Schools push for tax increase

The Plymouth Canton school officials hold revived hope that voters will approve a 4-mill tax hike Monday, June 14, now that voters have sent Proposal A to the scrap yard. A renewal of 17.74 mills will also appear on the ballot as a separate question.

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

In the wake of Wednesday's statewide election, Plymouth-Canton school officials are relieved Proposal A failed and adamant that passage of the 4-mill tax increase on the June 14 local ballot is a necessity.

The Gov. John Engler-backed Proposal A would have raised the sales tax and lowered property taxes to finance schools. Plymouth-Canton Community Schools projected a $6.9-million shortfall if Proposal A passed, or a $4.9-million deficit if it failed.

Plymouth-Canton voters will be asked next Monday to approve 4 mills for two years, and to renew 17.74 mills in two separate ballot questions.

"We hope Gov. Engler isn't vindictive in terms of kids' education," said Ray Hoedel, the district's associate superintendent for business and finance. "Prior to A, he put together an executive plan whereby assessments based on 50 percent would be reduced to 45 percent. Maybe that's being discussed right now in Lansing. Whatever they do, schools — if they are to maintain any stability — need a little there to absorb if there's a major change."

"The state could introduce and pass 'gotcha' legislation impacting kids' lives. That could happen overnight," added Hoedel.

"We find ourselves with the state of Michigan still struggling. In that struggle, we are losing funds. They are eroding K-12 education. To maintain programs and services, we need the 4 mills," he said.

Potential cuts

If the millage fails, the district is projecting $4.6 million in cuts. Still laid off after last year's cuts of $4.9 million are 26 employees. Projected are additional layoffs of 42 teachers and other staff, including nine administrators. The clerical and maintenance budgets would be cut 10 percent.

The district would further cut costs by boarding up the two new elementary schools in Canton; eliminating high school and middle school sports and extracurricular activities; cut custodial overtime; close school buildings to the public; close the Central Middle School pool; restructure the gifted program; eliminate textbook purchases; reduce equipment purchases and vocational education supplies; reduce central office supplies; and reduce the co-op budget.

"We are facing cuts on top of cuts," said Hoedel.

District and millage campaign officials responded to several questions being raised by voters, who are asking why the millage is needed in light of the new development and assessment increases now reaping $4.6 million for the district.

"Under normal circumstances, that would cover us," said Dick Egli, community relations director.

"The state is eroding state aid," said Hoedel. "We are using $2 million to replenish the fund balance the state wiped out last year. Plus we

Students entertain seniors

BY M.B. DILLON

For students at Central Middle School, this is the sunrise of life. For the residents at West Trail Nursing home, it's nearing sunset. As a host of talented students performed for their elderly neighbors, the two intersected for a while on a recent afternoon. It brought smiles as bright as the noon-day sun.

As the residents, most of them in wheelchairs, listened, Michele Baldor read a poem. Delaine Andrzejewski danced. Natalie Ferin and Erin Griffith read poems. Jessica Carlson danced. Amanda Hamlin and Laura Coates danced. Brandon Jones played an instrument. Julie Guelfoyle recited. Jenny Webbe danced. Rosa Hernandez read an original poem. Ballerina Jackie Lukens danced. Susan Szubek played the piano. Lauren Campbell danced. Katie Wildfong sang. Kate Szubek and Elizabeth Elsner also took part in the festivities, in the activity room at the Ann Arbor Trail nursing home.

"It's kind of scary," said Jessica, a jazz dancer. "A lot of the people are bed-ridden. We have come here a few times, and have gotten to know some of the people. At first when you come you have mixed emotions. You don't know if you should feel happy or said. But then you feel good because you are doing something for them," she said.

Students brought their own taped music. After their show, they visited with the residents.

West Trail maintenance worker and laundry aide Daryl Fair took time out from his duties to catch a performance. "The residents enjoy this. They really like it," Fair said.

"I came a couple times and got so sad I cried. I just had my Gramma die," said Laura Coates. "I know I'm doing good for other people, so I shouldn't think of myself, but them," she said.

"The children have a new understanding of old people," said teacher Margo Panko, who accompanied the children along with teacher Joan Davis.

"They have a much greater appreciation. They see this is what will happen to all of us one day. It's teaching them to appreciate those around us, and to take time to share with their grandparents," added Panko, whose mother lives at West Trail and, like many of the residents, suffers from Alzheimer's disease.

Lauren Campbell enjoyed dancing for her audience. "The first time we came, it seemed like people didn't want to pay attention, but they really heard. You know it really helps cheer up their day. It's nice to be able to do something for them."

Inmate testifies that doctor offered bribe

BY DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

A nine-year saga of the Canton microbiologist charged with murdering his wife by wrapping her face with duct tape continues with a new trial centered on an inmate who claims Charles Fisher bribed him to take the rap.

Fisher was free on bond awaiting his third trial on first-degree murder charges when he was arrested on felony charges of perjury and attempting to obstruct justice. The first charge carries up to five years in prison, and the second is a 2½ year felony.

A jury was chosen and the inmate, Ricardo Bush, took the stand last week in Wayne County Circuit Court. Bush claims Fisher told him in prison that he taped his wife's nose and mouth and watched her fade.

Bush, who is serving a 10- to 15-year prison sentence for habitual breaking and entering charges, was promised he would get a lower prison term based on good behavior in exchange for his testimony.

Bush told Wayne County Prosecutors that he received $300 in prison tokens from Fisher, who Bush said promised to pay him $1,500 if he would say he, and other inmates, broke into the couple's Canton house in 1984.

Fisher allegedly quizzed Bush about details of how his wife, Ella Maria Mercado Fisher, was ambushed and what their Thornwood house looked like.

Visiting Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Thomas Roumell remanded Fisher to jail without bond awaiting his murder trial.

Two juries found Fisher guilty of murdering his wife. The first trial was thrown out due to a comment made by the prosecutor, and the second was reversed by the Michigan Supreme Court ruling a diary kept by Mercado Fisher should not have been admitted into testimony, because it was hearsay.

Since the perjury and obstruction charges occurred while Fisher was in prison, any sentences would be consecutive to any sentence he might receive for the homicide case.

Other witnesses in the latest trial include Wayne County Prosecutor Michael Reynolds, who received the letter from Bush alleging that Fisher tried to bribe him; and the victim's parents, Evelyn and Manuel Mercado.

A trial date for the murder charge has not yet been set.

No signs

Six candidates for the Plymouth City Commission have agreed not to use political signs for the 1993 election campaign.

"Cluttering our streets and lawns with political signs for as much as six months is not the type of burden we feel is necessary to impose on our friends and neighbors," reads the joint statement. It is signed by Rosita Smith, Stella Greene, Dave McDonald, Michael Caffery, Glen Mackie and Doug Miller.

Three candidates did not sign — Tom Prose, Ron Loiselle and John Vos. Vos is currently using signs, and Loiselle said he's considering it.

Museum considers Lincoln collection

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The largest private collection of Abraham Lincoln memorabilia in the midwest could be housed at the Plymouth Historical Museum — and that could bring some recognition to the city.

Museum director Beth Stewart and Weldon Petz, who amassed the collection, say bringing the collection permanently to Plymouth is so far just an idea and nothing is set.

But Stewart said the Plymouth Historical Society is looking into how money could be raised to pay for the collection and expand the museum on Main Street to house it.

"It's a wonderful opportunity for us," Stewart said.

The collection includes 40,000 pieces, including postcards, letters and photographs — some of which are on ambrotypes and never before printed.

Parts of the collection have been shown at the Plymouth museum, and Petz — who lives in Oakland County — has friends here.

Besides that, Petz said he'd like to see the collection move to Plymouth because it would be more accessible to school groups.

"They should have the ability to use archival material. It would be easier in Plymouth than at U-M or Wayne State," he said.

As to the cost to bring the collection here, "I'm not sure at this point," he said. Stewart estimated it could cost $50,000 to renovate the museum building to house the collection.

Petz, 71, said he first got interested in Lincoln when his parents gave him a book on the subject when he was a boy.

"I was always interested in Lincoln, but not only as a political figure," he said.

Petz was asked to appear on PBS Channel 56 in Detroit when the popular "The Civil War" series was shown a few years ago, to comment on episodes. Some of his Lincoln photographs were used by historian Shelby Foote — a star of "The Civil War" — in one of his recent books.

It would take at least five years, Petz said, before the collection could go from his home to the Plymouth Historical Museum.

"We could have a permanent, changing exhibit on Lincoln," Stewart suggested.

Petz has written three books on Lincoln and has lectured on the former president around the state.

The museum's annual $65,000 budget is paid for through museum admissions and from an annual trust fund. To raise money to pay for the collection and renovate the museum, historical society members would have to seek corporate or other donors, Stewart said.

Autism society sets meeting on inclusive education

An inclusive education networking meeting will be held Wednesday night in Livonia.

The session, sponsored by the Wayne County Chapter of the Autism Society of America, will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Livonia Civic Center Library, Five Mile east of Farmington Road.

Inclusive education is a policy expressed in state and federal laws which encourages the placement of disabled students in general education classrooms.

The chapter is preparing for a

June 22 hearing at the Wayne County RESA headquarters on Van Born just west of Venoy in Wayne on the inclusive education report on Barriers to Inclusion in Michigan Schools.

Arts council drops plans for Wilcox Mill

Plans to turn the historic Wilcox Mill into a headquarters for the Plymouth Community Arts Council have been scrapped.

The mill, at Wilcox Road and Hines Drive, had been targeted for renovation as a permanent home for the arts council. Original plans called for classroom space, an art gallery and offices.

"There were several factors considered in the decision," said Christine Ilas, arts council executive director.

"Preliminary site tests revealed the need for additional reconstructive work, increasing our original budget, $765,000, by at least 20 percent," she said.

Also, Wayne County officials were not able to win a state Department of Natural Resources grant that would have helped pay for the renovation.

"With costs spiraling upward, even before we broke ground, the board felt the mill project would be detrimental to the purpose and programs of the PCAC," Ilas said.

An arts council facility committee is reviewing the Plymouth area for a new site, she added.

The arts council currently operates out of an upstairs office on Main Street off of Kellogg Park.

Kids ready for summer reading

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

There are lots of kids into summer reading in Plymouth and Canton, and libraries and bookstores are gearing up.

Jackie Powers, owner of the Little Professor Book Center, said kids book sales are on the rise.

"This is an outstanding summer for young readers," Powers said, adding some popular kids reading series are expanding.

Book series for elementary to preteen kids have grown in popularity in recent years.

"The most popular kinds of things are 'The Baby Sitter Club' and 'Pee Wee Scouts,'" said Pam Rawlinson, who coordinates children's reading services for the Plymouth District Library.

"The kids seem to really get into the series," Rawlinson said. Patrick Persons, a youth services librarian at the Canton Public Library, agreed.

"The kids like that because they get familiar with the characters and they can read about them; there's the 'Sweet Valley Twins,' and the 'American Girls' series," he added.

"Kids are really into horror stories, things that scare them; they like that a lot," Persons said. "Older elementary kids still enjoy books about kids experiencing the same things they experience."

While Rawlinson said children's series are more popular now than when parents were kids, classics including 'Black Beauty,' 'Alice In Wonderland' and 'Little Women' are still read.

Both libraries offer summer reading programs. In Plymouth, parents read to kids in the Read to Me program, and kids may also participate in the Make a Splash summer reading program.

In both programs, parents or kids record titles of books that are read and kids can receive bookmarks, stickers and stamps.

The Canton library also has a summer reading program planned for kids in grades 1-8. "About 1,300 kids enrolled last year, this year we're hoping for more," Persons said.

Powers said that among new books scheduled for release this summer is a new "American Girls" novel, a new series of "Little House on the Prairie" books, and some old favorites including "Curious George" adventures released in book and audio form.

Other planned releases include "Rabbit-Cadabra" about a humorous vampire rabbit, Bunnacula; "The Emerald City of Oz," printed in emerald-green ink; and movie tie-ins including "Jurassic Park."

Vogras reinstated at new job

BY PAT MURPHY
STAFF WRITER

The official who fired Ken Vogras as head of the West Bloomfield water department would like his reinstatement on July 6 to be a new beginning.

"As far as I'm concerned, this is his chance to start anew," Supervisor Geraldine "Jeddy" Hood said Friday, referring to a decision by the personnel committee of the town board to reverse Vogras' dismissal.

While critics of Hood say there indeed may be a new beginning for Vogras, they also think the way she handled the episode represents a serious misjudgment on the part of the supervisor — the kind of miscalculation that may affect Hood's relationship with other members of the town board.

"This (the Vogras episode) raises serious questions about her judgment," said trustee Michael A. Schwartz. "Particularly her decision to hire a private detective to spy on Vogras."

"She did something without authorization of the board . . . and it looks like she went off half-cocked."

Schwartz, a lawyer, is not a member of the personnel committee. He said he is basing his comments on a 4-page report issued by the committee Wednesday after it said Vogras will be suspended without pay from his job for 30 days, but reinstated after that at full salary and benefits.

"While it is impossible to conceive of a way in which this kind of intentional misconduct could be explained away as a simple mistake or oversight," the committee concluded in its report, "this Committee finds that termination of him is too severe a discipline."

The report is signed by trustees Raymond Holland, Marc Shulman and Dennis Vatsis.

The committee agreed — as Hood alleged — Vogras falsified time records.

But it disagreed with the supervisor about there being enough evidence to conclude Vogras had unauthorized absences from work or that he misused a township car.

Vogras and his attorney said they would not appeal the committee's decision. Beyond that, they declined to comment.

Hood, who suspended Vogras with pay and benefits on March 12, said she accepts the committee's action, even though it goes against her decision. "I spent much of Thursday talking with people in the water department. And they seem willing to accept Vogras when he comes back."

Complaints from people there prompted her to begin taking a look at how Vogras was running the 20-employee department, Hood said. That was in January, roughly two months after being elected to office.

Instead of confronting Vogras directly, Hood hired private detective Ronald Dudley of Waterford to watch the water department supervisor and document some of his actions during the 11-day period beginning Feb. 19.

Trustees were critical of Dudley's work as well as the decision to hire him.

"Upon its review of this evidence," the committee report says, "the Committee believes that Mr. Dudley's testimony and the video tape, at best, is (sic) inconclusive for there are many gaps in the surveillance as to the dates and times when this surveillance was conducted."

Schwartz said Hood was wrong to have hired a private detective without first consulting board members. "This was not something that had to be done immediately. She had plenty of time to confer with us."

"One of her campaign pledges was better communications with board members. And now we get this."

Hood defends hiring Dudley. "I wanted an objective outsider," she said.

Golfers raise green for charity

More than 200 golfers took to the greens last week to raise $15,000 for the Canton Community Foundation.

The Third Annual Jack Demmer Ford Canton Community Foundation Golf Outing for Charity drew business people and government leaders from Western Wayne County for a breakfast, lunch, dinner and golfing extravaganza Thursday at Fellows Creek in Canton.

The money will go to human service program, like scholarships, sponsored by the foundation.

An awards banquet was held at the end of the day, with a night of tributes to Canton Supervisor Thomas Yack. He was given proclamations of honor by the state legislature, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

He was honored for his accomplishments during five years as supervisor.

In addition to the $15,000, Pulte Homes turned over a check for $5,000 and Waste Management donated $20,000.

The foundation goal is to raise $250,000 this year.

For the record, the winning golf team was a group represented by American Yazaki, in Canton.

College hosts free fair

The second Livonia Free Fair, sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Foundation, is now in progress and will continue through Sunday, June 13, on the campus on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile roads.

The fair will feature hundreds of rides and attractions, live bands, special cartoon guests, a free circus, racing pigs and a petting farm.

The circus will feature performing elephants, lions and tigers and for the first time in this area, Zamperla the Human Rocket Launcher. Watch as Zamperla is sent flying through the air from the blast of a large cannon.

Fair-goers will be able to ride all the rides everyday for $12 from open to close. Free $2 off discount ride coupons are available at Kroger Supermarkets. Special ride prices for children less than 48 inches tall will be offered from noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday.

For information on additional ride promotions or for a schedule of events, call the fair hot line at 591-6362.

Car show gears up

The Road Knights will present its annual Car and Hot Rod Show and "Barn '93" beginning 10 a.m. Sunday.

The show will be at the Wilson Barn, 29350 W. Chicago at Middlebelt in Livonia.

Besides the automobile exhibition, they're will be an Auto Swap Meet, arts and crafts sale, food for sale, pony rides for the children, and music.

General admission is a $2 donation at the gate.

Proceeds will benefit Wilson Barn, a non-profit organization. The show is co-sponsored by Friends of the Barn. The Wilson Barn, a national historic site, is the birthplace of the milk hauling business in Michigan.

A special feature of this year's show will be a safety inspection by the National Street Rod Association. Another feature will be the Roush Racing Mobile Museum.

have ongoing increases in expenditures in all areas of the budget." Another $750,000 in district funds is being held in escrow while a lawsuit over tax-base sharing lingers in the courts.

Long-term changes

The district's fund balance — or contingency fund — is down to zero. It should be 10 percent of the budget, according to the schools' auditors, Hoedel said.

"Maybe the school board is inefficient. Maybe they're not good business people. But we have to deal with what's in front of us," said Hugh Harsha, public-utility co-chair for the millage committee.

While school raises "will never be the same," the district had good reason to grant teachers a 3-percent raise, a cost to the district of $1.5 million, officials say. The 42 teachers and employees to be cut if the millage fails will mean a savings of $1.3 million.

"To avoid strikes or adding antipathy to the situation, we took care of that ahead of time," said Pat Liljestrand. "We let voters know there was a cost of living adjustment given ahead of time. Who loses if there is a strike? Our teachers aren't overpaid compared to other districts."

"It boils down to what kind of quality do we want to maintain?" said Egli.

What of the teachers' buy-out some projected would have saved the district $1.5 million? "We didn't get into any serious potential of that," said Hoedel. "It's not that cost effective. We have 26 teachers still pink-slipped." It's difficult to project what the savings would total, as a buy-out would occur over three years, said Egli.

Teachers have been asked by the district for a 3-percent give-back. The district hasn't received a response yet, said Hoedel.

"I don't think raises will ever be the same again because we are picking up Social Security and re-irement costs (over the next three years). The state always paid that, and it amounts to about $8 million. Now we have to absorb it. It's the same we know with the health plan. It has to be cut back. The good times are long gone," Hoedel said.

Egli said that while a renewal has never failed in Plymouth-Canton, "we aren't taking it for granted. It's nearly half our budget," said Egli.

"I don't think anyone has looked at it carefully. It would be virtual disaster," said Harsha.

Restorations on the list should the 4 mills pass include: maintaining current levels of school programs and services; opening two elementary schools; maintaining a full school day; keeping athletic and extracurricular activities; eliminating participation fees; purchasing teaching supplies; maintaining transportation; providing marching band funds; enhancing the student assessment testing budget; exploring extension of media center hours; and providing funds for contingencies.

ARTHRITIS & DRIVE A CAR

If you have arthritis, can you safely drive a car?
First, are the joints you use in working condition? You need a neck able to turn to allow you to properly back out of your garage or a parking space. You must have grip to grasp so you can turn the car's steering wheel. Finally, you require enough freedom from pain and sufficient mobility in your legs to enable you to accelerate and brake quickly.
The ability to undertake the above depends both on your joints and on the car's equipment, thus the second evaluation. Do you have a seat capable of adjusting to the height and distance from the floor you need that day? Have you large or added mirrors to compensate for any neck motion impairment? Is your steering wheel padded or has it a knob added for better grip? Do you have automatic steering and/or transmission to lessen the strain of shifting and turning? Are your seat belts adapted to your capability to clip the belts in place and can you position the shoulder harness to your body shape?
The third evaluation is your medication. If arthritis drugs leave you light headed or nauseated, do you schedule your driving to waiting until such feelings resolve?
If you are older, then in addition you must also consider your eyesight, coordination, and mental state before venturing behind the wheel.

Prop A backers mad at Detroit

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Questions you might ask about the defeat Wednesday of Proposal A, the plan to replace $2 billion in school property taxes with a sales tax increase.

Q. How's Gov. John Engler really taking this, his second defeat on a property tax cut?

A. Engler is smart enough to restrain his tongue, but the western state politicians around him are fuming at "Detroit."

House GOP cospeaker Paul Hillegonds of Holland: "Tonight the state sort of divided in two. It's like two separate states in how they view the world."

Gubernatorial press agent John Truscott: "It's really a shame when we can carry 70 counties and have one area decide the fate of the whole state."

Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus: "They (who voted no) benefitted from the present system."

Grand Rapids Press news headline: "Area voters endorse proposal but can't counter Detroit ballots."

Engler: "The metro area has a higher level of alienation. There's less sense of community with the rest of the state. When we got to the W's (in counties), we were leading."

Q. Is that view of "Detroit" justified?

A. No. There were four clear pockets of opposition to Proposal A:

■ Oakland, Macomb and suburban Wayne counties. Even though school boards endorsed A, taxpayers would have received little property tax relief, trivial school aid relief and the displeasure of shipping their higher sales tax money outstate.

■ Detroit itself, where taxpayers would have received a 19-mill cut but voted no anyway.

■ Four large outstate counties — Washtenaw, where Ann Arborites would have had a mere 2-mill cut; Genesee (Flint), Saginaw and Bay City, the latter three on the I-75 corridor.

■ Six Upper Peninsula counties around Marquette.

Q. Why would Detroit, with so much to gain, vote no?

A. Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-

Fowlerville, supported A but blamed the GOP leadership for alienating Detroit by recalling the Cobo Hall refinancing bill from Engler's desk after the Legislature had passed it.

The Cobo Hall bill had a major impact on what they did in Detroit. The issue was trust. Dave Holmes, D-Detroit, who rarely says anything, said, "I'm not taking this layin' down. You're not doing this to my city." Engler was part of it. It (Detroit's negative vote) should not have been a surprise.

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, an opponent, said: "The governor put it as three counties versus 80. Those three counties have 50 percent of the people. The people showed a lot better judgment than the organizations who were pushed and cajoled into supporting it."

Q. What will happen now?

A. A reporter put it best: "Robin Hood is back, and he's madder than poop," or something like that.

Q. Meaning?

A. Engler and legislators who supported tax base sharing will take away every state dollar suburban schools get for pensions and categorical aid.

That's the reason many out-of-formula suburban school boards supported A — they feared the wrath of Engler, Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, and Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, on categoricals.

Q. How does Engler justify that wrath?

A. He points to Bridgman, a Lake Michigan shoreline district with a nuclear plant.

"It's unsupportable," Engler said, "that Bridgman levies 8 mills, spends $7,000 per pupil and still gets a $400,000 check from the state. They won't get that check. And they'll have to go to 9 mills."

Q. Bridgman is one thing, but what about the Novis, Northvilles, Farmingtons, Livonias, Southfields, Troys, South Redfords...?

A. Engler and the western legislators make straw men of the three B's — Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Bridgman — as examples of super wealth. They don't talk about the others.

Voters to elect 3 to S'craft board

■ Candidates respond on Page 7A

In an effort to inform voters, the Livonia League of Women Voters posed three questions to candidates running for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

The league is a non-partisan organization dedicated to providing information about candidates and issues. The league does not endorse candidates.

Six candidates are seeking three seats on the board — one four-year term and two six-year terms.

The election is Monday, June 14.

Squaring off for one four-year term are Winifred Fraser of Northville and Richard DeVries of Livonia.

Seeking the two six-year terms are Catherine Broadbent of Westland, Linda Chuhuran of Canton Township, John Walsh of Livonia and Patricia Watson of Northville.

Fraser, appointed to the Schoolcraft board in January, is a retired from Wayne State University, where she was an associate dean in the graduate school. She holds bachelor's and master's degrees in psychology and a doctorate in philosophy.

Fraser is a member of several boards, including the Child/Youth Initiative of Detroit/Wayne County, the Visiting Nurse Association of Southeastern Michigan and the Michigan Department of Health Prevention

Advisory Committee.

She served as chairwoman and vice chairwoman of the Western Michigan University Board of Trustees and is a former member of the Livonia Family YMCA Board of Directors.

She serves as a peer counselor at the Schoolcraft's Women's Resource Center.

DeVries is retired from the Livonia Public Schools, where he worked for more than 30 years.

He holds a bachelor's degree in math from the University of Michigan. His postgraduate work includes course work at U-M, Eastern Michigan University and Wayne State University.

DeVries coached the Churchill School debate team from 1985 to 1992 and coached boys baseball from 1966 to 1992. He is a member of the Livonia Optimists Club and charter member of the Livonia Arts Commission.

He is active in the Republican Party and has served as a precinct delegate, a member of what was formerly the Wayne 2nd Congressional Committee and a delegate to the state convention.

Broadbent holds a bachelor's of science degree in business management from Madonna University. She received an associate's degree in business administration from Schoolcraft. She is a graduate of Churchill High School.

She is the director of human resources for Plymouth Township.

The mother of two school-age children, Broadbent is active in the Michigan Metro Girl Scouts. She was the governmental chairwoman of the Plymouth Community United Way Annual Fund Campaign and vice chairwoman of the Madonna University Corporate Fund Campaign in 1992.

She is member of the personnel committee of the Conference of Western Wayne.

Chuhuran holds five associate's degrees (marketing and applied management, general business, cosmetology management, small business management and liberal arts/general studies) from Schoolcraft College. She has a bachelor's of science degree from Madonna and a master's of science degree in administration from that school.

Chuhuran is a senior accountant at General Motors Corp. and a member of the National Association of Accountants and the American Society of Professional and Executive Women. She was formerly the clerk in Canton Township.

Walsh is an attorney with Lewis, White & Clay of Detroit. He holds a bachelor's degree in international relations from James Madison College at Michigan State University and a law degree from Wayne State University. He is a graduate of Garden City East High School.

He is a member of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, the Livonia Jaycees, where he was recognized as the director of the year in 1991-1992, and the Wayne and Oakland Young Republicans.

He was appointed to the Schoolcraft board in January.

Watson, who works as a psychologist at Providence Hospital in Southfield, holds a bachelor's degree from Aquinas College in Grand Rapids, a master's degree from St. Francis College in Indiana and a doctorate from the University of Detroit.

She has served on the Schoolcraft board since she was appointed in 1991.

She is a member of the American Psychological Association, the Northville Business and Professional Women's Organization and the Michigan League of Women Voters. She serves as a consultant to the Salvation Army and Edwin Denby Memorial Children's Home in Detroit.

Registered voters in the school districts of Livonia, Clarenceville, Plymouth Cnaton, Garden City and Northville are eligible to vote in the Schoolcraft race.

Schoolcraft trustees are not paid. Other Schoolcraft trustees are Mary Breen of Plymouth Township, Michael Burley of Canton Township, Harry Greenleaf of Livonia and Steve Ragan of Plymouth.

Q. Are our leaders giving up on cutting property taxes and achieving school funding equity?

A. No, but they're licking their wounds and looking for other options. Engler still argues Michigan's property taxes are 30 percent above the national average. University of Michigan economists still see high property taxes as an impediment to industrial growth.

Q. Is there a clear message in the defeat of A?

A. Not that Engler can detect. "Sixty percent (of voters) are against anything at any given time... I'm waiting to see what Mike Sessa, Bill McMaster and Frank Garrison send us."

Sessa and McMaster are vocal tax cutters. Garrison heads the AFL-CIO. All opposed A and attacked Engler.

Best guess: Some effort to pare or hold down property taxes, such as Senate Bill 146, a 1994 freeze. It was due to be taken up the day after Wednesday's election but was bypassed.

Q. What's ruled out?

A. Engler and Senate leaders say an income tax increase is out, though many House members of both parties would go that route.

Rusty Hills, Engler's communications chief, also says another ballot proposal is out.

Q. Are any other plans out there?

A. Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, will push his plan, which would cut property taxes for most districts, not just 70 percent of them, and raise the sales tax 2 cents.

The difference: Faxon's plan would grant state aid based on regional costs of doing business rather than giving all $4,800 per pupil, whether they need it or not. Another difference: Faxon's plan aims at cutting the dollar amounts of property tax bills, not tinkering with assessments or millage rates.

Reaction from his suburban audiences: very good.

Q. Any chance of a federal court forcing Michigan to do school funding equity?

A. Some Democratic lawmakers, like Reps. Kirk Profit of Ypsilanti and Bill Keith of Garden City, wanted to write "equity" into the Michigan Constitution to allow such a suit. They've had no luck.

Engler says a federal lawsuit is "not unthinkable," but he clearly would like to avoid it. Kentucky was forced to raise its tax load $1 billion for schools. Texas is in a messy suit.

Q. For the record, what were the totals?

A. Of 2,170,398 votes cast, there were 1,006,870 yes and 1,163,528 no. Some 36.4 percent of registered voters turned out — excellent for a single-issue election.

S'craft board candidates address election issues

Winifred Fraser: Appointed to the Schoolcraft board in January, she is seeking a four-year term.

Richard DeVries: Retired after nearly 30 years as a Livonia school teacher, he is seeking a four-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

Catherine Broadbent: The director of human resources for Plymouth Township, she is seeking a six-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

Linda Chuhran: An accountant at GM, she is seeking a six-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

John Walsh: The Livonia attorney was appointed to the board in January. He is seeking a six-year term.

Patricia Watson: Appointed to the board in 1991, she is seeking a six-year term on the Schoolcraft board.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Acceptability of Schoolcraft credits is firmly established. Close cooperation with 32 four-year colleges in Michigan allowed the development of Transfer Guides. If the student works with the transfer guide and a counselor, Schoolcraft credits transfer easily. And our transfer students consistently earn higher grade point averages than other transfer students.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

While state cuts affect Schoolcraft's general fund, re-training programs are funded through JPTA's proposal procedure. Submitting worthwhile proposals as we have in the past should maintain our funding level. Schoolcraft also develops retraining agreements with the private sector through our Business Development office. This activity would receive greater emphasis.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

Cost containment while assuring quality education will be a tremendous problem since state aid has been continuously decreasing. Maintaining a sufficient number of full time faculty to ensure quality education will continue to be a challenge. Achieving broader public recognition of the quality and community resources Schoolcraft offers is crucial.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft has working relationships with most colleges and universities in Michigan. Schoolcraft's credits are respected. The problem is that some four-year institutions do not accept community college credits for graduation requirements. Students are asked to take tests or often repeat courses to take higher level courses and/or graduate.

I would ask the administration review the current articulation agreements, reworking those that need change.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft College fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft should take advantage of any available programs to help train students. Schoolcraft already works directly with area businesses on specific retraining projects. Fitting new programs into this format would be a very direct use of funds.

State funding has declined beginning in 1992-1993 school year. The state provides about 26 percent of the Schoolcraft revenue. Any federal, state or business program that increases funding and trains students should be encouraged.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

1. Schoolcraft College must increase the number of full time faculty members. Part-time instructors should be provided extensive training to insure competency.
2. Schoolcraft must make a greater effort to comply immediately with the American Disabilities Act.
3. The college should evaluate all equipment used for instruction. Outdated and older equipment must be replaced.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four-year institutions?

Schoolcraft College currently has agreements with several dozen state and private colleges concerning the acceptance of transfer credits. To enhance acceptability at additional colleges, graduation testing, similar to the ASSET test required of incoming Schoolcraft students, may provide the necessary assurance to these colleges of post-secondary skills developed at Schoolcraft.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft College fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

This is one way for the college to enhance their revenue picture and self-promote at the same time by capturing retraining funds. According to the Hudson Institute report, the average worker will change jobs seven times in their life. This means continual training, retraining and learning opportunities.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

1. Competition from other educational institutions.
2. Revenue enhancements other than tax dollars, state aid and tuition such as grants, business/education partnerships, fund-raising and expanded facility use.
3. Compliance with ever changing laws such as the Americans with Disabilities Act as it pertains to retraining of teachers, physical access and employment issues.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four year institutions?

Schoolcraft has a high level of acceptance, currently. Structuring course element with very specific focus on program identification for specialized skill training will enhance student enrollment and assist students to concentrate on career development and a stronger association with a four year program instead of two years general studies education.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft can easily find a market to coordinate college programs assisting employers changing job descriptions with transitional skill training and career pathing. Employers will fund the cost when courses are structured to benefit their unique specialized needs. Corporate funding will offset funding and enhance student involvement.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

Long range growth development to include extension of programs and facilities to accommodate a changing work force with continual course curriculum upgrades; implementation of student affordability programs and improvements to various student services currently provided; gain considerable private industry involvement with program design, facilities, course instruction and funding.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four year institutions?

Schoolcraft credits are presently acceptable at over 25 four year institutions through articulation agreements. As trustee, I will urge the administration to pursue articulation agreements with additional four year institutions as well as encouraging our counseling staff to work closely with students to assure compliance with such agreements.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft College fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft already participates in retraining programs with private businesses. It is important that Schoolcraft be involved in retraining citizens, who in a rapidly changing economy require new skills to compete. Retraining courses should be provided as the budget allows, but should not cause a reduction in resources allocated to traditional two year students.

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

The three immediate problems/concerns requiring attention from the trustees are: the impact of declining state aid to the college, the retirement of over 30 percent of the faculty and the staff in the next five years, and community recognition of the excellent courses and programs available at Schoolcraft.

1. What would you do to enhance the acceptability of Schoolcraft credits at four year institutions?

Schoolcraft has agreements with 32 four-year institutions in Michigan to guarantee the transfer of credits. Mandatory counseling is also provided with a "transfer guide" to insure courses transfer. The guide is provided by four-year institutions to facilitate this process. Students need to access academic counseling if questions arise.

2. How do you see institutions like Schoolcraft College fitting into the proposed job retraining program in an era of steadily declining state funds for community colleges?

Schoolcraft constantly seeks to obtain grants and funding to address the employment needs of our communities. This effort is another innovative strategy to insure our financial stability. Schoolcraft College has obtained five grants from a fund for job training and adult education in 1992-1993 for a total of $342,541.00

3. In your opinion, what three problems at Schoolcraft need the most attention from the trustees?

1. Uncertain funding from state of Michigan revenues and the resulting impact to the college.
2. Meeting the ever-changing needs of providing the best academic grounding, technical education and career preparation.
3. Maintain the quality of staff as we face a rate of 30-50 percent retirement within five years.

Athletes who drive

Athletes come in many shapes and sizes, yet constant visions of physically superior "super-beings" pushing themselves to the limits seem to plague the minds of most Americans. This fallacy has led to the exclusion of many deserving athletic groups, one being race car drivers.

The argument is a test of athletic ability? The car expends all of the energy, not the driver. The rationale becomes clear when you examine the word "athlete." An athlete is someone who takes part in competitive sports. No one can deny that racing cars is a competitive sport. So although race car drivers like Scott Brayton, for example, may not be able to run a mile in under five minutes or bring in the winning run in the ninth inning, they can make hundreds of life-threatening decisions throughout a challenging three-hour race, displaying a level of concentration worthy of any athletic event.

Brayton set his sites on car racing early in life. The son of former Indy car driver Lee Brayton, Scott has been racing cars since he received a go-cart for his fifth birthday. Scott moved up from racing go-carts to open-wheel formula cars and the Formula Ford series. In 1981, Brayton, who hails from Coldwater, Mich., began racing Brayton started his Indy car career by driving partial campaigns almost exclusively for his family's team. However, he made his mark in 1985 when he set a track-record lap time of 214.99 mph and qualified with a four-lap average speed of 212.354 on opening day of the Indy 500. This year, Scott, sponsored by First of America Bank, will drive No. 22, Amway's Winning Spirit Indy Car in the Detroit PPG Indy Car race, the Indianapolis 500, the Milwaukee 200 and the Michigan 500.

Self-tanners aid a summer's glow

Though the temptation to bask in the sun is powerful, we all know the results could be devastating. Sunbathing habits have changed drastically.

The "Sun Goddesses" of yesteryear favor protective sunscreens or counterfeit tans from a bottle. There's certainly no need to shun the sun. Though careless exposure and sunburn is destructive, sunlight is vital for our bodies and our spirit.

To take advantage of the positive side of sunlight, skin needs a chemical-free sunscreen that reflects infrared rays while blocking ultraviolet light. Titanium dioxide is a natural protective film that is now being used in sun products to prohibit the absorption of UV rays. It is transparent, PABA-free and oil-free. Look for these revolutionary chemical-free sunscreens, now manufactured by Origins (only at Neiman Marcus), Clinique, Chanel and Erno Laszlo.

Spray-on tans

Self-tanning products abound and I took an informal survey of users. Which one produces an even, natural-looking tan with no odor and no orange streaks? The overwhelming favorite is Estee Lauder's Self-Action Tanning Spray ($19.50). The fine mist creates even color.

Among those standing in line at Hudson's for this popular spray was Sandy Smith of Dearborn.

To take advantage of the positive side of sunlight, skin needs a chemical-free sunscreen that reflects infrared rays while blocking ultraviolet light.

She was so pleased with her "tan," she persuaded her mother and her aunt to buy the Lauder product. "The color is very natural," she said, "but you have to be extremely careful when applying it. I'm going to teach my mom."

Cathy Wright, cosmetics consultant at Saks, Fairlane, stresses the importance of proper application. Exfoliate first, sponge on knees, elbows and ankles for even coverage and wait 30 minutes before dressing. Then moisturize.

I received so many positive comments about the Estee Lauder self-tanner, I was compelled to try it on my winter-white legs. Though the color is a deep golden bronze, I hurried the process, resulting in a few drips and splotches. Take your time and blend well.

Colleen Pisa swears by Chanel's Perfect Colour Pump ($26.50). "The color is the best I've seen," she said. "It comes quickly, but fades fast." Again, as an ardent self-tanner, she emphasizes proper application.

Clinique's Self-Tanning Formula is the choice of Lois Meadows of Bloomfield Hills. "It gives a soft, mild shade," she said.

Ignore the smell

Though these products initially emit a strange odor, not unlike Polaroid film developer, the scent fades and is not indicative of a harmful chemical. Dermatologists endorse self-tanners as the safest nonsun tanning method (100 percent safer than tanning salons). They contain DHA which binds to the proteins in dead cells on the top layer of skin, turning them yellow to brown. The color disappears through natural skin exfoliation.

Other summer skincare essentials include eye creams, post-sun moisturizers and tinted moisturizers that substitute for foundation and include sun protection.

"I love tinted moisturizers," said makeup artist Todd Skog of Lori Karbal in Birmingham. "It's the best alternative to a heavier foundation, especially in summer. Trish McEvoy's product is great. It provides a sheer coverage, yet you feel like you don't have anything on."

Another excellent moisturizer with a touch of color is Complex Phyto-Hydratant Teint by Sisley, exclusively at Neiman Marcus. This botanical beauty treatment is available in three shades.

Protect your lips

And if you're a devoted M.A.C. (Make-up Art Cosmetics) lipstick fan, try their environmental protective tinted Day Emulsion for all skin types. It has a fresh, clean scent and silky texture.

M.A.C. recently opened in the Somerset Collection. Known for its anti-cruelty, anti-gimmick approach to cosmetics, M.A.C.'s trend-setting colors and "hip" image draw raves from supermodels and Hollywood glamour-types. Make the rich brick-red Viva Glam lipstick color your hot new summer shade. All proceeds from its sale are donated to fund AIDS research.

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Framed figures: Thousands of shoppers have passed Fritz Koenig's sculpture on their way into J.C. Penney since the Westland Mall opened in 1967.

Mall art adds some pizzazz to shopping

Shoppers intent on locating merchandise, don't always notice the artistic surroundings of some malls. However, sculptures, fountains and skylit domes add a touch of class to the retail world.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Shoppers say they don't "gotta have art," but it sure is nice when it's there.

A Jacobson's employee sheepishly confessed that she never even noticed the sculpture hanging on the wall of the spiral staircase leading to the store's second floor in downtown Birmingham.

A mother with three in tow incorrectly insisted that there were no sculptures at her favorite mall, the Westland Center.

Two early morning walkers at the Tel-Twelve Mall said the only art in shopping centers they could recall were fountains and benches with planters.

Art incidental

"I guess when I go shopping I care more about store selection than anything else," said Ruth Gross of Southfield. "I shop at Twelve Oaks Mall because they have the stores I want and a beautiful atmosphere, but I don't think that mall has any art objects."

Her friend, Ruth Hirschfield of Southfield, agreed, but added that Twelve Oaks' recent sand castle exhibition was appreciated.

"That was like a piece of art," she said of the Mickey Mouse's Toon

Pause that refreshes: The fountain in the center court of the Oakland Mall in Troy was designed by Wahyee Associates of Farmington Hills. The fountain, obelisk and surround seating creates a mid-mall rest stop for shoppers. It was installed during the 25-year-old mall's renovation project, completed in August 1992.

Town sculptured from 100 tons of sand in the center court. "I was really impressed by that exhibit. I was one of the kids again."

Kathy Knezek of Dearborn Heights was shopping during her lunch break at the Laurel Park Place.

"I haven't noticed any pieces of art at this mall, but the mall itself is a work of design," she said. "It's important to me that things aren't cluttered, that there's an airy feeling of space. I like the way the seating is a part of the mall's pathways. I like the skylights."

Laurel Park Place in Livonia was designed by James Ryan and Associates of Farmington Hills, the same firm responsible for the Somerset Collection in Troy, arguably the two

DIA stores are mini museums

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

They're not the streets of Paris, but shopping malls are drawing their share of artists — it's like Renoir meets Eddie Bauer. Across the country, city-based art museums are reaching into the suburbs with satellite museum stores in shopping malls.

Locally, the Detroit Institute of Art Museum Shops opened in the Twelve Oaks Mall in September 1991, and the Somerset Collection in October 1992, following a trend set by the Metropolitan Museum of New York and the Chicago Art Institute.

The DIA Museum Shops pay mall rent and operate during mall hours just like regular mall tenants, except for their non-profit status. Store proceeds go to support the art museum through the sale of jewelry, books, sculpture and gift items.

"We actually have three museum stores, counting the one within the museum downtown," said Cheryl Hutton, manager of the DIA Store in Somerset. "And the stores are doing well. The merchandise is similar between the stores, but not the same because each mall has a distinct personality and customer base."

The DIA Museum stores are visual extensions of the Detroit Art Institute incorporating details from the Diego Rivera fresco, the Pewabic compass, and the entrance columns into their interior design.

Katherine Darby manages the retail shops for the DIA and insists that they carry "something for everyone in everyone's price range."

"We have $5 art boxes to $500 Tiffany and Frank Lloyd Wright lamps," she said. "And don't forget the gift certificates."

Best-selling items include jewelry made from 2,000-year old pieces of Roman glass, and scarab necklaces. The children's merchandise is also popular.

"I have my eye on a genie bottle for my coffee table," said LuAnn Brezinski of Troy, shopping at the museum store in the Somerset Collection. "It's really just a vessel made from glass found in the Holy Land, but it's so neat."

"Neat" stuff is why shoppers stop into the stores, according to Shirley Winters of Plymouth, shopping at the museum shop at Twelve Oaks.

"prettiest" malls in the metro Detroit area.

But unlike Laurel Park Place, the Somerset Collection has several works of art.

Bronze statues

"Rising Day" and "Descending Night" stand at either end of the mall, where nearby benches and greenery create a feeling of respite for the shopper. The 5-foot-tall bronze statues were created by Adolph Alexander Weinman in 1914 and acquired by Somerset partner Maurice Cohen from the Hirsch & Adler Galleries in New York.

The pair of bronzes were cast from the sculptor's working models (now destroyed), which were commissioned to commemorate the opening of the Panama Canal and the joining of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. They were first seen in plaster at the World's Fair of the time in San Francisco.

Works of art are not exclusive to "new" malls. The Westland Center, built in 1965, has several objets d'art: two fountains, two sculptures and a very old giant rubber tree.

"Shoppers tell us the sound of water from our fountains is relaxing," said Claudia Frederick, Westland Mall's marketing director. "The huge rubber tree in front of Hudson's is a conversation piece. The sculpture in front of Penney's, 'Framed Figures,' represents a crowd. It was created by Fritz Koenig, and has been here since the mall opened."

A white goose welcomes shoppers to the mall's Hudson's store. "The Goose That Laid the Golden Egg" was created by Samuel Cashwan.

At the Livonia Mall, several pieces of art are provided for shoppers. There are four art deco chandeliers dating back to the early 1900s at Crowley's and Sears. These light fixtures are made of brass and Tiffany-type glass.

The Crowley fountain "Via Marie" was cast in bronze by Morris Brose, a Detroit sculptor. It was installed in 1964 to depict "sea life."

If pop art is more appealing, several malls have Mr. Gumball, a giant, colorful dispensing display where 25 cents gets you a big gumball. Mr. Gumball is manufactured in Phoenix, Ariz. There is a Mr. Gumball at Tel-Twelve Mall in Southfield and Wonder-

"There are unique, original gift items at the Museum Shops," she said. "And it's fun to browse, like you're visiting a minimuseum. I like the stationery items because I'm a letter writer."

Financial support for the arts is the goal of the satellite stores, but building an awareness of the museum and an appreciation for art is also a priority, according to Darby.

In May the stores sold tickets for a bus shuttle service between the shopping centers and the art museum in downtown Detroit. The program has ended for June but is under consideration for future months. The ticket price included a docent tour and admission to special exhibits.

For more information about the trial shuttle program or the shops call the DIA Museum Stores at Somerset Collection, 649-2222 or Twelve Oaks Mall, 380-8050.

It's time for our Viet vets to give up bitterness

It's time for the Vietnam War to end. Sure, our troops pulled out of Saigon in the early 1970s, and the ones who didn't go came back from Canada a few years later. But the war continues on the home front.

Just ask President Bill Clinton who was heckled during a Memorial Day speech at the Vietnam War memorial in Washington. The guy was just trying to make peace with the Vietnam veterans and, for his efforts, he was called a draft dodger.

It's a label that Clinton and I both wear, if that's what you call somebody who didn't have to go to Vietnam because they were in the draft lottery in the early 1970s.

During the presidential campaign, it came out that Clinton was in the same lottery I was during 1970 and his number didn't come up. Mine didn't either.

Up 'til then, I never considered myself a draft dodger and still don't. The same goes for Clinton.

We were in a lottery. Your birthdate was matched up with a number selected at random and you were drafted on that basis. In other words, if you were number one, you better start packing, and if you were 365, it was OK to put the down payment down on the Mustang.

For me there was a certain guilt in not going to Vietnam. Most of my friends went. There were all-night parties and then a dawn drive to Metro Airport where we would put a drunken 19-year-old on a plane.

Luckily, I had a father who didn't want me to go to Vietnam. His contention was that it was a war for the military. The more troops you have; the more generals you need. That means rank and money for career military guys.

Being a World War II veteran, my father contended that was enough for our family, especially since somebody in his family had fought in almost every war since the Revolution.

Even my friends who did go to Vietnam didn't show any bitterness because I hadn't.

Oh, sure there were divisions between those who went and those who didn't. There was a certain bit of snobbery on both sides. I remember friends telling war stories in a newsroom at the paper I was working at, and the reporters there ignoring, and even refusing to write about the war. Interviewing Vietnam vets was seen as being pro-war, which wasn't the thing to be at newspapers in the early 1970s.

However, that division started to evaporate as the 1970s wore on and during the 1980s, Vietnam seemed to slip out of our vocabulary.

But it seems as we baby boomers march toward middle age, things are getting worse. That was evident when Clinton tried to talk to the veterans at the Vietnam memorial. And he was the first president to visit the monument; George Bush and Ronald Reagan headed for good old reliable World War II events for Memorial Day.

There stood Clinton looking as uncomfortable as a Baptist choir boy on a warm Sunday in Hot Springs when the church service is going too long. He was smiling and trying to keep it together while being booed.

The guy was trying to make amends. It's just too bad that the veterans weren't listening. It makes us all victims of the war.

Leftists participate in politically correct bigotry

BY REGINA SALER
GUEST COLUMNIST

Warning: Right-wing lunatic!
If the American Civil Liberties Union had its way, this would become a mandatory button worn by every religious, conservative individual who wasn't comatose or stone-dead.

What a public service it would be to identify these subversives. Mothers with small children could scurry to the other side of the street when seeing a RWL approaching. Enlightened voters could avoid deception.

How easily the public could discern truth when they could discount all RWL ideas by simply pressing the RWL delete button in their minds.

How absurd this scenario would be. Yet time and time again, representatives of the Left refer to conservative, religious individuals as "right-wing fanatics," "right-wing lunatic fringe," and other disparaging generalities, all of which amounts to politically correct bigotry.

If any other group — gays, feminists, blacks, etc. — were labeled similarly, there would be a huge outcry of protest, lawsuits filed and probably some call for the federal government to compensate the offended group.

But religious conservatives are supposed to take the abuse quietly because, after all, they are responsible for much that ails the world today.

Liberals would have you believe that religious conservatives are the primary promoters of bigotry, intolerance, gay-bashing, woman and child abuse, as well as anti-Semitism.

Furthermore, these RWL's want to force their world view upon the rest of the citizenry.

The truth is that labels and generalities have never been an accurate assessment of any people. The religious right is a group of diverse people whose worldview dramatically contrasts the humanistic, secular worldview espoused by many Leftist individuals.

It could be a wife and mother who is concerned for her children's future. It could be a businessman who wants the best economy for the benefit of his business.

It could be an African-American who believes that the government is not the cure of blacks' social ills.

It could even be a person who has become a committed activist in any one of a number of causes, not unlike the activists of the Left.

These are people so mindlessly categorized as the "right-wing lunatic fringe." The ACLU would apparently like to spread the misconception that these people are second class citizens with less right than others to hold to and practice their world view in any meaningful way, that is, within a cultural context.

It would appear that the liberal gospel of tolerance for a wide spectrum of beliefs and practices ironically excludes those of a Christian nature.

Fortunately, the Constitution still guarantees the right of all people to believe, speak and assemble, regardless of their world view.

Any objective study would reveal that one unifying mission of the Left is the secularization of the United States' institutions, a task which has been largely successful over the last 50 years.

The ACLU, the legal arm of the Left, has been the epitome of intolerance as it has filed lawsuit upon lawsuit nationwide to purge Christian influence from public life, especially the practice, even by private individuals.

Through the courts, it has become an organization forcing its views upon the citizenry.

For the ACLU to host a meeting outlining the dangers of right-wing activists is the height of philosophical arrogance. This act alone should speak volumes.

Apparently the Left wishes to close the free market of expression so that the secular, humanistic world view can be promoted without the nuisance of philosophical competition.

How ironic that in the former Soviet Union, where secular humanism was the state mandated religion for so many years, where atheism was taught in public schools as a matter of course, there is now a cry for religious material.

Meanwhile, we in the United States witness the trend to further secularize our nation in the name of "Separation of Church and State."

For most of our history, we have enjoyed the benefits of being a predominantly Judeo-Christian nation. We must answer the question: "What will be the consequences of becoming a secular nation?"

As world history can demonstrate, pagan nations often pay a price, including increased crime, regimental law-enforcement, loss of personal freedoms, violations of human rights, intolerance of varied beliefs, sexual immorality, breakdown of family units and even ultimately, the downfall of the nation.

Legislators brace for fallout from A

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Suburban lawmakers will be fighting outstate retaliation in the wake of Proposal A's defeat June 2.

They'll have to stave off outstate attacks on "categorical" aid to suburban school districts.

They may have to consider raising sales tax revenue by broadening the base — that is, taxing more items.

Don't punish

Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, publicly advised Gov. John Engler against retaliating against anti-A metropolitan suburbs by sharply cutting categorical aids.

"Western Wayne and Oakland counties were crucial components in Engler's narrow election victory," Geake said. "If he were to sign a school aid bill that was harshly punitive to the out-of-formula school districts, I don't know how we could get him re-elected."

Geake said outstaters view southeastern Michigan residents as "wealthy and spending too much on their schools. But since 80 percent of every school district budget is personnel costs, they're really saying we pay teachers too much. I don't think people in this area would agree with that."

'Rattle sabers'

"They'll come after categorical, rattle their sabers and go for something else, like sales tax exemptions," predicted David Wygonik, an aide to Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn.

"What I'm hearing is that since they haven't been successful in raising the rate (to 6 percent in Proposal A), they'll raise the base by taxing soft drinks, medical services, medical supplies and catalog sales."

Wygonik said Hart surveyed voters in Garden City and Dearborn prior to the election and found 80 percent opposition to Proposal A. Hart opposed the $2 billion tax shift plan.

But he said Hart is skeptical that outstate lawmakers can muster the votes to strip pension and categorical aids from what they perceive to be wealthy school districts. "The schools won't accept such a burden again," the Senate aide said.

Engler wants to shift pension costs to local districts over three years.

Us, Them

"I would hope the governor would not retaliate with the school aid bill," said Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, deploring the Us versus Them barriers between outstate and the metropolitan suburbs.

"A couple of things could happen," Faust said. "The Legislature could roll back assessments. Or the 'Robin Hood' (cutting categorical aid to schools) agenda could be advanced, which would not bode well. I hope good sense would prevail."

Faust supported Proposal A. His home district, Wayne-Westland, levies the highest school tax rate in the state at 47 mills and would have seen a 20-mill cut if A had passed.

"Wayne-Westland is in deep crap. I'm really concerned. I know we're not alone," Faust said.

Faust recalled the state looked at broadening the sales tax base in the recession of 1983.

Geake said the Florida Legislature had a bad experience by expanding the sales tax base to services. "There was such a massive uprising that the legislature promptly repealed its own law," he said.

ROLL CALL REPORT

Area legislators split on keeping U.S. troops in Somalia

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending

HOUSE

Vote Keeps Troops in Somalia

By a vote of 127 for and 299 against, the House rejected an amendment to bring U.S. forces home from Somalia by June 30. The House then passed a measure (S.J. Res 45) authorizing American troops in Somalia for at least another year under the War Powers Act. About 5,000 GIs remain there under United Nations command, down from a peak deployment of 25,000 in 1992.

A yes vote was to withdraw American troops from the U.N. force in Somalia by June 30. Area representatives voting yes were: Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham. Voting no: Bob Carr, D-Pon- tac, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Ford, D-Ypsilanti.

Borrowing for Defense Spending Maintained

By a vote of 188 for and 244 against, the House rejected an amendment deleting $1.2 billion in deficit military spending from a $1.8 billion appropriations bill (HR 2118) for fiscal 1993. The amendment sought to force the Pentagon to get the money from other defense accounts instead of by borrowing. The funding consists mainly of $750 million for operations in Somalia, $295 million for civilian medical insurance claims and $100 million for Air Force patrols over southern Iraq. The House sent the bill to the Senate.

A yes vote was to require the disputed military spending to be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. Area representatives voting yes were:

Kildee and Levin. Voting no: Carr, Knollenberg and Ford.

Yes to New Jobs Bill

The House passed, 287 for and 140 against, a bill to spend $920 million immediately on creating summer jobs for city youth, launching public works projects and hiring more police at the state and local level. The "son-of-stimulus" measure (HR 2244) was a reduced version of the $19 billion White House-sponsored jobs measure that filibustering Republicans recently killed in the Senate. This stimulus bill does not worsen the deficit because it is paid for by cuts elsewhere in the budget.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Kildee, Levin and Ford. Voting no: Knollenberg.

No to Strip Jobs Program

By a vote of 176 for and 251 against, the House refused to strip the jobs and infrastructure bill (above) of $80 million for piloting a new program to quality persons 17-to-30 for the job market. Participants would learn skills, receive classroom instruction and get a $100 weekly stipend for meals, transportation and attending to personal needs.

A yes vote opposed the new program. Area representatives voting yes were: Knollenberg. Voting no: Carr, Kildee, Levin and Ford.

SENATE

Yes to Confirm Achtenberg: By a vote of 58 for and 31 against, the Senate confirmed Roberta Achtenberg as the Department of Housing and Urban Development's assistant secretary for open housing and equal opportunity. Achtenberg, a lesbian, is a civil rights attorney and has been a San Francisco County supervisor. She drew Senate criticism for having used her county post to fight Bay Area Boy Scouts over their refusal to accept homosexual scoutmasters.

A yes vote was to confirm Roberta Achtenberg. Michigan Sens. Carl Levin and Donald Riegle, both Democrats, voted yes.

Sail away with all the comforts of home

Still haven't made plans for that great summer vacation? Michigan has lots to offer and this summer you'll find me fishing on the Manistee, enjoying the arts and shopping in Saugatuck and Traverse City, eating chicken in Frankenmuth and admiring the natural splendor of the UP.

But if you're looking for something a little different, yours truly just returned from a long weekend of fishing and enjoying the views from a 65-foot houseboat on the absolutely gorgeous Dale Hollow Lake in Tennessee.

Houseboating in the "finger lake" regions of Kentucky and Tennessee is one of the fastest growing vacation destinations sweeping the nation. After spending four days aboard in what was nothing short of a fully-equipped floating condominium, I'm hooked.

This impromptu weekend with seven guys was hastily organized by Mick Livernois, a longtime friend. When the invitation was initially proposed, I had visions of an old tugboat equipped with the basics.

The 10-hour drive was the beginning of what I thought would be the bust of a weekend. I stand corrected.

Comfortable quarters

For starters, our 65-foot houseboat had all the amenities of home. In addition to a fully-stocked kitchen, complete with cookware, cutlery and basic gadgets, our houseboat comfortably slept 10 and included air conditioning, color TV, VCR, stereo and deck furniture.

Knowing that I was assuming the duties of galley chef, I packed a duffel with all the mandatory staples like condiments, basic spices and herbs, a favorite selection of non-stick cookware, and my favorite knife.

Items from a prearranged shopping list with dinner for three days were solidly frozen and carefully packed in insulated coolers for the trip. Relying on a basic camp list organized from past fishing and vacation trips, I packed the necessary kitchen supplies.

Anyone who has ever camped or spent time in a trailer knows the importance of having everything you need, when you need it. Marina and local party stores have a tendency to take advantage of someone in need of a corkscrew or salt and pepper shakers.

Assistant chef

Fortunately, I had the assistance of Mike Osofski, a graduate of the Johnny Kolakowski School of Culinary Arts in Wyandotte and experienced houseboater who served as co-chef.

With duffels and coolers packed to the gills, we loaded our houseboat and were off for a great weekend of sun, fun and fishing.

In all honesty, I couldn't tell you what was better, the weather or the surrounding beauty of the finger lakes region. With all the conveniences of home tucked away in our galley, we ate like kings. Not wanting to feel chained to a kitchen for hours on end, the first night featured grilled steaks (on the supplied gas grill) with baked potatoes and stir-fried broccoli.

Simple dinners

No muss, no fuss, and the only dishes in need of washing were a load of silverware and a non-stick fry pan used to cook the broccoli. Subsequent breakfasts and lunches were self-made because in this case, the chef was either busy playing cards or fishing for the next night's dinner.

Although the fishing wasn't as productive as what I'm used to, dinner number two consisted of some fried potatoes (left over from the previous night's bakery), a few pans of cornbread and some sauteed shrimps.

Since we were in a dry county and white wine was about as plentiful as the fish, the frozen shrimps were defrosted and tossed with a seasoned flour and then pan-fried in butter that was made into a great sauce with the addition of a can of cold beer.

The leftover cornbread was crumbled and used as a coating for the singular five pound catfish which was brought aboard by a lone fisherman, dipped in an egg wash and rolled in crumbled cornbread, pan-fried and served as an appetizer. Our last dinner was barbecued chicken and a Fettuccine Alfredo that was tossed simply and seductively with boiled noodles, some cream, fresh grated Parmesan cheese and a crackling of fresh ground pepper. My shipmates were duly impressed.

• TAKE A CRACK AT SOFT-SHELL CRABS •

You don't have to crack claws or pick through a hard outer shell to enjoy soft-shell crabs. These seasonal delicacies are almost completely edible. Take a crack at cooking soft-shell crabs, they're flavorful and low in fat and calories.

Like caviar and champagne, soft-shell crabs are an acquired taste. These seasonal delicacies, available mid-May to September, are completely edible except for the face and gills. You don't have to crack claws or pick through a hard outer shell to get to the sweet meat.

"They're just good eating," said Vince Clark, operating partner with Bill Kruse at the Rochester Chop House and Oyster Bar in Rochester.

"They're crispy, you get the flavor of fresh crab meat, and there's almost a caramelization of the outer shell that makes for great eating."

This has been a good season for soft-shell crab. "We brought in 20 dozen and ran out," said Clark. "I hope to have them all summer. I love soft-shell crab. I figured if we didn't sell them, I'd eat them."

Soft-shell crabs are blue crabs that have just molted or backed out of their hard shells. Blue crabs shed their shells a couple times a year. "They have to be caught fairly quickly because the shell stays paper soft for only a day or so," said Clark.

They're a very clean seafood because the crab stops eating about three days before it molts. Its digestive system is cleaned and it is just like a cleaned fish.

Nick Tringali of Jack's Seafood

Market in Farmington Hills describes the taste of softshell crab as "just as sweet as blue crab, but crunchier."

"The traditional way to prepare them is to season them with flour, pan fry, and give them a squeeze of lemon at the end of cooking," said Tringali. "You can also make a sauce, sautee the crabs, and serve them on top of flavored pasta like tomato basil."

"You can also baste them with garlic butter or barbecue sauce and broil or grill about 5 minutes per side. Or bake them at 350 degrees for about 8 minutes." They are either sold live or dressed and cleaned, ready to cook. Call ahead to see if your favorite seafood market has them, or will order them for you.

Anna Georgiou will order, and even cook them for you at her market — Anna's Fresh Seafood Market, Inc. in Redford.

"They're very good," she said.

"You can fry them and make a sandwich with lettuce, tomato and onion."

Use soft-shell crabs within two days of buying, or freeze now while they're available, to enjoy later. They thaw quickly in the refrigerator.

"Figure two to three crabs per person for a main meal," said Tringali. "One per sandwich. The cost ranges from $1.49 to $1.99 for small crabs — 3 1/4 inches to $2.49 to $3.49 for the larger crabs, about 5 inches."

To fry crabs, cook five minutes per side or 8 minutes in a deep fryer. Dry crabs before breading and allow the breading to dry before frying.

Soft-shell crabs are low in fat, calories and cholesterol, only 81 per 3 1/2 ounce serving, 1.0 gram of fat, 41 mg. cholesterol. They're also an excellent source of zinc.

CHEF'S SECRETS

Short order creativity piece of cake for chef

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

Eric Haggerty is a lucky man. In 1984, 13-year-old Eric went to Atlanta as assistant to a Swiss chef, a friend of his parents, Kathy and Mike Haggerty.

At an age when other boys have paper routes, Eric discovered his affinity for cooking and baking. He returned to Atlanta the following summer.

So, in 1986, when the Haggertys began offering English teas at their popular shop in downtown Birmingham, Eric's talent and enthusiasm were put to good use. After school, and during the summer, Eric created light-as-air tortes, Black Forest cake, and classic French brioche and chocolate croissants. For diehard American palates, he made blueberry muffins and carrot cake.

In 1990, the family moved their business to the elegant Bloomfield Hills restaurant, Monchelle Lamour (don't run to your Larousse: they just like the sound of the words). Kathy ran the front of the popular restaurant, Mike did the cooking, and Eric was patissier.

"We provide a selection of pastries on the dessert menu in the restaurants," said Eric. "But we also offer a more elaborate special order menu. With 24 hours notice, we'll create lemon hazelnut, Italian rum, cappuccino, or several other tortes, all with a minimum amount of sugar."

A second establishment, Cafe Lamour, joined the family late in 1992. Located in Southfield, the light-filled room is decorated in a warm French country style. "Dad began cooking at Cafe Lamour," said Eric, "and I took over all the cooking chores in Bloomfield Hills."

Each restaurant is in an office building, and therefore closed on weekends. But don't think the Haggertys get weekends off: they often provide delicacies for weddings, teas or hors d'oeuvre parties. Eric's most popular creation is the white

Alaskan mousse torte. "We bake the white-chocolate-flavored tortes for weddings almost every weekend during the summer," said Eric. "The average wedding requires about 20 tortes, and by late fall, I'll have made at least 500 wedding tortes. They're very light, and perfect after a heavy meal."

Creativity on short order is one of the 20-year-old pastry chef's specialties. Recently, a customer requested an outstanding dessert for a Kentucky Derby Party only three days away.

"He provided us with tiny horses, and jockeys and split-rail fences," said Eric. "I made a track out of chocolate shavings around the perimeter of a 12-inch torte. The inner circle was green frosting, and we had a florist friend make us a tiny wreath of rose buds. It was so pretty that nobody wanted to eat it — they just kept taking videos."

For a recent hors d'oeuvre party at the Bloomfield Hills location, the dessert menu featured tartlets with fresh fruit and custard; mousse tarts floated in raspberry puree; raspberry Bavarian cakes; espresso tortes and lemon hazelnut tortes. Each of these morsels were about 1 1/4-inches in diameter.

"Small size breaks down willpower real good," said Eric, with a knowing smile. "Even people on diets will eat dessert, if it's small enough."

Monchelle Lamour is in the atrium of the Bloomfield Center, 1533 North Woodward, Bloomfield Hills. Hours are: 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. — 647-4140. Cafe Lamour is in One Northwestern Plaza, 18411 Northwestern Highway, Southfield. Hours are: 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Americans are increasingly diet conscious. Given that, why do you suppose these elaborate desserts are so popular?

"The Swiss pastry approach is to make light and airy batters. It's unlike traditional heavy and very

Sauternes perfect for special-occasion desserts

In Bordeaux, famed for the great red wines of the Medoc, St. Emilion and Pomerol, there is a small southern region called Sauternes, renowned for its prestigious white dessert wines. Here, Chateau Yquem rules as queen of Sauternes, but its high price tag ($150) makes it a truly special-occasion wine.

At the foot of Yquem's domain are the contiguous vineyards of Chateau Raymond-Lafon making exquisite wines rivaling those of the queen in many vintages, but at one-fifth the price ($30).

The Meslier family, current proprietors of Raymond-Lafon, reside in the property's modest chateau. They are pleased to have succeeded in re-establishing the reputation of Raymond-Lafon, a property that had fallen into neglect prior to their purchase in 1972.

Imagine a white wine that ages longer than any red wine in the world; a wine with the richness to complement foie gras d'oie (goose liver pate), the intensity to stand up to Roquefort and viscosity to completely coat the palate.

Contemplate a wine with intense honey aromas and peach flavors made from botrytis-infected, shriveled grapes picked berry by individual berry. That's the luxurious taste experience of Chateau Raymond-Lafon Sauternes.

What dessert lives up to that? None, just serve it well chilled as an exquisite finale to any meal.

In 1963, Pierre Meslier became director at Chateau Yquem where he managed the vineyards and winemaking of both Yquem and Chateau de Fargues until 1989.

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

Wine Selections

■ 1992 Preston Vineyards Marsanne ($17.50) or Vignier ($19).

Both marsanne and vignier are white grapes originating in France's Rhone Valley. Nobody in California is doing a better job with these varieties than Preston.

■ 1991 Mirassou Chardonnay Limited Bottling (blue label $14)

This wine may be the best-kept secret around.

■ 1988 Clos du Val Reserve ($49)

This wine rivals the best Bordeaux chateau for complexity and richness.

■ 1990 Lyeth Red ($13) is approachable, delicious and value priced.

"At Yquem, I learned the importance of demanding the very best," Meslier said. "In Sauternes, we grow grapes under extremely difficult conditions. I guess it is the struggle with nature that makes our wines so deli-icious."

While managing Yquem, Meslier became acquainted with other properties in Sauternes, and when the opportunity presented itself in 1972, he purchased the neighboring property of Raymond-Lafon.

Meslier continued managing Yquem while his wife Francine directed the operations at Raymond-Lafon. Together, the Mesliers have reacquired the original vineyards of the Chateau, raised the quality to that of a great growth, and in 1990, gave this treasure to their children.

Today, with the elder Mesliers continuing as consultants, Jean-Pierre, Charles-Henri and Marie-Francoise have assumed the roles of international marketer, winemaker and manager, respectively.

The quality of Raymond-Lafon Sauternes is a result of impeccably high winemaking standards and strict grape selection employed in the vineyard.

"Our vines must struggle against the odds to make a great wine," said Meslier. "Our soil is chalk and clay with gravel, not very hospitable to most crops, but poor soil is best for grapes. The extremely humid Sauternes climate in September and October would be disastrous for dry, white wines, but it is excellent for sweet dessert-style wines because it encourages pourriture noble (botrytis cinerea)."

This microscopic fungus feeds on the sugar, moisture and tartaric acid in the grapes, shriveling the berries and concentrating sugar levels. Grapes are harvested at 20 percent potential alcohol. Once the fungus has established itself, the grapes lose their shape, becoming fuzzy, amorphous balls of pulp. The rich, sweet nectar given up by the harvest is one of the miracles of nature. It is the character imparted by botrytis cinerea that gives sauternes its rich, peach-honey flavors.

Without beneficial botrytis infection, sauternes would be a different beverage. During fermentation, this benevolent fungus produces an antibiotic that kills the yeast and stops the fermentation before all the sugar is fermented. Therefore, a natural balance is achieved between percent alcohol and residual sugar.

Because botrytis is slow to develop, attacking individual berries rather than whole bunches, a team of 25 women (Meslier claims that pickers must have small fingers to pick the botrytis-infected grapes) pass through the vineyard several times during harvest, picking only those individual grapes that have shriveled due to botrytis-induced dehydration. In 1985, when botrytis was particularly slow to develop, harvest included 11 pickings that extended through Dec. 16.

The vineyards at Raymond-Lafon are planted to 80 percent semillon and 20 percent sauvignon blanc yielding only 88 to 99 gallons per acre or about one glass of wine per vine. By comparison, one picker in the Medoc can pick enough grapes to produce one barrel of juice per day, but it requires 10 pickers to yield one barrel of wine in Sauternes. The pressed juice from one day's picking makes only two to three barrels.

Pierre Meslier projects that a great sauternes from Raymond-Lafon may age well for up to 80 years. Current releases, especially those from 1988 and 1989 are incredibly luscious desserts.

rich German desserts. We use less sugar and more chocolate for flavoring, and most of our desserts are based on aerated genoise (spongecake).

How do you continue to learn your craft?

"Luckily, several suppliers have continuing education programs. For example, the Lindt chocolate people have traveling shows designed for pastry chefs. Also, the Retail Bakers Association features videos, seminars, a recipe exchange, and other programs at their annual show. But once you know what you're doing, and you have experience and confidence, it's easy to improvise and develop new recipes."

What are your favorite cooking magazines?

"Well, of course, we read all of the industry publications. But we have stacks of Gourmet and Bon Appetit magazines, too. We never throw them out."

Have you had any noteworthy disasters?

"In the new location in Southfield, we burned everything we put in the oven for the first two weeks. Turns out the ovens were off by 75 degrees!"

Who cooks at home?

"My mom does most of the cooking, but to tell you the truth, we eat out a lot. After a day in the kitchen, the last thing any of us wants to do is cook!"

Tips prevent food poisoning

Summer outings, picnics and barbecues are soon to be a part of our everyday lives once again. "Don't invite unwanted guests of food poisoning to your next summer warning," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

When the weather warms up, extra care needs to be taken to keep food fresh and prevent food poisoning. Food should be left out no longer than two hours at room temperature.

"In early spring and summer we tend to forget the danger of leaving food out and even grocery shopping can pose a food poisoning problem," said Treitman. If you leave perishable groceries in the car and still have other stops to make — food spoilage can easily occur. It's a good idea to take an ice chest along in the car for extended shopping trips.

"Remember food does not have to look bad or even smell bad to be spoiled," adds Treitman.

To prevent food poisoning:

- Keep everything clean: utensils, hands and work area.
- Keep hot food hot and cold food cold.
- Return food to refrigerator within two hours.
- Wash utensils after cutting raw meat and poultry before using another food.
- Wash utensils used for marinating raw meats or poultry before reusing.

For any questions related to food safety or food and nutrition, call the food and nutrition hotline, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 858-0904.

FRENCH STRAWBERRY TORTE WITH WHITE CHOCOLATE MOUSSE CREAM

- Mousse Cream:
½ cup chilled heavy whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
6 ounces finely chopped white chocolate, melted
White Chocolate Torte:
4 ounces finely chopped white chocolate
½ cup boiling water
½ pound unsalted butter, room temperature
2 cups granulated sugar
4 large eggs, room temperature, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
2½ cups cake flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
Sauce:
4 pints fresh strawberries, stemmed
½ cup Grand Marnier liqueur
Garnish: white chocolate shavings
To make Mousse Cream — place whipping cream and vanilla in a cold bowl, and mix with electric mixer at medium speed until soft peaks form. Add melted chocolate and whip until stiff peaks form. Cover and refrigerate 3 hours.
To make White Chocolate Torte — preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Butter bottoms of three 8-inch cake pans. Line bottoms of pans with parchment paper. Melt white chocolate in double boiler, stirring frequently. Beat in the boiling water and set aside.

Mix creamed butter and sugar at medium speed until light and fluffy. Beat in egg yolks one at a time, beating after each yolk. Stir in melted white chocolate and vanilla.
Sift flour, baking soda and salt together into a medium bowl. Beat flour mixture into white chocolate mixture, alternating with buttermilk, until mixture is smooth.
Beat egg whites in a bowl until they start to foam. Increase speed to high and beat whites into white chocolate mixture to lighten, then fold in remaining egg whites.
Pour cake batter into pans and bake 35 minutes. Transfer cakes, still in pans, to cooling racks. When cool enough to handle, remove parchment paper and cool thoroughly.
To make sauce — finely chop half the strawberries and combine with Grand Marnier. Slice remaining strawberries and reserve.
To assemble — Place one layer of cake on plate and top with ½ of mousse cream, spread evenly. Pour ¼ of strawberry sauce and ½ of reserved berries in middle of layer and spread evenly. Repeat for second and top layer. Sprinkle white chocolate shavings over top layer. Chill, serve, and enjoy!

Take a crack at cooking soft-shell crabs

See related story about soft-shell crabs on Taste front. Soft-shell crabs for the photo on the Taste front were supplied by Jack's Seafood Market in Farmington Hills.

SOFT-SHELL CRABS WITH ALMOND CREAM SAUCE

- 8 soft-shell crabs, cleaned
- 2 tablespoons clarified butter
- 1 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 tablespoons sweet whole butter
- ½ cup coarse cup almonds
- ¼ cup red wine vinegar
- ½ cup heavy whipped cream

Put clarified butter and olive oil in sautee pan heat on high flame for 2 minutes.

Dredge crabs in flour, add to sautee pan. Cook for 3 minutes a side. After 6 to 7 minutes remove crabs, drain olive oil and butter, add sweet butter and almonds. Cook for 1 minute until butter is golden brown. Add red wine vinegar, reduce until it's almost like a glaze. Add cream, bring to a boil, reduce 5 minutes until sauce thickens.

spoon each salt and pepper. Place crabs on their backs on a broiling pan and brush lightly with some of butter mixture.

Broil crabs about 4 inches from heat until lightly browned, about 3 minutes. Turn, brush with remaining butter mixture, and broil until lightly browned, about 3 minutes longer.

Divide tomato and bean mixture evenly among 4 individual serving plates. Arrange crabs attractively on top of each and serve hot. Serves 4.

SOFT-SHELL CRABS MARINATED IN BUTTERMILK

- 12 soft-shell crabs, cleaned
- 1½ cups buttermilk
- 1 cup flour
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme leaves or 1 teaspoon dried
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper

- ½ teaspoon cayenne
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- lemon wedges

In a large bowl, marinate crabs in buttermilk for 30 minutes at room temperature or up to 2 hours covered and refrigerated. In shallow bowl, combine flour, thyme, salt, pepper, and cayenne. Remove crabs from buttermilk, drain off excess, and dredge in seasoned flour to coat both sides lightly.

In a large skillet, melt butter with oil over medium-high heat. Add crabs and cook, turning once until lightly browned, about 3 minutes per side. Cook in 2 batches if necessary, using additional butter and oil if needed. Serve hot with lemon wedges. Serves 4.

SOFT-SHELL CRABS WITH LIME AND CILANTRO

- 12 soft-shell crabs, cleaned
- 1 cup flour

- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 3 tablespoons fresh lime juice
- ½ cup chopped fresh cilantro

Dry crabs thoroughly on paper towels. Place flour in a shallow bowl. Dredge crabs lightly in flour, place on a large platter, and season with salt and pepper.

In a large skillet, melt butter in oil over high heat. Add crabs and cook, turning once, until lightly browned, 3 minutes per side. (Do not overcrowd pan. Do in two batches if necessary, using additional butter and oil if needed.)

Squeeze lime juice to taste over cooked crabs and garnish with chopped cilantro. Serve hot. Serves 4.

Recipes from "365 Ways to Cook Fish and Shellfish," Charles Pierce (HarperCollins Publishers, $16.95).

Place crab on serving platter with flavored pasta like tomato basil and pour a ribbon of sauce on top of crabs and over noodles. Serves 4.

Recipe from Nick Tringali of Jack's Seafood Market in Farmington Hills.

BROILED SOFT-SHELL CRABS WITH TOMATOES AND WHITE BEANS

- 6 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded, and finely chopped
- 2 cups cooked or canned white beans, drained
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons fresh lime juice
- 12 soft-shell crabs, cleaned

Fuel up on carbohydrates for energy to exercise

FLORINE MARK

LITE SUCCESS
Summer is the most active time of year for me and my family. When June rolls around, I'm out the door! Whether I'm walking, biking, or playing tennis, the fresh air and sunshine always gets me going.

To get the most out of an active lifestyle, it's essential to condition your body from the inside. What you eat has the power to add to the enjoyment of an exercise program or inhibit your performance.

Certain foods can prepare you for physical activity by supplying long-lasting energy — namely carbohydrates. Carbohydrates are the best source of energy for our bodies. Complex carbohydrates — potatoes, rice, pasta, beans, breads, grains — supply vitamins, minerals, some protein and fiber, as well as energy. An added bonus is that most foods with complex carbohydrates are naturally low in fat, filling, and satisfying, so you won't be defeating the purpose of exercise.

Try one of my favorite energy boosters to get you going, like Peach and Strawberry Breakfast Parfait, Stuffed Sweet Potatoes, or Banana Spice Muffins. Reap the benefits of outdoor exercise and have fun while doing it! But remember, you'll have a better, safer time if you're well-fortified.

The '90s version of George Seurat's "Sunday Afternoon on the Island of La Grande Jatte" is this year's official Detroit Grand Prix poster. Mark Zapico, creative director for D'Arcy, Masius, Benton & Bowles in Bloomfield Hills, cloned the classic for the annual poster contest open to metro Detroit advertising agencies.

"I wanted to bring back a feeling of the past, of a more genteel time on the island, while at the same time bringing it forward to the '90s," Zapico said. The artist used electronic imaging and hand illustration to duplicate Seurat's style. It's available from Detroit Renaissance (259-5400) at $15 plus postage or at local poster shops.

Be my guest

Aero bed is one way to oblige unexpected house guests this summer — even a 300-pound wrestler. The twin-sized portable mattress inflates in 45 seconds and accommodates guests up to 6 feet 1 inch tall. Plug it in, push a button and inflate to any firmness. When it's not in use, the bed folds into a carrying bag to store for the next round of guests. Makers of Aero bed suggest using the bed-in-a-bag for cottages, dorms and efficiency apartments, too. Folded, it's slightly bigger than a backpack. It's practical, surprisingly comfortable and costs the same as a modestly priced twin mattress ($99). Sold only at Jacobson's Home Stores.

Yard Boss proves it's the boss

■ With the help of a silent partner and a big dose of talent, Yard Boss is closing the door on comparisons of the group to grunge bands. One step in that direction is its debut CD "Swollen."

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

When Yard Boss records its debut CD "Swollen," it's going against the traditional layering technique to give it a more "live" taste.

"We like it to be like lasagna. We like it all melted together," said lead singer Marty Conselyea, intertwining his fingers together.

Conselyea and guitarist Greg Savela have other hopes about the product. They anticipate it closing the chapter on comparisons to grunge bands.

"Swollen" will set the record straight," Savela said.

"We're like an exceptional journey without a destination," Conselyea said.

Yard Boss has attracted plenty of vacationers on its "journey," including two die-hard fans who the band has never met. They stand in front of the band shouting during its set. Before Yard Boss comes on, the duo chants the group's name.

"We don't even know who those two guys are; they come to almost all our shows," Conselyea said. "It started, I think, with the (fraternity) TKE show we did at Eastern (Michigan University)."

As the group collects its following, Savela said, unknown fans become more common.

"We're pretty shocked at how well it's building," said guitarist Savela.

The hype about Yard Boss is also building quickly. Recently, the band won the first round of radio station WLLZ's "Home Cookin'" battle of the bands at the Royal Oak Music Theatre. The group will now compete in the semifinals July 8 at the theater. Semifinalists will appear on

WLLZ's "Home Cookin'" CD and winners will open for a national act at the theater.

Within the last few months, Yard Boss has also appeared on the "Home Cookin'" radio show along with CIMX's "Homeboy" show, both of which broadcast on Sunday nights.

It's only been about a year since Yard Boss formed. Within five months of its first show on June 27, 1992, the band released its first effort "Gateway." The local record label, Anti-Music, picked up on the group's success and solicited them to contribute to "Thick," a local music compilation. The album, which also included Bog Blast, Brickyard, Fiesty Cadavers, Ricochet, Scruffy Tearaways, Six Feet Deep and Smoke, is being distributed internationally.

STREET BEATS

The group's soon-to-be recorded CD "Swollen" will be recorded under the its label, Hole in Your Heart Productions.

Yard Boss is a full-time job for the fivesome, which also includes drummer Rico Grazioli, guitarist Nick Sokolowski and bassist Todd Pocobello. The musicians live together in a 2,400-square-foot home with seven acres of land in Dexter, outside of Ann Arbor. They wouldn't say who's fronting their career except for its "one of Todd's connections."

"It's a silent partner," Conselyea said.

Understandably, they enjoy this carefree way of living.

"It's a lot better than working for 'The Man,'" Conselyea said. This "Don" as they call him, is what's helping Yard Boss live up to its name — at least musically — in town.

"It's the toughest guy in the prison. He's the one you don't sit anywhere near on the bench," Conselyea said. "We're all bosses of the yard in our own special way."

Yard Boss will perform Tuesday, June 8, at the Blind Pig in Ann Arbor. Call 996-8555 for more information. They also will perform Friday, June 18, with Rollinghead, Flock and Back Alley Blues at Paycheck's Lounge in Hamtramck (874-0909), and Friday, July 16, with Black Mali at Alvin's in Detroit (832-2355).

Young drummer has the beat of a veteran

Smart sticks:

At age 13, drummer Tom Clufetos of Rochester has played with the likes of Chuck Berry, the Pointer Sisters, Jerry Lee Lewis and his dad's group, Tommy C. and the Gamut Band.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Most 13-year-olds spend their time off from school baby-sitting, doing homework, or goofing around with friends.

Drummer Tom Clufetos of Rochester preps himself to play with the likes of Chuck Berry, the Pointer Sisters and Jerry Lee Lewis, along with his dad's group, Tommy C. and the Gamut Band.

Despite reaching such success at a young age, the teen shrugs it all off — with a big grin.

"It's all basically the same," the clean-cut Clufetos said about his gigs. "Every gig is fun."

Presumably, an early May gig during the Music West Conference in Vancouver, British Columbia, will stick out in his mind. There, Pearl Drums representatives along with Charlie Quintana, drummer for Bob Dylan and Izzy Stradlin, and Greg Bissonette, drummer for David Lee Roth and Joe Satriani, voted him the best drummer younger than age 16 in North America.

Clufetos and 14-year-old Leo Cordin of Vancouver were chosen from 1,500 drummers who sent in performance tapes to the drum company to compete for the title.

Bob Attwell, Pearl Drums' general manager, said it was Clufetos' maturity that made the teen stick out.

"At that age . . . they tend to be full of energy; dynamics (of playing) get blown out of the water," Attwell said. "Tom really plays at a whole different level (than what a) player at that age would play. He really had command of the instrument."

The modest teen didn't expect to make it that far.

"I thought I had a chance . . ." Clufetos said.

His teacher, Mark Mead of Royal Music Center in Royal Oak, isn't surprised.

"He's always set his goals high," he said. "He's an example of endurance. He goes through the motions. He's here every week. The only time he misses is when he's incredibly ill."

As a reward, Clufetos received a Pearl Forum series drum kit worth $1,200 and jammed with Joe Walsh, guitarist Danny Gatton, Bissonette and Quintana. Shy, he prefers not to say much about his success.

"Let's just say he's been a very good sport about it," said his mother, Debi.

Empathic person helped in dealing with sexual abuse

BARBARA SCHIFF

STREET SENSE
Barbara: I am the caller you quote in the column of May 24. I really appreciated the way you clarified the idea of objectivity.

I am in my 40s and have been in therapy for six years. It is through therapy that I have become able to face my past without feeling paralyzed as I was before I found an understanding and empathic helper. Because of my experience I don't believe that one can heal oneself. I believe that we need professional help. I had to go back and relive my experience and for that I needed someone to carry me through.

I want to share my experience, remembering the abuse and finding someone to help, with your readers. I believe that reading about my recovery can help others with their struggle.

I was 19 when I remembered my father exposing himself and demanding that my sister and I, 5 and 6 years old at the time, fondle him. I was in therapy when I remembered, and I told my therapist. He answered, saying, "The only reason you tell me this is that you want me to do this to you. You have an Electra complex. What you are saying never happened."

His response confused me. It was 25 years ago and there was little publicity and education on sexual abuse. I didn't think others could understand my story, then, as I believe they do today. As I said, that is the reason I am sharing my story; I wish I had read one like it when I remembered my father abusing me.

Even though I was confused, I stopped seeing this therapist. I did not see another one until I was in my 30s and unable to continue denying the memories. I told a new counselor; he affirmed me and for days I did not stop crying. Then, I understood that until he believed me that the abuse occurred, I did not believe myself.

This counselor referred me to a woman for the therapy he said I needed. He told me that in the initial stages I would be more able to trust a woman; he was right. I felt safer with her than I could have with a man.

Together, this woman and I worked hard to understand my life experience. I still appreciate that she accepted me where I was and never tried to force me to tear down a wall of denial until I was ready to go further.

I learned that sexual abuse was only a small part of my sick family system. Other facts of our existence were as harmful as the sexual abuse. There was the emotional abuse. My father belittled me; he called me "ugly" and "stupid." He told me that no man could ever love me and that I could never amount to anything.

Worst of all we, my family, denied these realities of our existence. I learned that I was sicker because of the denial than because of the abusive behavior. One of the outcomes of getting better was that I was able to see my parents as people not as parents. This is one of the ways I moved toward independence from them.

I stopped seeing this therapist because I moved from one city to another. Since that move, I am in therapy again, this time with a man. This has worked out very well, too. I feel more hopeful than ever that I will one day be healed. All the time, I am less and less angry. The pain returns but with less intensity; I am no longer overwhelmed by it.

I have a good job. I divorced my alcoholic husband, and I am thinking about dating. On many days, I feel spontaneous joy for no reason at all; I am happy to be alive. I feel like life is just beginning. I cannot believe all of the emotions I am capable of feeling. I feel lucky to be alive. I am healing.

I hope my life story will help someone else believe in their ability to heal.

Dear Caller,
Thank you for having the courage and generosity to share your story. It is beautiful. About two years ago a woman, whose father had killed her mother, wrote to me. In her letter, she said she did not believe someone else could help her overcome the sadness caused by her family experiences. She said she believed she would have to do it alone or that it could not be done. I hope she reads your letter. I believe as you do that in order to heal one needs professional help.

Again, thank you.
Barbara

'Sargasso' expands on Bronte

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

In Charlotte Bronte's classic novel "Jane Eyre," temperamental husband Rochester hides his looney first wife in the attic. Only rumor and speculation hint at how the woman was driven to madness, mad enough to leap to her death after setting fire to the mansion.

The character long fascinated author Jean Rhys, who created a sweeping history for her in the 1966 novel "Wide Sargasso Sea." The new film version by Australian director John Duigan, currently at the Maple, offers a fascinating and sensual look at a 19th-century Creole heiress driven mad on a Caribbean island.

She marries Rochester (Nathaniel Parker), a typically stuffy Englishman keeping a stiff upper lip amidst the oppressive heat and uninhibited ways of the natives. Outfitted in a high-collared shirt, jacket and ascot, he takes the wealthy Antoinette in an arranged marriage.

Antoinette (Karina Lombard), who was born here, is more relaxed and open to this environment. For awhile they are recklessly happy until a blackmailer arrives and fills the husband's head full of stories about his bride and her family.

Rochester now treats his wife coldly. His passion, once inspired by her primitive nature, turns from amorous to violent. Antoinette, meanwhile, begs her native nursemaid Christophene (Claudia Robinson) to restore their love with "obeah," the local brand of voodoo.

"Wide Sargasso Sea" sustains its steamy atmosphere through its lush locale, a primeval jungle buzzing with ever-present birds and insects. Cinematographer Geoff Burton bathes his images in heat and sweat, especially in the myriad sex scenes, while ex-Police drummer Stewart Copeland blends both modern and primitive sounds in his percussive score.

The movie has an NC-17 rating, most likely due to explicit shots of both the male and female anatomy. This, after all, is a movie about mood and sensuality rather than plot, which in weaker moments recalls both Harlequin romances and "Mandingo."

As Antoinette's mother and stepfather, Rachel Ward and Michael York head a supporting cast much more recognizable than the attractive leads. We learn that our heroine's condition has a family precedent since Antoinette's mother was similarly taken for mad and locked away in loneliness and desperation.

The idea that each of the characters is caught in a net of his or her own making has a visual re-ferent in one spooky shot. A drowned sailor is pulled out of the water, having failed in his quest to free a boat from the underwater weed beds that block passage through the wide Sargasso Sea.

Rochester later dreams that he, too, is trapped by the waving weeds. In a nightmare image, his wife's face floats toward him before he jerks awake in fright.

Though linked strongly to its predecessor, "Wide Sargasso Sea" successfully stands on its own as an exotic set piece and a tragic romance.

Mead, who's taught Clufetos for seven years, agreed: "He's the last person to blow his own horn. But once he's behind those drums, the shyness is gone."

Aside from the drums, Clufetos is a normal gangly teen. He plays drums and trumpet in the band at Van Hoosen Middle School, where he also helps teach his peers the drums. His friends have bands, but he prefers to sit back and watch them, choosing not to show them up.

Although only in his early teens, Clufetos is a touring veteran, having played drums in his father's band throughout the United States. (They will release an album, "Then and Now," on Atlanta's Butterscotch Records on June 20.) At first, he said, he was apprehensive about telling his teachers why he was going to miss school.

"I just said, 'I'm going to be gone for a while,'" he said with a grin. When he returned from the competition, it was hard to hide his accomplishment.

"He got a big write-up in the school paper," his mother said. Clufetos found his teachers to be understanding.

"They thought it was pretty cool," he said. Although he travels and practices frequently, Clufetos maintains an "A" average at school.

"I couldn't do it if I wasn't getting good grades," he said. How does he do it?

"I just use my time well, I guess."

Canton claims regional soccer title

Plymouth Canton is headed to the Class A semifinals in girls soccer again after winning another regional tournament championship Saturday with a 1-0 victory over Northville.

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

Both teams thought the answer might be blowing in the wind. But it was Northville that ended up with the subterranean homesick blues.

And, like a rolling stone, Plymouth Canton will go to the state quarterfinals after beating the Mustangs 1-0 in a wind-swept match Saturday to capture the regional girls soccer title at Northville High.

The Chiefs (19-1-1) meet Portage Central for a state semifinal game Wednesday in Jackson. Central (22-0) handed Canton its only loss, 5-2 in the regular season.

Revenge might be an incentive, but a state championship is the biggest jewel of redemption.

To clear the path, senior halfback Amy Westerhold scored a gem of a goal in the first half. The tally came with 17 minutes elapsed but proved to be the winner.

Westerhold hammered a shot that Mustang goalkeeper Jessica Jones parried away. Westerhold followed through on the rebound and slotted it home.

That, with a strong gust from the north at their back, seemed to send the Chiefs on their way. They couldn't score again, though.

When Canton left the first half one goal ahead, if anything, the situation looked precarious.

Northville, buoyed by the exceptional play of Jones, had the wind on its back during the second half, but the Mustangs couldn't muster a serious threat.

"I thought they would put a lot more pressure on us in the second half," said Canton coach Don Smith. "They couldn't seem to sustain the push long enough."

"In fact, I was concerned about us being up by only one goal and giving them the wind."

The Mustangs directed some threatening crosses into the penalty area, but Canton goalkeeper Jori Welchans snared them with little trouble.

In injury time, Northville pressed and earned a corner kick. Welchans came off her line and collected the ball as the whistle blew.

"We adjusted our game plan a little to take the wind into account," said Northville coach Bob Paul. "We just didn't get the scoring opportunities."

Canton did, though. Senior forward Leah Hutko broke through on several occasions. Her nemesis was in a lilac jersey in the opposing goal.

Hutko was sent in clear midway in the second half, but Jones went out and dove at her attacker's feet to collect the ball.

A few minutes later, Hutko connected with a piercing drive from 10 yards out. Jones turned the shot over the bar. Afterward, Hutko tapped the Mustang keeper on the arm to acknowledge her heroics.

When the goalkeeper wasn't an obstacle, the referee was a barrier.

Hutko had a goal on a penalty kick waved off by the official, who said she didn't wait for the whistle. Her second attempt rolled wide.

Senior forward Colleen Connell also had a few scoring chances go awry.

In the first half, she curled a shot that Jones had diving to her left to smother. She also was the architect of a dipping cross that the keeper could barely nudge onto the crossbar.

Smith said his team couldn't have had at least four goals. He credited Jones for her stellar play in the opposing net.

"They don't count unless they go into the net," he said.

Asked if he was concerned about the missed scoring opportunities, though, Smith clutched the regional trophy in his arm.

Said Smith: "Not anymore."

Pitching carries Salem to district tournament wins

BY DAN O'MEARA

For a baseball pitcher who nearly lost control, Plymouth Salem junior Mike Marsella was in complete control Saturday.

Despite a rocky start, Marsella threw a no-hitter against Livonia Franklin and led the Rocks to the Class A district championship at Canton with a 7-0 victory.

Pitching carried the day for Salem, which toppled Western Lakes Activities Association champion Canton in the first round as junior Nirav Kher tossed a three-hit shutout, 3-0.

"That's one of the things we worked at and had to work on all year because we were inexperienced," Salem coach John Gravin said.

"The biggest find was Nirav. We knew Mike was going to be a starting pitcher, but he hasn't been quite as consistent as Nirav, who has thrown 14 (consecutive) innings and not given up a run. Of course, Mike has thrown seven."

In the final, Marsella hit three batters in the first two innings and was nearly ejected because of it.

Instead, he collected himself and proceeded to make history — the only other Franklin player to reach base was Pat McCormack, on an error in the sixth inning.

"(The umpire) said one more and I'd be tossed," Marsella said. "It shook me up. I didn't have my control. Plus, my pitches were tailing up and in so that didn't help. I changed my grip and got back in the groove."

Marsella, who threw a no-no

against Belleville in his freshman year, found his control and faced just 16 batters over the last five innings. He threw 79 pitches overall, striking out five and walking none.

"It's been 10 days since Mike has had a chance to pitch," Gravin said. "(The umpire) said he worried about the safety of the kids. I said, 'He's a little rusty; we'll start throwing fastballs on the outside part of the plate until he gets his control.'"

"I had a couple other pitchers I wanted to get innings today, but I couldn't take that chance when he's rolling."

Salem (20-13) will play Ann Arbor Pioneer in the regional tournament at Plymouth-Canton on Saturday.

Sophomore Mike AuBuchon pitched six innings for Franklin, but the Rocks scored a single run in the first and got to him for four in the second. Salem had seven of its 13 hits in the first two innings.

Charlie Winstel, who had four hits on the day to raise his season total to 42 — the most by any player in Gravin's 10 years as coach, had an RBI single in the first.

The Rocks loaded the bases with three straight hits to start the second. An error scored one run, Bryan Zarosely (three hits) had a two-run single and Eric Kida added an RBI sacrifice fly.

Blazers topple No. 2 Chiefs in final

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

As the leadoff batter, Lisa Rozum has scored plenty of runs for the Livonia Ladywood softball team, but none more important than the one she scored Saturday.

Rozum raced home following an error for the only run as the Blazers shocked Plymouth Canton 1-0 in the championship game of the Class A district tournament at Salem.

"I was thinking I'd better run faster, because the game is on the line," said Rozum, a sophomore who lives in Canton. "I think the adrenaline carried me most of the way. It was the best run from third to home I've had."

Ladywood (21-11-1) advances to the regional tournament at Plymouth-Canton to play the Ann Arbor Pioneer district winner Saturday.

The loss was filled with irony for the Chiefs (31-6) and all-state pitcher Kelly Holmes, who threw a perfect game through six innings.

She still ended her career throwing a no-hitter without a walk, but the Blazers capitalized on three errors (all in the seventh inning) to win the game.

"Kelly was outstanding today; everything was working for her," Canton coach Jim Arnold said. "She even looked a little faster today. She really wanted this game."

Rozum and Melissa Campeau started the top of the seventh for Ladywood with bunts and reached base on errors. A dropped ball at first on Campeau's bunt allowed Rozum to take third, and an overthrow at third opened the door for her to score.

"The breaks went our way this time instead of theirs," first-year Ladywood coach Lisa Parsons said, recalling a 4-2, eight-inning loss to the Chiefs in the Canton Classic.

"We knew we had to put the ball in play. The last time we struck out 14 times. We put pressure on them to play defense, because you just don't hit off (Holmes). The last time they sat back and let Kelly strike everybody out."

Holmes, who finished with 958 career strikeouts, fanned the first six Ladywood batters and assisted on five of the next six putouts. But the Blazers started swinging harder and making better contact as the game progressed.

"I started them bunting and slapping at the ball to give them confidence — and it helped," Parsons said. "Once they found they could touch the ball against her, they weren't as intimidated as the last time."

"The last time they said they were scared going up there because she throws so hard. (The patient strategy) showed she's human and we didn't have to be afraid."

Winning pitcher Mary Jo Kelly was nearly as effective for the Blazers, throwing a four-hitter and walking three. Both pitchers struck out eight.

Kelly allowed just one hit through five innings, but the Chiefs got two and threatened in the sixth, in which Rozum had a game-saving catch in center field.

Canton had runners at first and second when Lisa Nicastrini hit a line drive that Rozum caught on the run. The inning ended with Tina Schafer (two hits) being thrown out at the plate after a single to right field by Holmes.

"In the end, I didn't throw as much junk because I wanted to get it over the plate," Kelly said, adding it was her biggest victory in four years of Ladywood softball. "I have a good defense behind me and I trust them."

The loss was disappointing for the Chiefs, who were state runners-up last year and had hoped to make another tournament run.

"It's not an automatic thing," Arnold said. "We heard a lot of that, and there was a lot of pressure on the kids all season. I tried to downplay it, but it's always on their minds."

"We had a legitimate shot at it, but you have to have some luck to be there. We had a tough district and it doesn't get any tougher."

By eliminating Canton, the Blazers have put themselves into serious contention for additional honors.

"I think this was a big step for us, and we have a chance to go far," Parsons said. "This definitely is one of the toughest, if not the toughest, games we'll have to play."

In first-round district games, Canton and Ladywood posted five-inning, mercy-rule victories.

early when he was ragged and hit kids," Franklin coach Jim Karoub said. "His control was not real sharp and that was the time to do it."

"They came out like a ball of fire and we didn't make the plays. When we hit something they made the plays. (Marsella) handcuffed us all day."

AuBuchon followed with three scoreless innings before Salem scored twice in the sixth to make it 7-0. Zarosely and Dave Knight had RBI singles. Jim Cunningham also had two hits for the Rocks. Rob Jansen finished the game for the Patriots (9-19).

"For a sophomore, I think my kid pitched a pretty good game," Franklin coach Jim Karoub said. "I don't think he pitched as poorly as the six runs they scored on him. He was around the plate all day and had nice stuff."

The Rocks also had solid fielding from shortstop John Klask and steady play from Winstel at first base and outfielders Jamie Owens, Zarosely and Eric Stryker.

"We're playing almost perfect defense, which is another thing," Gravin said, adding the Rocks made 25 errors in their first 10 games. "Since that point in time, we've been playing tremendous baseball. You win with pitching and defense and we're doing both of those now."

Kher, who boasts an earned-run average below 1.00, struck out one and walked two against Canton.

The Chiefs (21-12) loaded the bases in the fourth, but a forceout and two flyouts ended the threat. Canton put its first two batters aboard in the sixth, but Kher retired the side with a pair of flyouts and a strikeout.

"Sandy Koufax said he became a great pitcher when he stopped trying to make people miss and started trying to make them hit it, and that's the way Nirav pitches," Gravin said. "Nirav is a pretty intelligent pitcher, and he understands what he has to do."

The Rocks defeated Canton ace Craig Benedict, who allowed six hits, struck out two and walked one.

Salem scored twice in the fourth inning when Brandon Los was hit by a pitch, stole second and scored on Stryker's single. Stryker later scored on an error. Winstel had two hits, including an RBI double in the fifth.

"Benny threw a real strong game," Canton coach Mark La-Pointe said. "We had a few defensive errors early that hurt us, and we had situations where we just couldn't get a hit when we needed one."

"If you're into competitive situations, your expectations are always high. When you don't meet those expectations, it's tough to take because you worked so hard to get where you are."

Franklin got a complete game from sophomore Brian Crumley to beat Livonia Stevenson (5-18) in the first round, 6-2. Crumley tossed a four-hitter, fanned six, walked one and hit two. Brad Morgan was the losing pitcher.

"Brian was very effective," Karoub said. "I don't think he had his best stuff, but he was consistent and around the plate, and he pitched out of some tough situations, which is really good to see a pitcher do." McCormack, Matt Fournier and Jason Schniers had two hits each for the Patriots, who scored five runs in the second inning.

Franklin made two errors in the fourth that led to Stevenson's runs. McCormack also had two RBIs and Schniers one. Crumley chipped in an RBI triple.

Ex-area players lift Henry Ford

Henry Ford Community College, thanks to the efforts of several Observerland players, recently captured its sixth straight Eastern Conference baseball title in the Michigan CC Athletic Association.

The Hawks, coached by Stu Rose, finished 32-12 overall before being ousted in the Region 12 tournament.

The pitching staff was led by Redford Catholic Central High product Steve Ross, who made All-MCCAA honors after finishing 6-1 with a 3.39 earned run average. He struck out 57 and walked only 26 in 50 1/3 innings.

North Farmington's Andrew Margolick went 5-1 with a 4.46 ERA, while Westland John Glenn's Chris Kirkey, a reliever, led the team with 12 appearances. Kirkey had two saves and a 3-1 record.

Dave Roman (Livonia Franklin) also proved effective, going 2-1 with a 3.48 ERA. He struck out 42 batters in 31 innings. He also threw a no-hitter on Henry Ford's spring trip.

Teammate Adam Marano (Garden City) was used as a spot starter, going 2-1.

orce (John Glenn), the Hawks' lead-off man, hit .377 (46 for 122), including 49 runs, 11 extra-base hits and 24 stolen bases. He struck out only six times.

Tom Davey (Plymouth Salem) earned a starting position at first base, hitting .444 (40 for 90) with 12 homers and 33 RBIs.

Outfielder Jason Riggs (Plymouth Canton) batted .327 (38 for 116) with 12 extra-base hits. He finished with 36 runs scored and 27 RBIs.

Phil Woods (Livonia Stevenson), an outfielder, played in only 12 games because of a broken hand, but hit .327 (16 for 49). He also earned one victory on the mound and posted a 2.57 ERA.

Roman, meanwhile, hit .314 (27 for 86), including seven extra base hits, with 19 RBI and 26 runs. He was 10-for-10 on stolen bases.

Dave Wood (Berkley) was the team's MVP, all-MCCAA and All-Region 12 choice.

He broke several of HFCC offensive records held previously by Clint Straub (John Glenn), batting .461 with 61 RBI. Wood also went 5-3 on the mound with a 2.67 ERA and two saves.

Shamrocks capture district crown

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

After surviving Class A district challenges, Redford Catholic Central's baseball team was able to shift its attention to Saturday's regional, in which the Shamrocks will battle the Temperance-Bedford district winner at Temperance-Bedford.

But before they pack their bats and gloves and tuck their glowing district title memories away, it might behoove them to keep in mind how they made it there.

Pitching first. Defense second. And some timely, if not over-powering, hitting.

John Salter, CC's coach, was well aware of all this. He allowed himself to think ahead to the state championship weekend for a moment, saying, "Just five more."

That's how many wins the Shamrocks will need to win the championship. But then Salter quickly backed up: "We've got the math all figured out. The problem is getting there."

Another lesson his players might take with them to Temperance-Bedford: While the scores of Saturday's district games at Dearborn High School, 6-0 over Dearborn Fordson and 9-3 over Dearborn Edsel Ford, might indicate easy wins for CC, the reality was somewhat different.

The Shamrocks prevailed over Fordson in the opener thanks to Brian Paluk's superb pitching. Paluk pitched six innings, allowing two hits and two walks while striking out 12 to run his record to 10-2.

But the game was close until the late innings. CC didn't get on the board until the top of the fifth, when Aaron Babicz doubled, was sacrificed to third and scored on Dave Kapla's sacrifice fly.

The Shamrocks got a second run in the sixth on Juan Sanchez's triple and Jeff Gutt's sacrifice fly. They didn't break it open until the seventh, when they scored four times. Andy Slankster singled in one run and Brian Hicks singled in two more. Hicks, with two singles, was CC's only player with multiple hits.

The game against Edsel Ford was a bit easier, and Salter knew why. "We did swing the bats better," he acknowledged. "But that was a young pitcher they had out there."

It's true; the Thunderbirds' sophomore righthander, Todd Tobin, was overmatched. He went all six innings but was never in command. All nine runs were earned; they were scored in three three-run innings (the first, fourth and sixth). He surrendered 14 hits and two walks, striking out two.

"We only have one pitcher," explained Edsel Ford coach Karl Dobronski, "and he (Joe Kaniewski) pitched in the first game (a 3-1 win over Dearborn). (Tobin) is our second-best pitcher."

Dobronski was hardly unhappy. His team finished 8-13 after a 2-11 start. "We played pretty well," he said of the loss to CC. "If they don't get three runs in the sixth, it's only 6-3."

Kaniewski was limited to 10 innings in the district tournament by state rules; had it been close in the late stages, Dobronski would have considered bringing him in against CC.

But Shamrock starter Andy Kummer, a junior righthander, didn't let that happen. He withstood a shaky start to go five innings, giving up two runs (one earned) on five hits. He did not walk a batter and struck out four. Dave Susalla relieved in the sixth and struck out five batters in two innings, but did allow two hits and a run. Hicks was the hitting hero for the Shamrocks, collecting three hits and three runs batted in; he was five of seven at the plate, with five RBIs, for the two games.

After Edsel Ford broke on top, with J.J. Schimizzi doubling in a run in the first, Hicks answered by doubling in two in the bottom of the first. Dave Susalla's single scored CC's third run of the inning, and the Shamrocks were ahead to stay.

They made it 6-1 in the fourth after two were out. Eric Justice singled and Mike Brusseau doubled, with a wild pitch scoring one run. Sanchez's base hit brought in a second and, after Gutt singled, Hicks delivered again with an RBI single.

The Thunderbirds got single runs in the fifth and sixth, Kaniewski's ground out scoring the first and Bekim Ala's single knocking in the second. But CC replied in the bottom of the sixth, adding three runs to its cushion.

Sanchez singled to start the scoring, and went home on Gutt's double. Hicks singled and, after Babicz struck out with men at second and third, Susalla singled to score two.

Donahue good choice for U-D post

C.J. RISAK

If it comes down to picking the right man for the job — the man with the proper connections, the best credentials, the most experience — then Glen Donahue will be the choice to coach University of Detroit-Mercy's basketball team next season.

No one else interested in coaching the Titans has nearly as much experience. None have proven they can recruit any better (not even Perry Watson — more on that later). And, although the other candidates would argue otherwise, they could not possibly be as committed to a school as Donahue is to UD-M.

So why the wait? What are Titan officials debating about? Why bother interviewing anyone else? Why don't they just hire him? Their answer: Well, let's be thorough. Let's be fair.

Those are just dodges, of course, which I fear will lead to one of those "other factors to consider" replies as an explanation when someone else is hired.

This much I know: If someone else is chosen to replace Ricky Byrdson — who for a reason I will never comprehend resigned to take the coaching position at Northwestern University (I won't be because he's better qualified).

Donahue's credentials. Teams under his direction have won more than 600 games, with the majority coming in the college ranks. He took a struggling St. Mary's College program and in four years turned it into a contender for the NAIA national title.

Being in, Donahue wouldn't have been in position to turn St. Mary's around if he had been hired at UD-M instead of Byrdson. He had coached just one year at St. Mary's when he interviewed for the UD-M job.

But UD-M officials decided against Donahue, an alumnus (class of '58) and former assistant coach ('86-'87), in favor of Byrdson — who had no local ties but had two factors in his favor: He was young and he was black.

Donahue is neither. And, chances are, if he is passed by again, those will be key factors.

The perception is only a black coach can recruit in the city, and only a young coach can relate to today's players.

Generalizations like that are unfortunate. In Donahue's case, they're untrue. He's proven he can coach and recruit in the city — he was 401-205 in 20 seasons at Highland Park Community College. And he's had no trouble relating to young players. He took over the Redford Bishop Borgess program last fall, just two weeks before the start of fall practice, and did a creditable job.

But there are more important traits his credentials don't reveal.

bounder. When St. Mary's program folded underneath him, just a few days after he had taken them to the NAIA National Tournament, he was stunned.

Who wouldn't be? But he overcame it, never allowing bitterness and resentment to anchor him. He began searching for a place to coach, but not until after all his returning players at St. Mary's were taken care of.

If UD-M officials were an excuse for hiring someone else is age. Donahue is 58.

But he's no dummy. He knows how to turn what could be perceived as a detriment into a positive.

"One of the things I emphasized," he said from his Southfield home of his interview at UD-M two weeks ago, "is that I'd be there for the long haul. This would not be a stepping stone for me. I want to spend the rest of my career there."

And how long would that be? Donahue has no other interest except coaching. If he kept the job for eight years, he'd be third in longevity in UD-M's basketball history, which dates back to 1905.

What would he bring to the program? An unwavering attitude, for one. He is always positive. And he has an established program.

He likes the running game, and he likes to use 10 players in a constant shuffle.

Blind bowlers deserve attention

AL HARRISON

And so it has been proclaimed as "Blind Bowlers Week" by Livonia Mayor Robert D. Bennett.

The week of May 24-30 was recognized as such as the 46th annual ABBA National Blind Bowlers Tournament was held at Cloverlanes in Livonia.

There were 165 teams and a total of 649 blind bowlers who converged on Livonia from all over the United States and a few from Canada.

There were many competitors from our own Greater Detroit area and it was a nice break for them not to have to travel out-of-state. Next year's event will take place in Atlanta, Ga.

The group was based at the Hyatt Regency. Extra activities included visits to Greenfield Village and a day at the races at Ladbrook DRC where the bowlers used their other skills to bring home the green stuff.

Dinner-dances were also held on Friday and Sunday. The tournament was hosted by the Metro Detroit Blind Bowlers with Dennis Godfrey as chairman.

In watching the blind bowlers in action, the first thing you would notice is the placement of the hand rails on the approaches. These are used to guide the bowlers in the direction of the pins as they keep one hand on the rail during their delivery.

I had mistakenly referred to this item as a bar, only to be advised that the bar is where drinks are served. Another unusual sight to behold is all the dogs on the scene.

These animals are the wonderful guide dogs, and they just wait patiently for their owners to finish their Black Labrador looked like he wanted to try his paw at bowling.

One of the competitors, Elmer

Could he recruit city players? He did before (at Highland Park CC), while facing tougher odds. The popular opinion is that Watson would be better suited for the UD-M job because he coached so successfully in the city (at Detroit Southwestern) before becoming an assistant coach at Michigan.

However, Watson burned a lot of bridges at Southwestern. He would probably have more trouble associating with Detroit PSL coaches than Donahue would.

And Donahue has an established association with the Detroit Catholic League, at Borgess and through St. Mary's.

He also knows what it takes to win. "The key to it has always been the players," he summed up. "I've never had a good team without good players."

Donahue is confident he will get the job. "There's been more talk that U-of-DM needs a local guy, a guy who has built up good, local ties. I really fit the bill, so I've got to be positive."

One of Byrdson's problems was laying a foundation in Detroit after arriving from Arizona. He had just one winning record here in five seasons. "I think he narrowed the gap," said Donahue in evaluating Byrdson's recruiting progress. "If he had stayed, and better would have gotten better and better."

But he didn't, and now it will be someone else's task to put the Titans back on the map in basketball.

Can Donahue do it? Probably. Will he get the chance? Well, let's hope so.

Kapp, is a Livonia businessman, and totally blind. The C class bowlers are partially blind; B is comprised of partially blind and all class refers to the sighted bowlers who participate in their regular league play.

It's necessary to have sighted bowlers to spot the pins by number. The blind bowlers can usually tell how many pins are downed, but not which ones.

One of the most active local leagues can be seen regularly at Garden Lanes in Garden City on Saturdays.

No event involving blind bowlers can be complete without the mention of Harry Hunter, one of the pioneers and organizers of this activity. Harry was ailing and unable to attend, but as this year's recipient of the GDBA's Meritorious Service Award by the Hall of Fame committee, Harry Hunter was certainly missed by his many friends among the blind bowlers.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

Expect some contradictions in an argument with someone close to you. A new idea or plan will be accepted and all will go well.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

You want what is rightfully yours, and you will get it soon. Take some time to relax. If you push yourself too much harder there could be dire consequences.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)

A challenging situation will arise, and you may find the need to close yourself off from it. Use caution when traveling, especially in the evening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)

You may have a romantic change of heart, and come up with a solution to a problem. You will be grateful for a small gift or money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)

Gibbons glows over hot new daytime show

By Scott White

"This is a giant shark," says Leeza Gibbons with an uncharacteristically tired note in her usually effervescent voice. She is referring to the workload involved in launching her new daytime talk show, "John & Leeza From Hollywood."

"I'm operating on almost no sleep," she says, "because I most especially don't want to shortchange anything or anybody."

The moment of melancholy is quickly replaced by the enthusiasm her viewers have come to know and love from her long tenure on the syndicated program "Entertainment Tonight." Her voice warms again when she begins to speak of "John & Leeza."

"John (Tesh, her co-host) and I are bouncing off the walls," she says. "Somebody's going to have to rein us in."

The new show, which presents an hour of variety entertainment before a studio audience each weekday, premieres Monday, June 14, on NBC. Obvious comparisons will be drawn not only to the highly successful "Entertainment Tonight," but also to the syndicated morning favorite, "Live With Regis & Kathie Lee," the program with which "John & Leeza" will share a friendly competition.

"John and I are both big fans of what Regis and Kathie Lee do," says Gibbons. "I've filled in for Kathie Lee many times. When it looked like ('John & Leeza') was even the spark of an idea, I wrote to them and said, 'If it happens, it will be because of you guys, because you've been so incredibly successful.' They have both been real supportive and very gracious. In a lot of markets, we're actually companions, so I think there's certainly plenty of room for everybody."

The new program is as different from "Entertainment Tonight" as it is similar to "Live With Regis & Kathie Lee."

"There will be virtually no similarities between this show and 'Entertainment Tonight,'" Gibbons promises, "except for the fact that we will have a heavy dose of celebrity guests. 'ET' is a format-driven show that's not very personality intensive. What we hope for 'John & Leeza' is that it will be just the reverse of that. We want this show to be very spontaneous, very freewheeling, with a sense of surprise and a little bit of irreverence, but not to the point of exclusion. It's going to have almost a dishy aspect to it."

Gibbons expects the show's Hollywood location will give it easy access to some of the hottest celebrities and gossip in the show business industry.

"We'll be the only West Coast-based talk show, other than 'Arsenio,'" she remarks. "We're going to play up the fact that we're on the Paramount lot. I mean, right now the Coneheads are running around, the Addams Family is running around, as are all the people who load in to perform on 'Arsenio.'"

In addition, Gibbons and Tesh both have the name recognition necessary to rustle the big stars in.

"Everybody I've mentioned it to has said 'yes,'" Gibbons proudly proclaims. "I was on the set of (the upcoming film) 'Demolition Man' the other day and said, 'Sly (Stallone), you gonna do our show?' and he said 'Absolutely. Tell me when you want me.' And I interviewed Richard Marx for a radio special recently. I said, 'you know you want to perform on this show,' and he said, 'Definitely.' Let's face it, this is the most favorable environment you could appear in for a personality. I think we're probably gonna have startups pains for the show, but I don't think that finding guests will be one of them."

STAR NOTES
Donohoe battles dreams in 'Hidden Room'

BY MICHAEL SCOGIN

English actress Amanda Donohoe, known for her penchant for eclectic and challenging roles, is the star of the Saturday, June 12, episode of Lifetime's critically acclaimed anthology series, "The Hidden Room," which is making its second-season debut. In "Dangerous Dreams," Donohoe plays a woman whose marriage is threatened by her relationship with her troubled stepdaughter, who is the source of violent premonitions of her family's upheaval that plague her thoughts. The London born actress may be best known for her groundbreaking role as C.J. Lamb, the intelligent, attractive bisexual character of NBC's "L.A. Law," which won her a Golden Globe Award for Best Supporting Actress. Donohoe has never been afraid to accept roles that other actresses would only wince at. Film audiences and fans of director Ken Russell likely remember Donohoe for her portrayal of the prim and proper sex-starved English vampire Lady Sylvia Marsh in the underground hit "Lair of the White Worm." The daughter of British antique dealers, Donohoe studied ballet until the age of 13, when she discovered an interest in acting. She was enrolled at London's Central School of Speech and Drama and soon afterward became a regular on the London stage. Her first movie role came in director Nicholas Roeg's 1987 film, "Castaway," with Oliver Reed.
