Candidate spending tops $3,000

Running for city commission in Plymouth was a matter of shaking enough hands and meeting people, but the campaigns are getting more expensive. Candidates in Tuesday's race spent from under $1,000 to more than $3,000.

Harvest Festival: Fiegel School celebrated Halloween with a Harvest Festival. Felicia Ghrist got into a harvest mood.

Fest offers Halloween alternative

BY DIANE GALE STAFF WRITER

Learning the law of gravity was never so much fun.

Dr. Zeemo brought out his tops, bicycle wheels, yo-yos and other props to teach the scientific principle to youngsters at Fiegel Elementary School in Plymouth Township Friday. The children yelled, whooped and raucously applauded his act during two assemblies.

Dr. Zeemo's skit, a school play and scarecrows made by the students and propped in the hallways were part of the school's Harvest Festival, which replaced the traditional Halloween celebration. Fiegel ditched Halloween in school, with educators saying it promoted destructive, violent behavior. If the students minded, they didn't show it during Dr. Zeemo's 45-minute show

"It was very, very good," said Mitchell Morton, a third grader who liked the juggling act the best.

Morton's mother, Pam, praised the Harvest Festival idea. "I'm thrilled to death and I love it," she said. "It eliminated the has sle out of sending costumes. That's a pain. This is a nice alternative.'

Christopher Riley, also a third grader, liked the singing during the student play the best.

Third grade teacher Ruthann Urevig said not one of her students questioned why they weren't dressing up for Halloween this year.

Hosannas and home runs may seem to be an unlikely combination, but they'll be a winning one come Sunday, Nov. 14.

Longtime Detroit Tigers broadcaster Ernie Harwell will speak 10 a.m. that Sunday during a program sponsored by the West Plymouth Community Church. The Rev. Phil Rogers, pastor of the congregation, wrote to Harwell about four months ago,

"thinking I'd probably not hear from him.'

"He's so down to earth," Rogers said of the radio announcer, who contacted him right away. Rogers and others at the church are looking forward to the arrival of Harwell, Harwell who's been the voice of the Detroit Tigers for more than 30 years. "To say they're excited would be an understatement," said Rogers, Livonia resident. "They are elated. Some worshipers, in fact, at first thought Rogers was joking when they heard Harwell would be speaking on Nov. 14.

Would-be Mettetal managers weigh pros, cons

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

More than 60 individuals and companies have expressed an interest in obtaining information about managing the state-owned Mettetal Airport

I have no idea how many bids we will get," said acting airport manager Randy Coller, state Bu read of Aeronautics licensing and enforcement manager

Approximately 30 people interested in submitting a proposal attended a morning meeting with Coller Wednesday, while another 10-12 attended an afternoon session at the airport in Canton.

Coller told potential contrac tors that they will be required to abide by restrictions on the airport that were agreed to by the state when it bought the airport for more than $4 million earlier this year. Desert Sands is operating the airport until a new con tractor is in place.

"These constraints are real and we intend to abide by them. Whether they are cast in concrete for the next 20 years, I don't know," Coller said.

Among the restrictions are no extension or shifting of the runway, an aircraft weight limit of 12,500 pounds, as well as a maximum 130 aircraft in hangars and 70 as tie-downs.

Proposals are due by Nov. 15, with plans to have a contractor in place by March 1994.

The state intends to offer two contracts to one individual or one company. One would be for airport management. The other contract is for what is called a fixed based operator. The FBO would be required to sell aircraft fuel and lubricants, as well as provide aircraft assistance, parking, storage and tie-downs. The FBO also may, but is not required to, provide flight services, sale of new and used aircrafts, parts and supplies, as well as aircraft rentals or maintenance and operation of a repair station.

Pilot John Vergonna, a member of the Mettetal Airport Advisory Board, told Coller he believes there should be no restrictions on the FBO, as far as number of hangar spaces and tie-downs. "You could choke out the FBO," Vergonna said.

Coller said the intention is for both the contractor and the state to succeed financially. Money made by the state, however, will be pumped back into Mettetal. "But it is not our intention to squeeze every nickel out of this place that we can," Coller said. In addition to wanting to know how much any particular bidders' costs will be, Coller encouraged would-be contractors to be creative in their proposals.

"We think prospective bidders should start with a clean sheet of paper and come up with a creative, innovative plan," Coller said. "We're not necessarily looking for the low bidder. We're looking for what's best for this airport.

A state representative will remain as airport manager for Mettetal. The successful bidder will become the assistant airport manager.

State aeronautics officials, as well as members of the Mettetal Airport Advisory Board, which includes Plymouth and Canton residents, are developing an improvements plan for the airport. The next board meeting is at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 4, in the EAA hangar.

"We would like the contractor to be involved in that process. We hope to accomplish some things here soon," Coller said, adding that costs are now being estimated for pavement replacement. "This is kind of a new philosophy in state government.

Coller told would-be bidders the airport and the bidding process will be conducted aboveboard and openly. "This airport operates in a fishbowl. So we as a state agency have decided it just has to be open," he said.

Now that the state owns Mettetal, everything will follow state rules and efforts will be made not to hamstring the operation with bureaucracy. "It would be nice if government to take it over." Coller said. "Our intent is to privatize the operation.

Dan Malone, Mettetal's current FBO, will bid for the contracts. We have tried to make this a fair process. Everyone is bidding like anyone else," Coller said.

The successful bidder may subcontract particular services, but Coller said that the state wishes to deal with only one person or one company. He also encouraged the use of subcontracting businesses owned by women, minorities or those who are considered disadvantaged.

"That would be to your advantage. We are under no quotas. But the intent of the law is that the state will make this available to them," Coller said.

Residents oppose ban on hunting

By JEFF COUNTS STAFF WRITER

About a dozen people at a public hearing on Thursday took aim at making more of Canton Township off limits to hunters.

Canton Township is looking at making more areas off lim its, but wants the state Depart ment of Natural Resources to make a determination before the township acts, said Loren Bennett, township clerk.

The DNR held the public hearing and will make a recomendation to the township board within 60 days, said Sgt. Larry Sargent, who conducted the hearing. He said the town ship will make the final decision.

Eastern Canton is closed to firearm hunting, but town-hip officials are concerned about hunting now that development is occurring in the western por-

We're not opposed to huntsaid Bennett to the crowd. "We're just looking to the DNR for some direction on this one.

Some observers predicted that the hearing would turn into a confrontation between pro- and anti-hunting forces. It didn't happen. At one point during comments from the public, Sargent asked if anybody wanted to speak in favor of a hunting ban in Canton. There were no responses.

"We want to have the right to shoot on our own property,' said Francis Alloway of Haggerty in Canton.

Jim Campbell of New Boston, a spokesman for Michigan United Conservation Clubs, pointed out to the DNR that current state laws already handle the situation, adding that firearms can't be used within 450 feet of a dwelling.

He also argued against an extension of the hunting ban. saying that it would just place more of a burden on law enforcement.

We already have the state police and conservation department taxed to the limit without adding more areas to patrol," Campbell said.

New Botsford Inn owner has ties to Mayflower

Whatever happened to the Mayflower Hotel's Creon Smith? He's buying the historic Botsford Inn in Farmington Hills.

Smith, who lives in Plymouth Township, is buying the Inn once owned by Henry Ford on a land contract for $1.5 million.

Smith said the closing on the sale should happen in the next two weeks.

A longtime fixture at the Mayflower Hotel, Smith resigned his position as general manager in December as the hotel was about to go into receivership.

'I could not have been treated any better by the people of Plymouth; that's my greatest loss,' Smith said. "It was a sad thing for me to leave the hotel, over half of my life was spent there.

"I was at the point that I felt I did everything I could do," he said. "I had invested all I could financially and time-wise and was in an environment with the other partners where it was in my best interest to depart.'

Smith and Mayflower founder Ralph Lorenz' sons Randy and Scott were partners in the hotel, with Randy and Scott holding 40 percent shares each and Smith 20

"They still had interests across the street which I didn't have," Smith added.

While the partnership didn't work out, Smith is quick to point out that Scott and Randy Lorenz were his best friends before they formed the partnership. "I hope we can remain good friends," he

"You know, Ralph Lorenz said there are three ships always to be leery of; courtships, battleships and partnerships," Smith said.

Smith began working at the hotel in 1972. "I started by doing a little bit of everything. I started doing a food wagon in the Crow's Nest, and went on to open up the steak house with Ralph Lorenz."

How is the Botsford Inn different from the Mayflower Hotel? "The thing that was unique about the Mayflower was Ralph Lorenz," Smith said.

'We worked very closely together, he was eager to share with me the tricks of the trade so to speak, his expertise and way of handling the customer and taking the customer's position and insuring quality and consistency," Smith

"He had a unique package, good food, good atmosphere, there was no substitute for his recipe for handling his customer.

"I could not have been treated any better by the people of Plymouth; that's my greatest loss. It was a sad thing for me to leave the hotel, over half of my life was spent there."

Creon Smith

After resigning, Smith went to see Botsford Inn owner John Anhut. "He was a good friend of Ralph's for many years and a friend of mine," Smith said.

"We talked at great length, he sat down with me and worked out a deal for me that I could live with, he recognized the fact I appreciate the Inn and the history.

"It's a wonderful place that's filled with a lot of great history, it's a national historic landmark. Every inch of the place is covered in history, and I love the idea of preserving something so unique for others to enjoy. I really feel it is my mission," he said.

Built in 1836, the Inn was once owned by Henry Ford, who bought it to keep it from being torn down when Grand River was widened.

"I want to be the person to preserve it for the next 50 years,' Smith said.

Asked if he plans changes at the Botsford Inn, Smith said his main intention is to preserve the Inn's historic image

"I'm fortunate in the case where the Anhuts have preserved the image and maintained the property, what I have to do is maintain the highest standard of quality and create more visibility, they have the recipe in place for a successful inn.

He praised Anhut for being, like Ralph Lorenz, someone who wanted to create something lasting for the community.

Since leaving the Mayflower, "I have been so supported by the Plymouth and Canton people -I've received dozens and dozens of letters and phone calls from people who are concerned with what am I doing," Smith said.

"If I am going to succeed, it's because of the time I spent in Plymouth.

Large turnout anticipated in city election Tuesday

A big turnout of voters is predicted for Tuesday's election in which four city commissioners will be chosen.

Voters will also decide the fate of a city charter amendment to relax residency requirements for department heads. City clerk Linda Langmesser

Whiplash is the name lawyers give to a neck injury in which your head is suddenly thrown back to the extreme - hyperextension - and then thrust forward in recoil - hyperflexion. This motion may generate sufficient momentum to bring your chin to your chest. most common cause is a rear end car collision, though football injuries or unexpected falls down stairs can produce similar results.

If you experience whiplash, you should first check to see that you have not lost feeling in your hands or feet, and that you can move your finger and toes with no loss of coordination. If so, you can be thankful you escaped damage to your spinal cord.

However, your body is likely to react to such a sudden and punishing force. You well may develop neck ache secondary to severe neck muscle strain. The neck holds the head to the body by a series of deep, overlapping muscles, a row of ribbons starting from the spine of cervical vertebrae No. 7 and ending at the back ridge of the skull (the occiput). It is these muscles that take the brunt of the punishment in whiplash.

Recovery can take weeks to months, heat helps, traction may assist. However, resolution ention to careful posture of the head and neck at all times. No brace, medicine or form of physical therapy can equal this personal commitment to your own recovery.

MUSIC NOTES

RCA recording artists 700 Miles are excited about their Nov. 4 gig in Detroit. Not because they named their band such because it's 700 miles between Detroit and their hometown of New York. This time, they get to play a real venue — not a floating monstrosity. "It was a boat party - a booze cruise," John Carlin said. "It was the perfect ending to a grueling tour. We partied and played on the water.

Seriously though, the 700 Miles story is true. Without laying it on too thick, Detroit is our home away from home," Carlin said. They recorded their demo, which eventually became their debut for RCA, at the White Room Studios while it was still being built. "We were the first band to record at the White Room . . . We had no affilia-tion with Detroit whatsoever before that. Little did we know that Detroit would play a pivotal role in our lives." 700 Miles will play St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 4, with Big Country (yes, that Big Country).

AIDS research and the environment will benefit from the "Festival of Life" tour which visits Industry, 15 S. Saginaw, in Pontiac, on Wednesday. Nov. 3. Dog Society, The Judybats and The Inclined perform at the show co-sponsored by Greenpeace and The Body Shop. At least $1 per person plus a percentage of all net profits will be donated to both charities. For more information, call 334-1999.

Former Southfield resident Dave Stroughter of Majesty Crush has been tapped for panelist duties at the CMJ Music Marathon in New York City this week. He'll contribute his views on MTV's role in teenage sex education. The band will play CBGB in New York on Saturday, Nov. 6. They return to Detroit on Saturday, Dec. 4, to play in the Detroit Music Awards' post party at Club X at the State Theatre, 2115 Woodward, Detroit. Call 961-5451 for more information. MTV's Kennedy will host the awards.

Music magazines in the United States and abroad have all embraced David Gray's debut album "A Century Ends," on Caroline Records. Gray, he said, for the most part ignores reviews and the comparisons to Van Morrison and his idol Bob Dylan. He lets his thoughtful, almost folklike acoustic sound speak for itself. But he does have a few words about the record and his life. "It's round. The tour, it's kind of round. The world is round. It's all very reassuring," he said. Gray performs with Kirsty MacColl ("Walking Down Madison") at the Blind Pig in Ann Arbor on Thursday, Nov. 18, in an 18 and older show. For more information, call 996-8555.

Dropping former lead singer Matt Kramer is all part of Saigon Kick's grand plan. "It's our plan to keep dropping one (member) a year. Then we'll release a blank CD in honor of what could have been," said Jason, the one-name vocalist, guitarist and keyboardist for the band. Saigon Kick is now a three-piece and has released their first album with Jason on vocals called "Water," featuring the Z-Rock hit "One Step Closer."

Water" also features a new bassist Chris McLernon. Drummer Phil Varone rounds out the band which scored a hit with the ballad "Love Is on The Way." They've added two musicians to tour with them as well. Got that?

Detroit gets to 'See the Light'

■ Techno artists generally perform to taped music. With NASA's "See The Light" tour, bands like Vapourspace and Orbital hope to prove that they can move audiences with its live sound.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER

Although Detroit is frequently called 'the home of techno," the city and the rest of the country have yet to catch on to it like Europeans have.

New York rave promoter DB hopes that with this tour Americans will "see the light" and change their musical mentality.

"It's a rock 'n' roll country, babe. Everyone wants tight jeans, long hair and guitars," DB said. "In the U.K., it's the most important youth movement of the late '80s. Since 1988, it's been the number one driving force fashionwise.

Phil Hartnoll of Orbital finds Detroiters' way of thinking fascinating. "It's funny. The rest of the world wants to go to Detroit. It's sort of a mecca," he said.

DB hopes they'll change their tune when his organization NASA (Nocturnal Audio Sensory Awakening) brings the "See The Light" tour to Industry in Pontiac on Friday, Nov. 5. The show will include performances by Moby, Aphex Twin and Orbital on the main stage; Vapourspace all night in the Saroki Room; and DJ Tim from the Utah Saints spinning discs. Vendors will be selling wares like Smart Drinks, beads and other clothing.

NASA originated as a rave night at a New York City club called the Shelter. Earlier this year, the morning after its one-year anniversary, it closed because the landlord hadn't paid city taxes for five years. While it searches for a new home. DB made plans to bring the "eclectic" night on tour.

NASA is the only rave scene that's eclectic in musical terms. We hire five DJs for one night so there's peaks, valleys, it's very up and down all night," he said. Most of the bands play live, as opposed to the European style of performing to tapes.

"It prohibits moving around because they have to keep their fingers on the knobs" but it's a more honest approach, DB said.

Dance artist/keyboardist/DJ Moby takes playing live to new extremes. He may be strapping on his guitar for the tour to promote his new EP "Move."

"I've been playing a lot of guitar in it (his shows). There's one slow almost heavy metal version of a Joy Divison song," he said about the song "New Dawn Fades.

He admits, however, that it may confuse his fans.

"For rave kids, I don't know if they'll understand it. (But) I've been playing guitar for 18 years. I put it aside but it's been creeping back in," he added. "It feels nice to

STREET BEATS

New York's Vapourspace, a.k.a. Mark Gage, feels the pressure of playing his ambient music live but he said he's rather not fool the audience with a tape.

"In techno music, it's hard to get it (the music) to sound the way you want it (live). But there's hidden functions you can utilize (in the keyboards), especially in the older gear. You just have to read between the lines of the owner's manuals, said Gage, who adds he was "more or less discovered" by Richie Hawtin and John Aquaviva of Detroit's Plus 8 records.

Although it's tough to reproduce the sound live, Gage feels it has its advantages. For instance, if the crowd's not dancing to a particular song, he can skip on to the next one. Groups who use pre-recorded music don't have that advantage.

"When you do a live show, you can move along. You're not a slave to any particularly length of a song,' he said. "Plus, one tweak of a knob can send a crowd into La La land."

As the tour DJ, Tim of the Utah Saints hopes to keep that reeling going between the acts. He's using the tour to perfect his DJ skills (he DJs at a club in Leeds, England) and to maintain the popularity of his band which will release an album in June.

"I'm doing it to tie the name over so nobody forgets us," he said. 'When we release our album, I don't want them to say, 'The Utah Saints. Hmmm. Oh yeah, I remember them.'

"DJ is my first love anyway." Since its inception, NASA has continued to push for the betterment of members of the so-called Generation X, DB said. It regularly donates proceeds to organizations like Greenpeace, holds food drives, and urges young adults to vote.

Its rave history has also been successful. NASA influenced the nation's first rave tour with Moby and Prodigy by designing the flier and production. It continued its heavy influence by throwing Brazil's first rave/dance parties which attracted more than 3,000 people.

Technically the "See The Light" tour has all the makings for a regular concert tour. On the tour posters, however, DB warns people not to expect the usual concert format. He said it's an interactive dance experience with the talent and audience thriving off each other's energy. 'If you expect to be entertained (by just standing around), you'll be

He realizes that it may be tough to win over U.S. audiences.

The revolving-door band lineup actually leaves Kramer at ease. "Constant confusion lends itself to stability," he said. OK. The band performs at Harpo's, 14238 Harper, Detroit, on Saturday, Nov. 6. Doors open at 9 p.m. Tickets are $10 in advance.

The Music Menu: A CD Cafe in Greektown is now playing strictly local music every Wednesday night. At the cafe, servers offer patrons a "music menu" along with a regular menu from which they order the songs they would like to hear for 25 cents. Local bands can drop off their CDs at the cafe or mail it to: Gordon Novak, owner, 511 Monroe St., Detroit, MI 48202. Other specials at the cafe include Grateful Dead night every Sunday and jazz night every Tuesday. For more information, call 964-MENU.

Although Candlebox was one of the first bands signed to Madonna's Maverick records, they actually haven't had the pleasure of meeting the pop star. "I've talked to her on the phone. That's about it," said singer Kevin Martin.

She and the rest of her staff have been tremendously supportive, however. "I think it's the best marriage between a band and its label. We really thought it (the contract) out totally," he said.

Martin was going to try to catch her New York show, but logistically it didn't work out. Instead, the band jumped on the Living Colour tour which recently passed through Ann Arbor. They also recently played St. Andrew's Hall during its headlining tour in support of its debut self-titled album

"Detroit was a blast. Michigan is definitely a very rockin' state. We were so psyched to be there."

Troubled by his own childhood in violent northern Ireland, Ali McMordle of the Belfast, Ireland, band Stiff Little Fingers joined with Robert Hamilton of the Dublin band The Fat Lady Sings to create "Peace Together." The music industry can be used to address various issues, McMordle said. "This provided a voice to protest the situation making the point that children are the ultimate victims. No one's ever addressed the psychological issues of children growing up in violent situations." The CD fea-tures songs by U2 and Lou Reed, Therapy? and My Bloody Valentine. The money from the CD goes toward organizations which try to help children grow up without bigotry and depression as a major issue. "This," McMordle said, "is only a drop in the ocean.

Doing a fashion layout in Rolling Stone magazine was the last thing Buffalo Tom thought they'd be doing when East West Records took over promotions duties for their latest album "Big Red Letter Day."

"That was pretty weird," drummer Tom Maginnis said about the layout. "There was a big article so that made it cool. I was a little scared of the fashion thing at first because we're far from that in our home lives."

The band played St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit on Halloween with Bettie Serveert, Laughing Hyenas and The Verlaines.

Playing with Tears for Fears every night gives Roger of Jelly-fish a chance to see one of his idols every night. "I'm a fan of Roland's (Orzabal) from way back," he said about Tears for Fears's singer. "Even on his worst days I'm pleasantly surprised."

Cyporyn: I Must Be Dreaming - Krypton

Banjoist/composer Dennis Cyporyn and his outstanding quartet of mandolinist/cellist Pooh Stevenson, guitarist Dan Blatter and guitarist John De-Nomme, have one of the most challenging and exciting new acoustic music sets of the year in this self-produced cassette. That they are a local outfit makes it the more interesting a listen.

Augmented by bluegrass legend Roy Huskey Jr. on bass, former Tony Rice fiddler Fred Carpenter and guitar/ukelele player Dave Romeo, the disc shines throughout.

I'm not particularly fond of the numbers that add drummer Jim Dant, simply because the pieces turn into schmaltzy cliches with the conspicuous rhythm. The rest of the program, though, is as enjoyable as most anything I've heard yet this year.

Though Bela Fleck's adventuresome banjo playing is as close as an exact comparison comes, Cyporyn also has an element of French jazz violinist Jean-Luc Ponty about his sound.

The jazz-grass mix is a winner on tape, but the word is that this is a band to be seen live at any opportunity. As it turns out, an opportunity arises on Nov. 5, when the quartet performs at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus. A 4:30-5:30 p.m. composing/theory, recording, marketing and performance workshop will be followed by a 5-string banjo basics, scales, arpeggios and chords workshop 5:30-6 p.m. Finally, at 8 p.m., the band plays a concert at the Smith Theatre.

For more information, either on the show or regarding the purchase of the cassette, call 471-and the band Stonehead. Murdock has also applied his talents to corporate IDs, signs, packaging, desktop publishing and computer graphics. They are buying a print shop in Livonia.

After just a few months of business, Psycho Propz is edging in on the competition. T-shirts have been seen at high-profile shows, such as X-Fest at the Phoenix Plaza Ampthitheatre in Pontiac in early September and at the Alice in Chains and Rage Against the Machine shows at the State Theatre in Detroit.

Stores, such as Incognito and Cinderella's Attic, both in Royal Oak, along with Rock of Ages in Garden City, Changes in Birmingham and Surf's Up in Keego Harbor, have put enough faith into Psycho Propz clothing that they carry the items. The clothing, priced between $15-$35, can be ordered through their catalog.

Although the designs vary slightly, the Psycho Propz line of clothing centers mostly on Murdock's trademark skull.

"Kevin's always been into skulls." Cabrera said.

It reflects Murdock's love of industrial music, but his talents aren't limited to it. Formerly, a graphic artist for an advertising firm, Murdock's also has helped design print ads for cars. Using his wide range of experiences, Murdock is able to apply his skills to a wide range of clients.

"The skull is not the focus of every single design. We have 20 or more shirts," Murdock said.

"I didn't want it to be the only thing focused on."

The two men plan to update the line every few months so that their customers don't get bored with the items.

"We want to keep things fresh and new with different designs," Cabrera said.

That's one of the big differences between their shirts and the onslaught of rave T-shirts being marketed by other designers.

"Our stuff is completely different than rave stuff. That stuff dies out quickly," Cabrera said.

Aside from the quality of the shirts, the men pride themselves on the way they their buyers. They don't expect retail stores to come battering down their door to carry their clothing. Instead, Cabrera spends his days traveling to stores promoting Psycho Propz. This is particularly appealing to busy store owners.

"They never have to leave the store. They tell me what they want, and I come back with six or seven drawings of different variations," Cabrera said.

No matter what the variation, the clothing is always made of quality material.

"We could have definitely gone the cheap way out. But quality definitely reigns overall," he said.

For more information about Psycho Propz apparel, call or write Psycho EFX, 33523 Eight Mile, Building A-3, Suite 242, Livonia, MI 48152; 405-6035.

Vincent Price made more than horror

BY JOHN MONAGHAN SPECIAL WRITER

When I heard that Vincent Price had died at the age of 82 last week, I found consolation not in one of his many creepy roles but in an offbeat little comedy thriller called "His Kind of Woman."

The 1951 movie officially stars Robert Mitchum and Jane Russell, but Price steals the show as a hammy Fairbanks-type movie actor who becomes a real-life hero by film's end. I like the movie because it shows Price in one of the many character roles that preceded his title as "The King of Horror."

Although tall and handsome, with an ever-present mustache, Price was never what you'd call a classic leading man type. Fortunately, the movies were able to capitalize on the sense of humor and refined edge that director Roger Corman once said "gave an air of distinction to whatever film he was in."

Price was always anxious to note that just 20 of the 110 movies that he made between 1938 and 1990 were horror titles. Early on he had important roles in film noir mysteries such as "Laura" and "The Web" and a starring shot in the Samuel Fuller western "The Baron of Arizona," which remained one of his favorites.

In 1952, his career changed forever with "House of Wax," the 3-D masterpiece about a disfigured sculptor who sought revenge by encasing dead bodies in wax. From here on he lent his name to a long string of horror films, some classics, many rotten.

In one of the decade's most popular chillers, "The Fly," he actually had the supporting role, leaving the gooey transformations to hapless Al Hedison. He was present for the famed "Help me!" scene where the tiny fly with a man's head begs for euthanasia.

He starred in two William Castle gimmick-fests, "The Tingler" and "House on Haunted Hill." In the first he found a secret centipedal monster that attaches to your spine when you're scared to death. The latter found Price pushing his unfaithful wife into a pool of acid, only to have her return in skeleton form.

He collected his best reviews for the series of Edgar Allan Poe films directed by Roger Corman, especially "The Masque of the Red Death," where he played Satan-worshipping Prince Prospero. The most entertaining of the Poes was "The Raven," a horror spoof climaxed by Price's wizard battle against Boris Karloff.

His most underrated film remains "The Last Man on Earth," an Italian-made version of Richard Matheson's novel "I Am Legend." An incredibly low budget along with disorienting Italian locales only helped the story of the title character, who does nightly battle with the walking dead.

Price, now a full-fledged star, made most of his remaining movies in Europe. His last great one was 1973's "Theatre of Blood," where he played a Shakespearean actor who kills his less-than-adoring critics with methods devised by the Bard himself. Michael Weldon, author of "The Psychotronic Encyclopedia of Film," wrote "Vincent Price's whole career is a preparation for this wonderful gory revenge comedy."

Off-screen Price was also widely known as an art collector and gourmet food connoisseur. He wrote a handful of books on both subjects, served as art buyer for the Sears Roebuck & Co., and even had a disastrous stint on a television cooking show.

Although seen surprisingly little on screen in the last 20 years, Price has remained in the public consciousness. This is thanks in part to his spooky readings on Michael Jackson "Thriller" album and as the grandfatherly scientist in "Edward Scissorhands," the Tim Burton fantasy that served as a fitting swan song.

Not always the most careful when it came to choosing film roles (neither was Olivier), Price nevertheless remains one of unforgettable personalities of the movies. This year Halloween just wasn't the same without him.

Robert Altman has taken some eight short stories by Raymond Carver and woven them together into an ambitious three-hour film. Too bad these people, played by Tom Waits, Lily Tomlin and Tim Robbins just to name a few, aren't all that interesting.

"Orlando" (Britain — 1992). Virginia Woolf's gender-bending novel follows a the title character who lives for 400 years, first as a man and then as a woman. The often ponderous story is compensated by individual scenes of inspired beauty.

"Baraka" (USA — 1993). A global journey which swoops and soars across 24 countries, backed by an evocative musical score.

"Monty Python's Life of Brian" (Britain — 1979), 9 p.m. Nov. 1. The British comedy troupe takes on religious epics with this satire about a man whose life parallels that of Christ. Religious groups were in a furor when the film was first released, but in its own way, "Brian" is really quite reverant.

'Masala' serves up spicy story of color

BY LEANNE ROGERS STAFF WRITER

Racial and cultural prejudice is an affliction that isn't divided between whites and blacks. People of color can have their own prejudices against other people of color and within their own culture based on skin. Those are some of issues examined in the 1992 film "Mississippi Masala" which also ponders the question of what makes a place home.

Arriving in America as a child, Mina, played by Sarita Choudhury, is a very Americanized Indian woman living in Mississippi. Her family, which is supported by a party store operated by her mother, was forced to leave their home in Uganda after dictator Idi Amin dreamed all Asians had to Mina is bickering with her aunt while driving and rear ends a truck. The other driver is Demetrius, played by Denzel Washington, who has a carpet cleaning business. "Your Dirt Is Our Bread and Butter" is his motto. Members of the extended family, who own a motel and are big clients of the cleaning service, jump into action to smooth over the accident in hopes of avoiding a lawsuit.

Mina and Demetrious meet up again at a nightclub and hit it off. After some hesitation on his part, the couple start spending time together. When they start 'dating, they cause an uproar among family and friends on both sides. Mina's family doesn't like her dating a black man and Demetrious may be trying to make an old girlfriend jealous. Her indignant family could also ruin his business.

■ The romance is central to the film but the subplot is also memorable.

'The romance is central to the film but the subplot is also memorable. Mina's attorney father, played by Roshan Seth, is an almost tragic figure as he bitterly files lawsuits against the Uganadan government to recover what he lost when forced to leave his home with a few suitcases. It's a psychic wound he can't heal. Despite being born in Uganda and representing black clients, he notes that in the end it all came down to skin color.

Color is also important within the Indian community in a telling scene where guests at a wedding don't give Mina much of a chance to make good marriage. You can be light-skinned and poor or dark-skinned with money but not dark and without money.

Chowdhury and Washington are both very good in a film that shows the sometimes rough road to finding where you belong in life. Mira Nair directs the picture with a steady hand and a good amount of spice.

"Mississippi Masala" is availuble on tape at local video stores. If you have a question or comment, call LeAnne Rogers at 953-2103 or write her at The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Home improvement store celebrates Livonia opening

BY MARY RODRIQUE STAFF WRITER

Amid balloons and banners, Home Quarters Warehouse opened in Livonia on Thursday, touting itself as the fastest growing home improvement chain in the nation.

Anchored in a 130,000-squarefoot facility on the northeast corner of Middlebelt and Schoolcraft, HQ offers consumers 40,000 different home improvement items. Besides an extensive inventory, HQ services include doit-yourself clinics, an on-site child care area called Kids Quarters, and a contractor's desk for professional and commercial cus-

Stores in Roseville, Madison Heights and Southgate opened simultaneously. In Livonia, just about every parking space was filled in the massive lot which abuts the Detroit Race Course property. A constant stream of shoppers filtered in and out of the warehouse

'I like it. The workers are friendly. I got a great price on a miter box," said Tim Szerszen as he headed back to his car. The Garden City man said he does home improvement work for a liv-

Dee MacKenzie, pushing a cart to her car, stopped before visiting her father living nearby.

'I bought a lamp today. But the Oriental rugs are gorgeous," she

Inside the building, Mike McCormick, paint manager, said it took six weeks to get his area up and running. There's a computerized paint mixer, a computer bank to help customers search for the right color, even a light display center which allows customers to hold paint chips under different types of lights to gauge what the color will look like at home.

Each area is marked by a huge banner: tile, kitchen, vanities, baths, plumbing, wall coverings, paint, windows, storm doors, moulding and plumbing. Every-where, the HQ official green color is prominent. All 300 workers, including managers, are dressed in green T-shirts or sweatshirts, some with matching baseball caps. Aisles are wide, lighting is bright, and help is everywhere.

This is our work staff. We won't let them go after the opening," said Greg Young, general store manager, who moved to Michigan from Cincinnati for the assignment. "I'm tremendously pleased with the staff. They've all had training, managers in St. Louis and everyone in Virginia

Founded in Virginia Beach, Va., in 1985, the chain now operates 52 home improvement warehouses primarily in the south and east. A warehouse opened in Little Rock, Ark., in addition to the metro Detroit openings on Thursday.

"We've been advancing into the Midwest and we found the metro Detroit area most attractive.' said Frank Doczi, company presi-

"There are 4.5 million people here, good housing, people who care about their properties, a great work force, and real estate sites available

We were thrilled with the reception today," added Doczi, who presided over a board cutting ceremony in the Livonia store, while surrounded by local politicians, HQ staff and curious customers.

We're going to be opening four to six more warehouses in the metro area over the next few years. Also 10 stores are planned for out-state.

'We looked at the whole metro area and found Livonia to be an important place to locate because of the road patterns. Our goal is to be as convenient as possible."

Pauline Millichamp of the Michigan Jobs Commission office said HQ's arrival creates 1,200 new jobs in the state.

'It's going to create many additional jobs for the city," said David Palmer, Livonia Chamber of Commerce president. "We feel honored such a large company recognized our city."

Livonia Mayor Bob Bennett was also on hand for the festivi-

"It's certainly huge. If you can't find it here, you won't find it anywhere." he said. "It represents a nice addition to our tax base. Also, this corner has been wanting for many years.'

City clerk Joan McCotter and Livonia councilmen Dale Jurcisin and Fernon Feenstra were also

POINTS OF VIEW

Educate all our kids, not just the privileged ast week, as his three intended killers came in the front door, I smuggled a student out a back exit of the adult high school on 7630 Harper Avenue at Van Dyke where I'm developing a counseling program. He had sold this revenge-bent trio of fellow students some adulterated (diluted) drugs — not a good idea in the inner heart of Detroit, where young men are routinely murdered for far lesser offenses

As I drove him fast down a glassstrewn alley and away from the battered old school toward safe transfer to a night school, I warned him to stay far away from Harper and Van Dyke indefinitely, day or night. This is a corner where a methadone clinic looms, drug deals go down in the street in broad daylight, and gunfire, sidewalk gambling, narcotics use and other illegalities proliferate in plain sight. Driving back to my office after dropping him off, I anguished for the thousandth time over what we in Michigan have stood by and allowed to happen to our young people's future—not only with regard to our inner-city public-school populations, but to public-school students in general. Politicians and bureaucrats drone interminably about tuition and transportation vouchers and "empowered" schools and privatized management and "remaking our educational system."

The real question remains: How willing are we to try to educate all of our children, rather than the privileged 33 percent we've been fully educating thus far? To successfully educate everyone for a linguistically and technologically demanding future, we must restore the $6 billion, which was recently robbed from the state's schools — "rich" and poor alike. We also must extract considerably more from the taxpaying public and allocate it to the needlest districts.

When my staff designed a high school "alternative center for education" (which I christened "ACE") in Rochester, I poured hundreds of thousands of "extra" dollars into it. Conversely, ghetto "alternative centers" usually get less — not more — of their own district's money. And these districts themselves have already been shortchanged in light of most of their students' desperate needs.

Meanwhile, professional athletics, pop music and other kinds of opiate have become the priorities of too many Americans. In ancient Rome, the idle and besotted rich called similar palliative pastimes "bread and circuses." These were designed to appease an equally idle and drunken proletariat. You'll recall what happened to Rome soon thereafter. George Santayana warned that those who can't learn from the past are condemned to repeat it.

The expensive bread-and-circus cycle can be broken, but only if we as a state and a nation demonstrate the will to do it. After restoring every cent of the $6 billion (via the income tax) and then taxing ourselves yet further (via the sales tax) for additional money to distribute to the needlest districts, our next step should be to ensure that every district maintain measurable and reasonable outcomes students must attain to advance from grade to grade. Services Plymout Schrade Burial w tery, Liv He wa

A concomitant step is to eradicate the drug trade. (In other columns, I have outlined ways to do this.) Then and only then will millions of young men like my back-alley passenger and his pursuers stay alive, sober, and out of jail or off the dole. Thus they'll become job-holding contributants to the legal economy and bolster your social security — instead of threatening it and your life and the very survival of our republic.

John Telford, a Rochester Hills resident, was an assistant superintendent in the Rochester School District. He previously was executive director for secondary education in the Plymouth Canton district.

State humane society should go back to the dogs

"People feel very intimidated by someone dressed in camouflage, wearing face paint and holding a weapon in their hands. To dismiss that out-ofhand is ignoring reality."

—Gary Tiscornia, executive director Michigan Humane Society, speaking in a Detroit daily newspaper kay pal. If that's the way the Humane Society looks at the world, you won't get any more of my money. I'll be checking to see if the United Way donates any to you guys, and if it does, I'll deep six my donation card and put the money in the Salvation Army kettle.

I'd even rather give my money to my local anti-hunting friend Mike Chiado, even though he spends an occasional weekend harassing hunters. Chiado, of Plymouth, makes intelligent arguments against hunting. He's fun to talk to.

The reason for this is that the comment from the Humane Society goes past purely being anti-hunting and gets into the politically correct new thinking that's as dangerous as the propaganda spread by the Nazis.

The guy from the Humane Society is basically setting up the ground work to start a hate campaign against people who wear camouflage. Any similarities to Germany in the 1930s are welcome.

It's interesting to note that Hitler was a vegetarian and an anti-hunter who called beef soup carcass tea.

As a hunter and fisherman, I don't mind people taking aim at my activities because they object to them on a moral basis. However, the Humane Society crossed the Mason-Dixon line and is becoming like the old KKK by trying to create the stereotype of a hunter as a person who wears camou-

If we transferred such a description to any ethnic or racial group, we would have headlines the size of a rack on a 12-point buck and more suits than a New York law firm. And for good reason. A hate campaign turns to violence at some point.

Also, the Humane Society's implication that a camouflage-wearing, guncarrying hunter is "intimidating" ignores reality.

The chance of getting shot by a stranger is higher when driving on a Detroit area freeway than of catching a few pellets from a shotgun fired in the sky by a duck hunter. In other words, that little old lady driving the economy car next to you on the Jeffries Freeway probably has a .357 magnum under her seat and is ready to use it. Hunters, on the other hand, are more interested in mallards than motorists.

But it's easier for the Humane Society to pass off the big lie about hunting than to accept the truth. The first step in the big lie as the Nazis practiced it was to stereotype a group of people. That then leads to banning their activities and eventually to turning them into criminals who must be jailed.

It's time for the Humane Society to go back to worrying about dogs and cats. They're on much firmer ground in that area. Once you start trying to censor the way people dress and in which activities they engage, you may just as well start wearing a brown shirt and marching with the skin heads.

Burley resigns from S'craft board

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

Citing personal reasons, Michael Burley of Canton Township resigned Wednesday from the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees.

"I regret that it is necessary for me to resign," he wrote. "I am confident you will continue to do the right things necessary to make Schoolcraft College an exemplary institution. Thanks to all of you at Schoolcraft College for making my tenure interesting and for the most part enjoyable."

Burley, 53, was elected to the board in 1979 and re-elected in 1985 and 1991. Only trustee Harry Greenleaf has been on the board longer (since 1977).

Burley said he plans to sell his house and work on the campaign of Plymouth resident Carl Pursell who is seeking the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate.

"I'm sad to see him Greenleaf said at Wednesday's regular meeting.

"I too am very sorry to see Mike resign," said board chairman Steve Ragan, a Plymouth resi-

"It's going to be a real loss," said trustee Patricia Watson. 'We're really going to miss him.'

Burley's resignation isn't effective until Jan. 26, 1994, making the process of naming a successor more difficult, said trustee Mary Breen of Plymouth Township.

"Mr. Burley has not done us any favors by waiting until Jan. 26," she said. "He's not giving us extra time. He's just making it more difficult for us.'

Theoretically, the board could interview applicants to replace

Burley almost right away, but trustees worried about what might happen in the event that Burley returned to cast the deciding vote on his successor, or perhaps decided to withdraw his resignation. Although no one expects Burley to do this, "the theoretical argument and possibility bothers me," Ragan said.

Burley, who hasn't attended a oard meeting since June 23, said Friday that he chose the far off resignation date to be helpful. "I did that to help the board and also help any candidate coming in," he said. "I thought it was unfair to resign (immediately) so they would have to go through the process of finding someone in 30 days (as required by law)."

The board decided to accept applications for the appointment

lected applicants, then make the appointment sometime in Febu-

Burley was well thought of by the other trustees, leading Ragan to lament at the end of the meeting that someone else would have to make a motion for adjournment, a task Burley usually handled.

Later, Ragan called Burley "one of the kindest, most generous people I know. In many ways it's a thankless job (being on Schoolcraft's board) and Mike did it for a long time."

Schoolcraft President Richard McDowell praised Burley, too. 'He brought a lot of educational expertise to the board," McDowell said. "He understood the classroom and what we're trying to do

Doctor canned broth to make homey soup his has been a week to beat all weeks. Between getting the Janes Gang ready for Halloween, speaking engagements, cooking classes and orthodontic visits, I still found time to clean gutters, rake leaves, winterize the trailer and figure out the nutritional program on my com-

My brain was zapped, my body weak, and the cupboards bare. We ate boiled hot dogs, instant rice and canned corn for dinner.

This morning we ran out of coffee. Seldom have I ever thrown an overcoat over wrinkled pajamas and headed for the store, but I needed caffeine to complete a list of things that had to be done.

I don't know what came over me. Maybe it was the lack of caffeine, maybe it was my sore back from raking leaves, but fate led me to the soup aisle. Pausing for a moment, I thought soup would be a nurturing addition to dinner.

Closing my eyes for a moment, I took a deep breath and reminisced about smells that permeate the house when I make soup.

There could be no homemade soup today because of everything that had to get accomplished. While pushing the shopping cart, I almost ran into one of those annoying stacks of cans protruding in My local grocer was running a promotion on canned chicken stock, and I came pretty close to knocking the whole thing down.

Pausing for a second, my mind immediately transformed me back to Wyandotte, circa 1962. It was like I was standing there in the shadows, like a ghost, observing momma make her much acclaimed noodle soup. But were my eyes deceiving me?

Here was the dovenne of homemade food, the Mrs. Smith of Pies, and June Cleaver of mashed potatoes, holding a jumbo can of chicken broth.

With her hair still tightly rolled in spoolies to look good for tonight's novena at church, I watched poured two jumbo cans of broth into her Farberware Dutch oven.

She took a wooden match from her apron pocket and lit the burner, turning the knob so that fire was almost jumping up the sides of the pot. She opened up the spice cabinet I had made her in shop class and plucked three tin cans from the shelf.

The first was pepper, pure and ground. In 1962 I don't think anyone used a pepper mill did they? The second was a half handful of dried parsley and the third held a strange scented, muted green dried leaf that would later be identified as just "bay. In they went, with a quick stir from a wooden spoon, and then covered with a lid that was far too big. I looked at the old cuckoo clock above the archway separating the kitchen from the dining area and noticed that dad would be home from the day shift at McLouth Steel in a matter of minutes.

It was then I noticed momma on her hands and knees, searching one of the bottom cupboards for what was a large bag of egg noodles. These were the basic pseudo-egg noodles and certainly not the ones that hailed from the fancy-schmansy Italian grocer from Oak street. The lid from the pot was removed, not with a pot holder but with the bottom of her flower imprinted apron and the fire was lowered to nary a simmer. In went the noodles and at the same moment, in came my dad - "Wash up honey, dinner will be ready in 5 minutes" was all I remember, but how could she do It?

I observed her yanking a head of plain iceberg lettuce from the refrigerator crisper and she whacked into sixes with her favorite machete-looking knife. A crisp wedge was plopped on one of those blue painted plates that A&P used to give away. The naked lettuce was topped with a big dollop of Miracle Whip and wisked to the table.

With the soup simmering away, the loaf of Wonder bread was plucked from the tin bread keeper knifed with some oleo margarine that was forever a part of the kitchen table, sprinkled with some Lawry's garlic powder and popped on the broiler rack for a quick toasting.

In five minutes, the kids were beckoned, dad was waiting and dinner was ready. It tasted like momma had slaved over a hot stove all day long.

There is a difference between homemade and canned stock. Institutional soup bases are even more convenient, but when time is as short as the list is as long, nothing nurtures, nothing warms, nothing satisfies and nothing tastes as good as a pot of good soup. Makes some today! See Larry Janes' family-tested recipes inside. To leave a message for Chef Larry, dial 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then mailbox number 1886.

acquired the recipe after learning her daughter had diabetes. It has become a family favorite.

families make diet changes for health of it

There's no such thing as a diabetic diet. Cooking for a person with diabetes just means preparing nutritious foods - the type of meals everyone should be eating. Meet some families who have made some healthy adjustments to keep diabetes under control.

SPECIAL WRITER

When Ann Nordloh of Beverly Hills learned her 8-year-old daughter Catherine had diabetes, she was devastated. She not only worried about how this disease would change her daughter's life, but she was concerned how the rest of the family - her husband and three sons - would adjust to a new way of eating.

"Immediately after the diagnosis, while my daughter was still in the hospital. I attended the required classes to learn how to balance food and insulin to keep the diabetes under control," said Nordloh. "I discovered that some foods, especially those containing high fats and sugars, were poison to Catherine's system, and that I would have to change my way of cooking. I learned that I could no longer turn to canned, boxed and fast foods all staples of a busy homemaker."

According to Ann, her first trip to the grocery store after completing the classes was a nightmare. "I had to read everything to see if the item contained sugar, salt and/or a high amount of fat," she said. "It took three hours to shop for groceries for a week, compared to my normal 45 minutes. I taught my 5-year-old son Michael how to read the words 'palm oil' so he could help me.'

That was six years ago, and now everyone in the Nordloh household has adjusted to Catherine's required food plan. "We all are eating healthy and well," Nordloh said.

"Many of the recipes I acquired specifically for Catherine have become favorites of the whole family. One in particular, an angel food cake with low-fat frozen yogurt, is our traditional birthday cake. I would have never imagined that I would have children who would choose low-fat y gurt over chocolate.'

Kathy Koval of Southfield said her family of six is also eating healthy, in part, because of her husband Mike's diabetes. "When we first learned about my husband's diabetes six years ago, I thought all of us would have to eat a bland, boring diet since I didn't want to cook two different meals a night," she said. "Amazingly, the children never noticed a difference because the food choices my husband was allowed were similar to what we had been eating. About the only difference was that we began to eat more of the healthier foods.

"Also, in the beginning I felt that I needed to wear measuring cups on my belt. All I ever did was measure and weigh, measure and weigh. Now I can eyeball proportions so cooking for my husband's special needs is no longer a big deal.' According to Koval, another change was that her food bill went up $70 to $80 a week. "I have to buy the are lower in fat," she said. Tracy Keller of Farmington Hills agrees that cooking for a person with diabetes just means preparing healthy meals - the type of meals everyone should be eating. "And it means eating on a regular schedule at set times to keep sugar levels in check.

"There's no such thing as a diabetic diet with special diabetic food. It's just the proper selection of healthy foods," she said. Tracy should know! Both she and her husband, Bill, were diagnosed with diabetes at the age of 9. The couple met at the American Diabetes Association, Michigan Affiliate summer camp when both were 16

Call it coincidence or just luck, but this is a partnership made in heaven. They even share the same birthday, one year apart.

Graduates of Schoolcraft College's culinary arts program in Livonia, Ambrose and Lewton believe it's important to give something back to your community.

They participate in numerous charity events, and recently worked on a cookbook "Women Cook For A Cause," to beneft the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center Scholarship Fund. The cookbook was published in conjunction with a benefit dinner held on Oct. 24, but copies are still

Two of the 50 distinctive recipes in the cookbook are theirs, and Lewton helped test them with chefs Mary Brady and Denise Caudry. Lewton and Brady also styled the photos in the book something clicked. Ambrose and Lewton said they always knew they wanted to work in the culinary arts field, dreamed of owning a business, but the paths they took to get to where they are today are quite different.

Ambrose, 30, grew up in Bloomfield Hills and earned a degree in hotel restaurant and institutional management from Michigan State University.

The Kellers have two daughters, Anne, 13, and Sarah, 11, who grew up eating sweets and treats like normal children. "Although my husband and I have diabetes, the girls haven't eaten any differently than their friends, maybe just healthier," Tracy Keller said.

She said she takes popular foods and adjusts the recipes so that she and her husband can enjoy them with their girls. For example, for tacos she dses lean ground turkey, lettuce, tomatoes and low-fat cheddar cheese wrapped in soft tortilla shells.

Another popular family treat is low-fat frozen yogurt in between two sugar-free cookies. "There are many good snack foods, including sugar-free sweets and desserts, that we can eat. These same snacks are good for everyone. All that living with diabetes requires is Learning to make the correct

"The Kellers' award is a nice honor for our state," said Dave Buck, chairman of the ADA, Michigan Affiliate. November is National Diabetes Month, and a good time to learn about this disease that affects thousands each

To launch the month, a recreation of the First Thanksgiving will be presented 6 p.m. Friday, Nevember 5, at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth. Tickets are $30 per person, call 453-5375.

"Most everything on the menu can be enjoyed by everyone, including those with diabetes," Buck said.

Buck, a Plymouth resident who has had diabetes for 18 years, said a major aim of the ADA this year is to educate the general public on the use of the term "diabetic."

"We prefer to be known as individuals with diabetes and not as 'diabetics.' We consider this term to be negative and on the same level as the words 'alcoholic' and 'addict.

"We want to be accepted as 'normal' individuals who just happen to have a disease. We don't want to be set apart," he

His wife, Priscilla, added that she has always prepared "normal" food for her husband and family, although she stays away from sauces, gravy and frying.

"My first job was making sandwiches at a grocery store," she said. "I've always loved to cook." At 25 she reached a turning point - "I was working at a hotel in Puerto Rico and I asked myself 'what am I going to do? I was always happiest in the kitchen.' She came home, worked a year as a catering supervisor at Zingerman's Deli in Ann Arbor, enrolled in Schoolcraft's Culinary Arts

"We use fresh foods that are readily available, cooked the natural way," said Lewton. "We cook very nutritionally and sautee foods quick with a little olive oil."

What's on the horizon? Both women said they want to open a shop that would offer foods to go, catering and cooking classes. "We want to be consultants to help people with their parties," said Ambrose and Lewton. "We want to offer guidance about how much food to buy, to help people help themselves. Do you have some cooking tips to share? Both chefs encourage home cooks to view cookbooks as a base of ideas. "People get too locked in," said Lewton. "Recipes are guidelines. Use your own taste and originality. People are afraid of cooking, don't be.

Where do you get your ideas from?

Lewton and Ambrose say they eat out once a week to see what's cooking in the community. "We're constantly educating ourselves," they said. "We get all kinds of magazines. Cooking is a continual growth process.'

How do you stuff your stuffing?

We want to know what's -The Stuff Good Stuffing Is Made Of' for Thanksgiving. Enter our stuffing contest and you could win one of three prizes - a 20-25 pound fresh turkey from Roperti Turkey Farms in Livonia, a $25 gift certificate from Kitchen Glamor, or the newly published "365 Ways to Prepare For Christmas" by David E. Monn.

We're on the lookout for the best stuffing recipe to share with our readers on Nov. 22.

All recipes must be original in nature. All entries must be submitted in typed or handwrittten form and be postmarked no later than 5 p.m. Monday, Nov. 8, for entry into the contest. Include a day time phone number with your entry, and a brief history of the stuffing recipe - it was grandma's recipe, it's been a family favorite for years — you get the idea.

Three finalists will be chosen from all the entries selected. Chef Larry Janes will choose the finalists based on recipe creativity, ingredients, and ease of preparation. The three finalists will be notified no later than 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Finalists will be asked to prepare a single recipe of their stuffing for the judges to Taste.

Send recipes to: Keely Wygonik, Taste/Entertainment Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Inc., 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150 or fax recipes to 591-7279. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to call Wygonik. 953-2105 or Chef Larry Janes, 953-2045, mail box 1886.

CATHERINE'S BIRTHDAY CAKE

I box angel food cake mix (Duncan Hines)

2 packages Dream Whip topping mix

1 16-ounce tub Cool Whip 2 pints frozen yogurt (the flavor of your choice)

Food coloring and sugar-free sprinkles (optional)

Prepare cake mix as directed. Let cool. Remove yogurt from freezer to soften. Cut cake into thirds horizontally. Turn top third of cake upside down on plate (make sure plate fits into freezer).

Spread one pint of yogurt on top of this layer. Top with another third of cake. Spread other pint of yogurt on this layer. Top with remaining cake, then place in freezer immedi-

Whip the topping mix and combine with ready-made whipped topping. Add food coloring, if desired. Remove the cake from freezer and frost quickly (yogurt is fast melting) Add sprinkles if desired.

Return to freezer for 20 to 30 minutes. If cake is to be kept in the freezer for a longer period, "tent" cake with toothpicks and plastic wrap Serves 12.

Explore the West by native art

'm always on the lookout for unusual multicultural gift ideas, those eye-catching, handcrafted treasures that define trends and turn yesterday's fads into today's must-have collectibles. This week, I scouted two special shops for wonderful ethnic designs - Native West in Plymouth and Que Pasa in Birmingham.

Native American adornment is enjoying renewed popularity and its appeal is wide-ranging. The explanation for this burgeoning market is simple: Indian crafts are devoted to good luck, spirituality and a oneness with nature.

This earthy vitality radiates from small Navaio silver jewelry pieces called Rock Kritters, available exclusively at Native West, 863 W. Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth. The rings, pendants, pins and earrings are interpretations of ancient pictographs found in the cave dwellings of the Southwest.

Each animated Kritter is handcrafted and inlaid with semiprecious stones, and each comes with an explanation of its symbolism. Snooks, for example, is the baby flute player who brings protection to all of Mother Earth's little ones. Macho Man is the strongest and possesses the greatest physical power among men of his clan. Prices range from $25-$480. Native West gallery exhibits ing Acoma, Santa Clara, Navajo and Jemez pottery. Here you can see the works of world famous potter, Maria of the San Ildefonso Pueblo. Owner Annette Horn sents finely detailed sandpaintings by Navajo artists Chester Begay and Alberta Tsosie on Nov. 6 and 7. They will demonstrate their artform in the shop. Also featured are handwoven rugs, fetishes, kachinas and pine furniture. Cherokee artist Bill Rabbit will make a special appearance at the store's Holiday Art and Jewelry Festival Dec. 10-12. Beth Stewart, from the Plymouth Historical Museum, stopped by to admire the Indian pottery and couldn't resist a pair of delicate silver earrings. "I love silver jewelry," she confessed.

Happy shopping

Be assured that when you visit Native Nest you will cross the threshold with good feelings and thoughts. The shop accepts those who are pure of heart, mind and soul, as it has been blessed by Deacon Edwin Poulin, a Native American Sun-

For colorful hand painted ceramics, woven textiles and wooden folk art from Mexico, visit the newly opened Que Pasa, 151 S. Bates in Birmingham. The vibrant and eclectic window displays Huichol Indian art, including hollowed gourds beaded in intricate designs. The beads are dipped in beeswax and applied to the gourd's surface with porcupine needles. Also seen in the window are ceremonial masks, etched gourds and native stone jewelry. Nillie Strong opened her shop after vacationing with her family in Mexico and falling in love with the native crafts. She has scoured the countryside for the finest examples of Mexican artforms, and her shop echoes their lively spirit, a fiesta for the eves

Holiday gift giving is a cinch when you can choose from handpainted ceramic pitchers, bowls and vases that depict fanciful fish, flowers, fruit and people; or pre-Columbian clay artifacts; metal, ceramic and leather floor sculptures; Baja jackets and blankets; and beaded ornaments. Worry dolls, friendship bracelets and noisemakers are ideal stocking stuffers.

Catalogs are their business

■ Catalogs are stores on paper. You open the pages and shop, shop, shop. And catalog sales are big business - just ask the Farmington Hills advertising agency that has made catalogcreating their specialty. Here's a look inside operations at Group SAA Limited.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO STAFF WRITER

All the leaves are brown, and the sky is gray. Went out for a walk, before winter's ways. I'd be safe and warm, if I ordered a tray - Catalog Dreamin' on such an autumn day Ordered a tray?

Oh yes! It's on Page 43 of the youpick-it housewares catalog and it's sooo neat. It's deep, hunter green. Looks real sturdy. Caption says it's made from laminated wood. There's a steaming hot cup of cocoa and a slice of apple pie on the tray in the picture. It's only $25. Comes in two sizes. Matches the green in the family room couch. I've got to have it. Where's that toll-free number for ordering?

And so another happy catalog shopper is born.

"That's the way we do it," laughed Steve Simon, president of Group SAA Limited, a Farmington Hills-based ad agency that has made its $5-million niche producing catalogs for specialty retailers.

"We make the product look so good, it sells right off the pages. We have to. Direct-mail catalogs must provide the consumer with all the information necessary to purchase a product. Color photographs must be true to the color of the product and the written copy must accurately and vividly describe the merchandi

But Simons and his staff of 32, which includes art and creative directors, office and customer service personnel, take their catalogs a step beyond raw merchandising. Some of their catalogs manage to include humor, whimsy and informative narrations that assure these booklets make their way to the coffee table for further perusal.

This year, Simons and staff will produce 98 full-color catalogs for companies like Morley's Candymakers, The University of Michigan Athletic Department, The Uniform Group, The Coffee Beanery, Barron's, Phoenix Big and Tall Menswear, and Miller's, an equestrian's shopping paradise, to name a few.

Many of the catalogs are shot at luscious locations like Michigan's own Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island or the Hotel del Coronado on Coronado Island near San Diego.

Retailers like Hudson's plans

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO STAFF WRITER

News that Hudson's is pumping renovation dollars into its four older stores is music to retailing ears.

The stores at Eastland in Harper Woods, Southland in Taylor, Westland in Westland, and Northland in Southfield will be remodeled in soft, pale colors and departments will be expanded and updated to customer demand beginning in January.

"We're thrilled by the plans," said Cathy O'Malley, manager of North-land Center. "We require all our tenants to renovate before their leases are renewed, and Hudson's is doing what all retailers need to do periodically. It's exciting. Shoppers should be pleased.'

And they are.

"I'm so glad they are going to modernize that Northland store," said Ruby Little of Southfield. "It's my favorite Hudson's and I was worried that they might close it when I saw all the warehouse items on the selling floor recently. The store has such a great selection of merchandise.'

John Evans of Westland said so much is happening in the retail world these days, it's hard to keep up. "Every time you turn around, there's a new store coming in or an old favorite going out," he said. "I'm retired and I like to walk around the malls for exercise. It's sure not boring.'

Westland's marketing director, Claudia Frederick, said the entire mall is excited over Hudson's plans. 'It guarantees us that they will continue to be a tenant here," she said. "There is a customer base that is a strength for Hudson's here. Hudson's improvements will improve the overall look of the center and that's great Chris Morrisroe, Hudson's spokeswoman, said the renovation plans should squash any rumors that the Northland store would become an outlet center or even close down. "If anything," she said, "Hudson's is growing and expanding. While many departments will increase in size, no existing departments will be eliminated. The extra floor space will come from unnecessary storage areas.'

The biggest improvements will come to the cosmetics, women's accessories and women's shoes departments. Hudson's is ready to compete with all the retailing newcomers to these categories.

At the Northland store, Women's World will double and move into the fourth floor. Textiles moves to the lower level to complete the home store collection. A Candy Shop will debut on the main floor. The Coat and Dress Departments will be expanded by 55 percent. At the Westland Store, the Moderate Sportswear Department will grow by 58 percent. Tabletop increases by 80 percent. Women's World will add 75 percent more space to the selling floor. Coats/Swim departments will grow by 85 percent. At the Southland store, Petites will get 50 percent more space, Career Collections will increase by more than 80 percent, Tabletop will be totally reset and Update Collections will increase by 20 percent. At the Eastland store, the Candy

Shop will be introduced and increases will take place in the Dresses, Moderate Sportswear and Tabletop areas.

Last spring, Hudson's announced plans to renovate its Summit Place store in Waterford and these changes are almost complete.

The Oakland Mall store was renovated in 1992. A new "upscale" Hudson's is planned for the Somerset North Collection at Big Beaver and Coolidge in Troy. Construction will begin next year.

'A catalog costs about $50,000 or $60,000 to produce," Simons explained. "And most of the work s done on computer, which saves time and money. Our computer system gives us a competitive edge with faster turnaround time, advanced proofing techniques and more innovative design capabili-

"I also have a staff willing to work the hours it takes to make deadlines and get the job done. That's why I think we've been so successful. It's that Midwest work ethic. National companies are discovering what hard workers we are here.

Simons' own hard work and energy built Group SAA, Ltd. from a one-man ad agency founded by Simon in 1973 into the multimilion company it has become. Simon grew up in Oak Park, graduated from Southfield High School in 1970 and studied business in college for two years.

But I left school because I couldn't wait to get out in the world and start my own company," he recalled. "At 20 years old, I was the nation's youngest ad agency president. Experience is the best school.

Simons, his wife Diane, and two children, live in West Bloomfield. Diane is the third step in a three-point proofing process that works to ensure accuracy and clarity in catalog copy.

Simons fell into producing catalogs as a special favor to some clients and then realized he had a knack for the work. He takes pride in never missing a deadline and never coming in over budget. His client list grows as the sales figures rise from the catalogs in circulation.

According to the publication "Statistical Abstracts," catalog sales in the U.S topped 4.7 billion in 1989 and 1990. In 1991, catalog sales fell slightly to $4.5 billion.

It doesn't hurt that the catalog industry itself is on a hot streak.

The industry expects catalog use to continue through the decade as an alternative to traditional shopping for busy Americans.

Besides not every retailer wants or needs space on the selling floor. Through their almost historical catalogs, retailers like L.L. Bean and Williams and Sonoma, have customers in more places than they could ever hope to open

An example of the clever soft sell that may be Group SAA's trademark, professional actors were used to shoot the Uniforms by Mindy catalog for restaurants and hotels. It's hard to get excited about waitstaff attire, but the Group SAA staff spiced up the catalog with mini theatrical scenes of amourous-looking chefs, waitresses with stems of roses clenched in their teeth, and matronly diners being pinched by vengeful lobsters. The president of the uniform company, Jay Gerwit of Norcross, Ga., was delighted with the results.

Right now, the crew is working on a Morley's Candy catalog. The chocolate-pecan-caramel turtles picture took five hours to set up and is ready to shoot at last. The candy spills out of the box from two directions and silk ivy vines fill-in the background.

"Chocolate is difficult to shoot," explained Julie Cummings, an art director. "There are all kinds of little tricks you can use to make it look inviting. One is to wait until it starts to melt a bit so it's glistening and very moist-looking.'

Since "the photos sell the product," the tempting photos of nuts and candies overflowing from colorful tins and packages in the Kar's Holiday Nut Catalog will mean big sales this season.

"Oh definitely," said Michelle
Novak, of Kar's. "The pictures in this catalog are the best ever! I dare you to look through the book without ordering something!"

All the leaves are brown, and the sky is gray. I'll take the Trio of Treats Tin on the 15th page

Nearly half the one million visitors to the Detroit Zoo paid an additional $2.50 to walk through Dinosauria, which featured more than 20 life-sized, prehistoric creatures. The Detroit Zoo is approaching business from a whole new perspec-

Since January, some 489,000 visited Dinosauria, which zoo officials call "super popular." These figures add up to a 40percent increase in zoo attendance and a gross total of $1.7 million from Dinosauria alone.

The zoo, on Woodward at I-696 in Royal Oak, plus Detroit's Belle Isle Zoo and Aquarium, which attracted 200,000, drew more than 1.2 million visitors. That makes the Detroit Zoological Parks one of Michigan's top five tourism attractions in 1993.

"The success of Dinosauria means a new way of doing business at the zoo," said Chuck Hammond, executive director of the Detroit Zoological Society, the private fundraising arm of the city of Detroit-owned zoo.

"It proves that creative, market-driven entrepreneurship can leverage new resources and support. The knowledge we gained this year will serve as a bedrock for future, large-scale projects.'

Hudson's 21st store was opened In 1992 in Traverse City. Female shoppers have long lamented that it's difficult to shop in Hudson stores because the clothing departments are located on several different floors. The improvements planned for the stores address this complaint.

Over 500,000 square feet of space will be affected by the remodeling projects. Business will go on as usual during the renovations. Northland Hudson's was built in 1954 and is Hudson's oldest and largest store. Eastland debuted in 1956, Westland in 1965 and Southland in 1970.

Bridges, roads ice up on chilly mornings

Drivers should beware of bridges on chilly fall mornings, according to the Michigan Department of Transportation. Even when roadways are ice-free, the weather creates optimum conditions for a coating of frost and ice to form on bridges.

Chiefs win division title

lymouth Canton won its third-straight Western Division championship and fourth in the last five years Thursday with a 68-25 win over Livonia Franklin in girls swimming. The meet was rescheduled from Tuesday and took place at Novi High School where the Patriots also had a dual meet with the host Wildcats.

Canton coach Hooker Wellman rested many of his top swimmers and allowed other team members to contribute to the championship effort.

"It was good for them to get in the meet and good for the other kids who have to swim next week to rest a little bit," Wellman said. "It looks like we're ready for the conference meet; we just need a little more rest.

Canton's Amy Sonnanstine was a double winner in the 200-yard freestyle (2:17.07) and the 500 freestyle (6:08.73).

Susan Pritchard won the butterfly (1:07.25) and helped the Chiefs win the 200 and 400 freestyle

Kelly Larsen, Lybra Lindke, Joslyn Cruz and Pritchard went 1:52.74 in the 200, and the 400 time of 3:56.06 was a combined effort from Pritchard, Jill Mellis, Lindke and Larsen. Sara Larson won the 100 freestyle (59.18) and joined Erica Pendergrass, Jill Barnes and Jessica Orleman to win the medley relay (2:04.82). Canton's other winners were Mellis, individual medley (2:16.49); Suzan Daoust, 50 freestyle (27.94); and Brooke Larson, diving (200.45). The Chiefs posted a 4-0-1 record in the Western Division and were 9-2-1 overall.

Salem swimmers win dual ith the Western Lakes Activities Association meet on the minds of many Plymouth Salem swimmers Thursday, the Rocks were still able to even their dual meet record at 4-4 with a 115-71 victory over visiting

"We had a lot of people swim tonight, and it turned out to be a fun meet for us," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "Everybody was thinking about next week's conference meet, but we still turned in some good swims.'

The highlight for Salem was the school-record performance in diving by Alysia Sofios, who Kellyann Williams turned in several strong swims as she won the 50-yard freestyle in 26.98, and swam on the winning medley relay team with Yvonne Lynn, Amy Parry and Sara Casillas (2:03.14). Williams, Mandi Ras, Melanie Bosse and Andrea Bien won the 200 freestyle relay in

Other Salem winners were Carey Hyatt, breast stroke (1:19.59); Jenny Werthman, individual medley (2:32.71); Bien, 200 freestyle (2:09.82); Lynn, backstroke (106.21); Bosse, 100 freestyle (59.67); and Hayley Meik, 500 freestyle (5:57.53).

Farmington firsts were turned in by freshman Anne Marie Scanio in the butterfly (2:06.23) and the 400 freestyle relay team of Scanio, Jill Benivegna, Colleen Hoy and Adrienne Perry

The WLAA swimming prelims start at 1 p.m. Wednesday, the diving prelims 2:30 p.m. Thursday and the finals 6 p.m. Friday. The competition takes place at Salem each day.

College soccer stars alamazoo College wrapped up another Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Associaion women's soccer title with last week's 10-1 rout of Alma. The Hornets are 8-1 in the MIAA, 13-3 overall, thanks in large part to senior striker Jennifer Russell (from Plymouth Canton). Russell leads the MIAA in goals (19), assists (nine) and total points (47).

■ The University of Detroit-Mercy women continue to surprise. They were 11-3-2 overall, 2-1-2 in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference, in their first season. Freshman keeper Jori Welchans (Plymouth Canton) has helped keep them near the top of the MCC; Welchans is second in the conference in goals-against average (0.99).

Michigan cross country

he highly regarded University of Michigan women's cross country team warmed up for last Saturday's Big Ten Championship meet by performing quite well at the Eastern Michigan University Invitational Oct. 22, led by freshman Emily Shively (North Farmington).

Shively was U-M's top finisher, placing 10th in a personal-best time of 19:16. Among the U-M men, all finished among the top-25 at the meet, with redshirt freshman Ryan Burt (Plymouth/Dearborn Divine Child) leading the Wolverines with a seventh-place finish in a personal-best 25:34.

New baseball coach

livet College has hired a new baseball coach: Dennis Shaw, a graduate of Plymouth Salem High School and Olivet. Shaw earned his bachelor's degree from Olivet in 1988 and has been an admissions representative at the college for the past three years. He has also served as assistant baseball coach for the past three years under Dominic Livedoti, formerly of West Bloomfield, who resigned as football and baseball coach at Olivet in August.

Rocks repeat as district champions

BY LARRY O'CONNOR STAFF WRITER

From teetering near the tank to taking the trophy, Plymouth Salem has made amends for some subpar performances earlier in the season.

The Rocks carted off another boys soccer district title, downing Novi 4-1 Saturday in the final at Northville High School. Sophomore midfielder Ronny Mashni notched two goals; junior forwards Doug Herriman and Joe MacInnis had the others.

Salem (12-6-2) meets Livonia Stevenson (15-1-3) at 7 p.m. Wednesday in a first-round regional match at Ann Arbor Pioneer. The Spartans clipped crosstown rival Livonia Franklin 2-0 Friday in their district final.

Stevenson beat Salem 2-0 earlier this season. That might seem rather irrelevant going into Wednesday's match, though.

'They're the same kind of team as (Livonia) Churchill and we did all right in preparing for them," said Plymouth Salem coach Ken Johnson, whose team upset the Chargers 2-1 Wednesday. "We've strengthened our defense since then. We're moving the ball up front now and we have speed up front.

'We're happy right now."

Johnson might have had the look of a poker player who has bluffed through a pack of Las Vegas card sharks after the game Saturday. The Rocks were 2-3-1 at the start of the season, but that might have been a mirage for unsuspecting opponents. The Wildcats (15-4-1) were left stranded from the opening whistle.

Salem scored within minutes with Herriman getting ahold of a bouncing ball off a throw-in and nodding it in.

Junior midfielder Scot Buczek did one better. He maneuvered around a Novi defender, cradling the ball on his foot and lofting a delicate cross to MacInnis. MacInnis headed the pass downward, colliding with a Wildcat player in the process

"They work well together," Johnson said of the Buczek-MacInnis tan-

MacInnis' goal came with 16 minutes left in the half, but Novi quickly answered back.

Wildcat defender Youichi Matsunago launched a Herculian throw-in that skidded in front of the net. Novi's Kevin Sitts nudged it over the goal line to pull the Wildcats to within one. 2-1.

Mashni, who led a charmed existence in front of the net Saturday, collected the first of two goals with two minutes left in the first half. The sophomore pounced on a rebound when the Novi keeper bobbled a free kick from 20 yards out. Mashni, standing in front of the net, later redirected a pinpoint pass from sophomore midfielder Andy Makins with 19 minutes left in the match. The goal provided the only highlight of an otherwise tedious second half.

Herriman's early tally obviously set the tone.

"I think we might have been a little nervous and intimidated by them,' said Novi coach Larry Christoff. "I told them, 'If we can just hold them for the first 10 minutes . . . 'They just beat us to the ball. It was as simple as that."

Said Johnson: "I thought in the first half we gave a clinic. We were moving the ball really well."

Salem's next riddle will be how to contain a swift Stevenson side, which has not been scored upon in postseason play. Johnson admits the Spartans are fast, but the Rocks might have an advantage in the air with a

Since meeting Stevenson, Salem has bolstered its back line with freshman defender Chris Curry, to go along with experienced players such as junior Trevor Pruett, senior Brad Jaskolski and junior Mike Kley.

Salem rally shocks Canton, 23-22

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

Nobody could remember a more exciting Salem-Canton football game; nobody cared if there had been when it was over Friday night.

For the Rocks, this was it, having rallied from a 15-point halftime deficit to defeat favored Plymouth Canton 23-22 after a touchdown drive late in the game.

Salem's victory extended the hometeam winning streak to seven-straight years. The rivals have alternated wins since 1987. Both teams finish with 5-'That has to go down as a great comeback," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer, whose team trailed 22-7 at halftime. "I don't know how long it's been since I've been this emotional. I'm an extremely happy man right played it the way the game is supposed to be played.

"It was all emotion. Our kids played this game with intensity and FOOTBALL

The winning drive began at the Salem 25-yard line with 6:47 left in the game. It took the Rocks 14 plays (all running) and just over five minutes to reach the Canton end zone.

Senior Jay Perko ran the last 18 yards for the touchdown to get Salem within a point, 22-21. Perko burst up the middle, sidetstepped a defender at the goal line and lunged into the end zone with 1:37 on the clock.

"I just ran; I just kept moving, hoping," Perko said. "I didn't see anything; I just ran.'

Two-point conversion

The Rocks chose to try and win the game with a two-point conversion, and senior fullback Rob Shepley drove across the goal to put Salem great kicker (Mike Kley)." ahead for the first time.

"I gave them a choice of two plays, and the kids called it in the huddle,' Moshimer said. "They wanted to give it to Shepley; they said it was unanimous. "He's 230 pounds, but I was concerned about fatigue. But he rose to the occasion. He's the only player to play four years on the varsity for me in 27 years. He had a great career here, and this was a great way to end

A double-overtime loss in the previous game weighed on Moshimer's mind and had a role in his decision to go for two points.

"I wasn't going to kick it and put these kids through overtime again," he said. "Even though they have a good defense, I thought the momentum was with us and we could put it in the end zone. If I had any doubts, I would have kicked it, and we have a

The Rocks were in control the entire second half, shutting down a Canton offense that moved the ball effectively on the ground in the first half and scored on its first three possessions The Chiefs never punted in the first half but had six second-half drives end with four punts, a fumble and a missed 52-yard field goal attempt by Jeff Fliss on the last play of the game. "Our kids wer going to sit on 22 points, and they were coming after us to top 22," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said. "We lost our fire; they got the momentum.

They thought they had the game won at 22-7. I could sense it coming, but we just couldn't seem to stop it. We couldn't get the kids' attention to rise above it.

WLAA playoffs next challenge for Chiefs

Activities Association round-robin girls basketball schedule Thursday with an 11-0, first-place record.

The Chiefs followed their victory Tuesday over unbeaten Livonia Stevenson with a 47-35 defeat of visiting Northville.

Top-seeded Canton, ranked No. 3 in the state and 16-1 overall, begins the WLAA playoffs Thursday at home against Livonia Franklin, the No. 8

Northville, no doubt having scouted the Chiefs in their 65-51 win over Stevenson and seen how dominant Canton was on the backboards, was prepared to five the Chiefs a good game.

With only an 8-6 lead in the first quarter, the Chiefs outscored Northville 13-5 in the second period and had a 26-24 edge in the second half. 'I thought we played a little soft and tentative," Canton coach Bob Blohm said. "Northville played Plymouth Canton finished the Western Lakes a tough zone and sagged back inside. That made it tough to get a shot inside.

Northville was not the least bit intimidated. They played a nice game. We didn't get many second shots.

Britta Anderson had 15 points and nine rebounds for Canton, Erica Anderson eight points and 13 rebounds. Alyson Noune tossed in 11 points and Sarah Warnke 10.

Samantha Leger scored 12 of her game-high 17 points in the second half for the Mustangs, 3-9 in the conference and and 6-11 overall.

■ SALEM 63, GLENN 32: The Rocks gained a tie for third place in the WLAA girls basketball standings Thursday with their win at Westland John Glenn.

Salem finished 8-3 in the WLAA but lost a tiebreaker to Farmington Hills Harrison for the No. 3 playoff seed because of an earlier loss.

The Rocks will play host to Walled Lake Central in the first round of the playoffs Thursday, and the winner will meet either Canton or Franklin in the second round.

Senior Lisa Craven and sophomore Shellye Sills scored 12 points apiece to lead Salem, and junior Liz Erickson added 10.

Junior Kelly Lukasik played another excellent floor game for the Rocks and had nine assists, and Sills led the team in rebounding with eight. Salem began the season with little varsity experience but has compiled a winning record of 10-7. Glenn coach Pat Bennett spoke of the improvement Salem has made since the teams first played.

"Our team has been one of continuous growth and development," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We've steadily gotten better as the season went on, and we're playing fairly decent basket-

"Our kids played a good game, but you have to play a good game for four quarters. You can't sit back and coast when the other team is coming after you.

Neal has big game

Salem had 152 of its 224 rushing yards in the second half, and senior tailback Brian Neal was the leader with 86 of his 99 total. Neal had five of his 21 carries on the winning drive.

Shepley added 59 yards on 17 attempts and scored the other TDs on runs of 2 and 1 yard. Perko had 46 yards on six carries.

The Rocks held Canton to just 4 vards rushing and 46 total in the second bail, and they butgained the Chiefs 250-197 overall.

"They were bigger than us and they have a great offensive line." Moshimer said. "But our defense dominated in the second half.

"Their defense has been stopping people all year, but we drove the ball down the field in the sec-

Moshimer credited defensive coaches Jim Jarvey, Tom Garrett and Tom Alles for a second-half adjustment that helped stop Canton. The Rocks played three linebackers inside and moved their ends outside.

"It gave them a chance to read better and fly to the ball," Moshimer said. "We had a little success with it in the first half. We started to go to it more and then we stayed with it.'

The Chiefs punted from deep in their own end late in the third quarter, and Salem had to go just 38 yards for its second TD.

After the Rocks got a first down at the 5, Canton made a goal-line stand until Shepley scored from the 1 on fourth down. He also ran for the two points to make it 22-15 at 11:10 in the fourth quarter.

Salem forced a punt and got the ball again at midfield with 10:16 to play. The Rocks didn't let a fumble and an offsides penalty that gave Canton a first down deflate their momentum and were determined to reach the end zone again when they got the ball at

Chiefs take charge

The Chiefs didn't have to pass in the first half as they rushed for 120 of their 156 first-half total. Eric Arnold had 51 yards and Lenny Gardner 34.

Quarterback Brett Elledge (6-16-73) completed four passes to Tim Moritz for 39 yards and two to Ryan Ostach for 34 on the final desperation drive in the fourth quarter.

Moritz caught a 13-yard pass for Canton's first TD and Arnold ran 3 yards for the second, and the Chiefs led 14-0 early in the second period.

Canton's only mistake of the first half was a fumbled punt that Salem recovered at the Canton 28 and led to Shepley's first TD. But the Chiefs delivered what could easily have been the knockout punch, faking a field goal and scoring a TD with 1:12 left in the first half. Scott Valimont, the holder for Fliss, ran 14 yards but fumbled at the 10; however, Ostach scooped up the loose ball and carried it into the end zone. Valimont ran for the two points and a 22-7 lead.

"The kids were coming off the ball and doing a good job of blocking (in the first half)," Khoenle said. "But they get 22 points and stop doing it, because they think they're going to win the ballgame.

"We told them we were down by this point margin to Farmington and came back to score 41 points," said Moshimer of the halftime discussion in the Salem locker room. "Granted, this is a better team, and it's going to take everything you have but it can

CC wins league, misses playoffs

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER

As far as the Redford Catholic Central football team is concerned, the 1993 season ended in the right place at the wrong time.

The Shamrocks finished an aganozing weekend and haunted Halloween night with a 35-0 victory over Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher Sunday for the Catholic League championship at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Despite an 8-1 overall record, CC failed to qualify for the Class AA playoffs and won't be able to return to the Silverdome to defend its state championship. The Shamrocks have reached the state final five of the last six years, winning twice.

Dearborn Fordson, which ended the regular season with Friday's 38-21 win over Harper Woods Notre Dame, qualified for the fourth and last playoff position in Region III with an 8-1 record, .237 ahead of fifth-place CC, according to CC athletic director Bob San-

What made the news harder to accept was that Santello received unofficial word over the telephone during the fourth quarter from the Michigan High School Athletic Association that the Shamrocks were in the playoffs. The Shamrocks allowed only 21 points in nine games and Sunday's shutout was their sixth of the season. "We always plan on ending our season in the dome," said CC linebacker Tate Dobbs, one of six Shamrocks on the All-Catholic team. "We saw our season slowly diminishing this weekend and the seniors treated this as the state championship. "The coaches said to us that we're the best defense they've ever had and definitely carried on the 'Brick Wall' tradition.'

"We know there's a couple teams in Class AA breathing sighs of relief that we're not in,' CC two-way lineman Doug Brzez-

CC ended five of its six possessions with touchdowns and gained 413 total yards while holding Gallagher to 144 total yards and only two first downs after halftime, one on a CC penalty.

Senior quarterback Barry Lingelbach completed five-of-six passes for 66 yards, including a 19-yard TD pass to Matt Ambroziak. Lingelbach also scored on a pair of quarterback sneaks and sophomore fullback John Spolsky and junior running back John McHale had one rushing TD

CC senior tailback Freddie Taylor had 153 yards on 17 carries and Spolsky finished with 82 vards on 14 carries. CC's defense finished with four sacks, one each by Joe Walsh, Andy Shortt, Nick Kallas and Ryan Kato.

The only discouragement, besides the playoff snub for CC coach Tom Mach, was an uncharacteristically high 10 penalties. CC's only loss came in September to Toledo St. Francis, 7-0.

"A lot of tears were shed because this is the end; it's probably the first victory we've cried after. said Mach, who did not fault the playoff system. "But at least we can say that we had another team that could have won the state if we got in. At the end of the year, if they say we're in, I go. I'm a football coach, not a mathematician.'

Gallagher drove to CC's 12 early in the second quarter after a fake punt produced a 50-yard reception to wide receiver Raymond Curry but a 30-yard field goal attempt was wide right. The Lancers reached the Shamrocks' 13 on their next possession before consecutive quarterback sacks put Gallagher out of field goal po-

Gallagher coach George Sahadi said the Shamrocks deserve a playoff berth.

Spartans gain regional berth with 2-0 win over Patriots

By LARRY O'CONNOR

Livonia Stevenson had jurisdiction on the backline, possessed the deed to midfield, and more importantly, staked a claim in trout of the net.

In other words, the Spartans are going to the regionals. They shut down Livonia Franklin, 2-0, Friday in the Class A boys soccer district final at Southfield High.

Stevenson (15-1-3) meets the winner of the Plymouth Salem-Novi district final in the first round of regional play.

The Spartans, who are still eu phoric after a draw a few weeks ago against powerhouse Detroit Country Day, are charging through post-season play.

The team has yet to be scored on also shutting out Redford Catholic Central 1-0 and Farmington Hills Harrison 6-0 along SOCCER

While all eyes are focused on No. 1 ranked Troy, Stevenson could be a prime suspect to pull off a few upsets.

"We're better at surprising than those nights we're supposed to play better than the other team," said Stevenson coach Walt Barrett. "We need a grisly dog to look at.

On Friday, though, Franklin had little bite.

Senior defender Chris Grodzicki and sophomore midfielder Jeff Urbats collected the Spartan goals. Grodzicki nodded in the first one in the 30th minute to give Stevenson a 1-0 lead at inter-

No doubt Barrett appreciated the goal-scoring. But he was sending praise to midfield, and to one player in particular.

'On a night when I thought my offense was a little sluggish, Anthony Vettraino sparked the midfield," Barrett said.

Vettraino's passes were made with pace and precision.

One through ball with Vettraino's signature on it found Urbats racing into the middle. Urbats hammered a low shot to the right corner of the net for Stevenson's second tally in the 46th

"It was unfortunate Victor got hurt," Barrett said. "We expected an onslaught in the second half with him leading the way.

That didn't help, but Franklin started off sluggishly and never got untracked. Franklin coach Mary Kay Hussey knew it.

"They (Stevenson) went hard to the ball in the first half," said Hussey, whose first season concludes at 8-7-2.

As for the team's apparent lack of emotion in the first 40 minutes, Hussey said, "I don't know what Stevenson goalkeeper Mo Lanspeary turned away three shots to preserve the shutout. One of his most difficult saves came in the final minutes on a swerving free kick by Patriot defender Dave Binkiewicz.

Some brilliant goalkeeping by Scott Simpson kept the Patriots close, though. Simpson was called upon early

SC men rout Kellogg

As tune-ups go, this one was a backfire.

Schoolcraft College's mens soccer team was looking for a team that would provide a challenge, a push. What it got last Wednesday was a 10-man club team that was so inept offensively that it didn't even get off a shot on goal.

All of which resulted in a 12-0 SC victory over Kellogg CC, at Schoolcraft. Indeed, the Ocelots - who improved to 17-0-1 - tried to keep things even by playing 10 men against Kellogg's 10.

Nothing seemed to work, however. "I had to have the guys work out afterwards, just to get in a workout," lamented SC coach Van Dimitriou.

Tim Lampi was most involved in the early barrage. The Livonia Stevenson graduate assisted on the first three goals and scored the fourth as SC built an 8-0 halftime lead.

Other Ocelots to find the net were Andy Cosenza, twice; Matt Lividini, twice; Ryan Olson, twice; and Armando Andoni, Fadi Bazzi, Adam Carriere, Craig Hauswirth and Vince Troiani, once apiece.

Matt Stabile and Gordie Collins split time in goal, but neither handled the ball much. SC leaves Friday for the NJCAA inter-regional tourna-ment, hosted Saturday and Sunday by McHenry County College in Crystal Lake, Ill., which is northwest of Chicago.

SC coach Tom Teeters can see his team starting to come together. It showed in the Lady Ocelots second-place finish at the Illinois Central College Tournament, and it showed again Thursday when the Lady Ocelots took the University of Windsor to five games before bowing, 15-2, 13-15, 11-15, 15-10, 15-13, in Windsor.

But will they have enough to recapture the NJCAA Region 12 Tournament this weekend?

"It's the best we've played all year," said Teeters of the Windsor match. "We played well and with good intensity, and we had some consistency, which is something that had been missing."

Kristen Barnes led the attack with 24 kills and four service aces. Danielle Pfeffer had 14 kills. Tracia Clendenen set 29 assists to kills, and Shannon Capstick had 17 digs.

The loss left SC with a 17-20 overall record. What made it painful was realizing the Ocelots led 10-4 in the fourth game, and still lost.

HARRISON make it to the top, and her latest honor is the icing on the cake of a very illustrious career.

Mohacsi has so many honors and championships, it's impossible to fit the list into this space. Her highlights include three international gold medals in FIQ competition while representing the United States, as well as one silver and two bronze medals.

She has bowled two 300 games and a high three-game set of 771. Mohacsi has been selected as the Greater Defroit Bowling Queen a record 10 times - the first time in 1963. She has averaged at least 190 over her 30-plus year career. In all, she has claimed 13 state championships and 11 city titles.

Mohacsi and her son, Mark, are coproprietors of the Right Approach pro shops in Merri Bowl Lanes and Taylor Lanes. She currently bowls in the Monday Invitational Ladies Classic at Luxury Lanes, the Arena Pro Shop Ladies Classic at Thunderbowl and the Friday Morning Ladies Classic at Merri Bowl.

Mark is an all-star bowler himself with three perfect games, making a record-setting total of five for a motherson combination. Mohacsi's husband. Ted, has been a staunch supporter throughout the years and her daughters, Sandy and Cindy, are bowlers themselves.

Mehacsi was fortunate to be coached early in her career by former Livonia Lanes owner Clarence Hoffman, who recognized Mohacsi's potential and sponsored her in tournaments to help her get started. The rest is history.

Nov. 12-13. Thursday's win over Wayne State did not come easily nor was it expected to. "Going into their gym, after they had won five of their last six, I thought we played very well," said Abraham. "We did what we had to do to win."

That attitude "carried over to (Friday)," he added. "I ex-

Blazers coast in playoffs

THE WEEK AHEAD

A strong first-quarter propelled Livonia Ladywood to an easy first-round victory Thursday over Allen Park Cabrini in the Catholic League A-B Division girls basketball playoffs, 69-38.

Junior forward Tara Overaitis scored nine of her 18 points during a 26-10 first-period Ladywood run. Junior guard Becky Bilicki chipped 11 of her 15 points in the opening period. Maura Duggan added 10 points for the Blazers, who are 13-2 overall and advance to the semifinals

7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Schoolcraft College against Dearborn Divine Child. Joann McComb scored 11 points and Liz Pulaski 10 for the Monarchs, 9-8. Julie Boik, their high-scoring 6-foot-3 center, was limited to eight by Ladywood's 6-4 Anne Poglits and Tara Wasiak.

Pontiac Oakland Christian remained unbeaten in girls basketball Friday with its victory over visiting Plymouth Christian Academy. Oakland is 10-0 in the Michi-

Letterman's crack staff lines up sports guests BY MICHAEL SCOGIN

November 1-November 7, 1993

Since David Letterman brought his talk show to its "better time, new station" on Aug 30, the number of appearances by sports personalities seems to have increased New York Yankees pitcher Imi Abbott, profes sional boxer I im "Doughboy" Tomashek, jockey Julie Krone and Philadelphia Phillies tirst baseman John Kruk are just a few of the names that have visited the Ed Sullivan Theatre in recent weeks. So, without further adieu, from the home office, here are the top 10 reasons Letterman is having so many sports guests on the new

Boxleitner is water-logged in NBC's "House of Secrets"

By John Crook

Any actor worth his salt is ready to suffer for his art. Being drowned, however, should be considered above and beyond the call of duty Just ask Bruce Boxleitner, who stars with real-life love Melissa Gilbert in "House of Secrets," airing Monday, Nov. 1, on NBC.

In the psychological thriller, a remake of the 1955 French film "Diabolique" transplanted to contemporary New Orleans, a battered wife (Gilbert) and betrayed mistress (Kate Vernon) decide to kill a conniving doctor (Boxleitner). The plan: Drug him, drown him in a bathtub, then dump him in a garden

Phoning from Tucson, Ariz., where he is filming the fifth "Gunsmoke" TV movie with James Arness, the actor says he knew from the beginning his role would involve some grueling moments.

When this (project) first came to me. I went out and found "Diabolique" for Melissa ... a birthday present, at the time. I kept thinking as I watched that bathtub scene. 'Oh. my God, how are we going to do this?' There's no way to do it but to do it. There's no Hollywood trickery

Being drowned is not fun. It goes against everything that we as upright, walking mammals who don't have gills (feel), against everything that all these years of evolution (have wrought)," he says. "Do you realize what water is in your eyes - for hours? I drowned for, like six hours, with my eyes open and. 'full eye' contact lens and the irritation from the water getting underneath them. And, of course, it was dirty water because I was still in my clothes and my shoes. And when you go down in water backwards, the water just floods up your nose."

Things got worse when he had to be dumped into the pond. "I had a bad ear infection for a while," Boxleitner recalls, adding with a laugh. "You know what frogs do in that water.

The summer filming in and around New Orleans took its toll not just on the actor. "The scene of the initial drowning... was shot around four in the morning," he says. "Melissa fainted, she went right out that night, just dead from exhaustion, and we had to revive her with oxygen.

Despite that, Gilbert's plucky character drives most of the movie. and she takes the phone long enough to talk about her character, Marion Ravenel. "When you're playing a Southern woman, it's a very easy trap to fall into, 'playing the shrinkin' vi'let.' very Blanche Dubois," she says in an exaggerated

"(Marion) was sort of an amalgam of Tennessee Williams characters, but more than anything she was Maggie (from 'Cat on a Hot Tin Roof'), who was very strong. If I had played it too simpering and weak, it wouldn't have worked, because somehow I had to find the strength to take what was mine and kill the man I loved, in order to save what I had

The scene in which Marion must serve her husband lemonade laced with sleeping powder is one of the movie's most riveting moments, and Gilbert says dryly, "That was quite a moment for us. It's one of my favorite scenes ever that I've done Can I serve lemonade at the wedding, dear?" she asks her co-star and fiance.

"No lemonade!" Boxleitner says firmly, as he takes the phone back. "I swear to God, it was hours of that, and my hands were so sticky!"

Speaking again of the thriller, in which virtually nothing is what it seems, Boxleitner throws in an extra wrinkle about his character, Dr. Frank Ravenel "I don't think there is a Frank Ravenel," he says "I questioned whether he was really a doctor. I think he (may have) killed the doctor and taken his

On a personal level, Boxleitner says he originally called the recently divorced Gilbert at the suggestion of his ex-wife. The costars became engaged in September, on the anniversary of their first date

"I don't know why, it just popped out of my mouth, I guess,' Boxleitner says. Gilbert, 29, has a 4year-old son, Cody. Boxleitner, 43. has two sons: 13-year-old Sam, and David, who turns 8 on Nov. 16. They live on a ranch in Hidden Hills,

SOAP WORLD

Readers give 'Loving' responses

BY CANDACE HAVENS

In true soap opera fashion, just when things were getting good on "Loving ABC brass decided to bring in a new executive producer. In Ann Emmerich, replacing Haydee Grainger I immeriely takes over on Nov. 1, so it will be a while before we see any drashe changes

A few weeks ago we asked readers to take a look at Toying, and tell us what they thought. The letters printed below are representative of the mart we received about the show. Here is what some readers had to say

Dear Candace: I read your column and decided to give Toving a try. and now I am hooked I can't believe I have been missing such a great show Lalready have some favorite characters. Irusker Dmah Lee and Ava. Thanks for turning me on to my new tayonte soap Debbie D in Pa-
