Teachers seek pact before vote

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Negotiators for both Plymouth-Canton teachers and the school district hope a contract settlement can be reached before voters are asked in June to approve a 17.74-mill renewal and a 4-mill increase.

Bargainers for the teachers and the district are scheduled to address economic issues today, their third full day of expedited bargaining. Eight-hour sessions were held March 11 and March 6.

"We've tentatively agreed on a few things. It's been slow, and we have not talked about economic issues. Hopefully, that will be Monday," Chuck Portelli, president of the 737-member Plymouth-Canton Education Association, said Friday.

"Things are steadily going along," Errol Goldman, chief negotiator for the district, shares Portelli's outlook. "I'm optimistic. The tone of the discussions has been positive, and we are starting to understand each other's problems and concerns," Goldman said. "We're attempting to deal with those."

"Things are steadily going along,"

Errol Goldman, chief negotiator for the district, shares Portelli's outlook.

"I'm optimistic. The tone of the discussions has been positive, and we are starting to understand each other's problems and concerns," Goldman said. "We're attempting to deal with those."

Goldman said it's still too early to predict exactly how soon a settlement will be reached, "but we are hopeful."

Superintendent John Hoben said he wants to see teachers grant some concessions. He said he'd "like to see some help in the co-pay" and a salary settlement "somewhere around 3 percent."

The teachers' contract expires at the end of this school year.

Co-pay refers to the $2 teachers pay for prescription drugs.

While teachers intend to be reasonable in their demands, they don't welcome change in their benefits, Portelli said. "We are asking for what we believe to be reasonable in the economic conditions in which we find ourselves," he said.

"Teachers want no changes in their benefits. We have heard that in all 19 buildings."

The union is optimistic an expedited agreement can be reached. "We are always hopeful," said Portelli.

Keep tax appeals simple

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

If you want to fight your property assessment before your local board of review, some battle plans are better than others.

"They should keep it as simple as possible," said Graham Laible, one of three City of Plymouth board of review members.

With this season's round of board of review sessions winding down, Laible and other board of review members in greater Plymouth offered some advice to homeowners challenging their assessments.

"They should bring some examples of recent sales," Laible said, adding the examples carry real weight, "certainly if they're closer to their own home and their own neighborhood."

"I think the big thing is, keep it simple," he repeated.

If you own a condo and want to challenge your assessment, he said the challenge is more valid if you compare yours with a similar unit. "Condos vary," he said.

"We do have people who are very well-prepared," Laible continued. "Generally people are very nice; a couple of people have been antagonistic."

"They should investigate the property around their own to find out what they have been selling for," said Melvin Blunk, a City of Plymouth board of review member.

"We can't spend too much time with each person; we give them 15 minutes," he added.

If there are no recent property sales of houses like yours on your street, Blunk suggested looking up the valuations of houses on your street like yours.

On Thursday, Blunk was scheduled for another afternoon session of

Candidate pushes for Hoben's retirement

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

In a mailing to 300 voters, school board candidate the Rev. William Myers urges individuals to join him in calling for the retirement of Superintendent John Hoben and the selection of a new superintendent by July 1, 1994.

Hoben was in meetings Friday and unavailable for comment. District spokesman Richard Egli declined comment.

"It would be inappropriate to comment on the viewpoints of any candidate or potential candidate," Egli said.

In his letter, Myers asked that voters call for Hoben's retirement "not for my benefit, but rather for the sake of the 15,000 students of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools."

The mailing asks voters to: ■ Call Hoben, commend him for his service, and ask him to announce his intention to retire when his contract expires.

■ Call other board members to state support for a millage increase and ask that they begin the search for a new superintendent.

■ Call trustee Dave Artley "and tell him that Bill Myers will not attempt to unseat him from the board of education if he will just make the following statement publicly: 'If I am re-elected, I will offer a resolution at the first meeting of the board of education following the June, 1993 election to convene a superintendent search that will culminate in the selection of a new superintendent for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools no later than July 1, 1994.'"

Artley, the only board member up for re-election in June, was unavailable for comment. Hoben, who has been superintendent for 22 years, has said in the past that he has a contract through the 1993-94 school year and has no plans to retire.

Myers said that in the two weeks since he announced his candidacy and his call for Hoben's retirement, hearing assessment appeals. "We've heard 139 so far, and we're going at it again today," he said. Friday marked the last session.

The final Plymouth Township board of review sessions to hear challenges are from 6-9 p.m. today and Wednesday.

Joyce Dasher, a Plymouth Township board of review member since 1978, stressed that it is important that residents only compare properties on their street that are similar to their own.

"It's comparing apples to apples," she said. "The same lot size, same construction. And checking their field sheets to see if there are no clerical errors; sometimes that happens."

"What the board is there to do is make sure they're being assessed at 50 percent of fair market value," Dasher said.

As in the city, Dasher reports that this year challenges of assessments are up. "This year has been a very busy year; it's hitting some people a little bit hard," she said.

Property owners can also challenge their assessment by showing that paying the taxes would pose a hardship.

To do this, they must fill out a form at the local assessor's office seeking hardship designation and have their most recent state tax return to provide evidence, officials say.

he's received nothing but support.

"I initially pulled my petitions knowing that there were people in the community who were concerned," said Myers, who has served on the district's I Care Committee, Business Education Partnership, Sex Education and Reproductive Health Committee and marching band boosters organization.

"I can't begin to tell you the number of people who almost seem to be coming out of the woodwork to say, 'My gosh, finally someone is addressing this issue.'

"No one has challenged me," he added. "No one has said, 'You are really off base.' People have said I've certainly raised an issue that has been a live one, and that has been an issue for several years. This is not new."

Myers tells voters in his letter that he told Artley he won't run for the board if it immediately announced plans for a millage increase and announced that Hoben's contract would not be extended beyond June 30, 1994.

"Dave Artley agreed with condition number one, but would not agree to the second," said Myers. Myers said teacher morale would improve if Hoben's retirement were announced.

"We have important issues that must be addressed during this election. I plan to wage a full and complete campaign that will deal with these important issues and not personalities," said Myers. "The first and most important issue is approval of the additional operating millage that our children need to be properly educated, and then for the leadership torch to be passed so a new superintendent can follow in the hallowed footsteps of Dr. John Hoben."

Police, DDA seek an end to auto vandalism

Some nuisance vandalism to cars parked in the city parking deck downtown has sparked a response from the Downtown Development Authority and local police, to keep it from getting worse.

"Over the past couple months, some merchants have indicated that there has been some problems in the deck area relating to minor incidence of vandalism to employee vehicles," said DDA director Steve Guile.

The vandalism has included egging the insides of cars and putting material on the exteriors.

"We just want to make sure it doesn't escalate," Guile said, adding there's also been concern about a lack of proper lighting contributing to the problem.

After talking with Plymouth Police Chief Robert Scoggins, Guile said they've determined upper deck lighting is sufficient. Guile said he'll be talking with a local lighting supplier about improving lighting in the lower deck.

He also reported that police have agreed to put a greater emphasis on patrolling the deck during routine patrols.

Tigers' exec out of lineup after 30 years

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Former Detroit Tigers director of broadcasting Neal "Doc" Fenkell says he won't miss his first season in 30 years away from the club.

"It's in the past; I can live without baseball," said Fenkell, 70, of Plymouth Township.

"I've enjoyed the game," he said. "I'm not a fanatic — I like to win," he said, holding out his arm to show one of two World Series rings.

Those rings came in 1984 and in 1968. "I was probably closer to the players in '68," Fenkell said. "Now they make so much money, they go their own way."

In a file folder he keeps several newspaper clippings and photos from the era. One shows several mid-'60s Tigers and Fenkell, who played together on an exhibition basketball team. Fenkell has other photos of some Tigers and their wives from that era, and speaks of former first baseman Norm Cash as "my old running buddy."

With more entertainment competition today, Fenkell said creative promotions are more important than ever in baseball. "In the modern times the ballclubs have to generate as much revenue as possible — you just don't open the gates and play baseball anymore."

Introduced winter tour

In his tenure as Tigers public relations director beginning in 1964, Fenkell introduced the winter press tour and the Tiger yearbook, among other promotions.

Fenkell said he got his nickname "Doc" as a teenager. "I had a desire to be a doctor, I'd patch kids up and put tape on them."

But after serving in the Pacific in World War II, he began promoting athletics while attending Hillsdale College. He worked briefly for the Detroit Lions before joining the Tigers.

One of his first friends with the club was broadcaster George Kell, who then was still playing. "He's just been an outstanding broadcaster and a tremendous citizen,"

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Goodbye, baseball: After 29 years with the Detroit Tigers, Neal "Doc" Fenkell won't miss baseball this spring.

Fenkell said, adding Kell has also provided advice to the ballclub.

Harwell decision

On a recent snowy weekday, Ernie Harwell was doing the play-by-play for a Tigers spring training game from Florida; Fenkell wasn't listening.

"I might turn it on every now and then; I like to listen to Rizzs and Rathbun," he said.

And Harwell? "I won't say anything about Mr. Harwell," he said.

Fenkell hired Rick Rizzs and Bob Rathbun to replace Harwell and retiring Paul Carey after the 1991 season.

"I got it down to six guys out of 105," Fenkell said. "Rizzs kept coming to the surface."

Fenkell cited Rizzs' enthusiasm. Also, "He was somebody who knew the game; he'd been in Seattle for nine years. He had a good personality; he was willing to help sell tickets and work in the off season, which we never had before."

Rathbun is "a totally enthusiastic" person, Fenkell said.

If any criticism was directed at the two last season, it was that they sounded alike. "But they don't," Fenkell said. "Rathbun has a down East type of voice," he said, adding Rizzs is more resonant and Midwestern.

You're out

Fenkell — along with former team president Bo Schembechler and longtime executive Jim

Campbell — was fired at the end of last season by former owner Tom Monaghan, as preparations were being made to sell the team to Mike Ilitch.

"It was a Castro-like execution," he recalled.

Fenkell's feelings toward Monaghan? "I feel sorry for him right now. When he owned the Tigers his name was everywhere," Fenkell said, adding this helped promote Monaghan's main business, Domino's Pizza. "He got himself in some heavy financial problems."

"He was good to his employees; he gave you a chance to buy stock in the ballclub," Fenkell said, and provided generous benefits. "He never interfered; he let the baseball people run baseball."

Of Schembechler, "I think Bo was misunderstood," Fenkell said. "He did a tremendous amount of good for the Tiger organization." For one, Schembechler got weight training rooms for each farm team, Fenkell said.

Fenkell has left baseball during a time when critics say it must change to compete with other sports. Major league baseball recently added two new teams, and owners are considering expanding the number of teams in post-season play, like football, hockey and basketball.

"I think they have to do some things to make the game more attractive to people other than the hard-core baseball fans," Fenkell said. "We did a lot of promotions over the last two or three years."

Championship rings: "Doc" Fenkell shows off his World Series rings, from 1968 and 1984.

Township to spend grant on improving accessibility

Plymouth Township will use $117,000 in federal funds to make township offices more user friendly for handicapped residents.

The township board of trustees on Tuesday approved the measure and other allocations of its 1992 and 1993 federal community development block grant funds.

Money offered to local communities through the program must be used to benefit low- to moderate-income residents, remove blight, or benefit handicapped people.

Trustees approved spending $63,420 for senior transportation, including purchase of a van and $20,000 for improvements and equipment for the senior center.

A preliminary list of township facility changes to aid handicapped residents includes fitting entrance ways with automatic openers, providing accessible work area levels, widening restroom doorways, replacing door handles with U-shaped hardware, widening toilet stalls, replacing faucet handles with wing-type levers, and lowering bathroom dispensers.

Other improvements to aid handicapped people are installing flashing lights to provide a visual signal when fire alarms are activated, telephone speech amplification devices for the hearing-impaired, and handicapped accessible play equipment at Plymouth Township Park.

The senior van and transportation program provides a van equipped with a chair lift and rides for seniors 60 and over in Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Northville, Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

The service can be used for doctor visits, shopping, visiting relatives, education, social activities or other trips. Residents are charged a $2 fee for each trip.

Senior center building improvements involve parking lot resurfacing, sidewalk repair, repair of electrical circuits in the kitchen and repairing the furnace, and buying a vacuum cleaner, fire extinguisher, carpeting, wheel chair, gas range and limestone or lava rock for outside planted areas.

Odyssey of the Mind

Imagination fuels skit

Third-graders at Allen Elementary School were treated to an "Odyssey of the Mind" presentation, compliments of fifth-graders Lara Savitskie, Kara Dupuy, Marianne Juarez, Claudia Sell and Alicia Christoff on Friday.

The students rehearsed their eight-minute skit in preparation for competition the next day at Grosse Pointe North High School.

Odyssey of the Mind challenges students "with a long-term and a short-term problem. You have to put the problems into a skit and solve them," explained a costumed Marianne, moments before her performance.

The Allen School team interpreted "The Old Man and the Sea" by Ernest Hemingway in an original skit entitled "It's Possible," replete with props, songs, choreography and gymnastics.

The students interpreted Hemingway's message to be, "If you believe in yourself, you can achieve the impossible dream."

Their skit follows the exploits of Lara, a city girl who has her heart set on being accepted into a prestigious art school.

The girls entitled their theme song, adapted from "Cinderella," "It's Possible."

"It's possible . . . for a plain city girl to become a famous artist . . . It's possible for a plain white canvas to become a famous painting . . . Such fa-ra-ra and fiddle-dee-dee is planned . . . But the world is full of zanies and fools . . . Who don't believe in sensible rules . . . And don't believe what sensible people say . . . But these deaf, dead, dewey-eyed dopes . . . Keep building up impossible hopes . . . Impossible . . . Things are happening every day."

Whirling and twirling: Claudia Sell performs in a skit presented as a practice session for the regional Odyssey of the Mind competition.

The Odyssey of the Mind performance was a hit with the audience, a room full of students, parents, relatives, teachers and principal Jim Burt.

"It was good. It made sense," said Patrick Abraham, 9.

Burt was also impressed. "This is the second year we've done it, and it's because parents have taken the initiative to provide programs for kids," he said. "We just provide the funding; they do all the work."

Man arrested for stealing shoes off owner's feet

A man, 27, who told Plymouth Township police he has a foot fetish was charged with strong-armed robbery March 8 after he upended a woman entering the Big Boy restaurant at 4468 Ann Arbor Road and stole her shoes.

The woman, 35, of Plymouth, told police she was entering the restaurant and was just pushing open a second set of double doors when she felt hands on both of her ankles.

She screamed, as the suspect yanked her feet from beneath her, causing her to fall face first. The woman said she broke her fall with her hands.

According to the police report, the man took her blue pumps and ran east toward a mall. A witness who works at the restaurant ran after the man, caught up with him and pushed him down, causing him to drop the blue shoes. Still, the man got up and fled again.

The witness said that upon returning to the restaurant, he spotted the man getting into a car, and got the license plate number. Police determined the man lived in Wayne, arrested him and the man signed a statement admitting to the crime, according to police records.

Windows damaged

Three BB or pellet shots broke the windshield of a 1972 Ford Maverick parked at Ernesto's restaurant sometime between 6:30-10:20 p.m., according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

The vandalism resulted in $400 in damage to the car. The investigation was closed for lack of suspects.

Hubcaps taken

Hubcaps valued at $500 were reported stolen at 1:40 p.m. Monday from a 1989 Cadillac parked at Plaza Lanes on Ann Arbor Road, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

A witness told police he spotted a white male in his early 30s, about 6 feet with a mustache, carrying the hubcaps, then riding away from the scene with three other men.

The witness gave police a license number for the getaway car. Police are investigating.

THIS WINTER & YOUR ARTHRITIS

This winter, temperatures were not out of line with past norms and the total inches of snow as not inordinate. Yet you may have felt more irritable, fatigued, and depressed than in past years at this time.

What made this winter worse than others is the length of it and the longstanding icy conditions. Any winter is a strain on arthritic joints. When hands are deformed, putting on gloves, if possible at all, is an exhausting task. Mittens are a possible substitute, but mean a substantial loss in your ability to hold on outdoors if you begin to slip or fall.

If you have arthritis of the feet, you meet similar problems wearing rubbers or galoshes. If you have arthritis involving both hands and feet, then you cannot put on proper winter garb without help. Furthermore, those assisting you must be fairly mobile to undertake the bending and buttoning required for a proper fit of winter boots.

Usually you have trouble explaining to others what hazards for you come with the icy conditions that are part of even a mild winter. If the season is drawn out, as this one was, you must stay in. It is the confinement and the increased dependence on others, as much as your joint inflammation, that causes you prolonged ache.

Adjustable Rate Mortgage

Our Adjustable Rate Mortgage allows you to enjoy this excellent mortgage rate for the first year of the loan. After the first year, your interest rate can only increase by 2% a year or by 6% over the life of the loan. And you have the option to convert to a fixed rate mortgage under certain conditions.

Typical APR (annual percentage rate) includes interest on loan and other fees, and is based on a $100,000 loan with an 80% loan-to-value ratio. The APR may increase after closing. Loan must be for construction or acquisition of borrower's single family owner-occupied primary residence. Interest rates and terms are subject to change at any time without notice. *Based on a 30-year loan. For 15-year loan, APR is 6.319%.

GOP-controlled Senate is ready to pass auto bill

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Many "reform" bills pass one chamber of the Michigan Legislature and die in the other.

That's unlikely to happen with the cost-cutting House Bill 4156 amending the no-fault auto insurance law.

"It was interesting to see them (Democratic leaders) lose control," said Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township.

Passage in the House, which is split 55-55 between the parties, was assured when Republicans remained solid and lured in 11 Democratic votes.

Democrats offered 30 amendments during an eight-hour session and lost all but the minor ones.

The bill will be taken up Tuesday by the Senate Insurance Committee. And since Republicans have 20-16 control and at least one Democrat supports the bill, prompt Senate passage seems certain. Gov. John Engler, a Republican, is looking forward to signing it. It would take effect about April 1, 1994.

A reform bill almost passed the House in mid-1992, when 10 Democrats jumped ship to vote with the Republicans. But Democratic leaders Lew Dodak and Pat Gagliardi halted the roll call vote and adjourned the session.

That couldn't happen last week. In the chair were Republican Speaker Paul Hillemonds of Holland and Associate Speaker pro-tem Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills.

Cuts costs

Essentially, the 109-page bill aims to reduce auto insurance rates 16 percent by reducing required coverage, restricting choices in medical care and approach of mandating insurance rate cuts.

An average driver paying $635 would see insurance rates drop by $100. Michigan ranks 17th nationally.

"Everybody sacrificed," said Jamian, who is in the health care business. He added that suburban rates won't be as tightly tied to Detroit, which has the highest losses and rates in the state.

Although personal injury, property protection and residual liability insurances are required, an estimated one million Michiganders drive uninsured.

How they voted

Final passage came on a 65 to 43 vote. Observer & Eccentric area lawmakers followed party lines:

YES — Republicans Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Penny Crissman of Rochester, Barbara Dobb of West Bloomfield, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak, Greg Kaza of Rochester Hills, Jerry Vorva of Plymouth and Deborah Whyman of Canton.

NO — Democrats Justine Barns of Westland, Maxine Berman of Southfield, William Keith of Garden City and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Most controversial issue: "catastrophic claims," usually closed-head or spinal injuries that cost astronomical sums to treat. In less than a decade, $5 million of insurance on this item has soared from $3 to $118.56 a year.

The reform bill reduces required coverage to $1 million but allows consumers the option of buying up to $5 million.

Said co-sponsor Bill Martin, R-Battle Creek: "$1 million covers 99.7 percent of the auto accident victims. That's a good number." Martin argued that even $1 million is four times as high as most other states require.

Juries capped

Republicans won a major victory in restricting what juries can decide.

Currently, lawsuits for "pain and suffering" require that the injured person suffer death, permanent serious disfigurement or serious impairment of body function. A court ruling leaves decisions to a jury, which in southeastern Michigan have a reputation for generosity.

The reform bill makes it "a question of law for the court" — a judge rather than a jury.

Rep. Tracy Yokich, D-St. Clair Shores, a labor-backed lawmaker, offered an amendment to leave the question to a jury. She lost, 52 to 53, on nearly a party-line vote.

The new bill prohibits a person who was more than 50 percent at fault from suing for damages. Rep. Nick Ciaramitaro, D-Roseville, sought to raise that threshold to 80 percent but lost 47 to 59.

Suburbs helped

Current law ties suburban rates to those in Detroit.

The reform bill eliminates that tie. It prohibits a city from being chopped into different rating zones. It requires that any rating zone contain at least 60,000 registered automobiles.

AAA Michigan, the state's largest auto insurer, charged last year that auto insurance was being used to subsidize hospitals. AAA said auto insurers were paying 133 percent of actual costs while governmental plans such as Medicaid and Medicare were paying just 80 percent.

The new bill caps payouts to hospitals at 113 percent of costs.

The Michigan Association of Trial Lawyers, a plaintiffs group, was hit by one provision of the reform bill. Typically, trial lawyers working on a "contingency" basis collect one-third of the jury award as their fee.

The reform bill caps attorneys fees at: 40 percent for the first $5,000; 35 percent for awards between $5,000 and $25,000; 25 percent for awards between $25,000 and $250,000; 20 percent for awards between $250,000 and $500,000; and 10 percent for awards greater than $500,000.

How lobbies stand

Supporting the bill are: Engler's Commerce Department, AAA Michigan, and Professional Independent Insurance Agents of Michigan.

Opposed are the Michigan Insurance Federation, which said cost savings aren't equal to rate reductions; Michigan Hospital Association, Michigan State Medical Society, Michigan Head Injury Alliance, Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, New Detroit Inc., and Advocacy Organization for Patients and Providers.

County executive McNamara replaced by teen (for a day)

Maybe Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara saw the survey that says fewer than 30 percent of county residents know who he is.

McNamara announced a contest last week whereby a student can be county executive for a day.

Students in grades 9-12 are invited to write 800-1,000 word essays titled, "Why I Want to be the Wayne County Executive." All entries must have a cover sheet with the student's name, address, grade, school and principal's name. Entries must be received by April 5 and addressed to Donna Miller, Wayne County Executive's Office, 600 Randolph, Detroit 48226.

A winner will be announced and notified April 9. Then, during National County Government Week, the winner will take the "oath of office," tour the vast county building and go to work with McNamara and his minions.

"Though the winner may not be able to issue an executive order banning school," a press release says, "he or she will be able to spend part of a day with the county executive as he conducts his business and offer him some friendly advice."

The aforementioned survey, conducted by Wayne State University, polled 1,500 good people in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. While 100 percent of Detroit residents could name their mayor, just 20 percent knew McNamara is the county's honcho. Suburbanites surveyed were much more informed. A full 26 percent of them were aware of the county executive's identity.

LINDA BACHRACK

Bringing up baby with keepsake gifts

A new mother always appreciates a cheerful bouquet of flowers to brighten her bedside or scent the nursery. And a bunch of balloons tied in colorful ribbons is a festive way to welcome a new addition. But to give a keepsake is to give a gift that lasts forever. The heirlooms that I discovered for this column are truly gifts from the heart.

Linda Schlessinger is an entrepreneurial success story. She began designing and knitting tiny sweaters and caps for infants 10 years ago. Word spread of her eye-catching, unusual designs embellished with whimsical antique buttons. She named her creations Annie's Antics.

To showcase her work and the handwork of other designers, Schlessinger opened a children's clothing store in West Bloomfield. Today, Kidz Kloz on Orchard Lake Road in Sugar Tree Square offers shoppers a collection of heirloom-quality christening gowns, day dresses and bonnets, in addition to fun and funky casual kid wear.

All of the Annie's Antics collection is featured here, including adult-size sweaters and vests. Schlessinger employs 65 knitters who work out of their homes around the country, and she sells to 200 stores, including Neiman's and Nordstrom. She has expanded her line to include cotton dresses and delicate crocheted knits trimmed in new and antique lace. Her button collection spills out of huge boxes.

Her keen eye for talented designers is evident in the finery displayed in Schlessinger's shop. Valerie Byrne's one-of-a-kind hand-appliqued and embroidered jackets are standouts ($198). Another exclusive is the Baby Romantic line, hand-painted by Danita. We picture a diaper outfit ($50) with matching shoes ($35) and cap ($30). The ensemble evokes a vintage look, strewn with watercolor pansies. Imagine this montage framed in plexiglas for endless enjoyment.

Store of choice

Twirling like a ballerina in her made-to-order hand-knit sweater and matching silk bloomers, Serita Mehta of West Bloomfield is a vision swathed in lace and satin ribbons. She willingly models some of the store's sassiest spring outfits and sauciest hats. "She wears hats with everything. She loves them," says mom, Sheila. Kidz Kloz has been her store of choice since Serita was born. "Their things are just so unique." I think you'll agree.

For more than 150 years, family and friends have celebrated births with gifts from Tiffany & Co., now directly available to us at the Somerset Collection. Often handed down from generation to generation are hand-chased silver picture frames, cups and porringers. The Tiffany Circus Collection is an exclusive selection of sterling silver and hand-painted enamel figures created by Gene Moore, Tiffany's renowned window display artist. The collection includes a musical carousel.

Genna's Gift Gallery, 234 Main Street in Rochester, is a collector's dream come true. Among the gifts that new moms will cherish are Beatrix Potter porcelain figurines (Peter Rabbit is 100 this year), the Lladro annual baby ornament and musicals from Enesco.

Disney sculptures

But the hottest new gift idea is the Walt Disney Classics Collection ($65-$200). For the very first time, Walt Disney Studios has translated its beloved film characters from two-dimensional drawings to three-dimensional sculptures, capturing their personalities. Each sculpture is hand-assembled and painted, guided by Disney animators. A backstamp of Walt Disney's actual signature guarantees authenticity. As you look with amazement at Jimmy Cricket, you can almost hear him say "from all of us to all of you" — a timeless gift of memories.

A special memento is a silhouette portrait of your baby. Baby and Me in the Crosswinds Mall in West Bloomfield presents silhouettist Clay Rice on Thursday, March 18, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Call 855-3214 to schedule a sitting for this charming traditional keepsake ($14).

Renovations in store at Summit Place

Hudson's officials hope you'll feel at home while shopping in the soon-to-be renovated Summit Place Mall store. Soft interiors with couches, triple mirrors in dressing rooms, and a bistro-style Marketplace will highlight the store.

"Ease of shopping" is the catch phrase that guided Andrew Markopoulos, Hudson's senior vice president of store design, through the renovation plans for the Summit Place Mall store.

"With an eye on today's shopper's crunch for time, we planned the new Summit Place store around a 16-foot-wide main aisle with a clear view to the escalators and adjoining departments.

The whole store will be reconfigured," he said.

"All women's departments will be located on one floor. A Men's Club will be housed on the lower level. The third-floor restaurant will be replaced with a Marketplace takeout or sit-down food area. There will be several circular cash and wraps throughout the store, each with four registers to facilitate shopping during sales and holidays.

"When we're through, this store will shimmer, sparkle and glisten like the Hudson's of old," he said. "We're even restoring the original 100-year-old Hudson's logo for the store's front. It's time to bring it back."

The 18-month renovation project begins May 1. Hudson's president Dennis Toffolo refused to disclose the project's pricetag, stating the cost is part of Hudson's ongoing five-year strategic plan for store improvements.

Toffolo said the renovation-expansion would add 50-75 new sales jobs to the store through the opening of an Oval Room, Country Shop, Fur Salon and the doubling in size of the shoe, cosmetics, and

Merchants get meals on wheels

Sure Domino's delivers, but now the Picnic Food Court at Summit Place Mall does too!

Sue Collins of Waterford can be spotted tricycling hot lunches to merchants throughout the mall between 1 and 7 p.m. daily. The delivery tricycle's trunk is a wicker picnic basket large enough to hold several orders per go-round. A bumper sticker reads: Picnic. Guess Who Delivers?

"As far as I know, we're the only mall in metro-Detroit to provide this service for our tenants," said Rita Boyles, marketing manager at Summit Place on Telegraph at Elizabeth Lake Road in Waterford. "It's a novel idea that helps save time. And for merchants running their store with only one person, they can now eat lunch or dinner without leaving the premises unattended."

In its second week, the food court delivery program is a quick hit with merchants. A phone call to any of the food court's nine restaurants brings orders more than $2.50 to their store within minutes.

"We love it here at Foot Locker," said assistant manager Bob Bridges. "It's pretty cool. A neat idea. If there's one guy in the store, he can't leave. It was a problem getting something to eat before the tricycle got here. We've already used it several times. It's fun."

Taco Bell crew leader Mike Meyer explained that it benefits the restaurant staff, too.

"Before the tricycle, if we weren't busy, we'd have a crew person run the order over to a store," he said. "But then we were short one crew person for awhile. If we couldn't make a delivery, the merchants would get grouchy — you know how it is when you're hungry."

The tricycle will continue deliveries through Oct. 31.

Lunch express: Sue Collins of Waterford drives the new Picnic Food Court delivery tricycle, bringing lunch and dinner to hungry retailers throughout the Summit Place Mall.

Bonus Lotto starts with a guaranteed $4 million jackpot - and rolls over by $4 million every time!

More chances to win!

Players win the Grand Prize by matching 6 of 47 numbers drawn. BUT, if you don't match all six, there are still more chances to win. Because a 7th ball is then drawn - called the Bonus Ball. The Bonus Ball gives players even more chances to win more cash prizes. Here's how:

Match all 6 numbers drawn and you win the Jackpot!

Match 5 of the 6 numbers drawn plus the bonus ball and you win $50,000!

Match 4 of the 6 numbers drawn plus the bonus ball and you win $1,000!

Match 3 of the 6 numbers drawn plus the bonus ball and you win $100!

Match 2 of the 6 numbers drawn plus the bonus ball and you win $4.

$2 is all it takes!

Each Bonus Lotto wager costs $2.00 and is valid for the next Lotto drawing unless multiple drawings are selected. If multiple draws are played, a player can play up to 20 consecutive draws.

One drawing, once a week!

Bonus Lotto drawings are now held just once a week - every Saturday at 7:30 p.m. on the Megabucks television show. Check your local television listings for the television station in your area.

Man dies after being hit by car

A 40-year-old Belleville man was killed Thursday night in a pedestrian-car accident at Michigan Avenue and Lilley Road.

Walter Stanley Brutkiewicz was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, which occurred about 8:41 p.m., according to Tammie Colling, Canton police community relations officer.

"We don't know too much at this point," Colling said.

But it appears that Brutkiewicz was walking on the north side of eastbound Michigan when he was struck by a Ford Ranger, driven by a 34-year-old Dearborn man who was traveling south on Lilley.

After Brutkiewicz was knocked down by the Ranger, a second vehicle, a Toyota pickup driven by a 48-year-old Ypsilanti man, ran him over. Canton's Accident Investigation Team responded.

Brutkiewicz was pronounced dead at the scene and transported to the Wayne County Medical Examiner, Colling said.

No charges have been filed against either driver, pending completion of the investigation.

East band members win 91 medals

Students from the East Middle School Bands set the record for medal-winning performances at the MSBOA District XII Solo and Ensemble Festival at a recent competition.

The previous record of 75 medals from 75 performances, set by the students of the 1992 East Middle School Bands, was one-upped by the students as they captured 91 medals from 91 performances. In addition, the East Band students captured the most first-division medals of any participating band.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH SUMMARY OF ORDINANCE 93-02 WATER AND SEWER SYSTEM

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND PARAGRAPHS A, C, D AND H OF SECTION 73.040, AND PARAGRAPHS A, B AND C OF SECTION 73.050, OF CHAPTER 73 OF PART 7 OF THE CODE OF THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH; TO AMEND THE WATER CONSUMPTION RATES AND THE SEWAGE DISPOSAL RATES FOR THE TOWNSHIP; PROVIDING FOR THE SEVERABILITY OF THIS ORDINANCE; PROVIDING FOR THE REPEAL OF ALL OTHER INCONSISTENT ORDINANCES; PROVIDING FOR THE SAVINGS CLAUSE OF THIS ORDINANCE AND PROVIDING FOR THE PUBLICATION AND EFFECTIVE DATE OF THE ORDINANCE.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Amendment to Chapter 73. That Paragraphs A, C, D and H of Section 73.040, Paragraphs A, B and C of section 73.050, are hereby amended to read as follows:

73.040. Water Rates

A. Consumption Rate. The consumption rate shall be $1.31 per 1,000 gallons.

C. Minimum Water Rates. This section provides Minimum Water Rates charged.

D. Water Tap Charge. This section provides rates for the installation of water service.

H. Other Charges. This Section provides for other charges to be levied for inspection, construction periods and other services.

73.050. Sewer System Rates.

A. Sewer Disposal Use Rates:

(1) Such rates shall be levied on each lot or parcel of land, building or premises now or hereafter having any connection with the sewers of the system. Such rates shall be billed along with the water bill and shall be based on the quantity of water used therein (if there is such a meter).

(2) The sewage disposal rate shall be $1.60 per 1,000 gallons of metered water.

B. Minimum Sewage Rates. This section provides minimum monthly and quarterly sewage use rates.

C. Single Residences Unmetered Water. This Section provides for rates for residents with unmetered water supply.

Section 2. Severability. This Section provides that the Ordinance is declared to be severable.

Section 3. Repeal. This Section provides that all ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

Section 4. Savings Clause. This Section provides that the repeal does not abrogate or affect any offense or act committed or done occurring prior to the effective date hereof.

Section 5. Publication. This Section provides that the Township Clerk shall cause the Ordinance to be published in a manner required by law.

Section 6. Effective Date. This Section provides that the Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication.

Please note that the preceding is a summary of a proposed amendment to Chapter 73, Water and Sewer Systems. It will be considered for second reading and adoption at the next regular meeting of the Board of Trustees scheduled for Tuesday, March 23, 1993, at 7:30 p.m. in the Township Hall.

The amendment in its entirety is available for perusal in the Clerk's Office in the Clerk's Building, adjacent to Township Hall, 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, Michigan. The offices are open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Phone Number 453-3840, Ext. 224.

Legislation to weed out bad doctors clears state Senate

AP — Legislation to crack down on bad doctors, the flip side of recently passed medical malpractice bills, cleared the Senate earlier this month on lopsided votes.

The bills would establish new investigation requirements, increase membership on several health occupations boards, require doctors to turn in guilty colleagues, and increase licensing fees.

"If we're going to control medical malpractice costs, we have to get rid of bad doctors," said Sen. Vernon Ehlers, R-Grand Rapids and sponsor of the chief bill.

That bill passed the Senate 32-4. Other measures passed on votes of 34-0, 35-0 and 36-0, and all went to the Michigan House.

However, the legislation does not mandate a cut in medical malpractice insurance premiums, as at least one senator suggested. "Who knows what the numbers (the cost savings to insurers) are going to be?" Ehlers said.

The bills also require doctors for whom English is a second language to pass a proficiency test for verbal skills.

Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, the chamber's only doctor, called the provision "discriminatory" and said it wouldn't survive a legal challenge. But others supported the requirement.

"You should be able to understand what the doctor is trying to tell you," said Sen. Donald Koivisto, D-Ironwood. Ehlers said that some doctors "have retained an accent and that impedes understanding."

The legislation is seen as a companion to a medical malpractice bill which passed the Senate recently. Among other things, that bill is intended to cut malpractice insurance costs by weeding out frivolous lawsuits, limit awards for non-economic damages, impose a stricter statute of limitations, and limit attorney fees.

The bills that passed the Senate last week would, among other things:

- Establish new state requirements for investigations of health professionals.
- Create disciplinary advisory subcommittees for each health occupation to review allegations and complaints.
- Increase the membership of several health occupations boards and establish new licensure requirements for health professionals.
- Establish a "recovery committee" to monitor and help "impaired health professionals," such as doctors who use illegal drugs.

- Increase certain health professional fees.
- Impose reporting requirements on insurers of doctors in certain fields and on the state insurance commissioner, to evaluate the level of malpractice suits and the level of insurance competition.
- Require the Department of Public Health to establish a Medical Liability Demonstration Project and the adoption of "practice parameters" and "risk management protocols" for various specialties.
- Allow the use of such standards as defenses against malpractice suits, if the doctor involved had agreed to participate in a demonstration project.
- Require courts to report the conviction of a health professional for a felony and certain misdemeanors.

Dr. Thomas Payne, president of the Michigan State Medical Society, praised the Senate for swift action and said he hoped the House would follow suit. "We have pushed the Legislature for more than five years to strengthen the physician licensure and discipline system," he said. "We hope the House will then follow up with meaningful medical liability reform."

Elks can't exclude women appeals court panel rules

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Sharon Lee Schellenberg has won a second state court ruling that the Rochester Elks lodge can't exclude her because she's a woman.

Elks lodge 2225 defended itself by saying it was a private club exempt from the Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights Act.

"The (trial) court found defendant to be both a place of public service and a place of public accommodation. The court also concluded defendant (Elks) lacked the selectivity necessary to be considered a private club exempt from this act," said a Court of Appeals panel. "We agree with the trial court on all counts."

The three-member panel included Judges Elizabeth Weaver, Gary McDonald and Janet Neff. Trying the case in 1989 was Oakland Circuit Judge Hilda Gage.

The civil rights act was named for then Reps. Mel Larsen, a Republican who represented the Rochester area, and Daisy Elliott, a Democrat from Detroit. The act prohibits the denial of access to, and enjoyment of, services provided by places of public accommodation and public service because of gender.

Schellenberg applied for membership in 1988 and was rejected because of gender. Judge Gage ruled in her favor Nov. 15, 1989.

Gage awarded her $800 in costs and $52,000 in attorney fees. The appeals panel sent the case back to Gage for a rehearing on the attorney's fees, saying she erred in awarding "a 50 percent fee enhancement" that amounted to $17,500.

The panel also said Schellenberg was entitled to attorney's fees for the appeal. She was represented by attorney Michael Curhan. The lodge was represented by Grand Rapids attorney Richard Hooker.

In determining that the Elks lodge was covered by the law, the appeals judges looked at the lodge's own pamphlet:

"Here, the pamphlet, distributed to defendant's members, clearly indicates the purpose or object of the 'order' to be the practice of charity.

"Additionally, the evidence indicated defendant cosponsors a local drug awareness program with the police department, sponsors an annual children's basketball contest and provides its banquet facilities free of charge to certain charitable organizations.

Public bodies squirm under his watchful eye

Godness knows I've beaten up on Attorney General Frank Kelley more than once — for his hypersensitivity about his age (67) and his propensity to trumpet consumer issues in an election year.

So in fairness I should pat him on the back and say, "Attaboy, Frank," when he does something right. He has, and I do.

Kelley last week ruled the Open Meetings Act means what it says about public bodies' posting notices before holding a meeting. No posting, no meeting.

Kelley has been fairly strong in interpreting the Open Meetings Act to protect the public interest, though there are times when I wish he could summon the resources to prosecute violators, as he clearly has the power to do in secs. 10 (1) and 11 (1).

Kelley issued Opinion No. 6753 in response to Rep. Philip Hoffman, R-Jackson County. Hoffman wanted to know whether a county board could recess its meeting and hold committee meetings that hadn't been posted. The answer was a clear no.

The OMA, as it's called, says, "A meeting of a public body shall not be held unless public notice is given . . ." The public must get 18 hours notice.

The term "public body" includes committees and subcommittees, too — any body which exercises governmental or proprietary authority.

"Whenever a quorum of a public body meets to discuss public business, it is a meeting subject to the OMA," Kelley went on.

Kelley's opinion goes on to give the reader some lessons you never learned in high school civics about the lengths to which politicians will go in order to meet secretly.

Suppose a county board recesses and a subquorum of a committee meets without posting a notice. That's OK, says Kelley — provided "the committees are purely advisory in nature, and deliberation on a common topic leading to a decision by the public body does not take place among the committees."

In other words, they may talk about Joe the janitor's retirement party, but they'd better not take up the solid waste plan.

Suppose a county board recesses, and a subquorum of Committee A and a subquorum of Committee B hold separate meetings. Now suppose the two subquorums discuss the same resolution, and the full board acts on the resolution. What then?

No can do. They have to follow the OMA, said Kelley, citing the sins of the Wyoming City Council and the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

Most of Kelley's opinions on the 1976 Open Meetings Act have upheld the public's right to watch its elected officials. Samples:

- Remember that 18-hour public notice to hold a meeting? The clock stops when the building is closed. The board should post the notice outside the building. (No. 5724 of 1980.)
- A board may not limit the subject and issues people can cover in addressing a meeting. (No. 5218 of 1977)
- A legislative committee may not vote by "round-robin" collection of signatures on a tally sheet. (No. 5222 of 1977)
- A public body may not vote by a procedure which prevents the public from knowing how individuals voted. In other words, no secret ballot unless the ballots are signed and made public. (No. 5262 of 1978)

- A public body may meet outside its boundaries, but not at a distance that would make it difficult for the public to attend. (No. 5560 of 1979)

(Note: The Detroit Board of Education met recently in Lansing for a "retreat" sponsored by New Detroit Inc. Both bodies deserve to be prosecuted.)

- A public body is required to furnish a copy of its posted notice of meeting to Michigan newspapers and broadcasters when a written request is made. The notice should be sent by first class mail, postage paid, free of charge. (No. 6353 of 1985)

Attaboy, Frank! Pat, pat.

Let's hope trout in the Rouge survive Engler plan

Last spring the Western Wayne Conservation Club planted brown trout in the upper reaches of the Rouge River, and as I drive through Hines Park, thoughts of the spotted little trout making their way in the river give me hope.

Trout in the Rouge means the world can be OK around here. Trout are part of the salmonoid family and are the aristocrats of the fish world because they demand more oxygen in the water than the more lowly carp or catfish.

Being a snob when it comes to fish, I had little regard for the Rouge until the trout plantings in the upper portions of the river. My thoughts ran to the Ausable or the Manistee where there were trout, not the Rouge where the lowly catfish and carp live.

However, if we allow John Engler to remain as governor much longer, all we'll have is trash fish and a trashed

The aristocrats: Brown trout are the aristocrats of the fish world, and the planting of them in upper reaches of the Rouge last spring is an indication of the river's recovery from a polluted state.

JEFF COUNTS

If we allow John Engler to remain as governor much longer, all we'll have is trash fish and a trashed state.

state. Engler is a small town bozo who is trying to privatize state parks, which really means he wants to turn over our public lands to corporations who will in turn charge us to use them.

Republicans call this being efficient, but privatizing parks and marinas is nothing more than putting the GOP stamp of approval on corruption like they did with the savings and loan bailout. These guys would turn Lake Michigan into a sewer in the name of privatization.

Let's hope the Rouge survives Gov. Bozo and keeps getting cleaner. Just looking at it and knowing the trout are there help me believe spring will show up some day. I probably look at rivers in winter the way golfers look at snow covered courses, thinking how they would play them.

The point here, though, is that fly fishing for trout is more than a sport. It's a state of mind, and it's a state where it's always summer. That's why instead of day dreaming, I envision trout streams in northern Michigan.

Such thoughts will keep you warmer than romance. I have to admit that on Valentine's Day, my thoughts ran to hearts, but it was the Two Hearted River in the Upper Peninsula.

I first noticed this personal phenomenon when I went to see the movie, "A River Runs Through It." I was more interested in the fishing than in the love scenes; the latter had the standard plot, while the former made the Kama Sutra look like child's play.

Even my reading material has the scent of fish instead of perfume. About the closest I got to a romance novel this year was "Sex, Death and Fly-Fishing" by John Gierach, which raised a few eyebrows, but shouldn't have. It's about the sex life of the mayfly, an insect. These little guys only live 24 hours, so the romance thing gets hectic. There's no room for headaches.

Perhaps dreams of trout edging out romance are triggered by the onset of middle age, but I don't think so. The world of rivers is more interesting than that of wine and roses. Catching a trout is more rewarding; there's never a hangover, unless you go to the bar afterward, and you can always release a trout after catching it. Women tend to want relationships that last longer. In both cases I've always preferred catch and release.

Perhaps we should apply that technique to Gov. Bozo. We pulled this cold fish out of murky, conservative waters in the last election, and now that we've seen his colors, it's time to row him back.

It's what you do when you catch a bottom feeding sucker when you're after trout.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers and is looking for a recipe for smoked sucker fish. He can be reached at 459-2700 or faxed at 459-4224.

hundreds of stores nationwide. "Buyers have to research their market, identify product selection, negotiate the price, study sales reports, order quantities to sell, time the deliveries, and make delivery arrangements," she said. "You don't just step into the job, it requires years of experience. In most cases you work as an associate or assistant before becoming a buyer."

Most buyers have a college degree in business or liberal arts. The pay scale is a huge window depending on experience and level of responsibility. Buyers earn between $30,000 and $80,000, according to M.J. On top of their base pay, many companies offer incentive programs to financially reward good buyers who make them lots of money, boosting their salaries into six figures.

"When you travel, and that's usually to New York, California or the Far East, you're gone for three to four weeks at a time," she said. "And the truth is buyers are never right, you always buy too much or too little."

Buyers live in a world nine months ahead of the rest of mankind. They are shopping for Christmas on St. Patrick's Day.

Kathleen Richard, a former buyer for Hudson's, now teaches retail management at Madonna University in Livonia. The school has several retail programs including a 30-credit, one-year certificate program for people with degrees in other fields hoping to change careers.

"If you want to pursue a buying career, you should have several talents," she said. "You need to be analytical. Buyers are constantly looking at sales figures to project open-to-buy ranges."

"You must be able to use a computer and work with figures. People skills are priceless. Buyers must be good at spotting trends and working with merchandise. You must also be in excellent health for traveling. You can't be ill when markets are open."

Dawn Erickson buys women's sportswear for Dayton-Hudson from her office in Minneapolis.

"If you are a good buyer, you live your job," she said. "You can't see a movie, go shopping, or travel without looking for upcoming trends in fashion and lifestyle. You can't reach conclusions. Shoppers change their mind often, and you need to get out of what's not happening. Today's retail graduates need to know it will take about five years of experience to reach the buyer level. Master's degrees in business are also in demand for this position, especially when buying for national retailers."

accessories departments. "There has been a thirst for this improvement for a number of years now," said Waterford Supervisor Dennis Ritter. "The community is very excited about Hudson's plans to renovate their Summit Place store." Mall manager Joseph Tyree agreed. "Customers have been calling for improvements to the Summit Hudson's store," he said. "Other retailers in the mall share the excitement and enthusiasm associated with Hudson's plans. The mall was expanded in 1988 and the modernization of the Hudson store fits in well with these plans."

Hudson's is targeting the upscale shopper. Recent demographics show shoppers come from the communities of Clarkston, Lake Orion, the Bloomfields, the lakes areas, Pontiac and Waterford. Tyree says $68,000 is the median income. "We share the same shoppers with the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi." The "at-home feeling" of the new Hudson's store will be most obvious in the stationery-book department where rich mahogany and deep burgundy will be used to recreate an English library to house the merchandise.

"Until then, customers will have to 'excuse our dust,'" Tofolo said with a grin. "The store will be open throughout the renovation project."

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Muster up courage to make some mustard

Whoever came up with the old adage — "You can't cut the mustard" never realized that someday my pantry shelves would be about ready to collapse under the weight of several dozen varieties.

Mustard varieties

Remember when the only choice was which brand of yellow prepared mustard to buy? Nowadays, you are driven to choose between a musky flavored green peppercorn mustard from Brussels or a herb and spice loaded Mustard de Meaux from France.

Even in jolly old England, the pubs are dispensing an infamous hot pub mustard made fresh every day and served with the traditional bangers, (English sausages), chops, meat pies and pickles. Probably one of the foremost, and mildly respected, of the imported flavorful mustards is the Dijon. Needless to say, this mustard is named after the famous French town that has been synonymous with fine mustard for centuries.

Would you believe that there is a shop named the "Grey Poupon" that is now part museum and part retail establishment? They have mustard containers that date back to 1400 on display.

Being an apprentice in the homemade mustard department, I came across a few interesting mustard recipes. They fared quite well when served as a base for salad dressings, enriching a hearty stew or just slathered on a thick slice of pumpernickel bread with pastrami.

Storing mustard

If you're thinking of making homemade mustards, don't be afraid to face the challenge. The recipes are quite simple.

Homemade mustards should be tightly sealed and stored in a cool, dark place. A fruit cellar is perfect! They will keep this way for months, and will last indefinitely if stored in the refrigerator.

To alleviate the dryness that usually forms around the mouth and bottom of the jar, try storing your mustard upside down in the fridge. This creates an airtight seal that will prevent blackening and drying on the rim.

If you want to be adventuresome, and try a few of my homemade recipes, use both the yellow and black variety of mustard seeds and powder. Each will impart its own interesting character to the finished product.

I have found that when bottling homemade mustards, those neat little bottles available at most cookware shops, hardware stores and chemical distributors work well. I like to use the small clamp-type, wide mouth jars.

Making mustard

A word of advice from someone with delicate sinuses. If you endeavor to make your own mustards at home in a small, non-ventilated kitchen, keep a window open and, if you have an exhaust fan, turn it on.

Yours truly kitchen-tested the recipe for English pub mustard. When I took the top off of the food processor, I was almost knocked off my feet with an overpowering whiff of the good stuff.

It reminded me of another experience I had making mustard. A long, long, time ago, I took a Chinese cooking class from a lady named Madame Woo. While preparing the egg rolls, I was given the job of making the mustard sauce for them.

In a small glass bowl about 1/4 cup of powdered yellow mustard was poured. To that a few tablespoons of white vinegar was added. Then I was ordered to stir.

"Stir more," was the order shouted by Madame Woo as my arm began to make backward overtures from boredom. "Faster! faster," she shouted.

"When will I be done?" was the question of the evening. Even the other students who noticed my arm beginning to flop and writhe with muscle spasms started to ask — "When will he be done?"

"When you can't tolerate the smell," was the answer from the little lady who was on her second bottle of Sake. How true.

The more powdered mustard is processed, the stronger it becomes. So beware of those food processor blades traveling 2,500 rpm's. They make potent products!

If making homemade mustard proves a little too hard or time consuming to tackle, the Merchant of Vine with stores in Southfield, Birmingham and Troy has more mustards than you can shake a breadstick at.

Personal favorites include locally made Mucky Duck Mustard.

Nestled in neat little crocks with cork tops is the imported Mustarde de Meaux which is coarse. When this mustard is stirred into cream and reduced, it makes a great sauce for fish and fresh vegetables.

Irish fare:
PLAIN

First cousins Kevin Brennan and Michael Connery are chefs who demonstrate how tasty and satisfying Irish cooking really is.

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

Ireland is a small, rock- and sea-bound nation, never a prosperous land in the classic meaning of the word. And yet, Ireland seizes the imagination, perhaps with an image of little people, or smiling eyes, the gift of gab, or Olympian dramatists.

But when it comes to food, Ireland gets a bad rap, for what seizes the imagination is potatoes and green beer. Yuk! It's as off base as thinking of French cuisine as pommes frites.

Happily, two first cousins, Kevin Brennan, executive chef of Orchard Lake Country Club, and Michael Connery, executive chef of Bloomfield Hills Country Club, have appeared on the scene to demonstrate how tasty and satisfying Irish cookery really is.

They should know: Their mothers, Resaline Brennan and Patsy Connery, who are sisters, were born and raised in County Kerry. The cousins enjoyed the best of Irish cookery as children.

"It's a peasant style of cooking," said Kevin Brennan, "You have to enjoy it for what it is. Freshness is everything. There are no finer oyssters or salmon anywhere in the world than in Ireland, and that's true of the seafood generally.

"The growing season is very short, so they don't have the variety of vegetables that we do here. Irish turnips are a golden yellow, like our rutabagas. And they do have an infinite number of ways to cook potatoes, often combined with other vegetables, perhaps pureed with parsnips, or scalloped with leeks. Typically, in an Irish meal the emphasis is on vegetables, with a small amount of protein."

Brennan said the St. Patrick's Day theme dinner — roast leg of lamb, scalloped potato with leek, pureed carrots and parsnips, with an apple tart for dessert, that he made when the club opened in 1992, was almost identical to the dinner he had at his aunt's house in Kerry this past fall.

Brennan's aunt and uncle own a farm in Kerry, and the chef had the opportunity to meet real sheep, outside of the kitchen. It turned out that picking up a live sheep and lifting him into the back of a truck is a sheep of a different color. "About the only part of a sheep I'd seen before was a leg," he said.

And the breads! Traditionally, Irish breads are quick breads, calling for baking powder and baking soda. The reason is partly because oatmeal and potato flours were more commonly available than wheat flour, and because most Irish cooking was done over a hearth. Breads were baked in a three-legged pot over a peat fire. Ovens were not common in Irish homes until the 1940s.

"Coming from the cooking field, I really appreciated the breads," said Brennan. "I've been to Germany, but the Irish breads were the best I had ever tasted. Besides soda breads made from wheatmeal and grain, or a sweeter soda bread made with white flour, there were scones and biscuit bread, a sort of spoon bread, and yeast breads, as well."

Brennan and Mike Connery each have fond memories of "goody," a sort of bread pudding that was a

Fortant de France wines affordable, enjoyable

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

People who drink wine, as opposed to collecting it, enjoy browsing wine shops in search of that elusive bargain — a tasty, inexpensive pour.

Experience can be a tough teacher, since quality and price frequently go hand in hand. As with most things, you soon learn that you get what you pay for.

If you are open to a suggestion, remember the name Fortant de France. This brand of vins de pays (French country wines) is new to the Detroit metro area and includes five 100 percent varietal wines — cabernet sauvignon, merlot, syrah, chardonnay and sauvignon blanc.

The chardonnay is priced at $7 while the others can be purchased for $6 per bottle at most local wine retailers. Rather than using French place names such as Corbiere or Minervois, familiar varietal (grape) names appear on the label.

All are solid, warming, generously fruity wines intended to be consumed, not aged. At these prices, it is possible to enjoy wine in the middle of the week with everyday fare of fish, chicken, beef stew, ham, sausage or hamburgers.

We were particularly impressed with the 1992 Fortant de France Sauvignon Blanc and the 1991 Merlot. The sauvignon blanc is fresh and fruity with aromas of melons and grapefruit with a delicate touch of grass, the characteristic smell of fresh sauvignon blanc grapes. The 1991 Merlot is soft and velvety with good length.

"We want our merlot to be a drinkable, approachable wine for current enjoyment," said winemaker Philippe Tolleret.

Our question for Tolleret was how can you make these wines in France, ship them to the United States and charge only $6-$7 per bottle? He explained that the wines of Fortant de France are grown in the Languedoc-Roussillon where the weather is warm and vineyard land is cheap.

The Languedoc-Roussillon (pronounced LON-guh-doc roo-see-YOHN) is 250 miles long and 60 miles wide extending along the French Mediterranean coast from the Spanish border to the Rhone River. "Within this very large region there are 800,000 potential vineyard acres, one-third of the vineyard acreage in all of France," said Tolleret. "This is five times more vineyard area than in Australia."

Within the Languedoc-Roussillon there are three major climates. The hot, humid Mediterranean zone is planted to chardonnay, merlot and cabernet sauvignon. Sauvignon blanc, syrah and grenache are planted on chalky, gravelly slopes in a cooler region that benefits from the warming influence of the sea. Other varietals are planted in the foothills of a mountain range known as the Massif Central. Here there is a warm, summer drought preceded by cold springs and followed by low autumn temperatures.

Beside making wine, it has been Tolleret's responsibility to encourage growers to plant new varietals and determine the adaptability of the vines to the region's varied climates and soils.

"We work with 120 growers," he said. "We tell them what grapes to plant and exactly how to grow them. We reward the growers who follow our method and produce ripe flavorful fruit that goes into our wines."

To do this, growers had to be persuaded to rip out old, traditional varieties and plant the grapes that Tolleret requires for his 100 percent varietal wines. He convinced them to restrict their yield and stress quality.

WINE SELECTIONS

French wine law requires that when the grape name is printed on the label, the wine inside the bottle must be made 100% from that named varietal. For $6 to $7 per bottle, you can taste well-made cabernet sauvignon, merlot, syrah, chardonnay and sauvignon blanc from Fortant de France and experience the taste differences.

dessert treat when they were children, and a comfort food when they were sick.

"I remember my grandmother visiting us when we were children. She would make goody, and we would sit on the floor in a half-circle around her chair, and she would feed it to us out of a spoon," Said Connelly.

"It's really a recipe for using up stale bread, but my children always loved it. When I would ask them what special dish they wanted, it was always goody," said Patay Connelly.

This year, the Bloomfield Hills Country Club opened with a St. Patrick's theme dinner buffet. In addition to leg of lamb, there was salmon, braised cabbage and other vegetable dishes, white soda bread with caraway seeds and currents, and rice pudding.

"Irish flavors are very good," said Connelly, who also visited Ireland recently. "Pork and lamb roasts are typical, with vegetables roasted in the pan.

"The foods you had as a child stay in your mind. Besides goody, I remember tea with soda bread and rough-cut Irish marmalade. There's always something to eat in an Irish home, not fancy, but good."

See recipes inside.

Tolleret wants mature grapes for the chardonnay which is 20-30 percent barrel fermented and aged for six months in oak. "We do not let our chardonnay undergo malolactic fermentation because it speeds the aging process," said Tolleret. "We want to retain the fresh fruit character in our wines."

To increase the intensity of the astringency, Tolleret draws off 20 percent of the juice before fermentation. This leaves less juice in contact with the skins and offers greater concentration and color.

"At Fortant de France, we achieve easy-drinking red wines by avoiding the harsh tannins we get in the south of France," Tolleret said. "We get flavor and length on the palate by employing a long maceration in which the grapes remain in contact with the juice for up to 20 days and give the wines just a touch of barrel age."

ROAST LEG OF LAMB WITH NATURAL JUS

- 1 leg of lamb, 7-8 pounds, boned, rolled and tied
- 3 garlic cloves, chopped
- 1 sprig of fresh rosemary, chopped
- 1 medium Spanish onion, rough cut
- 1 carrot, pared, rough cut
- 2 celery ribs, rough cut
- Roasting spices as needed (see recipe below)

Partially untie leg of lamb and season cavity with roasting spice, garlic, and rosemary. Retie. Season surface of meat liberally with roasting spices.

Sear lamb in large skillet, turning to brown meat (or sear in 450 degree oven for 20 minutes). Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Place rough cut mirepoix (onions, carrot, celery), on the bottom of a roasting pan, and set lamb on top of mirepoix. Cook lamb for approximately 2 1/4 hours, or until internal temperature reads 128 degrees on a quick-read thermometer. Let meat stand 20 minutes to set juices. Slice and serve with natural jus. Serves 8 to 10 people.

Recipe courtesy Kevin Brennan

ROASTING SPICES

- 2 cups Kosher salt
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 2 teaspoons freshly ground black pepper
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground white pepper
- 2 teaspoons fresh chopped parsley
- 1 sprig fresh rosemary, chopped

2 teaspoons finely chopped garlic
Blend spices together. Reserve unused portion for other uses.

NATURAL JUS WITH RED WINE AND ROSEMARY

- 2 cups Burgundy wine
- 1 quart veal or lamb stock (beef may be substituted)
- 3 teaspoons tomato paste
- 1 bay leaf
- 6 Black peppercorns
- 1 sprig of rosemary
- 2 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch, mixed with an equal amount of cold water
- salt and pepper to taste

Deglaze roasting pan with wine, add pan juices, mirepoix and wine to a sauce pot. Reduce by 1/2, add remaining ingredients, except cornstarch, and reduce to half again. Add starch/water mixture, bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Check consistency and seasonings, strain and serve.

We had to have one potato recipe, so here's one from an authentic Irish cookbook — "Irish Bread and Cake," Malachi McCormick (The Stone Street Press, 1981).

PRATIE OATEN

- 3 large potatoes
 - 1/4 pound butter
 - 1/2 pound oatmeal (about 1/2 cup)
 - pinch of salt
- Have the butter melting in a double boiler. Boil and mash the potatoes. Allow them to cool off a bit. Mix in the oatmeal to form a soft dough. Add the melted butter and the pinch of salt and knead well in. Roll out on a board and then blank out with a 2-inch cookie cutter.

Fry in a little bacon fat or butter. ("Pratie" is an Anglicized form of the Irish word "prata," potato).

GOODY

- 2 cups milk
 - 1 beaten egg
 - 4 slices bread
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
- Scald the two cups of milk. Remove from stove. Add a beaten egg, stirring it into the milk. The hot milk will cook the egg. Break 4 slices of bread into a bowl, add 2 tablespoons sugar. Pour the milk and egg mixture over the bread, and stir. Beat eaten warm. For a treat, you may add 1/4 cup raisins to the milk as it heats. Try a sprinkle of cinnamon on top.

Recipes courtesy of Patsy Connery of County Kerry, Ireland.

PATSY CONNERY'S SODA BREAD

- 4 cups unbleached white flour
- 1 cup whole germ
- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- Heaping tablespoon of baking soda and baking powder
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 1/2 cups buttermilk
- 1/2 teaspoons salt

Mix dry ingredients. Cut buttermilk into mixture with a fork until it forms a doughball. Can cook in a greased 8-inch cake pan, or a cheesecake springform pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven about 45 minutes, or until it sounds hollow when you rap on the bottom of the loaf.

Stir up some homemade flavored mustards

See Larry Janes' column on Taste front.

FENNEL SEED MUSTARD

- 6 tablespoons crushed fennel seed
- 3 cups dry mustard
- 1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
- 4 tablespoons salt
- 1/4 cup peanut oil

Using a mortar and pestle or food processor, crush fennel seed. Add dry ingredients and mix well. With the machine running, add vinegar then add oil in a slow stream until a mayonnaise consistency is achieved.

Transfer to jar. Refrigerate or store in a cool, dark place. Mustard is great with pate, ham, meat loaf, and pork.

TARRAGON MUSTARD

- 2 cups dry mustard
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup tarragon vinegar
- 2 tablespoons dried tarragon
- 1/2 cup olive oil

Combine all ingredients except olive oil and mix well. Slowly add olive oil and blend until mixture resembles mayonnaise. Pour into a jar, store in a cool, dark place. This mustard is excellent on steamed or vegetables and cold shellfish.

ENGLISH PUB MUSTARD

- 2 cups dry mustard
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon turmeric
- 10 ounces flat ale

Combine all ingredients except ale. Slowly add ale while whisking until it is like mayonnaise. Transfer to jar and store in a dark, cold space. This mustard is great with sausages, cold cuts, and cheese.

SWEDISH HOT MUSTARD

- 4 eggs
- 1/2 cup light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup apple cider
- 1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
- 1/2 cup dry mustard
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/2 teaspoon cardamom, ground
- dash ground cloves

Beat eggs in a large, non-aluminum saucepan. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, about 10 minutes. Cool, transfer to a jar, store in a cool, dark place. Serve this mustard with sausages.

GREEN BEANS WITH MUSTARD SAUCE

- 1 pound fresh green beans, steamed
- 1/2 cup green onions, chopped
- 2 tablespoons parsley, chopped

Set steamed green beans on a platter and keep warm. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Toss over beans and serve either hot or cold. Dressing can be made in advance and stored.

CHICKEN IN TRIPLE MUSTARD SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 whole chicken breasts, split

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a skillet and add chicken breasts and saute until golden. Reduce heat to low, cover and cook 10 minutes. Transfer chicken to a platter and keep warm. Discard fat from skillet. Add 3 tablespoons butter and stir in chopped green onion and saute until limp. Add garlic and stir 1 minute. Increase heat to high, add wine and wine vinegar and cook until reduced by half. Reduce heat to medium and stir in cream and mustards, and cook until sauce is thick and bubbly. Stir in lemon juice and pour over chicken.

Dunleavy's marks 60th anniversary

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

Dunleavy's with locations in Detroit and Farmington, is celebrating their 60th anniversary this year.

In 1933, John Dunleavy, a native of County Mayo, obtained the 8th liquor license issued in Michigan after the repeal of Prohibition that same year.

The first Dunleavy's was on the corner of Woodrow Wilson and Tyler, and a few years later, as Dunleavy's Horseshoe Bar, it moved to Wyoming and Intervale, an industrial area.

Jack Dunleavy, the current owner, joined his father in 1960, and the establishment re-opened as Dunleavy's Irish Pub, next to another Detroit landmark, Carl's Chop House.

Seventeen years ago, Dunleavy's was reincarnated in Farmington, Dunleavy's Pub & Grub at 34505 Grand River, 478-8866, and in 1988, Jack Dunleavy bought a 125-year-old building in Rivertown at 267 Jos. Campau, 259-0909, and named it, appropriately, Dunleavy's River Place.

Both the Farmington and the Rivertown Dunleavy's are gearing up for St. Patrick's Day.

On the big day, March 17, both Dunleavy's will provide live Irish music. At the Farmington location, you can have breakfast — Irish sausage and green bagels — with Denny McLaine, who will broadcast his WXYT program on the spot, beginning at 6 a.m.

Area restaurants offer heart healthy, low-fat items

KEELY WYGONIK

Something healthy is always on the menu at these area restaurants which participate in the Heart Smart Program — Alban's Bottle & Basket, 190 N. Hunter Boulevard, Birmingham; Foxy's of Troy, 3270 W. Big Beaver Road, Troy; Foxy's by Machus, Great Oaks Mall, 1254 Walton Boulevard, Rochester; Machus, 160 West Maple, Birmingham; and Machus Sly Fox, 725 South Hunter Boulevard, Birmingham.

Heart Smart is a community-oriented health promotion program of the Henry Ford Heart and Vascular Institute in Detroit. A number of recipes at these participating restaurants have been analyzed and developed to meet the Heart Smart criteria, and are identified on the menu.

Sample Pal's new "T-Factor" menu 6-9 p.m. Monday, March 22 during a fund-raising event to benefit the American Heart Association at Pal's Restaurant, 5656 West Maple in West Bloomfield. Tickets are $25 per person and available at Chuck Muer's Pal's, Meriwether's and Big Fish restaurants, and through the American Heart Association office at 16310 West Twelve Mile Road in Southfield, 557-9500.

Guests will enjoy an evening of live entertainment, complimentary cocktails, beer and wine, and seven food stations highlighting 15 low-fat items set up throughout the restaurant.

Based on latest metabolic research, T-Factor, outlined in Doctor Martin Katalan's book "The T-Factor Diet," refers to the energy using process (thermogenesis) by which you can actually activate your body's innate, natural fat-burning potential and melt away excess body fat.

Chuck Muer closely supervised recipe development to insure that low-fat items lived up to his standards of top quality and uncompromising flavor. Guests are invited to visit Pal's for a free cooking class 2 p.m. Saturday, April 10 when Pal's Chef Jeff Weber will teach attendees how to cook with less fat and full flavor.

March is National Nutrition Month, and leave it to McDonald's to think of a way to make nutrition fun for children. The Michigan Dietetic Association and McDonald's have joined forces to promote healthy eating. Throughout March, the kid's meal at McDonald's will include nutrition activity pamphlets and toy characters representing the major food groups in the Food Guide Pyramid.

The Matzah Factory has been set up at the Jewish Community Center, 6600 West Maple, West Bloomfield. Co-sponsored by the center and the Bais Chabad groups of West Bloomfield and Farmington Hills, the factory will be in operation on Sunday, March 21 and 28, Monday through Thursday, March 22-25.

Visitors will receive a baker's hat, a piece of "Shmurah," matzah and literature describing the Passover holiday and observances. Participants will make their own piece of matzah and view a short video that describes how the unleavened matzahs are made at a real "Shmurah" bakery.

Children really enjoy this event. It's a lot of fun, and interesting, too. All religious schools, community groups, nursery schools and families are invited to participate in this "hands-on workshop." There is a nominal charge.

For reservations, call Gilda Poisson, 661-1000 Ext. 346 or 252.

Mark your calendars, HARE — Humanitarians for Animal Rights Education, is planning the Great American Meat-Out noon to 3 p.m. Saturday, April 3, at the Royal Oak Public Library on Eleven Mile Road, east of Main Street.

The Great American Meat-Out is an educational event that serves to enlighten the public about healthy alternatives to a meat-based diet. Sample delicious meatless dishes. Videos will be shown that address the connection between our eating habits and health, the environment, and animal cruelty.

Local HARE members include Mary Melville of Farmington Hills, Lynn Donell of Livonia, Steve and Karen Sowers of Farmington Hills, and Mike Chiado of Plymouth.

Keely Wygonik is Taste and Entertainment of the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers. She can be reached at the Livonia office, 953-2105.

Enjoy robust stew St. Patrick's Day

Traditional fun and food abound on St. Patrick's Day as we begin to sense that the long winter days are shortening and spring is just around the corner. Who but the Irish would give us Leprechauns, the Blarney Stone, and green beer?

Perhaps lesser known is the amount of lamb that our Irish cousins once used in their meal planning. Irish stew from the old country started with lamb and many of us in this country have never had the opportunity to try authentic Irish stew made with tender mild chunks of American lamb.

OLD FASHIONED HERBED LAMB STEW

- 1 tablespoon oil
- 1 pound lean boneless American lamb, leg or shoulder, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups water
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced

- 1 tablespoon fresh chopped oregano leaves or 1/4 teaspoon dried oregano leaves, crushed
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 cup peeled, diced potato
- 1 cup peas, frozen
- 1 cup sliced carrots
- 1 cup sliced zucchini or yellow squash
- 1 cup mushrooms, sliced (optional)
- 2 tablespoons fresh parsley, chopped or 1 tablespoon dried parsley leaves, crushed
- salt to taste

In a Dutch oven or heavy saucepan, heat oil to medium hot. Add lamb and saute until lightly browned. Lower heat and add flour to lamb, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Slowly add water, tomato sauce, onion, garlic, salt, and black pepper, blending well.

Cover and cook over low heat for 30 minutes, or until meat is tender. Stir occasionally. Add vegetables, parsley and oregano. Cook 30 minutes longer, or until vegetables

Bag beans for soup

AP — Low in fat and high in fiber and protein, beans are lauded by nutrition experts. What better reason could there be to bag several kinds together for simmer-later soups? When you're making your soup, toss in a little lean ham, smoked pork loin, or leftover grilled chicken breast. It adds a smoky flavor, without adding a lot of fat.

MIX-AND-MATCH BEAN MIX

- 1/4 cup dry navy or great Northern beans
- 1/4 cup dry garbanzo or pink beans
- 1/4 cup dry red or red kidney beans
- 1/4 cup dry black or pinto beans
- 1/4 cup regular brown rice or wheat, rye, or triticale berries
- 2 tablespoons snipped sun-dried tomatoes (optional)
- 2 tablespoons dried celery or green pepper flakes
- 2 tablespoons dried minced onion
- 1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
- 2 teaspoons instant chicken bouillon granules
- 2 teaspoons chili powder or curry powder, or 1 teaspoon dried Italian seasoning, crushed
- 1 teaspoon dried minced garlic
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

In a plastic bag or airtight container combine the beans. (They need to soak, so are packaged separately from seasonings.) In another bag or container combine remaining ingredients. Seal tightly and store until needed. Makes 1 1/2 cup total.

Meaty Bean Soup: In a 3-quart saucepan combine beans from bean mix and 7 cups water. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Let stand, covered, for 1 hour. (Or, soak overnight in a covered pan.) Drain and rinse beans.

To beans, add 6 cups fresh water, and seasonings from bean mix. Bring to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 1 1/2 hours. Add 1 cup cubed fully cooked ham or smoked poultry or pork. Return to boiling; reduce heat. Cover; simmer about 30 minutes more or until beans are tender. Remove from heat.

Place about 2 cups of the bean mixture in a blender container. Cover and blend until smooth. Return blended mixture to saucepan; heat through. Top each serving with yogurt or sour cream, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 main-dish servings.

Perfect pasta tips

In the last seven years Americans have increased their pasta consumption by about 20 percent. We enjoy the sauces and flavorings that go with pasta, but good pasta begins with the cooking. Pasta should be cooked al dente, or firm to the bite.

Follow these success tips from Betty Crocker for perfect pasta every time.

Add salt to the water (1 tablespoon per gallon) to help keep pasta firm.

- Use 1 gallon of water for each pound of pasta so pasta cooks uniformly.
- Put oil in the water only if you plan to make a cold pasta salad, as it makes the pasta slippery. Hot sauces cling much better to pasta boiled in salted water with no oil.
- Water should always be at a full boil when pasta is added, and it should remain at boiling during the entire cooking time.

It's puzzling

Around this time of year, Fun-Turns might be the panacea for winter doldrums. If you like challenges, consider this high-tech puzzle that won this year's "best puzzle" award from Fun & Games Magazine. The cylindrical pop can puzzles include 49 plastic squares and one empty space. Just unscramble the pieces and slide them back in place. "Diet Coke" is tougher than "Neon Rainbows," according to the folks at A.M.P. Industries of Mt. Clemens, the puzzle's distributor. The company will market other Fun-Turns, including puzzles picturing "Batman" characters. Available at Golden Unicorn, Rochester Hills (about $15).

Create a landmark

Got cabin fever? Any one of Wrebbitt's five 3-D puzzles of famous architecture could keep you toiling through spring. This 289-piece Victorian mansion is moderately tough, right down to the landscaping that surrounds the multi-level building. Others include a 600-piece puzzle of the Capitol and a 900-piece model of a European castle. For architecture buffs looking for a whopping challenge, there are grand-sized jigsaw puzzles with two buildings to a box. The models can be dismantled to use during the cold days of winter '94 — but it may take that long to finish the first assembly. Available at Hudson's ($20-55).

Best of The Smiths II — The Smiths

The Smiths were undoubtedly the pre-eminent among the Manchester mood pop period of the mid-'80s. And, yes, Johnny Marr is only second to The Edge as the most prominent rock guitarist to emerge from the '80s, Morrissey? The less said there the better. But do we really need another Smiths' greatest hits package? The people at Warners think so. Since the band's untimely breakup in 1988, fans have been saturated with the eponymous "Louder Than Bombs," the live offering "Rank" and the "The Smiths . . . Best I." The posthumous ones nearly match the number of original releases. For those reasons, "The Smiths . . . Best II" should be sledgehammered into oblivion for its obvious overkill. Dammit, the material here won't let you, though. The Smiths' "Boy With a Thorn in His Side," "Big Mouth Strikes Again" and "Still Ill" more than stand the test of time as indelible if not wholly sardonic pop standards. The odd juxtaposition of material spans 1984 through 1988 and, if anything, only highlights Morrissey's lyrical spite for the absurd. "Big Mouth Strikes Again" finds "Mox" in his contemptuous nadir: "Sweetness, sweetness I was only joking when I said by right you should be bludgeoned in your bed." "The Headmaster Ritual" was evidence of teenage angst: "Mid-week on the playing fields/Sir thwacks you on the knees, knees you in the groin/elbow in the face/bruises bigger than dinner plates/I wanna go home/I don't want to stay . . ." By the same merit, "Last Night I Dreamt That Somebody Loved Me" is an example of how Morrissey's melancholy and angst had degenerated into full-blown self-pity. There are some omissions here such as the joyfully scornful, "Happy Birthday." But let's not give them any more ideas to release "Best of The Smiths III."

Pure offers lyrics for thought

The name may be apropos. Canadian alternative rock band Pure may have a blasting musical style, but its thought-provoking lyrics may be the reason why the band is enjoying a growing popularity.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Canadian alternative rock band Pure learned the hard way that American country music fans take their hobby seriously.

On a bus ride during an early portion of Pure's tour with Daniel Ash, a Missouri trucker remarked over the CB upon passing the bus, "Look at those freaks. What zoo did they come from?"

Snidely, the group replied that they were with country star Billy Ray Cyrus.

"He didn't take to that lightly at all," vocalist/lyricist Jordy Birch said with a laugh during a phone conversation from his Vancouver, B.C., area home. "These guys take their country serious."

While the bus driver hollered at the trucker, Birch took a more inspired route — he wrote a song about it.

"I just said, 'Thanks for the song, chief.' Something good's gotta come out of a guy like that."

Welcome to America, Pure.

Actually, Pure's introduction to the country has gone a little more smoothly than that. They released an EP, "Greed," in the summer and the single "Laughing Like A Fiend" received favorable airplay. The song "Greed" was also included on the "Cool World" movie soundtrack.

Pure's recently released album, "Pureafunalia," produced by former Talking Heads member Jerry Harrison, so far has given the band two hit singles, "Pure" and "Blast."

Pure was met with even more fanfare in its home country. Some 1½ months after the release of "Pureafunalia" the group won the "Best New Artist" CASBY, the annual "people's choice" award sponsored by a national retailer and a radio station. Birch and the rest of the band — Todd Simko, Leigh Grant, Mark Henning and Dave Hadley — are already planning its fourth Canadian tour. This one will be open to all ages — a rarity in the club scene.

STREET BEATS

Pure's blasting musical style obviously has something to do with the group's sweeping popularity. The refreshing part of Pure is its thought-provoking lyrics. The first Detroit-area single, "Pure," represents that. The song is a true story about a girl who was kicked out of her house by her devout Catholic parents after she became pregnant.

Birch sings: "She was as pure as the setting sun. Take a look and see what you have done. You turned your back on her. She lives a long way from Park Avenue. She's all alone man it's 'cause of you. Now look what you call pure."

"It just popped out of my head," Birch said about the lyrics after he heard the girl's story for the first time. "It was the very first song we ever wrote together. It's basically about hypocrisy. . . She's still on the street with the kid . . . out in the cold."

The song is one example of how Birch shows his respect for women and love. To focus on that, the "Pure" video will star God as a woman.

"There's a lot of morons out there — look at that guy on the CB who just thinks that women are whatever . . . The inequality just doesn't seem right. I'm not into treating women like some kind of punching board. Some people say in other countries you're allowed to kill your wife. That's definitely not my scene," said Birch who's been married for 1½ years.

Birch said he appreciates that with Pure he can finally communicate his beliefs.

"It's better than just keeping it inside," he said. "A lot of writers are kind of sensitive; it's better to spit it out. It helps (because) then you can be proud of it, too."

"It's something of a diamond. You've communicated with people." Unfortunately, he and the rest of Pure couldn't get the now-renowned trucker to believe that the group is made up of average guys — not freaks.

"Compared to truckers maybe we are a little bizarre. They just don't get out enough."

Pure opens for Daniel Ash on Friday, March 19, at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. For more information, call 961-MELT.

Dancey's doodles turn up on walls and album covers

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Growing up in Grand Rapids, Mark Dancey used to doodle in the margins of his notes at school. Now, the quiet and unassuming artist/musician shrugs off the fact that more than one million people have seen one of his works — the cover of Soundgarden's album "Badmotorfinger."

"It doesn't matter," Dancey said with a shy grin. "That's cool though. It's not like when I was making it I was like, 'Whoa, someone's gonna tattoo it on their butt.'"

He does admit, however, that it was impressive to see his design as a stage backdrop during Soundgarden's headlining tour.

"You can't hate that," the Hamtramck resident said.

Now Dancey's talent will be even more visible to Detroit-area residents. The Shelter nightclub below St. Andrew's Hall will soon install a mural painted by Dancey entitled "Shall We Dance." It will be located near the dance floor of the Detroit club.

It will be installed as part of the Dancey exhibit at the club which is scheduled to run through March. Already known as a musician in the band

Big Chief, Dancey is slightly apprehensive about making himself known as an artist.

"So many people haven't heard of this. They haven't heard of me. It's not my goal to be taken as a serious artist. I'm just trying to make things interesting," said Dancey, 29, who is currently in the studio recording with Big Chief.

Included in the show is a color version of the blue Soundgarden cover, and Big Chief tour posters and T-shirts. Artworks from his magazine, "Motorbooty," will also be shown.

The magazine is another part of Dancey's career with which many people are unfamiliar. Although fellow Big Chief members work on the magazine, which started in 1987, they try to keep the two separate.

"There's never anything about Big Chief in there; it doesn't need to," he said. "Big Chief has its own momentum. We let the two stand by themselves."

Although he does artwork for his own band, Dancey tries to limit what he does for other bands. Recently, he designed the grungy, plaid-clad kid that the local rap/funk band Brotherhood Recipee uses as a logo. Dancey doesn't plan on doing any more album covers in the near future — except maybe

Big Chief's. "It (Soundgarden cover) was good but it was a pain," he said. "I'm not seeking to become the 'Album Art Guy'; I'd rather not do stuff with other people. I'd rather do our own thing."

Try to involve daughters in problem solving

BARBARA SCHIFF

Dear Barbara, I have a problem I could use your help with. My 8-year-old daughter is in and out of the hospital for medical treatment. During the hospitalizations, my 5-year-old daughter becomes wild and seems jealous of the time I spend with her sister.

part to understand how you feel. In this instance, try to make a virtue of a necessity. It is necessary for your 5-year-old to understand how you feel.

The same thing that has been said above for your 5-year-old can also be said for the 8-year-old. Try to help her to understand the feelings of abandonment which are present in the 5-year-old. If she can develop this empathy, she will be rewarded by growth in her character.

The danger with children in the situation of your 8-year-old is that they tend to become preoccupied with themselves without having the opportunity to empathize with the mother's and sister's problem. Often children feel really good about themselves when they know they've been able to help out in a difficult situation.

This advice is not meant to make you think this is a problem you can solve. It is meant to help you see the situation without criticizing yourself. The best that you can do does not seem like enough at these times but it is important to accept that it is your best.

I am worried about my children and exhaust myself. How can I give my 5-year-old what she needs without sacrificing attending to my 8-year-old?

Thank you.

Sue Ellen, Southfield

Dear Sue Ellen,

There are some problems which are true dilemmas. By that we mean there is no good solution. We are faced with the task of choosing the best of the "not so good" solutions.

May I suggest that while you are spending some time with your 5-year-old that you explain to her that you understand how she feels and why she feels this way. Explain that you will give her as much time and attention as you can, but also that you need her to be a helper. Bring her in as an insider on the problem, not as someone watching it.

Do not underestimate any capacity on the 5-year-old's

Murray hits, misses in 2 new films

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

I'm not a Bill Murray fan so I was surprised to find myself drawn to his two latest pictures. While his comedy "Groundhog Day" is both a hoot and an inspiration, his team-up with Robert DeNiro in "Mad Dog and Glory" fails as a dark and offbeat buddy movie.

To say that I enjoyed "Groundhog Day" is an understatement. The story of a man forced to live the same day over and over again proved nothing less than a revelation. This "It's a Wonderful Life" for the '90s plays with both humor and sensitivity and spins off in some unpredictable directions.

Murray plays Phil, a Pittsburgh weather man grumbling through his annual pilgrimage to Punxsutawney, Pa., for the Groundhog Day festivities. Every year the town's world-famous groundhog "Punxsutawney Phil" pops out in ceremonial search of his shadow. The human Phil couldn't be more bored.

His producer (Andie MacDowell) and cameraman (Chris Elliot), tolerate the temperamental talent. When Phil goes to bed after dodging most of the day's festivities, he wakes to the painful discovery that he is back at the beginning of Groundhog Day.

After the initial shock, Phil starts making the most of his unusual situation. He gathers information one day that will help him during the next, whether it's walking away with loot from an armored car or luring women into the sack. Even if he's killed in the process, he's up again at six to Sonny and Cher's "I Got You Babe" on the clock radio.

Phil starts to change for the better. He develops his talents, saves people's lives, and spends an eternity of February days trying to woo his elusive producer. Although he played essentially the same role in "Scrooged," Murray is charming and his message about making the most out of your time on earth really hits home.

In "Mad Dog and Glory," Murray's offbeat teaming with Robert DeNiro had definite potential. The character study, directed by John McNaughton ("Henry: Portrait of a Serial Killer") and penned by Richard Price ("The Color of Money"), is so low-key that it may put most of its audience asleep in search of a plot.

Their Wayne and Frank meet during a holdup at a Chicago corner grocery. DeNiro's Wayne, a police photographer, tries to convince the guy to take the money and run while wise-guy Frank keeps breaking in with insults.

Frank, it turns out, is a mob-connected loan shark with a God complex. If he likes you, he'll make your dreams come true. He figures he owes Wayne a debt, so offers him a unique gift: a week with an attractive young barmaid.

Glory (Uma Thurman) sets women's roles in the movies back at least to the '70s. She's street-wise, neurotic and frail and, if you cared at all about anyone in this movie, you'd wonder if she is stringing Wayne along just to escape her boss' clutches.

"Mad Dog and Glory" (stupid title) has its bright spots, especially in the supporting roles and seedy city atmosphere. Intentionally purposeless, (some critics have called it "existential"), it sputters and groans to a predictable conclusion.

"Gas Food Lodging" (USA — 1992), 9:10 p.m. March 15. A single mother and her two daughters survive boredom and tragedy in a southwest desert town.

"Ann Arbor Film Festival," March 16-21 (call for show times and ticket prices). The 31st annual event features independent filmmakers in every genre, from animation and documentary to narrative and experimental works. Jurors this year include filmmakers Carl Brown, Michelle Fleming and Pam Tom. Past festivals have included works from budding filmmakers such as Brian DePalma, Andy Warhol, Stephen Spielberg and George Lucas.

MAPLE THEATRE
4135 W. Maple Road, Bloomfield Hills. Call 855-9090 for show times. ($5.75 evenings; $2.95 twilight)

"Indochine" (France — 1992). Catherine Deneuve stars as a plantation owner in 1930s Indochina who finds herself vying along with her daughter for the affections of the same man. The almost three-hour epic is a showcase for the beguiling Deneuve, here in her 70th film.

"Tous les Matins du Monde" (France — 1991). The moving new French import features Gerard Depardieu as real-life 17th-century composer Marin Marais, reflecting on his former teacher, the reclusive Sainte Colombe. Depardieu's son Guillard is a budding but engrossing, it won several French Cesar's (the French version of the Oscar), including best picture.

REDFORD THEATRE

There's no magic about 'Mr. North'

BY LEANNE ROGERS
STAFF WRITER

In the summer playground of the wealthy, Newport, R.I., the rich can hire a well-educated young man to read to their ill-mannered, spoiled children.

But if the young man is the title character of the 1988 film "Mr. North," he will quit wasting his breath and leave the little heathens with the jolt of unusually strong static electricity which builds up in his body.

Anthony Edwards plays Mr. North, a Yale man and former boy's school teacher who decided there must be something more to life. By and large, Mr. North is a thoughtful, well-intentioned man. He befriends and eventually helps liberate a wealthy man, played by Robert Mitchum, who has been confined to his home for years having been convinced by his grasping daughter and conniving physician that he was too ill to venture out.

A young girl plagued by terrible headaches is convinced that Mr. North can relieve her pain by touching her head after hearing of his electric abilities. Despite some initial hostile reaction from the girl's parents, it seems only Mr. North can help her.

The local doctor, who has grown rich by working with greedy heirs to undermine aging relatives, isn't too pleased with Mr. North's interference. As a result, Mr. North finds himself in front of the judge, defending himself on charges of practicing medicine without a license.

With an easygoing performance by Edwards, the film seems to be trying for a light Capraesque feeling to layer an underlying social commentary. Unfortunately, the film remains firmly anchored on terra firma without a trace of lightness and heart. There never is any genuine feeling that Mr. North has any magic about him. He's a nice guy and quick to read people. As a result the courtroom showdown offers no suspense or surprises.

The film is filled with well-known actors — Mitchum as the incontinent millionaire, Tammy Grimes as his greedy daughter and Harry Dean Stanton as the butler who befriends Mr. North and gives him some pointers about life in Newport.

Having Lauren Bacall and Angellea Huston, whose brother Danny directed the film, make fleeting appearances in small roles adds to the feeling that famous faces were to make up for the lack of developed characters. Overall, it's a disappointing and soulless exercise.

"Mr. North" is available on cassette at your local video store. If you have a question or comment for LeAnne Rogers, send it to Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. You also can leave a message by calling her at 953-2103.

Auditions set for SC honors music recital

Auditions for the 21st annual piano honors recital and second annual string, flute, guitar and voice honors recital will be March 19 and 20 in Schoolcraft College's Forum Building in Livonia.

Sponsored by the school's honors recital division of the department of music, the auditions are open to all elementary (grades 1-6), junior high (grades 7-9) and senior high (grades 10-12) students.

More than $2,200 in scholarships and cash prizes will be awarded to the top winners in each division. In addition, 12 scholarships for the 1993 summer music school will be awarded.

Auditions are divided into three categories: piano; strings, flute and guitar and voice.

Judges will select a winner in each category from all age groups.

Winners will be notified by mail.

A special honors recital featuring the winners will be at 5 p.m. Sunday, March 28, in the Forum Building Recital Hall at Schoolcraft, 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads.

Registration fee for piano contestants is $12; $15 for string, flute, guitar and voice.

For more information, call Donald Morelock, competition director, at 462-4400, ext. 5128 or 5225.

It's official - spring arrives Saturday

SKY WATCH

RAYMOND E. BULLOCK

Hallelujah! Spring officially arrives for the northern hemisphere on Saturday, March 20, at 9:41 a.m. The official start of spring often puzzles people. Just what exactly determines the precise moment?

The answer is the position of the sun with respect to a line called the celestial equator.

The earth's equator is a line that divides our planet into a northern and southern hemisphere. When this equator line is extended out into space it's called the celestial equator, and it divides the sky into two hemispheres as well.

Earth orbits the sun, but our planet's axis is tilted 23.5 degrees, so the sun may appear as much as 23.5 degrees above or 23.5 degrees below the celestial equator. In June the sun is at its highest above the equator, because the earth's northern hemisphere is tilted its most toward the sun, and we have summer.

In December the sun is at its lowest point, and we have winter.

Obviously there are two points where the sun's pathway crosses the celestial equator. When the sun is traveling from its low point toward its high point, it crosses the celestial equator moving from south to north. The precise moment the sun crosses that line is the official start of spring.

The point of that crossing is the vernal equinox. Vernal is the Latin word for spring and equinox means "equal night." The length of the day is nearly equal to the length of night during this time. On the day of the vernal equinox the sun rises due east and sets due west.

We are rather shortsighted in calling it the vernal equinox. We may be starting spring in the northern hemisphere, but the people below the equator are starting autumn.

To compensate for its extreme perigee earlier this month, the moon's apogee (farthest distance from the earth) on the 21st is also its greatest for the year. The moon will be 406,631 kilometers (252,669 miles) away. So what if that's just four kilometers (2.5 miles) farther than it was in February; it's still farther.

New Moon will occur at 2:14 a.m. on March 23. The moon will be between the earth and the sun and will not be visible. Try spotting the moon on the evening of the 23rd. Look toward the west around 7:10 p.m. and locate Venus, 10 degrees above the horizon. The moon will be seven degrees below (three degrees above the horizon), and binoculars will help you in locating it. On the next evening the moon will be higher in the sky and easy to see.

On the evening of the 27th, the moon will be in Taurus once again. The moon's upper cusp (top of the crescent) will be two degrees to the left of the Pleiades star cluster. On the next evening the moon's lower cusp will be five degrees above and to the right of Aldebaran.

The second First Quarter Moon of the month will occur at 11:10 p.m. on the 30th. This time the moon will be in Gemini (the previous First Quarter Moon was in Taurus) and it will form a straight line with Mars (to the upper left of the moon) and Pollux (to the upper left of Mars). On the next night the moon, Mars and Pollux will form a triangle.

Also on the 30th, Jupiter will be at opposition. It will be opposite the sun, as seen from the earth, so it will rise as the sun sets, will be visible all night and will set at sunrise.

Jupiter will be visible in the evening sky through the month of August.

An excellent aid for learning constellations and keeping up to date with the sky is the monthly "Sky Calendar." A one-year subscription is $6 and is available from the Abrams Planetarium, Michigan State University, East Lansing, 48824.

Raymond Bullock is the former coordinator of the planetarium and observatory at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills. He now works at a Troy-based firm that specializes in laser displays and effects.

It's all about getting the best for yourself out of life. The friendly little guy above is "Arky." He's the Vision Institute of Michigan RK surgery bear! RK is a quick (3-5 minute) office surgery to permanently eliminate nearsightedness and astigmatism.

When a patient has RK surgery, Arky is right there in the patient's hands, providing a little extra touch of care!

Arky is one example of the best — in this case, the best care. The kind of care that can come only from a surgeon who's had RK on his own eyes — and that surgeon's associates and staff!

That care is one of the reasons more patients are choosing to have their RK at the leading RK specialist — the Vision Institute of Michigan — than anywhere else in the state.

Rocks achieve goal of state title

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

One of the best: Salem senior Courtney Gonyea was fourth in the all-around and helped the Rocks win the state championship.

Plymouth Salem didn't have to settle for being second best in gymnastics this year. The Rocks made their No. 1 ranking stand the entire season by winning the state championship that eluded them the past two years.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Armed with a No. 1 ranking and despite two straight runner-up finishes, the Plymouth Salem girls picked a team slogan expressing confidence at the state gymnastics finals Friday.

"As long as we're here, we might as well win it; that was our motto," junior Alysia Sofios said as she hugged Milton — the big, floppy, stuffed rabbit which has served as the team mascot (and good-luck charm) for two years.

And the Rocks did win it — their first state title — by outscoring two-time defending champion Muskegon Mona Shores at Trenton, 146.55 to 145.25.

It was the crowning achievement for a team that rated No. 1 all season, and it ended two years of frustration in which Salem finished second behind the Sailors twice.

"We beat (Mona Shores) all last year except for the state meet, and we've been ahead of them all this year," Salem coach Johanna Anderson said. "It's another win, but it's the big one. This year we get the feel of being the champions."

"There's no doubt now how good this team is; we've proven ourselves. It's a great accomplishment and, hopefully, will just bring more people into the program."

The Sailors had completed their four-event rotation while Salem still had to compete on bars, a difficult event for the majority of teams.

The Rocks had to score 35.16 to win and produced a 36.45 to finish comfortably ahead of Mona Shores. Senior Kim Miller scored 9.35, Sofios 9.2, senior Courtney Gonyea 9.0 and junior Sarah Makins 8.9.

"Bars has been our weak event in the past, but it was an event we really stressed this year," Anderson said. "In the last two meets, we've taken the top five places in bars, so I was confident scoring 35 wouldn't be a problem for them. This year (bars has) really pulled us through."

Mona Shores coach Sheryl DeWeerd was not displeased with her team's performance or finish, adding the Sailors remain the only school to win back-to-back titles since Ludington won five straight (1974-77).

"I am very proud of my girls. I told them 'If you don't want the second-place trophy, there are 10 other teams that will take it,'" she said. "We can't look at it like we didn't win the meet; we've been either first or second four years in a row."

The Rocks started on balance beam, and few teams if any like to start there. Salem had a good start, passed an early test and was ahead throughout the evening.

"Today it proved the opposite," Anderson said. "The girls were nervous, and getting a very stressful event out of the way helped. After that they sailed through the rest of the meet."

"We were going to worry about what Plymouth Salem was doing and see where we stood at the end of the day. That was it because we had no control over what anyone else did."

Anderson said she thought Salem had an edge with at least five girls in each event while the Sailors had the minimum four in all but beam. The Rocks were allowed to discard their lowest score in each event.

"They had to be flawless to beat us, and that was a lot of pressure," she said.

St. Peter's wins title

The girls A team (seventh and eighth grades) of St. Peter's Lutheran Day School in Plymouth completed its second consecutive undefeated season by winning the Southeastern Michigan Lutheran Athletic League tournament.

The Eagles were 8-0 in the conference during the regular season, defeating their opponents by an average margin of 22 points and gaining the No. 1 seed in the tournament.

In the championship game, St. Peter's came from behind in the fourth quarter to defeat Toledo Zion 42-35. Jenny Parviainen scored 26 points to lead the Eagles.

The team members are eighth graders Emilie Meier, Holli Cunningham, Parviainen, Melissa Kube, Melissa Gumbis, Lori Conger and Katy Grainger; seventh graders Tara Petrosky, Amy Morris, Katie Good, Andrea Morris, Sara Tacia, Danielle Winkler and Molly Brown.

The Eagles are coach by Jerry Meier, assisted by HarvKightlinger.

U-M baseball update

University of Michigan senior pitcher Todd Marion added to his career-record save total last week, earning his 25th in a 4-3 win over Iowa State.

Marion, the former Plymouth Salem star, has made eight appearances this year to move his career record to 84. He has pitched 7 1/2 innings and has a perfect earned run average.

Sophomore catcher Todd Niemiec hit his second home run and shares the team lead with Pat Maloney and Brian Simmons. The former Salem all-star leads the Wolverines with 11 RBI.

Bulldogs finish on top

Cassar, Zavagnin star

The U.S. Under 20 National Soccer Team, featuring three former All-Observer players, advanced to meet Brazil in Sunday's elimination round of the Seventh World Youth Championship in Adelaide, Australia.

The FIFA/Coca-Cola Cup features teams from 16 different nations.

The U.S. squad finished second with a 1-1-1 record to advance out of Group C.

Livonia Churchill product Jeff Cassar, a freshman at Florida International University, was in goal for the tourney-opening 6-0 win over Turkey.

On Tuesday, Cassar played a near-perfect game before English Premier League First Division pro Chris Bart-Williams scored in the 69th minute to give England a 1-0 victory.

On Thursday, Plymouth's Kerry Zavagnin, a product of Redford Catholic Central High and freshman at the University of North Carolina, scored in the 78th minute to give the U.S. squad a 2-2 tie with South Korea.

(All three Group C U.S. matches were played in Melbourne.)

Churchill product Mike Gentile, a freshman at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, is also a midfielder with the U.S. team.

Goodard to be inducted

John Goodard, who has compiled more than 100 wins as head football coach at Redford St. Agatha High, will be inducted into the Michigan High School Football Coaches Hall of Fame on Saturday, April 3, at Crisler Arena on the University of Michigan campus.

Special guest speaker will be former Eastern Michigan University football coach Jim Harkema.

Cocktails start at 6 p.m. with dinner at 7. Tickets cost $20 per person and can be ordered by sending a check to: Ivan Muhlenkamp, Hall of Fame ticket chairman, 2627 Willa Drive, St. Joseph, Mich. 49805.

Other area inductees include Livonia Franklin's George Lovich, Farmington Harrison's Bob Sutter and Garden City's Bill Lusa.

Youth football workshop

Advance registration is required for a football players clinic and workshop 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, April 3, at University of Detroit-Jesuit High School.

High school, junior high/middle school, Catholic Youth Organization and little league players are invited. The clinic features college coaches and players, along with top high school coaches.

The cost is $15 per person (lunch provided), or $10 coach/team rate (eight players or more $12 each).

Also, for more information on the Winning Edge Football Camp, Aug. 1-6 at Orchard Lake St. Mary's College, call Walt Bazylewicz at 544-0494.

Stevenson spikes Salem in regional final

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Lee Cagle is getting quite a sendoff in his final season as Livonia Stevenson volleyball coach.

The Spartans continued their state tournament trek Saturday, winning the Class A regional at Northville by dispatching Farmington Hills Mercy (6-15, 15-3, 15-4) and Plymouth Salem (15-7, 15-9).

Stevenson, now 45-7-2 overall, advances to the state Class A quarterfinals, 7 p.m. Friday at Portage Central High School. The Spartans will meet top-ranked Portage Northern.

Cagle, who is retiring after 15 years, will be making his fourth trip to the big dance since 1978.

"It's really their first opportunity. They've never been this far and we're really excited about going," Cagle said. "I feel good about it because it's my last group at Stevenson."

Senior setter Patty Diamond was once again the catalyst for Stevenson.

The 5-foot-11 senior, bound for Florida State, finished with 38 assists on the day, seven ace serves and five kills.

"We could have serve received better," Salem co-coach Brian Gilles said. "But they (Stevenson) hit some good serves, too. When we're able to put the ball in play, we can play with them. But Patty Diamond made some incredible sets off some bad passes and that's the difference."

Julie Martin, the 6-1 senior, controlled the net for Stevenson.

She finished with 16 kills against Salem and 21 against Mercy.

Salem's top hitter, 5-11 senior Cyn-di Platter, had 14 kills in a 15-9, 15-5 semifinal win over Ferndale, but was limited to three in the match against Stevenson.

"We used two separate defenses," Mercy coach Peggy Spengler said. "We used a short defense when Julie was up front."

"When she's on, she's almost impossible to stop. When she has a tough time, it shows in their team."

Stevenson had a rough time in the opening game against Mercy, falling 15-6, as senior outside hitter Kristina recorded seven kills, while 5-11 senior middle hitter Angela Assad added five kills and a block.

"We came in as underdogs and I told my team that was the best place to be," said Spengler. "That first game was unbelievable. It was like a dream."

The Spartans, however, did not panic, dominating the next two games as Mercy (18-17-3 overall) began to unravel.

"We had our heads in the sky and we needed to come down to earth," said Rachel Clark, Stevenson's quiet but effective junior outside hitter. "We remained calm. We just had to play it point by point."

The Spartans also got steady play from seniors Kristen Drabicki and Angie Pippio. They combined for 34 digs.

Serve specialist Sheryl Gromek, a junior, came off the bench to score four consecutive points in the second game after Salem tied it at 9-9.

Drabicki closed out the match with an attack from the left side, ending Salem's most successful season since 1977. The Rocks wound up 37-13-4 overall.

Under the direction Gilles and co-coach Allie Suffety, Salem has gradually improved in four seasons, going from five wins during the first year to the current 37.

"We played hard and that's all you can ask," Suffety said. "It was a good lesson for them all. You just feel bad for the seniors. They're the ones who stuck with us."

The Rocks will lose All-Western Lakes setter Caryn Tatterton, who had 18 assists against Ferndale, and Platter, Jenny Garvey and Jenna Stanton to graduation.

Mercy also loses four — All-Catholic pick Jill Jarosz, Kudelko, Assad and Marcella DeAgostino.

"We had a good season," Spengler said.

"We battled against Stevenson, and you want to culminate your season playing that."

"But they (Stevenson) played well. They're an outstanding team. Their coach is retiring and they have a lot of seniors."

So what can we expect from Cagle and his Spartans this weekend in Kalamazoo?

"We want to make his last season his best," Diamond declared.

Salem tops N'ville to win hoop district

BY RAY SETLOCK
STAFF WRITER

About the only thing that wasn't hot Friday night for Plymouth Salem's boys basketball team was the shower water following the game. Other than that, the Rocks were on fire.

Senior Mike Slone provided the smoke for Salem, hitting five three-pointers and scoring a game-high 26 points to lead the Rocks to an 80-75 Class A district final win over Northville.

Salem (20-3) will play Berkley at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the regional tournament at Southfield-Lathrup High School. The final will be 7 p.m. Friday.

"I felt it and there came a point where I really wanted the basketball, and our team does a good job of finding the hot player," Slone said. "I am used to shooting the ball a lot and tonight, I was lucky enough to make my shots."

Three first-half triples by Slone didn't stop Northville from controlling the tempo early.

The Mustangs trailed 7-4 in the game's opening minutes but came back to lead 14-7 just minutes later, thanks to three quick baskets from John Farrar. Northville led 16-13 after one quarter.

Salem came close but never regained its lead in the second quarter and trailed by a slim 37-36 margin at halftime.

Slone and junior center James Head produced 29 of the Rocks' 36 first-half points.

"I told our guys at halftime that we must stop those two guys," Northville coach Larry Taylor said. "We let Slone get away a couple of times."

Head scored the first seven points of the second half for Salem and put the Rocks ahead 43-41 with 5:44 left in the third quarter.

"What Head does for us on the inside, Slone gives us on the perimeter," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "They complement each other well. It's a nice balance."

Head finished with 22 points, 12 rebounds and three assists. He also knocked down a three-pointer.

"I felt like I stepped up defensively in the second half," Head said. "I boxed out and shot the ball well."

After numerous third-quarter lead changes, Salem led 59-57 going into the final eight minutes. The Rocks tightened up their defense and jumped to a quick 67-59 lead in the opening minutes of the quarter.

Northville edged back to 67-64, thanks to strong post play by junior Kieran Williams. Salem then outscored the Mustangs 13-11 in the final minutes.

"It was a hard-fought game," Brodie said. "Both teams have played four games in seven nights. It was a tough game, but the better team came out on top."

Senior Mike Maschek led Northville with 18 points. Farrar and Todd Rabourn each had 15. The Mustangs finish the season at 15-8.

The Eagles, playing in their first-ever district final, finished 7-14 overall. Oakland Christian is 21-1 overall.

After an early 7-7 tie, Oakland Christian pulled away and led 26-10 after one quarter. Plymouth Christian played Oakland almost even the rest of the way but couldn't overcome the early deficit.

"They made a lot of three-point plays," Plymouth Christian coach Dan Brandell said. "That was tough on us. Theirs fell; ours didn't. This was a rebuilding year and we lost a lot of close ones. But we took steps."

Senior forward Jason Neil led Plymouth Christian with 17 points and 10 rebounds. Sophomore forward Dan House had 13 points, five assists and five steals and sophomore center Aaron Jones had 11 points. Sophomore guard Ryan Thomason led with seven assists.

Plymouth Christian had 29 turnovers.

"(Winning the state title) was our goal, and I knew this was the year we could do it," Gonyea said. "I'm happy to be on the team when we did it. We came in with a positive attitude this year, which helped a lot, too."

Miller was third (37.05) in the Division I all-around scoring and Gonyea fourth (36.90). Fraser's Meghan Cummins was first (38.00) and Mona Shores' Becky Swelnis second (37.75).

Salem sophomore Melissa Hopsion also medaled with an eighth-place finish (36.45), Canton senior Kim Rennolds was 14th (35.65) and Sofios 15th (35.60). Canton senior Jenny Tedesco was 11th in Division II (34.15).

Miller was ninth on vault (9.0), fifth on bars and beam (9.25) and third on floor (9.45).

"They weren't my best (performances) but they were good," Miller said. "I think every person had one down event, but it didn't affect (the team) at all. I was third my sophomore year, too, so I'm happy with what I did."

Gonyea, who was third in the all-around last year, placed fifth on vault (9.2), 10th on bars, seventh on beam (9.15) and first on floor (9.55).

"I thought I would finish lower," she said of her all-around place. "I do really well on vault, beam and floor and then, since I'm not as strong on bars, I think my all-around is going to drop."

"I had my best bars of the year.

■ '(Winning the state title) was our goal, and I knew this was the year we could do it.'

Courtney Gonyea

I was just excited because we were doing well, and I knew I needed a good score to help the team."

■ PLYMOUTH CANTON
The Chiefs were third the last two years and hoped to finish that high again, but Canton ended up a disappointing ninth among the 12 teams with a 134.0 score.

"We did exactly what I was afraid we might do," Canton coach John Cunningham said, adding the Chiefs had three falls on bars and four on beam.

After doing well on floor and vault, the Chiefs "waited the rest of the day to get up on beam and made mistakes I haven't seen in practice or meets all season," Cunningham said.

"Jenny Tedesco did the best beam of her life but fell on her dismount. To qualify how good it was she still qualified into the (individual) finals even with a fall.

"I just feel terrible, not with the placement but for the girls because they could have done so much better. It was the kind of day I wouldn't wish on anybody."

Shamrocks rout Panthers in district basketball final

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

After two tough district tests earlier in the week, host Redford Catholic Central welcomed a breather in Friday's Class A basketball final.

Coach Bernie Holowicki earned his 14th district title as his Shamrocks routed Redford Union, 79-43. It came after a pair of five-point victories over formidable foes Detroit Henry Ford and Southfield.

"I didn't think we could win it, but I was hoping we could, even though it was a big task," said Holowicki, now in his 21st season as CC coach. "We play hard and that's why we're in every game."

CC, now 15-8 overall, advances to Wednesday's 7:30 p.m. regional semifinal at Southfield High. The Shamrocks will take on the winner of Saturday's district final between Dearborn and Dearborn Fordson.

"It's very satisfying," Holowicki said. "We started out the season 2-7, but coaching these guys has been fun. They work, they play defense, and they root for one another."

RU, sporting only a 3-16 record, was a surprise finalist, too, after bouncing Detroit Redford on Wednesday, 60-59.

The Panthers kept it close for a quarter, trailing by only four, 15-11.

"We knew we'd be a little flat after two tough games," Holowicki said. "We had scouted them (RU) and we knew they'd play hard and raise their level up a notch. We expected it."

The Shamrocks then exploded for 25 points to RU's eight in the second period to take a commanding 40-19 advantage at intermission.

"They forced us into errors," RU coach Tip Smathers said. "And when they had their scoring spurt they didn't make any mistakes."

Brian Paluk, a 6-foot-4 senior forward, scored six of his game-high 23 points during the surge. Andy Slankster, a junior guard, tallied all seven of his points during the run, including a three-pointer just before the buzzer, to end the half.

The Shamrocks continued their assault in the third quarter, outscoring RU 23-11.

Both coaches then emptied their benches to start the final quarter.

"Catholic Central capitalized on our errors," said Smathers, whose team committed 21 turnovers and shot only 29 percent from the floor (13 of 44).

Alpena rallies to beat CC in Class A final

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Redford Catholic Central senior defenseman Mike Kasper walked over to a crowd of Alpena players and started talking about the other crowd he saw Saturday night at Flint's IMA Arena.

A couple of thousand fans followed Alpena to the Class A final and the Wildcats let them go home happy, rallying for a thrilling 2-1 victory over CC (19-6-4 overall).

"When I stepped out and heard them screaming, it was tough," Kasper told the Alpena players. "It would have been awesome if we could bring this many fans."

Alpena (16-11-20), blanked the first two periods by CC goalie Jamie Ronayne, scored twice in the final 11:22 to win its third state crown under coach Tony Byers.

Alpena's Jeff Warholik tied the score 1-1, tipping in a shot from the point at 4:38 of the third period. The Wildcats scored the game-winner at 11:43 as Mike Richey knocked in a rebound at 11:43 while CC's senior forward Justin Ronayne was serving a two-minute minor penalty for checking from behind.

Just prior to the game-winning goal, Jamie Ronayne went behind his net to clear the puck, but it didn't get out. A shot was taken from the faceoff circle and Richey made the most of his chance on the rebound.

"The goalie had it partially covered," said Richey. "I just took a swipe at it and it went in."

"They fought for the puck and they got it," said Ronayne.

The Shamrocks weren't pleased with the timing of the penalty against Justin Ronayne, considered the score was tied 1-1 and the game appeared headed for overtime. Minutes earlier, CC fought off a two-minute penalty to Jeff Helner for roughing when he foolishly dumped an Alpena player over the boards and onto the CC bench.

Helner was lucky he didn't get tossed out of the game.

"I didn't see (the penalty to Ronayne) but it was probably a just call," CC coach Jack Gumbleton said. "Generally we kill penalties pretty well but we take a lot of them. Before the game we (Gumbleton and assistant coach Jim McBroom) said, 'It's your call. If you take a penalty, you got to fight it off.'"

CC was making its first appearance in a state final since logging in the 1983 Class A championship.

Alpena started the season 1-4 overall. It was reminiscent of the Wildcats' championship team of 1987 that started 1-5.

"I told the kids we had to neutralize their speed by forechecking and backchecking," Byers said. "Our plan was to hit, hit, hit, and make them cough it (the puck) up. If I wasn't playing, I certainly would have wanted Jack Gumbleton to win. I'm almost sorry I had to take it from him."

After a scoreless first period, CC took a 1-0 lead at 12:01 of the second period when Jon Heady scored off an assist by Frank Novock and Kasper. Novock stick-handled through the Alpena defense, then passed to Heady on his left, and Heady buried the puck past Alpena goalie Jeremy Sims in the upper right-hand corner.

Novock had several scoring chances as well, especially in the second period when he hit the goal post once, was stopped on a fine glove save by Sims and almost knocked in a rebound.

Novock must have been sore afterward after being constantly harassed by Alpena players after crossing the blue line.

"They were clutching, grabbing, trying to slow us down and it worked most of the time," Novock said. "I just got no breaks today. We were so close, yet so far. Guys were coming in between periods who thought we had it. We knew it was going to be a tough game."

CC had a goal disallowed in the first period, despite the goal judge's light going on. The referee ruled Sims had possession of the puck before a CC player knocked it away.

"Frank played a determined game," Gumbleton said. "They held us, hooked us a lot, Frank can testify to that. But they have a tough defense and that's what wins games."

Heady's goal secures victory over Brighton in semifinals

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Redford Catholic Central junior forward Jon Heady spent four minutes in the penalty box during the third period of Friday's Class A semifinal playoff game at the Flint IMA.

But Heady got out in time to score a goal and assist on another in the last 2:54 as CC advanced to the final with a 5-2 victory over Brighton.

With CC holding on to a 3-2 lead, Heady went into the penalty box for elbowing at 1:59 of the third period and for cross checking at 10:06. Heady came out for good at 12:06 of the third period and 15 seconds later scored an end-to-end goal that gave the Shamrocks a 4-2 lead.

"That (Heady's goal) was like the nail (in the coffin)," Brighton coach Rick Bourbonais said.

It's hard to say what was more impressive: Heady's deke at the blue line to get around a Brighton defenseman or the fake and backhand shot he used to score past goalie Damon Whitten.

"I picked up the puck in the corner in our end, our defenseman (Brian Ronayne) played their guy and I went end-to-end with it," Heady said. "I pretty much counted the game over (at that point)."

Heady also was instrumental in the Shamrocks' fifth goal scored by new linemate Pate Davis at 13:42. After taking a pass from Kevin Pedersen, Heady got sandwiched by two Brighton players at the blue line. Davis picked up the puck and fired it past Whitten for a 5-2 lead.

Davis was playing for Chris Gonzalez, who injured a shoulder in Wednesday's 3-2 quarterfinal win over Port Huron.

But even without Gonzalez, the Shamrocks had too much depth for Brighton, a 2-1 upset winner over No. 1 ranked Trenton in Wednesday's quarterfinal round. CC was able to rotate three lines compared to Brighton's two.

CC, which never scouted Brighton (21-5-1 overall), got strong play from defenseman Brian Ronayne, Pedersen, Mark Holdridge and Mike Kasper, according to CC coach Jack Gumbleton.

There were 17 minor penalties called, 10 against CC.

"We just had to play our game, forecheck, backcheck and skate harder than heck," Gumbleton said. "I'm not a physical (style) coach but we knew they were playing two lines and we said 'Let's flatten them out a bit.'"

Junior forward Frank Novock scored two goals for the Shamrocks, including the eventual game-winner at 10:50 of the second period. Bourbonais said Brighton was caught in a line change when Novock scored on a rebound off a slap shot from the point by Holdridge for a 3-2 lead.

"CC played a good, physical game, was quick and in our face," Bourbonais said. "We're not accustomed to that style. We knew going in that Novock and Heady had wheels. They like to take the puck from right to left and as the game went on we didn't lay a shoulder to them like we could have or should have."

Winning goalie Jamie Ronayne had 14 saves, including a key one on a slap shot from the faceoff circle with about five minutes remaining in the third period. The rebound squirted loose behind Ronayne in the goal crease and the junior goalie was able to stop it before Brighton got to it.

HOROSCOPE

By C.C. Clark

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)

A grievous problem may right itself with a little time. Try to be understanding in matters of the heart; you may not have the whole story.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

Be supportive of those around you and show your appreciation for their efforts. A child or elderly person needs your immediate attention.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

Wait before you decide to make a decision concerning your financial future. There is a chance you will need an expert's advice.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

There is a time to work and a time to party, and now it is time to relax. Take some time to get yourself together. An exciting change is about to happen.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

Move ahead and do not let guilt bind you to an unhappy situation. Enjoy life to the fullest. At the same time, be aware of opportunities.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)

You may have a strong desire to scream at everyone, but it is best if you do not. Keep your temper in check and be kind to those who help you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)

Let go of inhibitions and insecurities and get happy. You may be acting selfishly with someone, and you most likely do not realize what you are doing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Procedures and laws should be followed to the letter, or you will face the consequences. Take your time when filling out forms or signing contracts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)

You will experience changes that will seem all-encompassing at times. Follow your intuition; worrying about what others think is fruitless.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)

A great event will bring you joy beyond belief. Family members may feel like outsiders, so bring them into your happiness and show them you care.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)

Going with the flow isn't a part of your nature, but it will be necessary for a time. Try to see the other side of a stressful situation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Take notice of the many good things in your life. Prioritizing isn't something you enjoy, but it may help put things in perspective.

Mother's nightmare told in 'Without a Kiss Goodbye'

Lisa Hartman Black stars in family tragedy

By Candace Havens

The story line of the CBS docudrama Without a Kiss Goodbye, airing Sunday, March 21, is so sensational, co-star Christopher Meloni thinks viewers may be incredulous.

"When I first read this script, I thought, 'This is bull, there's no way anyone is going to believe this,'" says Meloni. "When I talked with my agent and he told me it was a true story, I was amazed."

Meloni (The Fanelli Boys) co-stars in the film with Lisa Hartman Black, David Ogden Stiers and Cloris Leachman.

The movie is based on the unbelievable story of Laurie and Ray Samuels, played by Hartman Black and Meloni. When their baby, Corey, suddenly takes ill, hospital doctors diagnose that the baby has been poisoned with antifreeze.

Authorities take the child into protective custody, believing it was Laurie who poisoned him. Even though the child suffers another attack and dies while he is a ward of the state, authorities still believe Laurie is guilty.

Laurie gives birth to a second child in prison, and the baby is immediately taken into protective custody. When this child develops the same symptoms as the first one, the Samuels learn their baby suffers from a rare genetic blood disease that mimics the effects of antifreeze poisoning.

Authorities refuse to take this new evidence into account, and Laurie is convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment without parole. It is left to Ray to prove his wife's innocence.

"It is a heartbreaking story," says Meloni. "I don't know how these people weathered the tremendous odds against them. They are incredibly strong."

"Lisa does a wonderful job as the mother," says Meloni. "She is a talented actress." Hartman Black was recently seen on the series 2000 Malibu Road and is best known for her role as Ciji on Knot's Landing.

Meloni was a little star struck when he learned he would be working with Stiers.

Stiers, still best known for his role as Maj. Winchester on TV's *M*A*S*H*, portrays the lawyer who takes a closer look at the Samuels' case and decides to put an end to the grave injustice Laurie was served.

Leachman plays Ray's mother, who helps put Laurie behind bars by committing perjury on the stand. When Ray realizes what his mother has done, he cannot forgive her.

Meloni is believable as the hardworking Ray, who will do anything to free his wife from prison. He comments that it is not always easy to work with babies and children.

"We were taping the scene where I have to tell my dying son how much I and his mother love him," says Meloni. "The problem was the baby would not go to sleep. So I am trying to look soulful while this baby is laughing and punching me in the nose. It wasn't the easiest thing I ever did."

'Great Wonders,' 'Bears,' jazz

By Dan Rice

See the grandeur of natural and man-made designs in the three-part documentary series Great Wonders of the World, beginning Wednesday, March 17, on The Disney Channel. The first episode, Wonders of Nature, features enlightening visits to the Grand Canyon, the Sahara desert, the Amazon River and more.

The Discovery Channel journeys north to visit The Great Bears of Alaska. The documentary, airing Monday, March 15, follows brown bears as they adjust their lives to the ever-changing climate.

Branford Marsalis takes time off from his Tonight Show duties to play host for Bravo's two-part history of jazz. On Friday, March 19, Reeds of Royalty, the first hour, begins in 19th-century New Orleans with Creole clarinetists. It includes footage of Artie Shaw, Woody Herman, Benny Goodman and Charlie "Bird" Parker. Part two, Tenor Titans, airs Friday, April 2.

SOAP TALK

Reader laments soap star's exit

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: What is a fan to do when a favorite soap star is forced to leave his or her job? That is what happened to Andrea Evans, (ex-Tina Roberts, One Life to Live). After 12 years of playing the tigress Tina, she had to give up the role because she was being stalked. She was so afraid that she went into total seclusion. It wasn't fair to her or the viewers who appreciated her performances that she had to do this.

What bothers me most is that they really goofed when they recast the part. Karen Witter, who plays Tina now, overacts. The character is supposed to be seductive, manipulative, pretentious and spirited, not a comedian. Tina used to be daytime's answer to Dynasty's Alexis Carrington.

Look at the history: Tina was abducted in Argentina, went over a waterfall, faced two murder charges, made love to a bartender in a meat freezer and fell out of a lighthouse and survived. It was all crazy and extremely fun to watch. Since Witter took over the role, Tina's story lines are contrived and stupid and I don't enjoy it at all.

James Depaiva has returned as Max, Robin Strasser is back in the role of Dorian and I want Andrea Evans to come back to the role of Tina—Rebecca Gaz, Chicago Heights, Ill.

Dear Reader: You are right about the unfairness of Evans being forced to leave her popular role. But under the circumstances, I think the producers did very well in choosing Witter as a replacement. She is a talented actress. She is as seductive as anyone who has played the role and I believe you will see proof of her talent in the upcoming Cord/Tina/Cain love-triangle story line.

You cannot blame the actress for the story lines. If you want to place blame, give it to the writers and producers of the show. They are the ones responsible for the changes in the characters and for the ridiculous story lines (though I don't think anything tops Tina falling over a waterfall and having a baby she forgot about, which happened when Evans portrayed the role). Witter has done well with what she has been given.

BITS AND PIECES

Series for Grammer, Garr; Betty Boop returns to big screen

Kelsey Grammer will continue his Cheers character of psychiatrist Frasier Crane in a new NBC sitcom debuting as early as next fall. Another NBC comedy series in the works will star Teri Garr (Tootsie) as a divorcee who finds herself in competition for a plum IRS job with an ambitious, younger man, with whom she must share a company apartment.

The resourceful MacGyver has devised a way to escape his series' cancellation: TV movies. Richard Dean Anderson reprises his popular role in the two-hour MacGyver: Trail to Doomsday, scheduled to air on ABC next season. In the production, which recently began in London, MacGyver opposes terrorists and the underground sale of nuclear weapons.

Keep Amy Fisher in your home, on video that is. ABC Television is entering the home-video market with the initial release on the ABC Video label, The Amy Fisher Story. ABC's TV adaptation of the real-life "fatal attraction" story, starring Drew Barrymore in the title role, was widely considered less biased than NBC's and CBS' competing docudramas. The video version is said to contain additional footage shot exclusively for home video, which probably means more of the sexual situations that made the news story so sensational.

Betty Boop returns! Richard D. Zanuck will produce an animated feature for MGM starring the world-famous character. Zanuck will collaborate with Richard Fleischer, son of Betty Boop's creator, Max Fleischer.

Reel life imitates real life. Raquel Welch teams with Jack Scalia in Judith Krantz's Torch Song, an ABC movie which recently completed production. The story follows the life of a boozing movie queen who finds love with a firewater-guzzling fireman when they meet at a rehabilitation center. Sounding suspiciously like the romance of Elizabeth Taylor and construction worker Larry Fortensky, the film is scheduled to air later this season.

Teri Garr,

Saturdays on NBC's Almost Home, Connie Ray plays a single mother and nanny for a rich, single father.
