Plymouth-Canton teachers are tired of hearing residents and school officials say they should give back their 3-percent raise in the wake of the millage defeat and the cancellation of extracurricular activities for the coming school year.

Some teachers say they are willing to give back their raise - if they receive something in return.

Both the district and the teachers' union consider the 3-percent raise a fair one, in line with the inflation rate, said Maryann Ligato-Freyd!, ex-ecutive director of the Michigan Education Association.

"What the teachers offered instead was an early retirement incentive that by the board's own figures last year would save the district more than the increase in cost. They chose not to do that," she said. "We would still agree to do that if they offered.'

Kmart is just ducky

At first glance, John McAuliffe thought the duck was amazingly real-

"At first I thought she was a lawn ornament," said the Canton resident. 'I thought, "The ornaments are so realistic. It looks exactly like a duck."

Then the duck suddenly turned and opened its beak. Thinking it would be a great joke, he ran for his wife, Roda, to show her the ornament at the Kmart garden shop on Sheldon and Ford roads.

She was astounded by the realism. Boy, it doesn't look like plastic, does it?" Roda told her husband. She too, found out otherwise.

The duck now has a name, Henrietta. And by the way, Henrietta — who is believed to be a mallard — honestly is real, and she's taken up residence at Kmart.

About 2-21/2 weeks ago, like clockwork, Henrietta began flying into the garden center in the morning and leaving at night. It made sense because she's not too far away her comrades who frequent and cross Sheldon Road, north of Ford Road.

Then last week, Henrietta stayed to hatch her ducklings

There's no doubt she's got good taste in accommodations. All the materials she needed to make a nest were within reach. Some bark chips and plants and voila!

'She's completely ripped apart our bedding plants. I think she likes petunias," said Roger Whitehill, Kmart merchandising manager. "She's made it home. It's really cute. She's become our pet.'

Everyone seems certain Henrietta is sitting on at least 10 eggs. To prepare for their new family, Kmart staff have set up a wading pool so Henrietta can teach her ducklings how to be ducks.

A spokesman for the Howell Nature Center said it takes about 30 days for ducklings to hatch. And because Henrietta is a migratory bird, she and her ducklings are a protected species.

"Ideally, it is best to leave the nest and the duck where it is," the spokesman said.

Jewelry trader Bing Crosby and Navajo weaving dealer Tom Wheeler will be present, displaying native jewelry and Navajo weavings.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. July 16 and 17 and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Performer to showcase many talents

Neil Woodward, a musician, singer, songwriter and folk historian, will perform at noon on Wednesday at the Music in the Park concert at Plymouth's Kellogg Park at Main and Ann Arbor Trail.

The performance is sponsored by Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union.

Featuring traditional North American folk instruments, Woodward's performance reflects America's history from centuries-old ballads and dance music to 1800s lumberjack, blues and train songs, to his own compositions.

He performs on the six- and 12-string guitar, steel guitar, harmonica, mandolin, fiddle, banjo, autoharp, dulcimer, penny whistle, ukelele and other strings.

The Music in the Park program is presented by the Plymouth Community Arts Council for 10 Wednesdays throughout the summer.

Break-ins hit 2 township homes

Two home break-ins were reported in recent days to Plymouth Township police.

In a break-in of a home in the Oak Haven Mobile Home Park, a thief made off with $3,400 in stereo equipment and other items after prying open window screens sometime between 10 p.m. Tuesday and 7:45 a.m. Wednesday.

The homeowner reported $150 in damage to the mobile home.

The homeowner identified a possible suspect to police, who are investigating.

Another break-in was discovered by a house owner's daughter at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday on Glenview near Amesbury.

The house owner told Plymouth Township police his daughter returned home to find cash, jewelry, a video camera and a briefcase missing, according to the report filed with police.

There were no witnesses or suspects, police said.

Canton digs up ways to aid farms

By Joanne Maliszewski Staff Writer

Canton officials say they want to help those who want to farm their land.

"We'll start with the planning department," said Supervisor Tom Yack. "We'll look at options for people who wish to farm by changing the master (land use) plan classification so the assessor can look at them in a different light."

Assessors Glenn Shaw and John McLenaghan of the Wayne County Appraisal Co. met with about 15 farmers a week ago to explain why property tax assessments increased in the three-digit range in western Canton this year.

"I suggest the market value we have on these properties is extremely conservative," Shaw said. He referred to one farmer who sold property for $8,700 an acre.

The assessors and Canton trustees spoke of changes about three years ago in the township's master land use plan. That's when agricultural as a single designation was removed from the map in place of residential.

According to Shaw, that's when sales picked up in western Canton. Before the master plan changes, about six sales of what was once referred to as farmland were recorded. Since the master plan changes, more than 30 sales have been recorded.

We assume it's a reaction to the master plan, WTUA (Western Townships Utilities Authority) and water lines being put in," Shaw said.

In other words, the land has become attractive to developers and speculators. "We didn't just raise that property without some information," Shaw said, adding sales and information from appraisers and county records are used.

Yack, however, believes the change in the master plan and an increase in sales are coincidental. "Look at where development has been occurring. It's pushing left (west)."

Shaw acknowledged that those who truly wish to farm could not sell the acreage to another farmer for such high prices. But the land can and has been sold to speculators for high prices.

They want a low tax but when they are ready to sell, they want to they should be paying what the market has established."

Of all the so-called farmland in Canton, Shaw maintains only 500 acres is being farmed. He also maintains that of all that land, 80 percent to 90 percent is not owned by the farmers.

"Why do we have to pay these high taxes because someone thinks they can look into a crystal ball?" asked Roger Bordine, referring to assessments based on the value of land to a developer or speculator.

Shaw responded: "We don't look into the future. We're looking at history."

Ned Monroe, an attorney who works with the assessors, told farmers that the master plan doesn't show the land continuing as farmland. If it did, sales - on which assessments are based would be different. "It would hold down the market or even reverse

To give a break to those who own farmland would be giving a break to speculators who want the land, Shaw said. He suggested an ordinance that would commit farmers to farming land for let's sell high," Shaw said. "I think say 10 years. "Now I can say that's farmland." Then assessors can compare that to farmland in other communities to arrive at an assessment, Shaw said.

The assessor also suggested that farmers enter into contract under state public act 116 under which they are committed to farming and receive a tax credit.

Many of the farmers who appealed to the Canton Board of Review received assessment reductions. Those who remained unhappy with their assessments had until June 30 to appeal to the Michigan Tax Tribunal. Shaw said he is aware of only about seven farmers who appealed to the

The assessor said he too is in a bad position. Shaw gave an example that if the county or state says he must have $100 of assessed value in the township and he only has $90. Where will the remaining $10 come from?

"If I continue to ignore what's happening on the west side of the township, the people in the subdivisions will make up the $10," Shaw said. "Everyone should be increased according to what's going on in their market place."

The employee asked the man, who was bending down at the candy counter, 'Is that you, Jeff? The suspect answered no, but on recognizing the woman said yes.

The man was jumpy and acting nervous, the victim told police.

The suspect said he needed $60 to pay for an alternator for his car. The complainant said she didn't have $60. He asked whether she had a credit card she could lend

When she said no, he begged and pleaded for another 30 minutes and wouldn't leave, she said. Finally, the complainant, feeling intimidated and afraid, gave him $60 from the cash register. The man then left.

The complainant explained to her boss what happened and repaid the $60.

Breaking and entering

A 29-year-old Wing Street resident told police that sometime between 10:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. June 29, someone broke into his house through an unlocked bedroom window.

Taken from a dresser drawer was a $200 gold necklace and $500 in cash. Taken from another room was $100 in assorted fireworks.

There are no suspects or leads. The man said he'd gone through his house, "thus destroying any latent evidence that might have been present," officers said.

Family farmers plant roots with vegetable stand

Female farmer: Mary Hauk Churilla of the longtime Canton farming family is believed to be the one of the few female farmers in the area.

If you're one of those roadside stand connoisseurs waiting on Andy and Mary's well-known green and yellow vegetable wagon to set up in July, it won't. But

Andy Churilla and Mary Hauk-Churilla - who have operated the stand at Ford and Napier roads for the last three summers - are moving to the corner of Ford and

We wanted to get into Canton and we needed some protection from the elements," said Mary, daughter of longtime Canton farmer Ross Hauk, and one of the few female farmers in the area.

Instead of the green and yellow wagon, the Churillas are building a permanent, but seasonal, vegetable and fruit stand on their five acres at the corner. You'll recognize it when you see the sign: Andy & Mary's Farm Market -Family Farming in Canton Since

When the corn comes up in mid-July, the stand will open daily from 9 a.m.-7 p.m., until the kids go back to school in September. Corn, squash, melons, carrots, beans and green onions - to name a few — will fill the stand. When Michigan fruits come into season, they'll offer peaches, pears, nectarines and plums.

"I like to sell Michigan products because people enjoy them. They have a good taste. As long as you give people good quality products from Michigan, they don't mind paying a fair price," said Andy, who works in General Motors' materials department.

And don't think this is just a hobby for the Churillas. This involves their livelihood and their Family business: Andy and Mary Hauk-Churilla and their children (from left) Rachel, Andrew and Mary, rest on the green and yellow wagon that has served the family well as a vegetable stand at Ford and Napier roads. The family will have a permanent stand at Ford and Beck roads this summer.

Andy may have married into the longtime Hauk farming family, but he knows the produce business in his own right. He was in the fruit market business as a kid. Then he had a wholesale route of his own.

In fact, Eastern Market, where Mary sold wholesale with her father, was the setting for a budding romance. "I was selling and Andy was buying," Mary said.

Andy went to work for General Motors but the produce business was a part of his life. "Every time I got laid off by GM I would go back into produce," Andy said.

When he got laid off in 1986 that was it. Andy told Mary: 'We're going to try and do our own thing.'

It was apparently a smart decision. "The people have been happy to have us down there. They are happy to meet the local farmers," Andy said.

Andy and Mary will tell you this is no easy business. Work begins at the crack of dawn and continues until it gets done. When the stand opens, Mary and Andy will have a couple of employees to man the outdoor store. Andy will be at GM during the day, and Mary will be farming. And both will continue working when the usual business hours are over.

"It is every single day. Vegetable plants yield constantly,' Mary said.

If the stand is running low, out to the fields they go. Excluding sweet corn, the Churillas have about 30 acres of growing for the

Retiring doctor will make a call at his own house and Dr. Bill Den Hauter on Wednesday, as he retired after 35 years in general practice.

In a darkened office on Thursday, Den Hauter, 62, was beginning the task of copying patients' medical records. "We'll mail them off to their new doctors, try to help people find doctors," he said.

The walls of his office on Sheldon Road were covered with cards from patients wishing him well in his retirement.

An Ann Arbor native, Den Hauter was offered a residency at St. Joseph's Hospital after getting his degree from the University of Michigan medical school.

But because he was married and starting a family, "I couldn't afford to go on and take the residency," he said.

So on Aug. 20, 1958, he started working for Dr. Barry Alford in Plymouth. "He worked hard and he was good to people," Den Hauter said. Two years later, he started his own practice.

In those first years as a family practicioner, "I'd average five or six house calls a day," he said.

THE PROPER PILLOW

Excellent advice on proper pillows comes from antiquity: Genesis 28:11: "and Jacob lighted upon the place, and thout great cost, by your own household search.

tarried there all night, and he took one of the stones of the place and put it under his head, and lay down to sleep. And he dreamed..."

The story identifies the qualities for a good pillow. First, it must be firm, rock firm is not an extreme statement. Second, the pillow should be flat, again like many a

This combination places your neck in the best position. The pillow's rise if correct, places your cervical spine in line with the rest of your back bones, as you lie face up to the ceiling. This relation, called the neutral position, minimizes pulling forces on the neck muscles as you sleep.

Since the cause of most morning 'neck ache" is neck muscle strain, using the proper pillow provides the best chance of avoiding such pain. When you sleep on your side or stomach, the position of your neck follows the curve of your back, and your head does not need the pillow for support.

Beware of advertisements for coutour pillows or slumber pads though they promise you a sleep like Jacob's. You are more likely to find a proper pillow and Great skate!

S'craft goes 'skatecraft' with new class

BY ANNE SULLIVAN STAFF WRITER

It's the Ninja Turtles of recreational sports. In-line skating, developed in 1980 by two brothers in Minnesota looking for an economical way to play hockey in the summer, has soared in popularity.

The sport is the newest way to get into shape and has grown into an international recreation.

Keying in on the popularity of in-line skating, and recognizing a need for training and safety habits in the sport, Schoolcraft College is offering a four-week instructional course through continuing education from 6-9 p.m. Wednesdays beginning July 14. The fee is $45 per person.

The class is open to everyone. "I've had people age 2 to age 80 on skates; no one is too young, no one is too old to learn," said Chris Johnson, instructor.

"I'd encourage anybody who has the slightest desire (to learn in-line skating) to try it. You're going to have a good time."

Johnson is a certified instructor with International In-Line Skating Association and a sales rep for Roller Blade, an in-line skating industry leader. He says the popularity of the sport has grown steadily since 1980.

Johnson and his assistant, John Pump, work with skaters at all levels, teaching in-line techniques to experienced skaters, and starting from the beginning with novice skaters.

For those who have never skated, Johnson starts them walking on the grass, getting used to the feel of the skates and the protective gear, then moves on to teaching the skating motion. He doesn't guarantee skaters will be graceful when the class is over, but they will have the necessary skills to skate, and he says it takes practice.

The novice as well as the experienced skater may have a fall or two, and that's why Johnson stresses the importance of always wearing safety equipment. Skates and protective gear - helmet, knee, elbow and wrist guards - are provided in the class.

The Schoolcraft class stresses the fundamentals, safety and rules of the road for in-line skat-

Students are taught how to start, stop, turn and maneuver on skates. The class covers the importance of wearing safety gear, where to skate and skating eti-

When Johnson first approached the college about teaching the course, Mary Gans, assistant dean of continuing education, was eager for a class in the area.

"Most people buy the skates and don't get instruction," said Gans. "I live in Northville and see kids and adults skating in town not wearing any protective gear," said Gans.

He saw Johnson's offer as an excellent opportunity to provide instruction in the sport and inform participants of the necessary safety precautions.

Some of the students in the class now under way had been interested in in-line skating and were looking for a place to learn.

Mary Perva and Dena Gawthrop are mother and daughter from Canton Township who signed up for the first class.

"I didn't want to come by myself, so I made my daughter come," said Perva, who says it's a good way to loose weight and get in shape. "It looked like more fun than walking or jogging."
Gawthrop had roller-skating experience but was surprised that in-line skating is more like ice skating.

Denny Behrendsen of Livonia had been out skating with his buddies, who were teaching him some skills. But when he picked up a flier on the class, he decided to enroll and learn from a professional instructor.

In-line skater: Mary Perva of Canton Township said she took the Schoolcraft class because the sport "looked like more fun than walking or jogging."

"I feel a lot more confident," said Behrendsen, who skates on the street in his subdivision and in a park after work.

Where to skate is a question students often ask. Johnson suggests finding a flat surface, with little or no traffic. Hines Park is closed to motorized traffic on Saturdays now through September from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. from Outer Drive to Ann Arbor Trail.

To register for the upcoming Schoolcraft class, call continuing education at 462-4413.

skaters. Most are safety and courtesy guidelines that will make skating more enjoyable.

At the top of the list is to always wear safety equipment helmet, knee, elbow and wrist guards. Johnnson said a bicycle helmet can be used for in-line skating.

Stay alert and always be courteous, obeying traffic rules (stop signs, traffic lights, etc,), always stay out of heavy traffic areas and control your speed.

Control is a difficult task to accomplish when tearing to skate. Johnson suggests using an empty parking lot or the sidewalk at home, until you've learned to control speed. The sidewalk is good because skaters can usually get to the grass if they get in trouble and need to regain control. It's also better to fall on grass rather than

Skate on the right of a path, pass on the left and always yield to pedestrians.

Johnson warns that in-line skating is not like roller skating or ice skating.

"There is no toe pick to stop you," said Johnson. Depending on how fast a skater is traveling, it can take up to 40 feet to stop.

"Of course it doesn't take that long if you're skating slow."

Getting fitted with the right gear is necessary for safety and comfort in the sport. Johnson said a skate should fit like a tennis shoe and have a strap around the ankle for support.

He recommends a quality skate for support and comfort, especially for those who want to skate a couple times a week.

Getting outfitted for the sport can cost up to $250, for skates and safety gear. Some sporting goods stores rent the equipment. A more cost efficient way for those who aren't sure if in-line skating is for them, and want to try the sport before making an investment.

Check with local retailers for rental opportunities.

Plant some art in your garden ith some apprehension, I approached my towering delphinium last week and snipped their blue and lavender stalks. Though beautiful to behold through my dining room window, I longed to have them fill my glass cobalt pitcher and grace the center of the table. I worried that they wouldn't generate new stalks, but I can see tiny buds already.

Summer gardens are such pleasures. They provide fragrant outdoor living rooms as well as an abundance of fresh bouquets to brighten our interiors. Now that the garden is alive with impatiens, petunias, geraniums and snapdragons, you might want to consider embellishing nature with some garden sculpture or other ornamentation.

Area galleries and boutiques offer numerous examples of one-of-a-kind outdoor art. The bunny pictured ($12) peeks through the phlox in one of my beds. He is one of a large selection of 'Made in Michigan" statuary available at Folkways

Trading Co., 838 Penniman in Plymouth. Proprietor Diane Jouppi has a long list of clientele who seek out her natural-look forest animals, cherubs, religious figures, planters, benches and birdbaths. "They are not only aesthetically pleasing," she says, "but they are meticulously finished so that there is no pitting in the cement."

Joining the garden bunny in the picture is a whimsical insect which sits on a metal stake. Ariana Gallery, 386 E. Maple in Birmingham, includes this critter in its "Art for the Garden" collection. Look for grasshoppers, hummingbirds and dragonflies, all in a verdigris finish with copper eyes and tentacles ($44). Sure to put a buzz in your flowerpot.

Sculpture celebrations

To inject your outdoor space with a fun-loving spirit, add one of Fred Myers' steel creations to the landscape. Myers' studio recreates ancient Indian petroglyphs and pictographs in ironwork sculptures. The delightful designs include occasional tables and freestanding figures, as well as murals and benches. "Hands Up" is a joyful interpretation of a cave dweller ($1500), "Mimbras Quail" is the artist's perception of the southwest New Mexico bird that provided a food source to the Indians ($600), and the "Zuni Flute Player" is a recognizable Indian kachina ($750). My favorite is the intricately carved table that tells a story through the shapes and drawings of past civilizations ($2600). See them all at Ariana Gallery.

Objects of Art, 6243 Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield, in Sugar Tree Square, displays selected works of local and out-of-state artists. This month the gallery is filled with outdoor creations. Scott Brazeau of Birmingham exhibits his abstract metal furniture. He uses found objects, including twigs, pitchforks and tractor seats in his imaginative designs.

Wildlife surprises

Washington sculptor Tom Torrens fashions contemporary fountains and birdfeeders from simple industrial materials, especially copper. The multi-shaped birdfeeder dominates the gallery's front window and is an eye-catching work-of-art ($800).

Other notable originals at Objects of Art include Craig Easter's freestanding fish ponds and bowls ($86-$300) and aluminum Wind Petals, stylized butterflies, feathers, bugs and fish that animate your garden as they rock and pivot, changing shape with the slightest breeze.

Delight in all of these works at a sidewalk sale? July 8-10. Finally, what's a garden without a birdhouse? This architect-designed "diner" is but one of the unique feathered friend abodes at the Carol Hooberman Gallery, 124 S. Woodward, Birmingham, one of the "Shops at the Top" of the stairs. The enamel-finished wood will provide your favorite songsters with years of fine dining. All that's missing is the neon.

And now all your garden needs is you. Sit back, relax and enjoy.

Fall forecast: Veronique Vienne of Express says: long skirts are here to stay! Look for ruffles (they act like reflectors around the face) and hand-pleated skirts. Not too much color this season, textures are the key.

Stores prosper with Euro-looks

Sales of European-inspired clothing are skyrocketing as women discover the comfort of tunics and men slip on bold patterned vests. The best example of this marketing phenomenon is found at local Express and Structure stores where business is booming.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO STAFF WRITER

Just what is French chic? Italian chic?

And why do we love it so?

The movies, the magazines, the malls and the mainstreets are all selling "the European look" this summer and consumers are gobbling it up.

We adore Provence table settings, Country French bed linens, dresses collared with Belgium lace and shoes of Italian leather.

Veronique Vienne a spokeswoman for the Express clothing stores, retailing the European look exclusively, offered this theory.

'Americans like European clothing because Europeans have a greater understanding of seduction, elegance and charm," she explained. "Their clothing fecls better. It moves. Europeans understand that the human body in motion is always elegant.

"Americans dress too prissy, fussessed with everything looking pretty as a picture. But what is a picture? Static. Frozen in time. The French have words for their chic - dash, elan, joie de vivre. It's youthful spirit and age doesn't matter.'

Wow! We'll buy that. And when it's priced for the working gal and guy, we'll buy it by the shopping bagful. And that is exactly what's happening.

Both Structure stores for men (established in 1987) and Express for women (established in 1982) are divisions of The Limited Inc. They have made a splash the size of a tidal wave selling clothing styled and retailed the European way. Annual sales of more than $1.6 billion are expected this year, that's $300 million more than last year.

There are 675 Express stops throughout the United States, with 21 in Michigan malls and main streets. From headquarters in Columbus, Ohio, The Express team visits Paris, St. Tropez, Milan and London to spot-"enduring trends" and bring them home priced for the pocketbook of the working gal and guy "usually within six weeks," according to their spokes-

Debi Gould of Northville, a flight attendent, and mother of two teen daughters, shops Express with three generations.

"I love the clothes, my mother loves the clothes, and my daughters love the clothes," she said. "They're upbeat, fun to wear, youthful looking and very comfortable. There is good value for the price. The clothes hold

Gould winked and added that as a woman in her 40s working with women in their 20s she must stay current.

Express clothing helps me do that," she said. "I just bought a tunic and short set that I know will be very comfortable yet stylish and sassy."

Ginny Zibell of Novi was shopping at Express last week with her daughter Anne, 12, and Anne's friend, Jill Backman, 12. The girls were back they said, because they liked previous purchases from Express and were stopping in to see what's new.

Twist on denim

Express has had its tremendous success selling garments with a twist on traditional denim items, and tricot knitwear that moves with and is easy to care for by active women. The bestselling item is the European tunic, sold in various weights and with different sleeve lengths, to be worn over long skirts, "the new silhouette" insists Vienne.

Movies inspire the games of summer

By Susan DeMaggio Staff Writer

Tired of Candyland, Trivial Pursuit and Monopoly? Well, let the summer games of 1993 begin!

New board games available at your favorite toy store might be just the ticket to liven up the second month of summer.

Finishing in First Place with a "9" on the Fun Meter is "Cheers" ($22.99). This game immortalizes America's favorite neighborhood tavern with trivia questions to test your memory of the show's former plot

The game was created by Classic. Here's a sample of the fun you could be having:

"What did Norm and Cliff do when Diane told everyone she was going to Europe and was waiting for a kiss?

a. Ran out of the bar.

b. Gave her a Hershey's kiss.

c. They kissed each other."

If you guessed "c", you're going to love this game?

"Beauty and The Beast" ($10.99) is a 3-D boardgame where players "try and be the first to transform the beast into a prince." The best part about "Aladdin" ($12.99) is the chance to "spin, glide and float the magic carpet around the gameboard.

Hey Mr. Wilson! Pressman has just released a "Dennis the Menace"

The little ones will enjoy two new game ($10.99). In D the M, players games from Milton Bradley that give race around Dennis' neighborhood them the chance to relive two Disney and nab Switchblade Sam to win. Kids who like the antics of other mischievious kids will also enjoy playing "Home Alone 2: Lost in New York"($12.99).

There's no escaping the blockbuster movie games "Last Action Hero" ($10.99 from Mattel) and "Jurassic Park" ($19.99 from Milton Bradley).

Vienne, who grew up in southern France, points out that both denim and tricot are native to France. Denim taking its name from cloth manufactured in Nimes, France, and tricot popularized for activewear by CoCo Chanel during World War I when traditional fabric was scarce.

Men are digging the European beat as well, with sales at Michigan's 13 Structure stores "growing steadily.

"Our best-selling items have been our original six-button knit polos, our linen collection, and our authentic silk ties," said Jeffrey Moran, Structure spokesman. "New for fall at Structure are vests with big bold stripes, plaids and patterened sweaters, - all done in our generous, relaxed fit signature styling."

In addition to Structure and Express (aka Compagnie Internationale Express), other divisions of the Limited Inc. include Lerner New York, Lane Bryant, Victoria's Secret, Limited Too, Abercrombie & Fitch, Henri Bendel, Cacique, Bath & Body Works, and Penhaligon's.

Sales records are most impressive, the company reports, from the shops selling "clothing with a distinctly Eurpean point-of-

"In these stores we want our customers to feel as if they'd just stepped into a boutique along Paris' Left Bank," said former Express president Michael Weiss, recently promoted to vice presi-dent of the Limited Inc. "Faux Fragonard and mock Magritte murals cover the walls, and Express' own Musique D'Express tape of French pop music plays adding to the uplifting and very French shopping experience."

Two books on the subject of dressing European, both authored by fashion journalist Susan Sommers, are selling like crepes suzettes. "Italian Chic" published in the fall, is being marketed direct through ads in all the Conde Nast fashion magazines this month. Toll-free number operator "Rose," said sales are "great."

'Italian Chic" has led readers to seek out "French Chic," published in 1988 also by Villard Books, New York.

"Stroll through the streets of Paris and almost every woman you see has put herself together in a smart, alluring, original way with a special touch that sets her apart," Sommers writes. "French women have something special. They're feminine, sure of them-selves, and seem to delight in breaking all fashion rules, yet making it all work."

In "Italian Chic" Sommers writes "Italian women know that chic means more than just a pret-ty dress. It's a pulled together look that makes people remember the woman, not just the clothes."

Both books contain photographs, tips, ideas and interviews with European women who have mastered certain looks.

Annette King of Detroit, recently returned from a trip to Paris and discussed her impressions of the European mystique while shopping for shoes at Twelve Oaks Mall

"The women all looked so good," she said. "Even those begging in the streets wore what seemed to me, designer clothing. There is truly something to admire about the way French women turn out."

Whom to interview, what stories to cover, which story line to take, and where that story should run are all judgment calls which most try to make as fairly as they can.

But even given that lead, the recent phone call(s) to a juror in the Malice Green case trial by a Detroit News intern against the dictates of the trial judge leaves more than one inkblot on our profession.

No, the intern should not have contacted the juror against the judges or-Even more important, the intern should not have been made the scapegoat for that situation. (It is curious that the News would have put an intern on such a critical story, a story that most professional reporters would have given a lot to have even a small part in.)

He was an intern, after all, serving a stint at the News to learn the profession - during which mistakes, even big ones, are part of the learning process. And you would presume he was working with at least one seasoned reporter and under at least one seasoned

One of those professional journalists should have stepped forward to assume responsibility for the episode and taken the forthcoming punishment.

Part of that punishment, by the way, was out of line. The judge should not have ordered the sentenced person to sit through the trial in prison garb, shifting the spotlight from crucial trial issues.

I can't help remembering the high esteem in which the news profession was held following Watergate, when two Washington Post reporters, through painstaking investigation and reportage, exposed the abuse of power of a presidency.

Young people were turned on by that kind of work and they flocked to college newspapers and journalism programs to learn the skills to become the Woodwards and Bernsteins of the future.

Not so today. Journalism was embarassed when NBC News faked the explosion of a General Motors pick-up truck; when USA Today forced Arthur Ashe to acknowledge he had AIDS; most recently by the erroneous New York Post story about singer Whitney Houston's supposed drug overdose. And, closer to home, the press in its zeal to get the story failed to respect the intense pres-requirement. I feel sad about that. And it can only hurt further that a Wayne State University journalism student is left to take the rap for those who know the news business as opposed to one who's still learning it. We who are lucky enough to be part of the journalism profession have a responsility to those who will come af ter us to get back to our basics. We must report the news, not make: it. We must interview others on the critical issues of the day, not ourselves. Just as we publicize our awards, we must acknowledge our mistakes. And we must leave the profession on a higher plane than the one on which it is resting today.

And that is black and white.

Cultural diversity forms suburban traffic patterns

uring a recent conversation, a poet lamented that the world was breaking down into tribes. That's how he explained the mess with the Serbs and the Croats. It's cultural diversity in overdrive. He's probably right, but when you're an eighth generation redneck like myself, you can't tell a Serb from a Croat to save your fourwheel drive vehicle

But then I thought of it in suburban Detroit terms. One friend contends that suburban Detroit people only want to know two things about you. "Where you live and what kind of car you drive.

He's probably right. Those two pieces of information define the tribe to which you belong. And put into those terms, the sage is right. Although I can't tell a Croat from a Serb or for that matter a Greek, I can tell a Birmingham resident from one who parks his mini van in Canton at night.

First of all there's the gold trim line. It runs down Eight Mile, with cars falling to the north going for the gold. Those gold trimmed beauties also come with car phones.

The gold trim serves more of a purpose than identifying the owner as having bad taste, it allows them to identify each other when in Traverse City during August, as if the boat shoes and Izod shirts weren't enough. But we shouldn't feel guilty about the gold markings, native Americans used such markings on their bodies so they would be able to identify fellow tribe mem-

JEFF COUNTS

Then there's the Lite beer and wnite wine line. It's rarely crossed by any in the suburbs, which allows the natives in northern Michigan to identify a tourist on the spot. Going native there means drinking bourbon or brandy with your un-lite draft beer.

My own tribe of Livonia residents can be identified by their mini vans. I have trouble finding my own during visits to the happy hunting ground at Builders' Square. A neighbor owns one the same color as mine and there have been times I couldn't tell the difference until finding out the key didn't fit.

My wife violated a Livonia tribal law by lamenting at a neighborhood party that there wasn't a good corner bar that offered cheeseburgers and beer. My wife has since been banished to the tribe of those who are recovering from some sort of addiction.

Then there's the Grosse Pointe tribe which engages in the strange custom of not wearing socks, even in January. But even though we've got our own tribes, there is a big difference between us and the Serbs and Croats: We don't kill each other with any regularity.

There's no militia in my Livonia neighborhood prepared to halt the invasion of birkenstock wearing, Volvo driving Farmington residents. And there's a reason. We've still got the idea in this country that we're more alike than different.

Celebrating our cultural differences is fine, but too much of it divides us into tribes. And when that happens we become suspicious of those driving

By law, laid-off teachers must receive 60 days notice. Pinkslipping more teachers than actually will be laid off gives the district the flexibility to call back teachers based on students' course selections, and allows teachers to take positions in buildings throughout the district based on their certification and seniority.

Administrators must be given 90 days notice before being laid off. "We didn't want to make a rushed decision, so we pinkslipped more than we needed," said Goldman. "We had to do a

Administrators, who received a 5-percent salary increase this year, also will receive 5 percent in 1993-94.

The administrators' collective bargaining agreement that granted yearly 7-percent raises for 1990-93 was modified in the spring of 1992. Administrators agreed to defer for a year 2 percent of their increase. A one-year extension was agreed to for 1993-94.

More certified staff are scheduled to be recalled July 12. Remaining on the administrative pink-alip list are computer technician Jim Hatcher, audio-visual technician Joanne Ost; purchasing agent Tom Rose; assistant athletic directors Jim Finn and Gary Balconi; supervisor of maintenance and energy operations Mike Swanson; fleet manager Greg Pirtle; Salem stage manager Cletus Karamon; and Mary Kay Frey, assistant director of community education.

The board also agreed to reapply for membership in the Michigan High School Athletic Association, canceled after the millage defeat. Membership is necessary to compete in fall sports. If the Aug. 17 millage fails, the district will again cancel its MHSAA membership.

benefits. "We haven't been told what would be done with the money being saved."

A pink-slipped teacher who asked not to be named said teachers were shocked the district offered 3 percent to begin with.

"We didn't think we'd get that much. Frankly, we would have settled for less. When we asked how they were going to pay for it, we were told the district's response was, 'Let us worry about that.' Now it seems they're throwing it out and letting the community have a feeding frenzy off

Why the administration refuses to: discuss an early severance package is baffling when it did it last year, the teacher added. "Who cares, when we are in dire economic straits? It doesn't hurt the district. It saves money, and that's what the community wants to see. If we were able to work out a deal and get something back in return, then we would do it."

Board president Roland Thomas hedged when pressed on the subject by residents at Monday's board meeting. "We are constantly in negotiations," he said.

'That's a factor that needs to come in here," said district spokesman Richard Egli, "It's not as if we don't ever talk to one an-

"We are always ready to talk and would be glad to do so," agreed Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent for employee rela-

Egli said offering early retirement or severance isn't as cost effective when teachers are being laid off, as is the case this year. "It becomes less advantageous when you have people on layoff. The theory behind early retirement is that you're able to retire people at a higher pay level and hire people at a lower pay level. But when you have people still on layoff, it becomes less advantageous to (the) school district."

Teachers estimate that if 24 teachers retired early and were paid $10,000 a year for three years, it would reap at least $1.1 million, enough to cover the raise. More than 300 of the district's 751 teachers are at the top of the pay scale and eligible for early re-

"I think that's ($1 million estimate) probably a little high," said Goldman. "The plan we offered last year included a $30,000 cash payment spread out over 24 months. We'd have to come up with that cash to cover the same plan offered last year if the union were willing to accept it."

There is no specific proposal under discussion, but "we are willing to talk about anything to address that issue. We're ready to talk and I'm sure the association is too, once they're available," Goldman said.

Education association officials are at an out-of-state convention.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Children learn a lot helping you in kitchen

'm a self-professed cookbook freak. I have books on Russian cooking, South African cuisine, ice cream, holiday cooking, creative appetizers and a whole slew of children's cookbooks.

When it comes to cooking alongside children, I have come to realize that the old Betty Crocker cookbook that taught us how to turn French toast into smiley faces with blueberries and bananas just doesn't cut mustard. Have you ever watched a child paging through a cookbook to find the perfect accompaniment to fish sticks?

Learning by doing

Children learn by doing, and even though you might not think they're learning anything by opening a can of spaghetti, they are. They learn how to choose right pot to fit the burner, kitchen and fire safety, how to use utensils, and recycle by cooking just one little can of spaghetti.

Children can learn a lot helping in the kitchen. You might not realize it, but you incorporate math into cooking every time you count eggs for a cake. Too simple, you say? How about a lesson in fractions every time you mix one-quarter cup of sugar into three-quarters of a cup of flour?

Science lessons

The simple art of making bread can be a lesson in doubling (in bulk, as the dough rises). Speaking of dough, there's a lesson to be learned about how yeast interacts with flour and warm liquids to create a gas that causes the dough to rise.

A microwave oven and bag of popcorn can be the impetus to a whole lesson on how microwave energy works. Energy can be explored by explaining the difference between gas and electric stoves, microwave ovens and even incorporating propane grills and gas-fired camp stoves.

A personal favorite of mine is exploring the geographical aspects of cooking. What foods grow best where and why? Can anyone explain why the French call it a crepe, the Poles call it a polichinka, the Chinese call it an egg roll wrapper and the Greeks call it phyllo?

It might be a little thicker or thinner, and they all start with flour and a liquid and all end up getting rolled around some sort of food. They all, in essence, do the same thing and come from the same source.

My kids don't realize it, but they also learn a very important lesson in sanitation and food safety when they cook. This goes far beyond a simple hand washing.

The Janes Gang have found bugs in flour and seen the results of what happens when a little sugar is inadvertently spilled on the kitchen floor. What treasures lurk behind the stove or refrigerator and why is it necessary to pull them out every now and then to do a basic cleaning? Have you ever thought about what happens to a soggy dish towel when you leave it in the sink after an overnight excursion to Cedar Point?

Grocery shopping

These are just a few of the things that my kids learn when they're home during the summer helping me cook. I would bet that if you ask any parent who has ever taken a kid to the grocery store if the trip was educational, they would laugh in your face. Between the questions of "can I have?" and the "I wants," I send the children off searching for frozen grape juice and refried beans all the while knowing that I'm teaching them reading skills.

My soon-to-be-a-fourth-grader adores the game we play about finding out costs and comparison shopping between brands. She thinks it's fun; I think it's great that I'm saving money. My second-grader reads coupons and makes up the shopping lists. Even if "bred" is spelled without an "a," he's learning something.

Most important, I think my kids are getting some sort of understanding about just how much money it costs to go grocery shopping these days and why I get upset when the peanut butter is left uncovered or when the milk is left out of the refrigerator.

I think my outlook on getting kids involved in the kitchen is a little different than that of Betty Crocker. Anyone who has ever seen my kids knows that they love to eat as much as I do but instead of making smiley faces on French toast to make it fun to eat, my kids are learning those little lessons in life that will allow them to be self-sufficient as the years go by.

What it all boils down to folks is that if you get kids involved in the cooking process as a whole, they will learn to try different things simply because they're involved in the process.

My kids get as excited when they make a batch of tacos as they did when they learned how to tie their shoes. My only wish is that if you have kids, you will instill in them the importance of food and cooking. Bon Appetit!

■ Kick the junk food habit and develop a plan to snack smart. Substitute dried and fresh fruit, pretzels, popcorn and juice for candy, chips and pop.

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

There's nothing wrong with snacking. What's wrong are our choices — candy, cookies and ice cream. According to research conducted by Quaker Oats Co., Americans spend more than $31 billion on snack food compared to just over $16 billon on fruit. Candy takes the largest share of the snack food market (25.4 percent) with cookies and crackers coming in second (23.6 percent).

Snacks account for 18 percent of the day's total calories and 16 percent of the day's total fat intake for children. For active, growing teens, snacks can account for up to onefourth of the day's total calories.

Don't let your kids take a summer vacation from good nutrition, take advantage of the bounty of fresh fruits and vegetables to develop a snack smart plan.

Lisa Kay Allen noticed a big difference in her son, Andew, 6½, a student at Oakland Steiner School in Bloomfield Township, when she substituted dried fruits and fruit juice for candy and pop. "He's a calmer, happier boy," she said. "Give him a candy bar and he'll get real hyper."

Making the switch to more natural foods wasn't hard. "More grocery stores have healthy food sections," she said. "I find everything I need at the L & L Spartan Store at Adams and Wattles in Rochester Hills," she said.

Down-to-earth chef likes food that's real

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

You won't find any bottles of lemon juice or cans of apples on the shelves in the kitchen at Bonnie's Patisserie, 29229 Northwestern Highway, Southfield. Owner Bonnie Fishman is appalled by processed foods.

"I'm just really down to earth. I have old-fashioned values. I like food that's real. I've not cut any corners in 13 years. We bone our own turkeys, make our own stock, juice lemons, peel our own apples and garlic," Fishman said. "We buy direct and use the freshest, finest ingredients."

Trained at Cordon Bleu Cookery School in London, England, Fishman, who studied anthropology in college, has developed a successful business doing what she likes best: cooking and teaching others how to cook.

She packs a lot into her oasis on busy Northwestern Highway. It's not a big place. There are 16 seats inside and 12 outside, but the atmosphere is friendly and relaxing. Bonnie's borders a tree-lined, natural spring-fed brook. You can hear the stream babbling over the din of cars.

Customers come for the fresh, homemade soups, salads and sandwiches plus daily specials like Chicken Orange Salad, Szechwan Beef and Wild Rice and Turkey Salad, pastries, tarts, cookies and Fishman offers custom-catering and teaches cooking classes from mid-September to mid-May. "We do an amazing variety in a small place, and we have high standards," she said.

There's a mirror above the kitchen window so students in her cooking classes can see exactly what's she's doing. "I've been teaching for 15 years," she said. "I learn from my students and my students learn from me. The nicest compliment I ever received was, 'You inspired me to cook again.'

Her classes are informal and there's something for everyone. One class might be on low-fat cooking, another on chicken. "I test all my recipes," she said. "I get ideas usually when I'm driving. I'm like a chemist. I know what will work and what won't." Who taught you how to cook?

"My mom. She was an excellent cook; she was really before her time. Carolyn Haskin (former executive chef of the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham) was a great source of inspiration. She's a remarkable talent. She's not a snob. I met her at the Money Tree (in Detroit)."

Fishman lives in West Bloomfield. She is married to Robert Ketai and they have two children, Ben, 11, and Hanna, 6. Like her mother, Fishman said she involves her children in cooking. "Ben can cook any breakfast. My daughter has helped me since she was 2. Young children can scrub vegetables and shuck corn.

When did you decide to open your own busi-

"I cooked in high school, but everyone went to college so I did too. I studied anthropology because I liked it and worked at food places. After my junior year, I went to London and loved it. In the fall of my senior year, I went to Cordon Bleu. On the plane on the way home from Europe, I wrote in my journal, 'small pastry shop like in France.' I wanted to cater too." Fishman worked at a variety of restaurants and was general manager of the Money Tree in Detroit. She moved to the Bay area of California to sharpen her baking skills and moved back to the Detroit area after a year and a half. She was Bonnie's will be closed Monday-Tuesday, July 5-6, for summer vacation. She will reopen Wednesday, July 7. Call 357-4540.

Muesli is a popular snack in land Steiner School. Let your children grate the nuts and help you slice fruit.

MUESLI

2 cups regular rolled oats 2 cups cut fruit - your choice of strawberries, bananas, pears, apples, whatever is in segson.

2 cups vanilla soy milk

¼ cup honey ¼ cup grated nuts - almonds, pecans, walnuts, or hazelnuts

Stir ingredients together and let soak for 1/2 hour in refrigerator before serving.

This smoothie recipe is from Hills.

SMOOTHIE

1 frozen banana 1/3 cup blueberries 1/2 cup frozen chemies

11/2 teaspoons real vanilla extract

1/2 cup milk or plain yogurt 2 cups orange juice, grape or mixed berry juice

Put ingredients into a blender and blend. Sheffield said the frozen banana gives it a thick, icy flavor. Kids love it. For a different flavor, eliminate the milk or vogurt for a fruitier drink. Try diffrent combinations of fruit, kiwi fruit and strawberries, peaches and blueberries.

Put leftovers in an ice cube for an icy treat, or just put the cubes in a cup and let them thaw a little.

Oakland Steiner School learn a lot about nutrition. "People are what they eat. It affects learning." said Nancy Sheffield of Bloomneld Hills, whose daughter, Laura, 7 attends the school.

"We constantly serve unbuttered, unsalted popcorn. We try to serve foods that are as close to their natural state as possible. We make a lot of muffins and add seeds, nuts and dried fruits. Kids love them.'

Smoothies - a blended mixture of fruits, yogurt or milk and juice are a year-round favorite at the Sheffield house. Leftovers are poured into ice cube trays. Insert a toothpick and you've got a refreshing snack. Or just put the frozen smoothie cubes into a cup and wait for them to thaw a little.

Sheffield cautions parents to read labels. "Make sure you buy real fruit juice. Juice cocktails contain a little juice and a lot of

"I buy unsalted sunflower seeds, dried fruits and nuts in bulk and mix them together. It's a nutritionally complete snack," Sheffield said. "Unsalted pretzels and tortilla chips, and string cheese, are good snacks too."

Learning how to prepare snacks is part of the learning that goes on at the Oakland Steiner School, named after Rudolf Steiner who founded the Waldorf School movement in Europe. enced success with production of wines from grape varietals indigenous to France's Rhone Valley. About 10 years ago, the lead was taken by head "Rhone Ranger" Bonny Doon Vineyard's creative winemaker Randall Grahm. Today, in California, from northern Sonoma County south to Santa Barbara, winemakers have charted success on the course of Rhone varietal production and the Rhone Rangers are legion.

Among them is Michigan State University grad and St. Clair Shores native Doug Danielak, winemaker at Jade Mountain winery in northern Sonoma County. Danielak's ride into winemaking is circuitous, but interesting.

"My wife and I sort of hung out in Burgundy during our honey-moon in 1983," he said. Upon his return to the United States he sold wine for Detroit Metro area distributor Chip Delsener until the end of 1985 when he pulled up stakes to work and attend grapegrowing and winemaking school in Beaune, the heart of Burgundy. Fluency in French helped Danielak, although he was unable to land a job as winemaker for a Burgundy producer. Traditions FOCUS ON WINE ran too deep for this!

He returned to the U.S. in 1987 to work harvest at Saintsbury winery in California's Carneros region. In 1988, Jade Mountain winery needed a winemaker and Danielak was hired. In the last five years, he has engineered conversion of the winery's Cloverdale vineyards from riesling, sauvignon blanc and cabernet sauvignon to 31 acres of the Rhone varietals syrah, marsanne and a small percentage of mourvedre.

Jade Mountain's owner James Paras acquired a second property of 22 acres on Mount Veeder in Napa Valley and Danielak uprooted Bordeaux varieties and planted Rhone varietals - more syrah and mourvedre, plus viognier, grenache and cinsault.

Jade Mountain's first release of a Rhone-style wine was 1988, a varietal mourvedre made from purchased grapes. Today, Jade Mountain's wine portfolio includes a varietal mourvedre and syrah, two proprietary wines, La Provencale (a blend of Southern Rhone varietals and Les Jumeaux (a blend of cabernet sauvignon and mourvedre sourced from 60year-old vines). If your French isn't as strong as Danielak's, we'll explain that Les Jumeaux is translated as "the twins."

This innovation puts Jade Mountain in the annals of California wine history and gives California red blends a new definition. Danielak explains the

"When California cabernet sauvignon is picked at prime ripeness, it's lush, delicious and chocolatey," he says. "In Les Jumeaux, I try to express full cabernet sauvignon flavors with mourvedre softening the tannic impression." It works, because this wine is absolutely delicious.

Tasting Jade Mountain

Jade Mountain's production is miniscule compared to that of the industry's giants. They may not be available in every wine shop, but they are definitely worth searching out.

Jade Mountain Grenache ($10) is not made each year. The current release was made from a blend of 1990 California and Washington State grapes. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms regulations require that as such, it must be labeled "American" and may not be vintage dated. It is a perfect summer barbecue or picnic wine.

1991 La Provencale ($13), a blend of syrah, mourvedre, grenache and carignane, sports solid fruit and is delicious, full and round with a powerful finish. 1990 Les jumeaux ($13) has the distinct aroma of mourvedre with complementary peppery spice and black truffles making it complementary to red meat and heartier dishes.

Two versions of the 1990 Mourvedre ($14) are available. One was filtered and the other was not. The label indicates the difference and they are slightly dissimilar when tasted.

Our preference is the unfiltered, which seems to showcase each characteristic of the 60 to 120Wine Selections of the Week 1991 Quivira Zinfandel, Dry Creek Valley ($13.25). A delicious rendition of an all-American wine with harmonized ripe berries, pepper, spice and fragrant oak.

1991 Merryvale Reserve

Chardonnay ($25). Lobster, smoked trout and grilled salmon are the suggested accom-paniments for this Burgundylike chardonnay boasting solid fruit, oak and buttery elements.

■ 1990 Pine Ridge Selected Cuvee Merlot ($15). A mixed grill of fish, eggplant, roasted peppers, lamb and game would nicely complement this powerpacked merlot.

■ 1990 Pine Ridge Rutherford Cuvee Cabernet Sauvignon ($15) carries an earthy black current and great fruit extraction in an ageable style. Three Monticello wines impressed us with their flavor and value. The 1991 Monti-cello Chardonnay, Napa Val-ley ($15) shows exuberant pear, apple and mango fruit in a wine where the barrel fermentation character comple-ments rather than hides the fruit expression. For those who prefer toasty, vanilla-oak and a touch of butter along with fruit, the 1990 Monticello Coriey Reserve Chardonnay ($17.50) is the correct selec-tion. 1989 Monticello Cabernet Sauvignon, Napa Valley ($14) is highlighted by blackberry, bright cherry, spice, and oak with a fair amount of tan-year-old vines more intensely. 1990 Syrah ($22.50) is a big wine not intended for the faint hearted. Complex and concentrated, it ranks at the very top of California-produced Rhone-styled

"It holds the structure and promise of cabernet sauvignon, but shows fruit nuances found only in pinot noir," Danielak said.

Bean and noodle toss easy, make ahead dish

AP - When many of us are trying to eat healthier and spend less time in the kitchen, getting a well-balanced meal on the table can be a challenge.

To add nutrition and convenience to summer menus, expand your repertoire of lower-fat side dish salads - ones that can be made ahead to pair with hot weather favorites like grilled foods and sandwiches.

Chilled Honey Vinaigrette Bean and Noodle Toss starts with No Yolks cholesterol-free noodles combined with kidney beans, garbanzo beans, peas, baby corn, red bell pepper and onion. The flavorful honey-Dijon mustard dressing calls for a minimal amount of oil. And, best of all, this healthy and zesty version of the picnic classic is quick to prepare and actually tastes better when it's made ahead so the flavors have time to develop and blend.

Potato pancakes, tacos Janes Gang favorites

See Chef Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

The following recipes are personal favorites of the Janes Gang kids and will surely be a favorite in your house, too.

- POTATO PANCAKES 2 cups fresh grated potatoes (about 4 medium)
- 11/2 tablespoons all-purpose flour 11/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 carrots, grated 1 small onion, grated
- 4 tablespoons oil

In a medium bowl, combine potatoes with flour, salt, grated carrots and onion. Mix well. In a large skillet, heat oil until hot. Using a spoon, drop about 1/4 cup of potato mixture into a mound in the skillet. Repeat with remaining mixture.

Lower heat to medium and with the back of a spatula, flatten the potato pancakes. Cook, over medium heat for 3 minutes. Flip and continue cooking for 4 minutes. Cover and reduce heat to a simmer. Cook for 5 minutes.

Serve with apple sauce, if desired. Makes about 4 good sized pancakes.

Most kids think that taco's are made by mixing a seasoning packet with a pound of hamburger. Try this recipe the next time the kids request taco's.

HOMEMADE TACOS

- 1 small onion, finely chopped 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup tomato sauce 3 peeled and minced green
- chilies (not jalapeno's) 1 cup cooked chicken or pork sausage or ground turkey meat
- 1/18 teaspoon thyme 1/s teaspoon garlic powder
- ¼ teaspoon cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

dash cayenne pepper

In a saucepan, cook onion in butter till golden. Combine remaining ingredients and lower heat to a simmer and cook for 5 minutes.

Heat taco shells or tortillas in the oven for 5 minutes. Stuff with meat mixture and top with cheese and lettuce, if desired.

Chef's secret: My kids aren't big onion lovers so I put the onion and green chilies in a blender or processor and process until smooth and then proceed with the cooking so that they never even see those bits and pieces in there!

Our carriers do a mammoth job.

This year when they visited the zoo with their families, they found out just how big "mammoth" can be.

Our annual carrier night at the Detroit Zoo included all the great regular stuff--- Moslem Highland Shriners and their lady clown unit, train rides, elephants, baboons, and all the other zoo regulars- plus the dinosaurs and wooly mammoths that are visiting the zoo this year.

This special evening is just one way we let our carriers know how important they are. These young people must make sure your hometown newspaper arrives every Monday and Thursday. They know they must also keep track of their route, handle collections, and treat their customers in a businesslike manner.

We try and make it fun and interesting with contests, prizes and awards.

If you know a young person who would like to join our carrier crowd, call us at one of the numbers below.

Dawn's sporting a lively colored cotton hat ($50) and matching tote ($65) hand-woven by native crafters. (It's also sold in Robert Redford's Sundance catalog).

The gallery also sells Guatamelan-made rugs, blankets, clothes and jewelry as well as wares by local artists. The denim shorts come from a Chicago designer.

Gardening fans can create drama at home with indoor planters from Sorried's new Picket Fence collection. Since unpredictable weather is the norm around the Detroit metropolitan area, why not bring summer flora inside?

The roomy Picket Fence planter ($79) comes in a white washed finish. There's also a matching cocktail table, end table and pedestal. Sold at Scott Shuptrine Furniture of Troy, Bloomfield Hills and Novi.

Dinosaur Jr., Primus join Lollapalooza

■ You won't find Dinosaur Jr. watching "Jurassic Park." This group has more important things to do. And ditto for Primus. The two bands are among the groups that are traversing the country with the Lollapalooza Festival.

Dinosaur Jr. guitarist Murph never paid much attention to the Lollapalooza Festival. This year his band is one of the main stage "big buzz" groups of the festival, which comes to the Milan Dagway in A ilan Friday.

I' was one of those things that Mi'v auverused and I never take MTV very seriously," Murph said during a Lollapalooza stop in San Francisco.

Only a few gigs into the tour, it hasn't really hit him that he's playing something he never much cared for in the past.

"I'm not really aware that I'm playing Lollapalooza; I don't hang out in the village or anything," he said. "I'm more aware of playing in the summer, in the daylight, of only having 45 minutes. It's really easy."

It's easy compared to the twomonth headlining tour the group did earlier this year to promote its fifth album "Where You Been?" (The Dinosaur Jr.'s April 7 show at Detroit's St. Andrew's Hall sold out in a few days.) The promotion also got tiring - especially the recent Spin magazine cover which declared lead singer J Mascis "God.

'I thought it was really lame," he said. "I also think it's not our doing. It's a sign of the times and the media. I'm down on the whole MTV and media thing. That just rein-

"But if people are lame enough to believe it . . . If they think J is God, then they're totally lost."

Although he's a

Against The Machine), Primus, and the Babes (in Toyland) are pretty good.

As for Primus, he gets a kick out of the behavior of that band's devout fans.

"It's been insane everywhere. I'm into that kind of stuff.'

Primus is touring with Lollapalooza to promote its latest release "Pork Soda," which once again incorporates Les Claypool's off-thewall vocals and unorthodox 'bass playing.

"It's just a record of a bunch of noise," explained Lalonde who, like the rest of the hand, is obsessed with fishing. Ironically, in the band's formative years, it almost went without Claypool. He auditioned for Metallica.

"Kirk (Hammett, Metallica's guitarist) was a friend of his from high school. They auditioned tons of people. His (Claypool's) hair was about an inch long and it was orange. I don't think he was anything near what they were looking for, Lalonde explained with a laugh.

But despite Claypool's reputaion. Lalonde doesn't see a lot of strangeness in his bandmate. "Les? Nah, he's a normal guy . . .

to me he is." Aside from the mainstage acts which also include Rage Against the Machine, Babes in Toyland, Front 242, Arrested Development, and Alice in Chains - the music will also include bands on the side stage. So far Tool, whose hit "Sober" gets airplay on CIMX 89X, along with Un-

The second stage will feature Tool, Unrest, Royal Trux, and Paul K and the Weathermen.

The all-day festival also offers concert-goers the chance to experience a wide variety of interactive art and music, and sample an array of ethnic food, including Cajun, Jamaican and Greek cuisine.

Participants can also have their fortunes told by a bones reader, witness adult puppet shows, and watch original Hopi silverware being made. "We get to play the main stage and side stage," said drummer Danny Carey.

The band will play the main stage when Babes in Toyland drops off the tour on July 15. That opportunity was enough to convince the band, Jones of Scottville, to turn down tours with Depeche Mode, Def Leppard and Guns 'N Roses.

"We want to be true to our fans," said Carey, a veteran of Green Jelly and Carole King's band. "We thought it would be a slap in the face to those who move in the underground scene. We thought, 'Why prostitute yourself?'

For the most part, the band is pleased with Lollapalooza.

"It totally feels justified. It's perfect for our band.

Sweet shows a moodier side with his new 'Altered Beast'

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER

After the phenomenal success of Matthew Sweet's 1991 album "Girlfriend," he vowed that his next release would not be "Girlfriend II." So with his new album "Altered Beast" he ditched the cartoon videos and the quirky pop songs and instead made it 'trashier.

"It's a faster, trashier 'Girlfriend,' " Sweet said.

Many reviews have called "Altered Beast" - which includes guest appearances by Mick Fleetwood, Television's Richard Lloyd and Big Star's Jody Stephens - "moody" or "darker" than previous albums. Sweet, who performs Monday at the Michigan Tastefest, said it's all in the way one thinks.

"It's all-how you perceive it. I think of it as being humorous as well," he said.

As for videos, this time around Sweet is sharing his love of classic

"It's a huge car chase," said Sweet about the first video "Ugly Truth Rock." "(For videos) I use cars, cartoons, stuff I'm into. It makes making videos more bearable.

Sweet is doing a few United States dates to promote "Altered Beast," which won't be released until mid-July. Even though fans can't get the album, single or video, they'll hear a lot of "Altered Beast" at his show.

"I'll play a few songs (off of 'Girlfriend') - about four or five," said Sweet while rehearsing for the tour.

The album's already been released in Europe where he'll head after his short U.S. tour. He'll tour the United States again in the fall.

Matthew Sweet plays at 5 p.m. Monday on the Michigan Tastefest's Stroh main stage at the Fisher Building parking lot. Call 872-0188 for

'Speed Racer Show' races into the Magic Bag Theater

BY JOHN MONAGHAN SPECIAL WRITER

He's more than just a badly anmated memory from the late '60s. 'Speed Racer's" cult status, most alive in TV-aholics age 25-35, roars into the Magic Bag Theatre on July 9-10 with three original half-hour episodes compiled by 'Speed" freak Jerry Beck.

The brainchild of comic book artist Tatsuo Yoshida, Speed and his Mach 5 debuted on Japanese television in April 1967. The 52 episodes, syndicated stateside by Frans-Lux Productions, went underground in the late '70s when stricter standards for children's programming objected to the show's violence.

Beck, who distributes vintage and current Japanimation through California-based Streamline Pictures, tracked down the original 35mm negatives for "The Speed Racer Show." He notes that "it's still the same animation that you see on TV, but it's really crisp and clear and looks like it was shot yesterday."

"The Car Hater" and the twopart "Race Against the Mammoth Car" made it into this compilation because, according to Beck, 'we showed episodes to groups in L.A. and 'Car Hater' got the best audience response. It also has an explanation of all the gimmicks of the Mach 5."

Special buttons on the steering wheel enable Speed to leap over obstacles (with the help of "autojacks") or to engage special "belt tires" to grip steep terrain at top speeds. Rotating sawblades unfold to cut down heavy off-road brush and trees while a watertight transparent canopy protects him from bullets.

"Mammoth Car," perhaps the best-remembered of the original episodes, features mysterious Racer X, the black-clad rival driver who helps Speed out of sticky situations. TV viewers know that he is really Rex Racer, Speed's brother, who left home years ago after arguing with their dad, Pops.

The program also unearths The Treacherous Pirate," a Colonel Bleep short from 1956. The cartoons, produced in Miami, Fla., were the first made for television in color.

"It's an obscure cartoon show that I really love," says Beck. "So does the creator of 'Ren and Stimpy,' John K, who says it's one of his major influences in terms of style. It's an offbeat story about a space character with that '50s future look that's so cool and campy Vintage kid commercials appear between cartoons. Rocky and Bullwinkle peddle a long-lost cereal called Sugar Jets. Casper the Ghost lectures about traffic safety, an odd concept according to eck, because "basically you have this dead kid telling you how to cross the street.'

What keeps the "Speed" cartoons so popular?

"I can't quite figure it out," says Beck. "I think because it was off the air for such a long time that a lot of kids from that time have fond memories of it today."

People's perceptions of antidepressants as happy pills, people's fears of chemical imbalance and depression really are issues that need to be addressed. The prejudice that they show against something that they don't know because

Your message educates, thereby fostering tolerance and understanding. This combination of anti-depressant medication and psychotherapy which has worked for you also has been effective in treating many depressions.

For readers who may not be familiar with the medication, Zoloft is a derivative of Prozac, both of which are anti-depressant medications. Year of Comet:' As good as fine wine mer associate to find out where

BY LEANNE ROGERS STAFF WRITER

You don't need to be a connoisseur of fine wines to appreciate the romantic comedy "Year of the Comet" which ostensively is about efforts to keep hold of a $1 million bottle of wine.

Penelope Ann Miller plays young woman who knows a great deal about wine, a subject that excites her tremendously. She dreams of working with collections of rare vintages but instead is stuck with pouring and cleaning up at wine tastings for her father's London wine business.

After a bit of struggle with her father and lumpen half-brother, Miller is sent off on the relatively simple task of cataloging the wine cellar at a Scottish estate. The job gets a bit more complicated, however, after she finds the rare bottle in the dirty cellar.

Naturally, the kindly looking landlady listens in on Miller's call home and finds out about the wine. The old lady sends her thug son to take the wine with on eye on a comfortable retirement.

Then there is the bunch who are holed up inside the supposedempty mansion. Veteran French actor Louis Jourdan answers the door in a butler's rig but that's only an interruption from his main focus - torturing a for-ick Davis, former 10-year captain of the United States National Soccer Team, will host the Chiquita Soccer Challenge from noon to 3 p.m. Saturday during the MSYSA Ford Wolverine Soccer Tournament at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Davis is a top national authority on a wide range of U.S. soccer development subjects, including the improved caliber of the U.S. World Cup Team, the roles of the U.S. as host to the 1994 World Cup and the nationwide grass-roots explosion of the sport at the youth level. Davis also hosted the Chiquita Challenge in 1991.

The Chiquita Challenge is a comprehensive test of soccer skills combining ball control, dribbling, passing and shooting elements into a single training course, and is open to all youngsters ages 6-14. Information for the Chiquita Challenge is available at Soccer Corner, Soccer Locker and all participating Meijer stores in the Greater Detroit Completed sign-up forms should be brought to the Chiquita tent between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Saturday at Schoolcraft College to insure participation.

Vardar soccer champs

he Vardar III Under-16 boys soccer team won last month's Region II soccer championship in Springfield, Mo., with a 1-0 win over Ohio South in the final. Vardar scored the only goal in the second half despite playing short a man due to two yellow-card infractions.

Jim Weber's goal off a corner kick with 20 minutes remaining was the lone score. Goalkeeper Alex Garn made a key save in the second half on a penalty shot.

Defenders Brian Collier, Jason Howard and Justin Marshall helped preserve the shutout. Garn was the MVP for the championship game.

Vardar III advanced to the final after beating Pegasus, the Illinois state champion, 2-0, as Dan Savich and Jeff Fliss were credited with the goals. Vardar III also beat a team from Kansas (4-1), Ohio North (3-2) and Iowa (2-1) in qualifying Vardar III will play for the national championship July 21-25, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Members of the team are Jeff Babinski, Collier, Paul Dood, Fliss, Garn, Doug Harriman, Howard, Michael Kley, Marshall, Brandon Moggio, Fred Olson, Savich, Steve Tramontin, Bryon Turpin. Weber. Budget cuts eliminate school's soul survive.

Those skilled with scalpel will be there to slice up society - the doctors, lawyers, accountants, etc.

But who will guide them? From where will the judgment come? Who will tell them where to cut, and when?

More importantly, who will tell them not to?

When school boards decide science and math are more important than developing social skills, they are misguided. But it will forever be that way; no one will argue to keep the marching band instead of chemistry. Even those who back the band wouldn't.

They want both, not one over the other.

When backed into a corner and forced to choose, academics always wins. But when you sever a school's extracurricular activities, you cut away its heart, its soul. The fiber that bonds a school goes with any such amputation.

The classes that teach kids the composition of a cell and the capital of Bangladesh and how to determine square roots will be intact. But the places where a kid can learn how to use those skills will be missing.

At Monday's Plymouth-Canton school board meeting at Salem HS, University of Michigan football coach Gary Moeller put it in terms everyone can identify.

"We have the greatest anti-drug tool around," he told a crowd estimated at well over 2,000. "If the federal government invested all those millions and millions of dollars in extracurricular activities . . .

The Plymouth-Canton district is one of many facing major budget cuts. It is one of many searching for a solu-

What will happen?

While the problem - no money is the same in many districts, the possible solutions are numerous. In the Observerland area, the Farmington and Garden City districts are in-tact, for now. Garden City ensured that prep sports will be around in the fall by passing its millage last month.

But its position remains tenuous. "Hopefully, we'll have all of our sports and everything will be the same as last year," said Garden City HS athletic director Bob Dropp. "Hopefully, it bought us a little time to allow the state to come up with a formula."

The state. Since Proposal A fell in the last election, school districts have been scrambling to find short-term funding. A year's worth, that's all,

The Redford district has just such a solution in place. Forced to reduce the budget by $3.5 million, the extracurricular activities funds were

But the programs were not lost. A combination of fund-raising efforts, pay-to-participate and budget cuts has saved them. Students will pay $50 to participate in as many activities as they wish, with a maximum of $100 per family for each school.

You can hear the questions already:

Why don't they do that every year?

The answer, courtesy of RU's athletic director, Jim Gibbons: "There's no way. It's really hard . . . we could do this for two years, maybe. And the (fund-raising) well's going to dry up sometime because everyone's doing it.

"Something's got to give. We've got to start putting the kids first."

Uncertain status

Like Plymouth-Canton, the Livonia and Wayne-Westland districts don't know their futures. Plymouth-Canton did agree to another millage proposal August 17; if it fails, say goodbye to extracurricular activities. No pay-to-participate plan is currently in the works.

In Wayne-Westland, a task force is being formed by the school board to study several plans, one of which includes complete funding by outside sources of school sports in the future. With two new board members just taking office, nothing is moving quickly. Another millage proposal is almost certain, but it may not come t was another benchmark year for Observerland baseball teams. The 1993 campaign marked the final season for Garden City coach Bob Dropp, who retired after 28 seasons. Dropp compiled an overall record of 406-227. His 1993 team reached the 20-win plateau for the first time in his career.

Westland John Glenn finished 27-5 overall, reaching the state Class A semifinals for the second consecutive year, the third appearance for coach Norm Hoenes. The Rockets also won the Lakes Division title in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Other area league champions included Plymouth Canton (WLAA playoff and Western Division), Redford Catholic Central (Central Division/Catholic League), Redford Thurston (Tri-River) and Redford Union (Northwest Suburban).

District champions included John Glenn, CC, Plymouth Salem, RU, Thurston (Class B) and Livonia Clarenceville (Class C).

RU, under the leadership of cocoaches of the year Rick Berryman and Shawn McGowan, was one of the area's biggest surprises in 1993.

The Panthers finished 20-15 overall before losing to Class A semifinalist Rochester Adams, 1-0, in the regional.

The future looks bright for RU, which returns 13 of 18 players, including its top three pitchers.

Berryman credits his staff, which also includes wife June and Barrie Lincourt.

"She (June) is the team's statistician, scorekeeper, batting coach and bench disciplinarian and self-proclaimed Mother Theresa," said Rick Berryman, who played baseball at Eastern Michigan under Ron Oestrike from 1966-69. "The four work well together as a team. We couldn't do it without them."

Berryman, a 22-year employee of the RU school district, teaches in self-contained learning disabilities. McGowan, a University of Michigan and Birmingham Brother Rice High product, has been the school's head football coach and physical education/computer teacher for four years.

Introducing the 1993 All-Area Baseball team as selected by the Observer sports staff:

Aaron Scheffer, pitcher/infielder, Westland Glenn: The senior, who is reportedly leaning toward Henry Ford Community College, is the only repeat performer on this year's first-team. He won a total of 20 games for the Rockets in three years.

The right-handed pitcher went 8-2 this season with a 1.29 earned run average. He struck out 79 and walked only 14 in 73 innings, allowing just 13 earned runs.

When the all-Western Lakes Activities Association pick wasn't pitching, he played the infield (first or second base) Scheffer batted .495 (51 for 103) with eight doubles and 25 RBI. He scored 30 runs. "Aaron could play a lot of places and is an excellent fielder with a good feel for the game," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said. "He pitched in all the tough games. We're really going to miss him.

Mark Rutherford, pitcher/infielder, Liv. Churchill: The senior right-hander, headed for Eastern Michigan University, was voted East Team MVP in the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association All-Star Game at Tiger Stadium.

Rutherford started all four years for the Chargers, winning 13 games with 149 career strikeouts. This season, Rutherford finished 6-2 with an ERA of 0.79. He struck out 63 in 53 innings and walked only 13.

Offensively, the All-WLAA pick batted .350

(21 for 60) with 18 runs scored. He struck out

Rutherford also showed his versatility by playing all four infield positions as well as cen-"Mark is so solid all the way around,"

Churchill coach Herb Osterland said. "He can do so many things. He bunts and runs, even hits left-handed. He's very easy to coach. I can't say enough good things about him."

Brian Paluk, pitcher/outfielder, Redford CC: The 6-foot-5 senior right-hander became the ace of Catholic Central's staff. Paluk, drafted by the Kansas City Royals in the 51st round, finished 10-3 his senior year with an ERA of 1.30. He struck out 109 in 80% innings, giving up only 15 earned runs and 29 walks. The first-team All-Catholic pick also played the outfield, batting .275 in the fifth spot. "It's a surprise for somebody his size to be that well-coordinated," CC coach John Salter

Paluk will play basketball and baseball at Saginaw Valley State. 'Brian's a good athlete, and he'll do well in college," Salter said. "He came on his senior year, and I'm pleased with his season. He's a good two-sport athlete who will do well in col-

Walter's kicks up heels in college league

Walter's Appliance is alive and kicking in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League. Last year's All-American Amateur Baseball Association runnerup and LCBL playoff champs got off the deck Wednesday, sweeping a double-header at Livonia's Ford Field.

Fighting for the fourth and final playoff berth, Walter's swept Wendy's in the opener, 3-1, and first-place Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury in the nightcap, 5-3.

Matt Hansen's two-out, two-run single in the top of the seventh gave Walter's (8-13) the victory in the

Jim Solak, who worked the first six innings, allowing five hits and one walk, was the winning pitcher. Ryan Grabetz pitched the final inning to gain the save. Grabetz, from Madonna University, was also the hero in the nightcap, delivering a clutch two-run single in the seventh and pitching the final 1% innings to beat Hines Park.

"It was his day," Walter's coach Mike Keller said.

Mike Zielinski, the Walter's starter, gave up two hits in 51/s innings before giving way to Grabetz.

Jeff Paluk (6-2) was the losing pitcher in relief for Hines Park. Chris Kirkey, the starter, worked

He was roughed up for three runs in the opening inning, two coming on a single by Chuck Coleman.

Tom Davey came on to pitch two innings and Paluk finished up.

Hines Park falls to 17-3-1.

The league leaders have slumped a bit of late, losing three and tying one in their last five outings.

He is the son of former New York Yankees and Kansas City A's pitcher Bill Stafford, who pitched in two World Series.

Defensively, Stafford made only one er-ror (.958 fielding percentage). As a pitcher, the Canton lefty went 6-1 with an 0.30 ERA. He struck out 47 in 47 innings, allowing only four walks and two earned runs. 'Mike is the finest first baseman ever to play at Canton High School," coach Mark LaPointe said, "He's one of the most coachable players to work with.

"I've been around every Canton team but one, and he's in a class with Brian Stemberger, Scott Collins, John Young and Scott Kennedy. He's the best I've coached in any sport and I think he can play major league baseball some day because he's going to get bigger and

Jeff Lance, outfleider/pitcher, Red. Thurston: The lunior was named secondteam All-State (Class B) by the MHSBCA. He started the season at shortstop, but moved to the outfield after breaking his nose.

Lance hit .411 (39 for 95) with five homers, 11 doubles and 22 RBI. He scored 33 runs and stole 17 of 17 bases. The first-team All-Tri-River selection was the team's lead-off batter.

As a right-handed pitcher, Lance finished with an 8-3 won-lost record and a ERA of 1.46. He struck out 74 in 72 innings, while walking 35.

Lance was also a first-team All-Observer Dick as a wide receiver in football.

Bryan Beage, pitcher/DH, Westland Glenn: The junior left-hander was a force on the mound for the Rockets, finishing with an 8-2 mark with a 1.60 ERA. In 681/s innings, Besco struck out 95 batters and walked only 20.

Bryan's got very good pop on the ball," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said. "He also had a very good strikeout-towalk ratio. He was really an outstanding pitcher, a real competitor who is just going to get better because he's such a good athlete.

As a designated hitter, the All-WLAA choice also hit .337 (28 for 83) with four homers, seven doubles, 23 RBI and 27 runs scored. He also walked 18 times. Besco was also a first-team All-Area selection in football.

Derek Besco, Infleider, Westland Glenn: The junior shortstop made it double trouble for opponents with his power from the right side, hitting .382 (34 for 89) with six homers, three triples, nine doubles and 30 RBI. He also scored 39

Like his twin brother Bryan, Derek was voted first-team All-WLAA.

"He just has a tremendous arm at shortstop," Hoenes said. "Both he and Bryan are fine athletes. Both will be real catalysts for our team next year. Derek will probably pitch next year as a starter." Derek, who plays outside linebacker on Glenn's football team, was also first-team All-Observer selection. Billy Bell, outfleider, Garden City: The senior left fielder was the Cougars' second leading hitter, sporting an impressive .414 average (41 for 99) with a team-high 32 RBI. He also scored a team-high 27 runs and led all GC players with 63 total bases. Billy hit the ball well and hit with power consistently throughout the year," GC coach Bob Dropp said.

The All-Northwest Suburban League pick only committed one error all season. He threw seven runners out at second base, and one each at third and home plate.

'They tried challenging his arm for the extra base hit; he was very good defensively," Dropp said. Bell is undecided where he'll play next

"Charlie was always satisfied with the base hit, not the power stats. He understands what he can do and does it well." Defensively, Gravlin said Winstel "was smooth around the bag."

He made only two errors all season with a .977 fielding average.

Vaughn Orluski, catcher, Red. Thurston: The senior catcher batted third in the Eagles' lineup where he hit .367 (33 for 90) with four homers and 26 RBI en route to All-Tri-River League accolades.

He was one reason why Thurston won 19 games. The Eagles also captured the Tri-River League and Class B district championship titles before losing in the regional final to Harper Woods Notre Dame.

until October. A return to pay-toparticipate is also under scrutiny. Livonia, according to Stevenson AD Roger Frayer, is considering three options: pay-to-participate; ask for a millage specifically aimed at extracurricular activities; or cancellation. With a millage proposal already nixed once by the school board, the pay-to-participate option seems the only recourse. But with no financial support at all from the school district, Frayer estimated the cost per student - which was $140 last year could more than triple. "If there is no funding, I doubt enough parents would pay $450 per kid per sport for us to field any teams," said Frayer.

"People don't believe Livonia is in these dire straits, but we are. We really are.'

Consequences

So, apparently, are a lot of people. By next fall, the Western Lakes Activities Association could be down to six teams, instead of 12. The new Mega Conference, a 22-school behemoth, could shrink by seven before the first football is tossed. Even schools that retain sports could face massive scheduling problems due to cancellations.

"I can't imagine not having athletics or activities in Livonia," said Frayer. "But it might happen.

How can it be avoided? A bit of understanding could help. The cost a lot. Untrue - estimates from school sources estimate that 50 percent of the student body takes part in some extracurricular activity. The cost: Less than one percent of the schools' operating budget. Indeed, most systems don't come close to one percent. Here's another possible solu-tion: Use the Garden City method of getting a millage passed. A common complaint among voters who turn down millages has nothing to do with the expense of extracurricular programs; rather,

Redford teachers have refused to defer their pay raises, but Plymouth-Canton, Livonia and Wayne-Westland teachers reportedly have not been formally asked about possible adjustments in their contracts.

Again, this would be a shortterm solution. And while fundraising can be a vital supplement, it couldn't be the sole source of income - not if every school was doing the same thing.

takes a bit of planning. Like you'll want to decide what to self and how much to charge for each item ... and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging. And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

P.S. When you place your garage sale ad, you're entitled to a free garage sale kit containing two signs, an inventory sheet, tips for a successful sale, sale tags and stickers. Just pick up your free garage sale kit in our office when you place your ad!

Buying a Used Car Can Be Risky.

Blackwell Ford can help minimize the risk you take when purchasing a used vehicle. Every used vehicle sold by Blackwell Ford undergoes extensive reconditioning and safety inspection before it is offered for sale. If the vehicle does not meet our high standards, it will never be displayed on our lot. In the unlikely event that something does go wrong with your vehicle during the first 30 days or 2,000 miles, whichever occurs first, we will stand behind it 100% and repair it free of charge, it's that simple. We offer new car peace mind with your used vehicle purchase. Stop it today to see our large selection of quality used vehicles, all priced to sell. And please remember...

"If You Don't Know Used Cars, Know Your Dealer."

Fox's 'Danger Theatre' not for all tastes... and proud of it

By Carl Spinks

James Thurber once wrote a story about his favorite party pastime, a word game called Ghosts. His wife, however, did not share Thurber's giddy enthusiasm for the game, he noted, and "wished it were in hell with Knock, Knock, Who's There?"

It's hard to find a clear consensus on anything. From traditionally taboo topics such as politics and religion to unexpected hornets' nests like fantasy Super Bowls and "Well, I wouldn't call that green in a million years," only one bet is safe: people will disagree.

Television is no exception. Even though producers do costly research to find the lowest common denominators and safest (i.e., blandest) on-camera personalities, likes and dislikes on television are hotly debated. Want to polarize a party? Lament the passing of "Twin Peaks." Longing to irritate a newshound? Opine that venerable David Brinkley doesn't know Bosnia from Bosco, then stand back and let the games begin.

Now careening into the fray is Fox's new "Danger Theatre," premiering Sunday, July 11, and this one's sure to register high on the argument meter

Some will see it as a vigorous spoof of bygone cop/adventure/dogooder shows such as "Knight Rider" and "Hawaii Five-O." programs filled with square-jawed heroes, beady-eyed villains and deathless dialogue such as "Not so fast, pal!" and "Book him!" Detractors, however, will quickly peg the series as just another dumb sitcom, indistinguishable from, or even worse than the shows it aims to parody.

Robert Vaughn ("The Man From U.N.C.L.E.," "Superman III") brings his usual stolid, gray-at-the-temples authority to his duties as host of the series. Each week. Vaughn babbles ominously about the mean streets of contemporary America, the hooded gunmen lurking at every door and the helpless plight of peace-loving citizens scared to death by the may hem they see around them. He also makes periodic gaffes, such as solemnly intoning "crimes of fashion" for "crimes of passion" (a cue-card error), or eagerly inquiring about the post-show party when the episode is only half over.

Vaughn's gloomy pronouncements serve as introductions for each week's installments of two miniature series: First up is "The Searcher." starring Diedrich Bader as the leather-clad, motorcycleriding title character. Endowed with an impossibly deep, gravelly voice and a clumsiness normally reserved for animated characters, our hero stumbles through his macho paces, more or less saving the day but never getting the girl.

"Tropical Punch," the second of the show's recurring story lines, stars Adam West ("Batman") as stumbling, stout-hearted Mike Morgan, a captain on the police force of a crime-ridden Hawaiian city. Aided by his assistants, Detective Tom McCormick (sort of a blow-dried Barney Fife, played by Billy Morrissette), and rotund Al

Hamoki (Peter Navy Tujasosopo). Morgan blusters his way through solving crimes, relentlessly drawing his gun and spouting an endless litany of tough-guy nonsense. These guys make "Police Squad" look like

"Danger Theatre" is the brainchild of director Penelope Spheeris ("Wayne's World," the upcoming "Beverly Hillbillies") and Robert Wolterstorff of "Quantum Leap." Besides her duties as executive producer, Spheeris also directs several episodes.

So what's the verdict on "Danger Theater?" Is it a keen-eyed, ontarget spoof of by-the-numbers action shows, or a numbing halfhour of real stupidity, a no-brainer that makes "Mannix" seem like "Masterpiece Theatre?"

Here's the rub: it's both. For fans of "Airplane" and the "Hot Shots" movies the show will likely be a pallid but pleasing imitation. But viewers more inclined to PBS than "Police Squad" will find themselves quickly scurrying to another channel.

NBC hits the beach for AVP volleyball tour BY MICHAEL SCOGIN

Can't make it to the beach this sum mer? It may be little consolation, but NBC brings the sights and sounds of the surf and the sand into living rooms across the nation when it presents coverage of the Association of Volleyball Professionals Pro Beach Volleyball tour on Sunday. July 4.

The tour stops in Manhattan Beach. Calif., for the Killer Loop tourney Former U.S. Olympians Chris Marlowe and Paul Sunderland handle the play-by-play and color analysis for NBC

NBC's coverage is part of this year's expanded schedule of AVP telecasts. NBC will travel to Hermosa Beach. Calif., for the U.S. Championships on Saturday, Aug. 28, and Sunday, Aug. 29, and then it's on to Cincinnati for the Tournament of Champions on Saturday, Sept. 4

646-2035

NBC will break new ground on Saturday. July 31. from Milwaukee. Wis., when it presents the first live network coverage of a women's pro beach volleyball event.

"Everything about the AVP is growing," says Jon Miller, NBC Sports' vice president of program planning and development. "Interest among spectators, advertisers and participants is at an all-time high. Our interest in the fastest-growing sport in America is increasing, and that is reflected in NBC's commitment to the sport

SOAP WORLD

A vear of success for Linda Dano

BY CANDACE HAVENS

It has been a busy year for Linda Dano She turned 50, had a front-burner story line as Felicia on "Another World," launched her new accessory line and question-and-answer segment on cable shopping network OVC, and stopped along the way to pick up the Emmy for Outstanding Lead Actress

Dano is not one to rest on her laurely and accolades; actually, she is not one to rest at all. She is perpetually busy and lives by the popular motto "Just Do It"

"I think if I stopped long enough to think about everything I'm doing. I'd only worry, and then I wouldn't get anything accomplished," says Dano [1 remember when I was a kid and my mom would say. 'If you want something done, give it to someone who is busy.' If you have a million things to do you find a way, but if you only have one thing to do you drag your feet.

Dano has spent the last 11 years portraying the writer/talk show host Felicia, and she is the first to give her co-workers the credit for helping her to make the character such a success

"You know, it's a funny thing," Dano says, "actors always get a bad rap People say they are jealous, competitive and unfriendly, and on our set that couldn't be further from the truth We are like a family, sometimes competitive, but also very supportive.

Dano also feels lucky to have a good support system at home. She and husband Frank Attardi have been together for 17 years and married for 11 years. Frank is such a dear, wonderful man. says Dano lovingly. "Whenever I come home, no matter what time it is, he doesn't glare at me and ask where have I been. He puts his arms around me and says 'Hi honey, are you tired?' " Dano reciprocates the caring attitude by leaving special gifts under his pillow and arranging for candlelight dinners when ever possible Attardi and Dano share a passion for their early 18th-century home in Connecticut "When we really want to relax we go antiquing," says the actress We love to take long drives and stop at little antique stores along the way. It is so much fun for us.
