Runners put best foot forward in marathon

Marathoning Ed: Ed Andrysiak, 79, an entrant in Sunday's marathon, defied doctors who told him he was near death after suffering multiple heart attacks. Since then, he's complete ed four marathons, has dropped from 212 to 165 pounds, and slimmed from a 44-inch to a 34-inch waist.

More than 50 marathoners did Canton and Plymouth proud at Sunday's Detroit Free Press/ Mazda International Marathon, despite windy, rainy weather that made the 26.2 miles through downtown Detroit tough going.

Oldest among the contingent was Ed Andrysiak of Plymouth Township, who celebrates his 80th birthday next month.

Like numerous marathoners, Andrysiak had a rough day. He listened to his body and decided to drop out. That isn't stopping him, however, from making good on his pledge to raise $1,200 for the Multiple Sclerosis Society, beneficiary of the

"I'm still picking up pledges. I'm telling people it's not by the mile. Give me the whole bit; I suffered," he said.

Andrysiak also made good on his promise to treat his support team, among them daughter and son-in-law Judy and Jerry Rudzewicz, to food and libations at B.J. Bowery in Canton after the "I don't know what happened. I felt good," said Andrysiak. "At the 12-mile mark I was in good shape and on pace, but after I'd gone about 20 feet. I started getting a twitch in my left knee cap. I was wondering, 'What kind of a deal is this?' I never had that. Then I had a pain across my hips and in my right calf. The funny part was, I was at the MS Society's aid station. I went to reach for an apple and almost collapsed. They grabbed me just before I did. I said then, I'd better stop; I have 14 miles to go. It would have been stupid for me to get onto the island (Belle Isle). I didn't want to drop going through the finish chutes

Andrysiak and the many other runners who dropped out have renewed respect for what it means to go 26.2 miles. "What I can't understand is that I trained well

Policy adopted on memorials in parks

By KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

Measurable support and a 10 year wait for honoring deceased community leaders are among provisions of a policy adopted by the Plymouth city commission Monday to govern place ment of memorial plaques in city parks or other locations.

The commission began considera tion of the policy earlier this year, as requests for memorials to be placed in Kellogg Park were increasing. Some commissioners said they were concerned the park would be overrun.

"I think the addition of the 10 vears (provision) improves the prosaid city commissioner Bill McAninch

he considered for a citizen who has died 10 years before. for for an histor ic event that occurred at least 10 years previously

City manager Steve Walters said the policy would be flexible enough to allow the city to accept certain memorials sooner than 10 years. He said the city would not want to strictly follow the policy if, for example, some one wanted to build a pool in their name and donate it to the city

If there's something extraordi nary, you can move away from it (the policy)," Mayor Robert Jones said.

A group of Plymouth veterans seek ing to have the Civil War memorial statue moved from Riverside Ceme

The policy calls for a memorial to tery to Kellogg Park said the policy which seeks recommendations for such memorials by official action of local veterans groups would not hinder their effort

To seek approval, said group mem ber Henry Giles, "We'll be back as soon as possible

Giles said the group has collected 700 petition signatures favoring the

A memorial or monument can be proposed to the city commission in writing by the mayor or other city commissioner, by planning commission resolution, by official action of a charitable, civic or non-profit group or another government unit; by a reg istered city voter; or by a person or group proposing to donate or make a major financial donation toward the cost of a major one of a kind item.

A current local group's program in which trees are donated to local parks in a person's name would not be af feeted, Walters said.

Non-union workers get 2.2 percent pay hike

BY KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

A 2.2 percent pay raise for 27 city department heads, clerks and other non union employees received city commission approval Monday

This recommendation is based on the current inflation rate of 2.2 percent and the current union contracts for police officers and dispatch ers, which granted this same increase," said city manager Steve Walters.

The raise is retroactive to July 1

The general salary levels for this group of em ployees are in line with those in comparable neighboring communities, Walters said

In addition, the non union fringe benefits are the same or lower than other employee groups in

The pay raise parallels the city's bargaining positions with three unions the city is now nego tiating with, Walters said.

The non union employees' morale will be im proved if they do not have to wait for consideration until the unions reach a settlement with the city." he said.

Commissioner Bill McAninch asked Walters to tie consideration of an employee's perform ance to a possible raise Commissioner Doug Miller suggested that commissioners review the city's salary program during budget review sessions.

I think it behooves us as a commission to treat the non union staff as well as the union staff," Miller said. I want to introduce the idea that performance is built into the way we compensate people, McAninch said.

Real estate tax is part of Engler plan

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Homeowners won't be entirely off the school property tax hook under Gov John Engler's reform program

They could choose between (1) a 4 percent real estate transfer tax when they sell their homes and (2) a 16-mill tax for three years.

The state transfer tax is a better alterna tive than a personal income tax increase. said Engler's detailed message to the Legislature "Property owners who benefit from the tax cut of Senate Bill 1 will be responsible for paying the new tax only when they sell their

"In contrast, an increase in the personal income tax would apply to Michigan families who may not own property — that is, renters."

The tax would raise an estimated $479 mil lion of the $6 billion in new state taxes Engler seeks to replace the abolished school property

Realtors vehemently oppose the plan, con tending it's too narrowly focused, will eat big hunks of homeowners' equity and will dampen young couple's efforts toward the Great American Dream.

Tve never heard of a sale being lost be cause of the Realtor's commission. Engler replied "They charge 7 or 8 percent commis

The sales tax on a $100,000 house would be $4,000, the equivalent of 80 mills in property tax on a house assessed at $50,000

Wealth increased

But a homeowner would have the option of paying 16 mills in property taxes for three years - a total of 48 mills - and escaping the

Engler and state treasurer Doug Roberts say that's a good alternative if you plan to own your house three years or more. Average turn over time in Michigan, Realtors estimate, is

People who benefitted from the tax cut (Senate Bill 1, which eliminated school property taxes for operations) are property own ers," said Roberts. "They are all wealthier be cause of tax capitalization (the tendency for an item's value to rise when a tax on it is cut). More people can afford to buy my house."

Roberts was asked: Isn't this a tax on mo bility - an impediment to people who move to take a better job, who get transferred, or who break up housekeeping because of death

That's a fair argument," he said. "I would urge them to pay the property tax of 16 mills for three years. It's a better deal.

The transfer tax also would be paid by nonresidents of Michigan who buy resort property, Roberts said. "How is it fairer to Michigan taxpayers to let Chicago people off the hook. The income tax is not fair (as an alternative) to renters and to Michigan people.

Realtors object

Owen Broock, president of the Michigan Association of Realtors, attacked the real estate transfer tax last week in testimony before House and Senate finance committees. The president of Max Broock Realty in Bloomfield Hills argued the 4 percent transfer tax is:

- Volatile the base (housing sales) drops off by half in a recession.
- Punishing to young owners with small equities. To the owner of a $100,000 house with a $20,000 equity, the $4,000 tax would gobble up 20 percent of their equity.
- Regressive hitting lower income people who are forced to move due to economic necessity death or divorce

Woman files assault charge

The former girlfriend of a Wayne County sheriff's deputy filed an assault and battery charge against him, after alleging he pushed her head against the wall when he found her with another man Saturday.

The woman, 20, told police that the deputy, 28, entered her apartment unannounced through an open living room window at about 5 a.m. while she was in the bathroom getting sick, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

After she struck her head, the woman told police, she grabbed a bat and struck him across the right forearm.

When a township police officer arrived, the deputy told him he'd entered the apartment because he thought the woman was in trouble.

Madonna program helps kids read

BY MARY RODRIQUE STAFF WRITER

The most recent Michigan Education Assessment Program test scores for fourth graders show that 41 percent of students are not reading at grade level. Just as dismal, a mere 3 percent have advanced reading skills.

That bothers Sister Duane Rydel, new director of the reading center at Madonna University in Livonia.

She works with Sister Mary Martina, the backbone of the center since its inception 40 years ago. The duo is committed to improving reading and study skills for first through 12th graders who might be slipping through the cracks in a large classroom set-

Using Madonna student teachers as one-on-one tutors, children in the program learn to overcome their trouble spots in learning. To date, 6,116 students from 20 different school districts have been helped. They've come from Bloomfield Hills, Farmington, Garden City, Plymouth-Canton, Redford and dozens of other places.

"My son was about 8 or 9 when he was tested in the schools and diagnosed as learning disabled," said Mary Bergeski.

"I learned about the (lab) while in classes here at Madonna. I was just finishing my degree at the time. He responded very well to instruction. He got a lot of reinforcement," said Bergeski.

"He came for nine or 10 years. It helped him through high school. He's 22 and self-sufficient today.

Bergeski is a secretary in the learning center, tucked away in Madonna's administration building on the campus at Schoolcraft and Levan. Her personal experience is an added bonus for parents bringing children into the center for the first time.

"Parents of the younger children are looking for reassurance. I highly recommend it as a parent. I'm in a position to see how pleased parents are. It's not an overnight miracle. It takes time. We see a lot of positive results."

Students come one afternoon per week for a 12-week session which runs simultaneously with the Madonna semester. Programs are tailor-made to suit the individual needs of the students. Likewise, student teachers work in tandem with a supervisor, Faye Craigie for grades seven through 12, Marilyn Nagy for the primary grades.

The supervisors help the student teachers with lesson plans. Each student teacher is assigned to just one learning center pupil. The student teachers' job performance is graded by their supervisors, thus they get course credit.

"The center has a dual function," said Sister Martina. "It helps children in the surrounding communities and it helps our student teachers.

Tuition fees for the winter term, which begins the week of Jan. 24, are $17 per hour plus materials and registration fees.

"Our greatest source of advertising are the parents themselves," said Sister Martina. "Parents are extremely satisfied when they see results.

She says the biggest problem with students in the lower grades is poor word recognition skills.

"It reflects the way reading is taught today," she said. "In the past few years, the practice has been to give a book to the child immediately. There isn't an attempt to help the child decode. They have poor auditory skills. Sound and visual symbols are especially important in the early grades.

How long the child stays with the program depends on the problem and the student's ability. Some come for a few terms. Some skip a term and then return for reinforcement.

The biggest problem for high school students is often study and organizational skills, she said.

'Reading is the mother of all learning," said Sister Rydel, who came to the learning center in August after working as an administrator at Ladywood High School and before that as principal at St. Michael's School, both in Livonia.

"Reading is the basic tool. Even among college students there is a certain degree of difficulty in comprehension skills.'

In addition to preparing student teachers and helping youngsters, the learning center also serves as a tutoring center for college students. Coming soon, Sister Rydel is developing a new program for average to above average readers.

A questionnaire posed to parents to determine interest in the proposed Saturday reading enrichment program drew 149 responses, better than she had hoped.

'Research shows a strong correlation between reading and writing. Readers are good writers and writers are good readers," she said.

The program would introduce children to language through a different approach to literature. Drama would come alive through puppetry, for example.

'Interest and motivation are tied to learning," she said.

Wayne County government fights itself

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

Tempers are expected to heat up considerably as the Wayne County commissioners and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara hash out the 1994 budget.

"We've had the same fight for seven years and that's the budget," said David Katz, McNamara's chief of staff.

Even though 13 of the 15 commissioners are

Democrats, and McNamara and all his people are Democrats, the two sides have more often than not acted as if they are mortal enemies.

Commissioners have complained that McNamara's staff is packed with extra people through surreptitious means.

McNamara's staff complain that certain commissioners distribute political pork to their supporter: by hiring them as "ghost em-

During the budget deficit negotiations between "the third floor" (McNamara) and "the fourth floor" (commission) of the downtown county building. Hubbard issued a series of documents fueling the budget battle.

The Observer asked McNamara's chief of staff, David Katz, to supply similar data on the commission.

Following are reports on information provided by both sides.

Commission

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

The Wayne County Commission's personal budget has risen from about $3.3 million in 1986 to about $6.1 million today.

Most of that increase was in personnel. That particular line item rose more than 80 percent from about $2.1 million in 1986 to about $3.8 million today.

Upon request, David Katz, the chief of staff for county Executive Edward McNamara, reluctantly provided the Observer with the names and salaries of commission staffers for 1992 and part of 1993. "To come here and throw mud at these folks is not in my best interest," Katz said.

Commission financial adviser Jim Smith said the salaries Katz provided are reasonably accurate, but some of the individuals were assigned to the wrong commissioner or department.

Katz claims that the commission had 51 employees in 1985 and has 133 today. His

Some county commissioners have criticized Executive Edward McNamara for having a large staff that performs as many political services for McNamara as it does tangible services for taxpayers.

Last July when McNamara sent layoff notices (that were later withdrawn) to more than 200 county employees, commissioner Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn, retaliated by issuing a list of McNamara's office staff.

Her intent, Hubbard says, was to show that McNamara hadn't recommended anyone from his own staff for layoff.

Hubbard's list includes 38 names and annual salaries ranging from about $14,000 for a secretary to almost $99,000 for McNamara's chief deputies, Michael Duggan and David Katz.

A McNamara staffer studied Hubbard's list and concluded that two people on the list no longer work for Wayne County, six are no longer, or have never been, on McNamara's staff and one is on a leave of absence.

Katz said the number of McNamara's staffers tends to b fluctuate between 30 and 34 peo-

McNamara from page 9A

Using Hubbard's figures, the 38 annual salaries add up to more than $1.8 million. The top 10 salaries on McNamara's staff are $66,000 and up. They account for $818,000 of the total. Using the staffer's amended list, 29 annual salaries add up to $1.3 million. The top 10 salaries on the staff are $55,000 and up. They account for $723,000 of the total. Nancy Mouradian, spokeswoman for Sheriff Robert Ficano, laughed when told there were just 38 names on Hubbard's list of McNamara's staff. Between overt and covert staff members, she said, there are at least 100 county employees working for McNamara in a political sense.

County commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, who used to be a member of McNamara's staff, said Mouradian is exaggerating. "Nancy would include every department head and their deputies," he said.

Among the press releases Hubbard issued in July was a sheet entitled "Duggan/McNamara Relatives and Friends on Wayne County Payroll.'

Although the implication would seem to be that McNamara hires family members and friends for jobs they are ill suited for, Hubbard makes no such claim openly and lists only two McNamara relatives in county employ:

■ McNamara's daughter-in-law, Sharon McNamara, who earns a $25,000 salary at Metro

McNamara's nephew, Paul Feys, who earns a $60,000 salary at Metro.

McNamara's chief of staff, Katz, said Sharon McNamara was in Wayne County's employ before she married into the family. Feys, Katz said, has all the necessary credentials and licenses that qualify him for his job.

Others on Hubbard's list include:

■ The brother of commissioner Bryan Amann, Daniel, who works at the airport.

■ The wife of McNamara's chief of staff, Patricia Leonard, who works in the prosecutor's office. (Leonard, however, had that job before she married

More complaints

Commissioners also complain that McNamara plays a game where county employees who work in his office are charged to other departments. In this way, they say, McNamara can have more staff members than his office budget alone could pay for.

Of the 38 McNamara staffers Hubbard lists, 19 are charged to other departments: six to public works, four to Metro Airport, two to public services, three to accounting, and one each to health and human services, maintenance, mental health and the alternative workforce.

Katz said there are no sleight of hand accounting gimmicks at work here. McNamara is merely using a payroll system adopted in the 1980s by former county executive William Lucas. All the aforementioned departments are under McNamara's domain, Katz argues, so it's appropriate to charge some of the staff

Using himself as an example, Katz said his work involves any number of departments and divisions in county government. To divide his salary and charge a bit of it to this department and a bit of it to that department would be a waste of time, he said.

Moonlighting

Other sources have complained anonymously that McNamara too often orders staffers to work on political projects that shouldn't be part of their job de-

Earlier this year, for instance, staffers were allegedly told to solicit petition signatures in Jackson, Mich., in connection with a forthcoming special election for the state House there.

Furthermore, one of McNamara's assistant county executives, Freeman Hendricks, has long been on a leave of absence to act as campaign manager for Detroit mayoral candidate Dennis Archer.

Amann said that 25 of McNamara's staff members serve the boss in a political capacity as well as administratively. "These people are political appointees," he said. "They're supposed to do their taxpayer-paid job 40 hours a week and their political duties on the weekend. The key is to not let (political duties) interfere with the official business of your position. McNamara takes precautions more than figures for 1992, as amended by Smith, show the commission with 165 people on the payroll, many of them part time or contractual. All old, excluding fringe benefits, hese 165 people were paid about $2.6 million.

Office budgets

Fifty-seven of these people were part of the commission staff and not paid with money from any commissioner's office budget. For the most part, these are full-time support people who work for the commission as a whole. Others are part-time or contractual employees. Altogether, they were paid about $1.4 million in 1992.

The highest paid commission staff members can be found in this group. Eight of these people are paid annual salaries between $60,000 and $87,000. Together they make $574,000, rivaling the pay given to McNamara's top

The other 108 staff members worked for the specific commis-sioners who hired them. The composition of this group is diverse, from five student interns who were paid by commissioner Otis Mathis, D-Detroit, to the fulltime secretary of commissioner William O'Neil, D-Allen Park. These 108 people were paid about $1.2 million from the office budgets of all 15 commissioners.

According to current commission rules, each commissioner gets a base of $65,000 a year for an office budget. Commissioners who chair committees get an additional $10,000 to $25,000.

The commissioner with the highest staff salary is Chairman Arthur Blackwell. He paid 16 staff members about $135,000 in

The commission payroll covering Jan. 1 to May 23 of this year shows Blackwell with 11 staff members, seven of whom do not also appear on his 1992 payroll.

Commissioner Jackie Currie, D-Detroit, chairwoman of the public services committee, paid about $67,000 from her office budget to 16 people in 1992.

Commissioner George Cushingberry paid about $64,000 from his office budget to 16 people in 1992. As of May 23, 1993, Cushingberry had 10 people on his payroll, only three of whom were on his 1992

In August, the Observer gave copies of Katz's commission staff figures to commissioners Kay Beard, D-Westland, Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, and Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia.

Beard also represents Garden City. Plawecki also represents Redford and Livonia east of Middlebelt. Amann also represents Canton, and McCotter also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

"It is unfortunate and discouraging that others have not been able to be more frugal with taxpayers' money," Plawecki said in a written statement. "Unfortunately, the problem of bloated budgets and overspending is not confined to the (commission). It exists in the executive branch as Said Amann, "What we spend on ourselves has very little relevance to public service. We ought to try to spend less on politicians and more on pot holes.

Said McCotter, "I don't think we need to spend all that money on staff. I'm disappointed with excessive expenditures and the growth of government in Wayne County.

And your staff?

Beard, who has been on the commission since 1978, employs two people on her staff, paying them about $60,000, but only one of them gets paid out of Beard's office budget. Beard had no comment on the commission staff as a

Cities want to keep state subsidy

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

"Not enough," counties and local government officials are saying about Gov. John Engler's tax plans.

The governor wants to replace their $670 million cut of state taxes with local property taxing authority — two mills for counties, six for cities, three for townships, two for villages.

"Of 273 cities, 57 would not be made whole. Of 253 villages, 185 would not be made whole," said John Niemala, an official of the Michigan Municipal League.

Villages, in particular, would be hurt badly, said Niemala, suggesting they be given the power to levy three mills instead of the two proposed by Engler.

Local spokesmen voiced their complaints Tuesday to the special Senate committee studying Engler's school tax reform proposals. No votes were taken.

Among the members are David Honigman, R-West Blooomfield, and Robert Geake, R-Northville. Geake was appointed this week to replace Senate majority floor leader Phil Arthurhultz, R-Whitehall.

"Nothing in the governor's proposal is etched in stone. Nothing is final," Sen. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, assured them.

City complaints

Marc Puckett, Flint's finance director, said six mills would leave one of Michigan's largest rust belt cities $4 million short.

In addition, he said, Flint's property base is shrinking by 2 percent a year while state revenue sharing was rising.

"We propose that state revenue sharing be protected and some alternative method found for schools," Puckett said.

The property tax increases proposed by Engler would come from eight mills of the constitutional 15-mill "winter" tax no longer used by school districts. The schools' share was eliminated when the Legislature passed Senate Bill 1, wiping out nearly $7 billion in local school property taxes.

Of that 15 mills, counties get an average of five; Engler's plan would give them seven; townships get up to two mills; Engler's plan would give them four.

Cities and villages get nothing from those 15 mills because their rates are set by their voter-approved charters. Engler's plan would give them six and two mills, respectively, over and above their charter limitations.

Must be voted

There's a catch in the Engler plan that counties don't like: Their boards would have to cast a yes vote to levy those additional taxes.

"They should be automatically levied by the counties, unless county boards vote to levy less," said Philip Bareham, representing the Michigan Association of Counties.

Engler says local boards should look voters in the eye and vote the taxes they think are needed.

Local officials had two other problems with Engler's plan:

The freeze — The inflationary growth in property values would be delayed for an extra year. County tax rates would be based on assessments of 15 months earlier — costing counties $40 million in lost revenue, said Bare-

Madonna offers abuse workshop

A free Madonna University substance abuse workshop will occur 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in Kresge Hall on the Livonia campus.

For additional data, call 591-5189.

ham. His complaint was seconded by Gene Thornton of the Michigan Townships Association.

Delinquent taxes — Counties charge property owners who pay late a 4-percent fee. SB 1 eliminates 65 percent of all current state property taxes and thus 65 percent of delinquency fees.

■ State lands — In northern counties, local tax bases shrink as the state Department of Natural Resources uses oil and gas taxes to acquire more forest land, taking it off the tax rolls.

"Seventy percent of our county is owned by the state or federal governments," said Crawford County treasurer Joe Wakeley. "Maybe the state should divest some of that property if it can't pay taxes on them."

Thornton of the townships association went further, asking that townships be given veto power over state land purchases. That could prevent any expansion of state parks, state forests, hiking trails, boat launches or historical sites.

"It's amazing the pressure you get," said Gast, whose regular Senate job is chairing the Appropriations Committee: "The push out there is for the state to acquire more."

Engler's revenue-sharing program is embodied in three Senate bills, 888, 892 and one yet to be introduced. The identical House Bills are 5112 to 5114. Refer to those bill numbers when writing to your legislator, State Capital, Lansing 48913.

The toy cart on wheels holds toys for kids staying at the hospital. It was made possible by donations, most of them from Plymouth.

The cart will be dedicated at a birthday party for Bambi, Mott's new performing poodle.

The event features ice cream, cake, gifts, Bambi's show and presents from Bambi. It's at Room F7663 at the Ann Arbor hospital.

Pursell makes it official

■ Longtime former Congressman Carl Pursell made it official on Tuesday. He's running for the U.S. Senate. In a speech near Plymouth's Kellogg Park, Pursell quoted Ann Landers and Abraham Lincoln to kick off his campaign.

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

Amid a festive downtown gathering of well-wishers, local officials, educators, business people and students, former U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell announced his candidacy for U.S. Senate Tuesday.

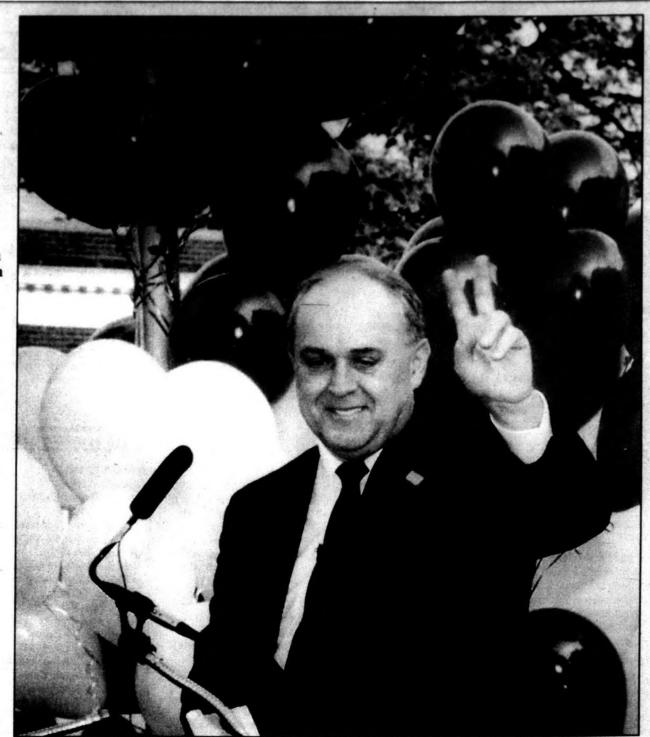

Mel Larson, former chairman of Michigan's Republican Party, led the event on the corner of Main Street and Penniman across from Pursell's newly opened campaign headquarters.

On a platform festooned with red, white and blue balloons, Larson said, "No one is happier than me to see Carl embark upon this great trail to the U.S. Senate. He is respected by both parties. He has paid his dues.

The Rev. Paul White of First Baptist Church gave the invocation, written by retired Judge Dunbar Davis.

Plymouth Mayor Bob Jones said, "Today we will witness here in our city a step in our democratic political process. This is memorable for Plymouth, not only because we're becoming part of the process of electing a senator, but because we are part of the process with Carl Pursell who grew up here, lived here and has served us in the Legislature and in Washington.

Church in Plymouth and the United Methodist Women. She loved music and played the organ in church and led the choir.

She is survived by one son, the Rev. John N. Grenfell Jr. of Port Huron, minister at First United Methodist Church in Plymouth for years; one daughter, Dorothy M. Murray of Canton, Ohio; nine grandchildren; 24 great-grandchildren; and one brother, James Short of Flat Rock.

The Rev. John N. Grenfell III and Rev. Donald R. Murray Jr. officiated. Memorial contributions may be given to First United Methodist Church, Plymouth.

Plymouth Township Supervi-sor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy borrowed the words of columnist George Weeks, who called Pursell 'Mr. Accomplishment.'

"Many of us from Plymouth and Plymouth Township have had the opportunity to grow from your honesty, experience and abil-ity to get things done," she told Pursell, who was accompanied by his wife Peggy, children and friends. "If everyone in the audience here today decides to work and get things done, we will be successful."

Marketing consultant Scott Lorenz recalled that his parents "Ralph and Mabel, asked my brother and I when I was about 7 years old to pass out campaign fli-ers for Carl. It worked." Lorenz called the Pursells "a great family and great supporters. I think they are going to have a great first family in the U.S. Senate.

Businesswoman Mara Letica said individuals can make a difference, "and Carl Pursell is one of those people you don't have to lose hope in.

Longtime friend Lettie Wickliffe, 91, said she appreciates Pur-sell's interest in children and the fact that "he is not what you call a pork barrel man.

When at last Pursell took the podium, he said, "Today, I'm announcing my candidacy for the U.S. Senate from the great state of Michigan. As a native son of Plymouth, my family and I are honored to stand before you. The U.S. is a republic, and the next senator from Michigan must listen to you.

He said he would work to "reduce tax burdens by limiting and reducing spending. That will be my major challenge for this nation. We need checks and balances. Deficits do matter.

"Ann Landers said it all," Pursell said. "What the vast majority of children need is to stop being pampered and catered to. In the final analysis, it's not what you do for your children but what you have taught them to do for themselves that will make them suc-

Pursell quoted Abraham Lincoln who said, "You cannot help men and women permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.'

City commission should act

It's time for the Plymouth City Commission to get serious about the empty Highland Appliance warehouse-office facility.

The Highland building is the largest property taxpayer in the city and without the $67,000 it produces annually, the city will face budget problems. With Highland going through bankruptcy, there is a chance that the taxes won't be paid at some point.

The task of the city commission should be to make sure that point doesn't come. If a tenant isn't found, now that Fretter has pulled out of a deal to buy the building, the tax burden will eventually fall on residents and other business-

However, finding tenants for empty buildings in communities hasn't been seen as a job of government. That thinking should be changed. But we have our doubts if it can with the current city commission.

The commission has dragged its collective feet on two important development issues in the city, parking credits and a streetscape project for downtown Plymouth.

If commission members had eliminated parking credits two years ago when the discussions started, chances are there would be restaurants begging landlords to rent them property. Part of the blame for the lack of movement on parking credits can be laid at the feet of merchants who have become prickly about settling the dispute.

If the streetscape had gone through two years ago, instead of being delayed and eventually getting caught in the middle of Gov. John Engler's scrapping of the property tax system, the streets would have been paved with bricks and the city would have improved its image and business climate.

The problem with the city commission is that commissioners Bill McAninch and Dennis Shrewsbury seem intent on bogging projects down and delaying their completion. Both commissioners have nitpicked the streetscape.

Such actions send the business community a message: The city isn't a good place in which to do business.

To remedy that notion, the city commission should form a special task force on finding a tenant for the Highland building. That task force should include some members from government and others from business.

Just the formation of a task force would tell business that the city of Plymouth is serious. It's a message that needs delivering.

LETTERS

Silly season

he last time I wrote a letter to the editor was when the Plymouth Planning Commission had recommended an ordinance requiring a permit to put up the American flag in the city.

As one of our World War II veterans I thought this was absolutely silly and when the ordinance came before the Plymouth City Commission for approval, Commissioner Vos was the one who moved to delete it. And it was.

I think that the letters being written about yard signs in the commission race are just as silly. Is that all the challengers can come up with to talk about in this campaign?

With one exception, those candidates and their supporters who would like to make this a campaign issue were the very same ones who have supported Jerry Vorva when he ran for city commission as well as state representative.

Did they say anything to Vorva about signs: No. Did they complain about signs when Vorva, Vos, and Jabara used them in 1989? Did they complain about signs when the school board candidates used them in the city during the past election? No. Have they complained about Engler, Bush, Clinton, not to mention a whole host of other candidates who have used this technique in the past? No.

Campaign signs do not just give the candidate exposure, but they let the electorate know that there is an election right around the corner. With the embarrassing turn out of only 13 percent in the primary, we certainly need a reminder that there is an election right around the cor-

Yard signs also allow supporters of certain candidates to let their neighbors know who they support by putting a sign in their front yard. This is a cherished freedom of expression and First Amendment right.

We have a political sign ordinance that specifically allows candidates - city, county, schools, state and national - to use signs as long as they are taken down right after the election. Those who are challenging this right are both hypocritical and ignorant. It is obvious they are backing the candidates who are not using signs if you haven't figured that one out yet. I am supporting Loiselle, Miller, Prose, and Vos - not because some of them use campaign signs and some don't — but because they are best qualified by experience and background to serve as our city commissioners.

W. T. Stephenson, Plymouth

Sign of times

ontrary to those who are writing on behalf of my opponents in the Plymouth City Commission race, I have spoken with about 500 residents so far and only three have expressed a negative attitude regarding po-

The overwhelming majority of those I have spoken with really don't care - especially since it is for such a short period of time before the election. When compared to Livonia, Detroit, and even Southfield, Plymouth has a very restrictive political sign ordinance as to duration, location and size. To be quite honest, I do not have enough signs available for all those who have requested them for their front yard.

The letters being written are obviously supporting the candidates who are not using signs. Where were they when signs were used in the past? These same individuals have supported candidates in the past who have used yard signs such as Jerry Vorva and Jim Jabara and never complained before.

One individual who has endorsed me, a business owner and now real estate magnate, has suggested that we deep six the signs. Then we might as well do away with real estate signs too,

How hypocritical can we be?

John F. Vos III, Plymouth

Sign voting

know how to stop the political signs in Plymouth — vote for the candidates that do not have signs.

Let's see how the signs materialize in 1997. Jean L. Morrow, Plymouth

Argument not supported

s. Schwarz would have the reader believe there will be 100 species extinctions per day if the endangered species act is not re-authorized by Congress.

Yet she does not support this with any facts or study. This reminds me of the 3 million homeless people homeless advocate Mitch Snidder put out in the 1980s, with no facts. I would bet Ms. Schwarz believes the spotted owl is equally endangered, when in fact the only species endangered is the timber man and those who process and use this renewable resource.

All trees will die no matter what and can easily be replanted. As all responsible landowners do, it is in their best interest to do so. The endangered species act should not be renewed without strong measures to protect the most endangered species of all: hard-working men and women and landowners of this country.

Tax plan gobbles up equity

resto! Change-o! Just when Michigan homeowners thought they were getting rid of the onerous and inflationary school property tax, the idea is back.

Gov. John Engler is taking a lot of heat, deservedly, for proposing a 4 percent real estate transfer tax. That's right - a 4 percent tax on the price you get when you sell your home. On a $100,000 house, the tax would be a whopping $4,000. If you as a seller have a mortgage of $80,000 and equity of $20,000, the real estate transfer tax gobbles up 20 percent of your equity.

It's odd that a Republican governor would propose a tax that falls so heavily on people who are mobile. A Republican Secretary of Defense from this area once criticized "kennel dogs who sit on their fannies and howl for food" and praised bird dogs who go hunting for it. What Engler is proposing is a tax on bird dogs who move to where the jobs are or accept transfers to upgrade themselves. wnom we should place a "must tax" priority.

Engler, in an interview with this newspaper, noted that Realtors take commissions of 7 percent. That is no defense. The state won't help the cause of home ownership by raising the total skimming to 11 percent,

The governor proposed the real estate transfer tax in his special message to the Legislature on education. What he didn't say on television, but what shows up in the text of his message, is an alternative to the 4 percent transfer tax.

You can choose to pay an alternative tax of 16

■ A Republican Secretary of Defense from this area once criticized "kennel dogs who sit on their fannies and howl for food" and praised bird dogs who go hunting for it. What Gov. John Engler is proposing is a tax on bird dogs who move to where the jobs mills for three years — a total of 48 mills. It's a better deal than paying a 4 percent tax at the time of sale that's the equivalent of 80 mills but it's still a bad deal.

Why tax real estate sales at all? Both the 4 percent transaction tax and the alternative 16 mills for three years are bad ideas.

We're getting a nearly $7 billion cut in school property taxes. We know we're going to have to make up most or all of it. So let everybody prepare to pay. A personal income tax increase would nick earnings. A sales tax would nick consumption of everything but food and prescription drugs. A hike in the single business tax will fall on the value added of Michigan corporations.

Even the little lamented school property tax was fairer because it fell on virtually everyone. We would rather see part of the property tax restored outright than to focus only on those who sell their homes and gimmicks like the 16mills-for-three-years tax.

The Legislature should dump the real estate transfer tax as quickly as possible.

This editorial on a proposed real estate tax is the first in a series, "Target: Education", which will appear periodically in this newspaper.

Plymouth fire department explains budget, services

he Plymouth Township Fire Department exists to provide fire protection and emergency medical services to all individuals and property within its boundaries.

It is our desire to provide our citizens with an explanation of the operations and services available to you through your fire department.

The budget for the fire department in 1993 was $1.7 million. A full 70 percent of this figure represents the cost of salaries and benefits to our employees. It will cost the township $300,000 to staff Fire Station No. 3.

The station was built at a cost of $1.1 million and an additional $500,000 was spent on furnishings, including the cost of a new fire pumper and a new rescue squad.

There are three fire stations in Plymouth Township, all of which serve as backups for the other township fire stations, which means that multiple station response is common for fire and emergency medical runs.

The fire department is known as a combination department, which is one of the most-cost-effective means of operation. We employ 17 full-time, paid firefighters and 24 part-time firefighters. We are understaffed by 4 fulltime firefighters.

If and when the township is financially able to hire four additional fulltime personnel, we will be able to staff all stations with two men per day.

Part-time, paid firefighters operate on an "on call" basis. All part-time personnel are equipped with pagers, which allow us to page them as we need them. All of the part-time personnel are certified and trained according to the standards set forth by the state.

In addition to the firefighting staff mentioned above, the department includes a chief, a secretary and a fulltime administrative assistant to the fire chief.

The fire department provides emergency medical services to the township, which means that when a rescue unit is called, fire department personnel who are licensed as emergency medical technicians and defibrillator operators

At the same time, Huror. Valley Ambulance, which provides advanced lifesupport services, is notified and re-

Full-time firefighters also conduct fire inspections on all commercial and industrial buildings in Plymouth Township. Each business is inspected at least once a year.

We also provide numerous fire-prevention programs to local schools, clubs, churches, senior citizens, and commercial and industrial establishments. It is our goal to help our citizens become informed about proper fire safety practices, and we are available to answer any questions or concerns you may have

Modern firefighting techniques include requirements for operations-level hazardous-materials responders. Hazardous-materials incidents include train derailments, chemical spills, toxic fires or toxic fumes. Hazardous materials can be flammable liquids, combustibles, toxic materials or explosives found in a liquid, solid or gaseous

The fire department staff has a tremendous amount of responsibility which requires a well-defined training program so that we are able to respond to all emergency calls. Despite the financial crisis we are facing, we remain a competent, well-qualified staff, and we stand ready to serve our citizens, when called upon, in an efficient, professional manner.

The motto "People, Our Priority" is a realism for this fire department as it is our job to respond to your needs and provide you with the best fire protection and emergency medical service available.

Larry F. Groth is the fire chief at Plymouth Township. The Plymouth Observer publishes guest columns. For more information, call Jeff Counts, the editor, at 459-2700.

Mayoral election peaks Detroit, suburban crisis

hat is the future of Detroit? And can that future be separated from the future of Southfield, Birmingham, Livonia and all the other suburbs?

These two questions are not academic. We who live in the metropolitan Detroit area worry about them all the time. Our lives, our families and our work depend on the answers. And the upcoming mayoral election in the city dramatizes the crisis. The departure of Coleman Young from political power may be the opportunity to usher in a new era of cooperation between Detroit and its suburbs.

Detroit was once one of the "boom towns" of America, a desirable place to make a living and raise children. It was the leading industrial city of the United States, where education, housing and recreation were wonderful supports of postwar prosperity. It was not as exciting as New York or as beautiful as San Francisco. But it was safer, cleaner and more comfortable than most of its urban counterparts.

The coming of the automobile changed the world - and Detroit. Starting with a medium-size manufacturing town specializing in steel, shipbuilding, railroad cars, drugs, cigarettes and shoes, the manufacturers of the motor car turned our city into the mother of the assembly line and the father of the monster factory. Ford made it possible for an upper class toy to become an instrument of mass transportation. Detroit became a one-industry town, powerful and vulnerable.

The automobile brought thousands of "immigrants" to Detroit. It changed the ethnic face of our city. The Yankees, Germans and Irish gave way to the Poles, Italians and Eastern Europeans The blacks of the South poured into their racial ghetto and confronted white hostility. The language and color of Detroit became radically different from what they were before.

In time, affluence, the automobile and racism destroyed the city. Suburbia became affordable and accessible. Expressways made travel easy and shopping centers replaced downtown. Running away from blacks become a white obsession. Detroit lost the rich and the middle class and kept the poor. The school system declined. The infrastructure decayed.

In the midst of all this turmoil, the automobile found alternative places to be manufactured. Factories closed. Jobs disappeared. Unions shrank. Unemployment and welfare became the reality of inner city living. Drugs and crime followed poverty. Families fell apart. Teenage mothers became comGUEST COLUMNIST monplace. The downturn seemed irreversible.

When blacks and Coleman Young came to power, the decline of the city was well on its way. A new Detroit sprang up in the suburbs, white and prosperous. Terrified by what was hap pening in the city, it turned its back on the old Detroit and invented the isolation of suburban existence. In a short while the separation was made complete by mutual fear and distrust.

The Young years have been two decades of continuous decay. The population has declined. Residential streets have been turned into wastelands. Crime and violence hold entire neighborhoods captive. Neither the building of the Renaissance Center nor the restoration of the Fox Theater have altered the steady disintegration of the city. Even the black bourgeoisie are beginning to flee. And without the middle class - whether white or black - Detroit cannot be a viable community.

Is all of this development Young's fault? Has his abrasive anti-white, anti-suburban rhetoric been responsible for suburban hostility? Would things have been different had he spoken and behaved differently? I doubt it. In a time of recession and de-industrialization, talking nicely to whites does not create jobs and money.

What is clear, however, is that the decay of the old Detroit must ultimately affect the morale and the quality of life of the new Detroit. The suburbs cannot be whole so long as the core is rotten. And what is also clear, is that nothing can be done to make things better without the active cooperation of city blacks and suburban whites. The successor to Young will be helpless unless old Detroit and new Detroit can see themselves as part of the same urban enterprise.

What can we do to turn confrontation into cooperation?

We can start thinking of ourselves as Detroiters, whether we live south of Eight Mile Road or in the suburbs. We can take responsibility for our urban

It is in that spirit that three Jewish congregations of Metropolitan Detroit, Congregation Beth Shalom, Temple Shir Shalom and The Birmingham Temple have come together to do something about this crisis.

The first event of our newly founded Intercongregational Forum is called Detroit and Its Suburbs: Confrontation or Cooperation. It will be a formidable event, with Don H. Barden, Maryann Mahaffey, Ed McNamara, and L. Brooks Patterson — and three rabbi interrogators: David Nelson, Dannel Schwartz and yours truly.

Our program at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 25, at Birmingham Temple is an opportunity to make an important statement. The Jewish community of greater Detroit cares about the future of Detroit. This is our home, and we need to do something to save it.

Control issue may squelch governor's school fund plan

tripped to the core, Gov. John Engler's plan for school funding seeks to replace a patchwork of locally voted taxes for education with a state-funded "one size fits all" system.

Here's how:

In the governor's plan, all districts would receive a minimum of $4,500 per pupil in state aid. Districts now spending between $4,500 and $5,500 would get a 2 percent increase next year, while those spending up to $6,500 would get a 1 percent increase.

School districts spending more than $6,500 per pupil — 35 in all — would get $6,500 from the state and be allowed the local option of voting additional property taxes.

A fair number of readers have called this newspaper and complained bitterly about the governor's plan "destroying local control of our schools."

There's some justice in this charge. One of the first things families with children do when they consider buying a new home is look at the quality of the local school system. In general - and there are many exceptions - the more local voters have been willing to tax themselves in school millages, the better their schools are.

So people shopping for a house can express their economic and educational choices by choosing a home in one district (with one tax level) but not another (with another tax level). What's wrong with that?

More to the point, what's wrong with the idea of asking people if they're willing to pony up their tax money to support good schools for their kids? You pays your money and you makes your

You can't do that under the governor's proposal, unless you live in the top-spending 35 dis-

I suspect there are a lot of people outside the top 35 districts who care about their schools and the education of their kids and who like the idea of being given a choice in the matter of voting for or against school millages. And I hope there will be a big movement in the Legislature to give more districts their own voices.

More than that, though, Engler's "one size fits all" plan ignores the reality that there are really

INFORMATION BULLETIN

RK Surgery is short for Refractive Surgery. It is a surgery for myopia or nearsighted people to potentially eliminate the need of eve glasses or contact lenses. It is performed in an office outpatient setting without the use of laser. Laser Refractive Surgery is performed with an Excimer Laser and is called Photo Refractive Keratoplasty and is also performed as an outpatient.

The Michigan Eyecare Institute feels this is a wonderful procedure for thousands of people but not all people are candidates.

The doctors at the Michigan Eyecare Institute have had more years of experience with RK Surgery and Excimer Laser Surgery than any other doctors in the midwest. Dr. Myers is the first doctor currently practicing in Michigan to have performed the procedures. Dr. Myers and Dr. Rubinstein are the first doctors in Michigan to have performed any type of surgery with Excimer Laser.

The Michigan Eyecare Institute recommends if you are contemplating Refractive Surgery to investigate how many years the doctor you are electing to perform the procedure has been doing it and how many patients they have performed it on. Also you may ask how many lectures and papers they have written concerning their data. results and methods.

The doctors of the Michigan Eyecare Institute have lectured internationally about Refractive Surgery and Excimer Laser Surgery and have taught the procedures to other ophthalmologists for 15 years and welcome you to visit their offices for a consultation or free evaluation as to whether you or your family members or friends are a candidate for the procedure.

Please cut this bulletin out and use it for a reference if you are contemplating Refractive Surgery. The Michigan Eyecare Institute has 4 offices in Southeastern Michigan. Call 1-800-676-EYES for further information.

It's big, it's red, it's Antares

RAYMOND E.

A color excursion through the autumn sky has as its tour guide, the moon.

Look for the moon in the south southwest on Monday evening. Below it will be a bright orange-red star. This will be An-

BULLOCK tares (an TAR ees), the "heart" of Scorpius the scorpion. In Greek and Roman mythology, the sting of the scorpion was responsible for the death

Antares, whose name means "rival of Mars," has about the same brightness and color as the red planet. Because it is always close to the horizon, when viewed from northern latitudes, its light must pass through the thicker layers of our atmosphere to reach our eyes, and that tends to redden the light even more.

The size of Antares is truly impressive: It is 700 times the size of the sun. (It is believed that red supergiant Antares is exceeded in size only by Betelgeuse, in Orion.) Red stars are comparatively cool, and Antares is very similar to Betelgeuse in that respect. Both are about 3,100 degrees Kelvin, which is 2.700 degrees cooler than the sun. In addition, both are estimated to be 520 light-years distant. If our sun were moved 520 light-years away from us, it wouldn't even be visible to the naked-eye! (Not that there would be anyone looking for it; everyone would freeze to death.)

The Orionid (oh RYE an id) meteor shower will reach its peak between midnight and sunrise on Oct. 22. This is not one of the major showers of the year; on average of only 25 "falling stars" will be visible, but as the August Perseids showed, meteor showers are very unpredictable. Orion will be rising in the east at midnight and will be high in the south at sunrise.

The Orionid meteors can appear in any part of the sky, but their point of origin can be traced back to Orion. A variety of colors could be produced as the meteors burn up in our atmosphere. All that one needs to do to observe a meteor shower is to relax in a lawn chair and look up. (A thermos of hot chocolate or coffee and a blanket is highly recommend-

The moon will be at first quarter phase at 4:52 a.m. on Oct. 22. Located within the constellation of Capricornus, it will have completed the first quarter of its orbit around the earth. It will be setting before midnight on the 21st, so its light will not interfere with the Orionid shower on the 22nd.

The bright "star" below and to the left of the moon in the southeast on the evening of the 23rd will be Saturn. Saturn has been described as having a golden yellow color, and its beautiful system of rings is easily visible in a small telescope.

Saturn has at least 18 moons. Its largest moon, named Titan, can be seen in a small telescope; look for a little "star" to the west of Saturn on Oct. 23. (This moon will be visible on the west side of Saturn from the 22nd through 28th of October and will be aligned with the plane of Saturn's ring system.)

Titan, the second largest moon in the solar system, is actually bigger than the planets Mercury and Pluto! It is the only moon to have a substantial atmosphere (mostly nitrogen gas).

Saturn will be stationary on Oct. 28. The planet has been drifting slowly westward through the sky since June 11 when it began retrograde (backward) motion. After today Saturn will resume direct (forward) motion through Capricornus, but very slowly. (Planets don't physically reverse their orbits; retrograde motion is an optical illusion.)

Notice Venus in the south southeast on the morning of the 29th. It will be a little closer to the horizon than it was at the start of this month, but notice how far it has moved from Regulus. (Regulus will be quite high in the southeast.) The motion of Venus is very apparent because of its high velocity around the sun, unlike Saturn's slow plodding.

The star to the left of the moon on the evening of the 29th will be Mesarthim (me SAR tim). Also known as Gamma Arietis (air ee AY tis), it is the third brightest star in the constellation of Aries, the Greek alphabet. This was one of the first double stars to be discovered, and it was done by acci-dent. English physicist Robert Hooke was tracking a comet across the sky in 1664 when he made the discovery.

The dim, insignificant constellation of Aries was extremely important two thousand years ago. When the zodiac was being mapped out, the vernal equinox (beginning of spring) occurred when the sun crossed the celestial equator in Aries, so Aries was used to mark the starting point of the zodiac. Today the equinox occurs in Pisces, and soon will move into Aquarius.

Full moon will be at 8:38 a.m. on Oct. 30. This is the full moon that follows the Harvest Moon, and it is called the Hunters Moon because its light aided hunters who were out after sun-

Daylight Saving Time comes to an end at 2 a.m. on Oct. 31. Clocks will need to be turned back one hour, giving us an extra hour. Although the sky will begin to brighten an hour earlier in the morning, and darkness will occur an hour earlier in the evening, daylight time has no astronomical significance whatsoever.

Playoffs at stake in top games

BY BRAD EMONS

The post-season playoff picture is becoming a little clearer as the eighth weekend of high school football approaches.

Two Western Lakes Activities Association matchups Friday night - Farmington Harrison at Westland John Glenn (for the championship) and Northville at Livonia Stevenson (second-place crossover) - should uncloud matters considerably.

GRID PICKS

Redford Catholic Central, meanwhile, is fighting for a Class AA spot in Region III. Uunbeaten Rochester and Rochester Adams have good shots, along with oncebeaten Dearborn Fordson and Detroit Henry Ford.

In Class BB Region IV, Redford Thurston remains a longshot. The Eagles, in fact, need a miracle to move up in the standings.

The grid prediction race was widened again last week as yours truly went 11-3 to up his overall record to 84-19. His opponent, Dan O'Meara, lost ground again after going 10 for 14. The unlucky Irishman is 77-26, seven games off the pace with only two weeks

Badgers ride Observerland talent to prominence

BY C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

If there are doubters regarding Livonia's pre-eminence as a soccer talent pool, all one need point to is . . . is .

Wisconsin?

True enough. Even though other NCAA Division I programs like Florida International (Livonia Churchill's Jeff Cassar) and University of Detroit-Mercy (Scott Wiggins and Kal Kaliszewski, also from Churchill) are reaping the benefits of Livonia's soccer strength, none can point to such a superb record so influenced by local stars.

Mike Gentile and Scott Lamphear, both Churchill grads, are key starters for the Badgers. Travis Roy, from Livonia Stevenson, is Wisconsin's leading scorer.

All three are sophomores. They weren't the first local players to take their talent west. Jeff Gold, a redshirt junior from Plymouth (Salem HS), started at midfield until breaking his foot in the first game of the season. An all-Big Ten pick in '92 when he scored 12 points, Gold returned to action Friday against Indiana.

So how good are they? One need only look at the Badgers' record: 9-1-4 overall, 2-1-1 in the Big

Defender turned scorer

That loss hurt as much as the earlier wins helped. "I think we showed at the start of the year how good we were when we beat two California teams (St. Mary's and California) 8-0 and 5-0," said Roy. "I think that's when we were playing our best.'

So what happened against Indiana? "Our team gave up basically," Roy said bluntly. "Not everyone. But we just didn't play well. (The Indiana) coach even thought we played lousy."

Roy hasn't done so poorly, although he is far from satisfied. He has 10 goals and two assists, including Wisconsin's only goal against Indiana. He leads the Badgers in goals and points (22).

"He's just a machine," said Lamphear of Roy. "He scores all the time.

It wasn't that way at Stevenson, where he played sweeper much of the time. But Stevenson coach Walt Barrett knew of his offensive potential, turning him loose to charge through opposing

"Travis Roy was probably the most feared player Stevenson ever had, not only because he could score goals, but because he could intimidate," said Barrett.

His Wisconsin coach, Jim Launder, was informed of Roy's offensive talents by an acquaintance in the Olympic Development Program - Oakland University coach Gary Parsons, who put Roy on offense during an ODP camp after several other forwards were injured.

"We recruited him as a forward," said Launder, something other NCAA I schools did not do, which worked in his favor. "(Roy) liked the idea, too, so it was a good situation.

Indeed it has been. Roy had eight goals and five assists as a freshman. "He's still going to get better," Launder predicted. "He's a smart player and he'll learn even more.

Churchill connection

Gentile and Lamphear, teammates at Churchill and roommates at Wisconsin, have also been quick-learners. Gentile was all-Big Ten as a freshman; Lamphear was hoping to earn a position as a marking defender, but outdid himself and has been the starting sweeper.

"(Gentile) is just an excellent all-around player," said Launder. "He's playing kind of a 'tweener position, both defender and midfielder. But he's very smart and can handle both.

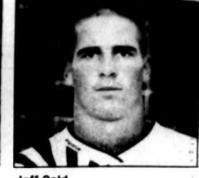

Lamphear "anchors our defense," said Launder, "and he has two game-winning goals." Indeed he does, the latest coming against Michigan State in Sunday's 2-1 win, when he hammered a 22-yard shot into the upper corner. Is he starting to blossom offensively? Could he be another Travis Roy a sweeper-turned-scorer? "I don't know about this year, Lamphear said with more than a hint of sarcasm (by his count, he scored five goals in his Churchill career). "Maybe next year I'll give him a run.'

Launder is pleased with Lamphear as is. "He's a tough, hard man, he covers well, and he's a good tackler," the Badgers' coach said.

Though Wisconsin ranks among the NCAA's elite, Launder figures the Indiana game might have signaled a bit of a slump. "We're in a bit of a lull," he said. "We've got to lift our game right now. If we do, we can make a Gold should help. "He's a very good player, and a great 'big goal' scorer," Launder added. "He's an explosive kind of player who does the unexpected. He'll help us liven it up once we get used to having him back.'

Ocelots steamroll to win

Funny, when a 4-0 victory can be considered lackluster.

That was the case when SC visited Columbus (Ohio) State College Saturday. The Ocelots got their 4-0 win, keeping them unbeaten (14-0-1) and atop the region (9-0). But when a team's ranked seventh in the nation, something more is anticipated against a weak opponent.

'We expected more goals," said SC coach Van Dimitriou. "We had a tremendous number of opportunities, we just didn't finish well."

Matt Lividini provided the bulk of the offense, scoring once and assisting on two others. Lividini got SC's first goal in the 24th minute, on a pass from Jeremy Pinard.

Vince Troiani followed Lividini's goal by taking a pass from him and converting in the 27th SC SPORTS minute, making it 2-0. It stayed that way for just five minutes; in the 32nd minute, Joe Perron onetimed a cross from Lividini for a 3-0 advantage.

The final goal came in the 65th minute. Adam Carriere got it, assisted by Fadi Bazzi.

Volleyball

The Lady Ocelots continued their climb back toward respectability, and got a bit of revenge, too, when they defeated Delta who beat them earlier - 15-2, 15-10, 15-9 Tuesday at Delta.

The win evened SC's Eastern Conference record at 4-4 and increased its overall win total to 11 in 28 matches.

Kristen Barnes and Danielle Pfeffer paced the offense.

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Lutheran Westland at Harper Woods (4 p.m.): This Metro Conference crossover is a rematch from Sept. 10 when Harper Woods (4-3) prevailed 12-6 in ne. Both teams lost tough games last week, Lutheran Westland (2-5) fell to Harper Woods Lutheran East in overtime, while the Pioneers gave first-place Mount Clemens Lutheran North a struggle before losing, 21-13. PICKS: Both agree its Harper Woods again.

Clarenceville at Lutheran East (7 p.m.): This is another another rematch from Oct. 8 when East (4-3) won in double overtime, 26-20. Clarenceville (3-4) had an awful time stopping the Matt Gerling-to-Billy Green passing combination, but the Trojans counter with Luvic Lucajto-Mark Kalaj passing threat. PICKS: Emons like Clarenceville, but O'Meara sticks with his East Side chums

Farm. Harrison at Westland Glenn: Guess what? Yet another rematch on the horizon, but the stakes are even higher this time. Glenn (7-0) won the first encounter, 24-19, at Harrison, The Rockets are back at the launching pad, but will still be without returner/safety Matt Howton (broken collarbone). He was a key factor the first time out. Harrison (6-1), led by sophomore tailback Jason Granger, is looking to avenge the first setback. PICKS: Emons rides with the Rockets, but O'Meara says coach John Herington wins No. 200 at Harrison.

Northville at Liv. Stevenson: The second best matchup of the night pitting the Lakes Division runnerup Spartans (6-1) against the Western Division runnerup Northville (6-1). The Mustangs have a potent running attack, led by sophomore speedster Aneil Kersey and senior fullback Bryan Kelley. Stevenson, the come-back kids, must stop Northville's ground attack to have a chance. Stevenson also needs this win worse than Northville to make the state playoffs. PICKS: North-ville wins the consolation prize.

Pty. Canton at W.L. Central: The Chiefs (4-3) beat Livonia Franklin as quarterback Brett Elledge and tailback Lenny Gardner carried the load. Central (3-4) is fighting a four-game losing streak, but gave Stevenson a run before losing last week, 33-22, as backup fullback Chad Stoddard rushed for 207 yards. PICKS: Hail to the Canton Chiefs rings out.

W.L. Western at Ply. Salem: Western (3-4) has not looked good since being squashed by Northville and Farmington Harrison. The Rocks (4-3) have been rocky at times, but find a way to beat teams of their caliber. This game will give a good indication which division (Lakes or Western) is better. PICKS: Salem uses ritchcraft to burn Western at the stake.

Dbn. Fordson at Wayne Mer Fordson (6-1, 5-0) can wrap up the Mega-Red Division title outright with a victory but the Tractors haven't exactly been blowing teams away as evidenced by last week's 12-7 squeaker over last place Woodhaven. Wayne (4-3, 3-2) can play spoiler, but the Zebras are fighting a twogame losing skid. PICKS: The Tractors pull one out.

Garden City at Redford Union (Kraft Fleid): Both of these Mega-White Division teams have hit the skids. GC (4-3, 3-2) is trying to rebound from last week's 18-7 loss to Taylor Kennedy, while RU (0-7, 0-5) is hoping this will be its night. Maybe the passing combo of Brian Berryman-to-Greg Knight will break the ice. PICKS: The Cougars keep RU winless.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Liv. Franklin at N. Farmington: Both teams are 1-6. Franklin can move the ball under the direction of quarterback Greg Maple, who is complemented by the run-ning attack of Jesse Shakarian and Ron Troia. North, meanwhile, played a whale of a defensive game last week against state-ranked Glenn before losing, 14-0. Watch Scot Lord and Ryan McGlinch on telesce. defense. PICKS: Emons votes for North, but O'Meara casts his lot with the Patri-

Liv. Churchill at Farmington: If Churchill (0-7) is going to break its 34-game losing streak, this is the game. The Chargers fell victim last year to the Falcons (1-6) down the stretch, after having control most of the game. Farmington has the home field advantage. PICKS: The Falcons swoop past Sir Winston.

D.H. Annapolis at Red. Thurston: The Cougars (0-7, 0-6) are the absolute worst among 20 teams in the Mega Conference. Thurston (5-2, 4-2) has a slim chance of making the playoffs in Class BB, but the Eagles won't get any bonus points from winless Annapolis. PICKS: It's a happy homecoming for the Eagles.

Bishop Borgess vs. Allen Pk. Cabrin (1:30 p.m. at Garden City Junior High) The Spartans (1-6, 1-3) snapped a two year drought by beating Southgate Aquinas last week, 20-6. It was also Craig James' first victory as head coach. Cabrini, coached by former Notre Dame quaterback Terry Andrysiak, is 1-6 overall and 0-4 in the Tri-Sectional. PICKS: Borgess

St. Agatha vs. Det. East Catholic (7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Fleid): The Aggies (3-4, 1-3) have been Dow Jones kind of team this year — up and down. They gave Center Line St. Clement a tussle last week before losing 21-15. East Catholic (5-2, 2-2), rated No. 7 in Class DD, is fighting for a playoff spot in Region IV. PICKS: It won't be easy, but East Catholic stays in the playoff hunt.

SUNDAY'S GAME

Redford CC at Harper Wds. Notre Dame (2:30 p.m.): The state-ranked Shamrocks (6-1, 3-0) already have a spot wrapped up in the Prep Bowl, while these Fighting Irish (4-3, 1-2) lost last week to Country Day, 26-6. Only Lou Holtz, Jeff Burns, Bryant Young and Rudy could pull this one out of the hat for Notre Dame. PICKS: CC wins under the tamished dome. Why isn't O'Meara backing his brothers?

Vikings capture 1st title

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Walled Lake Central's best year ever in girls tennis continues to get even better.

The Vikings, who will be making their first appearance in school history at the state Class A finals beginning Friday in Midland, added yet another trophy to their case Tuesday by winning the 12-school Western Lakes Activities Association crown for the first time at Livonia Stevenson.

TENNIS

Central, which scored a teamhigh 25 points, reached the finals in six flights and came away with four titles. Farmington scored 17 points to gain second place in the team standings, while defending champion North wound up third with 16.

"These girls work hard individually and that's what makes it a good team," said Dee Geelhood. Central's first-year coach and a 1991 alumnus. "They're just not seasonal players. They play yearround and that makes a differ-

That opened the door for Central's Rachel Clanton, who won the flight with a 7-5, 6-1 victory over Northville freshman Jackie

"Usually my forehand is my strength, but today it was my backhand," said Clanton, a junior with only two losses all season. "The key to beating her (Moore) was to keep moving her around."

Moore had the first set tied at 5-5, but Clanton regrouped and won eight of the next nine games.

'She (Moore) was getting a lot of balls back and they were good balls," Clanton said.

Clanton, however, was disappointed that she didn't get a chance for a rematch with Clack.

"Rachel was kind of upset because she wanted the opportunity to beat her, which she was capable of doing," Geelhood said.

Clanton's career record against the Salem junior ace is 2-2.

"I lost to her a couple of weeks ago because I was nervous, and I was shaky," Clanton said.

At No. 2 singles, sophomore Danielle Geelhood of Central beat North Farmington junior Allison Walkon in the finals, 6-1, 6-2. (Geelhood's only loss of the season came against Bloomfield Hills' Lahser's Lisa Powers at the regional).

At No. 1 doubles, Farmington Harrison's top-seeded duo of Amy Tobe, a senior, and Sara Kloosterman, a freshman, completed a 14-0 WLAA campaign by defeating Farmington's Devon Woodruff and Leslie Britt, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Plymouth Salem's Katie Sullivan and Julie Coyle also won a three-setter to capture the No. 2 flight against Farmington's Lauren Tucker and Krissy Mahon, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

At No. 3 doubles, junior Erica Schweitzer and senior Chean Chau scored a 6-2, 6-4 triumph over Northville's Julie Weix and Chrissy Kapusky.

In the biggest surprise of the doubles draw, unseeded Erica Brown and Heidi Walkon claimed the No. 4 flight with a 6-3, 6-1 win over Central's Sarah Leonhardt and Jody Main. Brown and Walkon pulled off a 6-3, 6-4 secondround upset over Northville's topseeded duo of Abby Semeyn and Jennifer Moak.

The varsity earned a 24-0 shutout. Kevin Salla scored on touchdown runs of six and 21 yards. The other varsity score came on a 55-yard interception return by Chris Movinski

The varsity made all three of its twopoint conversion attempts.

Salla finished with 63 yards rushing on 12 carries and John Patrick had 22 yards on seven carries. Salla and Eric Sultana each finished with 10 tackles on defense and Cory Helchowski added nine stops.

The freshmen dusted off the Cometa

Chris Hardy scored on a 14-yard rem-and also had two interceptions. The other freshmen scores came on a threeyard run by Kevin Entsminger, a 54yard score by Jerry Gains and a 5-yard run by Chris Pasani. Gains finished with 81 yards on three carries and Pasani carried seven times for 51 yards.

Jeff Hoganson led all tacklers with even and Mike Nicoloff and Justin-Carson had six apiece. Justin Schultz, Brad LaValle and Nicoloff had one fumble recovery each

The Junior Varsity suffered a 13-6 defeat. Andy Kocoloski scored the lone TD on a 12-yard run and finished with 59 yards rushing on 12 carries. Russ Gardner gained 23 yards on five carries.

Mark Dasher had nine tackles and Kyle Entsminger and Todd Lawter had seven tackles each. Brad Beardsley, Brad Wells and Jim Randazzo recovered one fumble each.

OUTDOORS CALENDAR

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is notifying hunters of a misprint in the hunting hour chart on page 15 of the 1993-94 Hunting and Traping Guide.

The chart, as published, incorrectly shows daylight-saving time ending on Oct. 24. This year, daylight-saving time actually ends on Oct. 31. The corrected hunting schedule for Zone A is as follows:

Date	Opening	Closing
Oct. 24	7:24 a.m.	7:08 p.m.
Oct. 25	7:25 a.m.	7:07 p.m.
Oct. 26	7:26 a.m.	7:05 p.m.
Oct. 27	7:27 a.m.	7:04 p.m.
Oct. 28	7:29 a.m.	7:02 p.m.
Oct. 29	7:30 a.m.	7:01 p.m.
Oct. 30	7:31 a.m.

The correct hunting hours for zones B, C and D can be determined by adding the number of minutes indicated on Page 14 of the hunting guide to the times

Sociologist to lecture about poverty at U-M

University of Chicago sociolo-gist William Julius Wilson will deliver this year's Tanner Lecture on Human Values at the University of Michigan. Titled "The New Urban Poverty and the Problem of Race," the lecture will begin at 4 p.m. Oct. 22 in Rackham Auditorium.

A panel of three scholars will respond to Wilson's lecture in a symposium at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 23 in the Henderson Room of the Michigan League. Both the Tanner lecture and the symposium are free and open to everyone.

Wilson is the award-winning author of "The Truly Disadvantaged: The Inner City, The Underclass, and Public Policy." He is Lucy Flower University professor of sociology and public policy at the University of Chicago, where he also directs the Center for the Study of Urban Inequality.

A MacArthur Prize Fellow, Wilson is past president of the American Sociological Association and serves as president of the Consortium of Social Science As-

St. Joe Hospital rings in a new phone exchange

Need to call St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor? Well, come Tuesday, Oct. 26, the medical center will change the first three numbers of its phone lines from 572 to 712.

The switch will take place at 12:01 a.m. and is in response to technological advances in telecommunications that will enable the hospital to interact more effectively with other Catherine McAuley Health System units and facilities.

The last four digits of every seven-digit phone number will remain the same. For example, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's main number of 572-3456 will become 712-3456. After the change, people who call a hospital number with a 572 exchange will hear a recording indicating the new number. The recording will continue for at least one year until Ameri-

The new exchange will affect all buildings on the East Huron River Drive campus, including St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, McAuley Cancer Care Center, 5305 Buuildingand Education Center, Ambulatory Surgery Facility, most 572 numbers in the Reichert Health Building (physicians with a 434 exchange will not be affected), Materials Handling/Purchasing, Center for Mental Health and Chemical Dependency and the Senior Health Building.

Other SJMH facilities not located directly on the East Huron River Drive campus that will change to the 712 prefix are Clark Professional Office Plaza, 3145 Clark Road, Washtenaw Medical Arts Building, 3075 Clark Road, and McAuley

Outpatient Mental Health and Chemical Dependency Services, 2006 Hogback

Phone numbers for Saline Community Hospital, McPherson Hospital in Howell as well as facilities in Plymouth and Canton will not change.

There are 10,000 available phone numbers in each three-digit exchange. SJMH has used approximately 4,000 numbers in the 572 exchange, with less than 200 left to be assigned to SJMH offices. The remaining 6,000 572 numbers have already been distributed to other Ypsilanti businesses and residences.

"With the addition of new ambulatory facilities plus the need for data transmission capacity, there will not be enough 572 numbers to meet our needs," said Garry Faja, SJMH president and chief executive officer. "We debated about simply adding a second exchange but were concerned that other businesses and homeowners would have the same exchange already, which would lessen the amount of numbers we could use.

"Under our new arrangement with Ameritech, we will reserve all 10,000 numbers in the 712 exchange. This will enable us to meet all future telecommunications needs.

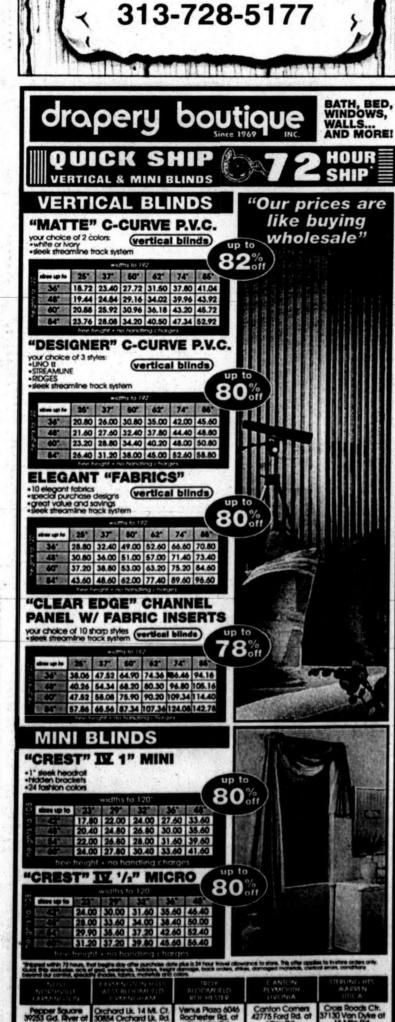

For a few months, some phone numbers to select areas, such as the Emergency and Trauma Center, Surgery, Mental Health/Chemical Dependency crisis hot lines, the main hospital number, Patient Financial Services and others also will be equipped to automatically forward callers who dial the 572 number t the new 712 number, preventing confusion for people in emergency situations who need immediate assistance.

"This change will affect our patients, the community, businesses and many others, and we hope to minimize any confusion as we prepare for our future telecommunication needs," Faja said. 'We appreciate people's patience during the changeover.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital is a unit of Catherine McAuley Health System, a not-for-profit health care provider based in Ann Arbor. Other CMHS units include McPherson Hospital in Howell, Saline Community Hospital and outpatient facilities in Washtenaw, Livingston and western Wayne counties.

Take a 'Black Coffee' mystery break

■ Eric Tavares keeps everyone guessing whodunit in Agatha Christie's "Black Coffee" opening Oct. 28 at Meadow Brook Theatre.

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

Spend an evening guessing whodunit at Meadow Brook Theatre's presentation of Agatha Christie's

'Black Coffee' opening Oct. 28 at the theater on the campus of Oak-

"It's a wonderfully entertaining Agatha Christie thriller," said director Terence Kilburn who is also artistic director of the theater. "The characters are colorful and eccen-

For Kilburn the play presented a special challenge - "It hasn't been done on TV and it's not very familiar," he said. "It's the first play she wrote. The others were adapted by other writers. It shows what a forward thinker she was.

The mystery unfolds as Sir Claud Amory, a wealthy physicist who has produced a formula for the atomic bomb, is murdered. Someone poisoned his cup of black coffee.

"In the 1930s the idea of an atomic bomb was almost science fiction, said Kilburn. "No one had any idea that it was close to reality. It was rather clever of her to be thinking of Detective Hercule Poirot must sort through a long list of suspects including jilted family members, mistreated servants and a blackmailer to discover the culprit.

"Since we know who the criminal is, having interesting characters makes this show fun for us to do," said Kilburn.

"We have a lot of Agatha Christie fans. The shows always sell out, we've scheduled extra matinees anticipating the demand.

JIM RIDER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Kilburn said he is a great admirer of Christie and, of how her plays have been presented. "We're trying to be as authentic as possible to make her story come to life, and create an English atmosphere.

"There's a special dimension to a mystery play. You have to find ways of casting suspicion on as many characters as possible to keep the audience intrigued."

The task is in the able hands of Eric Tavares as the legendary sleuth Hercule Poirot.

"A lot of people think Poirot is French, he's Belgian," said Tavares who first performed at Meadow Brook 20 years ago as Count Dracula. "In some ways I think it's easier to do Shakespeare than Agatha Christie. Poirot is the catalyst. He asks the questions.'

Tavares, who now makes his home in Florida, said he enjoys coming to Michigan to perform at Meadow Brook. "I miss the seasons," he said. "I love being here during cold weather. When you're cold you can always get warm, but when you're warm you can't always get cold. I go from my air conditioned house, to an air conditioned car to an air conditioned theater.'

Of the show he says it will keep the audience guessing. "Each character is a fascinating individual," he

In addition to Tavares, cast members include - Yolanda Lloyd Delgado as prime suspect Lucia Amory and Paul Hopper as the mysterious Dr. Carelli.

David Duchene portrays Johnson and Dr. Graham; Tamara Evans, Barbara Amory; Bill MacKenzie, Tredwell; Thomas D. Mahard, Sir Claud Amory; Joseph Reed, Inspector Japp; Lance A. Retallic, Richard Amory; and Alexander Webb, Edward Raynor.

"Eric I think is ideally suited for the role," said Kilburn. "He has a very strong presence on stage and has developed a following over the years. He's a very entertaining ac-

Lend Me A Tenor' needs brush up to shine

One thing I like about Farmington Players - it's truly a family affair. Look in any program and you'll see a whole passel of McSweeneys, Gilkes and Rosatis trodding the boards, manning the light booth, gathering props and serving coffee. I guess it's true what they say - the family that does plays together stays together.

Happily, nepotism works once again at the Barn, where Marc Rosati does a fine turn as Max, the nebbish with great vocal chords, in Ken

Ludwig's popular comedy "Lend Me

Poor Max - his girlfriend wants an affair (but not with him), his boss is a raving lunatic, and the world's greatest tenor has just dropped dead on

Mix this fiasco with a jealous Italian wife, a slutty soprano, a domineering opera patron and a stunning Art Deco set with six doors, and you've got a recipe for rollicking farce.

Farce, alas, is a bit like a jigsaw puzzle. You've got to have all the right pieces, but the pieces also have to fit together. That's why this production provides a mildly amusing evening rather than the hoped for Many of the pieces are quite good. Rosati provides just the right combination of swagger and insecurity for Max. Beth Cole and Diana Sovel make a fine pair of ingenues, although their personalities suggest that the play might have been better served had they switched roles.

Cole, who plays Max's anxious girl friend Maggie, seems better suited for the aggressively ambitious part of Diana. Sovel, on the other hand, is a bit too cool as the sexy singer, but would have made a nice girl-next-door.

Some nice surprises in the minor roles are Helen DeJiulio as a rather Wagnerian opera patron and Frank Ginis as an extremely annoying bellhop. So, the pieces to the puzzle are all here, but they don't quite fit.

But, hey, the show runs for four weeks and director Sharlan Douglas can probably fix most of this in one brush-up rehearsal.

Mark S. Carley is active in local community theater, both onstage and behind the scenes.

Talented cast makes 'Oliver' a winner

production at the Jewish Community Center Aar-MICHALS on DeRoy Theatre is fast-paced and delightfully entertaining. The Lionel Bart musical, based on Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," recreates the grimier side of Victorian London, a world of grinding poverty and crime. Yet the wonderful score and broad comedy effectively lighten the mood, as does the tale's old-fashioned morality where virtue triumphs and the bad guys get their comeuppance.

Oliver (David Langham) is an orphan, raised in the parish workhouse on a regimen of gruel and cruelty. Always underfed, he enflames the authorities by having the audacity to ask for more than his daily portion.

Sold as an under-apprentice to an undertaker and his family, life there quickly proves every bit as harsh, and Oliver runs away. Cold and hungry on the streets, he is befriended by the Artful Dodger (Steve Thompson) and introduced to Fagin (Henry Traurig) and his band of child pickpockets.

As Oliver, 12-year-old Lanoham has a stylish, flawless delivery. His angelic face radiates purity, and his voice is impressively sweet and clear though thin on the plaintive "Where Is Love?" Traurig is a wonderful Fagin, striking a good balance between broad comedy and menacing nastiness. Songs like "Pick a Pocket or Two" make him an endearingly harmless old coot. Though he masterminds a theft ring and must keep the children scared into loyalty, it is abundantly clear that Fagin treats his young charges better than those who pretend to righteousness.

Maggie Clennon is outstanding as Nancy, the fallen woman with a good heart who befriends young Oliver at the risk of her own life. In addition to her strong vocal skills, Clennon makes her character fully dimensional. Her torchsong solo "As Long As He Needs Me" is sung with heartwrenching emotion, a very wel-

Halloween howl: The cast of "Not All Monsters are Scary" includes a zany assortment of monsters in great costumes.

Halloween plays scary fun

Here are two Halloween productions that will make your children howl with laughter.

The Players Guild of Dearborn Guildings Luncheon Theatre is presenting the hilarious comedy 'Not All Monsters Are Scary, 11:30 a.m. Saturdays through Nov. 13 at the playhouse, 21730 Madison, Dearborn. Tickets are $5 and include lunch and show. Call 477-2176 or 427-1775 for reservations

The Marquis Theatre Children are presenting "Halloween Madness" 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturdays, Oct. 23, and Oct. 30; 2:30 p.m. Sundays, Oct. 24 and Oct. 31; 10:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 29 and 10;30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 27 at the theater, 135 E. Main Street in Northville. Tickets $5, call 349-8110.

"Not All Monsters Are Scary" is written and directed by Lisa Andres of Livonia. The story is about a little girl, Kelly, who is afraid to go to sleep and is frightened by all the monsters. A fun and zany assortment of monsters show up to convince Kelly they can be friendly and loads of fun.

The show is flavored with music and dance, and great costumes. The cast of 13 ranges in age from seven to 15. The luncheon includes hot dogs, chips, relishes, dessert and beverages.

Cast includes Nicole and Rachel Link, Brooke and Nicholas Andres, and Jaime Steele of Livonia; and Parker Plague of Canton.

"Halloween Madness" is about some average, fun-loving people, who live in an old castle with their servants and pets! It's a massive mess of non-stop fun and laughter.

The show is directed by Cindy Zeitz of Canton and Jeffrey Weiner of Farmington Hills.

Amazing animation in 'The Night Before Christmas'

Venturing where no film has ever gone before, Touchstone Pictures' stopmotion animated

"The Nightmare Before Christmas" combines the power, enchantment and artistry of stopmotion animation with state-ofthe-art technology to create a unique and entertaining moviegoing experience.

Opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters, this delightful film creates a magical realm where fantastic characters come convincingly to life and set into "stop-motion" a charming and fanciful tale that will capture the imaginations and hearts of moviegoers of all ages.

In much the same way that ouchstone Pictures' "Who Touchstone Pictures' Famed Roger Rabbit" revitalized the process of combining live-action and animation, "The Nightmare Before Christmas' brings a new sense of excitement, discovery and wonder to the specialized art of stop-motion animation. The film expands the boundaries of the art form as never before, weaving elements of traditional frameby-frame animation with the realism of actual three-dimensional sets built and lit as live-action.

Set in a world where every holiday has its own special land, 'The Nightmare Before Christmas" follows the misguided passion of Jack Skellington, Halloweentown's beloved Pumpkin King, who oversees the creation of all the ghoulish delights, frights and surprises that this holiday traditionally exports to the "real Bored with the same annual routine, Jack finds a new purpose in life when he accidentally stumbles upon the entryway to Christmastown and becomes instantly enraptured with the bright colors, toys, decorations and warm spirit that he discovers there.

He returns home obsessed with bringing Christmas under his control and enlists his loyal townspeople to help him become a substitute Santa and create a "new and improved" version of the holiday. But even the best laid plans of mice and skeleton men can go seriously astray as Jack discovers all too soon.

Since no one had ever undertaken a stop-motion animation project on such a massive scale before, a special studio had to be created expressly for the needs of the production. pond. Director Penelope Spheeris knows what audiences want from the these big-screen TV shows, as she proved last year with the monster hit "Wayne's World."

REVIEW

She delivers often idiotic, occasionally hilarious vignettes woven together in the flimsiest of plots.

For the two or three readers unfamiliar with either the series or its theme song, Jed Clampet becomes wealthy overnight when he discovers oil on his Arkansas acreage. He moves his family out to Beverly Hills, California in the hopes of getting hitched and turn ing his tomboy daughter Ellie May into a lady.

One of the funniest bits occurs upon their arrival on the West Coast, where impatient drivers flip their middle finger at the slow-moving jalopy. The naive Hillbillies, who think they're being welcomed, start flipping people off whenever they want to say "howdy."

Despite these occasional forays into off-color humor, the Hillbillies are still rooted firmly in the values (and even culture) of the 1960s. Any relevance to the '90s is purely coincidental.

Jethro used to turn the jalopy into a "double-naut" spy car; now he adds big tires and makes it a monster truck. Ms. Hathaway is no stranger to computer dating. She just has a more complex da-

If the movie works at all, thank the surprisingly apt cast. Lily Tomlin makes a wonderfully efficient Ms. Hathaway, the banker's assistant who handles the Hillbillies' often complicated affairs and painful assimilation into the lifestyle of the rich and famous.

Cloris Leachman has seen better roles but does a letter- perfect impersonation of Granny. Even Jim Varney, the ever- irritating star of appliance commercials and the "Ernest" movies, does justice to the mellow Jed Clampet.

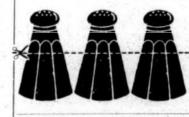

As in "Wayne's World," there off, and relive (along the the are plenty of cameos, including Buddy Ebsen (the show's original Jed) reprising his other television creation, Barnaby Jones. He's on the trail of an unscrupulous golddigger ("Back to the Future's" Lea Thompson) out to marry Jed and bilk him out of billions.

You could wax philosophical about movies like this and how they signal the absolute rock bottom of creativity in Hollywood. Or you set a spell, kick your shoes

'Rudy' tackles odds in heartwarming film

Daniel E. (Rudy) Ruettiger was told that he could not succeed his father, his teachers, coaches and friends agreed that Rudy could never get into Notre Dame, let along participate in the most time-honored football program in the nation.

But Rudy Ruettiger, smalltown boy from the Midwest, shows enough grit, spirit and will to thrill a nation hungering for real-life heroes in "Rudy," a stirring drama now playing at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Starring Sean Astin in the title role, Ned Beatty, Charles S. Dutton, Jason Miller, Lili Taylor and Robert Prosky, "Rudy" is a TriStar Pictures release.

It begins in Joliet, Illinois, in 1960. Rudy is a young boy growing up in a large Catholic working-class family in which the University of Notre Dame is revered and every Fighting Irish football win is a victory for the family.

Rudy's father, however, discourages him from evry aspiring to a school like Notre Dame. Daniel Ruettiger (Ned Beatty) knows that his people are workers, salt-of-the-earth types, and that Notre Dame is for rich kids, smart kids, great athletes - kids in a different league. He also knows that if you chase after unrealistic and unattainable dreams, you're going to get hurt, and Daniel wants to protect his son from disappointment.

Throughout his childhood, however, Rudy insists he's going to play football for Notre Dame, and every time he does his brothers and others deride him. His grades are terrible, he's small, and the best that can be said about his athletic abilities is that he tries hard.

Rudy graduates from high school, and goes to work at the steel mill with his father and two brothers. One day his best friend s killed in an industrial accident, and the grief-stricken Rudy is shocked into action. He knows that if he doesn't move immediately to make his dream come true, he never will, and a part of him will die surely as his friend

All his life Rudy listened to and believed his father, brothers, teachers, his fiance - all those closet to him - when they told him what he could and couldn't do. From this day on, he's going to listen to what his heart has to tell him instead.

EARTHA DEYAMPERT

Is Halloweenboo, hurray?

he spirit of Halloween, is it a friend or foe? What does Halloween represent to young children? To adults? Halloween as most of us know it is a traditionally observed date that falls on every Oct. 31, when children, youth and adults put on a different face or look, mask and costumes then parade around looking for treats, as children do, or celebrate in a party-like environment.

It's supposed to be a day where one can dress up and portray his or her favorite or least favored person or character, good or bad. Furthermore, it can be viewed as a day or night of deception, all in fun.

As each year passes and Oct. 31 comes around on the calendar, the hype of Halloween is lessened. It certainly has taken a nosedive since I was a child. In fact, it's changed significantly since my older son of 17 years paraded around in his Superman costume.

My parents came to Michigan, migrating from the deep South in the mid-1940s and found Halloween in the north to be "get with it or get pranked." After scraping tons of eggs from their windows and front door, they got on the bandwagon of happy haunters.

To this day, children, usually older, more daring youngsters will occasionally pull a prank on Halloween, some more ill-willed and vengeful than others. But as it goes, children, supervised by adults, are too excited by the receiving of goodies and being out on the town, to care about eggs and pranks. Anyway, it's too messy, and heaven forbid that it get on that new Ninja or Barney costume.

To make what could be a long, drawn-out review of Halloween short, I would like to give some food for thought regarding what Halloween may really represent in the manner by which we traditionally celebrate it. What are we really saying to children through scary costumes, painted faces and ghostly antics?

Halloween seems to be a celebration of mixed messages, which in turn symbolizes possible deception, and creates a note of good vs. bad. With children, the selection of costume choice is important, since it gives signals as to good or bad character and role modeling.

The mixed messages Halloween sends are significant when looked at closely. For example, giving sweet tasty treats in abundance is a surefire contradiction of the healthful habits we teach children. Come on, folks, let's be honest. The goodies your children so happily haul home in a trick or treat bag, draped over their shoulder, can last until the end of December, two months of promoting tooth decay. Mixed messages here; it's OK to have tons of candy and caramel corn stored in the kitchen cabinet, but you're not supposed to eat it.

What about the mixed message sent on accepting items from strangers just because it's Halloween? In the fairy tale of "Hansel and Gretel," the children were enticed to eat of the sweet ginger bread house, but while they ate, someone else, in this case an adult of bad character, had plans to deceive the trusting children. Again, what looks good and sometimes tastes good may not be good for us. With the numerous reports of children being harmed by eating tainted candy and biting into fruit with sharp objects placed inside, I wonder about the "goodness" of Halloween. It becomes more of an issue for those trusting young children who go door-to-door looking for candy. For the most part, people are good by nature and practice, caring and often abiding by the rules of Halloween. However, there are some who view this tradition of giving treats as an opportunity to carry out acts of real deception, using children as the target. When children celebrate Halloween, it would be wise to have them participate in group activities. with friends or classmates in school, day care or in an environment that is more controlled, preplanned and supervised.

However, if you choose to have your child go door-to-door this Halloween, please follow some

- (1) Have them wear costumes that are bright and
- (2) Have them wear costumes where the eyes, ears, nose and mouth are exposed.

Phonics gives kids start on learning

Reading can open up a world of learning, but when there are problems making the connection, it can be a nightmare. Evelyn Peter-Lawshe has a way to establish that connection by taking kids back to basics - phonics.

BY SUE MASON

Sharon Taylor dmits that when she found Evelyn Peter-Lawshe, she was grabbing at the last hope for her son Mike.

A gifted child with an IQ of 150-170, the grade schooler was learning at a level three to five grades higher than his classmates, but couldn't print a letter or read. And when it came to mathematics, he couldn't do the computations.

"Everything (learning) was by osmosis," Taylor said. "He could take it in, but he couldn't retrieve it. We had to find a way to retrieve the information.

Peter-Lawshe provided the way. She took him back to the basic writing strokes. She taught him how to print and write. Her tutoring twice a week for 21/2 years - and enrollment in Gibson School in Redford - was what Mike needed.

Mike is dyslexic, and the impairment wasn't identified until his father read an article about it. It listed 25 symptoms; Mike exhibited each and every one. Symptoms that went unnoticed by experts who, even with testing, couldn't figure out what was wrong with him. Symptoms that went unnoticed by school officials who wanted to label him as mentally impaired.

"He's 16 now and he's doing wonderfully," said Taylor, a Livonia resident. "He really came into his own with Evelyn's help. Oh, trust me, trust me. It was Evelyn.'

Sounds like

Peter-Lawshe is director of the Reading and Language Arts Center, which has offices in Bloomfield Hills and Livonia. The tutoring, done with students young and old alike, is special phonics instruction originally developed for dyslexics. It incorporates all of the senses in learning sounds.

Schools in general use the wholelanguage method to teach children to read and write. They are taught to recognize, write and speak whole words. Phonics focuses on the letters that make up a word, with children learning what each letter looks and sounds like

Peter-Lawshe goes one step further, using activities to reinforce the phonics. Cookies, sand trays, sandpaper, whipped cream, and even sidewalk chalk are among the tools she and her tutors use in working with the children. With the whole-language method, the belief is that children learn if they are immersed in a print-rich environment and exposed to a lot of literature. The learning is implicit; ours is explicit," Peter-Lawshe said. "Ours is a very structured program. It's sequential, systematic, cumulative, integrated and success-oriented." For younger children, the program starts with the letters C, O, A, D, G, L, H and T and goes on up to letter combinations like "eigh. Through the tutoring, they learn 35-40 words that they can both read and write, words that "set the stage for breaking the code for learning.

For example, youngsters may be asked what sound they make when they open their mouth for the doctor. When they say "ahhh," they are asked to look in a mirror to see the shape of the sound. Then they use their hands to draw their mouth in a sand tray to see how the sound looks and feels.

For older children, the tutoring goes back to the Greek and Latin roots of words. According to Peter-Lawshe, if a child is "taught about 100 Greek and Latin roots, he will leave high school with a 32,000-word vocabulary; otherwise he leaves with a 12,000-word vocabulary. Peter-Lawshe spent six years tutoring children and adults in her

Bloomfield Hills in 1991. Mike was one of her very first students.

Taylor would take her son to the former's home twice a week for 21/2 years and Mike would never balk because his tutor was "his lifeline.

"She was the only chance I had," Taylor recalled. "I knew something had to be done to change him or we'd lose him, so I grabbed at the last hope to come down the road. So nothing touched us more than what happened...Hewas sorelieved to have Difficulty with language can make school a torturous and stressful experience for students like Mike, who had stress-related stomachaches, headaches and vomiting. According to his mother, up until he started working with Peter-Lawshe, each school day he would beg her not to send him to school.

'My son failed every school year; my son failed every day of school," she said. "He'd spend 21/2 hours every night doing his homework and it wasn't good enough because he couldn't get the right answers."

Now a student at Livonia Stevenson High School, Mike has blossomed with Peter-Lawshe's help and exposure to the teaching methods of Gibson School. "They (the home before opening her first office in teachers) bring up the subject and you do the work," Taylor said.

The program Peter-Lawshe follows was developed by Dr. Samuel Orton, a neuropsychologist/surgeon, and Dr. Anna Gillingham, an educa tional psychologist, along with classroom teacher Bessie Stillman in the 1930s. Because it was developed privately and not through a university, the Orton-Gillingham plan didn't get much attention, she said. Not so now. Through referrals Peter-Lawshe has gone from one office with herself and two tutors working one-on-one with the students; to 20 tutors, a second office in Livonia coordinated by Laurie Wagner, and community-based sessions of four to six students with a tutor offered in 13 communities, including Plymouth, Farmington and Novi. She has also begun training public school teachers in the Orton-Gillingham method.

But don't look for her tutors to be teachers. While she prefers they have educational backgrounds, that's not mandatory. In fact, one tutor has a master's degree in library science and some majored in the fine arts

They are all trained in the program and are required to take 10 hoursofcontinuingeducationtokeep abreast of new developments.

Peter-Lawshe also recognizes that some learning problems are notas difficult to overcome as Mike's.

VIP: Therapy makes vision 20/20

Clear vision: Through therapy, Dr. John Jacobi helps youngsters improve their learning with better visualization skills.

STAFF WRITER

Did you know that you can have 20/20 eyesight and still have 0/0 vision? Odd as it may sound, it's true. Eyesight is the basic ability to see; vision is the ability to identify, interpret, comprehend and act on what is seen.

Vision is seeing clearly, singly and comfortably. It's eyes working as a team at a variety of distances. It's gathering, processing and integrating information and understanding and responding to what the eyes gather. And when there's a problem with the link between eyesight and vision, the result can be learning difficulties. That's where Dr. John Jacobi of Suburban Optometric Associates of Livonia comes in.

Jacobi is among some 100-135 optometrists throughout the country who take care of the "visual aspects of learning." Using the training gleaned from a visual improvement program developed, the optometrists help children correct problems, thereby improving their self-esteem and learning ability.

Visual skills are light years beyond simply discerning whether or not an individual has 20/20 sight,"Jacobi said. "The complex visual areas such as visual memory, visual concentration, eye-hand coordination, visual perception and eye movements must be on-line in order for a child to be successful."

Jacobi has been doing visual therapy for about a

Tuesday evenings, they work with four or five children, doing a battery of 14 tests to check each youngster's mechanical and visual processing skills. The free testing lasts about an hour and when done, there is a consultation with parents as to what can be done to help the child. For some it may be VIP; for others, it may mean behavioral therapy and referrals to other practitioners.

"Mostly, we help parents recognize the symptoms and demonstrate what can be done at the screenings," Jacobi said. "In doing the demonstration, we want to make sure there's enough there to improve to have an impact on

According to Jacobi, there are 10 behavioral signs that can indicate vision problems:

- (1) Unable to sit still, can't stay on a task for any length of time.
- (2) Very clumsy; poor eye-hand coordination.
- (3) Alternates use of right and
- (4) Does written work slowly; often fails to complete a task.
- (5) Has difficulty copying visual material; constantly looks up (6) Holds head very close, inclines head far to one side when reading.

(7) Moves entire head instead of eyes when reading.

(8) Has trouble with buttons and shoelaces. (9) Is disorganized and frustrated when studying visual informa-

(10) Makes frequent "careless"

Generally, parents recognize there's a problem and bring in their children, usually in the first or second grades, but the age range is 6 to 16, Jacobi said. In fact, VIP helped a 16-year-old who could only read two- and three-letter words. After working with a therapist, he was reading four- and five-letter words and complete sentences. The therapists meet with the children one-on-one three times a week. They work with the youngsters to address the problem, then try to move it to the subconscious

The idea is to make significant changes in a short period of time and for the child to see those changes, thereby increasing selfesteem and causing him or her to work to improve even more.

that they may be the result of a visual problem. As a result she is working with Dr. John Jacobi of the Suburban Optometric Associates, who does visual therapy.

"I have a strong vision about what we're doing," she said. "The most important person is the

Then they're asked to recite the presidents in front of the class, further improving their self-

"We give them challenges because they like to be challenged, but not to the point that we swamp them," Jacobi said. "But then again we don't want to make those challenges too easy. We make things challenging for the child so that he gains from each accomplishment and parents regain confidence in their child."

But the parents also have to be involved, working with the children 30 minutes a day when they're not in the program. Parents are given techniques to work with the child and "in a way are quizzed to see if they've been working with the child," Jacobi

On the average, VIP can improve a child's visualization skills by 3.1 years, concentration 4.8 vears and non-verbal IQ 21 points, according to the doctor. And for children who have a problem with letter reversals, confusing such letters as B, D, P and Q more than the norm, VIP has an 87 percent cure rate.

VIP has even helped children with physical vision problems.

'We give the children the tools and visual skills so they can access information and build their self-esteem," Jacobi said. "A lot of kids are TV kids . . . or audio kids. They'll do anything to avoid visualization."

I think this writer could probably succeed in almost any field she chose to pursue. A graphologist does not offer advice on selecting a career. She points out one's strengths and weaknesses, then allows the writer to make the decision. One caveat I have is that she check out the current real estate market in this area carefully. It may not be as rewarding as it was 15 years ago.

Today's writer fills the entire page with her neat, legible handwriting. She wants to experience as much of life as she can. She appears to have a strong need to be busily occupied with activity and adventure. Her spirit is ready and interested in helping others.

Currently, however, she appears to be feeling some dissatisfaction in her life. She is ambitious and her aspirations and goals are set at a very high level. In fact, some of them are so lofty they might be considered pie-in-the-sky. Most, however, are within her grasp. Diligence and determination are her hallmarks. She is unafraid of hard work. In situations where she is given approval from superiors as well as subordinates she is most successful.

A very real paradox can also be seen in that she often embarks on a project enthusiastically, but her interest level can subside, if support and/or results are not forthcoming. I realize this is a contradiction to the foregoing statements, but these feelings all live under the same skin and can cause difficulty in arriving at a decision. She may want to consider this before making any career decision.

Some irritation rides on the many slashed I dots here. Most of it is directed outward, toward othcritical attitude toward herself.

Focusing on who is to blame has really not done much of anything for anybody, except perhaps to raise the illusion of righteousness and polarize portions of a society that can ill afford it, a society that does not have much to feel good about in the midst of lives wasted and lives locked up.

Men dying violent deaths, drugs or no drugs, criminal records or not, is something that should raise feelings of sadness and anger in civilized people. Men leaving loved ones behind, despite their reputation or previous behavior, should be enough to raise a degree of empathy in men and enough to raise a kind of grief in anyone of human origin who still claims membership in the spe-

Yes, the day of sentencing was a sad day, and so was the day of judgment and so was the day of the beating. All of those sadnesses are what they are, far removed from the business of placing blame.

It is the place of the courts in this land to determine as best they can the issues of guilt and innocence. It falls to the rest of us to get off the blamemobile and begin to address as a society what we might do to minimize the repetition of these sad kinds of events.

As long as we allow poverty to continue, as long as we are conwomen anywhere. We believe the KING JAMES VERSION BIBLE is the TRUE Word of God. Other versions ERROR by changing the word "prophets" (KJV) to "Isaiah" in Mark 1:2. This verse quotes MALACHI NOT ISAIAH. Contradictions like this prove such versions are NOT the true Word of God. Check your Bible! Come and worship where the proven KJV is used.

Felician Sisters honor founder

BY DIANE HANSON SPECIAL WRITER Crisp autumn air, a blue sky and bright sunshine - a heavenly day for a celebration. And celebrate is exactly what the Felician Sisters of Livonia, their friends and families did on Oct. 10.

The celebration was in honor of the beatification of Blessed Mary Angela Truszkowska, who founded the order of The Sisters of St. Felix of Cantalice (commonly known as the Felician Sisters) in

The beatification, celebrated by Pope John Paul II in Rome on April 19, is a principal step in the sequence of events leading to canonization (being named a saint) in the Roman Catholic Church.

Bishop Walter J. Schoenherr of Detroit was celebrant for the service held at the Provincial House Chapel on the campus of Madonna University in Livonia. Concelebrating with Schoenherr were 20 other members of the clergy, including Monsignor John Gordon of the Detroit Archdiocese and Monsignor Kevin Britt of Rome, secretary to Cardinal Edmund Szoka (former archbishop of Detroit). Britt was in the Detroit area on family business.

Other events of the day, including a reception, a sacred concert of dance and lyrical music provided by the Felician Sisters and a time capsule ceremony, all honored a special woman.

Compassion, selflessness, love and sensitivity were evident characteristics in Sophia Camille Truszkowska at a young age. Born on May 16, 1825, in Kalisz, Poland, she was the eldest of seven children.

Hedwig, the youngest sister in the Truszkowska family, described Sophia as "that angel of mercy, my second mother . . . Truszkowska learned a great deal from her father, Joseph, who was a judge in Poland. He shared his findings with her on the causes of juvenile delinquency. His depictions of ignorance, broken homes, lack of religious training and permissiveness in the 19th century strike a familiar chord to-

Fueled with that information and a burning desire to help, the young Truszkowska gave the money she earned to the poor. A compassionate, pioneering woman for her time, she worked wholeheartedly to seek shelter, education and medical care for the poor, the needy, abandoned children, orphans and elderly women.

After receiving her habit and the name Mary Angela, Truszkowska founded the Felician Sisters in 1855. Under her guidance, the sisters cared for the wounded on both sides during the Crimean War. They even converted one of their convents in Warsaw to a 40-bed hospital.

As first elected superior general of the Felician Sisters, Mother Mary Angela continued to work tirelessly and expanded the ministry of the order to orphanages, homes for delinquent girls and unwed mothers, the elderly and other Polish social centers.

Poor health forced her to retire in 1869 and she died on Oct. 10,

Began in Poland

The beatification process started in Poland in 1933, according to Sister Mary Dennis Glonek, provincial superior of the Livonia Felician Sisters. Sister Glonek has served 49 years as a Felician sister and is in her fifth year of a six-year term as the Livonia provincial superior.

"Then in 1939, there was the outbreak of World War II, so it (the beatification process) was halted for a time," she said. "It was not reopened again until 1949, after the war and everything had settled down.

"There were a lot of investigations that had to go on in Poland because that is where Mother lived. Then, in 1962, they worked on the Herocity of Virtues of our Mother Foundress. The present pope, who was a cardinal at that time, announced in 1992 that they accepted the herocity of her virtues. Everyone has virtues, but they had to prove them to a greater extent.

One of the significant events leading to Mother Angela's beatification was the miraculous cure of Lillian Halasinski in Dunkirk, N.Y., on Jan. 4, 1984. Halasinski suffered from severe pain and swelling in her legs, caused by a diabetic neuropathy She and her family had fervently prayed for healing and for Mary Angela's intercession.

"She came home from the doctor and she was very despondent," Sister Glonek said. "She sat downstairs and saw Mother Mary Angela in the doorway and at that instant she was cured. That's

A special event that took place at the Oct. 10 celebration was the Blessed Mary Angela Time Capsule Ceremony. The box was filled with many mementos, including a relic of Mary Angela, booklets, articles, photos, medals, statues and a book written by Sister Mary Janice Ziolkowski, "The Felician Sisters of Livonia, Michigan: First Province in America.

The time capsule will remain sealed until the 200th anniversary of Blessed Mary Angela's death on Oct. 10, 2099. The ceremony ended with the prayer that, when the time capsule is opened, "the Felician Sisters will still be here meeting the needs of the Church and of the People of

Jones performs at Metropolitan

International organ virtuoso Joyce Jones will perform in concert at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 22, at the Metropolitan Methodist Church of Detroit.

Jones will perform the works of Bach, Vivaldi, Dupre, Langlais, Liszt, Charles Ives, Camil Van Hulse and two of her own hymn compositions. The "Prelude and Fugue on Bach" by Franz Liszt and "Variations on America" by Ives will fully exploit the resources of the church's 7,000-pipe organ, which will be visible to the audience on TV monitors. It is the largest church pipe organ in the Midwest.

A reception will follow the program, allowing concert goers to meet Jones

When she plays an encore with a pedal solo she often tells her audience that it is her way of saying thank you to God for showing her the direction for her life. While a piano student in her native Texas, she suffered a badly sprained hand and feared that her life's dream of becoming a concert artist was shattered.

However, she began to practice pedals on the organ and discovered a natural flair and coordination for that instrument. By the time her hand was healed, she had become so fascinated that she changed her major to organ.

Jones is the Bowden professor of organ and organist-in-residence at Baylor University, which also named her Outstanding Creative Artist. She is a fellow of the American Guild of Organists and holds the doctor of musical arts degree from the University of Tex-

She received a master of sacred music degree in composition from Southwestem Baptist Theological Seminary, which later presented her with their Distinguished Service Award.

As a composer and arranger, she has 13 books to her credit and three recordings for Word Records. Her recording on the world's largest church organ at West Point Military Academy, released by Motette Records of Germany, has become a best seller.

She has played concerts in 43 states and 11 foreign countries and as a community concert artist, was one of the first to take organ music to organized audiences in small towns throughout the United States.

RELIGION CALENDAR

Items for the religion calendar should be submitted no later than noon Friday for the following Thursday's edition.

You can also obtain current information about events, speakers and service schedules, etc., by calling 901-4750 or 953-2048 on a Touch-Tone phone. You must have your four-digit church I.D. ready. For more information about the service, call Bryan at 953-2297.

RUMMAGE SALES

The First United Methodist Church of Wayne will have its fall rummage sale 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 22, and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Oct. 23, at the church, 3739 Newberry, across from the Wayne post office. There will be a plus room featuring collectibles and antiques, refreshments and a bake shop. Saturday will be $2.50 a bag day (excluding the plus room).

Trinity Church of the Brethren will hold its fall rummage and bake sale 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 23, at the church, 27350 W. Chicago at Inkster Road, Redford.

The Ladies Guild of Christ the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Canton, will have its fall rummage and bake sale 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29-30, at the church, 42690 Cherry Hill, just west of Lilley. Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 169 will match money raised for the missions. For more information, call 981-0286.

The Ladies Christian Fellowship of Hosanna Tabor Church will have its fall rummage sale 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 30, in the gymnasium of the church school, 9600 Leverne, Redford. For more information, call the church at 937-2424.

FALL RETREAT

Winning Women Inc. will hold its 33rd annual fall retreat Friday through Sunday, Oct. 22-24, at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. Featured speakers will be Gloria Gaither, Lois Van Wageningen and Mary Whelchel who will provide insights as they address the theme of "Held in His Hand." There also will be nine break-away sessions geared to the specific concerns of today's Christian women. The musical team of Sharon & Robin will lead the group in praise and worship. ## Sculptural showcase might work in Livonia magine a garden of sculpture - with size, color and spirit - sprouting from the architectural landscape of the Livonia Civic Center complex.

The idea's not so far-fetched.

The site certainly is suitable. What's needed is public support for such a sculptural showcase of scale, design and technique.

Two Redford sculptors, Sergio De Giusti and Todd Erickson, took part in Michigan Outdoor Sculpture Exhibition IV. That invitational of abstract and realistic works by 20 of Michigan's finest sculptors ended a four-month run Oct. 15.

Held in the Southfield Civic Center Plaza, a terrific place to unwind and enjoy fine art, the exhibition provided an eyegrabbing counterpoint to the contemporary architecture around it.

Other invitees included sculptural pacesetters Tom Phardel, David Barr, Mark Chatterly, Russell Thayer and Ray Katz. Caroline Court laid her soaring circular brickwork, "Column," as a permanent fixture in the plaza.

Hosted by the city of Southfield and the Southfield-based Business Consortium for the Arts (BCA), the biennial event spotlights contemporary pieces cast in steel, aluminum, hydrostone, wood, brick, bronze and mixed media.

Bring sculpture to Livonia

What about the exhibition running from June to Labor Day in Southfield, then moving the prize winners to Livonia for a September stop in the civic center complex at Farmington Road and Five Mile? Six prizes were awarded this year.

To help draw casual viewers to Livonia, the featured sculptors could present a lecture/slide show to explain their works, share their insights and field questions - to, in short, ease the culture shock Like De Giusti says, it would be "fantastic for this community. It would be like a ready-made show. Traveling exhibitions are always going from museum to museum.

Livonia arts commissioner Jack Olds, former Michigan Council for the Arts projects director and a serious artist himself, agrees

"It would be nice to use our grounds for this type of thing although that's one heck of an enterprise they've got going in Southfield. They've worked hard to get businesses involved.

Curator of the Livonia Civic Center Library Art Gallery, Olds says: "Livonia need some public art. But that means businesses and government working together to get some sculpture in different places around the city."

Having a mini sculptural exhibition could help spur interest in bringing art to public places in Livonia. Such a display might also generate exposure for the outdoor environmental sculpture south of the city hall.

Limited support from the city leadership and seed money from the Livonia Arts Commission could go a long way toward reeling in the key catch for a mini sculptural exhibition: corporate funding to cover the approximate $5,000 cost.

A world-class relief sculptor, De Giusti is known for shrouding figures in haunting sculptural messages. The Italian-born artist describes his work as figurative impressionism, shrouded in elements of moodiness, turmoil and alienation. De Giusti acknowledges that sculpture often puzzles the casual viewer. "But it can be very educational while generating a whole different awareness of art.

Spotlighting fine sculpture

Marlowe Belanger, now BCA vice-chairwoman and Southfield's cultural arts manager, started the Michigan Outdoor Sculpture Exhibition. BCA board member Lou Redstone, a Southfield architect, artist and author, later embellished it. He patterned it after an international symposium of monumental sculptures in Long Beach.

The idea behind the exhibition is to stimulate Michigan sculptors, to increase public knowledge of public art and to heighten citizen awareness that sculpture and art should be a part of the environment," Redstone told the Observer.

'The vital importance of art in our environment has always been recognized as something that fulfills a need as vital as food and shelter and as something that brings joy and excitement to all people in their daily lives," he added.

Customers at House of Denmark in Livonia can see fabrics on their furniture selection before buying. George Efthemiou, store manager, looks at upholstery on the Rowe Show Me Machine with customer Judy Polce of Livonia.

Go high tech to pick furniture fabric

■ Special software loaded with furniture and fabric images makes custom furniture decisions easier. Seeing fabric on furniture before buying helps eliminate the dreaded buyer's remorse.

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER SPECIAL WRITER

f you've ever bought custom upholstered furniture, you know the frustration of flipping through dinky swatches to find the

On a difficulty scale, a fabric search is likened to hunting for wallpaper or finding the right bathing suit. The big difference: Custom furniture doesn't come cheap and once it's upholstered, it's yours.

So, just how big is the pattern and how will it look wrapped around the leg of a Parson's style chair?

House of Denmark in Livonia takes some guesswork out of fabric selection with a high-tech device that lets you see how a pattern looks on furniture before you sign the dotted line. Not bad, since that luxury generally comes when the deliverer unloads in your driveway.

If you can operate a library's computerized card catalog, you can run the store's new Rowe Show Me Machine, a user-friendly MacIntosh with a mouse. It's loaded with software that lets you see fabrics on a variety of contemporary and traditional furniture from Rowe Furniture Corp. The company offers 467 different fabrics, but not all are available on every piece.

Furniture and fabric are scaled down to fit on the screen, but it's a good way to see overall pattern and color. You can even select a second fabric for accent pillows and play with pattern mixing on the comput-

House of Denmark, traditionally a seller of sleek American made and imported Scandinavian furniture, started carrying some Rowe pieces six years ago.

Rowe, a 48-year-old Virginiabased company, makes sofas, sleepers, sectionals, motion chairs and chaises. Sofas are priced from $600 to $900. Unlike other custom furniture makers, their prices are the same for all fabrics and delivery is usually 30 days.

This year, Michigan-based House of Denmark picked the Livonia store as the pilot for an expanded Rowe gallery that covers 30 percent of the store's floor space. It includes 20 vignettes of Rowe upholstery mixed with Scandinavian pieces and a scattering of Lane tables and Pacific Coast lighting.

If the expanded Rowe line takes off in Livonia, House of Denmark will open similar galleries in its Rochester and Keego Harbor stores, said Debbie Michetti, House of

Plymouth gallery displays Pueblo pottery

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

Pottery from the Pueblos of New Mexico and Arizona spice up the exhibition space through Oct. 31 at Native West Gallery, 863 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

The American Southwest art gallery is featuring more than 80 works of clay from the Acoma, Santa Clara, Navajo, Hopi and Jemez Pueblos. The show includes authentic American Indian handbuilt and etched vessels along with handpainted green ware from molds and Storyteller pottery dolls.

'We're very excited to be presenting the pottery. It's all done by hand. The Native Americans are known for their pottery techniques," said Annette Horn, new co-owner of the gallery with husband Ken.

'We're hoping people will come in and enjoy the pieces. We want to bring some of the Native American culture into our customers' lives. It's a nice accessory for decorating to have a little pot on an end table. There's so many different ways you can use them.

Prices for the pottery range from $25 for a small black Santa Clara or miniature Acoma pot to $600 for a handcoiled Santo Domingo vessel with turquoise stones incorporated into the design.

Many of the less expensive works were handpainted on molded green ware while more expensive pots were handbuilt and handpainted by the Pueblo Indians coiled pottery begins with a pick and shovel as potters search for specific clay from which to craft their wares. Each Pueblo has its own clay source.

Authentic Pueblo Indian hand-

After the clay is hauled back to the village and processed, it is manipulated into rope-like pieces, then coiled one atop the other using a gradual building method to prevent the collapse of the pot's walls.

Once built, a corn cob is used on the exterior to score the adjoining Redford-based Gibson School invites art enthusiasts its second annual auction at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 22. Previewing of the art and hors d'oeuvres will begin at 6:30 p.m. The school is at 12925 Fenton.

Art Affaire of Wixom will run the auction. The evening will feature original paintings lithographs, sculpture and decorator art. All investment grade art will be authenticated.

Tickets are $25 per person. Call 537-8688. Proceeds will benefit the school scholarship fund.

GOVERNOR TALKS ART

Artist Lily Dudgeon had an opportunity to talk art with Gov. John Engler before the opening of "Watercolor Monotype Exhibit 1993," continuing through Oct. 28 in the Henry Ford Centennial Library Rotunda Hall in Dearborn.

He stopped to see the Livonia and Garden City art instructor's series of photographs focusing on the step-by-step process of monotype printing with watercolors.

"I was excited when he started explaining how much better it was going to be for artists in Michigan and he thought there should be more art in schools," Dudgeon said.

Dudgeon, who studied art at Wayne State University, teaches watercolor at the Visual Arts Association of Livonia, Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association and Garden City Public Schools.

She sponsored the Dearborn monotype exhibit, which includes 17 artists this year.

Renaissance Doll & Teddy Bear Show and Sale will take place 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 24 at the Livonia Holiday Inn, Newburgh and Six Mile coils before blending them together with the fingers. A gourd is used inside the pot to shape out the walls, to push the inside out.

The fare will include original porcelain dolls, collectible dolls, teddy bears, reproduction dolls, clothes and supplies.

The pot is left to dry until leather hard. It is then burnished with a stone for smoothness. Pottery is fired in an open pit for about one hour to harden the clay. With the open pit firing method, the temperature fluctuates. The winds blow and change, thus destroy ing many pots in the process.

Passed down through the centuries, the Pueblo tradition of crafting pottery survived because there was a functional need: ceremonial or domestic, for the product among tribal members. Wedding vases, seed pots, ceremonial bowls used by Shaman or medicine men as well as pots for storing water and corn were crafted for a spe-

Seed pots were produced in a variety of sizes, all with a tiny hole crafted in the surface for air to circulate.

They would use the seed pot to dry their seeds in fall and literally smash it in spring to get the seeds out," said Horn, pointing to a tiny pin head of a hole barely visible in the graphic black and white patterning on the pot. "Black and white was the original Acoma colors. Later, they added the red into it.

Wedding vases play a major role in the traditional American Indian wedding ceremony. A week or two before the mas riage, the future husband's parents make a double spout wedding vase from clay.

During the ceremony, Indian holy water is placed in the wedding vase. The vase is turned around, then given to the bride. She drinks from one side, turns it around, then gives it to the groom, who drinks from the other side. The ceremony unites them as one. The couple treasure the vase throughout their married life.

"The braid means they're engaged. Everything in the Native American culture is spiritual, meant to bring good luck, good health, a good harvest. It has spiritual meaning, the mandellas, the dreamcatchers, the wedding vase," Horn said.

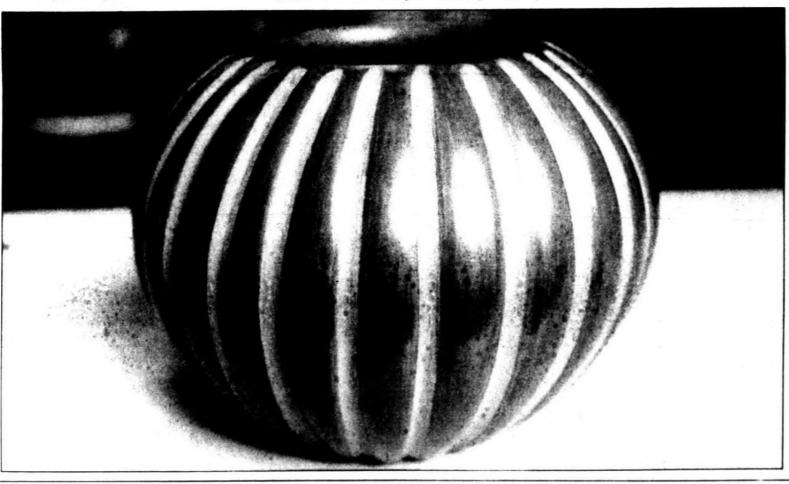

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday-Friday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

MOT singer tryouts slated

Metro Detroit district auditions for the Metropolitan Opera Theatre will be Saturday, Nov.6, in the Community Arts Auditorium of Wayne State University.

Young singers will compete for the opportunity to advance to the national competition at the Metropolitan Opera in New York.

The Detroit area district auditions are being sponsored by the Michigan Opera The atre. The Arnoldt Williams Music Company and Wayne State University. Call 477-8629.

National auditions will take place at the Metropolitan Opera next spring. Regional winners will be brought to New York for coaching under the guidance of the Metropolitan opera's artistic staff. They will audition (with piano) before members of the Metropolitan musical staff.

Each finalist will be awarded $1,000. Na tional winners will continue to coach with the Met's artistic staff and will appear in the winners concert on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera before an audience. The finalists can perform duets, ensembles or solo arias. National winners will receive $10,000.

Call 833-7900.

SHERRY WASHINGTON GALLERY

To Dec. 30 - Detroit artist Gilda Snowden exhibits paintings in "Abstract Visions," at the gallery in the L.B. King Building, 1274 Library, Detroit. Snowden, who earned three art degrees at Wayne State University, has taught art since 1979. She's now assistant professor of fine art at Center for Creative Studies, College of Art and Design in Detroit. Influenced by the Cass Corridor artists of more than 20 years ago, Snowden is part of the second generation of this movement that emphasized process and materials and was characterized by a vitality and fascination with surface texture. As an artist, Snowden found greater depth and purpose following the death of her parents in 1987. The message became more personal. First, using charcoal and pastel on paper and later oil on canvas, Snowden developed her signature image: the tornado. The tornado is a symbol of the sudden storm that without warning shatters the equilibrium of the human psyche. Hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays, 1-6 p.m. Saturday.

Ford's original PR man shares his memoirs

Ahead of the REVIEW News," by John E. Sattler (288 pp., $19.95 Whistlestop/SI). Did you know that the basic design of the Volkswagen Beetle was conceived at Ford Motor Co. during the early 1930s? That TV's Batmobile was originally an experimental car also created by Ford? That Henry Ford II destroyed nearly all of his personal papers before he died? That Ford's side of the story regarding Lee Iacocca's highly publicized dismissal from the auto company has never been told?

VICTORIA

Read this memoir, subtitled "A Lifetime of Practical Public Relations Experience," and penned by the man who, in 1945, established Ford Motor Co.'s public relations about all this. You'll also find out, in eye-opening detail, how public relations works to enhance $19.95, the public image of big business and the powerful people who run the show.

Born in a railroad flat in Brooklyn in 1919, Sattler says he never heard the term "public relations' until 20 years after his birth.

After making a name for himself in the public relations field during a World War II Army stint, Sattler accepted an offer from Ford at its New York offices at the close of the war. ("I was assigned to the New York office,' writes Sattler, "but, in fact, there was no (PR) office . . . I was to establish it - from scratch.") One of the first things he learned on the job was that he couldn't always trust even in-house staff to give him a "straight story."

Sattler would remain with Ford for the next 35 years until his retirement in 1980. He spent 20 years in the New York offices be-moved to Bloomfield Hills in 1966. He concluded his career at Ford World Headquarters in Dearborn. (Though his story is almost relentlessly upbeat, his memories of the "inbred" atmosphere of World Headquarters are less than fond.)

While at Ford, Sattler was witness to much of the drama that went on behind the scenes of such events as the death of Henry Ford I; the introduction - and demise - of the Edsel ("primarily a case of bad timing"); Ford's financially shaky role in the 1964-65 New York World's Fair, Henry Ford II's troublesome drinking and declining health; and lacocca's departure.

Scenes are sparked with brief, but sometimes up-close appearances by such 20th-century celebrities as Eleanor Roosevelt, Babe Ruth, Hank Greenberg, Monty Wooley, Walt Disney, Clark Gable, Irving Berlin, various members of the Ford family and a slew of others.

Some picks and pans: This selfpublished book could have used the loving touch of a more ruthless editor. Sattler tends to occasionally repeat himself and also to ramble on at times - indulging, for instance, in writing at length about his homes in Michigan and New York, even to the point of including verbatim the text of an Indian deed to some has to do with his life in public relations is not clear.

But with all the distracting typos and printing glitches typical of self-publishers, you'll find this little book of recent history worthwhile, fun and user-friendly. Much of its success can be credited to Sattler's lively, highly accessible writing style. Reading the book feels a little like sitting down to visit with an old friend who is brimming over with great, sparkling conversation.

Clearly, this is a guy who can tell a story. More than that, he has a good story to tell.

The Observer & Eccentric area s well represented in the 1993 Governors' Arts Awards.

Among the recipients are Birmingham resident Marshall Fredericks, former Livonia architect Louis Redstone and Jacobson's Stores Inc., which has a store at Laurel Park Place Mall in Livo-

They and six other individuals or organizations will be honored at the ninth annual Governors' Arts Awards Thursday, Oct. 28, at the Detroit Institute of Arts. A reception, dinner and music will be featured along with the awards

"I'm thrilled," said Fredericks, who will receive the International Achievement Award. "It's a wonderful honor . . . I appreciate it very much.

"I was so surprised, I can't tell vou," said Civic Leader Award recipient Redstone, founder and chairman of Redstone Architects Inc. of Southfield. "To receive an award for something you like to do is really cream on the cake.

What I did was really without the slightest expectation of (getting) anything (in return)."

Sculptural from page 1D

Insurance, transportation, a reception for donors, sculptors and dignitaries, and a kickoff public ceremony represent the hurdles in bringing a mini sculptural exhibition to Livonia. There's little vandalism risk, given the size of the works in a civic center complex where the police are nearby. But weather is always a factor.

The Southfield show's 1993 budget was $17,000. Revenue came from the BCA, a Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs grant and the city of Southfield. The BCA and the city also contributed in-kind services. Costs included a $250 expense stipend for each artist. Hundreds of volunteers also assisted.

Juror-awarded prize money totaled $1,800 - $1,000 from the Arts Foundation of Michigan, $500 from BCA and $300 from Redstone Architects of South-

But money isn't what draws the sculptors to Southfield. "We do it for the love of showing together," said De Giusti, a participant in three of the four exhibitions. "We draw inspiration from each other.

Scale is a distinguishing trait of these exhibitions. De Giusti used seven panels to achieve size with his 17-foot, imagery-filled hyrostone relief, "Genesis." The relief competed for exposure alongside larger works, including Erickson's upbeat aluminum commentary on the auto industry, "Memory Vehi-

"Small bronze figures don't look right in a show like this," De Giusti said. "There's nothing wrong with three-foot sculptures but small sculptures get dwarfed. You have to have size.

You also have to have the right people behind the scenes.

Jay Holland, a widely respected professor of sculpture at Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, curated the 1993 show and invited the participants.

"The curator is very import-ant," De Giusti said. "Selecting the right kind of people is critical. I trust his judgment. Quality goes down if we don't get the best. We want to avoid an art fair quality.

Local elementary-age students no doubt would benefit from a mini sculptural exhibition in Livonia. "For many, this would mark the first time they could see, touch and appreciate such advanced sculpture," Redstone said. By introducing them to fine art at the elementary level, he said, students "would become more demanding about it and it would become part of their lives. You'd lose a lot of them by 12 or 14 if you waited until then.

Art, he added, "is "part of the history of every nation, part of the background of human nature. Sculpture goes back to Babylonian times and even now we see inspiration in what remains from that time.'

Sculpture, more than architecture, typically becomes a building's signature. As Redstone put it: "People tend to forget what the building looks like but they remember the art connected with it. We just need to publicize it more, so more people begin to relate to it, to question it, to find out more about it - to value it."

Eskimo artistry to grab spotlight

A special preview reception at the Power Center for the Performing Arts will mark the opening of the exhibit for the 1993 Annual Print Collection of Cape Dorset

The reception runs 5-7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 22, in the lobby of the Power Center for the Performing Arts at the University of Michigan, 121 Fletcher, Ann Arbor.

This year's collection of 34 prints represents the work of 12 Inuit graphic artists from the Cape Dorset community on Baffin Island, Northwest Territories. The 1993 exhibit in Ann Arbor is dedicated to the memory of Pudlo Pudlat (1916-1992), who has three prints in the exhibit. Many people will remember Pudlo's visit to Ann Arbor in March 1991 and the highly successful comprehensive exhibit of his work at the University of Michigan Museum of Art, in addition to the smaller exhibit of his past prints at the Gallery of Eskimo Art.

This is the 12th year the Gallery of Eskimo Art has presented the exhibit in the Power Center for the Performing Arts.

"It is indeed an honor to display these outstanding examples of today's Inuit art and we are delighted to co-host the opening of this exhibit with the Canadian Consul General from Detroit in Denmark upholstery buyer. Both stores already have some Rowe on the sales floor.

'We've never shown traditional or transitional upholstery with Scandinavian pieces before, but it's doing well,"Michetti said. "For several years, the (decorating) trend has been eclectic. Personally, I like mixing and matching because it creates an individual look.

George Efthemiou, Livonia store manager, thinks Rowe and House of Denmark are "a perfect marriage.

"We wanted to offer customers a broader selection and show how well Scandinavian furniture mixes with other styles," he said. "Scandinavian furniture can seem too firm and sleek for people who like an over-stuffed look."

Most customers look through the store's large hanging samples and use the computer to decide between two or three fabrics, Efthemiou said.

"Computer imaging is a good way to eliminate buyer's remorse. It gives customers a certain comfort level. This kind of technology is available everywhere today, but people are amazed to see it in the furniture industry," he said.

John and Judy Polce of Livonia looked at family room furniture for 10 months before choosing two sofas and a loveseat.

"We'd find a style we liked at one store, but we couldn't find fabric," said Judy Polce, who found both at House of Denmark in July and returned in August to try out her selection on the Ma-

The Polces choose hunter-green upholstery for all three pieces and used the computer to make sure the color wasn't too strong for the room. They'll mix the upholstered pieces with Scandinavian furnishings bought years ago.

"Looking at it on the computer, we knew right away we'd like the color in our neutral room. It helps because a tiny swatch can look so different on a large piece of furniture," she said.

Besides computer imaging, an in-store "theater" uses some old technology to give customers another look at fabrics before buy-

A simple Kodak slide projector transfers the fabric's image to a full-size white sofa. There's some pattern distortion because a onedimensional slide is shown on three-dimensional furniture, but the scale is as real as it is in your

Rowe installed its first "tueater" in the Virginia area 15 years ago after surveying 600 recent furniture buyers. The company learned that people felt more comfortable buying life insurance than choosing living room furni-

"The theater and computer imaging takes away what everybody hates about buying furniture. You walk out of the store knowing what your selection's going to look like," said Mark Mosley, Rowe marketing vice president.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

Tips to sell your house REAL ESTATE LISTINGS

Homeowners can play an important role in the timely sale of their property. Whether you're employing the expertise of a real estate sales associate or selling your own home, RE/MAX Realtors advise following these simple and inexpensive steps to help complete the sale faster and at the best possible price:

1. Make the most of that first impression. Never underestimate the importance of outward appearances, especially where your home is concerned. Potential buyers begin their decision-making process early, usually after their first glance of your property. A well-manicured lawn, neatly trimmed shrubs and a clutter-free porch welcome prospects; so does a freshly painted or at least a freshly scrubbed front door. The fewer the obstacles between prospects and the true appeal of your home, the better.

2. Invest a few hours for future dividends. Here's your chance to clean up in real estate. Clean up in the living room, the bathroom, the bedrooms and the kitchen. If the woodwork is scuffed or the paint is fading, perhaps you might want to consider some minor redecoration. Fresh wallpaper in the kitchen or bath can add charm and value to your property. If appropriate, consider adding a brass kickplate, mailbox and porch light. Prospects would rather see how great your home really looks than be told how great is could look, "with a little

3. Check faucets and bulbs. Dripping water rattles the nerves, discolors the sinks and suggests the existence of faulty or worn-out plumbing. Burned-out bulbs leave prospects in the dark. Don't let little problems distract prospects from all the strengths your home has to offer.

4. Don't shut out a sale. If cabinets or closet doors stick in your home, you can be sure they will also stick in a prospect's mind. Don't try to explain away sticky situations when you can easily plane or sand them away. A little effort on your part can smooth the way toward a closing.

5. Make your bathrooms sparkle. Bathrooms sell homes, so let them shine. Check and repair damaged or unsightly caulking in the tubs and showers. For added allure, display your best towels, mats and shower curtains.

6. Create dream bedrooms. Wakeup prospects to the cozy comforts of your bedrooms. For a spacious look, consider getting rid of excess furniture. Colorful bedspreads and fresh curtains can do wonders.

7. Make room for space. Remember, potential buyers are looking for more than just comfortable living space. They're looking for storage space, too. Make sure your attic and basement are clean and free of unnecessary

8. Consider your closets. The better organized a closet, the larger it appears. Take the time to box up those unwanted clothes and donate them to

9. Open up the daytime. Let the sunshine in. Pull back your curtains and drapes so prospects can see how bright and cheery your home really is.

10. Lighten up at night. Turn on the excitement by turning on your lights, both inside and out, when showing your home in the evening. Lights add color and warmth and help make prospects feel welcome.

11. Think safety. Homeowners learn to live with all kinds of self-set booby traps: roller skates on the stairs, exposed extension cords, slippery throw rugs, low-hanging overhead lights and so on. Make your residence as non-perilous as possible for unexpected visitors.

12. Avoid crowd scenes. Potential buyers often feel like intruders when they enter a home filled with people. Rather than giving your house the attention it deserves, they're likely to hurry through it. Keep the company present to a minimum or schedule your visits from friends and family around your home showings.

13 Watch your pets. Dogs and cats are great companions, but not when you're showing your home. Pets have a talent for getting underfoot. Prospects may appreciate your keeping Kitty and Spot outside during showings more than you think.

14. Think volume Rock n-roll will never die; but it might kill a real estate transaction When it's time to show your home, you're better off turning down the stereo or television.

15. Relax. Be friendly, but don't try to force conversation. Prospects most times want to view your home with minimal distraction.

16. Don't apologize No matter how humble your abode, never apologize for its shortcomings. Accentuate the positive.

17. Don't turn your home into a second-hand store. When prospects come to view your home, don't distract them with offers to sell those furnishings you no longer need. You may lose the biggest sale of all. 18. Keep a low profile. Nobody knows your home as well as you do, but your sales associate knows buyers what they want and what they don't want. Your sales associate will have an easier time articulating the virtues of your home if you stay in the background.

19. Defer to experience. When prospects want to talk price, terms or other real estate matters, let them speak to an expert - your real estate sales associate.

20. Help your associate. Your associate will have an easier time selling your home if showings are scheduled through his or her office. You'll appreciate the results.

RE/MAX has 34,000 full-time real estate associates working out of 2,000 independently owned and operated offices. The RE/MAX Detroit Metro Region - with 26 offices in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties - had a sales volume of nearly $800 million

Here's how to prorate house taxes

What is the proper method for prorating taxes?

ing dispute in northern Michigan

among real estate

brokers as to how real property taxes

in a private sale should be prorated

ROBERT M In a private real MEISNER property sales transaction, there are typically three methods in which taxes are prorated - due date basis, calendar year basis and fiscal year basis. The parties may agree to apportion the property taxes in any manner and their purchase agreement should clearly state the method agreed upon Absent such a written agreement. Michigan statute requires that the seller shall be responsible for the property taxes up to the day before title passes to the buyer, and the buyer is responsible for the remainder of the property taxes.

This is commonly known as the due date method.

The statute seems to be based upon an assumption that taxes are paid in advance, however. The local taxing authority must be consulted to determine whether the property taxes are deemed paid in advance or in arrears. This will determine it the seller is entitled to reimbursement (if paid in advance) or if the purchaser is entitled to reimbursement (if paid in

There are also income tax considerations that must be evaluated in selecting the best method for prorating taxes. Check with an accountant or tax lawyer

Also consuit an experienceo rea estate lawyer to review the purchase agreement before it becomes omding on the parties.

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

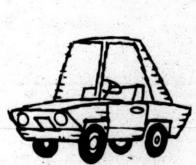

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them. out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

Architects specialize in church design

At a time when many firms are feeling the building industry slowdown, Brown Associates has carved a niche for itself. Its architectural work ranges from churches from Birmingham to Livonia and beyond.

The Bloomfield Township architectural firm was founded in 1957 when its partners won a competition to design the national Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma.

In the three years it took to carry that project to completion, Brown Associates was already gravitating toward church design. Although not its exclusive focus, the firm has undertaken more than 50 church proj-

At a time when many architectural firms are being pinched by the recession in the building industry, Brown Associates has steadily moved ahead,

"You must have a feel for (church architecture)," said Jack Brown, president of the six-employee firm.

"There is a lot of committee work, dealing with groups of people. You have to enjoy it and be willing to meet

Church architecture requires historical perspective as well as knowledge of modern engineering and design. Religious symbolism must be correct. Technical considerations must be given to lighting, acoustics, and heating and cooling to ensure comfort for a handful of people or a crowd.

One of the latest Brown projects is St. James Catholic Church in Novi. formally dedicated just a couple of

Global market a key to economic survival

To survive in the '90s, businesses must plug into the global economy or be left in their competitor's dust. So goes the trend. Business must absolutely be global or be shut out of major markets," said Peggy Malnati, a partner in Allison, Hull & Mulnati Inc., an international public relations and marketing communications firm with Midwest offices in Farmington Hills.

AH&M has just added a top Brazilian public relations and advertising agency, Assessoria de Comunicacoes Ltda. (ADS), in a move designed to strengthen its international account service capabilities

"Many of our key accounts already have a strong presence in Brazil, and many of the industries we specialize in - plastics, machinery, chemicals, wire and cable, transportation — are active there. Beyond that, the affiliation positions AH&M for further market development and growth in one of South America's most important economies,"

AH&M has work arrangements with similar firms across the world to tap into local language, knowledge of the local business scene and social customs.

"For AH&M and its growing number of clients in this country, it is indispensable to have the support of a partner who knows the Brazilian structure - its markets, people, government, laws, culture, the press and the country's financial system," said Antonio DeSalvo, Assessoria de Comunicacoes Ltda. director and senior partner. "The same holds true for us working with AH&M in the United States.

The most dramatic change in Catholic church design occurred in the 1960s with Vatican II, a papal-inspired dramatic departure from centuries old tradition.

Before that, churches were basically rows of seating with long aisles. The altar was way to the front. The priest said Mass in Latin with his back to the congregation," Brown said.

With Vatican II, the altar was moved closer to the people. Different acoustics were required. Fanshape seats clustered around the altar. Even Protestant churches became wider. We worked on a Methodist church where all the furniture was moved to the mid-

Teefey notes another change in Catholic church architecture is size and location of the baptismal font, from small and unobtrusive to large enough for full body immersion and prominently located in the nave, near the front

"There is a lot more participation (in Catholic worship) and less observation," Teefey said. "Culture and religion play an important role in the design.

Brown says that each church project eventually takes on the personality of its priest or minis-

"Many years ago, I designed Clarenceville Methodist Church in Livonia. I first spoke to the minister on the phone. She had a very deep voice When I met her I was shocked to find a woman. Woman ministers were rar then

Her name was Elsie Johns and she took over a very small church and built it up. She was a doer. With a building committee, we designed a church fellowship hall, then a sanctuary. A choir room came later. It's a white building. It's sort of a gentle church, a reflection of the minister.

She passed away many years ago, but the church hasn't changed at all I get back there once a year.

Currently, the firm is designing St. Jerome's Catholic Church in Troy The old parish, on Eight Mile east of Woodward in Detroit, is an ethnic Croatian church trying to maintain its language

Thus, the new church, on 14 acres off Wattles east of Livernois, will maintain a Croatian identity. There will be a 400-seat sanctuary, a hall with dining for 500, and rectory/office to serve a membership scattered throughout the metro area.

The church is a unifying thing," Brown said. "Members are very disturbed by the war in the former Yugoslavia. Each committee meeting starts with a group clustered around shortwave radio from Sarajevo.' Construction on the $2.5 million church is due to begin next spring. "We can't duplicate the stone but it will have a rugged, rusticated surface and stucco,' Brown said.

Added Teefey: "The building will have a strong Mediterranean flavor, fairly traditional outside. It will have a terra-cotta metal oot. Eaci. building will have a separate identity but be joined to-

Six acres have been set aside as nature preserve.

Pastor Joe Galic says the church is moving out to where its congregation lives. "We are a small parish and most of the people are gone from here," said Father Galic, ordained in Sarajevo in 1966 and who came to the U.S. the following year. "Everyone is excited about it. We like to have something new but old-fashioned too, kind of Croatian and Mediterranean.

Funding will come from parishioners and an Archdiocesan loan. A shrine and a statue of St. Jerome will be taken from the old to the new church. Brown Associates has designed churches throughout Michigan and in Delaware, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Maryland, Maine, New York, Ohio and West Virginia.

AH&M, headquartered in Massachusetts, maintains a network of affiliates and contract agents throughout the Americas, Europe and the Pacific Rim.

Even scientists are setting their sights beyond borders. RHK Technology Inc. of Rochester Hills has begun delivering an electronic imaging system that helps researchers in physics, chemistry and other sciences visually explore molecules and atoms. The new 3-D imaging system reveals molecular surface features that resemble mountain peaks, deep fissures and Martian-like desert. "Now we can see what has never been visible," said Brad Orr, University of Michigan physics professor.

Customers include Philips Research Laboratories in the Netherlands, Tel Aviv University and the University of Hong Kong.

Recently invented, scanning probe microscopes are helping scientists understand familiar and exotic materials. They are being used to investigate materials for hypersonic aircraft and space vehicles, superconductors and pharmaceuticals as well as industrial cutting tools, automotive alloys and future consumer products.

Moreillon & Shields is a new public relations firm with offices in Livonia and Windsor to service cross border business. It's unique in that its partners include one American, Robert Moreillon of Northville, who has a public relations background, and a Canadian, Bill Shields of Windsor, a journalist who covered business and automotive beats for the Windsor Star.

"With the free trade agreement, commerce is moving back and forth across what is called the world's friendliest border," Moreillon said. "Canada is not as foreign as Japan, but there are subtleties that can mean a world of difference in the business world. We're talking to three or four companies right now that want to take advantage of the American market."

Meanwhile, Caz Internation al Inc. of Southfield provides building design and engineer ing services and helps its clients understand the language, customs and building trade practices of Mexico.

"Sometimes, the knowledge of local customs can spell the difference between success and failure of a business venture,' said Gabriel A. Carrillo, of Farmington, president of CAZ

International. An American-educated na tive of South America, the professional engineer and general contractor Carrillo has managed construction projects in Mexico, other parts of Latin America, the Caribbean and the Middle East. He said American companies that build factories in Mexico and other countries of ten spend more time and money than necessary because they aren't familiar with the way things work in the construction industry in those nations. "It isn't enough just to speak

Spanish. There is a whole culture that must be appreciat ed," said Carrillo, "Sometimes, the most important part of any conversation is the subtle message that comes through without any words.'

Michael Mercier, president of the 2,000-member Troy based Metro Trading Association, has been elected to lead the newly formed Corporate Trade International, an affiliation of trade exchanges from the United States, Canada England, France and Austra

"In my role as president, I expect to contribute to the organizational structure and procedures that will enable us to realize the objective of bartering agreements among major international corporations,' Mercier said.

Metro Trading Association serves as a facilitator for com panies looking to exchange goods and services with other companies. Members trade their excess inventory or excess capacity with other members in a debit/credit arrangement, using trade credits instead of cash. At a $10 billion a year pace, barter is one of the fastest-growing businesses in the U.S, according to the MTA.

Southfield firm sells Russian lumber

Southfield company doing business in the former Soviet Union, has signed a $2 million contract to deliver Russian lumber products to a Canadian company

Because of recent U.S. Government plans to limit logging on federal timberlands, this program will provide a partial answer to the lumber shortages that will occur," said William B. Harrington, Eagle Bear president. "It will also have a positive affect in holding down lumber costs.

Eagle Bear was founded three years ago to focus on business opportunities in the former USSR. "Our market is saturated with products here, he said. "Russia has 300 million people, China has 1 billion. They'll be interested in buying American products.'

Harrington and three other Michigan businessmen are going to Siberia this month to teach fundamental business ty there. "(Russians) are good in theory but have no hands-on expertise. I'll focus on market ing and sales," Harrington said

We should be dealing on a global basis. Eighty-five per cent of the population of this country has jobs with smalland medium-sized companies. We all have appliances, cars. Who are we manufacturing for? Companies have to start getting visionary.'

Looking for a home of your own just got a whole lot easier.

If you're in the market for a new home, HomeLine, our Open House directory, is the place to start

This directory now gives you the full spectrum of home buying choices. You'll learn what homes are open and when so you can easily and quickly check out the "possibles" on your list And now you can explore BUILDERS HOT LINE in case you want to add the option of newly constructed housing to your shopping list.

Just call 953-2020 from your touch tone telephone. You'll hear recorded instructions that are easy to follow for open house information and/or new home and condo construction information.

Bolster credit status to boost financial security

BY DANIEL BOYCE and ALAN FERRARA SPECIAL WRITERS

Rob Forsythe is a marketing manager for a small local manufacturing company. After experiencing severe financial difficulties a few years ago, he has regained a more solid footing and is now ready to move forward.

Rob, age 35 and single, lives in a Southfield apartment and earns about $40,000 per year. Five years ago, he had a brush with bankruptcy, where he ran up balances on his credit cards, a problem that was compounded when he was laid off from his job. A number of bills went unpaid for sever-

Realizing the seriousness of his problem, he contacted his credit card companies to work out reasonable payment schedules, but unfortunately he had already damaged his credit rating as a result of his past habits. His financial picture is more sound now, and he wants to know how to reverse this negative credit history before buying a car next year.

Rob's short-term goals include buying the new automobile next spring for about $20,000 and some furniture within the next year for about $3,000. Within a five-year span, he hopes to buy a modest house

Although it is hard for him to save much, he realizes he needs to follow a specific savings plan. Bast savings for him occurred as a result of "passive saving strate gies such as banking last year's $ . 000 tax refund.

He has also participated in his employer's 401(k) plan which has unfortunately been discontinued. He asks for a recommended replacement plan that is easy to maintain.

To re-establish his credit rating, he should contact the large credit bureaus to determine what his credit history shows. The pubFINANCIAL STRENGTHS

We suggest he place a note in his file at each of the credit bu reaus outlining the circumstances of his past problems and the steps he took to repay his creditors once he was back to work. He should scrupulously pay all of his bills and debts each month on time. Even minor lapses, when combined with a bad credit record. can cause major difficulties with potential lenders.

If he follows these steps, by the time he is ready to buy a house in four or five years, enough of his past record should be expunged so that he will likely quality for a conventional mortgage

Rob's current credit card debt ( only $1,800 ) concerns us We think it is too high, especially since he is at his credit limit. We strongly suggest that he eliminate this debt gradually but steadily over the next one to two years.

Credit card availability for emergencies is fine, but considering his past history, he should not make a regular habit of using them. If Rob has trouble controlhe should literally cut up the

We recommend that instead of buying a new car next spring, he consider a newer-model used car. This can reduce the purchase price by thousands of dollars. Since Rob tends to hold his cars for an extended period this should not have any significant effect on the residual value of the

Because of his credit history a larger down payment on the car may be required. A payroll deduction (automatic deposit) savings plan over the next few months might be an easy and appropriate savings mechanism for this additional cash need. However, the fact that he has made his current auto payments on a timely basis should be a positive for him when he applies for credit to buy his next car. He may actually want to go back to the same source for financing on the new car

Rob's goal of starting a modest retirement savings program is an excellent idea. Dollars put away now can have a large effect on the amount available at retirement. For example, a $2,000 yearly IRA investment invested in a conservative mutual fund averaging an 81/2-percent rate of return would grow to $250,000 by age 65. If Rob waits just 10 years, the same investment would not even reach $100,000. Since he is not eligible for any other type of retirement plan, the deductible IRA (starting in 1994) is the first thing he should do for his long-term financial security.

If his employer will automatically deposit his paycheck into a bank account he might have $167 per month ($2,000 per year) trans ferred directly to an IRA account. This "forced savings" would be helpful. We would suggest that this money be invested in a growth investment for Rob at his current age. The important point is that he begin a regular savings plan (even for a small amount).

Rob asks, "Do I need an estate plan if I have no assets?" We would still suggest a very simple estate plan, perhaps just a will, to assure that at death his assets will go to those beneficiaries he has chosen.

Rob has also asked whether it is important for him to have life insurance since he is single. If there are no family members who would suffer financial hardship from lost assistance if he should die prematurely, life insurance may not be an important issue. On the other hand, if there is a future need, it may make sense to buy some life insurance coverage.

We are more concerned about disability coverage. Rob's coverage with his employer stops after two years of disability. If he were permanently disabled, all of his financial goals would be in danger of going unmet.

We would suggest that he look into buying a personal disability policy, which pays benefits after the 24 monthly payments his employer plan provides stops. Rob is young and in a low-risk occupational category, so the premium should not be overly burdensome perhaps less than $75 per month for maximum coverage. If Rob can continue to be conservative in his spending habits. these tips can help correct the damage to his credit record, put him on a sound financial footing and allow him to meet the goals he has set DonTech has published Street Address Quarterly for six metroDetroit areas, including north and south Oakland counties.

The directory of business and residential names and numbers is updated every three months from local Ameritech records. It's used by marketers to reach potential customers and to keep track of clients who move. The format is the same as DonTech's Street Address Directories; the inside-out phone book with listings in street address order.

SAQ can be leased annually and charged to an Ameritech bill. DonTech is a partnership of Ameritech Publishing and Reuben H. Donnelley. For details, call 1-800-252-5067.

TOP MOVER

For the sixth consecutive year, Westland-based Paul Arpin Van Lines was most responsive to claims, according to a 1992 Interstate Commerce Commission report. The van line's claim resolution record was compared to the records of household movers nationwide.

Arpin settled claims of $100 or more in an average of 8.4 days, more than six days faster than the average of the top 10 movers, the report said.

For the fifth consecutive year, Arpin was rated first for on-time pick-ups. It was the only line with a perfect pick-up record.

Arpin and its affiliates, Arpin International Group and Paul Arpin Van Line Canada, are represented by more than 750 agents worldwide.

PAGEMART IN LIVONIA

PageMart Inc. will open its first metro-Detroit sales and service office at 19852 Haggerty, Livonia. PageMart delivers local, regional and nationwide coverage through a single frequency that replaces the conventional paging network.

PageMart subscribers can receive pages in major U.S. cities on an as-needed basis through customized service options.

FRIENDLY DRUMS

Livonia-based Diversey Corp.'s Cleaning Systems Division, Food Service Group and Industrial Group will begin using environmentally friendly chemical drums that provide better storage for their products. New drums are light blue and contain an active ultraviolet inhibitor that prevents deterioration of the product by sunlight.

See-through plastic and gallon marking indicators help customers with product inventory.

Rather than pay for disposal, customers can return drums to Diversey Corp. to be reused or re cycled.

Diversey Corp. is a developer, manufacturer and marketer of cleaning, sanitizing, water management and surface treatment products and systems with customers in the food, institutional, metal and industrial markets.

I JOINT EFFORT

Livonia-based Productivity Action Associates and Performance Development Corp. will jointly provide education and training seminars and management consulting to manufacturing clients.
