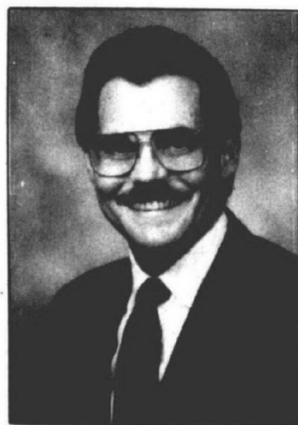

But with the advance has come growing pains. Popular items that come up for trade on a limited basis, such as computers, fax machines or trucks, are often bartered away. While charges of favoritism have been rare, some trade brokers have taken pains to stifle such claims.

"When we have a high demand for a good or service, clients want assurances that I'm acting in an ethical manner," said Daniel Blugerman, a Farmington Hills resident who is senior account executive for the Michigan Trade Exchange (MTE) in Oak Park.

"They want to know that I act the same way no matter what the product. Members, some of whom are competitors, want to make sure there are no tipoffs which go into processing a trade. When there is a waiting list for a particular item, we work on a first-come, first-serve basis."

To add a measure of ethical standing to his profession, Blugerman was recently accredited as a Certified Trade Broker (CTB) by the International Reciprocal Trade Association, the third barter professional in Michigan to receive the designation in the four years it has been offered.

"The certification is based on educational degree, years of experience, activism in the industry along with three client references," said Blugerman, who now lists CTB after his name on business cards.

Daniel Blugerman

"Once those factors have been met, you're eligible to take a comprehensive written and oral exam. The exam takes about half a day.

The questions center on ethical and business matters, with six essay questions and 50 multiple choice."

With 13 years of experience, Blugerman has 400 clients, 30 percent of whom are concentrated in the restaurant industry.

"Most of what I do is over the phone, encouraging members to trade," he said. "For all the technology out there today, this is still a personal-service industry."

Overall, MTE has 4,000 members which last year recorded $20 million in sales volume. Over the last five years, Fred Detwiler, president of the exchange, said annual sales have grown 8 to 10 percent on average.

"Companies have become so accustomed to exchanges that they've appointed bartering managers to keep track of everything," said Detwiler. "The minute we print a catalog, it's already out of date. Many of our members say they would never have been able to make improvements to their businesses without the exchange."

Bartering offers companies a way to increase sales, move surplus inventory and make use of excessive capacity — all priorities in a downturn. Many firms have even used bartering as a way to collect on bad debt or as a creative means of financing.

But even in good times, companies have quietly been discovering the unique method of trade. Small firms can accumulate trade dollars, or credits, in return for products or services offered on an exchange. Using those credits, firms can then purchase goods and services offered by any other member of the exchange.

For instance, a printer may barter its services for office furniture, maintenance work on its delivery trucks or repairs on a leaky roof. While members pay wholesale for items bought through the exchange, they don't escape the Internal Revenue Service. Trade dollars are treated exactly like cash dollars for tax purposes.

"The trade exchange dollars have allowed me to remodel and expand my practice, as well as (buy) office supplies and furniture," said Dr. Michael McGrath, an optometrist and owner of the Farmington Vision Clinic in Farmington, an MTE member since 1981.

"It's also brought us business by bringing in new people, and I can use my trade dollars to advertise. We're even starting to use our dollars on the supplier side. It's a very creative network."

Most exchanges charge an average $500 membership fee and a 10 percent transaction fee — 5 percent to the buyer and 5 percent to the seller — on every deal. While complete figures on the dollar value of barter in the U.S. don't exist, the Reciprocal Trade Association estimates companies will trade over $1 billion in goods and services this year.

If non-exchange trading — primarily large deals between corporations arranged through trading companies — is counted, total barter volume would rise to over $6 billion, said the association.

geometric shape of a fish," Nicolson said.

Simplicity is the key, White agreed. "Sometimes people tend to fancy up to the point of confusion," she said.

Her idea of effective logos include the blue Michigan Bell, the golden arches of McDonald's and Shell Oil's seashell.

Shell at one time spelled out the company name in its logo, but eventually revised the symbol to stand on its own, White said. "It had become so stable in the eyes of people, they took the name off. Can you imagine how powerful that is?" she said.

It takes time to develop a logo and a commitment to consistent use for best results, White said.

But even then, there's no guarantees.

"You're not supposed to judge a book by its cover, but people do," she said. "Image gets you a real good start. What you have to do is cut the mustard and make a lasting impression."

Rhonda S. Verona operates a public relations firm — RSVP — in Southfield.

RSVP," Verona said. "It's formal, has a meaning and is here to stay. It's known for generations.

"A lot of people when they meet me say, 'I see the name. I know the logo,'" Verona said. "People do a double take when they hear my name because of the initials."

Verona agrees that logos create images, which can't be measured for value, but nonetheless are important.

"It signifies what you're all about," she said. "You only have 10 seconds to make a first impression. It goes along those lines.

"If you don't have a good image or no image, it could be costly," Verona said. "You need an emotion to make you move. Without a mood or feeling, you don't buy."

"We are judged on how we present ourselves," Knudsen said. "If you're in business, you have to tell a story. The best thing is to do a boundary spanning. Look at what other people are doing and do it better."

State falling behind in electric car race

DAN MCCOSH

The elaborate detour around the road construction blocking 12 Mile Rd. east of Halstead in Farmington Hills makes the entrance to Nissan's new R & D center seem a little furtive.

This is Nissan's biggest engineering center outside Japan, and if the truth is known, it's most important. The new Nissan Quest was partially engineered here, and it is the planning center for most future Nissan products headed for the U.S.

One of these projects in Nissan's electric car. Unlike most Japanese companies that now are playing catch-up to the U.S. consortia feverishly working on electric cars, Nissan has several decades of experience with various electric-powered projects.

The latest is an experimental chassis called the Future Electric Vehicle, or FEV, which is, if nothing else, one of the more elegant looking efforts to be shown so far.

I was at the Farmington Nissan research center to drive the FEV, at least around the parking lot. It was a relatively pleasant car to buzz around in, with modest acceleration and reasonable cornering ability.

The FEV bears a certain similarity to GM's Impact electric program, which so far is still the front-runner in getting a production electric to market. It has twin electric motors, and incorporates a quick-charge system that allows at least a partial recharge in about 15 minutes.

If waiting in line for three cars ahead at a recharging station knowing each will be there at least 15 minutes doesn't seem too appealing, make no mistake, electric cars are just around the corner, at least in California, where 45 minutes stopped in traffic is hardly noticed.

Nissan's quick-charge system draws so much current it was necessary to bring in a huge diesel-driven generator to prevent the car's battery from blacking out the northeast quadrant of Farmington Hills. Nissan says they are working on that problem.

Perhaps more significant for suburban commuters is whether the 100 mile or so range contemplated for electric cars would be adequate even for middling commuting. A sojourn from Livonia to Fairlane, for example, would be in reason, but no return trips for exchanges are allowed. This leads to a certain cynicism about electric cars that will prevail in the local press for years.

But the economic impact of electrics may be more important than the environmental impact — particularly in Los Angeles, where the government has pulled together a $50 million effort to redirect the defense industry to electric car work.

If it works, it will indeed make Los Angeles the center of electric car manufacturing worldwide.

The irony here is that most of the companies active in electric car development are in Detroit's northern suburbs: TRW, Eaton, United Technologies, GM, and Nissan, to name a few.

Sadly, the fragmented suburban governments in the Detroit area that could benefit hardly seem in a position to compete with the coordinated effort being mounted in Los Angeles.

Unfortunately, electric cars seem likely to become another small but important slice of future technology that will head west after starting here.

Detroit Diesel signs marione propulsion deal

Textron Lycoming and Detroit Diesel Corporation today announced they intend to design, co-develop and market fully integrated Combined Diesel and Gas Turbine marine propulsion installation packages.

The marine propulsion package will be capable of operating as either diesel or turbine, or as diesel and turbine.

The Textron Lycoming/Detroit Diesel effort will provide marine customers with a fully engineered and developed propulsion package, thereby enhancing the utility of their crafts.

This 'total package' concept offers operators significantly higher craft speeds without undesirable complexity or high system weight.

According to David Assard, Textron Lycoming's President, "The utilization of Detroit Diesel engines and Textron Lycoming turbines gives operators the best of both worlds, turbine and diesel.

Their integration into a 'total package' yields the most optimum propulsion solution for high-speed, light-weight, economical and maintainable operation of marine craft of all types."

After Radial Keratotomy

Clearly, the Michigan Eyecare Institute can make a difference

As founders of the Michigan Eyecare Institute, Dr. William Myers and Dr. Mark Rubinstein have been at the forefront of ophthalmologic breakthroughs. Dr. Myers was the second ophthalmologist in the U.S. to perform radial keratotomy — the breakthrough procedure to correct nearsightedness. The Michigan Eyecare Institute was also where the first Excimer laser was located in Michigan. For more information, or to schedule a free screening, call us at 1-800-248-4643.

Headlee family tries to help Romanian orphans

BY CASEY HANS
STAFF WRITER

In these parts, the "Headlee" name often means politics.

But it holds a much different meaning for 100 children in one of the many orphanages in Bucharest, Romania.

Seventeen members of the Headlee family and friends from the area traveled to the struggling country for two weeks in April to take 40,000 pounds of donated clothing, food, playground equipment and other needed items and to work with the children there.

They introduced music, dancing and playing to these children — many who had been strapped to metal beds in ramshackle rooms all of their lives.

Included in the group were Mary and Dick Headlee of Farmington Hills, their eight children and spouses, and two older grandchildren. The family is spread throughout the country and decided to make the trip in lieu of a traditional family reunion.

"The people who grow up in America just really don't have a clue," said son Doug Headlee, who lives in Novi, discussing the poverty, lifestyles and problems they encountered on their family trip. "I kind of went over thinking it wasn't going to be a very easy trip — really tough.

"It was a rewarding experience, especially among the adults. It really helped strengthen the family." Moving experience

As a foster parent and adoptive father, Doug said he was especially moved by the children.

Dick Headlee is the former Michigan gubernatorial candidate, father of the 1978 Headlee constitutional amendment to limit tax increases, and chairman of the Farmington Hills-based Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. He also heads up the Headlee family, whose members decided one year ago to forego exchanging Christmas gifts to do this family service project.

In soliciting items for the trip, the Headlees explained to supporters about the 23-year Nicolae Ceausescu regime in Romania, which outlawed birth control, banned abortion, and directed women of childbearing age to undergo regular fertility testing. Most recent estimates show that 200,000 children were born to people unable to care for them and ended up in state-run orphanages, which were often little better than human warehouses. Horrible conditions

The horrible living conditions of these children were discovered when Ceausescu was ousted in December 1989.

"Facilities throughout the country are filled with children silently rocking themselves without any kind of stimulation," said Dick Headlee, in a letter written last spring asking for support for the project. "Others were shackled to metal cribs since there was no one to care for them."

The Headlees hope to go back to Romania for at least two more years before picking another destination for the family service project, Doug said.

Next year, they hope to work on raising money for a transitional living center, a vocational school of sorts that would allow children raised in these orphanages to learn life skills.

Also, they hope to help a school for deaf children in Romania to publish an international sign language book. Romania doesn't have its own sign language. Video is shown Donating to the cause were church groups and some Scouting and other civic organizations from around the country.

The Headlees recently did a video presentation of their trip to one of those groups: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints-Farmington Hills Ward Chapel on 13 Mile. The idea, Mary said, was "to show them the fruits of their labor.

"I think we really did something," she added, discussing her reaction to the trip. "Even if we just create a little happiness for them — that is something."

During their two weeks, family members painted and repaired the orphanage, put donated, handmade quilts on each bed, added brightly colored stenciling to the walls, and taught the children games and songs.

A playground was also built, but without tools the group had to use milk cans to dig holes for the posts.

Mary Headlee said the orphanage care-givers initially discouraged the family from using the musical instruments, saying it wouldn't help.

"They said it doesn't matter, but we just marched in and within two days, the care-givers were singing with them," she said.

Three interpreters worked with the Headlee group, which used the theme "Hearts and Hands — Together We Can Make a Difference." Headlee daughter Kathy Drake pulled the family together through Project Concern International, which is one of the few groups allowed into the country to provide medical care for the orphans with the help of the U.S. Agency for International Development. Drake is a full-time volunteer for the group.

Items taken overseas included 20,000 pounds of food, thousands of articles of clothing, $7,000 in medicine, a $23,000 operating table, 50,000 bars of soap, 467 blankets, $2,000 worth of playground equipment, and countless numbers of musical instruments and toys.

"When we opened a container, it was like gold," Mary Headlee said.

Alexander Hamilton and its parent company, Household International, agreed to match contributions made by their individual agents toward last spring's trip.

Any person or group interested in helping the Headlees on future trips can call Dick Headlee, 553-2000.

Disabled people urged to cast their ballots

BY SUE BUCK
STAFF WRITER

Forty-three million Americans are disabled, making up a large untapped group of voters.

Fear of rejection and physical inaccessibility keep many away from the polls. In Detroit alone, just 38 of the 309 polling sites are accessible to people who use wheelchairs, according to Awareness Communication Team for developmentally disabled people.

"Everyone is important and everyone's vote is important," said Joe Dzenowagis, a Farmington Hills resident and a "homefinder" in Family Foster Care at Michigan Department of Mental Health, Macomb-Oakland Regional Center.

Last month, he received the EDI Award for best broadcast television feature story from the National Easter Seal Society for "You Can Vote," his 1988 documentary about voting rights for people with developmental disabilities. These are people who may have autism, epilepsy, mental retardation, cerebral palsy or be vision or hearing impaired.

Dzenowagis, a co-producer, accepted the award in late September at the Hudson Theater in New York City. The awards program was hosted by actor Cliff Robertson, who 20 years ago starred in a movie whose main character, "Charlie" had a developmental disability.

Through the EDI Award, which stands for Equality, Dignity and Independence, Dzenowagis is recognized and honored as one of the nation's "most outstanding communicators" who cover disability issues and positively and accurately portray people with disabilities.

"You Can Vote," a half-hour, closed-captioned, documentary has been broadcast on Detroit's public television station, WTVS-TV (Channel 56) and on East Lansing's United Cable. It encourages people with developmental disabilities to vote by helping them overcome the barriers to voting.

It features many local Wayne, Macomb and Oakland county residents, including Esther Hulsing,

'Everyone is important, and everyone's vote is important.'

Joe Dzenowagis

Family Foster Care at Michigan Department of Mental Health, Macomb-Oakland Regional Center

Plymouth Township Clerk, and has scenes inside both Plymouth and Plymouth Township Hall.

Others are featured

Also featured are Kim Cornelius, a disabled Livonia resident, and Beverly Thomas and her disabled son, Mark, both Birmingham residents.

The film also portrays people with a variety of disabilities, elections workers, parents, direct care staff and human service professionals.

The documentary will be rebroadcast at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 1.

"The EDI Award is a tremendous honor for everyone involved in You Can Vote," Dzenowagis said. "It underscores our belief that all people, no matter how severe their disabilities, can think, make choices and communicate their choices. And as Americans, people with disabilities have a right to vote and be fully included in the community and mainstream of American life."

"The award challenges us to work harder to end segregation — to get people with disabilities out of nursing homes and institutions and into real homes, to replace sheltered workshops with real jobs and to end Special Olympics and special education so kids can play on the same playgrounds and learn in the same classroom with the kids next door."

Dzenowagis also received the TASH (The Association for Severely Handicapped) National Media Award for "You Can Vote," which was produced under a grant from the Michigan Developmental Disabilities Council by the Awareness Communication Team for Developmentally Disabled and the League of Women Voters of Michigan. It was co-produced with Denise Mogus, a Plymouth Township resident, with Wayne Community Living Services and Stan Smart, a Mt. Clemens, a director of Macomb - Oakland Guardianship. The host/narrator is Lois Luellen, a Westland resident.

More awards

Dzenowagis has also won other national awards for covering disabilities, including the First Place Television Award from the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

For the last 13 years, Dzenowagis has worked with MORC finding foster families for children and adults with developmental disabilities, getting them out of nursing homes and institutions. According to Dzenowagis, MORC is the pioneer of community placement. In the last 20 years, MORC has placed more than 2,500 people into the community in 285 small group homes and 400 family foster homes and supported 300 people in their own homes.

Dzenowagis is also a free-lance producer and videographer for ABC News, Primetime Live, Entertainment Tonight and ESPN Sports. He's the seven-year volunteer host and co-producer of "Citytalk," a weekly interview-format radio program on WDTR-FM and is a volunteer host and producer for "Arthritis Today," a television series with the Arthritis Foundation that is broadcast on cable television throughout the Detroit metropolitan area.

Other recent productions have been on prenatal care for high-risk mothers and AIDS prevention for IV drug users while two others have recently aired on WTVS, "Eight Candles for Remembrance" and "Memories of War," both about B24 Liberator Bomber air and ground crews who fought in World War II.

ROLL-CALL REPORT

Broomfield's with Bush for no abortion counseling

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the Close of 102nd Congress funded abortion counseling. Area representatives voting yes were: Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Sander Levin. Voting no: Broomfield.

HOUSE

To Override Cable Veto: By a vote of 308 for and 114 against, the House defeated President Bush's veto of a bill (S 12) empowering federal and local authorities to regulate cable television rates and service standards. This followed a similar Senate vote (below) and marked Congress's first override of a Bush veto.

Override supporter Steve Gunderson, R-Wis., said "this is not a vote to embarrass the president. This is a vote to support our constituents."

Veto backer Michael Oxley, R-Ohio, called the bill "a pre-election scam that is going to fool the consumer" when cable rates are driven higher by regulation.

A yes vote was to regulate cable television. Area representatives voting yes were: Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham. Voting no: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth.

Abortion Issue: By a vote of 266 for and 148 against, the House failed to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to enact, over President Bush's veto, a bill (S 323) permitting federally funded clinics to provide abortion counseling as a family planning option.

Override supporter Henry Waxman, D-Calif., said "this veto is callous to the needs of poor women around the nation."

In his veto message, the president objected that "the Congress has seen fit to entangle this family planning program in the politics of abortion."

A yes vote supported federally

To Clear Tax Bill: By a vote of 208 for and 202 against, the House approved the conference report on legislation (HR 11) providing $27 billion in tax breaks over five years to spur personal savings and business growth and attract capital to urban and rural "enterprise zones." The bill remains deficit-neutral by raising an approximate amount of revenue, through hundreds of tax code changes primarily affecting corporations and high-income individuals.

Supporter Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., said "members have said that we are raising taxes. Why do they not talk about the taxes that we are cutting?"

Opponent Bill Archer, R-Texas, said "this country at this time does not need dozens of tax increases."

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Sander Levin. Voting no: Pursell, Hertel, William Ford and Broomfield.

Aid to Former Soviet Union: By a vote of 232 for and 164 against, the House approved the conference report on a fiscal 1993 aid bill (S 2532) for the former Soviet Union. The bill provides $505 million in development and humanitarian aid and $940 million for dismantling nuclear weapons, and increases the U.S. commitment to international Monetary Fund reserves by $12.3 billion.

Supporter Harry Johnston, D-Fla., said "Russia's successful transformation to market-oriented democracy will yield bottom-line benefits for the American taxpayer."

Opponent Maxine Waters, D-Calif., said "I am not about to support anything for Russia or anybody else until we do something for our own in this country."

A yes vote supported the bill.

Tobacco Policy: The House voted 338 for and 71 against to restore smoking rights at Veterans Administration hospitals, if confined to designated areas. This repealed a 1990 VA administrative ban on indoor smoking at the hospitals. The vote occurred as the House passed a bill upgrading veterans health programs (HR 5192).

Supporter Don Sundquist, R-Tenn., said "as long as smoking remains a lawful activity, hospitalized veterans should enjoy the same rights as every other American."

Opponent Jim McDermott, D-Wash., said "requiring federal hospitals to expose their patients to a carcinogen is not good public health legislation."

A yes vote supported smoking rights at VA hospitals. Area representatives voting yes were: Hertel, William Ford and Sander Levin. Voting no: Pursell and Broomfield.

The Budget For Congress: By a vote of 253 for and 143 against, the House approved the conference report on a $2.27 billion budget for the house, Senate and congressional support agencies in fiscal 1993. The legislative branch appropriations bill (HR 5427) is $31 million below the comparable 1992 measure.

1. Limit for each homestead property (excluding new construction) the annual assessment increase to 5% or the rate of inflation, whichever is less, until the property is sold. Whenever property is sold, adjust assessments according to current market value of property.
2. Create separate millage for determining the maximum revenue increase allowable for two classes of property: residential/agricultural and all other property classifications.
3. Permit the use of the combined inflation rate for 1991 and 1992 to calculate millage rollbacks for determining the maximum property tax revenue increase allowable in 1993.

Should this proposal be adopted? Yes No

Proposal B

A proposal to restrict/limit the number of times a person can be elected to Congressional, State Executive and State Legislative offices. The proposed constitutional amendment would: Restrict the number of times a person could be elected to certain offices as described below:

2. U.S. Representative: three times in any 12 year period.
3. Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State or Attorney General: two times per office.
4. State Senator: two times.
5. State Representative: three times.

Office terms beginning on or after January 1, 1993 would count toward the term restrictions. A person pointed or elected to an office vacancy for more than 1/2 of a term would be considered elected once in that office.

Should this proposal be adopted? Yes No

Proposal C

A proposal to exempt property from a portion of school operating property taxes and limit annual increases in all property tax assessments. The proposed constitutional amendment would:

1. Exempt property from the following proportion of school operating taxes: 10% in 1993; 15% in 1994; 20% in 1995; 25% in 1996; and 30% in following years.
2. Require the State to reimburse school districts for the property tax described in paragraph (1) above, up to the millage rate levied in 1991.
3. Limit for each parcel of property (excluding new construction) the annual assessment increase to 3% or the rate of inflation, whichever is less, until the property is sold. Whenever property is sold, adjust assessment according to current market value of property.

Should this proposal be adopted? Yes No

Proposal D

3. Permit insurance commissioner to waive company's obligation to reduce rates or refund profits if needed to assure fair rate of return.
4. Allow policyholders to waive residual liability insurance.
5. Limit fees paid to health care providers.
6. Allow rate reduction for five consecutive claim-free years.
7. Require coordination of benefits with health insurance.
8. Limit right to sue by setting higher standards for injuries and prevent drivers over 50% at fault from collecting damages.

Should this proposal be adopted? Yes No

and the following three Wayne County Proposals:

Vic Fazio, D-Calif., said "the legislative budget has been tightly constrained, and that hardly ever gets reported to the American people."

Pat Roberts, R-Kan., objected that the conference committee decided against a formal audit of "questionable spending practices" by the 30 legislative caucuses that are an unofficial appendage to House committees.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Hertel, William Ford, Sander Levin. Voting no: Pursell and Broomfield.

SENATE

To Ratify 'Start': By a vote of 93 for and 6 against, the Senate approved the Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START). It is now up to the four former Soviet republics with nuclear weapons to ratify the pact. By 1999, the treaty would reduce by about one-third each side's existing stocks of long-range nuclear warheads. Further cuts are expected from a follow-up agreement between President Bush and Russian President Boris Yeltsin.

Supporter Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., called the treaty "a very real step toward bringing an end to the global nuclear arms race."

Opponent Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo., said that if the United States ratifies START it will lose leverage for negotiating further arms cuts.

A yes vote was to ratify START. Michigan Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D, voted yes.

To Cut Congress's Budget: The Senate adopted, 85 for and 13 against, an amendment ordering an outside study of the congressional staff structure and cutting the legislative branch budget by 15 percent during fiscal 1993-5. The measure was then deleted in House-Senate conference on the legislative branch appropriations bill (HR 5427; see House vote above).

"Congress has a staff nine times bigger than that of any country in the world," said sponsor Hank Brown, R-Colo.

Opponent Slade Gorton, R-Wash., said cutting staff in the face of mounting world problems is "more likely to inhibit the operation of Congress and the public interest than it will be to enhance it."

A yes vote supported the amendment. Carl Levin and Riegle voted yes.

Nominees' Legal Expenses

By a vote of 11 for and 87 against, the Senate refused to establish a $1 million fund for the legal expenses of presidential nominees who face difficult Senate confirmation hearings. Debate on the amendment to HR 5427 (above) recalled the Clarence Thomas-Anita Hill confrontation.

"We have had, in very recent times, very visible confirmation fights in the U.S. Senate," said sponsor John Danforth, R-Mo., arguing nominees need expert counsel because "it has become something of an art to tear down" a reputation.

Opponent Joseph Biden, D-Del., said any such fund should also benefit witnesses. "Clearly, Professor Hill's character was attacked every bit as vigorously as (Danforth) believes the nominee's character was attacked," he said.

A yes vote was to support Treasury reimbursement of nominees' legal counsel. Carl Levin and Riegle voted no.

To pass Tax Bill

By a vote of 67 for and 22 against, the Senate followed the House (above) and approved a five-year fiscal-stimulus bill (HR 11) providing about $27 billion in tax breaks, including $11.6 billion in incentives to draw investment to 50 urban and rural "enterprise zones." Revenue lost through the tax cuts is regained by new revenue that the bill would obtain mostly from businesses and the well-to-do.

The bill was sent to the White House for President Bush's promised veto.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Carl Levin and Riegle both voted yes.

To Defeat Cable TV Veto

The Senate voted 74 for and 25 against to override President Bush's veto of legislation (S 12) subjecting the nation's 11,000 cable television franchises to regulation by the Federal Communications Commission and local authorities.

A yes vote was to enact the bill. Carl Levin and Riegle voted yes.

To Override Veto

The Senate voted 73 for and 26 against to override President Bush's veto of bill (S 323) permitting professional staff at federally funded clinics to provide abortion advice and referrals to pregnant women. But the veto was upheld in a later House vote (above).

A yes vote was to permit federally funded abortion counseling. Carl Levin and Riegle voted yes.

BLINDNESS. KIDNEY FAILURE. GANGRENE. HEART DISEASE.

Just a few of the side effects a diabetic has to live with.
Or die with.

Most of us know that diabetics must take daily insulin shots to control their disease. But what many people don't know is that even with the shots, a host of complications can arise. Like blindness. Kidney failure. Gangrene. Heart disease. And nerve damage.

If fact, it's these side effects of diabetes that are so brutal and often life-threatening. So please give to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. Because there's only one way to eliminate the complications. Eliminate the disease.

Companies find new ways to support favorite causes

With the recession cutting into corporate America's profit margins, major businesses are finding new, non-monetary ways of supporting their favorite charities, according to the editor of "Corporate Giving Directory," published later this month by the Washington-based Taft Group.

Although total donations among the top givers remained relatively steady, corporations increased contributions of such items as computer equipment, food, clothing, even homes, by 23 percent.

"The increase in non-monetary donations is the most significant trend in corporate giving of the past several years and it shows no sign of letting up," said editor David Hicks.

Hart proposal would toughen insurance rule

Non-residents moving into Michigan will be unable to avoid buying vehicle plates and no-fault insurance if a bill sponsored by Sen. George Hart, D-Deerborn, becomes law.

The Senate earlier this month gave unanimous approval to Hart's SB 1173 and sent it to the House.

The bill would reduce in-transit registrations from 30 days to 14. It would require the owner to show a certificate of insurance when purchasing an in-transit or temporary permit. The permit fee would be raised from $5 to $10.

"This bill is intended to ensure that anyone who receives an in-transit registration will use it for transporting a vehicle and not for driving without insurance or trying to avoid emissions testing or plate fees," said Hart.

The Senate also passed two other Hart proposals:

- SB 1172 making it a felony to falsify applications for certificates of title, registration, plates, driver's licenses or vehicle inspections. Hart said making them felonies "should act as a deterrent to reduce these crimes."

- SB 1174 allowing a manufacturer to purchase manufacturer plates instead of civic event plates when donating cars for civic parades. "The secretary of state estimates this bill will save the department approximately $22,000" in paperwork, Hart said.

Sheriff's union urges voters to reject Prop D

The Wayne County Sheriff's Union Local 502 is urging a "no" vote on Proposal D, the statewide ballot proposal to amend Michigan's insurance laws.

The executive board of Local 502 voted to oppose the proposal on Oct. 8. The union has 1,100 members.

The union says the proposal makes driving without liability insurance legal in Michigan thereby increasing costs for good drivers and shifts the costs of health care to businesses.

The union officials also say that under Proposal D insurance companies and their agents cannot be held responsible if they sell someone a policy with the wrong or inadequate coverage. The union says there is nothing that guarantees any rollback rate, and nothing to guarantee that rates will not go up if the proposal is adopted.

S'craft plans seminar for equestrians

Schoolcraft College has scheduled a seminar for equestrian enthusiasts called "History and Bloodlines of the Arabian Horse."

The $35 seminar will occur in the Liberal Arts Building from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8.

Arlene Magid, senior editor of Arabian Horse Times magazine, will lead the seminar. Magid's work has also been published in Arabian Horse World, Arabians, Arabian Visions and The Crabbet Influence.

The origin, history and development of the Arabian horse, from its foreign origins to the modern Arabian horse in the United States, will be discussed.

To register, or get more information, call 462-4448.

"For example, in 1992 about 20 percent of IBM's $18 million gift to the United Way will be composed of computer equipment," Hicks said.

IBM isn't the only company looking for creative ways to support worthy causes. Foot Locker recently donated 1,500 pairs of athletic shoes to homeless citizens in Los Angeles. In Kansas City, the Mark Twain Bank donated six homes valued at $124,000 to charities involved in developing affordable housing. And American Airlines is involving its customers by allowing frequent flyers to donate their air miles to children's charities. The airline, which matches the donations on a 3-to-1 ratio, flies terminally ill kids for medical treatment or dream trips.

According to Hicks, nonprofits can benefit from this trend by approaching businesses with creative program ideas, not just a request for cash.

"There's only so much cash that can go around, so a proposal that involves other types of company resources is much more likely to get a second or third look," said Hicks.

He also feels there's something for corporate America to learn from the trend.

"Corporate Giving Directory" is an annual publication of The Taft Group which identifies, tracks, and profiles America's leading philanthropic corporations. The 1993 edition includes 607 corporations which donated a total of $2.55 billion in 1991.

Creating library art delights fiber artist

It's the lifeblood of a community, boasting all that's basic for people to nurture their heart and nourish their soul.

"The library gives the best impression of a community," says James Gilbert, a renowned fiber artist selected by a citywide fabric art selection committee from 10 sculptors for a $5,000 commission to create an aerial sculpture for the Livonia Civic Center Library Atrium.

"Because it helps inform tomorrow's adults as well as adults who want to better themselves, the library holds the key to how a community will survive," said Gilbert, who weaves his artistry in a St. Claire Shores home studio.

"When traveling, I go to the local library just to see what it offers. Without a good resource center, people don't get fresh ideas nor can they learn from proven ideas."

A fine arts graduate of Center for Creative Studies in Detroit and Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills, Gilbert actively supports the Detroit Institute of Arts Founders Society and its Friends of Modern Art Auxiliary. He's the first of several fiber artists whom Friends of the Livonia Library will commission to do three-dimensional pieces for the Atrium.

The four-year-old library's two entryways lead to a sloping Atrium that rises to 40 feet. The Atrium is home to chamber concerts, used book sales, art exhibits and other community events.

Fiber art in the Atrium will play off a collage of brick, mortar, wood, steel, glass, natural light and trees visible through the northside windows. By floating in space, the fabric hangings will fill a sort of architectural void.

Gilbert's piece — abstract art painted and drawn on aluminum stripping woven into durable dyed rayon — will be unveiled by early spring. "It'll be abstract but if you study it," he said, "you'll pick up on the symbols and markings put into it on purpose."

A theme of natural and human forces working in harmony is the common thread to his fabric art. "If nature and man can work together, if they can unravel a mood of sharing, everything works well. If one takes over, things get harried."

Gilbert is still shaping his design. But you can bank on sunlight penetrating the loosely woven fibers, reflecting off the aluminum stripping and inspiring some fanciful effects.

Multi-paneled sculpture

A professional artist for 22 years, Gilbert teaches watercolor and life drawing at Cranbrook and both weaving and arts and crafts at Oakland Community College in Auburn Hills.

Three colorful panels pulling apart from each other will make up his library sculpture. The piece will stand 18 feet high and extend 30 feet wide. The higher-hanging outer pieces will start straight but curve as they flirt with the curved centerpiece.

The combination of straight and curved lines will represent natural (curved) and human (straight) forces striking a balance.

"Symbolic representations or abstract images in the work will signify different markings of man and nature working together," Gilbert said.

His design will showcase basic structures like the rectangle, square, circle, hexagon and triangle. "Everything is made from shapes and forms — from molecular crystals to the skeleton of buildings. Structure is inherent in natural and human surroundings."

Famed fiber artist

He's a marquee player on the fiber art circuit: Make no mistake about that. Gilbert's artwork hangs in hotels, banks, offices and homes throughout North America. Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum and the Detroit Institute of Arts have spotlighted his work. The people of Pontiac bought one of his pieces for the mayor of their sister city in Kusatsu, Japan. This winter, he'll show his work with other fiber artists at Prescott Fine Arts Gallery in Prescott, Ariz.

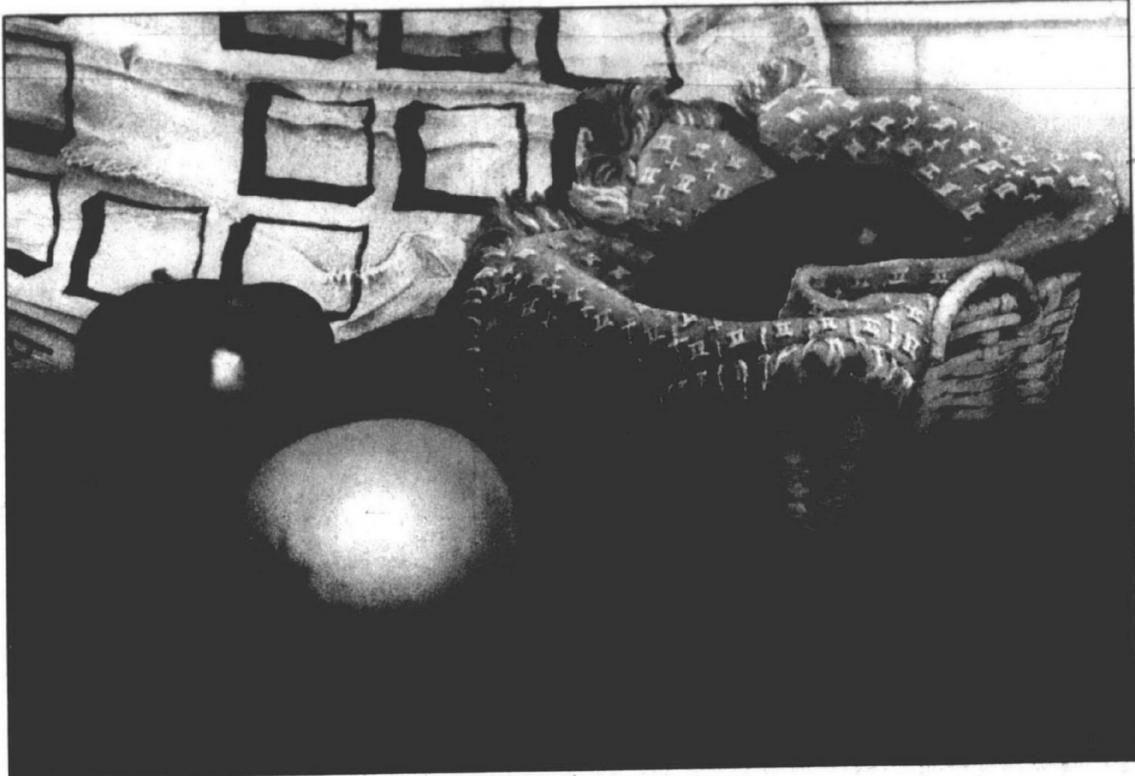

But this will mark his first fabric hanging in a library. "It's a nice opportunity to enhance my skills in a setting I'm not used to doing. I'm also very pleased that the library is thinking of art as an integral part of its being."

"I've seen his work at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel in Grand Rapids and it's just outstanding. It's such a beautiful piece," said Jack Olds, Friends vice president and arts commission chairman.

"Our committee was unanimous that his work had a sculpturalness to it and didn't represent just a flat surface against a wall. There was a certain excitement as soon as we saw it."

To which Olds added: "The piece he'll do for us not only will work with the architecture, but will add action, movement, color and another design element to a huge space that first catches the eye of visitors to the library."

Color it 'Autumn Inspiration'

Watercolorist Toni Stevens swept first-place honors at the Palette and Brush Club's spring and fall art exhibitions in Livonia. Mystery and muted color combine to capture the viewer's curiosity in her winning fall portrait "Brendan."

Palette and Brush Club's fall art exhibition, "Autumn Inspirations '92, A Point of View," continues through Oct. 29 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

The annual Livonia Arts Commission-sponsored show features 34 watercolor, pastel, acrylic, colored pencil, collage, oil and mixed media artworks by 23 club members.

First place went to watercolorist Toni Stevens of Plymouth for her subtly colored portrait, "Brendan."

She painted it in a watercolor class at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association with instructor Mary Aro.

Colleen Hilzinger of Royal Oak took second place for "Sun-sation," a watercolor. Estelle Nelson of Southfield finished third for "Daffodils and Strawberries," a collage.

Honorable mentions went to Barbara Denomme of West Bloomfield for "Pinecone," a colored pencil;

Janus Benda of Farmington Hills for "Orchid," a watercolor; and Janet Storm of Rochester for "Oranges," an acrylic.

Special mentions went to Jeri Fellwock of Farmington for "Urban View," a mixed media; Norma Goldsmith of Highland for "Sweet Sue," a watercolor/crayon; and Lillian Rogers of Birmingham for "Roses," an acrylic.

"It was gratifying to win first place this fall, after winning first place in the spring show," Stevens said.

Painted in shades of pinks and mauves, "Brendan" arouses curiosity in the viewer about the model. Shadows on the face, blinds in the background and a tropical plant on the right add to that.

"The muted color, subtle variations and arresting subject matter offer mystery and intrigue for lengthy contemplation," said juror Karen Wydra, an artist/instructor known for her large-scale oils. Her work has been showcased in American Artist magazine.

For Stevens, competition serves as a means of obtaining feedback. Since January, she has been juried

Interiors boast modern, eclectic look

BY CATHLEEN COLLINS LEE
SPECIAL WRITER

At first glance, these two contemporary homes might seem to have little in common.

The custom-designed home in Farmington Hills is bold and dramatic: an overstuffed black and white sectional dominates the living room, punctuated by strong colors and geometric shapes.

The living room in the Livonia home is more understated. A delicate feather pattern in mauve, purple, blue and jade on two loveseats sets the color scheme. Oriental accent pieces, ranging from a carved wood altar table to an intricately painted Chinese pot, add interesting touches.

Both homes strike different notes on a contemporary theme. They have in common large, open spaces, clean lines and lots of light. Window treatments are minimal or non-existent. Because there's little clutter, the unusual accent pieces stand out.

When the Livonia couple, who had been living in the city for 17 years, built this home four years ago, the woman was unsure how she wanted to decorate. Because she'd recently bought a good loveseat, she felt she needed to work around that.

One day, she wandered into Laurel Park Place Mall in Livonia, looking for a small reading lamp to put next to the loveseat. There she met interior designer Barbara Steinert, who helped her pick out the lamp — and ended up working with her on the rest of the house. The two have been fast friends ever since. They often visit designer showcase homes, shop for antiques and travel together.

"It's funny to think this all started from one little lamp," the woman said with a smile.

The house has a fairly large living room and dining room side by side, with just a narrow molding around the archway to separate them. In the living room, she and Steinert decided to buy a matching loveseat and place the two opposite each other on each supporting setting for conferences, meetings and parties. Period furnishings will reflect 1880s Livonia Township.

This year's dinner, chaired by Mayor Robert Bennett, will feature favorite recipes of past society presidents.

The first six dinners, coupled with related fund-raisers, served up $18,000 toward the $250,000 needed to restore the 142-year-old house, once home to a Livonia Township civic leader and Greenmead's only example of Italianate design.

Overall fund-raising has raised more than $60,000.

DARING OPPORTUNITY

side of a brick fireplace column at the far end of the room.

The walls are a soft white and the carpet beige, which makes the room light and open. The mauve, blue, jade and purple in the love seats are picked up throughout the room: in the large wallhanging modeled after a Chinese ceremonial robe, in the mauve buffet in the dining room and in striking flower arrangements.

Slender glass candlesticks of different heights hold mauve candles on the square glass and brass coffee table between the love seats. Propped against the fireplace mantle is an unusual piece: a carved wood square from a 16th-century Chinese wedding bed.

The woman had to do a little finagling to get the large Chinese "fishbowl" pot, which holds an artificial tree on one side of the fireplace. She found the pot at an auction and was determined to buy it because it picked up the orange in the fireplace brick; a dealer also had his eye on it and kept bidding against her. Finally, she shamed him into giving up.

"I told him, 'You stop that. Do you really need that?'"

Steinert took a more dramatic approach in the den, combining strong teal walls with black and gray. The den features a plush gray and black sectional that wraps around one corner, a black lacquer cabinet that holds the television and books, and "puddle drapes" that do fall to puddle on the floor.

A recess in the wall holds a built-in bar. A large fluted basket filled with eucalyptus and white bows sit on the floor. And a neoclassical round table with fluted legs and a black marble top sits in front of the house.

The woman says she enjoys the current trends toward a large living room the whole family can enjoy, coupled with the smaller den for watching television or reading.

"It forces us to use our living room," she said. "And I don't like to look at a television in the living room. I like to look at my visitors. I like how this has evolved, how American design has progressed."

When a Farmington Hills woman asked Gorman's Gallery of Fine Furniture interior designer Judy Welch to help decorate her new home, Welch wanted it to reflect the woman's outgoing, outspoken personality.

Together, they chose bold colors and hard surfaces, like marble, granite and tile. But the woman also wanted a living room the family could truly live in. So she and Welch found ways to make it comfortable and practical as well.

The large living room, with a 17-foot cathedral ceiling, is just off the tile foyer, down a step and next to the dining room. The curved walls in the foyer are echoed in the marble-edged curve at the end of the foyer floor leading into the living room and in the arched fireplace.

The fireplace is set at counter level in a stainless steel, floor-to-ceiling column on the far wall and trimmed with black marble. The column, focal point of the room, was built by the husband's company to reflect his work as an aluminum and steel broker. Windows on either side of the fireplace look out on ravines, woods and trails in the undeveloped commons area of the subdivision.

The black and white striped sectional sofa that dominates the room was chosen for comfort. It's accented by large red, black and white pillows with different geometric designs. "So many times with contemporary, you use something low and leather," Welch said. "This is large and overstuffed. It's comfortable and cushy — you get into this."

The square coffee table in front of the sofa, made of linen lacquered with a coating similar to polyurethane, also is practical. Handblown Mexican candlesticks with black candles are on the table.

Because the room is so large, the women felt it would hold two pieces of art, both of which add color and style to the room. Underneath the coffee table is a red rug with many geometric shapes of purple and yellow. On the wall is a huge wallhanging made of crunched canvas and painted in bright shades of gray, blue, yellow, red and jade.

Fine points: Oriental touches add interesting detail to this bright, open living room in Livonia. The large wallhanging, painted in shades of mauve, peach and blue, is fashioned after a Chinese robe. Nearby is a Chinese altar table with intricate carvings.

"A family can really live in this room," Welch said. "You can enjoy the fireplace, the view out the windows. And you don't have to worry about having the kids in here."

In building the home, the woman served as the contractor and chose everything that went into it herself, adding many unusual touches. A set of interior glass doors beyond the front doors keep cold air out.

Stevens retired in 1989 after teaching art and general education for 28 years in Wayne-Westland Community Schools and Detroit Public Schools.

Stevens is studying portraiture with Stephenson at the BBAA this fall. "Every teacher I've had has taught me something. You always get a different view point," Stevens said.

"Mary Stephenson says it's important we work on developing the psychological content of a portrait. It's more the feeling that a portrait gives you. The human face is fascinating; trying to capture the personality, yet make it universal."

Beside portraits, Stevens paints florals and still life from setups in her basement studio. The still life, "Basket Case," focuses on apples and oranges painted in the tradition of photorealism.

"I always work from life. I need the person or object in front of me to feel comfortable," Stevens said. "A lot of artists don't like to work in the basement but I find there are fewer distractions."

Stevens earned a bachelor of fine arts degree from Syracuse University and a teaching certificate in art and master's degree in education from Wayne State University.

Color, drawing and composition rank high with Stevens. She is looking forward to a trip with her husband of 42 years to Washington, D.C., to visit one of their two sons.

"I'm excited about visiting the National Gallery. I get drawn to the drawings. I admire good drawing, like Degas. I get drawn to the portraits, too," she said.

Stevens finds herself doing what writer Anne Dillard eloquently describes in "The Meaning of Life," a collection of comments by writers and artists, published by Little, Brown:

"We are here to notice each thing so that it gets noticed. Together we notice not only each mountain shadow and each stone on the beach, but especially, we notice the beautiful faces and complex natures of each other. We are here to bring to consciousness the beauty and power that are around us and to praise the people who are here with us."

Exhibition hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday; evening hours 7:30 p.m. Oct. 15, 19-20, 26-28.

Find key to creative shots

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

Most photographs that we are used to seeing contain an even range of tones from light to dark. But by being creative and deliberately tipping the balance toward either extreme, you can produce exciting, unusual pictures.

Tones that are predominately on the light side throughout the entire image will result in what is called a "high key" shot. Just the opposite, if dark tones dominate the photograph, we have a "low key" picture.

For an effective high-key shot, you should select a subject that is light in color, and, if in a controlled situation, use a light background and arrange the lighting so that there are very few shadows. Small patches of dark tones are acceptable, even important in that they will keep a high-key picture from looking washed out and pale.

Common outdoor high-key subjects are freshly fallen snow or intense fog. Inside, you can be creative. Try shooting white objects such as eggs or a piece of crumpled paper against a white background. Portraits of your subject wearing white in front of a white wall or backdrop are also high key.

Proper exposure is essential to get quality high-key results and a little camera expertise is required.

Because the majority of the subject area will be light in tonality and will reflect most of the light striking it, your camera's meter will be "fooled" and you'll get an underexposed shot. Solution: Overexpose by a stop or two. This way, your exposure will be correct and you'll obtain a rich, high-key print.

Low-key pictures are opposite high key in that dark tones dominate. Outdoors, dark skies often seen after a storm will reward you with a strong, low-key landscape shot. Or an abundance of dark foliage can provide the necessary background for that low-key image. Dramatic lighting combined with a dark background will also produce portraits with mood and impact.

As in high-key shots, exposure can be tricky because the dark tones will "tell" the meter to overexpose the film. So, just the opposite of high key, underexpose a stop or two to obtain a rich, dark print. In all high-key and low-key photographs, bracket your exposures slightly to be assured of getting an optimum print.

With the right subject, some thought and exposing properly, high-key and low-key techniques will add dramatic images to your photo portfolio.

Pewabic Pottery aids needy

Pewabic Pottery will host its "Empty Bowls" benefit meal 5:30-8:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 13.

A donation of $10 or more ($5 for students) entitles one to choose a bowl made by a local potter and take part in a simple meal of soup and bread. Soup will be provided by Sindbad's Restaurant.

All donations will be given to a local charity serving the needy. The bowl may be kept as a reminder of the prevalence of hunger in the community and the power to overcome that hunger.

Pewabic is planning a wood-firing in late October, one of the first in its newly rebuilt wood-fired kiln, to finish bowls made for the benefit. Donations of bowls are still being accepted as well.

Pewabic Pottery is at 10125 E. Jefferson, across from Waterworks Park in Detroit. For more information, call 822-0954.

The Empty Bowls project is the brainchild of Franklin artists Lisa Blackburn and John Hartom. Their idea to involve potters in grass-roots efforts to alleviate hunger has taken many forms in communities throughout the United States and abroad, including Seder meals for the hungry, school gardens planted to benefit soup kitchens and empty bowls sent to politicians as a concrete symbol of hunger in America.

Entries will be accepted Friday-Saturday, Oct. 30-31, for the 23rd annual Michigan Photography Exhibition at the Scarab Club, 217 Farnsworth at John R, adjacent to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Entries will be accepted between noon and 5 p.m. Each work must be contained within one frame. Photographers may enter up to two works in each category: color print and black and white print. All prints must be framed under glass or plexiglas and be ready for hanging with wire attached. All edges must be covered. Works may not exceed 60 inches in any direction.

The non-refundable entry fee is $10 per category for Scarab Club members and $15 per category for non-members. Only entries that haven't been previously accepted into Scarab Club exhibitions are eligible for entry. For more information, call 831-1250.

The public may attend a juror's critique of the exhibition 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, in the Scarab Club Gallery. Donations will be accepted. Reception and awards ceremony will take place 2-5 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 8. The exhibit will run Nov. 9-28.

Ancient enameling art form displayed

SPECIAL WRITER

Livonia Arts Commission presents an exhibition of repousse, one of the techniques used in the ancient art of enameling through Oct. 30 in the circular showcases on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Translucent and fairly glowing with color, artist Susan Pickering Rothamel's abstract enamel pieces, mounted and framed in a shadow box, capture light and the imagination.

"As an art form, it's traditional. It's one of the oldest mediums known to man," the Chelsea resident said.

Besides Rothamel's artwork, the educational exhibit includes lumps of glass, glass threads, ground enamels, sifters and tools necessary for repousse work.

"Enameling has many techniques to it. Besides repousse, there's cloisonne and Limoges," Rothamel said.

Informative placards in the exhibit tell about the history of the art form. Enameling was first known to the Greeks in the Fifth Century B.C. Gold sculptures were inlaid with thin layers of enameling.

Cloisonne originated in the Fourth Century. By the Third Century, enameling was being used in the British Isles. The French developed the technique known as Limoges, the Romans, the champleve.

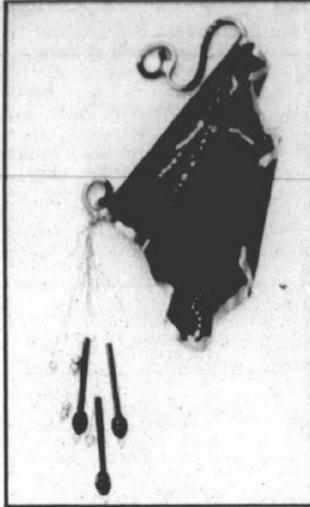

Rothamel became interested in enameling six years ago, while a ceramics student at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

"I was friends with professor Bob Black. He dragged this stuff out of a storage closet. We didn't know the first thing about it," Rothamel said. "I just fell in love with the glass. There's a symbiotic relationship between me and the glass."

While traditionalists were using enamels to decorate ashtrays, bowls and vases, Rothamel had a vision. Almost instantly, she knew how to execute the work.

"When I took that first piece out of the kiln, I knew that I was going to mount and frame it," said the basically self-taught artist.

"The inspiration for all of the work I do comes from the Old Testament. It's loaded with great stories and dynamic personalities. When I'm reading the Old Testament, I can see the way the tabernacle looks in Exodus."

Repousse:
Susan Pickering Rothamel employs the age-old tradition of enameling to build abstract assemblages in a shadow box.

Rothamel begins the process of repousse by hammering, drilling or otherwise distressing a piece of copper.

Next employing one of two methods for adhering glass to copper, she sifts ground enamel onto the copper after coating it with a mild gum solution, or she liquefies the glass, then packs it onto the copper.

"The copper and glass don't cool at the same rate, so both the front and back are enameled, so it cools evenly without cracking."

Rothamel fires the piece in a 1,700-degree kiln as many as five times, after which she hand gilds or polishes each. Once her design finalizes, Rothamel assembles the pieces of repousse, using an archival mounting technique, before placement in a shadowbox.

"I really do see the artwork while I'm studying the Old Testament and quickly translate them into my sketch book."

Originally, Rothamel said, she had gone to school to become a doctor.

"I felt a voice telling me this is not the direction. I felt the Lord telling me, 'I want you to do art'. I really feel I was given a gift," Rothamel said. "I'm so glad I listened."

Although she has worked with one medium or another over the past 15 years, enameling remains a favorite.

"For a long time, I was trying to achieve this glass-like translucency and the colors. I couldn't translate all the ideas or stories in oil or collage. Enameling enabled me to be spontaneous," Rothamel said.

"Glass, you can only control to a point; it forces me to be spontaneous. I love the translucency of glass. I love the spontaneity."

Although Rothamel applies it to copper, enamel also can be used to decorate fine silver, high karat gold, sterling, aluminum, iron and steel.

"Copper is the most affordable. By using copper, I'm able to keep the prices on my pieces lower," Rothamel said.

Rothamel's enameling work can be seen at Chameleon Galleries in Plymouth; Signature Arts-Michigan Design Center, Troy; Cain Art Gallery, Saugatuck, Mich., and Oak Park, Ill.; and at the Detroit Gallery of Contemporary Crafts in the Fisher Building.

She has taught at Schoolcraft College, Art Store and More in Livonia, and at her private studio in Livonia. She hopes to offer enameling classes once her new home, complete with a 700 square-foot studio, is built in Chelsea.

Exhibition hours are 9 a.m. 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 9 a.m. 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday.

Power Center preview to showcase Eskimo art

A preview reception will open the 1992 annual print collection exhibit of Cape Dorset prints at the Power Center for the Performing Arts, Ann Arbor.

The preview, in the Power Center lobby, will be 4:30-6:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 23. Anne Charles, Canadian consul general in Detroit, and Eugene Power, Gallery of Eskimo Art, Inc. founder and president, will co-host the event. The Trio from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Band will provide entertainment.

This year's collection of 33 prints represents the works of 11 Inuit graphic artists from the Cape Dorset community on Baffin Island, Northwest Territories.

"This is the 11th year we have presented the collection of Cape Dorset prints," said Power, board president of the Ann Arbor-based Gallery of Eskimo Art, Inc. "And we are pleased, this year, to welcome our friends to a special Canadian-American preview reception."

"Eugene Power's foresight and appreciation of a unique art form has contributed to the development and worldwide recognition of the heritage of our Inuit communities," Charles said.

"I congratulate Eskimo Art, Inc. and the entire Ann Arbor community for their continuing support of Canadian Inuit artists and we are proud to be a part of this celebration."

This year's exhibit is dedicated to the memory of:

■ Margaret Harwick, who founded

Eskimo Art, Inc. with Eugene Power in 1953. She served as secretary/treasurer until 1990 and was a trustee until her death earlier this year.

■ Osoochiak Pudlat, who was born in 1908 and only began drawing in 1980. In addition to a solo exhibition of original works in Toronto in 1982, his work has been included in several annual Cape Dorset graphic collections, both stonecuts and lithographs. He died earlier this spring.

■ Tikitu Qinnuayak, who was born in 1908 and was represented in the 1990 Cape Dorset annual graphics collection for the first time in years. He contributed six images to the 1991 collection. His 1992 print "My Mother's Reflections" will be the last print by Tikitu to be released as part of the annual Cape Dorset collection. His late wife was graphic artist Lucy Qinnuayak. Tikitu died this past January.

Slides and catalogs of the 1992 collection are available at the Gallery of Eskimo Art in Exhibition Hall at Domino's Farms, Arbor. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, and by appointment (call 313-665-9663). The gallery also has 1993 Cape Dorset calendars.

Domino's Farms is on Earhart Road, north of Plymouth Road, east of the intersection of US-23 and M-14.

The prints will be on display at the Power Center through Sunday, Nov. 22.

Keep the tax man at bay by utilizing deductions

By taking advantage of available tax deductions and tax-saving strategies, the Michigan Association of CPAs points out that you can offset some expenses of home ownership.

Here's some areas to consider:

- Loan origination fees. If you recently secured a mortgage to buy a house and paid points to your mortgage lender, you may be eligible for an immediate tax break. Each point equals 1 percent of the loan's total amount. If you paid the points with personal funds, they are usually fully deductible as mortgage interest in the year paid. But if you paid points from the loan proceeds, you will most likely have to deduct the points over the life of the mortgage.

- Mortgage interest. Your biggest opportunity for tax savings relates to the interest paid on your mortgage. Generally, you may deduct interest on acquisition loans of up to $1 million as long as you use the funds to construct, purchase or improve a principal or second residence. If you are married and file separately, the limit is $500,000.

High-income taxpayers should note that mortgage interest is an itemized deduction and therefore may not be entirely deductible if your adjusted gross income (AGI) exceeds $105,250.

- Home equity loans. Many homeowners can increase their borrowing power and save on their taxes by taking advantage of home equity loans. The interest on loans of up to $100,000 is generally tax deductible, provided the loan amount doesn't exceed the difference between the fair market value of the house and the amount owed on it.

- Real estate taxes. In most instances, you can fully deduct any real estate taxes charged against your property. These include any property taxes that you are required to pay at the time you close on a new house. Owners of cooperatives can deduct their proportionate share of real estate taxes assessed on the building itself.

- Home improvements. Uncle Sam does not give a tax break for the costs of routine home repairs. But if you decide to remodel or make a significant improvement to your home, such as adding a bathroom, some of the cost you incur may reduce the amount of taxable gain realized when you sell your residence. In the eyes of the IRS, eligible home improvement costs include those that add to the value of your home, considerably prolong its useful life or adapt it to new uses.

- Selling your home. If you sell your principal residence at a profit, you can defer paying taxes on the gain as long as you meet two conditions: You buy or build a new principal residence within two years before or after the date you complete the sale of your home and the purchase price of your new residence equals at least the adjusted selling price of your old home.

The adjusted sales price is the actual sales price of your home minus certain selling costs. These include expenses incurred to repair and fix up your home as long as the work was completed within 90 days before you signed the contract to sell your house and paid for within 30 days after the sale.

Careful selection, active participation guide to condo living

I am thinking of buying a

CONDO QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

condominium but am weighing the consequences as compared to a single family home. I read your column on a regular basis and see there are problems in condominiums. What do you think?

While the column is intended to alert persons who reside in and serve on boards of directors of condominiums and other community associations of potential problems incident to their operation, that is not to say that there are not tremendous advantages in buying a condominium. These advantages include the fact of enhanced security, additional amenities available to purchasers, savings in expenses in regard to maintenance and repair responsibilities in some instances, and social and political benefits incumbent in community associations.

Condominium living can be an enjoyable and beneficial experience if the purchaser is careful regarding the selection of the condominium and takes an active participation in the successful op-

Our condominium bylaws state that the books of account should be reviewed at least annually by a qualified and independent accountant and that the accountant need not be certified. Does this mean that a review must be accomplished by accountants or can be done by other co-owners who are not officers or board members?

I believe it should be done by accountants who are both qualified and independent — namely that they do not have any proprietary interest in the condominium. Accordingly, co-owners would not qualify in my opinion as satisfying the requirement of the statute and condominium bylaws.

We are really in a sad state of affairs because our management company has not been performing the services we want. We would like to start a suit against him, but the attorney for the board, who was recommended by the management company, claims that he would be blackballed if he pursued the management company. Now I have found out that the management company and the attorney have had business dealings together and have a long relationship. Some of the board members want to ax both and sue both. What can we do?

If the facts that you relate can be substantiated, you are well advised to retain independent counsel who does not have any affiliation with the management company or the attorney to consider whether you have a cause of action against either or both parties. It appears that you were not aware of the relationship between the management company and the attorney (which should have been disclosed to you by both), which apparently had an impact on the willingness of the attorney to pursue the management company. I am reasonably confident that new counsel can provide you with an insight into your rights and prerogatives in pursuing the appropriate parties.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney concentrating his practice in the areas of condominiums, real estate and corporate law. You are invited to submit topics you would like to see discussed in this column by writing Robert M. Meisner at 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Birmingham Farms 48025. Builders loath to cross county lines Convenience and comfort are a couple of reasons you won't often see builders venturing outside of a base community to build new subdivisions. Here are a few exceptions.

BY GERALD FRAWLEY
STAFF WRITER

Builder/developer Lawrence Cohen, president of Cohen Associates in West Bloomfield, is entering a new world called Western Wayne County.

Sure, for those of you who have lived there, this hardly equates with Columbus's discovery of the new world, but for a builder/developer who has made his name in the heart of Oakland County, it's a big step.

Building is a parochial avocation. Of the literally hundreds of builders that work in southeastern Michigan, most work almost exclusively in one or two — generally nearby — communities.

Only a small handful build across county lines.

With the grand opening of Meadowbrook — which he is both developing and building — in Canton Township this week, Cohen joins that number.

Cohen has built in West Bloomfield almost exclusively, but several years ago branched out to Novi with Woods of Novi development.

Building in Canton

Cohen broke ground on the 33-acre, 77-homesite project south of Ford Road on Canton Center last February, he said, but planning began many years ago.

Cohen said he doesn't think builders are territorial by nature; it's more a question of convenience and comfort levels.

"There are so many ways (to build a home) wrong and just a few ways to do it right," he said. "When you build in only one area, you learn what will fly and what won't."

Nor does he find builders are more competitive than normal when another enters his "territory."

"I've always found builders to be friendly competitors," he said.

When he began looking in other areas, he said he discovered most builders were more than willing to help him determine what would be appropriate for that area and what wouldn't.

Some were more helpful than others, but he said he came away with the general feeling that builders realize that the more diversity available in a marketplace, the better it is for all builders.

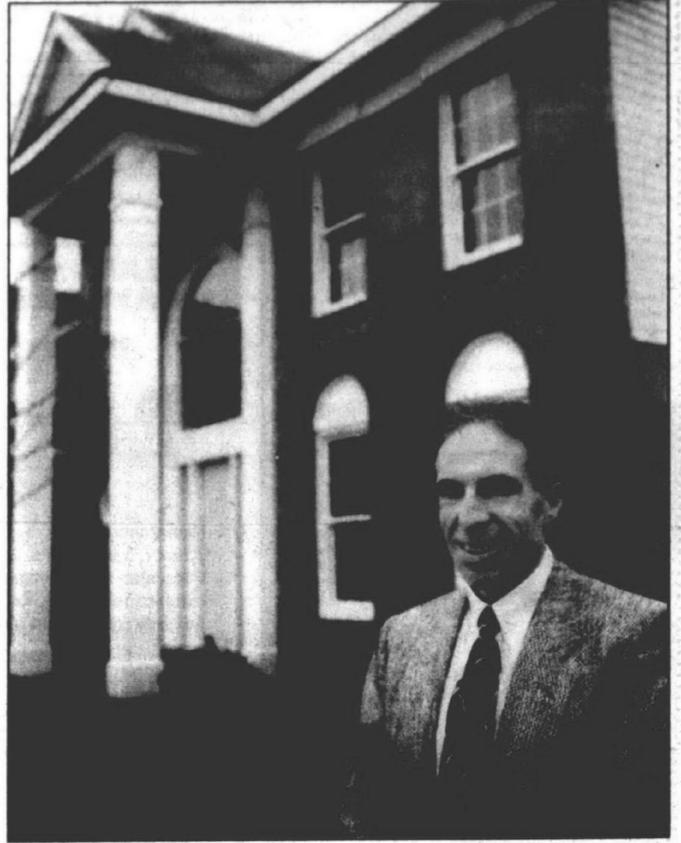

Added diversity

It's only natural that builders stick to areas where they've had success, Cohen said, because every time a builder enters a new community he has to start over again.

"For our company — we don't desire to be a huge company — but we need to maintain at least three subdivisions," Cohen said. That number keeps all of his employees busy and helps him to provide diversified products.

"I didn't feel comfortable doing it all in one community," he said. "If my homes aren't selling in West Bloomfield, they may be selling in Canton — it broadens my market."

"We spent nearly two years going through models (of other builders in western Wayne) in preparation for this," he said. Cohen said he also made a special effort to solicit information from Wayne County residents who toured the model he built for last year's Homerama in Novi.

Well known in Oakland County, Cohen is trying his hand in Western Wayne County with the grand opening of Meadowbrook, his first project in Wayne County, joining a small handful of builders working in more than one county.

Cohen said one of the toughest parts of building in a different community is establishing oneself all over again. "We're the new kids on the block and we're not automatically

Home ownership remains elusive despite interest rates

(AP) — What this country needs is good low-cost home ownership.

That perhaps is a rather dogmatic statement, but it can be defended in many ways — economically, politically, charitably and even selfishly, since those who make it possible may become the greatest beneficiaries.

The evidence is contained in the latest State of the Nation's Housing report from the Joint Center for Housing Studies, which shows among other things that home ownership is a ladder to wealth.

The big economic problem is that those who might benefit most from this ladder of success are those least able to take it. The poor cannot get their foot on the first rung. If they could, they could begin their climb.

It is this impediment that lies at the base of many studies showing a growing disparity between economic classes and between whites and minorities. Nothing, studies show, compares with ownership in closing those gaps.

The Joint Center report shows:
 ■ Home equity accounts for the majority of the net wealth of owners in all age groups.

■ The net wealth of young homeowners is 14 times the net wealth of renters.

■ The median net wealth of black homeowners was $37,970 in 1988, compared with $451 for black renters. For Hispanics, the median net wealth of owners was more than $50,000, while that of renters was $283. For whites, the median net wealth for homeowners was $85,880, while that of renters was $3,962.

The explanation for the growth in net wealth is simple: Since a house is usually highly leveraged, a small increase in price results in a large increase in the equity held by the owner.

To illustrate: A $50,000 house might have been bought with $5,000 down. Over a five-year period, the price rises 20 percent to $60,000, but the equity triples to $15,000. In addition, mortgage payments have helped reduce the mortgage.

Even so, the owner might not even be the biggest beneficiary. Society might be. Homeowners, studies show, tend to be more community minded. They tend to save more, and in general show more evidence of enterprise and responsibility.

The current situation is especially ironic because the cost of financing a house today is the lowest in almost two decades. It is precisely the right time for a family with a down payment to get its foot on the first rung.

■ Unemployment and job insecurity are high.

Prep work: Wayne and Oakland County officials are looking at infrastructure improvement during the present construction lull as laying the groundwork for future projects.

Counties look to infrastructure

STAFF WRITER

Economic development directors for Wayne and Oakland counties were only slightly upbeat about the state of future construction projects during recent remarks before the Detroit chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America.

In Wayne, improvements to roads and noise berms continue at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport. A runway will be expanded next year at Willow Run Airport to allow larger cargo aircraft to land there.

Talks continue with potential developers of nearly 1,000 acres of county-owned land in Northville and 300 acres in Romulus, but nothing has been finalized.

Golf courses and residential units are planned for both sites. The county wants to retain ownership of the golf courses and start building them next year.

Wayne County officials also are trying to expedite a community development bank to help renovate older, dilapidated cities like Ecorse, Highland Park and Hamtramck.

In Oakland, all but 8,000 of 100,000 manufacturing jobs lost during the 1979-81 recession have been recovered. Some 100,000 business service jobs have been added to the economy in the last decade but overall job growth has flattened over the past three years.

Auto-related industries from out of state are downsizing and consolidating closer to Detroit. Demand has increased for expansions of light industrial plants on the order of 20,000-50,000 square feet.

Hot areas now are along the I-696 and I-275 corridors and westward along I-96.

"We're trying to build Wayne County as a world-class community," said Dewitt J. Henry, director of jobs and economic development. "Our role primarily is to build infrastructure so it happens."

"We're trying to take land Wayne County owns and controls and bring it back to productivity," he said.

All work has been stopped at Tiger Stadium, Henry said, adding, "We're still of the mind that a new stadium near the Fox Theatre can revive Detroit."

Henry also is optimistic that the Department of Defense will select the abandoned Hudson's downtown store to be renovated into a data processing center.

"There probably will be five projects coming out of this program, and we think Detroit will be one," he said.

Jeffrey A. Kaczmarek, manager for economic development in Oakland County, picked up on the slow-growth theme.

"You can't isolate us from national, international and regional issues," he said. "Literally, only a handful of nations are experiencing growth now."

"From our point of view, there's an extensive lack of confidence and uncertainty out there," Kaczmarek said. "We still are perceived as a high-cost, poor business climate."

Another bright spot — moderate infrastructure growth. "Especially in the road area, a fair amount of dollars will be put into the area over the next five years," he said.

Redevelopment opportunities are ripe in southeast Oakland communities such as Southfield, Royal Oak, Ferndale and Hazel Park due to favorable interest rates and land costs, Kaczmarek said. Whether it happens depends on availability of money.

Mortgage rates climbing

AP — Interest rates on 30-year mortgages rose to a 10-week high of 8.06 percent this week, the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. said Friday.

The new rate, up from 8.01 percent the week before, was the highest since rates also averaged 8.06 percent during the week ended Aug. 7.

On one-year, adjustable-rate mortgages, lenders were asking an average initial rate of 5.05 percent, up from 4.97 percent last week, which was the lowest since the corporation began tracking ARMs in 1984.

looked on as the latest greatest thing to come down the pike."

Anthony Scaccia, a principal of Scaccia Builders in Rochester, said building across county lines and in far-flung communities is good business.

"It's difficult to do, but you've got to build where people are buying," Scaccia said. "You've got to differentiate — different areas appeal to different types of buyers."

Scaccia Builders has built in Rochester Hills, Farmington Hills and Troy in Oakland County and Sterling Heights and Shelby and Clinton townships in Macomb County.

Expansion at stake

To expand, builders have to go farther afield. That creates all kinds of management headaches that the small builder doesn't have to be concerned with.

"Most builders aren't interested in expanding," he said. "We do it to keep busy."

"We're not extremely busy in any of our five communities, but if we count all of our projects together, we have about 25 homes under construction," he said.

At the same time, running a business across such a broad area can be difficult.

Permit applications, approvals, daily meetings and supervising contractors keeps a builder running from site to site even when each site has a top notch construction supervisor, he said. He added that the job might be impossible without good people.

Steve Taglione, of B.B.C. Group in Farmington Hills, said one of the biggest reasons builders give for staying in one community — varying restrictions and building codes — isn't nearly as hard to overcome as many builders think.

B.B.C. is one of the most ambitious of the area's builders with projects in Oakland, Macomb, Wayne and Washtenaw counties.

"I don't know why builders are so parochial," he said. Overcoming the obstacles of building over large areas requires sound business planning, but it's easier after a builder works in several markets.

For example, Taglione said one home will sell in different markets. "While we definitely tailor certain floor plans to a certain market, our goal is to be in as many markets as possible."

That means a basic, but flexible floor plan will often meet the needs of several communities. Most changes are cosmetic, rather than structural, he said, and can be accomplished to meet the needs of different buyers.

"It's not unusual for us to sell the same house in different areas — of course, we have to make allowances for different window specifications, floor space and increase the number of selections and options for the buyer, but we've learned how to do that."

Taglione also stressed a builder needs to know his or her particular niche.

FAMILY LIFE

EARTHA DEYAMPERT

Evaluation: Needed tool in child care

At some point or another, a child care professional, as well as entrepreneur, corporation or organization will have to systematically evaluate what it is they say they do. It would be difficult to continue input into any service without responding to feedback.

I have a legitimate concern about the competency of a person or persons at the helm of a business who's closed to systematic evaluation whether it's intentional or not. It is a sad epitaph to be a part of or associated with an early childhood education program that resists or put up barriers to paths of receiving valuable information and feedback.

It would be easy to describe a program that fails to view evaluation as integral part of operation and growth as one that walks a tightrope blinded. Each step taken could be hit or miss. There's no turning back, or standing still to regain balance. On the other hand, a competent child care professional can avoid the tightrope and turn the hit-or-miss method of operating around to their advantage.

As children learn by doing and from "real experiences," child care professionals can do the same with their program — done in the systematic context. Evaluating what does and does not work and why is a necessity in every good program.

Evaluation is a method used to simply appraise or assess. It is a means to measure productivity.

I view evaluation and the re-evaluation process as a comma or period in a sentence. It gives one the opportunity to pause and digest what has been said. The importance as it relates to evaluation enables one to revisit, to see if goals are being met.

Is the environment safe, healthy and does it promote learning? Are there opportunities and activities that enable young children to feel good about themselves? Will parents have opportunities to really feel a vital part to the success or growth of the program? These are some serious questions that deserve realistic answers to.

How do you go about getting answers? You must first start by knowing and understanding the role of a child care professional.

The role of a child care professional is to be an extension to families. In family day care, the role might include being a surrogate parent or in some cases, a parent on call. In both commercial and home-based settings, the role of a competent professional would not include replacing the primary caregivers, the parents, but to serve as an adult stand-in or representative for the parents.

The family child care professional must recognize that their role as sometimes surrogate parent must blend well with the role of an educator.

A competent child care professional offers services that are in support of the family's philosophies. A happy, secure "kid's place" must be one that leads to a preparatory path to a more conventional institution of learning, kindergarten.

In an environment where a competent child care provider incorporates the child friendly techniques with good business strategies, evaluation is part of the process.

If you are a serious child care provider or professional who first takes pride in yourself and the profession/work that you have chosen, stagnation has no place in the program. Evaluation brings about growth.

Whether the evaluation proves to be one that suggests training is necessary, or perhaps pursuing the child development associate credential or the National Association of Family Day Care (NAFOC) accreditation, it is a tool to chart effectiveness, productivity and credibility.

In writing this article I can't help but think about a 80-year-old family child care provider. I had the privilege of getting to know her while she was enrolled in a class I taught and was sponsored by the Child Care Coordinating Council (4C) Detroit/Wayne County.

It was easy for me to admire and appreciate her commitment and energy she displayed while taking the six-week series. She had been providing child care in her home for more than 20 years. She obtained her registration shortly after the Act 116 of 1973 provided a statutory base for all child care organizations to provide child care in homes.

This dedicated provider, she saw a need to pause and acknowledge that re-assessment of her program was necessary in order to meet the changing needs of children and families.

As a result, she noted a deficiency in her family child care program which she felt could be remedied by taking training.

However, the need for this family child care provider to have formal training was prevalent, it was evident that her willingness to be open improvement, coupled with her zeal to learn, inspired her to take the necessary steps to grow.

Ready to dance: For Suzan Marzec, dancing is a way of life, so much so that she spent four summers in Lublin, Poland, studying Polish dancing. Now, she's teaching those dances to her troupe, Radomianie.

Troupe helps fulfill her dream

At age 38, Suzan Marzec is a college graduate, but her degree isn't the usual U.S. variety. It comes from the University of Marie Sklodowska Curie in Lublin, Poland, and shows she was excellent in her study of Polish folklore.

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Suzan Marzec is your typical college graduate. She proudly shows off her degree, talks about the four long years, plenty of hard work and many hours spent getting it.

That's where the typicalness ends. The degree she shows you is in a small green book about the size of a passport. In Polish, it announces that she successfully completed the study of Polish folk lore — music, dancing and costuming — at the University of Marie Sklodowska Curie in Lublin, Poland.

Marzec is one of a handful of Americans to complete the course work at the university, no easy task for a second generation American who spoke less than fluent Polish.

"The first year an instructor told me I shouldn't be in the school because my Polish was so poor," she said. "It was like a slap in the face, but I can understand why. Over there, dancing is culture, custom, and that's the way it should be. There's no compromising."

Little did that instructor know that four years later Marzec would complete the course work and graduate second in her class. Now she's using her new found training to ready her dance troupe, Radomianie, for a performance of a lifetime — at the Rzeszow folk lore festival next summer.

And it's no simple task. Sponsored by the Polish National Alliance Centennial Star Lodge in Plymouth, the adult dance troupe has been learning the finer points of Polish dance for three years. They have mastered five major regional suites and four major polkas and will add two more suites to their repertoire this year.

Just people

The members come from as close as Livonia, Plymouth and Canton to as far away as Mount Clemens and have invested a lot of time learning the dance steps. And Marzec is confident that, after four years of training, the troupe will be ready to perform in Poland and, if the invitation comes, in Radom, the city the group is named after. (Radomianie means people from Radom.)

"I want to go back with my degree and as a choreographer on their level and have the group experience what I experienced," Marzec said.

Hard work

What she experienced long days and late nights studying the dance, culture and music of Poland for seven weeks each summer for four years. A typical day would include nine hours of being taught a song, costuming, dance steps and a suite (a combination of all three).

By the fourth year something was added to the routine. The students also were taught how to be choreographers. They had to write out a dance in words, by diagram and counts (for the beats) as well as prepare an uktaad (pronounced uke-wad), a three-minute suite.

Classes were in Polish and Marzec worked late into the night translating the lessons into English "so I would know what to say back in Polish."

Her finals were taken before a board of 18 people. Eight were the country's top choreographers and members of the Polish Folk Lore Society, another eight were choreographers from the different regions of Poland and two who specialized in singing and music.

There was a time Marzec doubted she could pass the final exam, but her husband, who flew to Poland with her two sons for her graduation, kept telling her she would be fine.

"I just felt I couldn't do it," Marzec said, "but my attitude was different when I finished. This was something that really meant a lot to me and I don't know for what reason. Maybe because I want to be the best."

Making the grade

Traditionally, the students receive grades of excellent, good and fair, the lowest acceptable grade for graduation. After the exams, the class was called together, with the top five students honored by Stanislaw Leszczynski, "the Gregory Hines of Lublin dancers."

That's when Marzec discovered she finished second in her class of 28 with a grade of excellent.

"I still get watery eyes," Marzec said. "I expected just a good. I didn't expect an excellent because I couldn't speak the language good enough, even though I took (language) classes.

"When they gave me a diploma it was like getting a gold medal."

With school behind her, Marzec is focusing on Radomianie. The 20-member troupe divides its time between rehearsing at the Oddfellow Hall in Plymouth and the old fire station on Farmington Road in Livonia.

When not rehearsing, the group is performing at Polish and international festivals, schools and the like. Their typical performance includes suites from the regions of Rzeszow, Krakow and Lublin, Polish national dances, background on their costumes and information about Polish traditions.

The troupe wears reproductions of regional costumes. Marzec buys the originals and has them copied because some of the Polish made garments can cost as much as $700.

The troupe does get paid for its performances and the money is being squirreled away for the trip to Poland. Marzec estimates it will cost at least $1,500 per person for the two-week adventure.

"They make a lot of sacrifices," Marzec said of her troupe. "When we perform, we have a lot of practices. There's a lot of commitment to learning new suites and reviewing old ones."

The troupe is always looking for new members and musicians to accompany the group. Some dance experience is necessary since Radomianie "isn't a dance school," Marzec said. Persons interested in the troupe may contact the director Cynthia Schertzer at 561-4391.

When she isn't at her three-day-a-week aerobics class, Martha Krisciunas is out pounding the pavement for her daily exercise.

"I love to exercise," said the Canton grandmother. "When I walk, my mind gets better and I feel better. I walk three miles a day, winter and summer."

Encouraged by her friend, Ed Andrysiak who started the Holy Strollers walking club at St. John Neumann Parish in Canton, Krisciunas decided to direct some of her boundless energy toward the Focus: Hope Foundation.

Krisciunas, who describes herself as "sixty-something," was one of the more than 5,000 walkers who turned out for the Focus: Hope "Walk for Justice" Oct. 11. Along with her enthusiasm, she brought more than $1,000 in contributions for the foundation.

According to Edna Jackson, manager of the Focus: Hope's volunteer department, the eight-mile walk brings "attention to many kinds of problems that keep people from reaching their fullest potential, that keep people from living in freedom and harmony.

"We want people to look at Detroit and say, 'All of these people are concerned about problems that surround us and they're all working together to eliminate them,'" she said.

Krisciunas is certainly one of those concerned people.

She collected $1,070 in contributions from more than 1,170 co-workers at NAAO Purchasing at Ford Motor Company.

"I have a goal now . . . $1,111," she said. "I need 41 more dollars!"

And just why has she set her goal at such an odd figure of $1,111?

"I think it's a nice number. A thousand is just a thousand. But 11-11 . . . they have to think," she said with a laugh.

Frieda has the answer for frizzy hair

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Are you beginning to think a Brill-O pad is softer than your hair? Wondering if Fuzzy Wuzzy is a distant relative? Just plain tired of frizzy hair?

John Frieda knows where you're coming from. The British stylist has come out with a product that eliminates the frizzies, leaving hair shiny and manageable without being oily or greasy.

"Fine hair you can make look thick, but if you have frizzy hair, you can spend hours and hours trying to make it look good," said Frieda.

Frieda's product is "Frizz-Ease Hair Serum" which has become the number one styling product in the U.S. since being introduced here a year ago. Frieda worked with a chemist in developing it and tested in his salons before in-

'People went crazy for it. One customer tried to bribe the stylist to get some. It became the number one seller in England almost overnight.'

*John Frieda
British stylist*

roducing in Great Britain three years ago.

"People went crazy for it," he said. "One customer tried to bribe the stylist to get some. It became the number one seller in England almost overnight."

"It took me by surprise; I knew it was good but I didn't expect that kind of response."

Frieda came up with the idea for "Frizz-Ease" as the result of studio work he does for magazines. The work required quickly creating a variety of hairstyles throughout a photo shoot. But when a model showed up with frizzy hair, he knew "it would be hard to deal with quickly."

Like many hair products, "Frizz-Ease" contains silicon which coats the hair, but Frieda has developed it so that most of it evaporates, leaving a fine layer on the hair to give it shine without weighting it down.

"It temporarily alters the hair's surface texture; it suddenly feels shiny and smooth," Frieda said. "It doesn't feel like there's actual anything on you. You put it on and leave it, no need to rinse."

"And it's done with absolutely no additives."

As Britain's Hairdresser of the Year in 1989-90, hair is something Frieda knows a lot about. It is his belief that what separates a good hairdresser from the bad is not their technical ability but their artistic skills. The key to good hairdressing, he said, is the ability to understand such artist principles as balance, form and proportion.

Hair has been a part of Frieda's life since childhood. The son of a Fleet Street barber, he learned the tricks of the trade at an early age. Pressed by his father to broaden his horizons, he left the family business to become a personal assistant at the renowned Mayfair salon Leonard, moving quickly into the position of stylist.

It was the late '60s and Frieda honed his artistic and styling techniques in the studio where his quick grasp of silhouette and line and his ability to achieve all in a matter of minutes, made him a favorite of renowned photographers and fashion editors of the day.

Such work landed Frieda the responsibility for the majority of creative work that emerged from the Leonard salon. It also gained him a loyal following that included Jerry Hall and Mick Jagger not to mention numerous royals.

He eventually left Leonard to open his own salon on London's stylish New Cavendish Street, closely followed by one in the Ritz Hotel and one in Mayfair. In 1990, he crossed the Atlantic, opening his first American salon on New York's posh upper east-side.

If four salons and personal tours promoting "Frizz-Ease" aren't enough to keep him busy, he also has found time to expand the line with a shampoo, mousse, gel and hairspray. Only the hair-spray contains alcohol.

Such a tour brought him to F&M stores in Westland and Farmington Hills recently, where he talked with customers about hairstyles and frizz problems.

Frieda feels at home and more in tune with the U.S. English people, he notes, are wonderful but they don't like changes. Americans, on the other hand, "embrace changes," he said.

As for the future, Frieda doesn't think about it. He would like to go for a holiday, he can't remember when his last one was.

"Everything has been hectic the last three years," he added.

Spritz, spritz: Hairstylist John Frieda gives Westlander Angel Malkiewicz's frizzed hair a special treatment with his "Frizz-Ease Hair Serum."

According to Jackson, that money is used to support such activities as the food program for pregnant women and young children, the food for seniors program and training programs for young people to learn a skill or trade.

"We're just as pleased to get that $1 as we are to get $5-6,000 from somebody who can afford to do that," Jackson said. "One is just as important as the other."

There are 450 staff persons at Focus: Hope and a volunteer corps of 35-40,000. Most of the volunteers don't come in every day but, like Krisciunas are involved one way or the other.

Focus: Hope is a civil rights organization founded 24 years ago by Fr. William Cunningham and Eleanor Josaitis. The "Walk for Justice" originated 18 years ago and was modeled after Dr. Martin Luther King's peace walks.

Krisciunas, who was born in Lithuania and immigrated from Germany to United States in 1949, was more than ready for the eight-mile walk to help her fellow Americans. But she doesn't plan on stopping there.

She's been going for 19-20-mile walks on weekends to get in shape for her next venture — the recent 26.2 mile Free Press/Mazda International Marathon.

How about: John Frieda gives Bonnie Conville of Canton some hairstyling advice during an appearance at the F&M store in Westland.

WOODY BOYD

Though there have been moments of chagrin in my checkered bridge career, I have learned much. ■ Good breeding can best be displayed at the table by concealing how much you think of yourself and how little you think of others. ■ I truly hold in veneration that little band of world specialists who carry no banners, nor beat any drums for their presence, and play at the table in all that is required to substantiate their mastery.

I'm not sure which of these world masters is supreme, Georgia Belladonna, Benito Garozzo or Pietro Forquet. Any selection process would require considerable deliberation, for the evidence supporting each one's brilliance is considerable. For lack of the proper decision-making panel to call upon as I pen this, I would cast in favor of Garozzo. I have thrice had the amazing training to play against him, and it was an amazing incursion into the world of exceptional expert play.

His partnership with fellow blue teammate Pietro Forquet was for years untouchable, which significantly contributed to seven consecutive Bermuda Bowl victories. Then in 1969, in tandem with the great Belladonna, they were acclaimed the sovereign pair in the world and instrumental in Italy's Third World Olympiad victory. Maybe our illustrious couple of Bobbys, Hamman and Wolfe, are today their equal, but just maybe!

I first met Benito in '84 in New York after he had moved to the States. Our last close encounter was at Bal Harbour in the spring of '91 when he and Lea DuPont placed just ahead of Bobby Goldman and me in the flighted open pairs. I once asked Tom Smith, How good is Lea? His answer was instant. 'Benito has helped her become a very fine player.' Hopefully, we can get these two to Detroit some day. You'll enjoy their play.

Here's a hand from their partnership that dramatically exhibits Benito's superb technique.

Declarer had two aces to lose, and what was he to do with the spade suit? He ruffed West's lead and played to dummy's trump queen and East ace. East wasn't stupid and played his spade ace before getting out with a heart, which was again ruffed. You say Benito was lucky to find the spade ace? I say he wasn't! Ask yourself whether West would double the three spade bid with three to the jack, 10, small? Obviously not! The spades had to be four/one with East holding the singleton ace or he wouldn't have had enough high-card stuff to warrant his bids. Now you say, Why did East prematurely play the spade ace? Benito concluded that East realized he would be end-played if he waited. At trick (5) was a diamond to dummy's 10, extracting East's last trump. Then, it was a club to the ace, and back to the king. While the jack could have been successfully finessed, experts prefer sure bets. At trick (8) dummy's small club was ruffed and the trump king was played. Here was the beautiful four-card ending.

When Benito played his trump jack, West had to unprotect his spades or throw his high club. Neither play could win for the defenders.

He swaps law books for the Bible

BY JULIE BROWN
STAFF WRITER

After he'd finished his undergraduate studies at UCLA, Bryan Smith had planned to go to law school. He got his acceptance letter, but realized he'd lost all interest in becoming an attorney.

Instead, he took a year off and worked in a shelter for abused children in California's Orange County. "That was the first time in my life I encountered people in such pain."

Smith had come from an upper-middle class background, and had been in a fraternity while at the University of California at Los Angeles. He hadn't been exposed to people in such pain, and realized at that point he wanted to be an instrument of healing and to help others get through their sorrow.

Smith talked with his pastor, and decided to become a Presbyterian minister. He attended Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey, graduating in June 1988 with a master of divinity degree.

He's the new pastor at Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton, where he preached his first sermon Sept. 20. His installation was held Sunday, Oct. 18. He'd previously served as associate pastor at the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Ana, Calif., his first assignment following graduation from the seminary and ordination.

New surroundings

"I really like Canton," said Smith, 31. "One of the things I like most is being half a mile away and being able to walk to work. It's nice to be able to walk around."

He and his family have only been in the community a short time, but he's already been to a Detroit Tigers game, visited a cider mill, and gone scuba diving in Lake Huron.

"We've been made to feel very welcome by the people." He appreciates that warm welcome, and the family isn't homesick at all.

Smith's wife, Jennifer, had begun a master's degree program in speech pathology at California State University-Fullerton, and plans to finish that work here. The Smiths have one daughter, Julia, 15 months old.

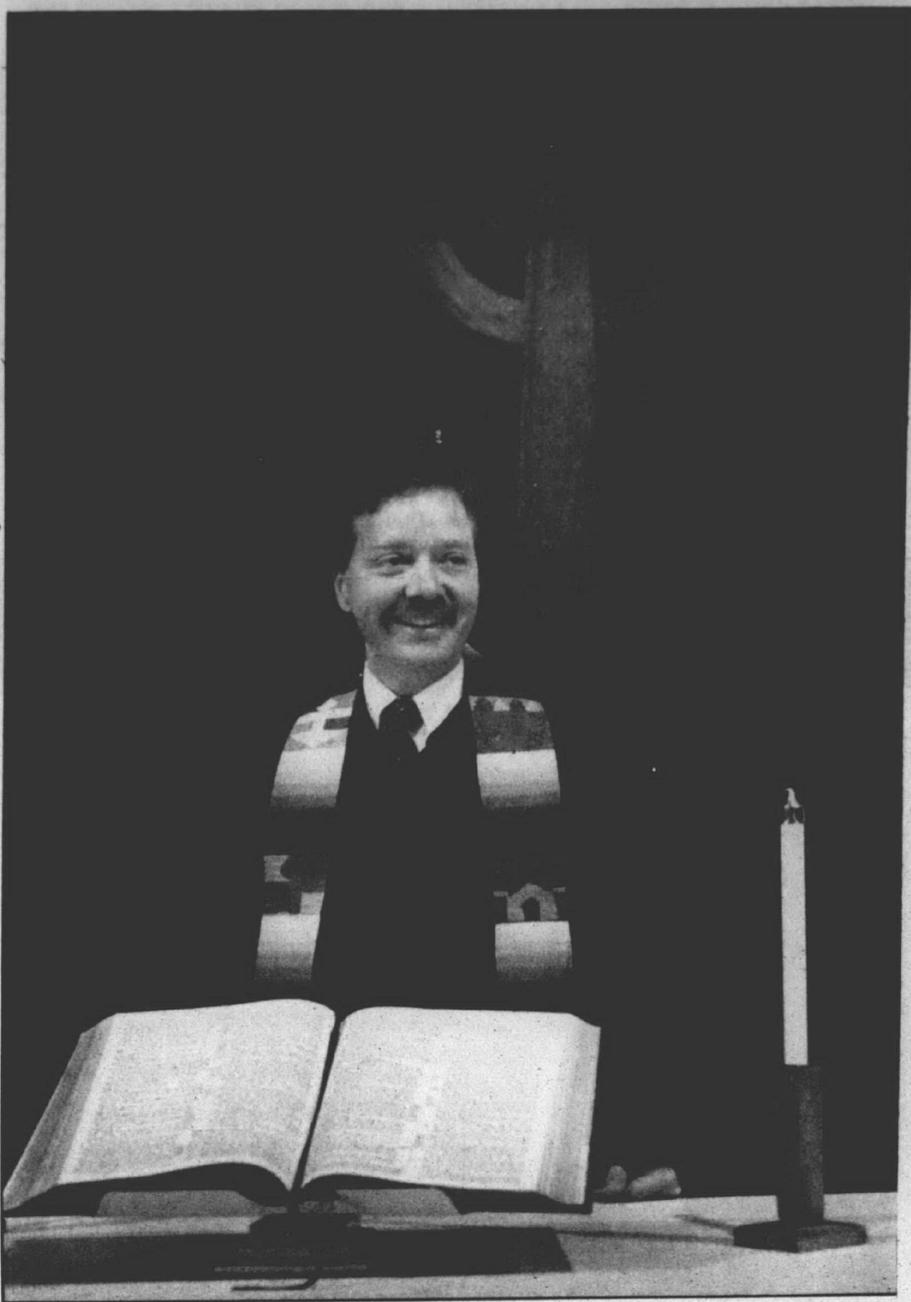

Smith is adjusting to the cooler weather of the Midwest. He grew up in the Tustin/Santa Ana area in California, spent three years in New Jersey in the seminary, and did an internship at a church in Bloomington, Ill., during that time.

"We really liked the seasons. Southern California doesn't really have seasons." They found the change of seasons gave a certain rhythm to the year.

"Since then, I've had a yearning to get back to the Midwest. The style of life in the Midwest just seemed healthier." He found the pace in southern California too fast.

Smith, who earned bachelor's degrees in both economics and psychology at UCLA, had some prior knowledge of what being a pastor entails. His father's a Presbyterian minister who does counseling. Smith's mother is on staff at the Presbyterian church in Santa Ana, which is about 35 miles south of Los Angeles; in fact, he and his mom worked together.

When Smith arrived at the Canton church, he chuckled to see a sign over the door stating "Under New Management." During his first worship service, he heard a number of announcements about church activities; his wife leaned over and told him "I don't think you're really needed here."

His California congregation had included many older worshippers who depended more on the staff to get things done. At Geneva, his role will be more in focusing things, helping worshippers determine the church's purpose and where they want to be in five to 10 years.

Spiritual growth

His perception is that the church is very involved in the community. The congregation's "foreign policy" is strong, but domestic issues "could use some input, some guidance." He'd like to concentrate on such things as adult education and spiritual growth opportunities.

"I want people's faith to be exciting for them."

Some in the community who find Geneva appealing may have given up on religion but not on God, he said. "They're not seeking so much to be indoctrinated as to be touched by God's spirit."

Even such things as having piano music rather than an organ, and using chairs rather than pews, can help such worshippers feel more at home. Some "who may have been turned off by a traditional religious background" have reached a point in life where they realize something's missing, he said.

Work is keeping Smith busy, but he finds time for such hobbies as scuba diving, something he's done for about 13 years. He enjoys working with wood, and has made a couple pieces of furniture.

He likes to collect and read books. He reads many books designed to help people grow spiritually, including such topics as working with dreams and learning new ways to pray that match different personality types. "Learning more how I can help people explore their inner lives."

Smith's looking forward to getting involved in the community. He'd done counseling at Trent State Prison while at Princeton and also at the Orange County Jail in California. His idea of outreach is to get church members involved in such efforts.

While in California, Smith did something a bit different for a minister, standup comedy at TI Laff Stop. He'd taken a class in comedy, and taking to the club stage was a requirement. That experience helped Smith, who was already a pastor, learn to preach without notes.

His free time includes playing some basketball. "I enjoy almost all kinds of sports." He's already become a Detroit Tigers fan, and enjoyed the recent game he attended.

"I like the Tigers. I really enjoyed the stadium. There was really a sense of history."

When it comes to life, what's unsafe?

MORAL PERSPECTIVES

REV. ROBERT SCHADEN

home free and sex will be safe at last.

Such thinking reminds me of that proverbial swamp land for sale at a great price for those willing to pay cash.

It has been said that there are none so enslaved as those slaves who think that they are free. By the same token, it might be said that there are none so unsafe as those who think they are safe when, indeed, they are not.

It may be true that condoms make for safer sex. However, safer does not necessarily translate to safe. What is safe sex anyway?

If sexual activity is little more than indoor sport, a means of interpersonal conquest or a quick release of pent up hormones, then perhaps we can define safe sex as any genital activity in which there is no chance for the transfer of disease. If a roll in the hay is little more than an attempt at the illusion of relationship, if the expectation is no more than a very temporary fix for chronic loneliness, then condoms might provide some sort of safety when they work.

If, on the other hand, any of the above leaves you cold, then perhaps we have not come close to addressing the matter of safe sex. If sexual activity is seen as something more than an exercise of narcissism then latex can wear rather thin in fixing a problem that goes way beyond venereally transmitted diseases.

Granted, that in an effort to deny our animal nature we may go too far in romanticizing sex, even to the point of unreality. However, is it extreme to suggest that truly safe sex has its best chance in a committed relationship that is stable enough to support all the physical, emotional, psychological and spiritual dimensions that this powerful experience carries with it? Trivialized sex can hardly be safe sex, since trivialized sex trivializes the people who take part in it, and trivializing people is never safe.

There is little doubt that we are an impatient lot. Delayed gratification is not exactly the strong suit of a society in which instant everything is far more in vogue than delayed anything. We have become used to being able to microwave our food. We expect the photo lab to have our pictures back by yesterday noon. We seek instant fixes for longstanding problems. Working at anything for a period of time is simply not popular.

When it comes to relationships, the program is often the same, the illusion of instant relationship often more attractive than time and the effort it takes to build the kind of relationship that will be growth producing for both persons. Sex can provide that illusion, but when illusions become confused with reality safety is seldom present. All too often the unmet expectations do little more than to make one or the other trusting disabled.

Relationship that is simply about protecting ourselves from one another can hardly be safe the fully human sense, in that puts isolation and alienation ahead of sharing and mutual growth.

If that which threatens life is deemed unsafe, then perhaps that which contributes to life can truly be said to be safe. May doesn't seem to be the only one who have missed the ball on that one

Woman's Club celebrates its centenary anniversary

BY JULIE BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The year was 1893, and a handful of Plymouth women decided the time had come to form a literary society.

"It started out with just a small group of eight or nine women," Grace Rix of Plymouth Township said of the literary society, which would become the Woman's Club of Plymouth. Today, the club has about 140 members, who are looking forward to the ongoing 100th anniversary celebration during the 1992-93 season.

"I've been in about eight years," said Rix, a retired executive secretary for Qualex Corp. who serves as club president. "Of course, some of them have been in for 40. So I'm just a beginner, I guess."

Each fall, Woman's Club members hold a kickoff luncheon, with any profits going to support civic giving. "This year is kind of special because this launches our anniversary year," said Mary Fritz, program chairwoman for the club.

Members decided a play/fashion show would be the perfect way to kick off the centennial season. Club member Mary Ellen Eckler wrote the "Scenes From Yesteryear" production, presented during the Oct. 2 meeting at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

"It depicts activities of 100 years of the Woman's Club of Plymouth and it also depicts things that have happened in our world," said Fritz, a school administrator who joined the club in 1967. "Everybody pitched in. It's been really great."

The production covers the time span of 1893 to 1992, in segments of 25 years. Minutes of club meetings — including those of the 1890s — and other records helped in putting the production together.

Club members produced "Scenes From Yesteryear," with about 20 women involved as performers and behind the scenes. Rehearsals began in August, with Fritz and Rix doing the directing.

Some costume ideas came from the Plymouth Historical Museum, Rix said, and club members and friends provided clothing from different eras. "Those are the types of things we're wearing."

Woman's Club members have seen many changes through the years, and the organization isn't what it was 100 or even 25 years ago. "Their interests have changed from just getting together for tea," Rix said.

Each year at Christmas, club members have a "mitten tree," with mittens, hats and scarves donated to needy people. The club also sponsors an annual scholarship recognition program for outstanding high school seniors in the Plymouth-Canton community. An annual benefit card party/luncheon helps to support civic projects of the club.

Club members will celebrate their 100th anniversary during a special program next March 4. Rix isn't sure just what direction the Woman's Club of Plymouth will be headed in 100 years from now.

"I don't know what's going to happen, but it keeps growing." Some younger women are joining the club, and new members are more than welcome. (For membership information, call 455-7367 or 453-5178.)

THIS SUMMER ALANA CAN BE LIKE ANY OTHER KID, AND FORGET HER HISTORY.

Alana is eight years old. For the last six years she has battled leukemia. That's six years of hospital visits and treatments twice a week. It's no way to spend a childhood.

But thanks to your donations to the United Way, agencies like the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan can send kids like Alana to "Special Days" Camp. A place where Alana can enjoy carefree days of swimming, canoeing, and newfound friends.

The United Way supports 145 agencies. Nearly 90 cents of every dollar you contribute goes directly to work, since only 10.4 cents goes toward campaign and administrative costs. Your contributions help the homeless, and fight child abuse, right here in Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties. So please give to the United Way, and help kids like Alana leave their history in the past.

STILL THE BEST WAY TO SHOW YOU CARE.
