Nurse's aide charged in assault

A 26-year-old nurse's aide was arraigned on Friday in district court on a charge that she sexually assaulted an 87-year-old, blind nursing home patient.

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Barbara Lance, a 26-year-old nurse's aide from Plymouth, was arraigned in 35th District Court on Friday on a charge she sexually assaulted an 87-year-old, blind, wheelchair-bound resident of West Trail Nursing Home.

First-degree criminal sexual conduct is a felony punishable by life in prison. Lance pleaded not guilty to the charge before Judge John MacDonald.

Bond was set at $50,000, which she couldn't make. She was sent to the Wayne County Jail.

During her arraignment, the suspect looked at a photographer and said: "If you have any regard for my mother's health, you would not, please, do that."

The victim is legally blind and has been confined to a wheelchair since she suffered a stroke.

Police learned of the incident Feb. 23, when the manager of the nursing home called to report that a patient was sexually assaulted.

The victim told police she felt a hand grab her crotch. She said her assailant used her hand to sexually assault her. The resident told police she tried to fight her off and cried out for help.

Lance said the sexual assault was accidental, said Plymouth Police Sgt. Wayne Carroll.

The aide told police she works six or seven days a week, eight to 10 hours a day. She was hired in October and has been suspended pending an investigation.

Representatives of Citizens for Better Care, a nursing home advocacy group that surveys homes throughout Michigan, said West Trail was cited in April by the Michigan Department of Public Health for several technical and care-related violations, none of them extremely serious.

The home was cited for failure to provide proper treatment for a resident who had a bed sore. From a second patient, a gastronomy tube was removed and not reinserted in a timely fashion. During one shift, staffing at West Trail didn't reach minimum levels.

Other violations dealt with rooms being too small and light levels too low, something older facilities are excused for, said Mike Connors, director of CBC's southeast Michigan office. Connors said the state has done one or two complete investigations in the past year at West Trail, on Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth.

TV show unchains romance

BY KEVIN BROWN

Talk show TV came to town last week, as the nationally syndicated "Jenny Jones" show focused on the Plymouth area.

The theme? It wasn't "Two Teen Girls Fight Over the Same Man." That was on Monday.

Nor was it "Young Lesbians Discuss Their Sexuality," the subject of Tuesday's show.

The theme of Wednesday's show — in which the Plymouth area was held up to national scrutiny — was "Men Who Love Women in Prison."

And since the show was filmed Feb. 5, the "Geraldo" and "Sally Jesse Raphael" shows have called, says Lance Schuhmacher, assistant to the warden at Scott Correctional Facility, an all-women prison at Beck and Five Mile roads.

Schuhmacher said that when the producer of the "Jenny Jones" show was at the prison filming, he tried to point out that prisoners sometimes place personal ads to scam men into sending them money.

"I'm not saying that is what these prisoners are doing," Schuhmacher said, "but it is a common problem."

The show opened with host Jenny Jones, a double-breasted yellow suit setting off her blond hair, holding a microphone while standing among seated audience members.

"Lonnie, maybe you can tell us how you met Lara Sena," she said, facing the stage area.

Seated there was Lonnie Wright, a thin man in his 60s, dressed in a dark suit and printed shirt. Next to him was a big-screen TV. Shown on the TV was the live picture of his wife, Lara Sena, 39, an inmate at Scott convicted of murder.

How they met

"I was her john (prostitution client)," said Wright. Some audience members gasped; some laughed. The two married four years ago, when she was at Huron Valley women's prison in Ypsilanti.

Plan would convert warehouse to market

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

A plan to turn the former Strohs warehouse on Ann Arbor Road into a varied market development is scheduled to go before city planners this month.

"They're looking to take that warehouse area and be able to sell on a retail basis fresh produce, fruit, meats, and seafood; they're looking to have a small cafe section, flowers and a bakery," said project architect David Schaff.

The project developers are Al and Mark Tanaki of Plymouth. The planned name for the business is Plymouth Market Place.

The developers are scheduled to go before the city planning commission March 10 for a concept hearing for the planned unit development.

A second hearing before the planning commission and approval from the city commission must take place before the project can fly.

Schaff said the developers hope to open the business by late summer.

Activity to develop the warehouse, which has been vacant in recent years, comes as both the city and Plymouth Township planning commissions have been discussing what to do to boost the Ann Arbor Road business corridor.

"Their idea seems to fit well with plans for that corridor," said Schaff, also chairman of the city planning commission.

In seeking planning commission approval for the project, Schaff said he'd remove himself from the board to make the presentation and would not vote on the project.

To renovate the warehouse, plans call for removing much of the front of the building, thereby creating 79 parking spaces off of Ann Arbor Road.

There would be 35 parking spaces available to the rear of the property.

In other activity to boost the Ann Arbor Road corridor, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a design competition Saturday, March 20, at East Middle School.

It involves more than 50 design students from Michigan State University, the University of Detroit, Lawrence Technological University, and the University of Michigan competing in teams for prizes totaling $1,750.

The students are being asked to come up with alternative approaches to enhance the corridor.

Residents are invited to drop in during the 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. event to cheer on their favorite school.

Sewer construction

Starting today, DOC Contracting of Wixom begins construction to separate storm and sanitary sewer systems in the Eastlawn subdivision, south of Ann Arbor Trail and east of Lilley Road in Plymouth Township.

Construction is scheduled to be completed by April 15. Restoration and landscaping of affected areas is planned to be completed by Oct. 1.

The township department of public works asks residents for patience and cooperation. Questions may be directed to the DPW at 453-8131.

Residency foes not giving up

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Those who want to dump the residency requirement for city department heads say it's still a good idea, even though city voters rejected it in November.

So they're planning to get the issue before voters again this fall. Meanwhile, they're trying to think of ways to sell the idea to residents.

For starters, when a municipality doesn't have such a requirement for hiring department heads, "There's a broader pool of talent available," said Hugh Harsha.

He headed the 10-member charter revision committee appointed by the city commission last year to suggest possible changes.

Since the November election, the committee has shrunk to seven, but is still active. "We have this thing we believe in," Harsha said.

'We have this thing we believe in . . . All of us have decided to take it on again. We think it is a benefit to the city.'

"All of us have decided to take it on again. We think it is a benefit to the city."

One committee member, Tom Healy, said, "The alternative is to pay these department heads a lot of money to move in."

In one instance so far, that's what's happened.

Since voters rejected the charter amendment, the city commission agreed in January to pay Police Chief Robert Scoggins more money, so he can move from Canton to Plymouth and keep his job.

Also in January, the city lost longtime recreation director Chuck Skene, who was recently living in Westland and cited personal reasons for not moving back into Plymouth.

The current acting director of the recreation department also lives outside Plymouth and would have to move here to take the job permanently, under the present city charter.

Among other reasons cited for dumping the residency requirement, committee members say:

■ Many other towns have also dropped residency requirements for department heads.

■ Trained talent from surrounding communities can be sought.

■ It permits promotion from within a city department, for city staff who live outside Plymouth.

Harsha said the committee could opt for department heads to live as far away as 10 miles outside of Plymouth. This, committee members suggest, could satisfy those who'd cite a necessity for department heads to be on nearby call for emergencies.

City commissioners in January said they thought the residency requirement should be dropped, but still ordered the two affected department heads to move into Plymouth, saying that's what voters wanted.

TV show from page 1A

When it was noted that the couple does not get conjugal visits, a young woman in the audience asked Lonnie, "You're not having sex with Lara Sena; are you paying other women?" He said no.

"He taught me how to love," Lara Sena said.

Wright said he'd spent $30,000 on lawyers alone, hoping to win her release, expected in 1997.

Another young woman asked Lara Sena, "What makes you so sure he's not spending money on somebody else?"

"First of all, I spent most of his money," Lara Sena said. Her husband laughed.

A second couple

Also featured were Saulmon Thomas and Evangeline Isom. They met with the help of a personal ad.

Jones told her audience this was the first time Thomas had seen Isom, other than seeing her photograph.

In front of the nationwide audience, Thomas asked Isom to marry him. She declined.

"I would like you to get to know me better physically in person," she said.

"I love you, Evangeline," he said.

"I love you also," she responded. The audience applauded.

Asked for the prison staff's reaction to the show, Schuhmacher said, "They thought it was a shame that the media would put on a show where they talk about prisoners that meet by mail instead of the positive things."

Scams reported

While Schuhmacher stressed he was not challenging the sincerity of the two inmates and their men friends featured on the "Jenny Jones" show, there have been several instances of women inmates writing to men and then proclaiming love, just to get money out of them.

"We had a guy from Texas who was writing to an inmate; he quit his job and sold everything he had and came up here to get her," Schuhmacher said.

He recalled the man crying when he found out the woman had lied about her status. "His heart was broken," he said.

"Sometimes they send pictures of another inmate and pretend to be that person," Schuhmacher added.

He recalled another instance when an inmate got a man to send her $225 for an airplane ticket, as she'd claimed she was about to get out of jail.

Maybe Geraldo will get into this side of the story.

Woman reports harassing phone calls

A 20-year-old Plymouth woman filed a police report claiming that her former boyfriend is harassing her. The 21-year-old Dearborn resident has been bothering her with phone calls since they broke up last September.

He calls about three times a week, and makes multiple calls, usually in the early morning. She calls; she hangs up and he calls back, she said.

Many of the calls are made by the suspect's new girlfriend, who lives in Plymouth. Police said the conversations deal with a claim of money that's allegedly owed by the complainant. A physical confrontation among the parties occurred at 2:15 a.m. Feb. 22 when the complainant went to the girlfriend's residence.

The complainant was advised to contact Michigan Bell security. Police advised the suspect not to call the complainant, and to stay away from her. He said he would. The girlfriend also was advised of the consequences of continuing the harassing calls. The woman said they would stop.

Break-in nets items worth over $10,000

The Feb. 22 break-in of a house on Joy Road just southeast of Ann Arbor Road netted thieves more than $10,000 in items.

According to a report filed with township police, the homeowner returned to find the front door frame cracked and lock broken, and there were footprints on the door.

Police are investigating the theft, which happened between 7:48 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. No one was at home during the break-in.

Semi-trailer break-in

Items valued by their owner at $2,780 were reported stolen Feb. 21 from a semi-trailer parked behind Bengel Steel, 12801 Eckles.

A lock was cut from the trailer sometime between 11 p.m. Feb. 20 and 7 a.m. Feb. 21, when the break-in was discovered, according to the report filed with township police.

Missing was a welding unit, seven tires and wheels, a bench grinder, rebuilt truck alternator, and orange vinyl tarp.

Police said that because the welding unit is heavy, two or more people were likely involved in the theft.

Trailer damaged

A Livonia man reported $2,000 in damage to his 1984 Coachman motor home, after discovering the damage Wednesday where the motor home was parked at A & D Temple, 41980 Ann Arbor Road, according to a report filed with township police.

So many calls for action, so few common crusades

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

President Bill Clinton has called for a national consensus on his economic recovery proposals.

"This economic plan cannot please everyone," he said. "The test of our program cannot simply be — what's in it for me? The question must be — what's in it for us?"

But has our society become so divided that consensus isn't possible? Does the mere fact that advocacy groups have arisen on behalf of senior citizens, children, urban interests, welfare rights, women's issues and minorities, among others, mean that a national focus is unattainable?

It's possible to come together, apparently, but it takes a special set of circumstances to make it happen.

Something like a crisis, said Jacqueline Scherer, a sociology professor at Oakland University in Rochester. And she believes we're there now.

"What good does it do senior citizens to protect their interests if there's so much decline there's no money for Social Security?" Scherer projected.

"Students graduating today have very little chance of getting as good a job as their parents. Middle class income, real income with allowance for inflation, has declined since '74."

THE PRESIDENT'S PLAN

Causes unite us

Donald F. Fracassi, has served as mayor of Southfield for more than two decades.

"Proper leadership can make the country come together like during Desert Storm," he said.

"Americans have come together when they wanted to succeed like (putting a) man on the moon.

"In national hurts like earthquakes in California, and the Carolinas when a hurricane hit, people did without to send money, clothes, food. That was across lines.

"I find for the most part, people are self-centered and selfish to a degree and care only about the world they're in," Fracassi said. "However, I still believe that across the line young people, old people, the middle class, the wealthy will come together... if they have a reason."

And Clinton blew it in Fracassi's eyes when the president first said families with income in excess of $200,000 would take a big economic hit, then changed his mind to $100,000.

Too many special interests?

Trustworthiness is the key, concurs Sylvia A. Kozorosky-Wiacek, director of the senior resources department in Westland and a former Wayne-Westland School Board member.

"I believe with all of my heart, that if you're honest, up-front and believe in what you're doing, it will work," she said. "You've got to have facts and figures to show it."

"You can't get off the track," Kozorosky-Wiacek said. "Before you make a commitment, you have to study it and know what you're saying."

"You have too many special interest groups," she said. "You'll never hit 100 percent consensus. I think you do well to hit 50 percent and above."

"I think people are jumping to conclusions and making rash judgments before it happens," she said of Clinton's plan. "I believe we have to start somewhere. A percentage you're not going to please no matter what."

Betsy Wehl, chairwoman of the Michigan Coalition for Children and Families, a volunteer advocacy group, doesn't think the rules of the game will ever change.

"You're never not going to have competition for resources. Choices mean competition," she said.

"It's going to take a lot of understanding of each other's agendas, guts by policymakers to make hard choices, and a lot of willingness by citizens, grassroots folks, to come into the arena and tell policymakers what they want them to do," Wehl said.

The Rev. Chuck Sonquist, pastor of St. Matthew's United Methodist Church in Livonia, says he was brought up by his parents to make a difference.

Divisive individualism

"Selfishness is a general disease that affects all of us," he said. "A unique kind of thing our country has not shared by any other culture, I know, is individualism."

"I had a professor in the seminary from Germany and he would say in his own unique way, 'The trouble with you Americans is you're always looking for either/or. In Europe, we're looking for both ends.'"

We can come together, Sonquist said, "only at times where we see the threat is sufficient."

And that time is now, he said.

"We're finally getting the scales off our eyes. The precipitous rise of indebtedness eventually will kill us. The other area is the health care thing."

Sonquist sees the biggest clash today between the economic haves and have-nots regardless of age. Fracassi finds that senior citizens are especially vocal in their concerns.

Scherer perceives a different agenda between people receiving economic benefits and children's needs. Wehl sees the struggle in social services as between treatment vs. prevention. "We have to find a way for the underclass and the privileged class to hear each other," Sonquist said. "If they don't hear each other, they can't form consensus."

"We need leadership because there's so many voices clamoring to be heard," Scherer said. "Part of the reason we're so fractious is there's a general distrust of government, all institutions, big business, partly because we know more about them."

"And issues have become so complex it's possible for anyone to argue any five sides of an issue," she said.

But that's the American way, said William Macauley, chairman of the political science department at Oakland University.

"If consensus is unanimity, it's never going to happen," he said.

'Government by the people' is subject to interpretation

BY CASEY HANS
STAFF WRITER

Local experts believe President Bill Clinton's hands-on approach and his new economic plan will impact government — in ways both good and bad.

Karl Gregory, Oakland University professor of economics and management, said Clinton's approach has revitalized the public as the new president goes on the road to sell the American people on his economic plan.

"Clinton... is going directly to the people," he said. "And he's not going just anywhere — he's going to the trouble spots."

Clinton's plan calls for increased social programs, budget cuts and new taxes on income and energy to decrease a burgeoning federal deficit. But Clinton said he must also go back on campaign promises calling for a middle class tax cut.

Oakland County economist Patrick Anderson, senior policy analyst for the Mackinac Center, is worried that Clinton's about-face on those campaign promises will lead to a distrust of government and less involvement.

"What he has done in the first 60 days is do more to damage the trust in government than I've seen since Richard Nixon," Anderson said. "It has the affect of tarnishing government at all levels."

Term limits

Gregory said public involvement will be necessary in Michigan because term limitation for elected officials was approved last November. Paid staffers will hold much more power as a constantly new crop of elected officials rely more and more on them.

An involved public will keep the pressure on, he added.

Farmington Hills city councilman and Democratic activist Aldo Vagnozzi believes Clinton's style "is making a difference," especially at the state and federal levels. Locally, Vagnozzi has recommended that his own city council use a call-in "public comment" segment during cablecast city council meetings to encourage involvement.

"You're going to see more and more reflection by public officials with the increased constituent involvement," he added. "And that's good."

Getting involved can mean everything from writing to legislators to attending meetings and voting.

John Farabaugh of Canton Township is one of those who has gotten involved. Farabaugh said he "voted for the first time in a very long time" in November and is hopeful about a future under Clinton's leadership. "Since the race started, I felt it was really time to get involved," Farabaugh said. "It's about time something is done. Our country is in bad shape."

Vagnozzi stressed he doesn't see Clinton's plan as a "return to the '70s" and big social spending. "The money isn't there and he has to apply some of it to reducing the debt," he said.

Blueprint for expansion?

Keith Edwards, state chairman of the Michigan Libertarian Party, which espouses less government, disagrees.

"This seems to be a blueprint for expansion of government and power," he said, adding that some of Clinton's philosophies allow government to "snoop into small businesses" and "virtually stick a gun in their ribs" by adding taxes and restrictions.

Gregory said that although such conservative philosophy has become popular, he doesn't buy it.

"There's a new conventional wisdom that the government that governs least governs best," he said. "But government can't just sit on the sidelines. It has to make sure there's an even playing field internationally."

He believes the government should take a leading role in health care, the welfare system, international relations, taxing and infrastructure. "We've had over a decade of not recognizing what the challenges are... and sweeping them under the rug," he added.

People, cities related

Pat Sharp of the Livonia League of Women Voters said the league supports many of Clinton's proposals including access to health care, equitable taxation and preserving the environment. She sees local government improving with Clinton's ideas. "As people are better off, so will the city be," she added.

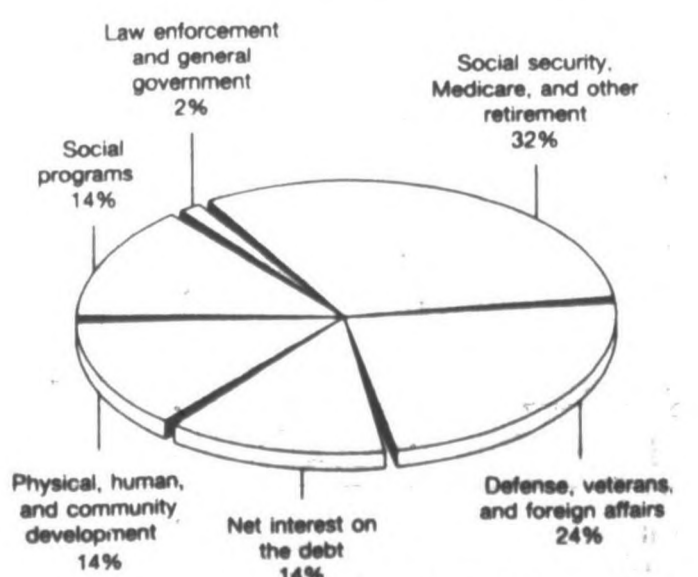

Mike Claus, former President of the AFSCME local which represents workers in Garden City, said it's too early to analyze the impact of the president's plan in his city. "He hasn't been in there long enough for any of his policies to come into effect," he said. "Only time will tell."

In Plymouth, Mayor Robert Jones said the city has given federal representatives a wish list of projects which include: repaving Plymouth Road, funding for a new library and help with the city's downtown revitalization efforts.

Federal funding for any of these would have a positive impact on the city and its operation, he said, although little detail is known about Clinton's plan and thus, little is known about the actual impact on local cities.

"If I could tell you that, I could walk on water," he added.

PAIN BETWEEN THE SHOULDER BLADES

Persistent pain between the shoulder blades may not require a doctor's appointment. You may find cause and cure yourself.

Though the pain may be burning or sharp, may radiate down the arms or up the neck, the cause is the same: postural strain. You are leaning forward in a way that hunches your shoulders and places strain on the scapular (shoulder blade) muscles.

The underlying reason for this shift in posture may be obscure. You may have changed cars and sit differently in the new one. A slight change may give a scapular strain as you grip the steering wheel. Or, as has occurred, you move to bifocal eyeglasses and twist yourself in a stressful manner as you sit at a keyboard or answer the phone.

At times, you cannot identify a change in posture. You may need to ask someone who knows you to identify that you sit, walk or move differently than in the past.

Treatment consists of resuming a more appropriate stance or sitting position. You should be sure to reach with your arms, rather than bend forward with your upper back. When shoulder blade pain comes on, get up and walk, use heat if the discomfort lasts. In most cases resolution of pain requires neither a doctor's examination or prescription.

McNamara defends funding for juvenile programs

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara convinced an alliance of western Wayne County mayors and supervisors to delay a resolution that criticized his office for not yet spending money from a 1988 millage on juvenile training programs.

The Conference of Western Wayne Friday postponed the resolution after hearing McNamara's explanation of the matter. The CWW instead will form a committee to study the situation.

The dispute centers on how one-tenth of that 10-year, 1-mill levy is being spent. The language in the ballot proposal that voters approved in 1988 said the 0.1 mill should be used to "build and operate a juvenile offender work/training institution."

But McNamara is spending that money ($2.5 million a year) on a program whereby non-violent juvenile offenders are dealt with in their homes instead of incarcerated in juvenile centers like the Maxi Boys Training School near Ann Arbor.

McNamara avoided putting up a building, as some say the ballot proposal requires, by getting county attorney Saul Green to say that an "institution" could be a program as well as a building.

McNamara came very close to admitting Friday that Green's legal opinion was preordained.

"I appointed this guy, and I sign his paychecks," he said. "(The opinion) hasn't been challenged in court, but we're willing to take our chances."

Bernard Kilpatrick, the director of Wayne County Health and Community Service, said the building that the ballot language seems to specify would be too expensive to operate anyway. "We would lose our shirts building a facility," he said. "The letter of the law will break all of us."

Although no one is questioning McNamara's motives here, many object to his apparently deliberate misinterpretation of the ballot language.

Westland Democrat Kay Beard, who is also vice chair of the county commission, has opposed McNamara all the way on this deal. But she agreed Friday that the Intensive Community Supervision program McNamara has begun is a good one.

Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara argued that his program can handle juveniles for $14,000 a year each, while locking the same kids up in the Maxi Boys Training School costs $70,000 a year.

Plymouth Mayor Bob Jones said local communities have organizations that are trying to do the same thing the county is doing. He urged McNamara to drop the one-tenth mill and give it back to the locals and 'we'll take care of the problem.'

"I'm not opposed in principle to what's being done," Beard said. "(But) we may be very liable legally if we don't do what the (ballot) language mandated."

The program currently serves eight non-violent juveniles and their families with counseling and regular visits. When it's fully operational the program is expected to watch over 300 juveniles, each in his or her home, who would otherwise be locked up in juvenile centers. McNamara also argued that his program can handle juveniles for $14,000 a year each, while locking the same kids up in the Maxi Boys Training School costs $70,000 a year. "(And) 85 percent of them end up in Jackson Prison," McNamara said.

Still some members of the CWW would prefer that McNamara give the 0.1 mill money to them so that it might be spent on local juvenile programs.

"We have organizations in our community that are trying to do the same thing you're doing," said Plymouth Mayor Bob Jones. "We're sending a lot of money down to the county building and we'd like to see some results from it. Drop that one-tenth mill and give it to us and we'll take care of the problem."

McNamara said that's not going to happen, but admitted that he needs the backing of western Wayne County communities if his program is to continue beyond the 1997 expiration of the millage.

"Our bottom line is that we need your support on this," he said. "The monkey is on our back to work with you and prove that we're using this money legally."

Auditions set March 19-20 for S'craft's honors recital

Auditions for the 21st annual piano honors recital and second annual string, flute, guitar and voice honors recital will be March 19 and 20 in Schoolcraft College's Forum Building in Livonia.

Sponsored by the school's honors recital division of the department of music, the auditions are open to all elementary (grades 1-6), junior high (grades 7-9) and senior high (grades 10-12) students.

More than $2,200 in scholarships and cash prizes will be awarded to the top winners in each division. In addition, 12 scholarships for the 1993 summer music school will be awarded.

Auditions are divided into three categories: piano; strings, flute and guitar and voice.

The piano repertoire must be from the standard piano literature and must be performed from memory. No arrangements or teaching pieces are acceptable and no more than two pieces may be performed. If two pieces are performed, they must be from different historical periods. The minimum level of difficulty for the elementary level must be

Bach minuets. The string, flute and guitar repertoire must be from the standard literature and must be performed from memory. No more than two pieces may be performed. If two pieces are programmed, they must be from different historical periods.

The voice repertoire is open to senior high students only, and must be appropriate for this age group. Selections must consist of two contrasting pieces. For example, one 20th century selection by an American or British composer sung in English, and one song or aria. Pieces must be performed from memory. No musical theater is allowed and performance time is three minutes.

All contestants in string, flute, guitar and voice repertoire must provide their own pianist, if needed.

Judges will select a winner in each category from all age groups.

Canton man named in medical waste suit

A Canton man is one of two corporate officers named as a defendant in a lawsuit filed by state Attorney General Frank Kelley charging the company with illegal handling and storage of medical waste.

In the suit, Kelley charges that the defendants, Stephen Hopper of Canton and David Alan Hopper of Lansing, engaged in the business of supplying "sharps" containers to customers throughout the United States with the agreement that the filled containers could be returned to Hopper Systems of Lansing for proper disposal.

"Sharps" containers are boxes designed to safely hold used needles, syringes and intravenous tubing with needles attached.

The defendants have engaged in this business since approximately May 1992, without registering with the Michigan Department of Public Health as a medical waste facility or developing a medical waste management plan, as required by Michigan law, according to the suit.

Hopper of Canton could not be reached for comment.

According to Kelley, the Hoppers have allowed more than 700 parcels of medical waste to accumulate in their rented storage unit and approximately 70 parcels at the United States Post Office Regional facility in Lansing.

"Any company that accepts medical waste for disposal has a clear contractual and statutory obligation to see that the wastes are handled and disposed of properly. Allowing wastes to pile up with no plan for their future disposal compounds the potential problems," Kelley said.

He added: "While 'sharps' containers are designed for safe storage and disposal of certain kinds of medical wastes, we have no absolute assurance that other wastes were not placed in the containers. It is essential that those handling medical waste containers provide for their quick and safe disposal or destruction. Any failure to strictly follow the rules puts the public at risk."

Kelley is also asking the court to order the defendants to pay an administrative $1,000 fine. The fine was assessed in November 1992 for failure to comply with the Public Health Code regarding registration and implementation of a medical waste plan.

School to hold book fair

Books, puzzles, dictionaries, pencils, maps, thesauruses, notebooks and calendars are among the many items that will be on sale at the Scholastic Book Fair held at Central Middle School Monday through Friday.

The Scholastic Book Fair is a part of the school's celebration of Reading Month in March, according to Roby Jarczewski, English department chairperson and resource room teacher at Central.

"The book fair is designed to help students develop their own book collection and encourage them to read," Jarczewski said.

The fair will offer a wide variety of paperback and hardcover books appropriate for lower elementary through middle school students. To keep the cost of the books at a minimum, most books will be in paperback form. Book prices range from about 50 cents to $5. The sale will include many popular book series, including The Baby-sitter Club and American Girl. The sale also will offer a number of specialty books, such as cookbooks and Calvin and Hobbes cartoons.

To advertise the book fair, students at Central drew posters and did commercials on the school's public address system. By participating in these activities, students received raffle tickets, which will be used for book raffles. Proceeds from the book fair will be used to purchase books for the library and for classroom use.

Hours for the book fair are 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8:30-10:30 a.m. Friday. The sale is scheduled to take place in Room 205 of Central, but customers should stop at the school's office to verify the location.

For more information call Central at 451-6580.

What you can't feel, however, is osteoporosis - the bone-thinning disease that affects about 25 million Americans, causing bones to weaken and break.

When hip, spine or wrist fractures occur, osteoporosis can rob you of your independence by making even the most routine

Republicans find support for anti-crime legislation

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

This year Republican state senators are more hopeful their package of anti-crime legislation will also be passed by the House of Representatives.

The bills generally give police and prosecutors more powers and stiffen some sentences.

"Look at the laundry list that's comin' down here!" scoffed Democrat Virgil Smith of Detroit.

"Boy, I can't wait to run for prosecutor again," said Smith, who last year came within a whisker of toppling Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair in the Democratic primary.

Biggest bones of contention: allowing no-knock search warrants, tougher penalties for marijuana dealing, and court admission of tainted evidence.

As of last week, Republicans and conservative Democrats had enough votes to pass everything they debated.

Meanwhile, the House was slowly working on similar bills that had been blocked in the past by Judiciary chair Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor. Gov. John Engler endorses the package.

'I'll shoot first'

The "no-knock" bill got the most prolonged debate before being passed 22 to 12. It would allow police to obtain a special warrant to enter a building unannounced.

"How many of you have been raided or done a raid?" asked Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, a former police officer. Only he and Jon Cisky, R-Saginaw, a former sheriff's deputy, raised their hands.

"In concept I oppose it (no knock)," Bouchard admitted, but he added the bill had been narrowly written.

"In reality they say 'police' and kick the door. You're yelling 'police' at the top of your lungs as you run through the house and open doors.

"You have to articulate the facts in a warrant, and you have to give (the judge) reasons beyond that of the safety of officers."

But Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe, said use of no-knock warrants would work against police. "I can guarantee you that if you burst through my door in the middle of the night, you're going to be greeted by gunfire. I'll shoot first and ask questions later.

"You create the excuse (for the criminal) of justifiable homicide of a police officer," Kelly said.

Sponsor Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, said requiring police to announce themselves gives criminals an opportunity to draw a gun or flush drugs down a toilet.

But Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, argued that many raids are of hotel and motel rooms where police go to a wrong room number.

Supporting the no-knock measure (SB 317) were Republicans Bouchard, Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion and Robert Geake of Northville.

Opposed were Democrats William Faust of Westland and Faxon.

Absent were David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, and George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn.

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano expressed concern that use of no-knock would endanger the lives of narcotics officers because "The enemy is formidable. We see more and more crack houses fortified by an arsenal of weapons. Why give the drug dealer the excuse to shoot, claiming he didn't know who was entering the premises?"

Pot stronger

Bouchard also sponsored the bill to stiffen marijuana penalties, SB 234, which passed 30 to 5.

"It's a lot more dangerous now," he said. "In the '60s the average THC content was one-half to 1 percent. Now the average is 6 to 7 percent, and even up to 12 or 16 percent.

"There has been a dramatic increase in the price — from $1,000 to $3,000 a pound. That's an economic incentive to dealers.

"The Michigan State Police lab processes more marijuana than cocaine.

"Currently there's no difference between the penalty for a four-pound bag and a two-ton truck."

Current law provides for up to four years in prison and a maximum fine of $2,000 for manufacture, delivery or possession of pot.

Under Bouchard's bill, penalties would be:

■ For 45 kg or 100 marijuana plants or more — up to 20 years and $5 million in fines.

■ For 4.5 to 45 kg or 50 to 100 plants — up to 10 years and $250,000.

■ For less than 4.5 kg and fewer than 50 plants — up to five years and a fine of $500 to $20,000.

"It's obvious that increasing penalties does not deter consumption of marijuana," objected Faxon.

"The cost is disproportionate to the gain in public safety," added Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor. "You'd have to build a new prison at a $30 million capital cost for an 800-bed prison and $12 million in operating costs."

Voting yes: Republicans Bouchard, Dunaskiss, Geake; Democrat Faust.

Voting no: Democrat Faxon. Absent: Republican Honigman, Democrat Hart.

'More litigation'

Bouchard won 22 to 12 approval of his SB 188 to modify the rule excluding tainted evidence in a trial.

"It was known as the 'fruit of the poisonous tree' doctrine," he said. "Evidence could be excluded if there was a technical flaw in the warrant. This creates the 'good faith' exception."

Under the rule, the evidence would be admissible if the officer believed the warrant to be valid; or had obtained evidence in a search leading to an arrest under a law later declared unconstitutional.

Faxon objected that the bill would result in "overzealous" police actions, "more litigation, more lawyers, more jamming up of courts."

Voting yes: Republicans Bouchard, Dunaskiss and Geake.

Voting no: Democrats Faxon and Faust.

Absent: Republican Honigman, Democrat Hart.

Fewer appeals

Passed with surprising ease was a proposed constitutional amendment (SJR D) eliminating the automatic right of appeal for criminals who had pleaded guilty.

If the House gives it two-thirds approval, the proposal will be on the 1994 ballot for voters.

The proposal had stiff opposition when the Senate debated it last year.

Some 3,800 of the 12,000 cases — 32 percent — filed with the Court of Appeals come from prisoners who had pleaded guilty. The Court of Appeals upholds convictions and sentences in all but a handful of cases.

Prisoners could still appeal "by leave" — that is, with the court's permission. Grants of permission probably are likely in cases where a judge had exceeded sentencing guidelines.

Prosecutors also complain about the high cost of assigning senior lawyers to write 35-page briefs opposing appeals that lack merit.

Coalition says tobacco-free schools top legislative agenda

The Michigan Coalition on Smoking OR Health will seek tobacco-free schools as part of its 1993-94 legislative session. The group includes the American Cancer Society and American Lung Association.

Dr. Albert Sparrow, chairman, said its agenda will include:

■ A statewide tobacco-free schools policy.

■ Increased non-smoking areas in restaurants.

■ Expanding the Clean Indoor Air Act into private workplaces.

■ Increasing the state tax on tobacco products and licensing retailers.

"The recent Environmental Protection Agency report makes it clear that there is still much to accomplish to reduce the health risks for children and workers," Sparrow said.

"The EPA report named tobacco smoke as a Group A carcinogen, joining a select group of the most toxic substances known to cause cancer in humans, including benzene, radon and asbestos.

"The coalition will work toward improved air quality for restaurant patrons. Contrary to tobacco industry claims, the experience of many restaurant owners shows that smoke-free restaurants do not suffer economically," he said, citing California.

The coalition will support changes in the law which would affect private sector workplaces. "We are continually getting complaints from persons employed in the private sector where smoking is allowed in the workplace," Sparrow said.

Other priorities will include support for licensing tobacco retailers and increasing the state tax on tobacco products. Increasing the tax on tobacco from 25 cents to 50 cents would encourage 71,000 people to quit smoking or never start, according to the coalition.

In the 1991-92 legislative session, the coalition was instrumental in passage of four important bills which protect children and reduce youth access to tobacco products by restricting vending machine sales, eliminating the mailing of free tobacco samples, prohibiting the sale of individual cigarettes, and banning smoking in licensed child care centers.

Madonna increases tuition

Madonna University has increased tuition for all students for the 1993-94 academic year, according to school officials.

Undergraduates face an 8 percent tuition increase. The cost per credit hour for a full-time student will increase to $157 from the current $145.

The average undergraduate class is three credit hours and students must carry at least 12 hours to be considered full-time.

Tuition rates for nursing students will rise to $199 per credit hour - a 10 percent increase.

Graduate school tuition will rise 11 percent, from $186 to $208 per credit hour.

"The board feels strongly that by keeping Madonna's tuition considerably less than the average tuition of private institutions in Michigan... (they) will continue to make Madonna accessible to students of all income levels, cultural backgrounds, ages and abilities," said board chairman William T. Phillips, chairman of Phillips Service Industries in Livonia.

Madonna recently completed its largest fund-raising campaign, the "$10 Million Campaign for Academic Excellence." The campaign included a $300,000 challenge grant from the Kresge Foundation and a $200,000 grant from the Hilton Foundation.

"Keeping our tuition affordable will ensure that Madonna University remains a diverse scholarly community," said Sister M. Francilene, university president.

Chief judge appoints deputy administrator

Gary S. Wolfe has been appointed deputy administrator for trial services in Wayne County Circuit Court.

He was appointed by Wayne County Chief Judge Richard C. Kaufman of Plymouth Township.

As deputy administrator, Wolfe, a Southfield resident, will oversee the court's administrative activities and 65 employees in the trial services division. Wolfe joined the court in January with 16 years of court management experience, including work at both local, state and federal levels.

He holds a master's degree in justice administration from the American University in Washington, D.C., and a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Northeastern University in Boston.

In addition to studying at the University of London School of Economics, he has taken courses through the Institute of Court Management. Prior to his court appointment, Wolfe was a senior staff associate at the northeastern regional office of the national center for state courts advising on court management and improvement issues.

After graduation, Wolfe worked as a pre-trial release officer for the Washington, D.C., superior court. He also served as a researcher for a federally funded project to establish sentencing guidelines for the state of Massachusetts.

In addition, he served as a jury administrator for the U.S. federal court, eastern district of New York (Brooklyn). He returned to Boston as a court planner and later served as a court for the municipal court of Akron, Ohio.

Wolfe also conducted research and implemented a program for prisoners addicted to drugs.

Wolfe has served on the faculty of the Ohio Judicial College and conducted training seminars for Ohio judges on the American with Disabilities Act in three regions of the state.

He reports to court administrator K. Kent Batty.

Senate-passed bill curbs lawsuits, awards

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Health care professionals are heaping praise on a state Senate-passed bill curbing lawsuits and damages. They expect it to reduce malpractice insurance premiums.

"We've lost two of our doctors recently because they moved out of state where the malpractice insurance premiums are cheaper," said Sister Mary Modesta of St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

"In fact, nearly 20 percent of our staff are uninsured because they can't afford to pay the insurance premiums," she said, adding that the result is more suits against the hospital's perceived deep pockets.

"We hope it has success in the House," said Dr. Thomas C. Payne, president of the Michigan State Medical Society.

The bill is supported by Gov. John Engler, who sees it as a method of reducing costs and making Michigan more competitive for health care professionals.

"This is an access issue, plain and simple," agreed Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville. "These changes will make it easier for good doctors to practice in our state and help us attract health care professionals... particularly in inner city and rural areas."

Geake, a co-sponsor of the bill, cited a study by the state Department of Public Health showing nearly 60 percent of all Michigan-trained physicians leave the state to practice, in large part because of high medical liability insurance rates.

Dissenting, Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, accused fellow Republicans of trying to "blindly slam-dunk something" without looking for compromise with the Democrats. Dillingham lost an effort to raise the proposed cap on "pain and suffering" awards to $1 million instead of the proposed $250,000.

How they voted

Passage came last week on a 23 to 11 vote.

Voting yes were 17 Republicans and six Democrats. Local senators supporting it were Republicans Michael Bouchard of Birmingham, Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion, Robert Geake of Northville, and Democrat William Faust of Westland.

Opposed were eight Democrats and three Republicans. Local senators voting no were Republican David Honigman of West Bloomfield and Democrat George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

Two senators had excused absences, including Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills.

The bill goes to an evenly-divided House where it faces an uncertain future. Senators passed a similar bill in the last session, but it died in the House.

Awards limited

Senate Bill 270 would:

■ Set stronger caps on "pain and suffering" awards by removing exceptions for death, loss of a vital bodily function, or wrongful removal of a patient's limb or organ. New cap would be $250,000.

■ Restrict "expert" witnesses to those who devote 80 percent of their time in active practice or teaching. This provision is designed to crack down on non-practicing, out-of-state experts who testify on anything for a living.

■ Restrict attorneys' fees to no more than 10 percent for an award greater than $500,000. Currently, many attorneys collect one-third, giving them an incentive to seek astronomical awards, say the bill's supporters.

■ Restrict the filing of suits in several ways. A health care professional would have to sign an "affidavit of merit" to weed out frivolous suits. The patient would have to give 180 days notice before filing a suit. Suits would have to be filed within two years of the malpractice, and by a person's 10th birthday for anything done before age 8. The latter restriction is designed to prevent suits by young adults for damages done many years before.

■ Require malpractice insurers to reduce premiums by 20 percent.

The bill is tied to 11 other bills designed to tighten discipline of health care professionals.

Sponsor Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, said he expects the bill to be challenged in court.

Geake said the average cost per hospital bed for liability insurance currently is $1,300 nationwide, $5,700 in Michigan and $8,600 in Detroit.

Dillingham, who broke ranks with fellow Republicans a week earlier on property tax cuts and unemployment compensation costs, denounced this version as "very lopsided" in protecting "special interests" and weak on protecting individuals.

Honigman, an attorney, voted with Dillingham for amendments to soften the bill's restrictions on lawsuits, as well as against it on final passage.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Campaign restores people's voice to government

This past presidential campaign certainly had its share of memorable aspects. Perhaps the most significant of which was the emergence of an independent candidate with the clout to get the attention of the political establishment on both the Democratic and Republican sides. Never before has a renegade third-party candidate made the major parties dance and shake like the little guy with the big money, big ears and big ideas.

Ross Perot spoke in down-home analogies and offered quaint, albeit overly simplistic, solutions to America's problems. He did not gain either of the registered votes in our house despite his promise to talk turkey, get under the hood, fish or cut bait, take the bull by the horns and dance naked at the big party, if that's what it's gonna take. That kind of blue collar, nitty-gritty buzztalk just didn't really fit with the $3 billion bankroll. Nevertheless, Perot spoke the absolute truth with clarity on one major issue: If the people of America want their country back, they've got to take it back.

If Perot does nothing else in his political life beyond getting that simple message out to the masses, he still has done more good than most politicians will do in a lifetime. That basic concept of government of, by and for the people had all but perished from neglect. The political machine was fueled by corruptions and self-interest, and an apathetic population was doing nothing more to stop it than crying in their beer.

Most people think the single vote doesn't count and the single voice isn't heard. They believe the governing process is the exclusive province of special-interest groups. If this is indeed true, then it is because the people of this country have let it be true. An apathetic public has solidly proven the adage: "Nobody can take advantage of you without your permission."

The time to take our country back has come and there is strong evidence of it happening right here in our own community. An incredible grass-roots network has begun petitioning for a proposal to provide property tax relief and school finance reform. The Olmstead/Kearney network is made up of people from all walks of life and economic backgrounds who share an interest in the future of our state and the future of our children. Most importantly they share a commitment to availing themselves of the democratic process to have their collective voice heard and will done.

The primary element to this remarkable restoration of the vox populi, which would make Perot very proud, is the organization of grass-roots volunteers who are giving time, talent and energy to a cause they believe in. These people are not sitting back, waiting for our elected officials to send these vital issues to political purgatory. They are moving forward in ever-increasing numbers to gain support for their cause.

The demographics of this movement obliterate all boundaries of geography, economy, age, race and political party affiliation. Its unity comes from its diversity. It is the essence of the democratic ideal of the greatest good for the greatest number.

Whether you see this as just another petition drive or as a reclamation of our fundamentalist rights, you can be sure Perot was right on the mark when he said we had to stand up and speak out. Sometimes the "little guy" does have something important to say.

Gary Belanger, a Redford Township resident, is a school board trustee and works as a real estate salesman. To leave a message for him from a touch-tone phone, dial 953-2047 mailbox 1890.

Spend some time listening to those around you

When you get tired of listening to yourself, there are plenty of other folks to listen to who sometimes make more sense.

Here's a sampling:

"I don't care what the president says, whatever her name is," a conservative Canton lawyer.

"It's a big deal in Arkansas that Hillary is using Rodham in her name. People there usually have the same last name before they get married," a liberal Plymouth man, who warns about stereotyping the homeless.

Dear Jeff:

You're the one who voted for Clinton, not me. You should have listened to your uncle in Arkansas who told you to either bury your money or move to Mexico if Clinton kept his promise to do for the country what he did for Arkansas.

I guess you voted for him because he was from Arkansas. Wake up and smell the coffee. I'm Greek-American and I didn't vote for Dukakis.

But even though I didn't vote for Clinton, I don't like what they're trying to do with Hillary. So what if she's got a job. What's she supposed to do, sit around the White House and have lunch with Frank Sinatra like Nancy Reagan did?

Anyway, Nancy Reagan was the one who was really running the country while Ron slept through his eight years. So what's the big deal about Hillary? At least she's doing a job.

Cathy Counts, Livonia

MEAP SCORES: "When you get on a job or in college, they don't mean a thing. I wish other parents would catch on to this," a caller, a mother of a South Redford student who is now at Michigan Tech.

CLINTON'S BUDGET: "I'm going to pay $940 more and I'm on Social Security. He's cutting Social Security, and he shouldn't, it's not part of the federal tax system," a Livonia senior citizen who has an income of $32,000. Another Livonia senior suggests Clinton should make more budget cuts and put the money into a special fund to pay off the national debt.

TO BE BANNED: The words homophobic and sexist. This is my own complaint of the week. Every new-age bozo who ever stumbled through the hallway of a university uses them to explain everything from why military people don't want gays in the services to why there are no female centers playing pro football.

These folks use the words to describe things they don't like, regardless of whether they apply or not. There are reasons certain things are the way they are. If these clowns would think instead of just mouthing terms from a text book, they would be enlightened. Thinking is obviously not an equal opportunity employer.

SHOPPING CENTERED

LINDA BACHRACK

Places to find the one of a kind

Like many of us, Lynn Baker of Grosse Pointe appreciates hand-crafted wearable art. Fortunately, the Detroit area teems with creative and artistic designers of jewelry, clothing and accessories. And there are stores that represent internationally known artists whose works can be worn, as well as framed.

Baker, a former Center for Creative Studies student, seeks out unusual designs. "It's nice not to have cookie cutter things," she says. Shopping at Royal Oak's Maggie & Me boutique, Baker bought a one-of-a-kind tapestry purse by Debbie Eggert of Commerce Township.

The Victorian-look purse designs are crafted of pastel and jewel-toned woven tapestries with silk cord straps. "I use antique buttons and bits of jewelry to decorate the bags," says Eggert. They are further adorned with brocade ribbon and lace, and all are generously fringed. Look for them exclusively at Maggie & Me, 325 S. Washington, Royal Oak ($60).

Maggie LaForrest of Plymouth, the innovative clothing designer and proprietor of the Maggie & Me shops in Royal Oak, downtown Plymouth and Harbor Springs, works out of her basement studio creating fun, contemporary fashions with uninhibited use of color and pattern. Her designs are mostly one-size-fits-all free flowing dresses, skirts and pants in feel-good fabrics. Her artful combinations of prints and liberal use of button, lace and ribbon trims add unique styling to her creations.

Amy Lichtenstein was in town visiting from Chicago when I saw her browsing at Maggie & Me. Seems her friend Maria Wolf, a Bloomfield Hills resident, is a "walking advertisement" for Maggie's line of clothing, and Amy was impressed. "She has very unique things," said Amy, admiring the collection. "It all looks so comfortable and you won't see everyone else wearing your outfit." Pictured are pieces from the new spring line.

Under African Skies

If you haven't been to JC Penney Northland recently, you're missing the retailer's collection of African-inspired clothing showcasing local Afrocentric cultural designers. Responding to a growing demand from consumers, Penney searched out local individuals to create its vibrant and exciting shop.

Detroit native Pamela D. Jones combines African batiks and Kente prints with fluid styling to create her line of fashions for "Sisters With Attitudes Today." Annette Shields of Artworks Inc. displays her versatile caftans, ideal for loungewear or dining out. Carrie Pasha designs hats out of her studio in Detroit, including the popular Kuff hat and Nefertiti crown. Another talented local artist is Maria Hildreth of Design Scope. Her line includes vests and authentic African coordinates.

Also look for Shannon Rivers' scarves and Sharon Bryant's swing coats in this spirited new shop. The ultimate goal, according to merchandising manager, Barbara Murphy, is to include local designers in Penney's new catalog collection of African-inspired fashions, Influences.

Wearable Art

When contemplating the content of this column I felt compelled to include the work of Art Deco master Erte. For almost a century, Erte's artwork dramatically influenced the worlds of fashion, theater and fine art. His Art to Wear jewelry collection, created exclusively for Circle Gallery, captures the essence of his drawings from the '20s and '30s, often inspired by his famous Harper's Bazaar cover designs. Each piece is hand-crafted in precious metals and semi-precious stones, and is highly collectible.

Circle Gallery in the Somerset Collection exhibits some stunning pieces from the Erte collection, including "Beauty of The Beast," a limited edition pendant worked in blue topaz, amethysts and diamonds ($7,850). Also of interest to fine art aficionados are the artist's pins ($22-$60), M.C. Escher sky and water silk ties ($35), and ancient jewelry designs at the DIA Museum Shop in the Somerset Collection.

Linda Bachrack is a Birmingham resident. To leave her column ideas, please call 953-2047, Ext. 1889, from a touch-tone phone.

Most shoppers are too intent looking into Main Street shop windows to ever look up and beyond, but a whole different world of business goes on upstairs.

"Where else but downtown Birmingham can you have a cup of cappuccino delivered on a lace doily at 3 p.m.?" asked Dorothy Paley who runs her interior design company from an office above Barbara's Paper Bag on Pierce Street.

"I love being downtown. I like the architectural style of my building. I like being close to the fabric workrooms in Royal Oak and Berkley. I need to be near the Design Center in Troy. There are about 20 restaurants within walking distance of my office and all the shops you need."

Mary Bush, associate broker with Thompson-Brown in Farmington, said some businesses are natural neighbors to a downtown business district.

"These are companies that don't have much foot traffic or older companies with their center of influence in the downtown area," she said.

"The older buildings attract artists and architects who appreciate their charm and character of design and set up studios here. Also, attorneys and financial planners like to renovate old, downtown homes into business offices. These rents are less expensive than the prime retail spots along the main thoroughfares. Good deals from a business sense.

Barbara Khalil, of the Rochester Downtown Development Authority, said rents off Main Street are roughly 20-percent less than those on the main drag. And to succeed, retailers need to have a definite marketing plan.

"Some businesses prefer to be off Main Street because they build their own traffic," she said. "The Dandy Lion, an unusual gift shop, opened off the heart of the business strip with a dynamite concept that brings people to her door. The Chapman House, a design studio within a decorated home, is another example, clients find them. At Half-Way Down The Stairs, a children's book shop off Main Street, their marketing plan brings customers to them."

Khalil said a good marketing plan is one that gives the customer more than he or she expects, distinguishes its merchandise from the rest of the world's, demonstrates product knowledge, and provides professional presentation of its products and services.

Fran Toney, director of the Chamber of Commerce in Plymouth, said second story space in Plymouth and the Old Village is rented as apartments with a few exceptions.

"The Arts Council has offices above Fred Hill's and one office has been rented by a professional photographer," she said. "But most of the off Main Street businesses are in the Westchester or Forest malls, rented for businesses with no clients calling."

Known to customers as "Birmingham's Best Kept Secret" the 870 Bowers Building south of the downtown business district is home to Margie Cockle, an interior designer; artists Blair Reed and Robert Dempster; Travel Headquarters, a full-service travel agency specializing in travel accommodations for the physically challenged, the Studio on Side Street hair salon, and Char's, an unusual gift boutique.

"We've got businesses dedicated to personal service," said Char Schulman, owner of the boutique and salon within the building. "When customers discover us they spread the word. Some of the services here aren't available anywhere else."

Reed, an artist who specializes in glass etching and glass art, has a studio in 870 Bowers. His work decorates eateries such as the Renaissance Club, La Rotisserie and The Pegasus.

Kivi-Dean Ltd. is south of the Birmingham Theatre on South Woodward, a bit off the shopper's beaten path. Since September the little-known shop has offered designer fabrics and services without the need for a designer.

"No one else does what we do," said co-owner John Dean who was formerly a designer in Grosse Pointe. "We have the workroom to make bedspreads, slipcovers, draperies — anything for a home in the designer lines. Our target is the person who knows what they want and doesn't need a designer. We offer 20 percent off fabrics from Brunshaw & Fils, Clarence House, Lee Joffa . . . first quality, not seconds."

Simmons has skinny on weight control

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

They'll be sweating to the oldies at the Livonia Mall, Saturday, when the self-proclaimed "Court Jester of Health" bounces onto the stage.

Richard Simmons will appear at the mall from 1-3 p.m. to promote his new book, Never Give Up.

"We had Richard at the mall three years ago and some 3,000 women showed up to meet him," said Bill Checks, marketing director of the mall at Middlebelt and Seven Mile roads. "His visit is being co-sponsored by the Time-Warner Company, part of a 20-cities tour. Last time he demonstrated some exercise routines with volunteers from the audience, answered questions and then signed autographs. It's amazing how many people adore Richard."

Simmons moved into the public spotlight in 1973, when his irreverent sense of humor launched a national campaign to motivate the overweight to exercise. Born and raised in New Orleans, Simmons prevailed over his own weight problem before founding SLIMMONS in Beverly Hills, Calif.

"Health clubs existed only for thin people," he said in a biographical press release. "They were for people who were already in shape. I was determined to bring health and fitness to the people who needed it most."

After consulting with doctors and nutritionists, he moved his message through a television show, videotapes, audio cassettes and two books.

"I fight for the underdog," he said. "I am concerned about people who are in any way different. I will continue to find ways to motivate people to eat better, exercise and feel good about themselves."

Simmons will appear at the mall stage near Crowley's. No reservations are necessary.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Nutritionist designs healthy eating plans

You might say that our first get together was a little "strained," to say the least. Gail Posner, a Southfield-based registered dietitian and nutritionist, and I were asked to "duel it out" with other panelists in November on a 9 a.m. "Company" segment on Channel 7.

I took the stage with a heart-stopping calorie-laden feast while Posner and another local nutritionist exchanged ideas on how to railroad me into executing an equally tasty and healthier counterpart.

Dueling frypans

All this was recorded for posterity and if you missed the show, allow me to summarize it by saying that it boiled down to "dueling frypans."

Posner extolled the virtues of fat-free sour cream while I stirred in the real stuff. If it weren't for John Kelly and Marilyn Turner holding reins, we might have ended the segment gagging on each other's spoons.

Our second encounter happened on a snowy Wednesday in December when I accompanied Posner and a few of her clients on a guided nutrition tour of the Shopping Center Market in West Bloomfield.

We were cordial face to face, but I'm sure we were both questioning each other's sanity as we walked the aisles reading labels and checking the fat content of everything from applesauce to zucchini.

Last week I met Posner again, face to face, on her turf at her office in Southfield. With both of us coming off a week's worth of flu, we talked candidly, and I might add amiably, about her growing practice as a personal nutritionist for the masses. I came away impressed and enlightened. Here's a summary of what I discovered.

Personal nutritionists

Personal nutritionists are now de rigueur and about as "in" as personal trainers. People like you and me, with an eye focused on healthy eating, are turning to nutritionists for that "one-on-one" personal counseling needed to change our eating habits.

Posner was quick to point out that not anyone can call himself a nutritionist, but that there are few registered dietitians like herself who can actually design a diet — forget that term — eating plan. Posner claims that "diets" automatically conjure up a subliminal message of deprivation and that she prefers the term "eating plans."

When you visit someone like Posner, you'll be counseled, and given an eating plan designed just for you.

On subsequent visits you'll discuss goal setting, menus, exercise, behavior modification, shopping tips, and everything else that has to do with maintaining a healthy eating lifestyle. You'll lose weight and become more informed about nutrition.

Healthy tips

Here are some tips that Posner recommends for those of us who want to maintain a healthy lifestyle:

- Exercise three times a week and work up a sweat that lasts 20 to 30 minutes.
- Drink at least 8 glasses of water a day.
- Cut down on your daily intake of fat, and learn to control the quantities of food you eat.
- Learn healthy cooking techniques like grilling, broiling, poaching and baking — all with minimal amounts of fat.
- Learn to read labels. Just because a product claims to be "light" and "lower fat" doesn't necessarily mean that it's good for you. There is no legal definition of "lite." A healthy eating lifestyle should include limiting your daily fat intake to not more than 30 percent of total calories ingested.
- Increase dietary fiber to include 6-8 servings a day of fiber-rich whole grains, legumes, vegetables and fruits.
- Think before you eat, and ask yourself "what will eating this do to my body?"

If you're interested in visiting a nutritionist, Posner recommends you seriously check out their credentials. Only registered dietitians have the letters "R.D." after their name.

Misinformation from someone who bills himself as a nutritionist can be hazardous to your health and expensive. Don't take the chance of following a diet that slows your metabolism, or wastes money on unnecessary vitamin supplements, that do more harm than good.

A registered dietitian knows that a well-balanced eating plan seldom includes supplements and specific food products. It helps people make healthy food choices.

First-class chefs share expertise

■ Whether you're a sophisticated cook or a novice, attending classes taught by popular area chefs is an enjoyable way to expand your culinary expertise.

BY KEELY WYGONIK

Cooking is a lot like sewing — it's easier when someone shows you how to do it. I'll never forget how frustrated I was the first time I whipped egg whites for a cake.

These questions raced through my mind as I energetically beat the whites with a brand-new whisk in a stainless steel bowl. "How long are you supposed to whip them? What are they supposed to look like? What does it mean when a recipe says 'whip until light?'"

"Cooking is visual," said Chef Marcus Haight of the Lark Restaurant in West Bloomfield. "When people see how something is supposed to be done once, they can do it themselves. When I show people how to whip egg whites, I pass the bowl around so they'll know how something should look."

Haight found his way through the snow and sleet Sunday, Feb. 21, to teach a class in the "Michigan Chef Series — Your Recipe For Success,"

He is also one of eight popular area chefs who participating in the "5th annual Chefs' Seminar for Sophisticated Cooks," 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Monday, March 8, at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia. (See Cooking Seminars chart inside for details).

Also participating are Chef Mary Brady of Diamond Jim Brady's, Novi; Chef Milos Cihelka of the "Golden

Mushroom, Southfield; Brian Polcyn, The Pike Street Restaurant, Pontiac; and Ed Janos, presently a chef without a kitchen. He plans to open his own restaurant "Avenue Diner" in the former Juke Box restaurant in Royal Oak in June.

"It's fun to share your knowledge. You learn a lot by teaching," said Ed Janos who will be preparing dishes from his new format menu for the restaurant at "Mystery Sunday!" a class in the Kitchen Glamour chef series.

12:30 p.m. Sunday, March 7. "If you teach, you're also teaching yourself."

Other chefs in the Kitchen Glamour series include Peter Loren of Opus 1, Detroit, 12:30 p.m. Sunday, March 21; Kathy Ruis, Rowe Inn, Ellsworth, 12:30 p.m. Sunday, April 18; Brian Polcyn, Pike Street, Pontiac, 12:30 p.m. Sunday, April 25, and Chef Milos Cihelka, 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 3.

College cooking teacher does his homework

ANTY EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Technique: Chef Richard Teeple shows Jihan Jacobs and Charles Horosco how to slice watermelon for a fruit salad in the kitchens at Henry Ford Community College.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Richard Teeple's recipe for success is a work-in-progress. An executive chef instructor at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn, Teeple graduated from Schoolcraft College's culinary arts program, earned a bachelor's degree in food service management at Madonna University, and a master's in education from Eastern Michigan University.

"I'm still going to school," said Teeple. "I take one class a semester. I just finished a specialty class at Oakland Community College in charcuterie (making sausages, ham, smoking meats). You have to keep up. I tell my students that. You've got to keep going back to school to keep current in the job market."

In addition to schooling, Teeple learned his trade working at area restaurants and hotels including the Detroit Athletic Club, the Drawbridge Restaurant in Northville, the Raleigh House, the Cooper House, Holiday Inn, and Chuck Muer Corp.

On the job he worked with two local Certified Master Chefs, who are also instructors at Schoolcraft College — Leopold Schaefer and Milos Cihelka.

"I feel fortunate to have studied under these chefs. They were patient, and took the time to show me cooking techniques and style. I want to do the same thing with my students."

culinary instructor

Teeple recently earned his professional certification from the American Culinary Federation Education Institute. To earn certification, he was evaluated in 13 different areas of cooking, supervision and administration of a commercial kitchen. Basic cooking skills in over 100 areas were also evaluated.

He is known locally for his ice carving talent. For the second year in a row, he was selected by the Michigan Winter Ice Festival and the Japan Ice Carving Association to compete in the spectacular World Ice Carving Competition in Asahikawa, Japan, Feb. 6-12. He, and his teammate, Ted Wakar of Canton, an executive chef at Ford Motor World Headquarters Penthouse, placed for the judge's award. They were one of three U.S. teams entered in the competition. Their sculpt-

Chefs who teach do it because they enjoy it. Teaching isn't easy, it's a lot of hard work. Haight said he spends three hours of prep time for every hour he teaches.

"I'm very thorough. I double check my check list. If you forget an ingredient or piece of equipment, you're in trouble. They might not have it at the store or school."

Cihelka spells it out — "You have to decide on a program. Write the recipe for people to use in their home kitchens. Type and proofread the recipes. Order special ingredients for the foods you'll prepare. Assemble and pack pots, pans, equipment, and ingredients. Figure out how you're going to stage the demonstration, and then break it down."

Commercial recipes are different from the ones you use at home. They use larger quantities. You can't take a recipe for 100, and reduce the quantities for six. The recipe has to be kitchen-tested to guarantee success.

Sometimes things don't go as planned. Once Cihelka went to Boston to do a cooking demonstration at some Eddie Bauer store openings. Nothing went right. Now he laughs about it, he didn't then.

"The store had a low ceiling and it was dark. I was explaining how to cook fish on a camp stove. The stove wasn't putting out a lot of heat so they gave me a back-packing stove to use. I put the heat on under a dry pan because I wanted it to get really hot. When I put some butter in the pan it caught fire, and there was a cloud of smoke hanging in the air. I was really starting to sweat it out, I was afraid the sprinkler system would come on and ruin all those expensive clothes. Luckily it didn't.

The guy who was supposed to pick me up to go to another store was two hours late. Then at the store ¼ through the demonstration, the lights went out. The guy who was supposed to take me to the airport couldn't find his keys. We got to the airport late, but it was OK because the plane was late taking off because of bad weather. It was like something you would see in a funny movie."

Haight, Janos and Cihelka said they work really hard to give people their money's worth at cooking seminars. They encourage participants to take notes, and even bring their tape recorders to tape the session. "If something is not clear, ask questions," said Cihelka.

Besides learning how to prepare some tasty dishes, chef cooking class participants get to taste the foods prepared and get copies of the recipes. The seminar at Schoolcraft College includes lunch.

Many area chefs teach classes at the Les Auteurs School of Cooking in Royal Oak. Participants receive recipes, tastings of each dish prepared, and a glass of wine.

Upcoming classes on Saturdays, 10 a.m. to noon will feature — Peter Ashcroft, Chuck Muer Corporation, March 6; Dan Rowson, Oakland Community College Culinary Arts Program, Farmington Hills, March 13.

BAKED STUFFED MUSHROOM CAPS WITH CRABMEAT

24 mushrooms, 2½ to 3 inches across
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon lemon juice
pinch of salt
Stuffing:
1½ cups crabmeat (Maryland, King, rock, etc.)
2 heaping tablespoons mayonnaise
1 heaping tablespoon sour cream
3 tablespoons scallions, sliced fine cayenne pepper to taste
lemon juice to taste
½ cup sour cream for topping
Wash mushrooms briefly and drain. Break off stems and reserve them for other uses. In a saucepan or skillet, melt the butter, add the mushrooms, lemon juice and salt, cover and over medium fire cook the mushrooms till they turn solid grey color (about 3 minutes). Drain and reserve juice for other uses.

Stuffing: If you use frozen crabmeat, squeeze all juice out. Pick any crab over for shell and cartilage fragments. Use up to ¼-inch chunks, combine with rest of ingredients and mix to even consistency. Stuff caps to divide evenly. Put a dab of sour cream on top. Before serving, bake in 400 degree oven approximately 10 minutes or until heated through.

Note: For a cold appetizer, you can use raw mushroom caps stuffed with same mixture. Serves 6 appetizer servings or 3-4 luncheon servings.

Family:

"I'm looking forward to spending time with my new family," said a beaming Teepie who was married Dec. 28 to Linda, a biology teacher he met at the college. They live in Plymouth with Linda's children, Jeff, 7, and Kellie, 5. "I learn something new every day from them."

Who does the cooking at your house?

"Linda."

What's a normal dinner at your house?
"Chicken in a wine sauce with fresh herbs and vegetables."

What's your favorite food?
"Seafood. I can thank Chuck Muer for that. I discovered seafood working at Northville Charleys (It's now called Rocky's)."

How have restaurant customers changed?
"Customers are more educated, and want more choices. They want sauces served on the side instead of under the dish. They want fresh vegetables, and edible garnishes."

What's the most rewarding part of your job?
"Students. I see them when they come into the program, like a gemstone in the rough. When they leave they're polished. I like to see them get placed at nice jobs."

Cooking tip:
"Don't over-cook seafood. It dries out and takes out flavor. When it's translucent, and just starting to flake, it's done. Buy fresh fish from good suppliers.

Exercise caution when thawing whole turkeys

Here are some turkey tips. Left in its original wrapper on a tray in the refrigerator, it will take about three days to thaw a 16-pound turkey. Thawed breast side down submerged in cold water, it will take about nine hours. Change water frequently, never thaw at room temperature. A turkey breast will thaw in one to two days.

Chicken, potato kebabs low in fat

See Chef Larry Jones' column on Taste front. Recipes supplied by Gail Posner, registered dietitian and nutritionist.

Posner conducts monthly guided supermarket nutrition tours at Shopping Center Market in West Bloomfield. For more information, call 354-4450.

CHICKEN PICCATA

- 1 1/4 pounds chicken or turkey breasts, boned and skinned
- 2 tablespoons flour
- pepper to taste
- 2 tablespoons low calorie margarine
- 1/4 cup chicken bouillon or defatted chicken broth
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 6 paper thin lemon slices

Pound chicken into thin cutlets between sheets of waxed paper with a mallet. Mix together flour and pepper and dredge chicken lightly in seasoned flour, shaking off the excess.

Melt margarine in a skillet and saute chicken 2-3 minutes on each side or until golden. Remove chicken and set aside.

Add chicken bouillon and lemon juice to skillet, bring to a boil and boil 1-2 minutes. Return chicken to the skillet and place one lemon slice on each cutlet. Cover and simmer 5 minutes, or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken with a slotted spoon and place on a heated serving platter; reserve pan liquid.

Surround chicken with lemon slices. Cook liquid over medium high heat until reduced to a thin, syrupy glaze. Pour sauce over chicken. Serves 4.

Each serving contains: 225 calories, 8 gm fat, 33 gm protein, 402 mg sodium, 89 mg cholesterol, 4 gm carbohydrates.

4 bamboo skewers

Place potato wedges in a saucepan with 1 inch of cold water. Bring water to a boil, cover and cook 10 minutes. Place partially cooked potato wedges on bamboo skewer, alternating with remaining vegetables.

Brush with melted margarine, sprinkle with paprika. Spray a cookie sheet with vegetable spray. Place skewers on sheet, bake 20 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Serves 2.

Each serving contains: 120 calories, 42 mg sodium, 4 gm protein, 0 cholesterol, 3 gm fat, 23 carbohydrates.

POTATO KEBABS

- 2 small potatoes, each cut into 8 wedges
- 4 large mushrooms
- 1/2 large tomato, cut into quarters
- 1/2 green pepper, cut into quarters
- 4 pieces of onion paprika
- 2 teaspoons diet margarine, melted

Don't throw away scraped non-stick pan

"Almost everyone who owns a non-stick pan has had the experience of the finish scraping away," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service. "We often get calls of panic from people who are concerned about the dangers of using a damaged pan."

It may be reassuring to know that the tiny particles that may scrape away and get into food are non-toxic and are no cause for concern. "So if you accidentally scrape your non-stick pan there is no reason to panic. No one will get sick from using it." Here are some tips to prolong the use of your non-stick pans:

- Cook food in non-stick pans over low to medium heat.
- Do not let pan cook dry on high heat (the high heat causes finish to peel).
- Use non-abrasive utensils (plastic or wood are best, not metal utensils).
- Clean pans with mesh pad, never use steel wool.
- Wash by hand as automatic dishwashers shorten the life span of your pan.

Stir up spicy bars in a hurry

AP — You'll discover more than 3-carrot gold in these bars. There's green, too, coming from tiny flecks of zucchini.

Cash in on these spicy bars for another reason: they're so easy to stir together, you won't even need your mixer. Soft-style cream cheese in the frosting makes it easy to mix and spread too.

CARROT & ZUCCHINI BARS

- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3/4 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 slightly beaten eggs
- 1 1/2 cups shredded carrot (1 medium zucchini, shredded (1 cup))
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1/2 cup cooking oil
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 recipe Citrus Cream Cheese Frosting

In a large mixing bowl stir together flour, brown sugar, baking powder, ginger and baking soda. In another large mixing bowl stir together eggs, carrot, zucchini, raisins, walnuts, oil, honey and vanilla. Add carrot mixture to flour mixture; stir just until combined.

Spread the batter in an ungreased 13- by 9- by 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350-degree F oven about 25 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean. Cool on a wire rack. Frost with Citrus Cream Cheese Frosting. Cut into bars to serve. Store, covered, in the refrigerator for up to a week. Makes 36 bars.

Citrus Cream Cheese Frosting: In a small mixing bowl combine one 8-ounce container light cream cheese product, 1/4 cup sifted powdered sugar, 2 tablespoons orange juice and 1 tablespoon finely shredded lemon or orange peel; beat with an electric mixer on medium speed until fluffy. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Nutrition information per serving: 114 cal., 6 g fat, 15 mg chol., 2 g pro., 15 g carbo., 1 g fiber, 57 mg sodium. RDA: 18 percent vit. A, 21 percent riboflavin.

Cooking tips to use, share

Here are some cooking tips from Betty Crocker to use or share with a friend.

- Frozen bread can be stored up to a year. It will thaw best if left in the original wrapper, standing at room temperature for about three hours.
- Tomato-based sauces for pasta and casseroles have fewer calories and less fat than cream sauces.
- To prevent cupcakes from pulling away from the liners, fill papers as recipe directs. Second, make sure you don't overbake the cupcakes. Test them for doneness at the minimum time. Finally, take the cupcakes from the muffin pans immediately after baking so steam can't form and loosen liners. Cool cupcakes on wire racks.
- Pasta and noodles are an excellent source of complex carbohydrate and, when combined with small amounts of meats, poultry, dairy products or dried beans and peas, are an excellent source of protein.

Laurel Glen wines attractive young, age gracefully

Sonoma County, California, has taken the French concept of wine appellations and designated 11 distinct wine growing regions within its borders. The smallest of these appellations (in the U.S. they are known as American Viticultural Areas, AVA) is Sonoma Mountain. Here, Patrick Campbell makes extraordinary estate-grown cabernet sauvignon in the tradition of a Bordeaux classified growth.

"I planted the three principal Bordeaux varieties — cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc in 1968, and began making wine without formal training in 1981," Campbell recalls. "My lack of formal training in enology was an advantage."

He says this because wine is a natural product that should not be over handled or manipulated. Campbell believes that winemakers educated at the University of California at Davis tend to strip wines of flavor and texture by performing too many unnecessary manipulative procedures on the wine.

"In the early years, whenever I needed advice, I would telephone a neighboring winery," said Campbell. "They were always willing to discuss options that afforded minimal handling of the wine."

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

Campbell divides the evolution of the Laurel Glen style into three periods. He refers to the wines of 1981-84 as his amateur winemaking days. From 1985-87 he admits that he really began to get a handle on making Bordeaux-style wine. From 1988 to present, his wines made a quantum leap in quality because he, like most of the great chateaux of Bordeaux, began to produce a second label called Counterpoint.

The importance of the second label cannot be overstated. It allows Campbell to make Laurel Glen Cabernet Sauvignon the best wine he can in any given vintage. The key is that all of the wine is treated exactly the same, but barrels lending themselves to earlier enjoyment are put into Counterpoint while the very best are reserved for the Laurel Glen.

"Since lot selection is not made until close to the bottling,"

Wine Selection of the Week

1990 Terra Rosa ($10) is bottled by Laurel Glen from wine not grown on the estate, but blended and celled by Patrick

Campbell. It represents one of the most drinkable and delicious cabernets with character in this price range.

Campbell explains, "Counterpoint is necessarily vinted in the same manner as the Laurel Glen — no corners are cut, the same new barrels are used."

Unfortunately, starting with 1988, Laurel Glen will be scarcer because of increasingly stringent lot selection. The 1988 vintage yielded only 20 percent of the 1986 vintage and only 33 percent of the 1987 vintage.

"I feel that it is absolutely imperative to make the best statement with the Laurel Glen," Campbell emphasizes, "even if it means that in some years we may make little or none at all."

This also means that the consumer can buy the Counterpoint ($17) for about half the price of the Laurel Glen ($30). Counterpoint is a more forward wine, rich and moderately tannic, full of the cassis and berry flavors typical of the fruit grown in Campbell's Sonoma Mountain vineyards.

An appellation concept emphasizes the importance of vineyard site and its accompanying soil and climate. It is the unique combination of his Sonoma Mountain site and Campbell's philosophy of gentle handling that defines the particular taste and aroma of Laurel Glen.

The Sonoma Mountains form the western boundary of Sonoma Valley. (Sonoma Valley is an AVA and Sonoma Mountain is an AVA within Sonoma Valley. It is no more confusing than Ham-tramck being a city within Detroit.) The well-drained, rocky clay-loam soils on the eastern slopes provide a diverse and complex range of growing conditions even within single vineyards.

Laurel Glen's vineyards face east, as do most of the great vineyards of the world. We cannot think of a single great vineyard that has a western exposure. The vineyards face the rising sun and warm up early, yet face away from the intense afternoon sun. This gives the grapes a relatively constant daily temperature and a moderate climate with a slightly longer growing season promoting even ripening and full grape maturity.

Still, uniqueness does not necessarily equate to quality and if this uniqueness does not yield excellent wine, then there is no story.

The Laurel Glen story destroys the myth that a great cabernet sauvignon must be a hard, tannic, blockbuster wine in its youth to be ageable. Laurel Glen cabernets taste good when young. They have the aroma of black currants, blackberries and cherries with smooth, rounded tannins and a persistent finish. The same balance of fruit, oak and tannins that make the wine attractive when young, also give it the requisite structure to age gracefully.

Mountain-grown wines tend to have intense flavors and a structure that makes them tough in their youth. Knowing this, Campbell has developed a winemaking regime that keeps the wine as soft as possible. Oak aging, for instance, is employed more for maturing the wine than for imparting an oaky character that so impresses some wine critics.

"We try to produce a wine that is lovely upon release and also delicious a decade or two later," concludes Campbell.

Put it to music

OK, toss the card, but keep the CD that's tucked inside. From CD Greeting comes six birthday cards with a full-length CD for fans of country, rock, jazz, classical, pop and easy listening music. Discs include songs by original artists like Natalie Cole, Roberta Flack, Beach Boys, Tanya Tucker, Suzy Boggus and Earl Klugh. The classical CD features Mozart; the rock selections are mostly '50s and '60s hits. "So many people look for a small gift but don't know what to buy. This is ideal — if the recipient has a CD player, that is," say the folks at The Giving Tree at Tel-Twelve Mall, Southfield, where the cards are sold ($8.95).

Vested Interest

Why strap on a backpack when you can wear one? If you're cycling or skating to class these days, this get-up is almost a necessity. The versatile denim vest from Strike A Pose does double duty. Besides looking good, the pocket on the backside is roomy enough to hold books, lunch or whatever. This pre-washed vest has draw-string ties and a hood — a feature we'll see on men's and women's tops this spring. It's generously cut to wear over sweats or sweaters or to layer this spring over a T-shirt. Available at Jacobson stores in size small to large ($29).

Bon Jovi keeps its musical faith

■ Don't tell Bon Jovi its on the comeback trail, even though the group waited four years to release its first album since "New Jersey" in 1988. The group prefers their hiatus from recording be looked on as a maturing process.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Last year, the rock band Bon Jovi released "Keep The Faith," its first album since 1988's "New Jersey." The album represents the group's musical and lyrical maturity.

All of that deserves media and fan attention. But it wasn't all that which earned Bon Jovi the most fanfare.

It was lead singer Jon Bon Jovi's new haircut.

"I have to laugh about it," said Bon Jovi during a recent conversation from his car phone. "But I tell you what, if I even wanted press and I knew all I had to do was to get a haircut . . .

"I didn't think it would be like Elvis cuttin' his sideburns off."

The newly shorn Bon Jovi, who performs with his band Tuesday at The Palace of Auburn Hills, doesn't see the trim as such a big deal.

"I just took the attitude that more or less it would grow back. It wasn't like I was Samson."

That's far from the case. During the two-year hiatus the group members gained strength through their much-acclaimed solo projects.

Jon Bon Jovi worked on "Young Guns" movie soundtrack with Jeff Beck, Elton John and Little Richard. He also started his own label, Jambco Records, producing the likes of Aldo Nova and Billy Falcon.

Keyboardist David Bryan scored the film "Netherworld" and guitarist Richie Sambora released his solo album "Stranger in This Town." (The band also includes bassist Alec John Such and drummer/percussionist Tico Torres.)

After all that, regrouping still felt comfortable, the singer said.

"It took a couple minutes to get used to it. After that it was like wearing old shoes again," Bon Jovi said.

It may sound like one, but don't call this Bon Jovi project a comeback. Several publications, including Rolling Stone magazine, have called "Keep The Faith" just that. Bon Jovi said he just laughs off the references.

"I don't take any of that too seriously . . . I'm (only) 30 years old."

Yes, but Bon Jovi will gain a year on Tuesday when he celebrates his birthday with about 20,000 fans at The Palace.

"My birthday's usually a lot of fun," he said. "Some of them are on the road and they're usually a big free-for-all. Twenty thousand people celebrating my birthday. I feel real lucky that day."

Bon Jovi said he's especially grateful that his birthday falls on a day when his band is playing in the Detroit area.

"We played 'Runaway' (the band's first hit) in Detroit even before there was a record deal," he said in retrospect. "(Now) you can expect a lot of songs from a bunch of old friends," he said.

Bon Jovi with special guests the Jeff Healey Band perform at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 2, at The Palace of Auburn Hills, I-75 and Lapeer Road, Auburn Hills. For more information, call 377-8204.

Sundays turn on the lights for tour

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Things have been looking good for the English band The Sundays. So good that members of the band are considering making a few personality changes.

"It's (the tour) just been really brilliant so far, the gigs have been great," said David Gavurin, guitarist/songwriter. "We got a great tour bus. Maybe I shouldn't be this positive. "I haven't got any of that pop star angst. We'll try and kick over a drum kit or something."

There's no reason why The Sundays — which also includes Harriet Wheeler, Paul Brindley, and Patrick Hannan — shouldn't be positive. The group's first release, 1990's "Reading, Writing and Arithmetic," went gold. The Sundays' new album "Blind" has already spawned one hit, "Love," and the second single, a cover of the Rolling Stones' "Wild Horses," is receiving a favorable airplay. The Sundays' show at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit on Thursday, March 4, sold out quickly.

Although the group has performed in Ann Arbor, this will be its first trip to Detroit.

"Everybody's telling us it's such a scary place. They say it's sort of wiped away as a city. That made it sound incredibly interesting to us," Gavurin said.

The Sunday's debut show in Detroit will be much more aggressive than its ethereal sound. Gavurin called the Bristol, England, based band's show intense.

"They can expect a slightly more intense show," he said. "We've got lights with us this time — not doing any zapping about laser show — but to sort of focus the atmosphere a little more solidly."

The lights, he said, keep it dark to create the right mood for the music. "I think our lights keep it sort of darker."

The focus of the shows obviously is lead singer Wheeler. Gavurin said the group has come to accept Wheeler's sort of sex symbol image among alternative music fans.

"You'd have to be pretty stupid to not know that in every band everywhere the lead singer is always the central person," he said. "That's the way this world seems to work."

Nonetheless, Wheeler doesn't find being a sex symbol that satisfying.

"Harriet is totally cool about the whole thing, (but) it's much less satisfying to be noticed as a sex symbol," he said. "She wants to stress the songwriting side of it and performance side of it. That's what matters to us."

The Sundays with special guest Luna2 perform at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. Doors open at 9 p.m. The show is sold out. For more information, call 961-MELT.

'Monde' explores classical master

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Little is known about Sainte Colombe, the French master of the viola who lived a reclusive life in 16th century France. "Tous les Matins du Monde," a 1991 French film currently at the Maple, successfully fills in the gaps of the fascinating musician's life.

Sainte Colombe (Jean-Pierre Marielle), so mysterious his first name isn't known, never gets over the death of his wife. He locks himself away in a tiny cabin behind his elegant home and practices literally all day, adding a seventh string to his viola for a richer sound.

He raises two daughters with a firm hand, teaches them the instrument and stages recitals that become all the rage with the French court. The King's chief violinist offers him a seat as a royal musician, but stubborn Sainte Colombe declines. "I like sunlight in my hand, not gold," he spars.

Marin Marais, a bitter young man of 17, hears of Sainte Colombe's greatness and asks to become his pupil. The story that follows takes some depressing and strangely triumphant turns as Marin enters a complex relationship with both Colombe and his daughters.

Toinette and Madeleine (Carole Richert and Anne Brochet) look like they've never set foot off the property, so it's no surprise that they're fascinated by the young, passionate Marin. Madeleine, the eldest, falls hardest, and sinks into the deep family funk when he ultimately dumps her.

The ubiquitous Gerard Depar-

MOVIES

dieu plays Marin as an old man, head of musicians at Versailles, who interrupts rehearsal at the court to recall in vivid detail the story of his former master.

As young Marin, Depardieu's real-life son Guillaume has twice as much screen time as his famous father. He's also quite fetching; his wispy build, long blonde hair and aquiline nose more closely resemble English actor Julian Sands.

"Tous les Matins du Monde" tells us that talent is pure and that music can be found in the simplest things. The soundtrack shows the range of the viola (which, according to Marais' narration, could evoke both the sighs and screams of the human voice) while celebrating the sounds of silence, or rather the sounds that slowly come from it.

This becomes one of Sainte Colombe's most important teachings. He takes Marin to the home of an artist friend and tells the boy to listen to the intricate brush strokes. If you can hear them (or think you possibly could), you've probably enjoyed the movie and gotten at least part of its point.

Sticking around to listen to the paint dry may be more exciting for other viewers, who will find the story stiff and depressing.

If you want a lively reading of the classical masters, watch "Impromptu" or "Amadeus," which unfortunately the movie has been compared to in the advertising. If you want a thoughtful, insightful, emotionally draining glimpse at the suffering that sometimes enters the artistic process, catch "Tous les Matins du Monde."

Law and order: History holds some answers

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

Voice mail message: Barbara, I have just read your article, "Guns change response for coming of age in the '90s," and I want to know, when will people take responsibility for their own actions in life and stop blaming objects for crime? People blame flashlights, cars, alcohol and firearms, but these things are not at fault; people are.

Further, what's the problem of children, the law and guns? There are already laws on the books that are designed to control this. It is a felony for anyone under 21 to own a handgun. It is a felony to carry firearms outside your own residence, if you are not 21 and/or you don't have a permit.

These are laws; these are felonies, and the parent or guardian should be held accountable and punished when they are broken. What is the problem? These acts are felonies and the laws should be enforced.

The answer is not more laws because the laws are already there. They need to be enforced. People, take responsibility for what you do in life. You are in life where you put yourself! It is up to you.

Dear Caller, Thank you for the response to the article on guns. I share your opinion on this subject. A possibility on why these laws can't be enforced is that too little is spent on law enforcement because the money is not available or because strong law enforcement would antagonize those electorates.

The following thoughts came to me while considering the initial question and your response:

Thomas Jefferson did not believe in a large government ruling the people. He believed that the people would govern themselves by God's principles. However, he recognized that some people would fall from the high road and be unable to govern themselves and would cause difficulty to fellow citizens. He believed at this point that the government agencies would step in and do what was necessary to rehabilitate those who had fallen from grace.

Most Americans are not informed about colonial America and the foundation stones on which this country was built. If we look at the current United States with its loss of respect for religion, loss of belief in God, loss of moral fiber, loss of inner strength of character, and the loss of high values and ideals, the changes in our country are difficult to believe or understand.

This column makes no pretense of understanding such complex phenomena but presents the above for informational purposes only.

'Mr. Frost' is a chilling look at evil

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

It's a dark night in the English countryside as two thieves break into a garage, intent on stealing an Astin Martin. One complains the building smells like rats. Not a good sign. The pair beat a path out of there after a body falls out the driver's door of the car.

It's daylight when a police inspector, played by Alan Bates, arrives to find the homeowner leaning on his shovel out on the back lawn. The man, the title character of the effective 1989 film "Mr. Frost" played by Jeff Goldblum, isn't the least surprised to be visited by the police.

VIDEOS

Bates is rather embarrassed to have to unofficially check on the story that two arrested car thieves tell. To the officer's amazement, Mr. Frost confirms the story and adds he had just finished burying the body when the officer arrived.

The full magnitude of Mr. Frost's crimes soon become known as police find two dozen mutilated women, men and children buried on the property — all tortured to death.

Time passes and no one is able to learn anything about Mr. Frost.

After two years and stints in different psychiatric hospitals, Mr. Frost arrives at a new one where psychiatrist Kathy Baker starts finding out about the real Mr. Frost.

Bates, has left his job as a police officer and follows Mr. Frost from place to place. He's convinced Mr. Frost is nothing less than evil personified, Satan in human form. Naturally, the psychiatrists think Bates is as delusional as their silent patient.

Even in lighter films, Goldblum has a gloomy intensity that works very well in this role. His Mr. Frost is glib and charming, completely logical yet capable of rage.

This is a film that has a world in which psychiatrists have used science to banish the devil but maybe the devil isn't inclined to be forgotten.

"Mr. Frost" is available on cassette at your local video store. If you have a question or comment for LeAnne Rogers, send it to Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. You also can leave a message by calling her at 953-2103.

PLYMOUTH SPORTS SCENE

U-M-Dearborn hockey

The University of Michigan-Dearborn club hockey team, featuring several area players, will compete March 2-7 in the American College Hockey Association National Championships at North Dakota State University in Fargo, N.D.

Rated fifth in the country, the U-M-Dearborn Wolves are one of eight teams to qualify for the tournament.

The team includes sophomore defenseman Greg Sapick and freshman goalie Brian Gillary of Farmington Hills and freshman defenseman Jeff Farida of West Bloomfield.

Jesse Hubenschmidt, freshman center, brother Jim, junior forward, both of Redford Catholic Central High, also are listed on the roster.

U-M-D, coached by David Rosteck, finished the regular season 16-7-2 overall and 10-3-1 in the Central States Collegiate Hockey League.

Gable 5th in U.S. skiing

Niki Gable of Livonia, representing the Bay Race Academy, finished fifth in the women's giant slalom at the Central Division of the U.S. Ski Association Championships at Sugar Loaf Resort Feb. 20-21.

Gable, a sophomore at Farmington Hills Mercy High School, won league and regional ski championships recently. She will lead the Marlins into the state finals today in Marquette.

Corktown road races

Serious runners and fun-loving walkers can demonstrate how well they've stayed in shape during the winter at the 11th annual Corktown Races Sunday, March 14.

The races begin at 12:30 p.m. at Tiger Stadium. The annual St. Patrick's Parade will follow at 2 p.m.

The main race is a four-mile run through Detroit's historic Corktown community. Other events are a 1 1/4-mile walk and a quarter-mile walk/run for children 12 and under.

The early entry deadline is Friday, March 5, for a $10 fee. The late registration fee is $14. Final registration will take place from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on race day at the starting line.

Entry forms can be obtained by writing to the race director at 10144 Lincoln, Huntington Woods, Mich. 48070. For information, call 544-9099.

Madonna women lose

It was a long way to go for a heartbreak. Madonna University's women's basketball team fought its way east through a winter storm for a game in Erie, Pa., against Division II Gannon College last Tuesday. And for most of the game, it looked like it would be worth the trip.

But Madonna surrendered a 17-point lead in the second half and lost, 74-73.

"We were pretty much in command the entire game," said Madonna coach Bill Potter. "They took their first lead in the final two minutes."

The score was tied, 73-73, with 10 seconds left and Madonna had the ball. But the ball came loose after a collision (no foul was called, much to Potter's chagrin). Gannon's Shelley Bortz eventually recovered the rolling ball and was fouled with two seconds left. She made one of two free-throw attempts.

Free throws told part of the tale. Gannon made 16 free throws, 13 in the second half. Madonna made 11.

Field goal percentage told the rest of it. Madonna was on fire in the first half, hitting 59 percent of its shots. Gannon, meanwhile, hit an icy 22 percent. Those percentages were very nearly reversed in the second half.

Jill Burt scored 21 points to pace Madonna (13-17). Stephanie Niebauer added 15 and Kim Kibbey chipped in with 10. Londa Byrt scored 21 for Gannon (10-15).

"Gannon is a Division II team and even though we had an opportunity to win the game, we still feel pretty good about our effort," Potter said.

Olympic skater visits

Olympic skater Cathy Turner, a short-track gold medalist at Albertville last winter, will be a guest of the Wolverine Sports Club's speedskating team 4-4:45 p.m. today at the Berkeley Ice Arena.

The arena is located on Robina Street (south of Catalpa and west of Coolidge) between 11 Mile and 12 Mile roads.

Club coach Ken Wentland of Farmington Hills will assist Turner in leading a specially arranged practice to promote her skating and singing act in Ice Capades at the Palace of Auburn Hills later this month.

S'craft volleyball events

Tryouts for the SOVA AAU volleyball teams — girls under 12, 14, 16 and 18 — will be Sundays, March 14 and 21, at Schoolcraft College. There will be elite, varsity and JV levels for each age group.

Tryouts and scholarship auditions for the 1993 Schoolcraft women's volleyball team will be 9 a.m. Sunday, March 21. For information, call Tom Teeters at 462-4400, Ext. 5252.

Rocks rise to top in WLAA meet

Other schools won more events, but Plymouth Salem had the best team Friday at the Western Lakes Activities Association swimming and diving championships.

By CHRIS MCCOSKY
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Salem senior Matt Erickson was dripping and shivering and he was out of breath. In fact, he seemed to have just enough breath left in him to capsuleize what had taken place Friday night at the Western Lakes conference swim meet at Salem.

"We aren't the best stud team in the state," he said. "But we've got a lot of guys who work hard and are good enough to get it done."

The Rocks got it done, all right. They outpointed second-place Northville, 477-467, in one of the closest Western Lakes meets ever. Two-time defending champion Livonia Stevenson finished third with 418 points.

"All year I kept hearing how we didn't have any elite swimmers," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. "But we work hard as a team. Everybody knew what their job was, everybody knew what they had to do, and they did it. We're going to be very proud to put this banner on the wall."

The Rocks won only one race. Junior Fred Locke captured the 50-yard freestyle in 22.52. They competed in the finals of just six of the 11 swimming events, taking only one second and one third.

Salem's late surge produces hoop victory

By NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

With 4:52 remaining in Friday's Plymouth Salem-North Farmington basketball game, the visiting Raiders held a 40-39 lead and looked like they might pull off one of the biggest upsets of the season. Not!

The Rocks then made quick work of North by scoring 22 of the game's final 25 points en route to a 61-43 victory in a first-round Western Lakes Activities Association playoff game.

"The score is definitely not indicative of how the game went," Salem coach Bob Brodie said.

With the win, the Rocks (16-2) advance to a semifinal matchup Tuesday at Farmington Hills Harrison. The Hawks beat Salem 95-94 in a thrilling, come-from-behind game earlier this season.

North (8-10) will play at Canton Tuesday.

After falling behind 7-2 early in the game, the Raiders rallied to take leads of 14-9 after the first quarter and 29-22 at halftime. North trailed 38-35 entering the fourth but tied the score on John Pennala's third three-pointer of the game.

North later took a 40-39 lead on a tip-in by junior Evan Ellis, but that's where the rock collapsed on the Raiders.

The Rocks converted 12 of 13 free-throws and Mike Slone added two triples as Salem outscored North 22-3 in the final minutes.

The key to the game was the charity stripe, where Salem made 19 of 26 (73 percent). North converted just four of 19 (21 percent).

"We executed on offense, drew the fouls and then couldn't hit our free throws," North coach Tom Negoshian said. "They made their shots and we didn't. That's a 15-point swing."

North connected on only one of eight tries in the third quarter. Instead of pulling away from Salem, it was the Rocks who outscored the Raiders 16-6 in the quarter.

Pennala, a junior guard, led North with 13 points. Ellis and Todd Anderson added nine and eight, respectively.

Junior forward James Head led Salem with 20 points and nine rebounds. Mike Slone tallied 18 points — 14 in the second half — while Brandon Slone ripped down 14 boards.

Salem held a 37-29 rebounding advantage. Neither team shot well from the floor, as the Rocks made 38 percent of their shots (19-of-50) compared to North's 36 percent (18-of-49).

Rocks coast to 4th straight WLAA title

By DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

The main competition was among the Plymouth Salem girls themselves Thursday in the Western Lakes Activities Association gymnastics finals.

The Rocks had the top five all-arounders and walked off with their fourth consecutive league title at Westland John Glenn High School.

The outcome was actually a foregone conclusion since Salem, the top-ranked team in the state, is obviously loaded with talent.

The Rocks scored 146.75 and finished 8.6 points ahead of Plymouth Canton and 16 in front of North Farmington.

Walled Lake, led by Stacey Mackowiak and Susie Muzbeck, had its best finish in years and was fourth. Northville, Glenn and Farmington followed in that order.

Salem's goal is to dethrone two-time state champion Muskegon Mona Shores in two weeks, and its WLAA team effort was a step in that direction.

"What we need to win the state is a repeat performance of tonight," Salem coach Johanna Anderson said. "We had a great evening. We were on physically as well as mentally."

"We didn't have any falls on beam, no breaks on bars and we had six fabulous floor routines. Our vault scores were low, but we still performed well."

The Rocks were led by senior Kim Miller, who returned to high school competition after a one-year absence and recaptured the all-around title she won as a sophomore and freshman with a 37.20 total.

"I didn't really have a goal (coming back this year); I just wanted to do well and have fun," Miller said. "This was one of my best meets. My beam was more solid, and my floor was more flowing."

The all-around scoring reflected Salem's dominance as senior Courtney Gonyea (37.05) finished second, sophomore Melissa Hopson (36.1) third and juniors Alysia Sofios (36.05) and Sara Makins (35.8) fourth and fifth.

Gonyea is the conference champion on vault (9.2) and floor exercise (9.5), Miller the uneven bars (9.55) and balance beam (9.4). Makins achieved the highest all-around total of her career.

Gonyea, who also had her best bars score (9.2) and contributed to a Salem sweep of the top five places in that event, would have been the all-around champion if Miller had not returned, but the two don't consider themselves in competition with each other.

"We want to win the state this year, so we just cheer each other on," Gonyea said. "In the beginning, I probably would have thought that, but as we went along I realized, with her on the team, we had a chance to win the state."

"I'm glad Kim is on the team. I just want our team to win."

Canton had its highest team score (138.15) of the season and was nearly as much of a lock for second place as Salem was to win.

"The kids were real relaxed and performed extremely well," Canton coach John Cunningham said. "That's what you want them to do. You don't want them to worry about scoring and placement but to go out and have an excellent performance."

"I was very pleased. You're going against the No. 1 team in the state, and when you get second (in the different events) or place in the top five that's an accomplishment."

Swim finals: Salem junior Aaron Berlin finished seventh in the 500-yard freestyle at the WLAA meet, but his time of 5:00.24 would have put him fifth if he had qualified for the championship heat.

How in the world did they win? Depth. Points are awarded to the top 18 places. Salem amassed 279 points from their seven through 18 finishers. Here's an example of how that works: Salem led Northville by one point and Stevenson by 10 entering the final two events; and the Rocks didn't have a swimmer in the final heat of the 100 breaststroke. Stevenson's Alex Goecke took first, setting a meet record with a 1:00.01 (topping his own mark of 1:00.03 set last year), and earned 24 points. Northville freshman Jeff Slaving took second (1:01.66), 21 points. Salem's falls way behind, right? Uh-uh. Salem swimmers Alex Beard, Phil Hoffmeyer and Andy Dettling won spots 9, 10 and 12 — 32 points. "We were the faster team, they were the larger team," said Northville coach Mark Heiden. "That's an unfair thing, but that's the way it is with this meet. This is the only meet around that scores 18 places." That, of course, is an old argument and the consensus opinion is that the only fair way to score a 10-team league meet is to tally 18 places. "Let me tell you something, the kids scoring 13 to 18 in this conference would score in the top 12 in most other conferences around here," said Stevenson coach Doug Buckler. "We have so many good swimmers here, why should we hold them out of the scoring? It would be a misrepresentation of this conference if only four or five teams scored." And, Buckler pointed out, it's not like the 18-place scoring system is a new feature. "This isn't the first year of this," Buckler said. "He's (Heiden) had five years to develop his program so they can have more kids in it." Heiden, whose Mustangs are the only team other than Salem or Stevenson to place in the top two in the Western Lakes, didn't need too many more swimmers. "I'm real happy with the way we swam," Heiden said. "We scored more points than we were seeded for, and so did Salem. It was a great meet." The Mustangs won the 200 medley relay in 1:38.76. Seniors Jim Fee (54.44) and Matt Handyside (56.19) took first and third in the 100 butterfly. Junior Mike Malouze won the diving (397.75). Junior Jason Fisher took a pair of seconds (100 free and 100 backstroke). In all, Northville took five seconds. Still, the best Northville could have done entering the final event was to tie the Rocks. To do so, it had to win the 400 free relay and Salem had to place sixth. Neither happened. North Farmington won it (3:17.30), Northville was second (3:18.72) and Salem — with Erickson, Locke, Eric Seidelman and Joe Ervin shaving nearly four seconds off their preliminary time — took fourth (3:22.46). As usual, the meet produced some outstanding individual performances. Westland John Glenn senior Matt Martin, who might have been able to win every event if the rules and his stamina would have allowed (he owns the fastest area times in seven of eight events and he's second in the other), won the 200 free (1:45.13) and shattered his own meet record in the 100 backstroke (52.07). North Farmington, which placed fourth in the meet, took four firsts.

Oh, so close! Shamrocks make strong effort to topple Raiders

Brian Paluk scored the last eight points Thursday night for Redford Catholic Central, but three more were too much to ask.

With Paluk unable to get off a shot, Andy Kummer's potential game-tying three pointer missed and Southgate Aquinas escaped with a 54-49 Catholic League semifinal win before a sellout crowd at Schoolcraft College.

With Aquinas ahead 52-49 and 27 seconds left, the Raiders missed a one-and-one free throw attempt. CC's Jeff Gutt got the rebound and the Shamrocks intended to have Paluk take the game-tying three-pointer but Aquinas' defensive pressure would not allow one.

Paluk penetrated inside the three-point arc, then realizing he didn't have a shot, passed the ball to Kummer, who had four points and taken only one shot since the first quarter. Aquinas rebounded Kummer's three-point miss and made a pair of free throws with two seconds left to ice the win.

"I tried to get open, but they had two or three guys there," said Paluk, who finished 9-of-17 from the field for 26 points and eight rebounds. "We played well and could have won. It's something to build on."

CC, 10-8 overall, led much of the way against Aquinas. But Aquinas' Mr. Basketball candidate Jon Garavaglia scored 30 points and made a pair of free throws with 52 seconds left to give the Raiders a 52-47 lead.

Paluk, who should be a shooin for the All-Catholic team, was the most likely candidate to take the final shot after making the Shamrocks' only three-pointer in the first half. Paluk had three baskets in the last two minutes, including a left-handed tip-in of his own miss with 1:05 left, and a pair of free throws with 22 seconds left that made it 52-49.

"We wanted Brian to get the three to tie it but he got in too deep and they wouldn't let him get it up," CC coach Bernie Holowicki said. "We didn't care what our record was. We wanted to go for it. We didn't just come here to play the game."

Paluk scored 12 points and CC held Aquinas to 11-of-34 shooting in the first half to lead 28-24 at intermission.

CC sophomore point guard Damien Baskerville, who contributed nine points and a team-high nine rebounds, has two years left but Aquinas coach Ernie Price is glad to see Paluk graduate.

"Paluk is a senior, right?" Price asked reporters. "Thank God."

Aquinas gained momentum and the lead in the third quarter, forcing eight CC turnovers. The Raiders outscored CC 11-2 at the start of the third quarter to open up a 35-30 lead. Paluk had trouble getting free in the quarter, taking only two shots and making one.

Garavaglia, held to four points in a first-round win over Warren DeLaSalle, was 13-24 from the floor and had 10 rebounds. He made only three-of-seven free throws but hurt the Shamrocks with turnaround jump shots, a three-pointer and two alley-oop dunks.

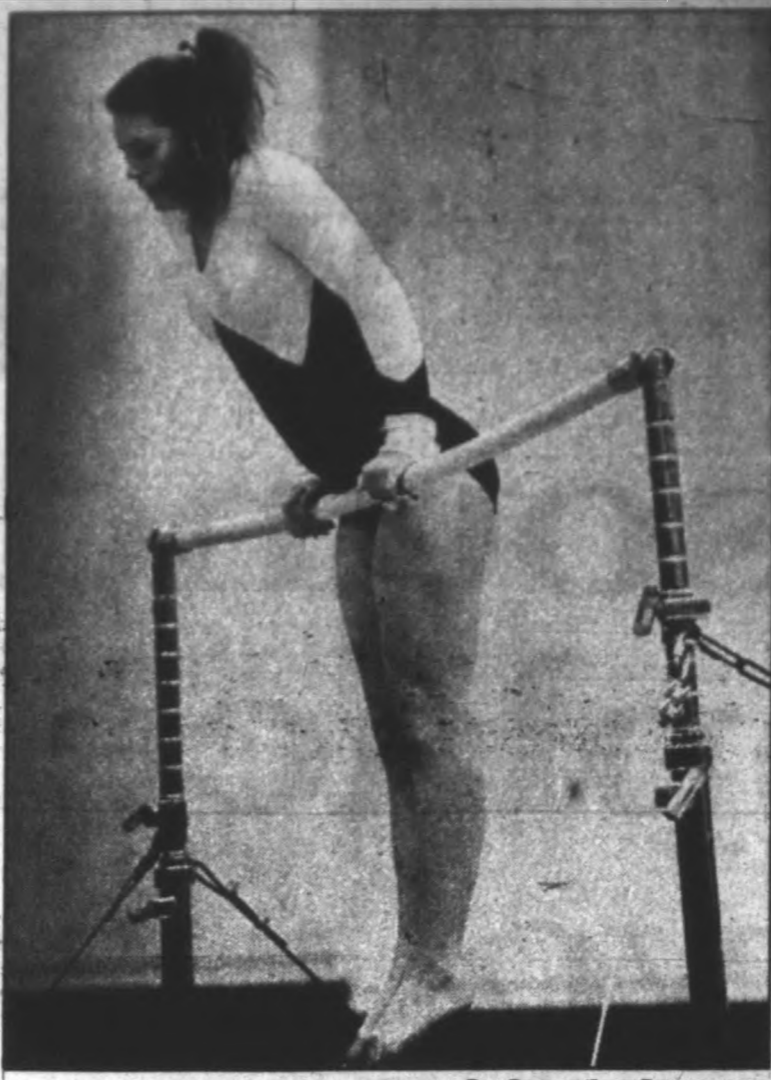

"You can contest him, but he really gets up on his turnaround," said the 6-foot-5 Paluk.

Aquinas led 40-36 after three quarters and with the lead 44-40 and about four minutes left, Gutt missed a pair of close-in shots with Garavaglia the closest opponent.

Gutt isn't the first player to be intimidated by Garavaglia, who has signed with Michigan State.

"Give CC credit, they played well," Price said. "But give Jon some credit, too. He stepped up a level."

CC shot 45 percent from the field (19-42) and outrebounded Aquinas 29-27. Aquinas made 12-27 shots after halftime to finish 23-61 for the game (37 percent).

Canton still had more than enough fine performances to have its best meet of the year, including others by Rennolds, who threw her double full on floor and Tsukahara on vault. Jenny Tedesco also executed her giant on bars, Cunningham added.

The WLAA also recognized division winners Thursday. In the Lakes Division, Sofios is the bars champion with an 8.87 average, Gonyea beam (9.26), Miller floor (8.88) and vault (8.68). Gonyea was the top all-arounder (35.95).

Rennolds was the Western Division champ for floor (9.28), vault (8.66) and all-around (35.08). Tedesco won on bars (8.71) and Lewke beam (8.7).

Hawks avenge loss to Chiefs

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

For most basketball players, the home-court advantage is something to be cherished, but that hasn't been the case for Ryan Cahill this winter.

The Farmington Hills Harrison senior has played some of his best ball in opposing gyms, so there was some understandable anxiety before a first-round playoff game Friday at Harrison.

But there was no need to worry.

Cahill reversed the course of history by scoring a game-high 18 points and leading the Hawks to victory over Plymouth Canton in the Western Lakes Activities Association, 49-44.

"This was probably my best game at home," Cahill said. "It seems I shoot a little better in away gyms, but tonight the ball seemed to be going in pretty good."

"I was feeling it in the third quarter, and I was getting some good picks from my teammates. Sometimes it's hard to get open when the other team knows you're a shooter, but I was getting open and the shot was falling for me."

The Hawks (9-9) will play host to Plymouth Salem in the second round Tuesday, and Cahill had his career high (24) against the Rocks in January when Harrison won 95-94.

"I don't know if that's good or not for me," Cahill said. "It's good I'm finally starting to feel it in our gym, because we're playing here Tuesday."

The victory also avenged a 70-62 loss to Canton (7-11) a week earlier in the last WLAA round-robin game. The Chiefs will play host to North Farmington (8-10) on Tuesday.

Cahill, who scored 12 points in the second half and was 6-of-7 shooting free throws, has become a complete player this year, ac-ording to Harrison coach Mike Teachman.

"Ryan Cahill had a big game, and I'm not talking about points," Teachman said, referring to his using the body on a defensive rebound, taking a charge and tapping the ball to keep it alive.

"Early in the year he was an arc player. I think it was the Northville game when he decided he could do other things and still get his threes. He had a string of three games when he didn't hit any threes, and he kept himself on the floor by playing basketball."

Another key contributor for Harrison was 6-foot-6 junior center Calvin Pruitt, who was sick the day of the first Canton game but still played. He scored just five points before fouling out.

He was a different player Friday, too. He followed Cahill in scoring with 14 points and pulled down a game-high 15 rebounds. Key Smith added seven points and Rich Ruffini seven rebounds.

"(Pruitt) loves to play basketball," Teachman said. "Today he had adrenaline coming out his ears, and we had to pull him back at times."

"Harrison's intensity was better, and Calvin Pruitt played a lot better than he did last Friday night," Canton coach Charlie Paye said. "They did the little things that made the difference."

Brad Paskievitch scored 12 points and Owen Crosby nine for the Chiefs, who shot 33 percent (10-of-29) in the first half as opposed to 60 the previous week.

Harrison shot the same (8-of-23) but led the entire half until Tim Moritz sank a baseline basket with 11 seconds left to put Canton on top 23-22 at halftime.

The Hawks committed 11 of their 15 first-half turnovers in the opening quarter, Canton seven of 11.

"Did they play basketball in the Stone Age, and did it look like that?" Teachman asked.

"It wasn't pretty but it counts. We've been on the other end when it has been ugly and lost — and we had our chances to do that tonight."

Harrison scored the first eight points of the second half, and consecutive triples by Cahill made it 36-26.

The Hawks were up 42-34 in the fourth quarter, but Canton rallied to take a 44-43 lead with the second of two triples by Ted Docks (six points).

Pruitt restored the lead to Harrison with 1½ minutes left, Cahill made two free throws and Pruitt took a long pass for an easy layup that clinched the win with 21 seconds remaining.

Paye was not happy with his team's offensive production. The Chiefs shot 31 percent (18-of-58) and Harrison 37 percent (15-of-41). Canton was 2-of-6 at the line, the Hawks 16-of-30.

"It was the perfect team loss from the coaching on down," Paye said. "We had a poor week of practice, and I take responsibility for it. The effort tonight — the kids can take responsibility for that."

"Defensively, the effort was there, but offensively were out of sync. Nobody stepped up and made a shot."

Teachman said the Hawks, who rallied from a 16-point deficit at the start of the fourth quarter against Salem and scored 42 in the last period, can't count on another miracle Tuesday.

"We have to play good basketball for 32 minutes," he said. "The only positive thing we got out of the first game is that we know we can play with them."

"Salem is two shots away from being undefeated, so they've got a lot of weapons and a good basketball team."

Playoffs from page 1C

Even though Salem beat the Raiders 64-51 last month, Brodie and Mike Slone knew the game would be a challenge. "They were very methodical and patient, and they sat in their 2-3 zone," Brodie said. "I expected it to be this tough. It's playoff time and everybody starts on an even keel. The week off also had an impact on us."

"Any time we play, it's going to be a tough game," Slone said. "We seem to be a second-half team, even though we don't want to be."

"Sometimes we play in phases and don't play like a team. When we play like a team, we'll do well. Tonight, we got it together as a team in the second half."

Brodie agreed with Slone that the Rocks have played an on-again, off-again style, but it doesn't bother the coach.

"As long as we finish on the upside, it's OK with me," Brodie said. "But we still have work to do. We have to put four good quarters together. When we do that, we're a dynamite team. Right now, we're not doing that."
