Doubt greets plan

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

■ Gov. John Engler's plan to finance schools and reform their operations was met with "show me" comments from Plymouth-Canton school officials. The plan would allow the city of Plymouth to raise money to pay for a long-planned streetscape project.

In his address before the Legislature Tuesday, Gov. John Engler unveiled plans for establishing "new schools for a new era." Plymouth-Canton school superintendent John Hoben was among those in attendance, and like others, he has questions and reservations about Engler's proposals.

To fix what he calls "an inadequate, inequitable and antiquated structure for financing schools" that has Michigan on a course bound for educational disaster, the governor wants to remove schools from the millage business.

Schools will no longer be funded with property tax revenue, the result of a recently enacted law. Instead, schools will be funded, if voters agree, with a 2-percent sales tax increase, a 4-percent real estate transfer tax, sin taxes and other revenues. Educational reforms the governor is pushing for include schools of choice and charter schools.

Said Hoben: "This still has to go through the legislative process. A lot of concern have to be shared, the foundation grant for instance. What Engler doesn't speak to is additional costs we'll have to cover, such as Social Security and retirement, which is about $4 million in our case."

Plymouth-Canton coffers next year have the potential of growing to $79 million from $77 million, allowing per pupil spending of $5,300, up from $5,124 this year. "The potential increase is eaten up in terms of Social Security and retirement, so it's really not a gain. It's a flat curve for us," said Hoben, who noticed the Democrats listening to Engler "were sitting on their hands, pretty much."

The majority of Michigan's school districts will benefit financially, said Hoben. But, he said, "if money were the factor that brought quality, I'd go along with it. But I don't see equity, and certainly not quality, being built upon dollars.

"Engler is a very forceful leader. He will work very hard to make this reality," said Hoben, noting with concern that the governor did not address curriculum or content.

Voyage takes kids back in time

BY M.B. DILLOR STAFF WRITER

On a recent brisk, sunny autumn day at Metro Beach on Lake St. Clair, 60 students from Fiegel and Allen elementary schools weren't merely fifth graders.

With a little help from their teachers and interpretive naturalist Mary Wise, their imaginations took them back to the 1600s and Detroit-area waterways, where students became French voyageurs, canoeing and trading with hostile and friendly Indians.

"I want you to forget that you have a family, and that you climbed out of a warm bed this morning. For the next couple hours, forget about pizza and the fact you own a toothbrush," said Wise, as students donned life jackets in preparation for a ride through a swan-filled marsh in the 600-pound Voyageur Cance.

"You were hired by a company from France to paddle this boat. When the 'voyageurs de canoe' were in Detroit, only 1,200 lived in the settlement," said Wise. "That's about the size of one high school. You had cold pea soup for breakfast. We'll be stopping once today, and we'll have cold pea soup for lunch. We'll paddle for 15 hours, and guess what we'll have for dinner? That's right, cold pea soup. We'll stop on land for the night, and we'll sleep under the canoe."

Wise, who has worked in Central America, the Everglades, in California's redwood forests, in Wyoming and Texas says she considers Metro Beach "one of the most fascinating places I've ever been in my

Walkers bring message of hope, justice

"Twenty-five thousand Detroiters — from the inner city and the suburbs — walking down Woodward Avenue and back to Rosa Parks Boulevard. What a magnificent display of commitment to our efforts to overcome racism, poverty and injustice.

"On Sunday, at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 10, that is the number of people we expect to step out from the Focus: HOPE complex on Oakman Boulevard in our annual Walk for Justice," said the Rev. William Cunningham.

Among the 25,000 will be walkers from Canton and Plymouth, including members of the "Holy Strollers," a walking club based at Canton's St. John Neumann Catholic Church, their chaplain, the Rev. Chris Maus, and pastor, the Rev. George Charnley. The group will car pool to Focus:HOPE after Sunday's 11 a.m. Mass. Anyone interested in joining them is welcome to come along. Ticketed for parking his camper in his driveway, a Plymouth Township man is fighting the violation in Plymouth district court.

What part of Russia are we living in?" Ed Gascoyne said. "You can't even park in your driveway to load it or unload it."

Gascoyne, who lives on Greenbriar, said he was given a $100 ticket in August for the offense. He's asked for a jury trial. It's likely to be scheduled for early next year.

Township ordinance Officer Clint Stroebel said that while the ordinance doesn't allow a camper to be parked in a driveway, it can be parked in a rear lot.

'We do have a policy where if they come in on a Sunday night and can't put their stuff in storage, we'll go easy on that," Stroebel said. "We don't enforce it to the letter of the law.'

After a neighbor complained, Gascoyne was notified twice not to park the trailer in his driveway, Stroebel said, before a ticket was

"I'm gone most weekends camping," said Gascoyne, a salesman for a Canton firm.

Gascoyne said the violation he received came in the mail after he was forced to leave his trailer in his driveway for two nights because it had a flat tire.

City unveils monument plan

BY KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

Kellogg Park has become a magnet for plaques, statues, markers and other memorials.

So to keep the park from being overrun, city officials on Monday unveiled a draft policy to create standards on accepting such memorials.

A policy is needed, Mayor Robert Jones said. Otherwise, "The park would be all memorials and there would be nothing left for some of our activities there.

Basically the policy would define the types of memorials and monuments," said city manager Steve Walters. It would also set a policy for how city boards and committees would review requests, and how groups could make them.

Walters presented the draft policy in a four-page outline, put together after a commission study session on the matter last month.

Still, some commissioners had more changes to suggest as the draft was reviewed at the public commission meeting Monday. Commissioner Bill McAninch questioned a provision that said a monument could be proposed by any city board or commission.

"I would select from the list of boards or commissions the two or three most appropriate," he said.

Commissioner Doug Miller said that a decision to allow a memorial should be based "on a contribution that stands the test of time.

"Something near and dear to us now, in 10 or 20 years down the line may not stand the test of time," he said.

Commissioner Dennis Shrewsbury said, "I'm not sure if the person (being honored) should be deceased, but it should stand the test of time. Five years is a good starting point, maybe 10.

David McDonald, a resident and city commission candidate, questioned a draft provision that said a monument could be proposed by 25 people signing a petition, while only one city commissioner would be needed to make a proposal. Walters said a commissioner in theory represents all the citizens, adding, "25 strikes me as a common sense number" as it roughly matches the membership of a typical civic group, which can also propose memorials.

Another resident, Paul Nas toff, asked who would pay for memorials under the policy. Jones said this would not be a set part of the policy, adding most memorials are paid for by groups proposing them.

Jack Wilcox, who owns the white house just east of Kellogg Park, asked the commission to hear from property owners when nearby memorials affect them.

The commission is scheduled to act on a revised policy for accepting memorials on Oct. 18.

The draft report states that once the city commission gets a proposal for a memorial, the city manager should study the request and write a report.

To put a veterans memorial in Kellogg Park, the draft states, local vets groups must recommend it.

Water temperature: Tina Fleming of the MSU Extension Service helps students take water temperature readings.

As she spoke, mute swans brought here from England in the 1800s taught their young to fly, treating students to a rare sight. The adult swans, which weigh 25-30 pounds, demonstrated takeoffs and landings, making plenty of noise in the process. Wise and the other naturalists refer to the area as "flight school," and its inhabitants as "Fred and Wilma,"

Fifteen children and five adults piled into the canoe, doing their best to paddle and stay on course on a windy, cold morning. As they were pushed from the dock, one student eyed the waves and wondered aloud, "Are you sure we Paddling proved tiring. "Why don't they use some technology and put a motor on this thing?

As she spoke about the rugged life of the voyageurs, Wise dressed Melissa Robbins in a garb typical of what voyageurs wore: a loose white tunic, tassled knit cap, and colorful woven belts around her waist and pant legs.

Students learned that Indians valued the Frenchmen's pots and kettles, and would trade one large beaver fur for six knives. They also learned about cattails, and how Indians used them to line vests and diapers. "Cattails are like the kidneys of nature," said student Kali Stoner. "They help clean up oil spills."

Anthony Tran reported seeing "a lot of geese and ducks, and maybe a turtle. We saw a bees' nest and algae. It feels like wet

"It was cool. We saw little spiders walking on water," said Shirley Nazareth.

"We did 60 strokes in a minute. I'm sore," reported Andrea Walsh.

Natalie Rizkallah summed up the experience saying, 'It was very fun." As the voyageurs paddled back to shore they sang "Alouette," a melody that originated with the voyageurs.

Students then toured the Metropark's nature center, home to northern water snakes, fox snakes, garter snakes, frogs, toads and turtles; and went on a nature walk before boarding the M/V Clinton Research Vessel as guests of the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

The day was made possible thanks to a $3,600 grant from the National Geographic Society

Young voyageurs: Fifth graders from Allen and Fiegel elementary schools get a taste of what it was like to be a French voyageur in the Detroit area in the 1600s and 1700s. Naturalist Mary Wise (right) informed students that they'd have cold pea soup for lunch and dinner.

Watershed Investigations. The Extension Service takes students on board the vessel, traveling two miles across Lake St. Clair and down the Clinton River to Mount Clemens. While en route, they conduct water experiments, examine zebra mussels and plankton, learn to tie nautical knots, and watch as a sea grant agent with the extension service plots their course around navigational buoys using a parallel ruler and charts.

Students concurred that calcium is present in Lake St. Clair. Using chemicals and water samples taken from the lake, most students measured about 110 parts of calcium per million. That makes Lake St. Clair's water medium hard, enough for clams to make their shells, fish to grow bones, and tiny brown zebra mussels to nurture their shells, said Steve Stewarts, district extension sea grant agent with the MSU ex-

Carbon dioxide also was found in the water, in the amount of about seven parts per million.

Andrea Walsh said her group found the water temperature to be about 13-and-a-half degrees Celsius at the bottom of the lake, and about 13 degrees on top; the equivalent of about 56 degrees Fahrenheit. Students used a secchi dish to measure water clarity and did a test to see whether bacteria were present.

The idea behind the experiments is to address the "incomplete understanding youngsters generally have of the Great Lakes and local water resources. As future decision-makers, they need to understand the importance of these resources and their personal roles as wise stewards," said Terry Gibb, an agent with the MSU Extension Service.

Student Amanda Childress noticed zebra mussels "have hairs on them so they can cling to things." And how. Stewarts, the extension sea grant agent, said zebra mussels have been known to congregate in the Great Lakes groups of 400,000 per square meter. A navigational buoy in Lake Erie became so encrusted with the mussels that made their way here from the Baltic Sea that it actually sank. "This is the only place in the world where two generations of zebra mussels have been documented in a single year." Stewarts said.

As the M/V Clinton worked its way toward the city docks of Mt. Clemens, fighter jets from the nearby Selfridge Field Air National Guard base flew overhead, so low in the sky students couldn't hear themselves talk. They could see the pilots, in fact; a highlight that proved every bit as fascinating as the on-board experiments.

One student was so enthused with the day's activities that she wrote two acrostic poems on the spot, explaining that acrostic poems are built by spelling a word with the first letter of the poem's words. She said, "L is for lake. A is for adventure. K is for kind of scary, and E is for exciting."

Her second was "C for cool, L for lakes, A for amazing, I for interesting, and R for real fun."

nual calendar as usual and following up with quarterly newsletters with updates. The cost to produce quarterly calendars is $6,830, up $1,540 from the cost of the annual calendar. The first one will be mailed in December.

Commissioner Stella Greene said a quarterly calendar would be especially useful next year, as changes are coming from Lansing on how taxes are raised.

A quarterly calendar "would bring us as up to date as possible," she said.

Among residents against the move was Sandra Kosky. "A calendar's not a calendar that only has three or four months on it,' she said.

"I want a calendar, I don't want little pieces of one. I'm one of those people that if it's not done right, don't do it at all," Kosky Rosita Smith, a planning com-missioner and city commission candidate, said she preferred the annual calendar because it makes it easier for future planning.

"I think you're going to hear a lot about it if the calendar doesn't come to their door," Smith said.

"I don't like changes," said resident Jean Morrow. "I'd like to see just a plain old calendar. I use it to look and see the dates and see when Fall Festival is."

Resident and downtown development authority member Larry Bird said he favored the quarterly approach, saying an earlier calendar had listed a date for the downtown midnight madness sale - a date that was later changed.

Art classes draw students who can explore new worlds

"Exploring New Worlds," a new class being offered this fall, teaches children ages 7 to 10 about a different part of the world through hands-on art and music.

Each week will feature projects which represent the region's culture and art forms. From making their own Egyptian Amulets to digging for archeological treasure, children will learn about artistic expression, past and present, exploring a number of cultural traditions from around the globe.

Other classes for young people include watercolor for ages 8 to 12, 9:30-11 a.m. Saturday morn-Ings, and pottery for ages 7 to 11, 0:30-8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

For those who like wearable art, the Plymouth Community Arts Council offers a Saturday afternoon jewelry class, 2:15-2 p.m. Students ages 6 to 10 will create their own necklaces and T-shirts.

Children 7 to 16 years old can choose from three Drawing classes: 6:15-7:45 p.m. Mondays for ages 7 to 11 (emphasis is on creative expression through charcoal and chalk); 4:15-6:15 p.m. Wednesday, cartooning (humor and two-dimensional design); and 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday, drawing (defines landscape and portraiture techniques). For the older student, 12 to 16 Wednesday acrylic painting classes are from 6:30-8:30 p.m., teaching the principles of realism and abstraction. Lessons in glazing, wheel throwing and loading the kiln are also offered for ages 12 to 16 in a 6:30-8:30 p.m. Tuesday pottery class.

For those who wish to explore a variety of media, from painting to sculpture, PCAC offers creative expression classes for tots 4 to 6, 4:30-6 p.m. Mondays, and 7 to 11 year olds, 4:15-5:45 p.m. Tues-

Classes begin this week and will run for six weeks. The cost is $35 to $65. Registration can be made in person or mail at the PCAC office, 323 S. Main, Plymouth or by phone, 455-5260.

Vandals damage cars in township

Three cars in Plymouth Township were damaged Saturday when a vandal or vandals spray painted them.

According to reports filed with township police, a 1993 Buick parked on Creekwood Circle and two cars parked on Plymouth Crossing were vandalized sometime before 8:15 p.m. Cost of damage to each car ranged from $400-$500, according to the police reports.

In the vandalism on Creekwood Circle, a homeowner said he'd earlier spotted some teenage boys in the street with spray cans, adding one was wearing a long green coat.

Police are investigating.

Keep on trucking

Officer's job 'weighs' on his mind

BY KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

The tickets Plymouth Township Officer Bill Groff hands out aren't like your typical traffic

As motor carrier officer, Groff is responsible for patrolling township roads and highways, eyeing trucks for possible weight or other safety violations.

And when he writes a violation ticket, it doesn't involve your typical traffic fine. Groff carries scales to weigh trucks for weight violations. When those infractions are added to safety violations, fines can reach as high as $13,000 for one truck, Groff said.

Because most of the assessed fines go back to the township general fund, the position "pays for itself," said Police Chief Carl Ber-

The face value of tickets written in September was around $29,000 — a "down month," Groff said. In September, the total was $66,952, according to figures compiled by the township police department. Those ticket face values are typically plea-bargained down to get convictions.

Berry said the position was created two years ago due to potential safety concerns posed by overweight trucks. Overweight trucks have trouble stopping in a prescribed distance and they tear up roads, he said.

How does one spot a potentially overweight truck?

"There's several factors that we look at," Groff said. "Tires are usually the biggest indicator.'

"I look for blousing," he said, a bulging of the tires. "I look between the two tires and compare the space at the top to the space at the bottom.

Groff attended a one-week motor carrier school conducted by the Michigan State Police in 1987, before joining the township

"Every now and then I stop one that's not over, but not too often,"

Once a truck is pulled over, Groff goes to the trunk of his squad car and removes thin metal cales with a gauge on the end.

Weight violations are determined per axle. To determine that per-axle weight, the scale rests under tires on one side of the truck, while a thin board of equal width to the scale rests under the tire or tires on the other side of the axle.

This ensures a reading based on level conditions.

Formulas for determining an overweight axle are prepared by the state. The weighing must happen on a stretch of roadway with a grade no greater than 8 degrees, for violations to hold up in court. Fines assessed are charged to the trucking companies. When I came out here you could stop any kind of truck and they had safety violations," Groff said, adding that now, "They've improved.

"I have a real good rapport with the drivers," Groff said, adding he rarely catches flak from a driver.

A typical ploy in court when challenging a fine is for an attorney to ask for a "misload," while maintaining the total load is not overweight. Groff said 35th District judges are good about rejecting such claims.

Local legislators react to Engler's school reform plan

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Tax differences can be ironed out, but Gov. John Engler's plan for non-union "charter schools" is in big trouble with some members of the Michigan Legislature.

"Buzz words," scoffed Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, chairman of both the House Education Committee and a Democratic task force on school reform. 'Our survey showed 74 percent don't want to use public tax dollars to fund charter schools. The voucher plan may drain taxes into elitist schools.

Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, disagrees with the concept of charter schools.

"Why can't we just do a better job with the public school system that we already have?" said Barns.

Barns, however, liked Engler's call for drug-free, weapon-free schools.

"I hope he'll support the fund-drug-free and weapon free," added

We're not going to toe the line," said Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, whose district includes part of Livonia. "We're going to do what's best for our children.

"The governor has been consistently wrong," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills.

Faxon and a group of Oakland County Democrats this week will launch a petition drive to repeal PA 145, the law that eliminated school property taxes. CARE (Citizens Alliance for Responsible Education) can be reached in Farmington Hills at (313) 478-0942, fax (313) 473-6441.

State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, said the governor's proposals "are strong starting points to true school reform." "I'm pleased that the governor has recognized that educating our children must be the No. 1 priority in our state. It was also good to Engler plan stresses 'choice'

Gov. John Engler Tuesday came out swinging against public schools as a failure, a "gulag," a "monopoly," a "Berlin wall," the company store . . . holding kids hostage" as he advocated competition through charter schools.

The first-term governor spoke to a national television audience as well as 148 legislators. He said local school districts should be empowered to grant charters to groups of teachers, a business or other entities to operate a school specializing in math, history, the arts, technology or even preschool.

Charter schools would be free from "bureaucratic rules" such as dealing with unions or using certified teachers, he said.

"No public school teacher should be compelled to be in the union to teach in the classroom, said Engler to prolonged Republican applause. House Democrats, many with teachers union leaders as their floor guests, sat in stony three times next week: 10 a.m. to noon Wednesday, Oct. 13; 1:30 to 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 15; and 9 a.m. onward on Monday, Oct. 18, in the State Capitol, GOP co-chair Willis Bullard of Milford announced.

To pay for the $7 billion in local school property taxes which Engler and the Legislature wiped out in July, Engler proposed:

 No income tax hike with Republicans, unacceptable for Democrats.

■ A statewide business property tax of 16 mills — a stronger version of the tax base sharing plan that suburban schools bitterly resisted in court - OK with both parties this time.

A 16-mill property tax on second homes and non-residents' homes - fair to both parties. ■ A 0.5 percent hike in the single business tax rate (now 2.35 percent) - not overly objectionable.

A 4 percent tax on homestead transfers - no immediate reaction but probably facing a major fight from real estate agents.

■ A 50 cents-a-pack hike in the cigarette tax and other tobacco taxes - no audible objections.

The cornerstone of Engler's plan is a 2 percent hike (to 6 percent) in the sales tax. He asked for a Feb. 8 special election on this item. That ballot proposal also would raise the Headlee amendment's limitation on state taxes as a percentage of income. Even if Engler's plan were to pass unchanged, the state would be $300 million short of replacing the repealed property taxes. He proposed cost-saving measures such as competitive bidding on school district health insurance, privatizing and cutting administrative costs.

The governor proposed a threetier system for school funding: (1) Every district would be guaranteed at least $4,500 per pupil; (2) schools already spending $4,501 to $6,500 would be "held harmless"; and (3) the 35 school districts spending more than $6,500 would be allowed to ask voters for local property taxes drysak, 455-9042.

Focus: HOPE co-founders Cunningham and Eleanor Josaitis, their staff and volunteers are celebrating the 25th anniversary of the civil rights organization, established after Detroit's race riots in 1967.

Focus: HOPE's intent was, and is, to "take intelligent and practical action to overcome racism; poverty and injustice" and foster integration, said Cunningham.

Focus:HOPE now feeds more than 80,000 needy people each month, provides machinist, technology and engineering training and offers a "Fast Track" program that helps youth get their educational skills up to par.

Expected to join the throng in its eight-mile trek from Focus: HOPE at 1550 Oakman between Linwood and 12th Street (Rosa Parks Boulevard) on the city's northwest side will be the Rev. Adam J. Maida, Archbishop of Detroit.

Archbishop Maida is calling on youth in particular to join him in the walk, "to be powerful witnesses of hope to the city and to each other."

The course will begin at Focus:HOPE, proceed to the New Center area and pass the Fisher and General Motors buildings before routing walkers through neighborhoods back Focus: HOPE. There will be vans to pick up fatigued walkers.

Walkers can register the day of the event, but pre-registration is recommended. To do so, call 883-

Red, white and blue banners will hang from street lights along the route. "We wanted them to reflect Focus:HOPE's belief in the Constitution and the Bill of Rights," said Cunningham. "The American dream is that all people enjoy these basic rights and the freedom to reach their poten-

Pre-walk festivities will begin at 11:30 a.m. with entertainment, refreshments and tours of the new Center for Advanced Technologies. Detroit performers volunteering their time will include Phil Marcus Esser, Ron Coden, Dean Rutledge, the City for Youth Choir, Church of the Madonna Choir, Barbara Bredius and Charlie Lattimer.

Along the route, participants will be entertained by the Spain Middle School Band, the Dearborn Divine Child Pep Band, the Courville Middle School choir, Falcon Drum and Bugle Corps and the Kettering High School Band. Pat Lewis and Company will play for the crowd after the

"It will help us defray costs associated with staging the walk and provides you with a walk Tshirt as well as a Focus:HOPE cap and button," said Cunningham. "Pledges generated by the walk help sustain all of our programs during the year. Unfunded program costs include scholarships, vehicle maintenance and insurance."

Maus expects a good crowd from St. John Neumann.

'We're making a big push since this is Focus:HOPE's 25th anniversary," he said. "So far we have 32 signed up. Many have solicited pledges, but the main thing is to show up and walk, even if you can't get pledges. It will be a show of support, demonstrating that the suburbs and city can join together to work for harmony and justice.

Planning to accompany Maus are Ed Andrysak - the 79-yearold founder of the Holy Strollers now training for his fifth marathon — Gary Pegg, Audley Graves, Maryann Jason, Jackie O'Dell, Mel Kemp, Harold Mack and Lois Walling.

Holy Stroller Frances Russell credits Andrysak with motivating the contingent. "He's our leader. He prods us," said Russell.

Pegg, a Plymouth resident, is making a return trip to Focus: HOPE.

"Last year, both senators Don Riegle and Carl Levin and the archbishop came. It was quite a thing," he said. "The politicians and all the shooters show up to cheer you on. We walked for twoand-a-half hours, and I felt it."

Career planning focus of session

The Plymouth-Canton Community School District will host "Careerways 2000," a one-day training session for teachers and counselors sponsored by the National Diffusion Network on Thursday, Oct. 28, at the E. J. McClendon Educational Center.

The National Diffusion Network exemplary program, geared for teachers and counselors of eighth- through 12th-graders, is designed to help students become more aware of various careers and the employability skills necessary to meet their career goals.

Led by Jerry McLeroy, project director of "Careerways 2000," the program is geared to help stu-

■ Learn to use planning, organizing and critical thinking techniques in their decision-making

■ Increase their knowledge and understanding of the world of work and of the diversity of career options available to men and women without stereotyped restrictions;

Clarify their skills, interests, values and goals;

Learn how to work cooperatively with others;

Think and act in terms of high aspirations and self-worth.

The program will be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the E. J. McClendon Educational Center, which is located at 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. The cost is $10 and includes breakfast and lunch. Enrollment is limited.

To participate, reserve a seat in the workshop by calling Betty Bloch, Business Education Partnership Program coordinator, at

The schools of choice proposal left unanswered questions about transportation and school capacity, he added. "Who determines when a school is at capacity? As I see it, this is just another log on the fire.'

State Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, said Engler's plan "is the formula for success in educa-

While Vorva said he didn't like 4 percent tax on real estate transactions or the single business tax, small business will still pay less millage overall thanks to the property tax cut, he said.

Engler didn't specifically address how downtown development districts could recapture funds now provided by school millage.

But Plymouth city manager Steve Walters noted that the plan would allow cities and townships to seek additional millage - millage that Plymouth officials could consider to be used to pay for the downtown streetscape improvement project on hold since the Legislature voted to end property tax support of schools.

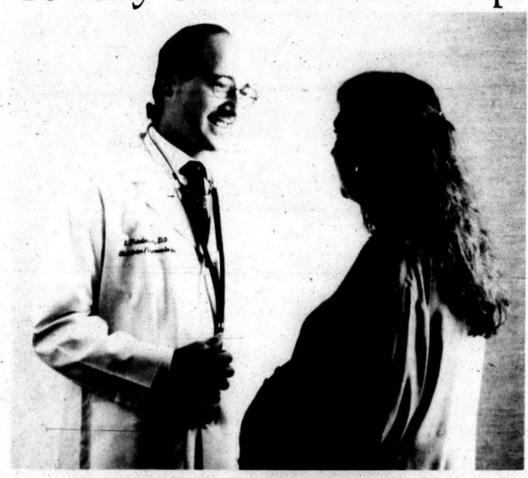

"Of course, there would be political pressures," Walters said, should city commissioners consider such a move.

Work begins to restore mill's original condition

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

The resurrection of Nankin Mills is under way.

Armed with a $750,000 state grant and $450,000 from an insurance payment, Wayne County parks officials have embarked on $1.5-million renovation and addition to the 130-year-old mill on the Middle Rouge Parkway in

By this time next year, the mill ought to be back in nearly its original condition, complete with expanded annex and three-story companion building.

Back in 1986, there was talk about a millage for the parks system or perhaps joining the Huron-Clinton Metroparks organization. But since Hurley

Coleman Jr. took over the directorship in 1989, the parks staff has gone all out for federal and state grants for building projects.

Coleman said that Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara has directed him to take every opportunity to develop county parks.

The parks staff took the challenge to heart and since then a marina was built at Elizabeth Park in Trenton, Newburgh Pointe Station in Livonia is undergoing a massive renovation, property was added to the Holliday Nature Preserve, and Hines Drive bike paths have been repaired and extended.

The Nankin Mills project began last week when employees of Southridge Construction of Redford Township began removing fixtures from the building.

Once they're finished, parks deputy director Dan Navarre, the mill will be as close to original as one can make it and still have heat and electricity.

A pamphlet available at the parks office gives an account of the mill's composition:

"The building's structure is supported by massive sycamore beams 12 inches thick. The rough-finished beams were fashioned by hand from logs shaped by crosscut saw and finished with broadaxes and planes. Sycamore is only rarely found as a building material, and is even more unusual because Wayne County is at

Anthem singer conquers shyness, wows hockey crowd

That kind of focus undoubtedly has also helped Katie rack up other early accomplishments, including: acting for Paper Bag Productions, a professional children's theatre, and getting a scholarship this summer to the Interlochen Center for the Arts, where she honed her skills as a dancer and cellist. Most of the $1,900 scholarship was picked up by the Compuware-sponsored

But if the granddaughter of former Detroit Red Wings' executive vice president Lincoln Cavalieri Sr. wavers, however, family members and friends are there to hold her up. That's where mom Geria Cavalieri and Junior Wings' executive Jim Rutherford (yes, the former NHL goalie) come in.

Special bond

Those who attend Junior Wings' games usually see Katie crooning an anthem or two, depending on whether the opponent is from Canada.

But what they probably don't see, just off the ice, is the tender moment she shares with her mother, a 1976 graduate of Southfield-Lathrup High School. (Katie's dad, Lincoln Jr., graduated from S-L in 1975.)

Hand in hand, Geria Cavalieri lends encouragement and support

Which brings it all back to the Junior Wings braintrust, including Rutherford, who played a large part in helping her get to Interlochen. Although Rutherford shrugs his role aside, Katie's parents doubt they otherwise would have been able to afford to send her this year.

The Junior Wings offered her a $500 contract before the 1992-93 season, to sing at all of their games. That money was put toward the Interlochen scholarship, as was another $1,200 from the hockey team last summer. The youngster augmented that money by singing before other athletic events, including the ma-jor league Red Wings, Tigers and

"It (the scholarship) all started by her helping us," Rutherford said before last week's opener. "When we first brought the Junior Wings back to Detroit we wanted one singer who was young, cute, who could sing at all the games.

Enter Katie, who, according to Rutherford, fills the bill perfectly. 'We're catering to the younger crowd and that all falls in line with what we're doing, right down to our singer.'

There seems to be a mutual admiration society of sorts going on between Rutherford and the Cavalieri family, which lives near the Commerce-West Bloomfield border.

"He's a nice guy," Katie said about Rutherford. "I can tell he likes kids. And I thank him, because I just couldn't believe it when (the Junior Wings) gave me that scholarship to Interlochen."

Lincoln Cavalieri Jr., who also was on hand for Katie's 1993-94 debut, said, "These are the unsung things you never hear about, the things that make life worth living. A guy like Jimmy Ruther-ford didn't even blink or think twice about it."

The ultimate compliment to Rutherford, according to Geria Cavalieri, was when Katie added 'God Bless America" to her pregame repertoire. Last week's opener was the first time she used it, instead of the "Star Spangled Banner.

"That's kind of a tribute to Jimmy," she said. "He loved the way Kate Smith sang it before Philadelphia Flyers home games (during the 1970s). It's a special request.

Area schools, students prepare for new SAT test

BY MARGARET O'BRIEN STAFF WRITER

If s/t-45 and 5rt26, then rs? On the new Scholastic Aptitude Test for high school seniors, the questions just got a little harder. or easier, depending on your perspective.

If a calculator would help you solve problems like this, then the math section on the SAT - one of the major stepping stones into college for many seniors - will seem a little easier.

If not, that question and many others in the new math section are likely to be tougher. This time, there will be fewer of the multiple-choice answers that gave even the most baffled student a chance to guess the right answer.

The question is typical of those included in a new grid-in math section, 10 of the 60 math questions on the test, that asks students to come up with an answer on their own.

These and other changes were recently made by the College Entrance Examination Board, which administers the SAT and PSAT (a preliminary test for juniors), to better simulate college work and measure more relevant skills.

"Admissions directors and teachers told us they wanted something that tests how well a student can think critically and how well they can solve problems," said Stan Pert of the Educational Testing Service, the company that writes the questions. 'It's the '90s, and to survive, students need to know how to think and solve problems logically.'

The move to allow students to use calculators on all sections of the math test was also made to shift the focus away from basic arithmetic — a basic skill that must be mastered by college and toward problem-solving techniques, Pert added.

Think it through

"Students will still have to think through the steps of a problem - a calculator won't help them in the slightest if they don't understand the concepts we are testing," Pert said. "It will speed up things in one respect and help prevent careless errors.'

Changes in the verbal portion of the test are also included, making it the most significant SAT facelift in 20 years.

The verbal section measures a student's vocabulary, verbal reasoning skills, and ability to understand reading passages in three types of questions: analogies, sentence completions and

The test's four reading passages will be longer and more complex, 400-850 words, followed by multiple-choice questions that test understanding of the main idea, details, tone and inferences.

The new verbal section will also use analogies to test vocabulary and word relationships, instead of antonyms, to keep things in con-

"It's rare in the real world that you would have to pick out words that have nothing to do with each other. You have to understand things, or be able to discern meaning, from context. We're just becoming more relevant," Pert

Grades count, too

Anne Sandoval, director of admissions at Oakland University, said that no matter how up-todate the test becomes, the most relevant factor in determining admission is still a student's grades and activities.

"Of course we pay attention to any national standardized test, but we focus in on high school performance and growth over a period of time," she said.

Sandoval said that although the SAT plays a minor role - especially at Oakland, where 90 percent of the students take only the ACT - she still recommends that students take the test.

"I think it's a good tool for selfassessment and it helps students feel comfortable with their testtaking skills," she said. "And it gets them on all kinds of mailing lists.

Seniors in local schools still have three opportunities to take the old test - on Nov. 6, Dec. 4, and Jan. 22 - and can take the new test beginning March 19, May 7 and June 4.

Most local high school counseling directors said an extensive preparation booklet for the new test, including an application packet, is available in the school's counseling center.

However, most of this year's seniors and even juniors will need to take the old one for early consideration at a larger school.

"Unless a kid goes out of state, they usually just take the ACT . . . But if they want to stay real competitive for a larger school they need to take the SAT in the spring of their junior year," said area counselor. "It's getting a little late for early decision-making at schools by the first Nov. 6 test

Sandra Gruesbeck of the Ka plan Test Preparation Center, a private Southfield-based business specializing in the SAT, said seminars and classes on preparing for the new test have been filling up quickly.

Help available

"We did our first seminar on the new test two months ago and had 60 people," Gruesbeck said, adding that people who take the time to learn about the test before taking it do better.

"It's not really harder, but you do need to take a test drive to learn what your strengths are, and you learn what you need to work on," she said.

The center also offers other study aids and tips, which encourage students to guess aggressively, to pace themselves, and to understand how to approach each type of question.

Schoolcraft College offers an SAP test preparation workshop 5-7 p.m. Mondays, Oct. 11-25. Fee is $45. Call 464-4448 for more infor-

And if those tips and even a calculator did not help on that first question - the answer is 36/ 5. or 7.2.

see that he will not be asking school districts like Livonia, Northville, Redford and Plymouth-Canton to sacrifice so that schools at the bottom can be brought up.

'His plan will bring more equitable funding to our schools, while dramatically reducing the tax burden on property owners,' Geake explained in a written statement about the plan.

Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, called the speech "politi-

"The speech was long on rhetoric and short on details. I look forward to having the opportunity to study the legislation that will be proposed to implement the plan. I want to see the specifics on this promise of 'choice,'" said Faust, who added that he'll reserve further judgment until he has more information.

"I am committed to finding a funding mechanism to replace the revenue our schools lost through the passage of Senate Bill 1. In that pursuit, I will work with the governor and every other interested party to find feasible and honest solutions.

But Keith was pleased that Engler supported the concept of his House Bill 4505 to set up a career technical education system, copied in part from the German model. "Businesses are unable to find workers with adequate workplace skills," Keith said.

Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, found the charter schools idea "exciting - a good concept." She visualizes schools for special education, delinquents, and math and science study that would be exempt from the tenure laws, school code and much of PA 25, the massive 1989 school quality

Rep. Richard Young, D-Dearborn Heights, was cool to charter schools because "you will not find 1 percent of Michigan kids in them. Our major task is to finance 99 percent of schools," said Young, Democratic co-chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

"I'm glad Wayne State University did what they did" by setting up a charter school in Detroit. said Young, whose district includes part of Redford Township. But statewide "it could be disruptive.' Charter schools are a "great idea," said Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, whose floor guests included an infant son. "How else can you stimulate competition? I hope he (Engler) won't buckle to the powers (MEA)."

Condo owners have community spirit

There's a certain spirit in the air at Beacon Hollow Condominiums. The residents there take a special interest in their community and are willing to chip in and lend a hand.

BY DIANE GALE STAFF WRITER

Beacon Hollow Condominiums is a community within a community. Nestled in a densely wooded area west of Sheldon Road off of Ann Arbor Trail where Canton Center Road ends, the 59 townhouses and ranches were built in two phases in 1978 and 1980, There's a community spirit, a willingness to chip in. For instance, there's longtime resident George Hudson who has taken it upon himself to conduct gutter inspections.

"He was quite a sight with his umbrella, galoshes and rain poncho ringing my doorbell day or night and we would inspect," according to Beacon Hollow association president Dan LeBlond.

"Because when is the best time to inspect gutters but in the rain? I would follow him around and sometimes I'd be ankle deep. He wouldn't hesitate to rouse me in the evening to have me accompany him on his rounds.'

Ralph Thompson makes sure the sprinkler systems are in good working order. Bob Wagner and Dan Stocker look after the light posts. Marlene Clinansmith volunteers on the Beautification Committee.

■ RETURNED

Navy construction man apprentice Michael S. Loveland, son of Basil W. Loveland of Canton, returned from a seven-month Indian Ocean and Mediterranean deployment with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion One, Gulfport, Miss. The 1991 graduate of Sterling Heights Stevenson joined the Navy in April 1992. In Somalia, the battalion joined other U.S. and UN coalition forces supporting Operation Restore Hope, providing food to the starving Somali people. Moving inland he battalion repaired main supply routes between several towns, repaired runways and taxiways at airfields, as well as schools and orphanages. The "Sea Bees" were awarded the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal. After 75 days in Somalia, they returned to Camp Mitchell. A detail at Souda Bay, Crete, deployed in December of 1992 and completed its entire deployment without interruption.

EXERCISE

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Michael R. Radoye, a 1983 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, participated in exercise Ulchi Focus Lens aboard the amphibious command ship USS Blue Ridge, flagship for the U.S. Seventh Fleet, forward deployed to Yokosuka, Japan, while off the coast of South Korea. USS Blue Ridge and its crew of 720 trained with more than 12,000 U.S. armed forces, is the largest computer simulated military exercise in the world. The objective of the simulation was to allow military units to evaluate and improve the coordination, procedures, plans and communication systems necessary for combined and joint contingency operations in defense of the Republic of Korea. He joined the Navy in March 1985.

M COMPLETED COURSE Air Force Airman Basic Christopher L. Ford completed the munitions systems specialist course at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, Colo. Students were taught to inspect, assemble, and dispose of guided and unguided nonnuclear munitions. Included in the training were transportation and handling of equipment, weapons safety, storage and destruction of unserviceable munitions. Ford is the son of Carol E. Metcalf of Ashtabula, Ohio. He is the son of Tom H. Ford of Plymouth. Ford is a 1988 graduate of Edgewood Senior High School, Ashtabula.

Even after his retirement, Naumoff still makes time to rescue a failing Melvindale band.

They call me the Legend there and when the band was in crisis the principal called and asked for my help," Naumoff said.

He couldn't turn him down and so this fall he started the group with eight girls and four boys, all playing woodwinds.

"By the first game we had 30 members and people were saying that it was the sound they remember," Naumoff said.

The music lover is known for creating a unique sound with bands performing music written by Naumoff and a friend. Naumoff was leader of his own band, The Missing Links.

"I like to work with the students although kids are different today. I believe that no matter what they have to contribute to the band, there is a place for them. So, if there is a young man who can only play five notes then I'll find five notes in the arrangement he can play.

Naumoff and wife Tina had two sons. Both sons played trumpet like their Dad. James is 32. David died last year of leukemia. The Naumoff house is still decorated with a large card sent to David in the hospital by school friends.

Naumoff worked tirelessly to put together a scholarship fund in memory of his son and just a few weeks ago a group formed to help raise funds for the effort.

The five board members, Le-Blond, Diane Fairchild, Murray Strand, Richard Zalewski and Jack Tornga, keep a close eye on outside maintenance. Each board member is assigned buildings to oversee and specific contractors to call when problems arise.

It's important to have retirees on the board, LeBlond said.

"They're here a lot during the day and they'll take on a lot supervising and approving work and keeping an eye on things," LeBlond said. "The treasurer happens to be a computer buff, a former businessman and he has developed spread sheets that we do our budgets on.

Association fees vary. Residents in townhouses pay $123 monthly and residents in the ranches pay $124, which includes water bills, outside maintenance, landscaping, snow removal, painting, as well as trash and recyclable pickups.

An increase in assessment fees may be needed, LeBlond said, placing the cause on increased

"Last year we had to raise the ssessment a few dollars, because of the sewer rate increase," Le-Blond said. "It's not only us, but everyone in the township who will experience that. All Beacon Hollow residents have at least one fireplace, decks, central air, two-car attached garages and basements. The townhouses are 1,700 square feet and the ranches are 1,281 square feet. "We're real proud of the grounds and we do allow people to landscape their entrance walks and they can landscape their decks," LeBlond said.

The association board must approve the landscaping plans, ensuring safety related to sprinklers and underground wires.

"We want to make sure it looks nice, too" LeBlond added. Pets also are allowed with board approval.

"We look at a dog that would be under 30 pounds," LeBlond said. 'That's a suggestion. In a close community like this, your neighbor isn't 20 or 30 feet way from you, he's the thickness of a wall away. All the grounds in front and behind are common grounds, so co-owners are responsible for cleaning up after their animals. "Mother Nature provides some animals, too."

The grounds are visited by rabbits, mallards, night hawks and black crows that have affectionately been dubbed Beacon Hollow

Edison prepares for winter storms

With the summer storm season over, Detroit Edison Co. line clearance crews are bracing for the next punch - winter ice storms.

Lightning and high winds can play havoc with tree limbs too close to electrical lines and equipment. But winter ice storms are even more difficult for line crews to work around, said Robert J. Buckler, Edison's senior vice president for energy marketing and distribu-

Line clearance '- a major part of the utility's three-year, $236 million program to improve electrical service - includes maintaining 10-foot minimum clearances between tree branches and wires.

"Trees that touch energized lines can conduct electricity and pose safety hazards. In addition, interference from just one tree can cause outages that affect hundreds of customers served by the same electrical circuit," Buckler said.

"During the past year, the utility has reduced the number of outages by nearly 30 percent and shortened the length of unavoidable outages by 77 percent compared with the average of the previous three years.

"We've been able to prove that there is definitely a correlation between line clearance and reliable service.

Detroit Edison's line clearance crews will continue projects as well as begin new work in 35 communities through the end of 1993. From October through December, line clearance work will continue or begin in the following Livingston County: Hamburg Township.

Oakland County: Auburn Hills, Birmingham, Hazel Park, Madison Heights, West Bloomfield Township.

Wayne County: Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Detroit, Northville Township, Plymouth Township, Redford Township, Taylor.

From 1991 through this year, the company will have spent $101 million on line clearance. All work is performed by professional line-clearance crews.

"Trees are trimmed according to National Arborist Association standards, which are designed to protect the trees and keep them healthy," Buckler said.

Parking credits

City commission dragging feet

t's time for the Plymouth City Commission to grow a collective backbone and scrap the old fashioned parking credit system.

The city commission has been dragging its feet on the issue for nearly two years. And now as the Nov. 2 election draws near, we hear the candidates quibbling about having partisan politics in a non-partisan race and talk about campaign signs on the streets.

The voters of Plymouth should be pushing the candidates past the smoke screen produced by the charges of partisan politics and complaints that signs are unsightly.

What will really be unsightly will be downtown Plymouth unless city commission members suck it up and get moving on parking credits. The system is a bizarre one by which businesses in the downtown area have been charged thousands of dollars for parking spots.

The tragedy is that there is always a parking spot to be found within a block or two of your destination. There is no parking crisis in the city of Plymouth, but the more the city commission fiddles with the issue, the perception that there is a parking problem will grow. And as they say, perception becomes reality.

Some city commissioners are afraid the city will be sued if the commission scraps the parking credit system without compensating those

It's an overblown fear. As one savvy chamber member recently said, the people who possibly could sue are also the ones who want the city commission to bring parking credits to an end.

Plymouth is a small town. Any local business person who files a suit against the city over parking credits almost certainly will be in for a lot of local criticism. It's amazing how such social pressure can convice somebody to drop a

Basically, parking credits have kept new restaurants from opening in downtown Plymouth. The reason is the credits can cost as much as $50,000 and that, added to the cost of a restaurant start up, just isn't feasible.

Fred Hill, the former owner of a Main Street men's clothing store, has had nearly six offers from restaurants to rent his store front, but parking credits have killed the deal. Just recently an antique store moved into the property. We wish them luck, but we have to wonder how home decor type stores can make it in downtown Plymouth.

Restaurants produce pedestrian traffic off of which shops prosper. Restaurants should be a vital part of Plymouth's downtown anchor. But that will never happen unless the city commission solves the parking credit issue.

It's time for a change.

ational Newspaper Week begins Sunday and this is the time we're making a major change in our paper designed to bring us even closer to you, our readers.

Although the Observed centric Newspapers continues Although the Observer & Ecto be the name of the network of 12 suburban newspapers you read, we are decentralizing our internal structure to better

Our award-winning newspapers are being crafted into three divisions: the Eccentrics, the Observers and a Regional operation. The regional group includes the sections such as Taste, Business and Entertainment, which go into each of our community newspapers.

This will make it simpler for you as a newsmaker, reader or advertiser to get in touch

And it will make it easier for us to tailor our stories, ads and circulation to the needs of your individual community.

The restructuring is a continuation of our desire to make the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers the best network of suburban newspapers in the country. And in our estimation, best connotes journalistic excellence as well as feadership and responsiveness to our communities.

In the past year and a half, we have redesigned our newspapers to make them more reader friendly, including more color photographs, a weekly community calendar and a front page index giving you a rundown on what you can find inside.

We started monthly reader advisory groups in each community to help us find out what you want covered.

■ The restructuring is a continuation of our desire to make the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers the best network of suburban newspapers in the country. And in our estimation, best connotes journalistic excellence as well as leadership and responsiveness to our communities.

We began a dialogue with you, opening up our phone lines so that you could vote, comment or get information on local issues.

And our major local stories and editorials, as well as an assortment of other useful information, is now accessible to those with personal computers through our On-Line computerized information service.

Where's concern?

egarding Ed McNamara's Sept. 16, 1993, editorial, "Governor's shell game bodes ill for taxpayers," I was forced to ask, where is the real concern here? It was certainly not with the taxpayers, nor with the way that funding of public schools are funded. He certainly did not offer any alternatives to the system as it stands now, just a lot of suggestions that the taxpayers need big government to do their thinking.

Mr. McNamara starts out his anti-taxpayer diatribe by erroneously stating that "first, the governor and majority of legislators decided to eliminate the property tax for schools in one fell swoop . . . "That's a little disingenuous at best. First his fellow Democrat and state senator Debbie Stabenow proposed to eliminate the property tax for schools in one fell swoop, then a majority of legislators of both parties agreed with her and so indicated by their votes on the matter. Then, thirdly, the governor signed the bill, previously endorsed by the representatives of the people.

After explaining without substantiation or background the percentages associated with previous taxing adjustments, he once again dismisses any Engler program as a "shell game." Being the good big government socialist that he is, he then goes on to backhand the supposed beneficiaries of the alleged "shell game," evil business and industry. All good big government socialists know that they must perpetuate the big lie that business and industry are evil. They would much rather have us all enslaved and dependent upon some pie in the sky centralized "entitlement" dispersing bureaucracy/ education aristocracy working hand in hand to disenfranchise us and dumb us down. That way, they can control us all better.

Mr. McNamara is also concerned that we the people are going to be upset if the local government should institute an unjust millage taxation policy, if that is how we decide to help make up school funding. Is it possible that he knows that the closer the action on taxation, the easier it will be for the taxpayers to oversee how the tax dollars are spent?

Mark F. Tooze, Plymouth

Trust Engler

fter reviewing your article of Sept. 27 concerning and quoting Carl Pursell, Bill McAninch and Dennis Shrewsbury on local politics, may I say I fully agree with McAninch and Shrewsbury's stand, party politics should not control local issues.

Residents in the Plymouth community think for themselves and last November's upset was the best example of plural-like writing on the wall. As I have stated in the past on Democrats and Republicans, generally speaking, a Republican is a Democrat that has it made (joke) you

How about Carl, he has always been a "city' zealot, annexation was the issue over 12 years ago. In Washington he voted the line and I don't recall one issue I disagreed on; however, I also agree the Republican party locally needs new guidance on a broad level already in prog-

Well, as that revered great writer Fred Delano would ask, "Why am I writing this letter," well, I at age 93, while one generally doesn't use up a lot of shoe leather, one can help support the younger doers and shakers working towards maintaining the prestige of the community.

We sorely need these leaders. Need I name them. One phone call or a letter of encouragement to them is like a reward. That one represents hundreds, given a little time all good things come to pass, just raise your sights.

Trust Engler. Frank Millington, Plymouth

Let's scrap residency

lymouth no longer is an isolated, small town. Its population of less than 10,000 is small, its area of about 2.2 square miles is small, but its reach is big, and its problems appear to be becoming big-city like.

The city is a focal point for miles around, just as it has been for many years. But now, there is competition from other towns, from major shopping centers and from recreation areas. The density of the area has increased with easy transportation and development of the western suburbs. As a result, big-city type problems are developing and becoming more and more demanding - cruising, DDA financing, infrastructure needs, politics, crime pressures and budget concerns, among others.

Still our city charter requires that department heads, such as police chief, fire chief, clerk and treasurer, be residents of the city. This probably was a good provision in 1951, when the charter was approved, and when the town was relatively sleepy and life was a good deal less complex. But do we think it still is likely that a number of people with the expertise to handle big-city issues can be found in our small population of only 10,000?

An amendment to the charter is on the Nov. 2 ballot that changes the residency requirement for department heads to the community around Plymouth, specifically city of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, city of Northville and Northville Township, with a population of over 100,000 people. The opportunity would be much greater from this area to supply the quality people necessary to operate a big city without losing the "feel" of Plymouth and being a part of the community. It is noteworthy that city employees below department head are not required to live in the city.

This is not to say that present department heads are not capable. In fact, we are fortunate to have the fine people we do. But what is to come as these people leave and our city becomes more complex?

City commissioners, the city manager and members of boards and commissions would continue to be required to be city residents under the ballot proposal

The proposed amendment has unanimous approval of the City Commission and the Charter Committee and is supported by most commission candidates.

Give the city a chance. Vote yes on the charter amendment on the Nov. 2 ballot. Hugh Harsha, Plymouth been talking school tax reform. Then the Legislature in July decided to repeal $6.3 billion in property taxes, 65 percent of schools' money.

Now it's October, and not one dollar has been replaced.

Q. Wasn't it irrational and unwise to repeal public schools' main source of revenue without a replacement plan?

A. Irrational, no. Unwise, yes. Legislators make big decisions only in a crisis. So they manufactured a cri-

Give credit to Gov. John Engler, who wasn't afraid to take the big gamble. His predecessor would have asked for a study commission and six polls to test the wind.

Give credit to Sen. Debbie Stabenow, a Democrat who would replace Engler. She sponsored the substitute for Senate Bill 1. It's an issue, but not a partiQ. But still you say the decision was unwise?

A. Yes. In the first place, the state wiped out $6.3 billion net in revenue, but at most can raise just $3.8 billion. That's because of the 1978 Headlee amendment, which limits state taxation to a fixed percentage of personal income. So there's a troublesome $2.5

Second, SB 1 also wiped out several hundred million of county revenue—collection fees, delinquent taxes, delays in assessments' taking effect.

Don't be surprised if in 1994 a lot of angry county commissioners challenge incumbent state legislators from their own party.

Q. Let's get back to the manufactured school revenue crisis. Aren't you worried lawmakers and the governor won't reach agreement on new taxes?

A. Not much. Check Art. VIII Sec. 2 of the state constitution: "The Legislature shall maintain and support a system of free public elementary and secondary schools as defined by law."

If the Legislature fails to write new tax laws, it could be hauled into court. Michigan lawmakers couldn't be sued for failing to provide "equity" in school funding, as happened in other states. But they easily could be sued if they fail to "maintain and support" public schools at all.

If there's anything a governor and lawmakers abhor, it's a court telling them to levy taxes. I say there will be a tax deal by Dec. 31. Q. What is this Dec. 31 deadline to pass replacement taxes? The repeal of the school property tax doesn't take effect until next July 1. A. True, but there's still great pressure to act by Dec. 31.

If the Legislature passes new tax laws with a bare majority by Dec. 31, they take effect about next April 1.

That's OK.
But if new taxes aren't passed until 1994, it will take a two-thirds vote to give them immediate effect. Our legislators won't run that risk. Actually, weekend.

Q. You mentioned the gap between $6.3 billion in eliminated property taxes and $3.8 billion in higher state taxes. How will that be

A. Two ways. First, we'll see local school districts given optional taxing powers — probably a restored property

Second, there will be some effort to cut overall spending. I think Engler's magic number is $1 billion. His chief issue is reducing the cost of government. He wants a nice, fat, round number like a $1 billion net tax cut for his 1994 campaign.

Q. Is it realistic to think we can squeeze $1 billion more out of gov-

A. No. Engler, the Republicans and many Democrats will hold out for competitive bidding on school employees' health insurance, to the chagrin of the teachers union. Maybe they can squeeze $100 million there.

Maybe they can squeeze $100 million out in other ways, like privatizing school buses.

Q. You seem convinced the Legislature will do the right thing, not for the sake of kids in school, but for their own political skins.

A. Yes.

Outsider from country school looks at city school

aving lived in Plymouth for only seven weeks, and being a teacher, I must admit I wonder just what is going on with the school system.

I taught at Caston, a consolidated school in Fulton, Ind., for two years where the community was very supportive of the school. As an "outsider," it took me at least a year before I truly felt I belonged there; I wonder if I ever will here.

In Fulton, the more the community knew about you, the better off you'd be. In other words, the more I divulged about myself in the classroom and faculty lounge, the more accepted I was. The more you supported them, the more they supported you.

Sharing was an integral part of their well-being plan. But this community was an exceptional one. It didn't respond to outside criticism the way one might expect. Their responses consisted of laughing with each other and somehow enduring the erroneous and slanderous remarks about their berserk community standards. They didn't feel obliged to meet one brutal attack with another like an embittered couple on the brink of a huge divorce settlement. They endured. Proudly.

What brings this to mind is the current financial "crunch" which is causing everyone to hold their breath in Plymouth. Will the two new elementary schools open, or will they be boarded up? Extr-acurricular activities? Pay freezes? In Plymouth, who knows?

In Fulton, Ind., there would be no debate; it would not have reached this point. In that conservative community, things are built when they are necessary and affordable. Let's face it, farmers cannot afford to pay higher taxes each year. Therefore, the community supports the school board and faculty, in most cases, and vice versa.

During the debate over whether there would be a relatively minor building project, a graver issue came to head: whether a fifth grader might be allowed to wear an earring in school. In the long run — a year later — he was granted the right to do so, but in the meantime, Fulton gained the notoriety of a community with bizarre and out-of-date standards.

An editor of a South Bend paper even questioned the standards of this community. The problem was most outsiders didn't realize that a community like this could still exist — one with higher standards and greater spirit than most — a community which considered the well-being of all of its students, not the student or parent who cried the loudest. This community does exist.

It recognizes what will impact students' lives more because it is determined to help them to be better prepared for life after school is over.

Granted, wearing an earring in school may not have a significant effect on future success, but following dress codes at work will. Thus, we're almost like your schools, only smaller, less cosmopolitan, and we talk about agriculture now and then.

Before the battles become unfocused regarding what gets cut or who has to pay to play, etc., take a look around and notice how great you've got it. At Caston, a cafegymnasatorium-ballroom will do for now because the community cannot afford to raise taxes for a "real" auditorium.

But, I've seen some fine work there especially the dinner theaters. The crushed cinder track will do for now be cause the teams have grown accustomed to training in cookie crumbs for practices and then being in top form for meets.

Can we find some sort of compromise which will draw us back to Plymouth? Take a moment to consider the great things Plymouth has to offer. How many of these things would draw you back?

It seems the community and school system have reached a draw and neither wants to back away from the standoff.

Take a look around and realize what is really important, what will actually make a difference in the long run, and what will draw people back to Plymouth. What will do for now?

Officials choose family life over demands of politics on Riegle's decision last week not to seek re-election to the U.S. Senate did more than throw Michigan politics into a turmoil.

Riegle's main stated reason for not running — to spend more time with his wife and two young daughters — highlighted a subtle and troubling aspect of our political system.

Increasingly, politics and families don't mix.

Or, at least, running for serious elective office and a reasonably sane family life are terribly hard to reconcile.

The demands of campaigning are enormous. You work dawn to midnight at the highest possible pitch, seven days a week, until the voters determine your fate.

The demands of holding office are, if anything, more severe. Bound to your job in Lansing or Washington, you still feel compelled to get back to your district on weekends.

Got an evening free with the family? Go to the fundraising reception or the union local meeting. Your son has a baseball game? You've got to make the vote on the floor or see an important constituent.

President Johnson's wife, Lady Bird, once said that politicians should be born orphans and remain bachelors. Look carefully at the children of any seriously ambitious politician; more likely than not, you'll see a troubled kid.

Don Riegle's not the only Michigan politician who chose family over office.

Bill Brodhead, a respected Democratic congressman from the Detroit suburbs, surprised a lot of people in 1982 when he announced he wasn't running again. "I realized the only person getting something out of Congress was me," he said.

Contemplating in July a run for Riegle's Senate seat, Congressman Fred Upton, a well-regarded Republican from southwestern Michigan, declined because the statewide race would hurt his family.

And former U.S. Rep. Bill Schuette, a Republican who lost a Senate race to Carl Levin in 1990, decided last month he wouldn't run against Riegle. When he first ran for Congress 10 years ago, "I was single and could work 24 hours a day. Now, I work just as hard and am as ambitious and driven as ever, but I like to come home early..."

Even though cynics might question Don Riegle's stated reasons against making another race, I don't. He's not alone in choosing family over high office.

So what is it about our political system that keeps requiring this zero-sum game? Certainly the ever-escalating demands of fundraising can consume any free time available. And as our politics have become ever more professionalized, the permanent campaign has become part of the political landscape.

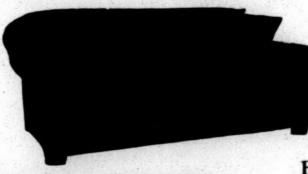

Worse, these working conditions tend to define the kinds of personalities that self-select a political career. Driven. Ambitious. Egocentric. Single-mindedly obsessive.

And that's why so many ordinary people feel so disconnected from the political system — and from the sometimes very odd and occasionally unbalanced decisions the people who inhabit the system tend to make.

New sod worth wait; CC-Traverse City should meet halfway or one Saturday in August, the boys and girls soccer players from Plymouth Canton and Salem forgot about being rivals.

Players and parents from both schools worked together in the scorching heat, laying down the new sod on the soccer field at Centennial Education Park. The finished product is a great improvement over the old turf, which would become a sloppy mess after a little rain.

It's hoped the new sod will make the facility, which is only a couple years old, one of the best in the state. A hefty donation from the Canton Soccer Club and fund-raisers by the soccer teams helped pay for the sod.

And some people paid the price for helping put

"A couple of fathers told me the next day they couldn't get out of bed," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "A lot of work went into it. There's a big affection for it.'

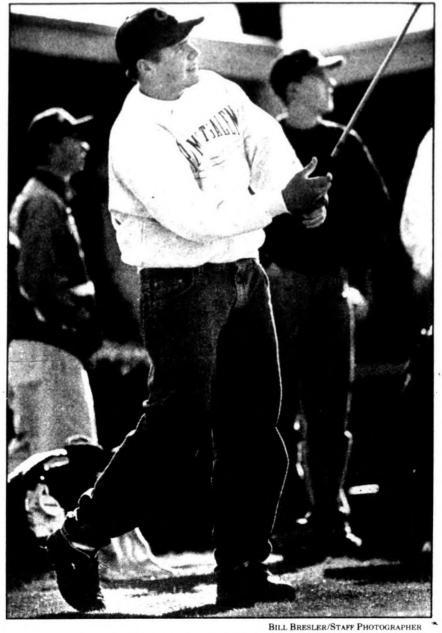

"I kept looking up to see if we were getting closer (to being done) - that's one big lawn," said Canton coach Don Smith, whose sodding experience is limited to his own yard. "It'll be worth it. It's a beautiful field.'

Let's just hope the new sod wasn't forced into action too soon. Several games, including junior varsity, have been played on the new turf. But a few were postponed after a steady rain for fear that the field would be torn up.

So far, so good.

Livonia Churchill found a fall sport in which low scores can produce positive results.

Churchill's football and girls basketball teams are struggling to put points on the board but the golf team is experiencing success while keeping its scores low. The Chargers on Tuesday capped a successful Western Lakes Activities Association season with a league championship at Brae Burn Golf Course.

Churchill, with three players in the top 12, took first place with 418 strokes, three less than second-place Walled Lake Central. Churchill was tri-champion of the Western Division along with Northville and Plymouth Canton at 4-1.

The league championship was the first for Churchill since 1986 when the Chargers took second in Class A.

'We don't get a whole lot of trophies (as a program) in the fall, so this is good for the school to pick up two trophies (league and division) and three (individual) medals," said Churchill's fourth-year coach Kirk Osler. "We knew we had as much depth as anyone and it showed since we were the only team in the tourney with six players breaking 90.'

Plymouth Salem took third (427), followed by Northville (432) and Can-

Salem was undefeated in 12 duals and the favorite to win the WLAA after going 11-0 in league play.

home medals. But the next two Rocks, including Mark Wesner, finished the course with 90s.

A 90 was uncharacteristic of Wesner, who had a string of five meets where he broke 40.

"If everyone had shot their average, I felt we had a pretty good opportunity to win tourney," Salem coach Rick Wilson said. "That happens in a oneday, one event kind of thing."

Central's Jason Malczewicz took medalist honors, shooting an 18-hole total of 76 (39-37). North Farmington's Drew Sopha was one shot off the pace, followed by Churchill's senior Jason Samelko with a 79.

"Drew had a pretty consistent round," said North coach Daryl Case, whose team placed sixth with 461 points. "The way Drew played today it would be an outside possibility he could qualify for the state meet (at

Double dose

Salem wins 1st; Canton wins again

Plymouth Salem's girls cross country team won its first championship of the fall Saturday, taking the Pioneer Invitational at Ypsilanti's Buhr Park. The Rocks had seven of the top 16 runners to take first place with 42 points. Utica Stevenson placed second with 54 points, and host Ann Arbor Pioneer was third (57).

Salem coach Mike Krafchak said the Rocks haven't done as much speed work in practice and their rested legs allowed for faster times at the invitational. Leah Retherford showed the most improvement over last year, taking third place overall in 20 minutes, 17 seconds, exactly a minute faster than 1992.

"We don't usually run very well at that course, but we ran very, very well this time," Krafchak said. "We changed our workout scheme a little, were a little less intense in practice, and the kids made nice adjustments during the middle of the race.'

Krafchak praised Stacy Moore, Emily Farrell, Kathy Jost and Lyn Sebestyen for holding off challenges from opposing schools.

Moore was seventh overall (20:27), followed in eighth place by Farrell (21:17). Jost took ninth (21:20), and Sebestyen came in 13th place (21:48).

Kelly Stankov took 15th place

(21:54), and Courtney Sheldon was 16th (22:02).

The Rocks ran their dual meet record to 3-1 with last Thursday's 15-50 victory over host Walled Lake Central.

Salem had the top seven runners.

Retherford was first (19:55), followed by Moore with a personalbest time (20:02).

Farrell was third (20:31), followed by Stankov (20:38), Jost (20:44), Sebestyen (21:00) and Sheldon (21:04).

Chiefs reign

Senior Lana Boroditsch placed first by one second Saturday, leading Plymouth Canton to a landslide victory in the nine-team Gibraltar Carlson Invitational.

The Chiefs scored 25 points, 20 fewer than second-place Brighton. Wyandotte Roosevelt was third (81), and Livonia Churchill finished fourth (131).

Boroditsch won her first invitational by finishing the course in 19 minutes, 26 seconds, one second faster than Roosevelt's Becky Caldwell.

Boroditsch's time was a personal best and the Chiefs' best ever time at Lake Erie Metro Park, according to coach George Przygod-

"It was a four-person race for 500 meters," Przygodski said. "They (Boroditsch and Caldwell) were side-by-side the whole race. Lana was just stronger at the finish, and she kept her form. That's what made the difference.'

Canton's Kathleen Landelius placed fourth (19:43). Laura McWilliams was fifth (20:03), and Becky Wolfrom sixth (20:10).

Beth Knight took ninth (20:35). Meghan Barresi placed 16th (21:40), and Tracey Cavin came in 18th (21:42).

Rice out to snap CC string

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

This is the bye week for the Detroit Lions.

Good thing, because if they were playing this Sunday in Pontiac, it would be only the second most important game in town.

It's Wisner Stadium, not the Silverdome, where the action will be as Boys Bowl foes Redford Catholic Central (4-1) and Birmingham Brother Rice (5-0) meet for the 27th time. Kickoff is 2

Needless to say, this is the top game this weekend in Observer-

Rice, considered the state's topranked team in all classes, leads the series 14-13. (There was also a 0-0 tie in 1968. CC also won a state playoff game).

CC, however, has captured seven of the last eight meetings, including the last three.

Rice won the 1989 encounter, 31-14, with a star-studded cast that included Steve Morrison and Gannon Dudlar, both defensive starters at Michigan; tight end Pete Mitchell, an All-American candidate at Boston College; Bob Utter, the starting quarterback at Iowa State; and Chris O'Brien, a starter at offensive tackle for Central Michigan.

As for the prep prognostication race, yours truly correctly picked 13 of 15 games last week to raise his overall season record to 60-14 (a blistering 81 percent).

But who' The coach, Tom Teeters? The athletic director, Marty

Nowak?

The assistant dean in charge of athletics, Midge Carleton? The player, Danielle Pfeffer?

The trainer, Kim Kotlewski? All could, and probably should, share in the responsibility (except of course Kim, who has nothing to do with anything that goes on at SC; at least that's what he insists). But it's strange. When someone knows they could be, at least in part, the reason for a major mishap, their finger is far less pointed. They say something generic, very much like what Carleton said Tuesday as we watched Pfeffer warm up for SC's match against Oakland CC: "I'm not going to blame any one person. It was a combination of factors.

Funny how that works, isn't it? Don't misunderstand me what Carleton said was absolutely accurate. What ulti-mately caused SC to forfeit all the wins it recorded in its first 11 matches was a first-class bureaucratic bumbling, one that touched everyone, but one that nobody got involved with enough to correct.

Pfeffer and SC teammate Kristen Barnes transferred to SC in January from Henry Ford CC, where they played for coach Gary Gray last year. Both had told Teeters, the SC coach, they had received their releases from Henry Ford, giving them immediate eligibility Immediately eligible?

In Barnes case, it apparently wasn't needed. She had committed to Henry Ford for only one year when she signed her letter of intent.

Pfeffer was another story. She had checked a tiny box tying her to Henry Ford for two years. Therefore, she needed a release to become eligible at

She never got it.

Teeters said he would never have seen the paperwork, in any case. Such technicalities fall under athletic director Nowak's jurisdiction.

Nowak said he asked Pfeffer for all her paperwork prior to figured, was in order. After all, she'd been in school for eight months before the fall season started.

Carleton, like everyone else involved, figured everything was taken care of.

So Pfeffer played. And SC won. Until the NJCAA discovered she was still attached to Henry Ford.

Pfeffer had to sit out two Eastern Conference matches last week, a loss to Delta and a win over Mott. She also was on the sidelines during the Schoolcraft College Invitational last weekend; the Ocelots went 4-2, finishing fourth. Henry Ford finally forwarded her release, clearing Pfeffer to play in Tuesday's conference match against OCC.

No title now But the damage is done. SC will not win the conference title for a ninth-straight time under Teeters. It will be difficult for the Ocelots to post a

.500 record. Still, it could be worse. Had the investigation come during the NJCAA Regional Tournament next month, SC could have been forced to the side-

As it now stands, the Ocelots can still go all the way to a national title. And as Teeters pointed out, "This kind of feeling helps you close ranks.' Who's to blame for this debacle? Being a lifelong underling, I've always believed the buck stops at the top. That would mean Carleton should have been more aware.

However, in my mind, that's a reach. She's too far removed from the situation. But even if you can expunge her, it's more difficult to do the same with Nowak. Transfers are a special case; my feeling is he should have investigated further, made certain of the paperwork.

That judgment is harsh, I Nowak showed me where Pfeffer had checked the small box at the bottom of one of her Henry Ford forms; that check tied her to the school for

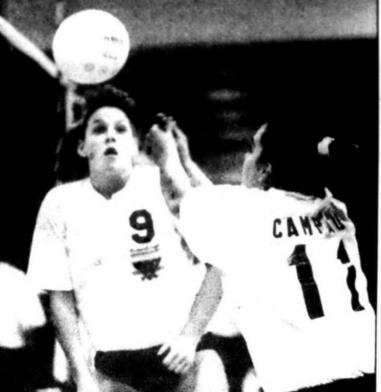

It was easy to overlook. Still, it fell under Nowak's jurisdic-

None of this releases Teeters. Ultimately, it's his program. Like football coaches at major universities, he is responsible for all facets. Special situations, such as transfers, deserve special attention.

You can bet they'll get it from now on. "We never asked for their letters of intent before, but take my word for it, we will from now on," said Carleton.

New policy can't reverse a 5-14 record. But the season's not lost, not yet. And - most importantly - Pfeffer, arguably SC's best player, is back and is

It would have been an awful shame if she had been ruled ineligible for the season.

Bumping up: Schoolcraft's Julie Campau, from Livonia Churchill, sets for teammate Danielle Sheehv.

Ocelots regroup for a 4-2 tourney

Perhaps the turbulent times that have bounced Schoolcraft College's volleyball team around the past two weeks have subsided.

One can always hope. The Ocelots had to work their way through their own Schoolcraft Invitational last weekend without perhaps their best player - Danielle Pfeffer, who was forced to the sidelines when it was discovered she had not been released from Henry Ford CC, where she played last year, to play at SC.

With Pfeffer out of action, the Ocelots struggled. They lost their opening match Friday to McHenry CC 15-9, 15-13, before battling back to win three in a row. Mott CC fell first, 15-7, 15-7, followed by 16th-ranked Belleville CC 7-15, 15-9, 16-14, and Parkland CC

Kankakee CC ended SC's run with a 7-15, 15-12, 15-6 victory.

The Ocelots ended their tournament with a 15-9, 15-3 win over Elgin for a 4-2 record, good for fourth place. Belleville won the title with a 5-1 mark, same as second-place Kankakee. McHenry, also 4-2, took third.

Danielle Sheehy, normally a middle hitter, moved outside and did so with proficiency. She had 53 kills in the tourney (.400 kill percentage). Kristen Barnes contributed 49 kills (.330) and Julie Campau added 38 kills (.440). Tricia Kazyaka collected 22 blocks and Shannon Capstick had 55 digs.

St. Louis trip uncovers SC's weaknesses

BY C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

The problem facing Schoolcraft College women's soccer coach Nick O'Shea is common; it's one every coach must face, sooner or

He has a good group of players, solid and skilled. But they aren't operating as a team.

Championship-caliber teams which O'Shea thought this might be prior to the season - have the capability to pull together when faced with a crisis. If one facet lets down, another picks up.

In two games last weekend in St. Louis, against the kind of competition SC can expect to face at the NJCAA Tournament, the Lady Ocelots came up woefully short in the championship-caliber Mental errors doomed them to a tie and a loss. Eliminate those mistakes, and SC comes home with a win and a tie. Fingers of blame are easily pointed, but fact of the matter is, not a single Ocelot played flawlessly. So all must share the responsibility.

"I think we did learn a lot this weekend. Now we've seen the level of competition from two areas (SC made a trip to Monroe, N.Y., to start the season). They've matured a lot. They know they can hang with those teams. Plus, they've learned a lot from these Learning . . . maturing . . valuable lessons, but useless if not implemented. And so far, the Ocelots have exhibited one nagging, consistent flaw: They don't learn from their mistakes.

Call it a lack of concentration or whatever, but know this - if they don't start recognizing and correcting their problems, they won't get past the opening rounds of the NJCAA Tournament.

Three mental lapses led directly to three goals over the weekend. In Saturday's 2-2 overtime tie at top-ranked Meramec CC, defender Cindi Tolstedt lined up at the near post on a Meramec corner kick. Nicole Huelsman sent the ball right at her, curving in toward the net. Tolstedt, thinking her keeper, Jenny Emmett, had called her off, ducked.

The ball went in, and Meramec had a 1-0 lead.

The Ocelots did respond. Twice, their superior speed on the forward line allowed them to take advantage of Meramec's slower defense, and both times it was Livonia Churchill graduate Andrea Zawislak who cashed it in. Her first goal came late in the first half, the culmination of a Danielle Priebe rush. Priebe's chip to Zawislak was in the net for the tying goal.

With 29 minutes left in the match, SC went ahead when Tara Shook retrieved a Meramec turnover and centered the ball to Zawislak for the go-ahead goal.

The Ocelots had control, but couldn't maintain it. With less than five minutes left, Meramec's Amy Rooney rolled a harmlesslooking shot toward the SC net. Emmett came out to stop the ball with her foot, trying to kill more time. But the ball went under her foot and into the net, tying the

What should have been a 2-0 game favoring SC ended in a tie.

Against No. 3 Florissant Valley Sunday, it was much different. SC was on the defensive throughout the first 10 minutes of the match, failing to clear the ball out of its own end in that time. Emmett was sharp, however, and that kept the game scoreless at the half - although the Ocelots missed a wide-open header with eight minutes left.

The game was decided on a direct kick just outside the penalty area with 18 minutes remaining. The SC defensive wall was slow in forming, and Emmett was caught out of position, making it easy for Florissant Valley's Molly Pardo to roll her shot past the wall and into the open side of the net.

The home team added an insurance goal in the final two minutes on a breakaway by Pam Higgins, through an SC defense that was pushed forward.

O'Shea could pick out the problems quite effortlessly. "We don't have enough quickness in the final one-third (offensive end) of the field," he noted. "What we want to do is play a slower game in the back, because we don't have the speed to move up the field real fast.

Once we get into the final onethird, we want to do the same thing we do in the back, but three or four times faster. We're quick enough, we're just not using it. 'We just don't have enough the Shamrocks' football team. Schools don't want to play the three-time state champion, so CC has had to fill out its schedule in recent years with teams from Toledo and even one from Windsor, Ontario. Rumor has it, Windsor Brennan Catholic snuck a 12th player on the field to score its only touchdown in a 37-7 CC victory earlier this year. (Canadian rules football allow 12 players on the field.)

So let's get Canada off the schedule and start an annual regular-season game matching CC and Traverse City, another three-time state champion. And let's have the game played at Central Michigan University's 20,000 seat Kelly/Shorts Stadi-

Mount Pleasant is about 21/2 hours away from the Detroit area and three hours from Traverse City so fans from both schools wouldn't have to worry about traveling nearly six hours to watch.

The Saturday of Labor Day Weekend would be a perfect date because CMU doesn't like scheduling home games over the holiday. And I won't have to wait until CMU's homecoming game to visit my alma mater.

Now, how do we get those Toledo schools off the schedule. Let's talk about a game CC knows it will play every year: The Boys Bowl against Birmingham Brother Rice.

The Shamrocks have won seven of the last eight meetings but Rice has its best team in years and CC might be hurting in Sunday's 49th Boys Bowl if starting center/defensive tackle Nick Kallas can't play because of an ankle injury.

CC's student body will be deafening at Friday's pep assembly but the Warriors will keep them silent after halftime. The Shamrocks have a strong secondary but look for Rice quarterback Derek Canine to enjoy a big day and the Warriors to win, 21-10.

Fall baseball

A fall baseball league for high chool players is finishing up this month at Henry Ford Community College.

The 16-team league is in its econd year under the guidance of Henry Ford coach Stu Rose. Games will be held every night this week and the championship game will be at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 17 at Henry Ford.

Rose said the league is for ninth through 12th graders who are staying in shape in the fall, an advantage players in the south usually have over northerners. Colleges have fall leagues but this is the only high school league in Michigan, Rose

"We're not after football players, this is just another option,' said Rose. "A lot of people are happy to have an alternative to a sportless fall. As a die-hard baseball fan, it's right up my alley. It's a great chance for some of the younger kids to play against older high school competition and get acclimated to high school ball."

Some local prospects include Plymouth Salem's David Knight, Mike Abbott, Mike Marsella and Nirav Kher.

Clarenceville at Harper Wds. Luther-an East (7 p.m.): The Trojans (2-3, 2-2) routed Lutheran Northwest last week, 37-0. Meanwhile, East (2-3, 2-2) was blanked by Lutheran North, 21-0. The key may be how much time quarterback Luvic Lucaj has to get the ball to his favorite receiver, Mark Kalaj. PICKS: O'Meara flies with the Eagles, but Emons has a hunch it's Clareno

Monroe at Redford Union (7 p.m. at Kraft Field): RU (0-5) is still looking for its first win after almost upsetting Dearborn last week. Monroe (1-4) has lost four straight since beating Plymouth Canton in overtime. This is a Mega crossover, PICKS: Mega Red (Monroe) prevails over Mega White (RU).

W.L. Western at Liv. Churchill: Westem (2-3, 1-2) is jockeying for position in the Western Division in the Western Lakes, while Churchill (0-5, 0-3) is just trying to get a victory. The Chargers have scored only 14 points all season, but the fense is respectable. PICKS: Western hands Churchill loss No. 33 in a row.

Liv. Franklin at Northville: The Patriots (1-4, 1-2) got their ground game going, but had little yardage in the ter throwing for an average of 169 yards per game the first four games. Northville (4-1, 2-1) is thinking playoffs after whipping Canton last week, 14-0. PICKS: Northville has coach Jim Karoub and the Patriots believing the Mustangs are tops in the WLAA.

Ply. Salem at Westland Glenn: This game, for all intents and purposes, will determine the Lakes Division champ in the WLAA. Salem (3-2, 2-1) beat Glenn on its last trip (1991) to the Launching Pad (Glenn's home turf). The state ranked Rockets (5-0, 3-0) may use Derek Besco again at tailback, while Salem counters with burly Rob Shepley at fullback. PICKS: Glenn sends the Rocks into Farm. Harrison at Ply. Canton: The Hawks (4-1, 3-0) can wrap up the Western Division title in the WLAA with a win, setting up a rematch with Glenn. The Chiefs (3-2, 2-1) don't seem to have enough offense as evidenced by last week's 14-0 setback to Northy PICKS: The Hawks are back in the WLAA championship game after a year layoff.

N. Farmington at W.L. Central: These are two struggling WLAA-Lakes Division teams trying to veer back on course. Central (2-3, 0-3) has yet to win the Lakes after losing last week to winless Farmington. North (1-4, 1-2) couldn't get on the board last week in a 21-0 loss at Salem. PICKS: The coin please. O'Meara figures it's North, but Emons tries his luck with Garden City at Taylor Truman: Garden City (3-2, 2-1) is still in the Mega White race after losing a crossover last week to Belleville, 20-3, Truman (2-3, 2-1) has not been blown out of any games this year, but lost last week to city rival Ken-nedy, 10-6. PICKS: Both schools are Wyandotte at Wayne Memorial: This was supposed to be a down year for the Zebras (4-1, 4-0) after last season's run into the state playoffs. But a freshman quarterback named Lorenzo Guess and a speedy supporting cast have Wayne contending again for a title in the new Mega White. Remember, the Bears (2-3, 1-3) have given Wayne trouble in the past. PICKS: Wayne shows True Grit.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all 1 p.m. unless noted)

Spartans (4-1, 2-1) proved they could play with the big boys after giving Glenn at scare last week. Farmington (1-4, 1-2) earned its first win of the year by rallying to beat Walled Lake Central. Coach Lauri Niskanen has the Falcons on the right track. PICKS: Stevenson struggles, but comes away with a win.

Melvindale at Red. Thurston: The Ea-gies (3-2, 2-2) muffed their big chance last week against Allen Park, falling 20-12. Melvindale (2-3, 2-2), meanwhile, lost to Dearborn Heights Crestwood, 22-13. PICKS: Thurston gets back on the winning track.

Luth. Westland at Lutheran N'west: No ifs and buts about it, Northwest (0-5, 0-2) is the worst team in the West Division of the Metro Conference. This is a game Lutheran Westland (1-4, 0-3) can vin. PICKS: Lutheran Westland coach Dennis Tuomi goes home a happy man

St. Agatha at Waterford Our Lady: The Aggies (3-2, 1-1) had their threegame winning streak broken by old coach John Goddard (now at Royal Oak Shrine), 21-6. Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes (5-0, 2-0) is rated No. 3 in Class DD by the Detroit Free Press and No. 7 in the News. PICKS: It's a joint operating agreement, Land of Lakes is best.

Bishop Borgess vs. Det. Benedictine (1:30 p.m. at Garden City Jr. High): The Spartans (0-5, 0-2) haven't won a game since Walt Bazylewicz was coach. Borgess is fighting a 15-game losing streak (dating back to 1991). Coach Craig James' team made a respectable show ing last week in a 22-6 loss to Tri-Sectional co-leader Riverview Gabriel Richard. PICKS: Benedictine given the edge.

SUNDAY'S GAME

Redford CC vs. Birm. Brother Rice (2 p.m. at Pontiac's Wisner Stadis is supposed to be Rice's year. The unbeaten Warriors (5-0, 1-0) are nationally-ranked, state-ranked and possess a strong passing combination in quarterback Derek Canine and wide receiver Brian Kalczynski. Marcus Harvey is also a quick tailback. CC (4-1, 1-0) must compensate for the loss of center/defensive tackle Nick Kallas, who is questionable because of an injury. The Shamrocks, however, all the intangibles going for them as underdog. PICKS: Emons picks the Shamrocks, but O'Meara likes Rice.

Craven wins gold

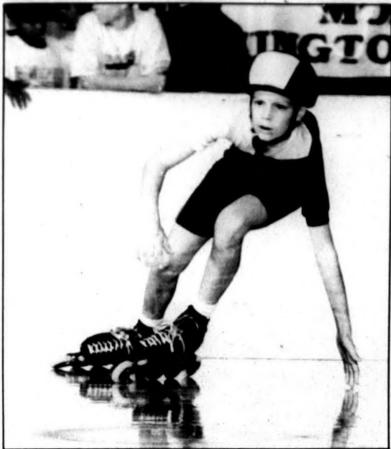

Charlie Craven completed a successful first year of roller speed skating by winning a gold medal at the national championships in Pensacola, Fla.

Skating on in-line skates, the Elementary Four Mixed relay of Lyndsay Cobb (Roseville), Angie Cruice (Troy), Alex Seczney (Leslie) and Craven won the gold and established a national record with a 3:25.66 time.

The 12-year-old Craven qualified for the Standard and Junior Olympic championships as a member of the Great Skate Wolverine Speed Club. The team tied with Iowa for the nationalpoint championship in the Standard Division.

At the Great Lakes Regional in the Standard Division, the fourperson mixed and four-boy 2,000meter relays finished first. In the JO Division, the two-person mixed and two-boy teams that included Craven finished first. Craven was second in individual competition.

Craven, a seventh grader at West Middle School in Plymouth, is the son of Charles and Gail Craven of Plymouth Township.

The Blazers have won five in a row to move to 7-1 overall. Ladywood hosts undefeated Central Division rival Birmingham Marian to-Ladywood outscored Regina 18-8 in the first quarter and 25-16 in the fourth. Junior forward Tara Overaitis led the Blazers with 18 points and held Regina's top player Tamika Bates scoreless for three quarters. Bates, who picked up three fouls in the first quarter, finished with six points.

Sophomore guard Kerry Duggan made four three-point shots and finished with 14 points. Junior Maura Duggan also made two shots from three-point range and finished with eight points.

Bowler Sill going strong on pro tour

time Aleta Sill was ready to depart for a five-city stretch on the fall Ladies Professional Bowling Tour, I was able to get some of her views of the today's bowling scene. Sill, a former resident of Westland and Garden City, is now living in Dearborn. She has been one of the top competitors on the LPBT for the past 13 years, has made more than 60 appearances on televised finals and is in second place in the all-time money winn-

I asked her what her present goals are. She replied that she would like to stay on the pro tour as long as her physical condition will allow. The long, hard grind of being a professional bowler does take its toll. Tendons, ligaments, muscles and bones can stand only so much. and to keep sharp, a pro has to get in lots of practice in addition to the many games of competition.

try their skills on the tour, Sill has some good advice: "Don't expect the same lane conditions as you are used to bowling on in the local houses.

They make the shot a lot tougher, and the quality of the competition is so good, that anyone who cashes in has to be in top form and play the lanes just right.

The greatest difference between a good league bowler and a pro is the ability to "read to lanes" correctly and then play the shot accordingly. For those who are fortunate enough to make the TV finals, the task gets even more difficult as the lighting, the hushed audience and the emotional make-up create a changed environment from what is normally

Sill will be on the road for several weeks with stops in Claymont, Del., Baltimore, Pittsburg, South Bend, Ind., and Rockford, Ill., followed by another long hike to Las Vegas for three tournaments over a two-week period at Sam's

I'm sure all of Sill's friends and former neighbors in Westland and Garden City wish her good luck.

Sill offers a special tip for bowlers: "A big difference between bowlers and golfers is that if a golfer is having trouble he or she will go to a pro and get some help. On the other hand, a struggling bowler will usually try to make their own corrections. It is just as tough to learn to bowl well as to be a good golfer, seek out a professional to help improve your

Of course, Sill is one of the very fine instructors in the area and is at Satellite Bowl (Mondays through Fridays) when not on the tour. Call the Bowler's Aid Pro Shop at Sattelite to schedule an ap-

Chiefs break winless streak

Plymouth Canton's boys soccer team broke a five-game winless streak Monday, beating host Walled Lake Western 4-0 in a Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division game. The Chiefs, who had not won since Sept. 20, are 5-7-1 overall and 3-2-1 in the WLAA (1-2 in the Western Division). Canton also had a streak of winless games at the start of the sea-

"We had a couple bad streaks and hope to get some-thing together soon," Canton coach Don Smith said.

Canton led 2-0 at halftime and the shutout was shared by goalkeepers George Tomasso and Shaun Conway.

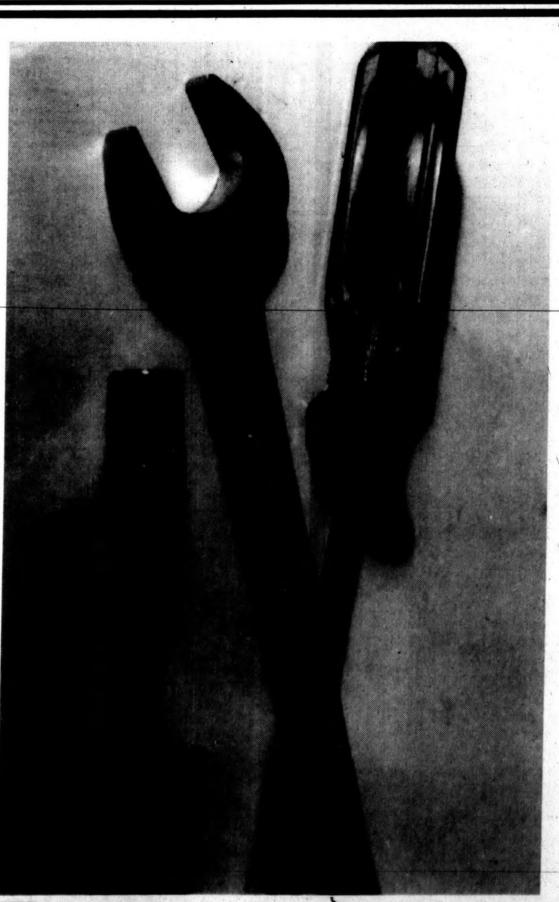

Four players scored one goal each: junior midfielder Jeff Fliss; junior stopper Graham Wilk; junior midfielder Lance Pellow; and junior forward Jeff SOCCER

Fliss had one assist and sophomore forward Evan Sabourin added a pair of assists.

SALEM 6, W.L. CENTRAL 0: Walled Lake Central continues to be one of the mystery teams in the WLAA.

Plymouth Salem on Monday had no trouble against Central, winning the Lakes Division game, 6-0. Central had upset the WLAA defending-champion Livonia Franklin the week before and Salem coach Ken Johnson was expecting a better challenge.

Salem, which got two goals and an assist from sophomore forward Matt Simmons, improved to 6-5-2 overall, 5-2-1 in the WLAA and 2-1 in the

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's 1993-94 concert season promises to be a season to remember with an eclectic array of musical selections, and guests artists that range from soprano, Glenda Kirkland to flutist, Alexander Zonjic.

In celebration of the arts the orchestra, under director/conductor, Russell Reed opens its 48th season with the 19th century romanticism of French, German and Norwegian composers 8 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 9 at Belleville High School Auditorium, 501 W. Columbia.

Internationally recognized pianist, Flavio Varani of Birmingham takes center stage as featured artist in Edvard Grieg's "Piano Concerto in A minor, Op. 16."

Tickets are $12 (seniors, $10; K-12, $5) and available in Plymouth at Evola Music Center, 215 Ann Arbor Road and Beitner Jewelry at 904 W. Ann Arbor Trail; in Canton at Dearborn Music Co., 42679 Ford Road; in Northville at Gitfiddler, 302 E. Main Street and Bookstall on the Main 101 N. Center, and at the auditorium box office 45 minutes before performances. For more information call the PSO office at 451-2111.

"It's an exciting program, all 19th century music. We have French, Norwegian and German composers, and their approaches are very different," said Reed now in his seventh full season at the helm of the PSO.

"Berlioz is early romantic, brilliantly orchestrated. Grieg is standard for the late 19th century and a great showpiece for the pianist. Wagner is the epitome of the philosophy of big orchestral work: extra instruments, Artist-in-residence and professor of music at Oakland University in Rochester Hills for 19 years, Varani has performed in France, Germany, Austria, South America, Spain, Italy, Poland, Japan, Israel, and the former Soviet Union.

A child prodigy born in Brazil, Varani first toured with the Brazilian National Symphony at age 10. As his musical talents grew, competition strengthened his abilities. At 13, Varani won the Sao Paulo City Award to study in Paris under Magda Tagliaferro and at 18, first prize in the Chopin International Competition in Mallorca, Spain. At 20, he came to the United States to complete his studies at The Juilliard School with Rosina Lhevinne, and with Artur Balsam and Dora Zaslavsky at the Manhattan School of Music in New York City.

For the last two summers, Varani has served as artistic director of the International Academy for Advanced Chamber Music Studies in Munich, Germany.

"It's wonderful to have a pianist of Flavio Varani's capabilities opening the new season," said Plymouth Symphony Society president, Linda Alvarado.

"Anyone who comes is guaranteed a fulfilling and enriching experience."

Competent cast makes best of bland 'Foreigner'

HUGH GALLAGHER Larry Shue's "The Foreigner" is a sitcom for stage. It's broad, artificial, illogically plotted and tagged with a moral to give it "weight." It's the typical summer stock fare that gives employment to soap opera actors and former sit-com stars.

The Meadow Brook Theatre production has its fair share of laughs, drawing on the acting of a competent cast and Shue's ability to agitate a comic scene. All the noise and sputter don't amount to much, but after a tediously slow start the production rolls pleasantly along.

The setting is a backwoods Georgia fishing lodge to which a shy, insecure British proofreader is brought by his more outgoing British military friend. The shy proofreader wants to be left alone and divorce himself from having to converse with others, so his friend tells the easily gullible hicks that his friend is a "foreigner" who can't speak English.

On that frail premise Shue whips up a story about finding one's place by helping others and throws in the Ku Klux Klan as convenient if over"THE FOREIGNER" worked villains.

All of the characters are cliches from the grandmotherly owner of the dilapidated lodge whom actress Linde' Hayen obviously based on Granny Clampett to the smarter than you think "halfwit." The actors seem to have fun with these overblown caricatures but it all seems so calculated that audiences might not be as indulgent.

Wil Love takes the title role with his usual exuberance but the transformation from repressed Brit to outgoing hero is too transparently false. Still he gets howls when he tells a tale in a gloriously invented language and clever physical gyrations.

Comedy: Linde' Hayden and Wil Love appear in Meadow

Standing out in this cast are James Anthony and Alexander Webb. Anthony has the thankless task of playing a redneck Georgia cracker full of vile complete with huntin' outfit. He does a fine job of making the character believable as well as menacing.

Webb just about steals the show as the "halfwit" brother who shows more undertanding and intelligence than those around him. Webb is hilarious in both a breakfast pantomime routine with the skillful Love and in his droll timing in responses to others.

Paul Hopper effects a rollicking good working class British accent as the demolition expert soldier. Lance Retallick and Tamara Evans round out the cast with competent performances.

The notes say this is one of director Carl Shurr's favorite plays. It's hard to see why it would be anyone's favorite play. But Shurr and his cast make the best of a bland situation (comedy that is) avoided seeing The Joy Luck Club." She suspects that the subtlety she loved so much in Amy Tan's bestselling novel will be lost under the heavy hand of Hollywood. She's right. The movie is manipulative and often schmaltzy, trying to milk tears at every turn. Still, as co-scripted by Tan and directed by Wayne Wang, it presents genuine emotion and unforgettable characters.

An ambitious project, "The Joy Luck Club" traces four families over three generations in a complex tapestry of flashbacks within flashbacks. The transplanted Chinese women formed the title club in the 1950s, meeting for weekly games of mahjong and gos-

One of the women has recently died, and her daughter June (Ming-Na Wen) now sits down to the dining room table with her "aunties." Like just about everything in the movie, this has great significance.

'I realized now that they were expecting me to take my mother's place," June reflects, unleashing a flood of memories about her often stormy relationship with her mother.

It appears that June, from a very early age as a reluctant piano pupil, could never please her demanding mother. She's constantly compared to "cousin" Waverly, the chess-playing prodigy who makes the cover of Life.

In one of the movie's funniest scenes, Waverly's proud mother walks through Chinatown streets with her daughter in one hand and the Life cover very conspicuously propped against her chest. When the bratty Waverly refuses to compete one day, she and her mother launch a lifelong game of emotional chess where the older woman invariably wins.

In this and the other two families, the mothers can't understand why their daughters, who seemingly have everything, should botch their lives so terribly. Flashbacks reveal turbulent times back in China, where June's mother was forced during wartime to abandon her twin babies by the side of the road. Ultimately, "The Joy Luck Club" is about hope, with the idea that spirit can be passed down from generation to generation, providing it's there to give.

The performances by the mothers are outstanding while some of the daughters, especially Ming-Na Wen's June, come off a bit stiff. In the modern scenes, her portrayal of contentment, gazing out a window with her hands wrapped around a hot mug of coffee, looks like a Maxwell House commercial.

Writer Tan, who also serves as co-producer, had a large hand in bringing her novel to the screen. Despite her best efforts (along

A series of seven major programs color the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's 1993-94 season. All concerts begin at 8 p.m. unless otherwise noted. Call 451-2111 for individual concert, and season ticket information.

Due to the failure of two recent millage proposals in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District, the PSO was forced to seek concert halls for all of its programming this season, elsewhere. Director/conductor Russell Reed chooses to see the new sites as a plus instead of a minus.

"We're developing new audiences for the Plymouth SymphoPREVIEW ny," he said. On Nov. 14, "An Orchestra Safari," for the family takes place in the Novi High School Auditorium. The 3 p.m. matinee features the talented young pianist, Joshua Cullen in the first movement of Mozart's "Piano Concerto in C Major, K. 415." Trudy Bradley of WQRS will narrate the afternoon offering showcasing Britten's "Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra, Op. 34.'

"Deborah Rebeck-Ash is writing the narration for the program which inludes music from all of the Disney, all of the Saturday morning favorites," said Linda Alvarado, Plymouth Symphony Society president.

"We're hoping that Joshua Cullen will bring inspiration to young people so they become interested in classical music." Ticket prices for the safari are $6 (seniors, $5 and K-12, $3.)

For the third holiday season, the PSO joins forces with the Plymouth Canton Ballet Company, under artistic director Dawn Greene, to present three performances of Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker 8 p.m, Dec. 3-4, and 3 p.m., Dec. 5 in the Novi High School Auditorium.

Canton Township dancer Dawnell Dryja, on temporary leave from her new position with the Metropolitan Ballet Theatre (Detroit's first professional ballet company), performs the lead role of Sugar Plum Fairy.

Tickets for these performances have been sold out by curtain time the past three years. Prices are $14 (seniors, $14 and K-12,

The PSO has expanded its annual chamber concert to two evenings of intimacy and refine-ment Jan. 28 at the Novi Civic Center, and Jan. 29 at the Plymouth First Presbyterian Church. The program spotlights members of the orchestra, and its 1994 Youth Artist Winners. The same ticket prices apply as for the Nov.

Feb. 26, flutist Alexander Zonic and his quintet liven up the Novi High School Auditorium with "Jazz Plus."

To close the season, the orchestra will "Ring In The Spring" with its annual benefit pops concert April 29 at the Golden Fox, Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth.

The rousing music of Andrew

Lloyd Webber is sure to move the audience with selections from "Cats," "Evita," "Jesus Christ Superstar," and "The Phantom of the Opera." Guest artists are the Detroit Handbell Ensemble under director, Susan Berry and commentator, Paul Russell of WQRS. Tickets for concert and dinner are $35 (seniors, $35 and K-12, $25) and for concert and desert only, $15 (seniors, $15 and K-12, $10.)

Thanks to the efforts of PSO vice president in charge of planning, Mary Jo Braun and husband, Bob, all of the programs have corporate sponsorship.

DURR LANDS CONTRACT

Plymouth-based Durr Industries, Inc. was awarded a $100 million-plus contract from BMW Manufacturing Corp. for installation of the painting system at the automaker's new Greenville, S.C., plant.

The contract calls for installation of the paint shop, environmental controls and materials handling equipment. Work began in August 1993 and should be finished by August 1994.

■ EXEC TEMP SERVICE

Sales Consultants of Plymouth has launched a new division called InterExec. a temporary placement service for professionals, including attorneys, accountants, consultants and physicians.

The agency fills openings caused by hiring freezes, transfers, promotions, terminations, illness, maternity leave and vacations and places executives on special assignments.

"As the country begins to move toward a leaner corporate staff, the use of temporary executives continues to grow. InterExec will provide the workforce on an interim basis without the high cost of a permanent hire," said Patricia Redmond, InterExec director.

■ NEW ARBOR DRUGSTORE

Arbor Drugs will open four new metro-Detroit stores by year's end, including one in Southfield.

Target opening for the store at 26020 W. 12 Mile (at Northwestern Highway) is early November.

■ NEW IMAGE

Body By You in Farmington Hills has changed its name to The Firm, announced Don Frazier, president and founder of the seven-year-old fitness center.

Frazier, who started cardiovascular training at age 15 to control his asthma, said the new name sharpens the center's image: "Many people interpreted Body By You as strictly a body building gym. The Firm emphasizes the body-building aspects of physical training and a program of good health and well being.'

Frazier's client roster includes many pro athletes, including Isiah Thomas, James Toney and

Earl Cureton. Besides body building and weight training, the center offers aerobics, weight reduction programs and nutrition counseling, group or corporate wellness programs and cardiovascular evalua-

WLLZ-FM deejay Sheri Donovan will host The Firm's grand opening, noon to 3 p.m Saturday, Oct. 16, at 30006 W. 12 Mile, between Orchard Lake Road and Middlebelt.

NEW LABEL

Express Services Temporary & Permanent Personnel has changed its name to Express Personnel Services, announced John P. Bower, franchisee of the Troy and Farmington Hills locations.

"The company is broadening its scope to include new staffing options. With that in mind, the name was chosen for clarity (and because it is) all-inclusive,' Bower said.

Second-quarter sales in metro-Detroit are up 27 percent compared to a year earlier, Bower said. He predicts 1993 will be the agency's "best year ever."

Express is an international company offering temporary help, permanent job placement, executive recruiting and employee leas-

PAPER CHASE

360COM Systems, a Livoniabased company, has come up with a high-tech way to handle up to 700,000 computer-generated pag-es on a single 5¼-inch optical

The DMS-360 will manage scanned, faxed, paper-based documents, computer generated reports and print files. Stored information can be accessed from remote locations to eliminate duplication and files can be retrieved, printed, faxed or sent via digital communication lines.

Stored documents are exact copies that include handwritten notes, signatures and stamps. The system starts at less than $15,000. "We're finding the system's cost can be easily justified purely by eliminating lost paperwork,' said Harvey Gross, company president.

TURF'S UP

3-Dimensional Services, a Rochester Hills engineering and manufacturing firm, and Michigan State University have developed a natural-grass playing sur-face for enclosed sports stadiums. Turf Box Pallet System is made of a series of shallow, hexagonshaped boxes filled with sod. Each box (resembling a flat of nursery plants) is made of highstrength, lightweight steel and measures 71/2 feet across.

Installing the indoor pallets is similar to placing basketball flooring over the ice in indoor arenas. The pallet's accurate fit allows sod to fit tightly, giving a virtually seamless surface.

"The system gives indoor and open-air stadiums greater design flexibility with respect to the events they can handle, providing the ability to switch playing surfaces quickly," said Alan Peterson, 3-Dimensional sales mana-

■ NEW TESTER

Canton-based Michigan Induction has purchased a Vesitron Rockwell Hardness Testing System to improve accuracy and overall data collection at its accredited laboratory.

Michigan Induction provides heat treatment process development and statistical process control analysis.

Changes made at Ross Roy

Ross Roy Group, a Bloomfield Hills-based advertising and marketing company, filled two key posts and merged several subsidiaries into one company called Ross Roy Communications Inc.

Peter Mills, chairman, said the company's new structure "is expected to be more cost effective in what is an increasingly competitive business.'

Mills forsees no layoffs.

Richard Ward, president of the communications unit, becomes vice chairman of Ross Roy Communications.

Ward, a 15-year employee who lives in Rochester Hills, will recruit clients and remain on the Chrysler account.

Timothy Copacia, formerly senior vice president at BBDO-Detroit, was named executive vice president and director of account services for Chrysler.

Bosch working on better air

Bosch, whose automotive group is in Farmington Hills, says it has the technology to help the Big Three domestic auto manufacturers and the federal government in their partnership to develop a highly fuel- efficient and environmentally friendly "super car." Bosch is a leading manufacturer of electronic engine management systems.

"Since the development of the oxygen sensor, which is a critical component of the catalytic converter, Bosch has had a rich history of developing components and systems that increase fuel economy and reduce emissions," said Joseph V. Borruso, senior vice president - sales and engineering for Robert Bosch Corp.'s Automotive Group.

"We're confident that our technology will continue to make contributions in the development of fuel-efficient and low-emission vehicles of the future.'

Bosch innovations introduced at the recent International Automobile Exhibition in Frankfurt, Germany, are the result of ongoing research and development activities taking place at the company's facilities worldwide, he said.

In addition to light-weight materials and aerodynamic designs, higher quality engine-management systems would make the cars of the future cleaner, more fuel-efficient and more reliable. Bosch is working to integrate several engine-management functions into a single electronic control unit. Bosch's latest example of this is the Motronic MP6 system for four-cylinder engines.

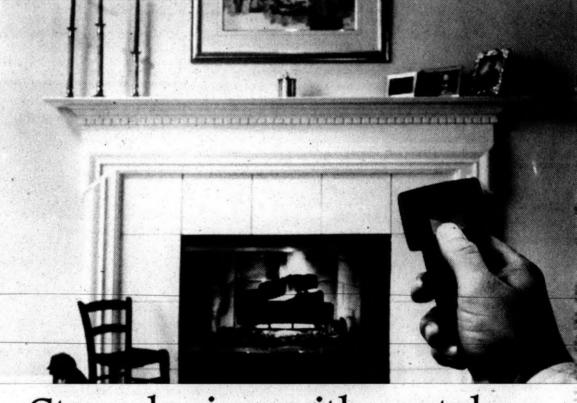

The hybrid design offers compact componentry, resistance to temperatures and vibration and high- performance fuel injection, ignition control and oxygen control. Most of the harmful emissions emitted by a car are produced in the first few minutes after the car is started, before the catalytic converter is hot enough.

To help resolve this, Bosch has developed a secondary air system. This system injects air into the exhaust manifold to produce extra-hot exhaust gas immediately after starting to quickly heat up the catalytic converter while reducing hydrocarbons and carbon

Once the catalytic converter is working at its peak effectiveness, the system returns to normal op-

RK SURGERY INFORMATION BULLETIN RK Surgery is short for Refractive Surgery. It is a surgery for myopia or nearsighted people to potentially eliminate the need of eye glasses or contact lenses. It is performed in an office outpatient setting without the use of laser. Laser Refractive Surgery is performed with an Excimer Laser and is called Photo Refractive Keratoplasty and is also performed as an outpatient.

The Michigan Eyecare Institute feels this is a wonderful procedure for thousands of people but not all people are candidates.

The doctors at the Michigan Eyecare Institute have had more years of experience with RK Surgery and Excimer Laser Surgery than any other doctors in the midwest. Dr. Myers is the first doctor currently practicing in Michigan to have performed the procedures. Dr. Myers and Dr. Rubinstein are the first doctors in Michigan to have performed any type of surgery with Excimer Laser.

The Michigan Eyecare Institute recommends if you are contemplating Refractive Surgery to investigate how many years the doctor you are electing to perform the procedure has been doing it and how many patients they have performed it on. Also you may ask how many lectures and papers they have written concerning their data, results and methods.

The doctors of the Michigan Eyecare Institute have lectured internationally about Refractive Surgery and Excimer Laser Surgery and have taught the procedures to other ophthalmologists for 15 years and welcome you to visit their offices for a consultation or free evaluation as to whether you or your family members or friends are a candidate for the procedure.

Please cut this bulletin out and use it for a reference if you are contemplating Refractive Surgery. The Michigan Eyecare Institute has 4 offices in Southeastern Michigan. Call 1-800-676-EYES for further information.

Get organized

Take time to discard the clutter

This is Get Organized Week. Sponsored by the National Association of Professional Organizers, the observance is designed to motivate us to streamline our lives by clearing off our desks, purging files, getting rid of clutter and better planning our time and Taking control involves both the broad picture and small details, organizing experts maintain. "One of the great problems is being overwhelmed with too much to do," said Dorothy Lehmkuhl, proprietor of Organizing Techniques in Bloomfield Township and national coordinator of Get Organized Week.

Her big point - you can't be all things to all people.

"Everyone wants to be successful...by saying, 'Yes, yes, I can do it,' "Lehmkuhl said. "The more you say yes, the more you ultimately say no because you can't do everything.' Most of us recognize that we can take steps to improve organization in the workplace, said Ann Savell, a Birmingham consultant who specializes in office organizing, space planning and corporate

"I gave a talk recently to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce the office and people were sitting there nodding in agreement," she said.

So why is it difficult to translate thought into action?

"We'll find little ways to avoid things until it's serious," Savell said. "We say to ourselves, 'I'm kind of disorganized, but still functioning.' When the cost of a problem is big time, then there's motivation."

"It's not fun," Lehmkuhl said of the procrastination. "It seems, and emphasize the word seems, a low priority. People tend to gravitate to work that is enjoyable.' Before we know where we're going, we have to know where we are, organizers said.

'I think the main issue is lack of thinking through an entire process or what is to be accomplished, what is to be done," Savell said.

"Learn your capabilities," Lehmkuhl advised. "Use a Daytimer and block out all your tasks - not just appointments - when you do what, how long it takes."

Michelle DuMouchelle, a certified public accountant who operates Simply Organization in Northville, continued in that

"People need to schedule time to get their thoughts together ei-about cleaning off the desk and ther at the beginning or the end of a day," she said. "Things happen so fast in the workplace and people are always pulling at you.'

Physical clutter can hurt business performance.

"I've seen it happen," Du-Mouchelle said. "People miss appointments if they don't write on calendars. It could be a big money "It's too easy not to follow up on a good lead, too easy not to process an order that gets lost in papers on a desk," Lehmkuhl

When it comes to organizing, one size or plan apparently doesn't fit all.

"Organizing isn't always neat, but a system that works for you and your company and you can monitor," Savell said.

The individual situation dictates what has to be done and I think the simpler the better," Du-Mouchelle said.

A few general organizing tips from the experts: ■ Throw out what you don't Organize supporting work materials so you don't have to physically get up and walk to get them.

Herald Wholesale sets hospital benefit high-end decorative plumbing,

The Bloomfield Township owner of Herald Wholesale's newly remodeled decorative plumbing, lighting and hardware showroom will host an open house to benefit Children's Hospital of Michigan 5-8 p.m. today, Oct. 7.

The Oak Park showroom is at 20830 Coolidge, between Eight and Nine Mile. All donations collected during the event will go to the 107-year-old hospital's Rehabilitation Center.

Owner and president Gerald Katz will host the champagne and hors d'oeuvres fund-raiser to spotlight innovative ideas in lighting and hardware design.

Katz will take the opportunity to unveil one of his store's newest products: a Kallista solid copper bathtub set with hand shower priced at $35,500. The tub was handcrafted by the same coppersmiths who refurbished the Statue of Liberty. It measures 65 inches in length and 32 inches in width and is unusually deep. It's part of Kallista's Archeo Suite of copper bathtub, wash basin and

More than 40,000 items of inventory are on display in the 15,000-square-foot showroom, including every major product line in hardware, plumbing and lighting. Faucet and shower heads are fully operational with running water. One-of-a-kind attractions include a shower with 40 shower heads, 15 body sprays, four hand showers, three rain bars and five exotic tub fillers.

Herald Wholesale will mark its 40th anniversary in November. The family-owned company has grown from four employees to 71. Regular hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Know what to look for in child care

Like millions of parents, arranging the best possible child care for their child, many concerns come to mind. One concern is what questions to ask and what responses to expect.

A friend of mine from high school days, whom I haven't seen or heard from since graduation, looked me up because she had heard I could help her with some of the concerns she had regarding child care selection. This friend has a toddler of 18 months, her very first child, and she like many others pondered over where to look for care . . . quality. Actually, my friend admitted to having some fears about not finding the "right one."

What's out there? How can I be sure the center or family day care home caregiving staff will do the right things for and with my child? Will they have the necessary skills or training to work with my child? There are so many centers listed in the Yellow Pages. How do I choose?

My high school chum told me that she had heard some horror stories, and how trendy sales tactics like declaring quality through their particular program can make selecting even more difficult. I listened very closely and between a few OKs, uh uh, right, let her know I understood.

I assured her that there's a good and practical way of selecting child care. One thing I did tell her was most parents want the best for their precious little person, and that the best may vary from parent to parent, family to family. Around this time of the year when parents are scouting around town in search of child care, I find that information on "What to Look For" is always

On the job:

Bryan Walters has proven he's up to the task in the workplace even though he is mentally challenged.

Retarded prove their job ability

Life can be a challenge if you're able-bodied. It's even more of challenge if you have a disability. But employers are finding mentally challenged individuals with some help can be some of the most reliable employees.

BY SUE MASON STAFF WRITER

Bryan Walters admitted he was a bit afraid at the thought of changing jobs. But two months after the fact, he wouldn't think of going back.

Changing jobs is difficult for the average person, but more so for Walters. Mentally challeneged, his change was from a sheltered workshop to an hourly job at a small aviation-related business.

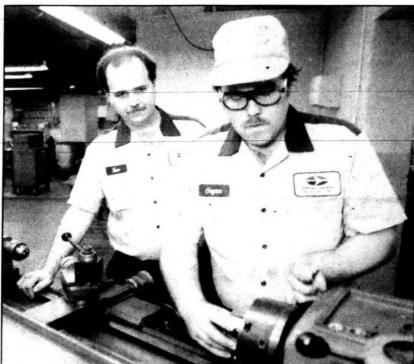

"I love it," a smiling Walters said. "At first I felt lost and scared, but after I got used to it and started talking to the guys . . . I love right where I'm at. I wouldn't want to go back.'

Walters is a success story that the Wayne County Associations for the Retarded and the Michigan Rehabilitation Services hope will catch the attention of corporate leaders. Those are the people who can find jobs for the handicapped cially during this week, named Investing in Ability Week in Michigan. The week has been set aside to promote handicapped employment by encouraging employers - and people in general - to focus on their abilities not their perceived disabilities.

"If I had a wish list at the top of the list would be employer awareness,' said Kim Wells, an employment training specialist. "We need to see this marketed at the corporate level. We can hit the managers but they won't make the decision. It has to be done at the corporate level.

The message WCAR wants to get to potential employers is that it can

lower their personnel costs (recruitment, hiring, training and supervision) and reduce the time spent training new workers by using the supported employment program. The organization also tosses in a few buzz words that businesses look for in new hirings - "motivated, successful, capable, stable and dependable"-and tax credits and deductions for hiring and accommodating the handicapped.

Supported employment

Walters is part of the Western Wayne Supported Employment Project, a joint venture of MRS and WCAR, soon to be known as STEP

(Services to Enhance Potential). WCAR targets a person like Walters for employment, finds the job, helps with the interview and does the paperwork. MRS, a part of the state Department of Education, then steps in to provide an individual written rehabilitation program - the job goal and services necessary for successful employment.

If the employee needs work clothes, help with transportation or in Walters' case, work boots, MRS takes care of it. WCAR then comes up with a job coach that helps the employee's on-the-job training.

The joint venture is about to wrap upits second year and has successfully placed some 70 percent of the 41 individuals identified for employment.

"There's no real criteria for determining who gets placed, only a desire and a reasonable expectation of their ability to work with support or without support," said Dan Dankoff MRS rehabilitation counselor. "Our goal and mission is to get these individuals out of the work shop and into community-based jobs

"This is the first program of this nature and it's been incredibly suc $cessful\, because of the \, people \, involved$ and their dedication.

The program offers both individual employment prospects as well as enclaves so "people with needs" can get out into the community. The enclaves include a supervisor and at least three workers who may need prompting to move to the next task or help with the toileting or the like.

The enclaves are "a good stepping stone" to individual employment and generally the crews go from place-toplace doing maintenance of office cleaning. The supervisor provides the crew's mobility.

Anewjob

Walters had been doing maintenance work at the Livonia Skills Center when the opportunity to work for Approved Aircraft Accessories Inc. in Romulus surfaced. The company had approached WCAR in hopes of finding some temporary workers.

But the agency shuns such assignments because of the costs involved in training the employee, preferring regular employment of at least 15 hours a week. That was no problem for Approved Aircraft, which offered placement of 15 hours a week and up to 40 hours during busier times

Wells helped Walters with the job interview and paperwork and even to break the news to his mother that he had a new job - sand blasting landing gears of aircraft.

When he first called, he couldn't talk to her," she said. "He called, said 'I got the job' and that was it. He was crying so hard he couldn't talk."

Our young writer today is both interesting and somewhat complex. Stated succinctly, she cannot be read like an open book.

She wants to be admired and perceived as larger than life. Yet she appears to be some what of an enigma to others and possibly even to herself at times.

She has an unconscious desire to be independent and to free herself from the fetters of convention and tradition. The shadow side, however, suggests an emotional need to return to the security of the mother figure or the past. Emotions play a large role in our writer's personality. This woman is extroverted in areas of endeavor. When establishing emotional relationships, she is sensitive, sympathetic and somewhat introverted.

Each of the above statements suggest the ambivalent feelings and indecision she often experiences. She is very young and developing good coping skills, but may find it beneficial to stop and try to work through these seeming contradictions.

In her schooling she has a desire to perform well. She works for accuracy with the possible exception of spelling which would benefit from a little extra attention.

Our writer has a tendency toward haste and carelessness at times. As a result she probably ends up bruising or cutting her-

"We're really excited about the fund-raiser; it's generating a lot of interest," said Cassie who formed "Project SMILE" to oversee the event. It's (St. Mary's Hospital) located in the 'golden corridor.' It has the ability to expand. Most hospitals of that kind are locked

Because the hospital has the room to expand, Cassie said, the majority of the doctors will be under one roof as opposed to several branches like other hospitals.

Already, she said, the event has helped one woman, a volunteer who was terrified of hospitals.

"She had somebody turn her attitude around; she's helping with it and coming to the functions," she said.

In planning the event hosted by Channel 7's John Kelly and Marilyn Turner, Cassie recruited community members and co-workers.

"We've all pulled together for the better of the community," she said.

Among the evening's activities include modeling of women's fashions by the Elle Shop of Dearborn, and men's fashions by Manno Clothier of Dearborn. West Bloomfield hair designer Raphael will also introduce his new perfume, "Giving," and special one-of-a-kind creations and hair styles.

And those participants who come dressed as their favorite Hollywood star can win a "prize."

Artist Janelle Agar will present original artworks "Spirit of St. Mary" to St. Mary Hospital; 'Spirit of Loving Care" to William Beaumont Hospital; and "Spirit of Giving" to the highest contributor.

Tickets for "Hollywood Nights" are $30 per person and include dinner, the fashion show and cash bar. Those who donate more than $100 will be recognized in the fashion show catalog.

ister of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Campbell graduated cum laude in 1965 from Wake Forest University where he received a bachelor of arts degree. He completed work on his master of divinity degree in 1968 and his doctor of divinity degree in pastoral care and counseling in 1969, both at Vanderbilt University Divinity School.

The training program in pastoral counseling and psychotherapy, which Campbell will administer, trains clergy and other religious professionals who want to specialize in that area of counseling. The three-year program is affiliated with the Ecumenical Theological Center in Detroit, Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary in

Evanston, Ill., and McCormack Theological Seminary in Chicago,

The center provides the clinical training component which doctor of ministry students in those schools must have to complete requirements for their degrees. It also helps students in Michigan meet requirements for licensing as professional counselors. Graduates of the program also are eligible to apply for membership in the American Association of Pastoral Counselors.

The Samaritan Counseling Center of Southeastern Michigan is supported by an ecumenical consortium of 25 area churches to provide pastoral counseling and psychotherapy to the churches and the larger community.

Families are being redefined every day with new options in parenthood becoming available.

One not-so-new option seems to be gaining acceptance as more children are in need of a loving and caring environment in which to grow.

The Michigan Association of Single Adoptive Parents has brought together a large family of single people who have opened their hearts and their homes to young people from this country and others, and who are considering the possibility of doing so.

We feel it is important for the kids growing up to see families like their own where mommy or daddy doesn't necessarily look like them," said Janet Way, president of MASAP.

Way, a Centerline resident, has adopted two children, a daughter from India and a son from Bul-

"We get stares sometimes and I have to remind myself that the kids look different from me and that is probably what the stare is about," Way said.

She adopted her daughter as an infant from India in 1986 and it took five years to find her a sibling. Her son came to her from Bulgaria when he was 4 years old. She first met him when he was almost 3. "Right after the adoption process, Bulgaria shut down to single-parent adoptions," she within the year. "I have always considered adoption even if marriage was part of the picture," Williams said. She found MASAP was a way to make her dream a reality.

Sharon Williams of Livonia adopted a little girl from Guatemala and hopes to adopt again

'Agencies that handle single parents are few and far between and I didn't want to deal with constant rejection when being considered alongside married couples," Williams said. "They (MASAP) helped put me in touch with the right people.

Williams, who is employed by Chrysler, always felt she was capable of handling a family on her own. Her extended family is near-by to help in a crisis, which is the biggest fear of single, adoptive parents, and there are plenty of male role models in her family and through MASAP. "We're better off than some because we go into it knowing we're going to do it alone," Way said. Some families end up being oneparent families without planning through death and divorce and that would be much more diffi-

Way's extended family is not as accessible so she has come to rely even more heavily on the support offered by MASAP.

"It's comforting to go through the process together," she said.

"We get together often to talk and the kids play together."
MASAP has only four official meetings per year as they attract members from across the state. A newsletter links them and members closely joined in the metropolitan Detroit area have become an extended family for each other. Way characterizes the typical single adoptive parent as an individual in a caring profession such as teaching, nursing or the like.

"They are mostly people who won't be thrown off by it all," she said. "But there are all sorts of people out there who make wonderful parents.

Walters works 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday at the company. He made the transition from sheltered employment so well that the company asked that the job coach be pulled after just one day. The decision was to keep the coach through the end of the week, using only 351/4 of the scheduled 75 hours since the assignment included both job training and work on socialization

Transportation can be a nightmare for the handicapped. The lack of a suburban transit system can leave them with no inexpensive way to get to and from their jobs. And for some, it translates into no job, according to Wells.

MRS can provide money to help with transportation initially. Wherever possible the SMART bus system is used or a taxi service. When it appeared transportation would be a problem for Walters, the employer started lining up other employees to get him to and from work.

But bus service was arranged for Walters and it turned out to be a double bonus. He had worried about not getting to see his friends after he changed job, but he now gets to see them daily on Walters is pleased with what he has accomplished. He likes his new found friends who describes as "crazy and funny. They make me feel comfortable there.

A retired Catholic priest who has written several books on what it would be like if Jesus came to town today will be the guest speaker at Mercy High School next month. Fr. Joseph Girzone will speak on "A Portrait of Jesus" at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 5, at the high school, 11 Mile and Farmington roads, Farmington Hills.

Proceeds from the lecture will benefit the Detroit/Windsor Refugee Coalition whose mission is to resettle indigent refugees in Canada and the United States and provide them with such things as food, clothing, shelter, enculturation classes, legal representation and language classes.

Girzone started his writing career in 1980 after resigning from administrative duties with the Catholic Church on the advice of his doctor. He has written seven books. The first was "Kara, the Lonely Falcon," an allegory on people's search for peace, followed by "Gloria, A Diary of a Teenage Girl" and "Who Will Teach Me?" an approach to religion based on attitudes rather than dogmas.

His next effort was the first of the "Joshua" series. Published in 1983 by Grizone, who used his own money earned from selling computers and giving retreats, 'Joshua" went on to sell more than one million copies.

The book is the story of a young single woodworker who arrives in a small American town and immediately stirs up controversy because of his outspoken opinions about religion. It has been read throughout the world, including the Vatican, the Kremlin, the White House and by Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf during Operation Desert Storm.

The other "Joshua" books include "Joshua and the Children" and "The Shepherd," both of which reached the New York ■ The book is the story of a young single woodworker who arrives in a small American town and immediately stirs up controversy because of his outspoken opinions about religion.

A native of Albany, N.Y., he entered St. Albert's Junior Seminary at Middletown, N.Y., at age 14 to begin studies for the priesthood in the Carmelite Order. He was ordained a priest in 1955 and was assigned to teach in St. Simon Stock High School in The Bronx, where he did parish work as well. At the time, teenage gangs were rampant, and Girzone worked extensively with many of

He also worked in high schools in the coal mining area of Pennsylvania, in Auburn, N.Y., and taught biology and college Latin in the seminary.

In 1964, he left the Carmelite Order and joined the Albany Roman Catholic Diocese, where he worked in parishes and high schools for the next 16 years.

During that time, he was appointed to a government human rights commission, and in that capacity, was sent to negotiate a riot in the Schenectady County Jail. The negotiations necessitated writing an extensive report on conditions in the facility with recommendations for radical change, most of which were implemented.

In 1971, he was appointed to head a special committee of the same human rights commission to investigate racial tensions in the Schenectady school system. He was the major author of a report that was used by the New York State Education Department to make significant changes in the discipline system throughout the state.

At times since then, because of his involvement in criminal justice matters, Girzone was requested to mediate in tense prison conditions in New York State.

He also has been doing extensive lecture and retreat work throughout the world, giving talks to such diverse groups as Hindus, Jews, various Christian groups, notably Baptists, Methodists, Evangelicals and Catholics. His unique understanding of Christ and his message cuts across all barriers and his following embraces large groups from all different religions.

Girzone is working on a book of spirituality, titled "Alone." A selection of Girzone's books will be on sale in the lobby the night of the lecture and he will be available after the lecture to autograph copies bought that night and those copies brought from

Tickets cost $5 and are available in advance only. No tickets will be sold at the door. Rev. Allen resumes teaching

When it comes to ministering to the congregation of Community Baptist Church in Garden City, it's a family affair.

The Rev. Jon Allen is pastor of the church, which was founded in July 1945. He follows in the footsteps of his father, the Rev. James Allen, who was the church's first full-time pastor.

The elder Allen served as pastor at Community Baptist for 32 years, but after two heart attacks and quadruple bypass surgery, his health would not permit him to continue his ministerial duties.

When he resigned, the church called his son, Jonathan, to become pastor and in July the younger Allen celebrated his 12th year as pastor of Community

Allen recently asked his father to take on duties at the church by becoming the teacher of the adult Berean Bible Class for those age 50 and older. With improved health, the elder Allen, who has been with the church for more than 44 years, was able to accept the invitation.

Allen also has started a young adult class and is ministering to the age group he has had a desire to reach. George Huntsman, associate pastor, teaches the adult class. The church now has three adult classes designed for all age

Your Invitation To Worship

It's something every parent has to deal with sometime. Questions about God, about good and evil, about death and heaven and hell.

So when Melanie reached that point, I wanted her to have the same opportunity I did to question. To wrestle with questions of faith, and what it means to her. To understand that there are answers we'll never know but we still have to ask the questions

Unitarian Universalism gives us that freedom. In a community that encourages curiosity. It provides an opportunity for my daughter to engage and understand other faith systems, to better understand her friends and their faiths

A lot of people are probably turned off with traditional concepts.

Idealism as described by Coles impulse in all of us is the impulse in all of us which makes us want to help others. It to help others. is evident in social activism. He explains, "While idealism is nothing new, nor is it necessarily opposed to traditional religion, the resurgence of it at this time is highly significant.' Why? "Because," Coles observes, "it gives meaning and di-Bookshop review.

rection to life." This idealism has spread to many areas of life, continues the book review, and is finding expression in that area which has usually been considered most inconsistent with it, business. "A new style of management explores the phenomenon called Idealism as described by Coles is the which makes us want which emphasizes the 'spiritual' and uses insights from psychology and traditional ethics has emerged." claims UNC's Bull's Head

A typical title which reflects this trend is "Golden Rule Management" by Stephen J. Holoviak.

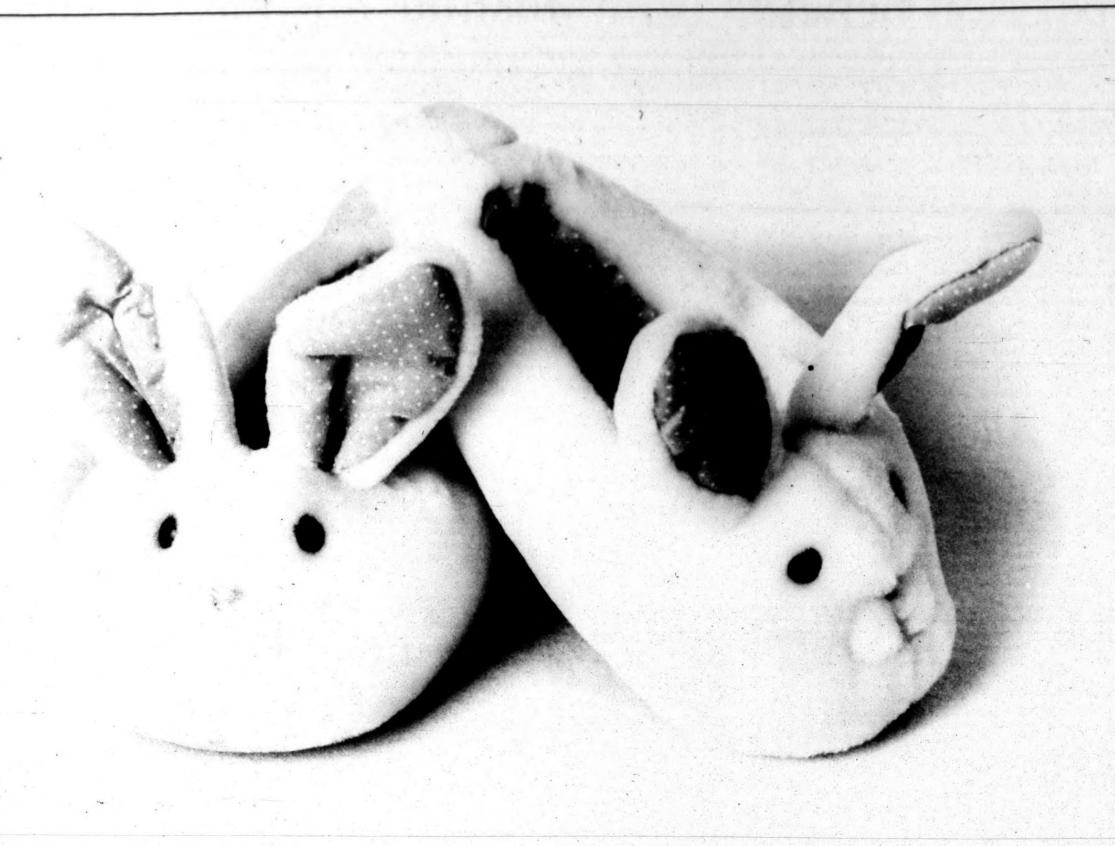

The article continues with these insights: "More generally, many people have realized the need to incorporate spiritual and ethical values into their lives, even if more traditional 'values' have a bad name with some." In his newest book, "A World Wait-ing to Be Born," best-selling author M. Scott Peck discusses the need for civility in our lives, with specific reference to business and the workplace.

There are other surprising new titles that are emerging in the business world. Peter Block's "Stewardship: Choosing Service Over Self-Interest" says that organization must replace traditional management tools with partnership and choice for all employ-William and Kathleen Lundin have written "The Healing Manager: Now to Build Quality and New Traditions in Business." And "First Things First: A Principle-Centered Approach to Time and Life Management" by Steven Covey (author of "The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People"), we find the focus on 'relationships and results rather than on time and things.

And check this title, "Managing With A Conscience: How to Improve Performance Through Integrity, Trust and Commitment" by Frank Sonnenberg.

It will be fascinating to watch this movement of "ethical spirituality" take place as people search for models of authentic wellbeing. Perhaps some will even return to the basic values, stories and roots of their faith heritages.

Few things vou can wear feel this good.

When you wear this pin it means you have chosen to contribute generously to the United Way. It means your money is working hard to help 1.7 million people in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. Unemployed people. The elderly. The abused. Troubled youths. Homeless people, too. By contributing to the United Way, you help all of them-and many 'more-make their lives just a little better. And nothing else feels as good as that except, perhaps, your favorite pair of slippers. So please give generously to the United Way again this year and wear your pin with a grin.

Insects, animals plentiful in fall when animal populations are at their highest. Young are abundant because they have not been exposed to the rigors of win-This is also the season when TIMOTHY hornet nests are NOWICKI largest and when some caterpillars are very large or abundant in numbers.

By late summer, bald-faced hornet nests (the gray paper-top shaped nests) become more obvious because they have increased in size. All spring and summer, the colony has been adding to the nest in order to accommodate the increasing number of hornets.

When the queen first emerged in spring and built a small nest with a few cells, the nest was barely noticeable. As cold weather approaches, some nests have increased to the size of a beachball.

When the nest gets very large, there is more activity because there are more insects inhabiting the nest. This is the time when most people notice the nest and want to eliminate it. All summer long, the hornets have not bothered anyone, but just before all the hornets, except the queen die, many feel the nest has to be destroved.

Wait until cold weather sets in and the nest will become vacant. The only insect of the colony to survive will be the queen. She will not use the nest again because in most cases it will have been destroyed before spring.

Many caterpillars become large in late summer because of their developmental period. Large tobacco hornworm or tomato hornworm caterpillars are largely unnoticed until they become very Actually, for many days they eat in a garden, but only when they become as big as your finger do they become noticeable. Often by that time, tomato plants have stored enough energy to have developed fruit and the loss of a few more leaves will not likely affect the plant. If the caterpillar is left to pupate it will develop into a beautiful shinx moth or hummingbird moth.

During late summer and early fall, patches of oak trees become stripped of their leaves. Only the main veins remain. This is the work of the orange-tipped oakworm moth caterpillar. They are black caterpillars with longitudinal orange stripes. Their gregarious behavior causes large noticeable areas to be defoliated. Generally it's a small area on a large tree but even small defoliated trees have stored enough energy by his time to survive this damage.

Pandora's sphinx moth caterpillars also increase to a noticeable size in fall. These caterpillars may be the size and length of a man's thumb. Like the hornworms and oakworms they will form a pupa in the soil after they have grown to adult size.

Campus literary mag marks 10th birthday id you know that "The MacGuffin" is alive and well and about to mark a 10th anniversary at Schoolcraft College in Livonia? What's a MacGuffin?

Well, it's not a strange animal or an exotic, rare plant. And it's not another rendition of a fast-food restaurant, either.

It's a lively literary magazine, fast-growing in popularity with students and other readers across the United States In addition to selected Michigan bookstores, it can be found in shops as far away as Chicago and San Francisco. It counts among its contributors such literary luminaries as Diane Wakoski and Jim Daniels, together with many new, yet-to-beestablished talents.

In the pre-MacGuffin days, literary journals at the college were essentially put together by students, and circulated mostly on-campus, according to editor and Schoolcraft College English professor, Arthur Lindenberg. When the veteran creative writing teacher was approached to lead the staff of the new, school-funded magazine, he had several ideas about what direction he wanted it to

"Basically, what I wanted to do was develop a magazine accessible both to students and to people on the outside - a quality magazine in which we'd publish the best work we could find," Lindenberg siad. "I wanted to give writers the kind of exposure they wouldn't get if they were published just by an in-house journal. I wanted a magazine that would circulate nationally.'

Along with that, Lindenberg emphasizes, he wanted to give staff members a real opportunity to gain editorial experience.

"Students can work on the staff of 'The MacGuffin,' and get credit for doing that," he said. "It's a general requirement that they attend at least a semester's worth of meetings and that they participate not just in manuscript consideration and selection, but in some of the other labor, too."

Spare beginnings

In the beginning, the small staff worked out of a tiny, all-purpose, "spare room" just around the corner from Lindenberg's office in the Liberal Arts Building, producing a 64-page magazine twice

Today, the 10-member staff (Lindenberg, assistant editors, editorial assistants, and a business manager) do their thing in the much-larger meeting room otherwise designated for the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

"The MacGuffin" is published three times a year now and runs to 144 pages (although the special 10th anniversary issue, now on sale, contains 160 pages of poetry, short fiction, and artwork). The 500-copy run, in contrast to sales 10 years ago, practically sells out every time, Lindenberg said. (Perhaps at least part of the magazine's success can be attributed to the fact that, except for some time off at Christmas, "The MacGuffin' crew - unlike many literary journal staffs - operates year-round.)

Anyone interested can submit work to be considered for publication in the periodical.

Lindenberg says he and his staff look for work that is "especially well-crafted."

"With a poem, for instance, we look closely at the way it is developed, at its focus, at the kinds of images the poet uses. With short fiction, we look for strong characters, plus a situation that is welldeveloped and defined.

"But we also look at something else - a more difficult thing to find. It's almost a mystical thing, really. Is some (work) crying out to be published? Or is it so much like so many other things that have already been published that it doesn't need to have its face shown among readers?'

Annual poet search

Through the years, "The MacGuffin," with help from the Michigan Council for the Arts and the Detroit Council for the Arts, has sponsored an annual "Poet Hunt," a statewide competition that awards cash prizes to three winners. Their work is read at an awards ceremony held on campus every spring, and the prize-winning poems are subsequently published in "The MacGuffin.

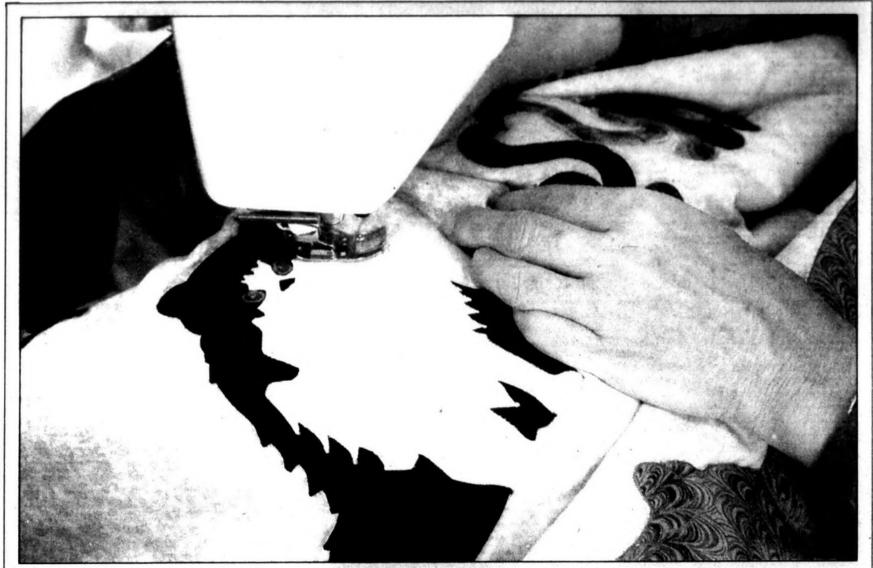

The mortality rate of literary journals across the country is notoriously high. Lindenberg says he's not always sure himself what the real secret is behind the magazine's health and longevity.

Fine-tune art skills at Schoolcraft forum

Artists at all levels can hone their talents at Schoolcraft College's second annual seminar for aspiring artists Saturday, Oct. 23.

Suitable for the beginner to the professional, the program will feature some of this area's top artists showcasing their work and demonstrating how they perform their magic, says Ann King of Schoolcraft's assistant to the director of Institutional Advancement.

"A lot of artists out there are hiding in their house. We'd like to see them come out and practice some neat skills," King said.

The seminar is designed to let adult artists grasp new skills, gain constructive criticism and mingle with professionals. The palette will include lectures, slides, demonstrations and artwork shown in different stages.

Sixteen workshops offered through Continuing Education Services will cover a variety of art forms and teach the latest techniques.

One-hour workshops will focus on:

Abstract Art (Leslie Masters), Starting in Watercolor (Saundra Weed), Wildlife Art (Rusty Frentner), Mixed Media (Saundra Weed), Portrait Painting (Claudia Shepherd) and Exploring Pastels (Anne C. Fracassa).

Also, Children in Watercolor (Susan Rosati), Chinese Brush Painting (Edythe Newbourne), Matting and Framing (Ken Miller), Gocco Printing (Dani Jeffries), Landscape Watercolor (William Borden) and Cartooning (Eric Mesko).

Three-hour hands-on workshops will spotlight Stained Glass (G.G. Havens), Watercolor (Susan Rosati), Seascapes in Oil (Saundra Weed) and Paper Making (Susan Carpenter). There's a $5 material fee for Stained Glass and Paper Making.

"Unlike last year, we'll have four hands-on workshops where there's not only a lecture but also a chance to get to do a project or a painting right along with the instructor," said West-

ness plan needed to get a small business loan

By the end of the 15-week class, she bought a 1,500square-foot bungalow on Main Street, a 1927 Sears catalog house that she converted to a well-designed quilt supply store. She turned upstairs bedrooms into an office and classrooms for quilt and sewing instruction. "At the end of class, I told the teacher I bought the building. I think she was shocked," said Barnard, whose youngest of three daughters started school the year the store opened.

Barnard started sewing and making dress patterns for dolls at age 8. She remembers begging her mother, a fashion illustrator and fine artist, to let her use the sewing machine. By age 12, she was sewing her own clothes and making drapes.

"I've always loved all kinds of fabrics. I've got a mathematical mind that comes in handy for quilting," said Barnard, whose high school counselor advised her to go into engineer-

She started quilting 20 years ago on a whim when the owner of the former Busy Bee Crafts in Plymouth asked her to teach hand-quilting at the store. She bravely accepted the job, then rushed to the library to study quilt history and theory.

"I'd never quilted before but I loved it right away. It's a way of expressing myself in fabric and color," said Barnard, who sold her traditionally styled quilts at local street fairs for years before opening the store.

Today, she employs three part-time salespeople and six instructors, who teach about two dozen different quilting classes for adults and children; classes run from one to four sessions. She's currently expanding the shop for more display area. Ken Taddia, a Ford Motor Co. accountant by day, is the store's only male instructor. The Westland resident already was an accomplished sewer when he took Barnard's beginning quilting class three years

"My wife wanted a quilt and signed me up for a class," said Taddia, 54, who had made five wedding gowns before taking up machine quilting. "It's a relaxing hobby. The best part is quilts don't have to fit. You can make any size you want."

This fall, Taddia will teach other quilters to make his dinosaur machine applique quilt, a pattern he designed with his oldest grandson.

Barnard also sells her own line of copyrighted quilt patterns, called Hemline Capers, and will self-publish a how-to book on a machine applique technique next year.

She recently finished taping the local cable show, "Career Connection," and has appeared on two others, "Women in Business" and "Come Craft with Me."

If that's not enough, the shop is southeast Michigan's collection center for AIDS baby crib quilts. Every year, Barnard receives about 600 handmade infant quilts that are distributed to area hospitals and other agencies by Telephone Pioneers of America (a group of Ameritech volun-

This fall, Barnard will teach basic quilting to Girl Scout leaders, who'll teach their Scouts to make infant quilts as a troop project.

"It's a heartwarming project. These babies need something cuddly, warm, pretty and bright," Barnard said.

Besides running the shop, teaching in-store classes and doing machine applique demonstrations around the state for a major sewing machine company, Barnard attends national quilting seminars and teaches at some.

She does plenty of over-thecounter instruction for firsttime quilters and former students, who generally mosey in on Saturdays. She even lets quilters use the shop's table to pin and baste their work.

"When I opened the store, my original goal wasn't to make a lot of money. I like to share what I know about quilting and teach other people something that's given me so much pleasure,"she said.

For information on fall classes, call Dian's at 459-3630, or visit the store at 794 S. Main.

DIA hosts Manoogian collection the lobby.

Thirty-seven paintings from one of the greatest private collections of American art are on view at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The paintings are from the collection of Richard A. Manoogian, chairman, chief executive officer and a director of Masco Corp. and MascoTech Inc., and chairman and a director of TriMas Corp.

Nancy Rivard Shaw, curator of American art and co-organizer of the exhibition with Yale University's Helen A. Cooper, describes the show as "some of the finest small paintings by important American artists, including informal portraits; domestic genre scenes; trompe l'oeil still lifes that, in their precision and detail, celebrate the skill of the master craftsman; and light-filled impressionist views of city and country life. It is an art that speaks of the goodness of life and the perfection of nature.

The exhibition includes works by Willard Leroy Metcalf, John Singer Sargent, William Merritt Chase, Edward Lamson Henry, Maurice Brazil Prendergast and John Haberle. Also included are Martin Johnson Heade's 'Gems of Brazil," 16 oil paintings depicting the mating season of hummingbirds in lush, intricate detail.

Manoogian began collecting art in the early 1970s after joining the DIA Founders Society board of trustees.

'A Private View: American Paintings from the Manoogian Collection" was organized by the DIA and the Yale University Art Gallery. In Detroit, exhibition funding was made possible by the state of Michigan, the city of Detroit and the DIA Founders Society.

The exhibition runs through Nov. 14 and is free with museum admission (recommended: $4 adults, $1 children, members free).

James W. Tottis, assistant curator of American art, will lead a class on still-life painting Saturdays, Oct. 9 and 16. Call 833-1426.

A professional artist, lecturer, instructor and consultant, Weed is a member of the art faculty and an art project consultant at Schoolcraft. Her students display their artwork in a rotating monthly exhibition on campus.

Registration for the seminar allows participation in four individual sessions or any combination within the allotted time. The seminar will appeal to:

■ Beginning artists wanting to improve techniques. ■ Experienced artists wanting to know how to show their work. ■ Professional artists wanting to make contacts.

Art lovers wanting to learn how to get started. Art association members wanting to educate the public about their group. Anyone who would love to learn more about latest artistic styles.

"There's something for everybody," said Weed, who operates Artistic Images from her home studio. "A lot of people out there want to be artists but don't know how to become one.

Workshops will run 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Forum Building on the Livonia campus, 18600 Haggerty, south of Seven Mile. Signin will be 8:30-9 a.m. Cost is $70, including registration and course handouts (senior adults, $58). An optional lunch, at $7.25, will be served noon to 12:50 p.m.

The seminar will give participants a chance to try their hand at a particular medium before making the necessary investment in supplies. They'll have a chance to learn how to use supplies they have but have never used.

"They'll get a sampling of all different kinds of media they might be interested in." Weed said. "They'll have an opportunity to find out whether some of what they're interested in really makes sense in terms of investing in supplies.

The seminar will give emerging artists a chance to meet people who make a living as artists. 'That should be very inspiring,' Weed said. "We're trying to encourage people to follow their dreams.

"I think our success may have a lot to do with the commitment the college has made to help us express good literature," he said. 'And I think we also fill a niche. I think there's a real need out there for a flexible, versatile magazine like 'The MacGuffin.' As to that odd name

An instructor at Schoolcraft, using the pseudonym, Lloyd Drako, came up with the idea in a name-choosing contest for the periodical 10 years ago.

The mysterious Mr. Drako told judges that "MacGuffin" was a term once used by movie director Alfred Hitchcock to mean "what everybody was after.'

The title seemed to fit perfectly. 'As far as I know," says Lindenberg, "we have the only magazine in existence called 'The MacGuffin'.

Handmade dolls boast fairy-tale influence

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER SPECIAL WRITER

When Ingrid Dijkers of Plymouth started making dolls in 1984, she borrowed from all of the arts she's dabbled in over the years: ceramics, textiles, soft sculpture, quilting, jewelry making and costume design.

Her handmade figures, dressed in jewel-tone costumes, are threedimensional works of art resembling characters from myths, fairy tales and legends. For inspiration, the artist often looks to favorite characters from Shakespeare plays or Aesop fables.

A collection of Dijkers' figures will be displayed to Friday, Oct. 29 in the second floor showcases of the Livonia Civic Center Li-Viewing hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m. to p.m. Friday-Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

The display includes The Dwarf, First Flight, The Wizard and Enchantress, plus a collection of handpainted jester's

"It's hard to categorize my work because most people have preconceived ideas of what dolls looks like. I call them figures. They come from here," said the artist, tapping her head.

Livonia arts commissioner Lee Alanskas, whose group co-sponsors the exhibit with the library, calls the figures "unique creations of the imagination.

"When I saw them, I was fascinated right off the bat," Alanskas said. "The figures are so original. They appeal to every age group because of the doll-like quality and the amazing creativity.

Each figure is 20 to 90 cm. high, with stoneware hands, feet and head; bodies are stuffed cloth. But that's where the resemblance

The Netherlands-born artist, a collector of vintage fabric, trim and buttons, dresses her figures in handmade costumes made of antique velvet, brocade, silk, lace, metallic and other fine materials. And no figure is complete without a trademark accessory: a wand, an anklet, a glittery necklace, a crystal or another bauble.

Most figures, including nonworking marionettes, are limited editions. By design, no two are exactly alike.

Each figure has personality. The faces are the same in a series. but the costume's color or trim is a little different for each one, Dijkers said.

Dijkers, a self-taught artist, was a guest artist at this year's Michigan Renaissance Festival in Holly and will return next year as a permanent exhibitor. Her figures also are sold at Chameleon Gallery in Plymouth and at Ariana Gallery in Birmingham. They sell for $150 to $600.

"When people first see the figures, they stop in their tracks, said Denni Englehart, owner of Chameleon Gallery. "They're not inanimate dolls, they almost resemble animate figures.

One figure, Dance of the Burgamask, depicts a 16th-century character doing the "dance of fools." Another character, Journey to the Arboretum, includes a small figure riding a tall papier mache flamingo, whose reins are made of gold cord.

From her home studio, Dijkers works on several figures at once some may be waiting for handmade leather sandals or colorful maribu hair.

"Somehow, my next series will involve time. Right now, I'm collecting watch and clock parts that I'll eventually use," Dijkers said.

She also plans a series on flight. The first figure in that group will be an elegantly dressed warrior riding a chicken. "It just appeals to my sense of humor,' the artist said.

Let's dance: Pymouth artist Ingrid Dijkers combines several art forms to create her handmade collectible figures. She dresses her creations in costumes made of vintage fabric and trim. Here she adjusts "Dance of the Burgamask."

Up, up and away: "First Flight," a non-working marionette, is a limited-edition figure by Ingrid Dijkers.

Brighten your painting skills

Each figure's clothing is slightly different but the body and face are the same for the entire series.

FIRST THURSDAY

Today is the "First Thursday" of the month. The North Woodward and Townsend Street art galleries in Birmingham will have extended hours tonight. Call the individual galleries for more information.

SANDRA COLLINS

Thursday, Oct. 7 - "Surface Explorations: Functional Fabrics by Suzanne Lalonde" continues through Oct. 29. Personal appearance by Lalonde, with music by Owain Phyfe and the New World Renaissance Band, 5:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday. Lalonde, a student at the University of Michigan School of Art, creates silk pieces that reflect her fascination with surface texture, layers, change, chance and memory. She uses the Japanese resist dye technique called shibori. The gallery is at 470 N. Woodward in Birmingham. Call 642-4795.

XOCHIPILLI GALLERY Thursday, Oct. 7 - "Watercolor:

EXHIBITIONS

Pushing the Limits of the Medium," an exhibit featuring works by six artists, will continue to Oct. 30. Opening reception for the artists, featuring music by Three In Situ, 5:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday. Each painting in the show is executed with watercolor. The artists (Jerome Ferretti of Detroit, Don Jacot, Diane Postula Levine of Royal Oak, Bruce McCombs of Holland, Mich., Gladys Nilsson and Ellen Wilt of Ann Arbor) contrast both in technique and content. The show proves that the medium is aptly adopted by the contemporary artist for social satire, photorealistic urban scenes and subconscious musings. It gives the viewer a chance to train his or her eye by comparing varying techniques within the same medium. Students particularly are welcome. Hours: 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 568 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 645-1905. ■ LEMBERG GALLERY

Thursday, Oct. 7 - Sensuous, serene ceramic sculptures by Roselie DeLisle will be exhibited through Oct. 30. Join in art-filled evening for First Thursday today, featuring entertainment by Keith Vreeland, Marvin Kahn and Lee Dyament. The gallery is at 538 N. Woodward in Birmingham. Call 642-

"Through my dolls, I try to visually communicate my belief that all children, the world over, are unique, each one sharing their own message of love," Bello said.

"'Rosa' and 'Miguel' are especially precious to me because they commemorate my own experience as a child growing up in Venezue-

Rosa wears a red-and-white polka dot flounced dress, patterned after the gowns of traditional Spanish dancers. A black lace mantilla trimmed with red fabric roses sits atop her brown curls; she carries a matching bouquet in her hand. Simple goldtone earrings complete her outfit.

Her brother is dressed in a blue two-piece matador's suit trimmed in gold braid complemented by a white shirt and a red satin tie. His accessories include a black

Buying a house? Bank offers tips

NBD offers these housebuying

Determine how much of a mortgage you can afford (NBD Banks and some mortgage companies offer free prequalification counseling).

 As a guideline, your mortgage payment should be no more than 28 percent and your total monthly debt no more than 36 percent of your gross monthly income. Special mortgage programs are available in some areas for low- and moderate-income people.

 Seek the assistance of a real estate agent for valuable information about neighborhoods, schools and the cost of houses in the area.

Consuit with a real estate attorney when filling out a purchase agreement. An attorney can add contingencies, allowing you, the buyer, to terminate the agreement and get your deposit back if, for example, you cannot get a mortgage at a reasonable rate or if the house does not pass an inspection. It's also a good idea to have your attorney at the closing.

 Gather all the information and materials- statements, pay stubs and tax returns - you will need to fill out a mortgage application. An NBD mortgage representative can provide you with a buyer's checklist.

 Know your credit history the bank will run a credit check and probably ask you questions.

 Carefully consider the benefits of fixed- and adjustable-rate mortgages to determine which best fits your needs.

Be aware of the costs of buying a house, including the down payment, up-front fees and closing costs. They are a common part of the house-buying process. Some mortgage programs allow you to put down as little as 5 percent of the total cost of the house.

■ Typical costs required at the closing are: points, each point is 1 percent of the mortgage amount; property taxes; mortgage insurance; escrow,- the portion of your monthly payment set aside for taxes and homeowners insurance; loan fees; appraisal, title insurance; credit report fees.

These tips are detailed in a 17minute videotape titled "Buying a home . . . where to begin," produced by NBD. The free tape is available by calling 1-800-

Real estate broker helps set price

Offering too much or too little money for a house can be one of the many pitfalls involved in the buying process.

Obviously, offering too much money can come back to bite the buyer. No one likes to be taken financially. If the offer is unrealistically low, however, negotiations can be stymied by an insulted seller who may refuse to consider future counter offers.

With help from a real estate sales associate and a little common sense, a buyer should be able to make a reasonable offer that jump-starts negotiations with a seller, said Doug Stranahan, divisional president for Century 21 Great Lakes.

Remember, all agents you contact during the buying process legally represent the seller unless they have a specific written agree-

A good first step in the process is to compare the seller's asking price with prices actually paid for similar homes in the same area within the past year.

Using data from local multiple listing services, a sales associate can provide a list of selling prices for similar homes and help the buyer make meaningful compari-

"Typically, a buyer's first inclination is to make an offer which is comparable to one of the lowest recently accepted offers for similar houses," Stranahan said. "The seller may not be overly enthusiastic about this type of first offer, but may not reject it either - as long as it's reasonable.'

Another place to get information is the assessing department or treasurer's office at the municipal building where the house is located. By law, residential properties must be assessed at one half of fair market value,

An evaluation of selling prices may not be possible in a home that doesn't really compare with others in the area. In this case, the buyer could have the home's value professionally appraised.

There is always the risk, however, that another buyer could make an offer and purchase the home before an appraisal is completed.

In any case, researching selling prices of similar homes usually provides a good figure that can be used as a starting point for the negotiation process.

An actual offer must be made in writing and should be accompanied by a deposit or earnest money. Since a purchase offer is legally binding, it may be wise to consult an attorney before submitting that document.

"It should contain a time limit for the seller to accept, reject or negotiate your offer," Stranahan

Buyers demonstrate their seriousness by submitting deposits with written offers. A deposit of five to 10 percent isn't abnormal, but a larger deposit may be encouraging to the seller.

In a situation where two buyers make the same offer, the seller will often select the buyer with the bigger deposit.

"Making a well-researched offer and applying a reasonable amount of earnest money best demonstrates a buyer's serious interest and encourages the seller," Stranahan said.

If you say it's yours, it might be yours

ROBERT M. MEISNER

I am confused as to when adverse possession applies in a boundary dispute.

Although we mistakenly believed that our south property line was the road, we nevertheless think that we have established adverse possession because we posted no-trespassing signs and did not allow our neighbor's predecessors to use the land.

We bought the land in the early '60s and were told by the real estate agent that the boundary line was the road. We later found out that our neighbor's predecessor in title owned that property. Could we prevail in an adverse possession claim?

Chances are that you will pre-

In a leading Michigan case on adverse possession, Connelly v. Buckingham (1984), two important principles were set forth.

The first principle states that "a landowner takes possession of land of an adjacent owner, with the intent to hold to the true line, the possession isn't hostile and adverse possession cannot be established."

The second principle states that when the intent is to "claim title to a visible, recognizable boundary, regardless of the true boundary line," the possession is hostile and adverse possession may be established.

It would appear that your scenario falls within the second case principle. That is, your intention was manifested by your exclusive use of the property, the posting of no-trespassing signs and your denial of permission to your neighbor's predecessor to use the disputed parcel.

I am thinking about doing a beach-front condominium in Myrtle Beach, S.C. I am concerned about the marketability of the units as I understand that most of the tourists are under 25.

Is there any way I can structure a condominium to deal with this issue?

First, of course, I would do a marketing study to confirm that your information concerning the median age of tourists at Myrtle Beach is under 25. My experience in visiting the area is that it caters to families as well as college students and golfers.

It would appear to me that any type of hotel/condominium that you wish to develop no doubt will be a time share. It must be attractively priced to entice people who can afford such a condominium in this area, particularly when there is an overabundance of hotels at very competitive rates.

You will have to provide something unusual, whether it be exercise and/or golfing privileges, as well as access to the ocean. You will probably have to market the condominium outside of South Carolina, which will impose additional obligations for you in regard to applicable federal stat-

I would sit down with a marketing consultant as well as with a knowledgeable condominium lawyer before undertaking this project.

Developers strive to keep historic feel

Developers have typically been stereotyped as insensitive to all things historical . . . after all, it's just an old piece of property. In reality, however, developers often have a keener sense of history than they are given credit for.

BY GERALD FRAWLEY

o one really expects developers and builders to care about his-

Heck, they have bulldozers. That's why it's surprising to learn that developers and builders do have a sense of history.

In the most rudimentary sense, many suburbs are named after previous landowners, features of the property or original flora and fauna.

Sometimes, builders go further. Max Elbaz, owner of Adel Homes in Farmington Hills, developed Yerkes Manor in Novi with one foot firmly planted in the past.

First, a little history. Yerkes Manor is being built on the former homestead of the land once owned by one of the original settlers in the Novi/Northville area. The French Second Empire-style house built by Joseph Yerkes was destroyed by fire in 1989.

'I wanted, and I think people want, a little more character.'

Max Elbaz Adel Homes owner

When Elbaz obtained the site, he wanted to - if not pay tribute to Yerkes Homestead and history in Novi - at least do something a little different.

"Because of the history of the site, I felt we should keep the name and, if possible, carry the concept throughout," Elbaz said, adding he had even hoped to retain the existing Yerkes homestead or renovate it before it was burned by fire.

In addition to more traditional Victorian-influenced homes, Yerkes

Heat, cool via geothermal

If you're building a home, the law requires that you in- Edison's low time-of-day rate, the payback period can be stall a furnace with a minimum 78-percent efficiency rate. But if you want maximum savings, you don't have to settle for minimum efficiency.

Geothermal heating and cooling, the technology on the threshold of replacing conventional systems, is more than three times as efficient as the most efficient oil or gas fur-

"This results in substantial savings for homeowners over the lifetime of the equipment," said Jerry Goetz, a Detroit Edison heating and cooling expert.

In the air conditioning mode, the system performs at a seasonal efficiency rating of 16; federal law requires a minimum of 10 for air conditioning.

Operating costs are up to 30 percent less than those of a high-efficiency natural gas system, and up to 60 percent less than those for high-efficiency oil or propane systems, when used in conjunction with Detroit Edison's low time-of-day rate, Goetz said. 'Homeowners in a well-insulated, 2,400-square-foot home could expect to pay $527 annually to operate a geothermal system, compared to $801 for natural gas, $1,315 for oil or $1,420 for propane," Goetz said.

Geothermal, like refrigerators and conventional air conditioners, is a heat transfer system. The system uses an electrically powered heat pump to collect and concentrate heat from the water in your well or from piping buried in the ground.

In winter, the concentrated heat is transferred indoors through a forced-air heating system. In summer, the system reserves the cycle. It extracts heat from the air inside the home and moves it, via the well water or piping buried in the ground, back into the earth. The earth's temperature remains constant year-round. The system also can supply

'Since geothermal systems use the earth's natural resources as a renewable source of energy, they help protect the environment," Goetz said.

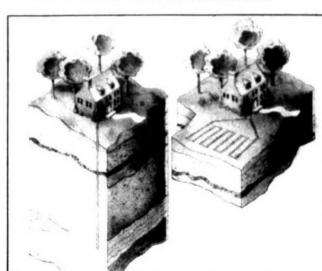

Initial installation costs for a geothermal system are typically higher than those of a conventional furnace or central air conditioner, he added.

"But with the low operating costs, combined with Detroit from 20 to 10 years," Goetz said.

Homeowners who qualify for Detroit Edison's Energy Efficient New Home Construction Program can close that gap. It offers up to $3,400 in cash incentives for energyefficient insulation, windows, lighting, major electric appliances and central air conditioning.

Call Detroit Edison toll-free at 1-800-833-2786.

Geothermal traits: This cross-section illustrates open and closed loop geothermal systems. Open loops use ground water pumped from a well. After the heat transfer, the water is discharged to seep back down to the water table. Closed loops circulate an antifreeze solution through polyethylene pipe. The solution absorbs or disperses heat, depending on the season. Closed loops can be buried in the ground or submerged in a lake or pond.

Manor also will include subtle touches like old-fashioned street lighting, traditional site aspects like houses moved towards the street to accentuate the pedestrian scale, small front yards and large rear yards and circle courts.

The homes themselves, although not historic reproductions, will hearken back to a different time with more extensive use of gables, elaborate dental moldings, hake siding, traditional windows and front porches

I wanted, and I think people want, a little more character." Elbaz said.

Although the development is new, Elbaz said, he has already getten a lot of positive feedback frem people. "I think people are tired of the same old thing.

Architect Dan Barry, a partner at Springline Design Group in Scio Township and the architect for Yerkes Manor, said more of his clients are coming in with ideas about historically influenced homes than ever before.

At Yerkes Manor, he said his charge was to design homes for a development with a Victorian feel

"And I think we succeeded,"

Barry said. That said, these homes are not historic reproductions. "That just isn't possible to-

Besides cost restraints (a historic reproduction would be extremely expensive), the modern amenities today's home buyers demand can't be accommodated in a reproduction.

"Take garages — people want two- and three-car garages you're not going to see that on a Victorian home," he said.

If you have to attach a garage, however, there are no rules against making it fit a more Victorian scheme. "That, I think, was our biggest problem - translating the Victorian (architecture into the present).'

When people ask for a historicstyle home, they may not realize that such homes are traditionally very compartmentalized - meaning they have smaller, separate rooms as opposed to the open homes of today, Elbaz said.

Depending on the degree of accuracy demanded by the homeowner, the architect sometimes has to ignore some of the ideas of modern architecture.

Norman Finkelstein, vice president of the Irvine Group in Farmington Hills, said builders and developers use a variety of ways to pay deference to the past. Someimes, builders will name their developments after previous owners or historical events.

Marketing materials and other advertisements attempt to capture these ideas as well, reflecting what was there before.

Sometimes, the area's history plays a very significant part in the new project.

Berwyck on the Park and Berwyck Place, an equestrian development with a private saddle club for its residents built around a horse theme complete with riding paths, paddocks and access to by the Irvine Group in Milford Township, owes its very existence to history of the property.

When he and Irvine Group president Paul Levine were searching for potential sites, they had no inkling they were going to build an equestrian development.

"We were actually looking at a different site when we saw this parcel," Finkelstein said.

When they saw the property was up for sale, they stopped and discovered an old horse stable. A little digging revealed that the property has long been used as a horse stable.

Irvine and Finkelstein, both horse admirers, decided they could respect the history of the site and combine it with their intentions to develop the property.

Finkelstein said deference to history has several advantages. For one thing, people moving into development like to have a sense of a past.

Deference to history can also be comforting to the community, he said. It's not uncommon for existing residents to contest new developments and resist growth.

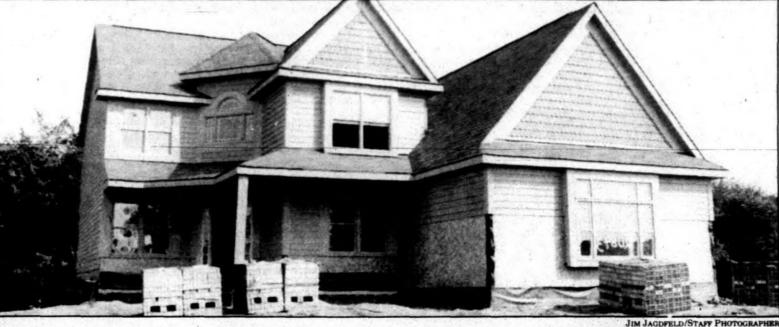

A development that reflects the past history of the site can help allay fears that the developer plans to come in and disrupt a community.

Ironically, sometimes a developer's wish to be historically accurate can run counter to the wishes of the community or neighbors.

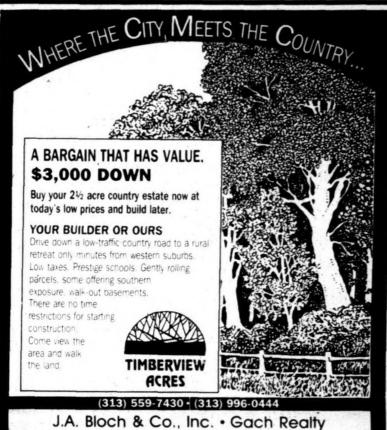

People who move into new developments, for example, will often complain about an animal farm nearby; some people were less than pleased that Berwyck developments would continue to use of the land for boarding hors-

Finkelstein also said he's seen instances where developers use history as a mere marketing tool particularly on the East Coast where references of the Revolutionary and Civil Wars are routinely used as little more than a gimmick.

"You have to be careful, because people (who value history) will be turned off by hollow references," he said. "Developing (with an eye to history) is sometimes a fine balancing act."

Adaptive use: Making the leap from a historic house to modern house requires some compromises.

Bay windows, wrap-around porch greet you

The first impression of the Redbud is one of substance and grace. Brick detailing and a traditional step-pitched roof provide a sense of solid permanence, while rounded bay windows and a wraparound porch soften the lines and create a welcoming effect.

Octagonal windows nestled under the side gables add to the visual appeal. One of these windows brings some light into the side attic on the second floor. The other two are at opposite ends of a full attic on the third level. This undeveloped area could be developed, adding almost 1,000 square feet of usable space.

Family gathering spaces, formal and informal, dominate the main floor. The elegant master suite is here as well, its wide bay windows jutting out onto the shady porch. Take a peek at decorating trends

Here's a glimpse of some of the home decorating products and services you'll see in the suburban marketplace this fall:

BACK TO BASICS

Today's lighting customer likes a back-to-basics look. That means up with all-natural materials like tree branches, leather and animal skins. Tiger Mountain Woodworks combines all three materials in its twig lamp made of birch branches, a leather-laced goat skin shade and a wood base.

Other in-demand materials for eclectic-style lighting include iron, marble, handcarved wood and alabaster.

FABULOUS FIFTIES

If you remember Wally and The Beaver, you'll recognize the floral fabrics from the '40s and '50s at Patti Smith Collectibles in Royal Smith bought the fabric, called barkcloth, from a Royal Oak upholsterer who had about a dozen uncut bolts in the backroom. She used her favorites for curtains on her store's dressing rooms.

"The fabric is visually exciting," says Smith, who's been selling it to decorators and nostalgia buffs for pillows and upholstery.

Barkcloth is made of fat, twoply cotton yarn that has a textured look. What most folks remember, though, are the wild color combinations and zany era. This time around, collectors are turning the comfy chenille into everything from accent pillows to clothing. Deja vu. I THEME TOWELS A big selection of Hudson's sheets and towels celebrate world cultures. Black, burgundy and taupe motifs are African inspired; others are influenced by mud cloths from north Africa, Turkey and Mexico. Predicts Hudson's senior buyer Terry Handleman: "Ethnic prints are the beginning of the contemporary look we'll see in home furnishings for spring '94." Hudson's Global Bazaar sells soap stone tumblers, rugs, hand-other decorated accessories inspired by tribal motifs. Also, a slew of juvenile sheets and comforters from Wamsetta, Fieldcrest-Cannon, Springmaid and Royalton feature classic and painted shower curtains and current cartoon characters. Parents remember the classic characters from their own childhood and find them quite comforting," Handleman says.

Sorry about the delay. We're making them as slowly as we can.

Demand for the new Volkswagen Golf, and

In fact, in just 12 months, the Golf has become the best-selling car in the world.

If we hurried things up to keep up with demand, maybe we would be making cars. But we wouldn't be making Volkswagens.

everywhere you look, touch and kick.
And to thank you for waiting, the new Golf and Jetta have a special lease rate and the longest limited powertrain warranty in the business: 10 years or 100,000 miles. See your Volkswagen retailer for details and a

It would be a good idea to do it today. Becan due to the way we make Volkswagens, supplies are naturally limited.

A standard driver-side airbag may not seem like a big deal. Or a spaceframe with "crumple zones" that help dissipate the energy of a crash. Or even optional anti-lock brakes. Combined, however, they make your decision to buy a Saturn that much easier to live with. MSRP of the 1993 SL2 is $11,795 including retailer-preparation. Tax. license,
