School board picks 3 finalists

The Plymouth-Canton school board has narrowed the field of candidates for the job of school superintendent down to three. A second round of interviews will be conducted starting next week to fill the post. A final decision is expected by May 16.

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

With input from its superintendent search committee and little debate, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education selected from its field of six semifinalists three prospective superintendents on Monday.

They were to be: S. Gene Denisar of North Kansas City schools, Charles Little of Frontier Central Schools near Buffalo, N.Y., and Robert Monson of Westwood schools in suburban Boston.

Denisar dropped out at the last minute, citing personal reasons, and was replaced by Gary Hughes, superintendent of the Durand Area Schools.

"I don't think there was any one of the six who blew our socks off, but Dr. Little came close. He was pumped," said trustee Dave Artley.

Plymouth-Canton Superintendent John Hoben retires June 30.

A final decision is expected by May 16, after follow-up interviews and on-site visits to the candidates' home towns.

The board interviewed each of the six at 90-minute open sessions last week.

The finalists will be interviewed for the second time next week. Public receptions and interviews will be as follows: On Tuesday, April 19, the board will host a public reception from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. in the board meeting room at 454 S. Harvey in the McClelland Educational Center. Following dinner, the final open interview will be done from 7-10 p.m. at the McClelland Educational Center in Plymouth.

The same schedule will apply for the second and third finalists Thursday, April 21, and Tuesday, April 26.

They said a streetscape project would draw needed new restaurants to downtown Plymouth.

But while the start of such a project is weeks away at best, downtown Plymouth has already gained one new restaurant, the Harvest Moon, at 545 Forest Ave.

Since opening in January, business "is really good," said Erika Yochum, 20, who runs the place with Tim Meinke for owners Steve and Marilyn Yochum, her parents.

During a recent lunch hour, one could spot developer Robert DeMatia among the customers, which included a Plymouth Township government department head and some downtown shoppers.

While the restaurant, named after a Neil Young album, serves vegetarian food, Yochum cringes at the "vegetarian" label.

"We serve good food, we didn't want to say vegetarian," she said. "Everything we have is high-quality, it's less processed."

The restaurant decor suggests a vegetarian restaurant, as earth colors predominate and specialties are written on brown paper bags. But unlike the feeling one might get at some college town vegetarian restaurants, one isn't whacked over the head with vegetarianism at the Harvest Moon.

Yochum, who was raised a vegetarian, said she didn't crave Happy Meal burgers. "I guess my mom was such a good cook I never missed it," she said, adding her parents — who have other careers — always talked about opening such a restaurant. Meinke, who attends the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, helped with the restaurant decor.

Senate panel nixes third judgeship

The Senate Judiciary Committee, comprised of chairman William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison, John Cisky, R-Saginaw, and Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, voted 3-0. The two Democrats on the panel were absent.

The governor said publicly he would veto any district judgeships, said Van Regenmorter.

The panel, however, approved two circuit judgeships—one for Oakland and one for Charlevoix.

All new district judgeships were rejected. Also rejected were bids from Ypsilanti, Farmington and northern Oakland County.

The 35th District is the second busiest court in Wayne County and in the top five in the state, said court administrator Marion Belding.

The local district court is funded partly by the state and partly by the municipalities it serves.

The Senate panel acted in the face of a May 10 deadline for candidates to file.

Incumbent judges rarely face serious challenges, but attorneys flock to a race where no incumbent is seeking re-election.

Attorney enters local judicial race

Kevin G. Simowski of Plymouth, a Wayne County assistant prosecuting attorney, has joined the race for the 35th District judgeship.

In 1990 he tried the DeLisle case, stemming from the drowning deaths of four children in the Detroit River. Among local cases, he prosecuted the recent case involving a rollerblader killed by a speeding driver on Beck Road.

Simowski said crime has become the number one concern for citizens of Wayne County. "I believe that of all the announced candidates, I have the most experience in dealing with crime and seeing first hand the effects of crime on members of the public," he said.

"As judge, I would rely on that experience to ensure that citizens who come to court are treated with the respect and concern that they deserve."

He joined the prosecutor's office in 1982. He has worked in the appellate and screening divisions, and for the last eight years in the trial division as a special assignment prosecutor.

Simowski, 37, has also served as a lecturer for the Prosecuting Attorneys Association of Michigan, the Federal Bar Association and the Detroit Bar Association.

He has pledged not to raise or spend more than $1,000 in his campaign, saying, "I do not believe that a judgeship should be for sale to the highest bidder nor traded for political favors. A judge should only be accountable to the members of the public who you are sworn to serve."

He and wife Terri live in the city of Plymouth with their two small children.

Fire hits day care center

A small, after-hours fire Monday at a Plymouth Township day care center forced the closing of the center Tuesday.

But township fire Chief Larry Groth said the center was expected to reopen Wednesday, as a furnace company was expected to make repairs by then.

There were no children in the building when the fire was reported, he said.

No injuries were reported after the fire in an electrical box in the attic of the Discovery Learning Center, 45678 Helm St. "It was confined to the electrical box. There was smoke in the hallways and smoke coming out of the gable ends of the roof," Groth said, when firefighters arrived about four minutes after getting the 7:31 p.m. call.

Groth said about 15 center staff members were in the building for a meeting when smoke was detected, and they were waiting outside as firefighters arrived.

Four fire department trucks and 14 firefighters responded to the call, and the fire was put out in about an hour, Groth said. He estimated damage at $200-$300.

Radioactive material missing from firm

An instrument containing radioactive material is missing from a Plymouth Township firm, and the material could pose a health hazard if the instrument is broken open.

Frank Henderson, a senior vice president at Soils and Materials Engineers Inc., 43980 Plymouth Oaks Boulevard, said the Troxler gauge containing radioactive powder was discovered missing from a tool bin at the firm April 6.

"We use it to test the moisture content of soil," he said, at construction sites analyzed by the firm around southeast Michigan.

While Henderson said the firm suspects the gauge was likely left at a construction site, it could have been taken from the bin at the firm's office.

"We just wanted to warn people," he said.

Unopened, the $5,000-$6,000 gauge poses no health risk. If broken open, one could find radioactive powder that is encapsulated, he said.

"They'd really have to work to get it out," Henderson said.

Soils and Materials Engineers Inc. is offering a $500 reward to anyone finding the gauge. "Just call the Plymouth Township police," he said, at 453-3869, adding there will be no questions asked.

Visual impact: The Rev. Klaus Mehrl of Risen Christ Lutheran Church in Plymouth Township said erecting 4,500 white crosses brings attention to the cause supported by the church.

Church protests abortion

By KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Those driving on Ann Arbor Road this week noticed something unusual — 4,500 white foot-high crosses in a football field-sized area near Risen Christ Lutheran Church.

The crosses are part of an abortion protest organized by the church at 46250 Ann Arbor Road at McClumpha.

Placed amid the crosses is an accompanying pink, white and black banner showing a fetus. The banner proclaims "4,500 are killed every day in the U.S.A."

While the pastor said the abortion protest is legal, as the church sought a permit from Plymouth Township to allow it, a township ordinance officer disagrees.

"They have a permit for the banner, the rest (crosses) is illegal," said township ordinance officer Kathy Pumphrey. She said the church was being asked to remove the crosses by today.

But the Rev. Klaus Mehrl, 580-member church pastor, said, "We didn't believe a cross constituted a sign as the ordinance defined it."

He said the crosses would be taken down this weekend, for use in a similar abortion protest in Litchia.

This type of abortion protest, Mehrl said, is "basically something that has caught on in the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod."

It's been catching on in Michigan and various parts of the country, he said, as it makes "a visible statement about the number of abortions performed in America each day."

The crosses used in the Plymouth Township protest were last used by a church in Brownstown Township. Their next stop is a church in Litchia, Mehrl said.

Church members put the crosses in the ground after services on Sunday. "We've had a tremendous amount of enthusiasm and support from members of our congregation," he said, adding one church neighbor called to complain.

"I told them, 'You were in very poor taste,'" said Diana Bamrick of Plymouth Township, adding several people at a family gathering Sunday who drove by the protest agreed.

"I'm sick every time I drive by it. It's appalling. A child doesn't need to be seeing this," Bamrick said, adding she's complained to the township government.

Mehrl said his response was, "We felt disgusted too, we're trying to express our outrage." He said some have honked car horns and waved in support of the protest.

Of the protest, Mehrl said, "We are definitely trying to become more proactive," adding the church is also out to show it offers help to women considering abortions, and for those who've had them or carried babies to term.

Ornament taken

A 75-year-old Plymouth resident told police that sometime between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. April 5 someone removed a $65 hood ornament from his wife's 1989 Buick. The car was parked in the lower level of the central parking deck downtown at the time. It's the third time the hood ornament has been removed when the car's been in that location.

The man suspects the kids who hang around the parking deck.

Rescue run

Plymouth police responded to a call of a possible drug overdose involving a 46-year-old Hamilton Street resident April 7.

The victim was found face up on the couch, conscious but not responsive to questions. She was transported to St. Mary Hospital.

Officers were notified by the woman's 13-year-old daughter, who returned home from her cousin's home at 7:20 a.m. to find her mom in need of help. She went to a pay phone to call a relative, who called police.

The daughter told police she and her mom have lived in the apartment for two weeks, and that during that time, her mom has been depressed and talked of suicide. Another daughter is pregnant and in a shelter. The mother is having a hard time dealing with the situation and is on several different medications.

Rescue personnel were unable to determine what medication the victim ingested.

The daughter said the incident wasn't unusual, it happens all the time.

Police said the daughter took $6 from the mother's purse and planned to contact the aunt so she would have a place to stay while the mother was hospitalized.

Millage elections likely to remain

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Local school boards aren't out of the millage election business yet — contrary to popular misconceptions," said Dr. Robert Schiller, state education superintendent.

Despite voters' approval of Proposal A, the school finance reform plan, on March 15, district voters still need to approve local property tax millage rates some this spring, others in future years.

Plymouth Canton Superintendent John Hoben has said an enhancement millage may be needed by the school district, but there are currently no plans to put it on the ballot.

But didn't Gov. John Engler say Proposal A would "get school boards out of the millage business and back into education"? Why didn't anyone contradict him?

A lot of us didn't expect Kathleen Straus, a Democratic member of the State Board of Education from Detroit, "but no one listened. The governor had a better pulpit."

A lot of rhetoric against Proposal A has been that "We'll lose local control. But it turns out we still have a lot of local control," added Dorothy Beard, a Republican member of the state board from Rochester Hills.

Here's why everyone, sooner or later, will be voting on 18 mills of non-homestead property taxes. The Legislature (1) passed a six-mill statewide property tax on homes and farms and (2) established a 24-mill rate on second homes and businesses.

But that differential rate of 18 mills isn't a state tax. It must be approved locally in each school district and levied by the local school board. The Legislature couldn't pass the additional 18 mills itself because it would have run afoul of the 1975 Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment, which caps state revenues at a percentage of total personal income.

The local 18 mills is not automatic, Schiller told state education writers at a Monday news conference in Lansing.

That's where some confusion rests. To get its full foundation grant, a district must vote local.

School districts whose voters refuse to levy any or all of the 18 mills will see their state aid — known as "foundation grants" — reduced proportionately.

Every district is guaranteed $7,000 per pupil eventually. Districts currently spending up to $6,500 are guaranteed that amount as a foundation.

Not every district will vote at once. Department officials said 226 districts — about 40 percent of the 562 in the state — must vote this year. The rest still have existing voted millage. In time, however, those millages will expire and must be renewed at the 18 mill rate.

Voters can approve those operating mills for up to 20 years in a single election," Schiller said.

In addition, four other kinds of millage elections are possible. ■ "Hold harmless." About 40 districts, particularly in the metro Detroit suburbs, spend more than $6,500 per pupil. To spend at their old levels, they must ask voters immediately for additional homestead property taxes.

■ "Enhancement." Districts that want to enrich their programs may levy up to three mills for three years, but not past 1997.

Students protest denial of First Amendment rights

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Students who picketed the Board of Education Monday night with signs reading "Freedom of speech is a right" and "Fight the Nazis and the administration" plan to sue the school district over a policy they say restricts the right to free expression.

The students are led by Salem High School senior Melissa Greene and represented by Detroit attorney George Washington, who urged the board to reject the policy, which he said smacks of censorship and hypocrisy.

Contending it suppresses students' First Amendment rights, he called the policy — which requires administrative approval of student material written for distribution — "unlawful, undemocratic and unwise."

Greene was suspended one day for distributing a flier last month urging students to "organize and build for student power." Greene says students including herself are attacked by fascists at Plymouth Canton Educational Park for being anti-fascist.

Students at PCEP and elsewhere "blame society's problems on ethnic minorities and gays," she said. "They think the way to solve problems is to eliminate minorities and gays, and take away the rights of women and the working class."

District attorney Errol Goldman agreed that the first draft of the policy was overly broad. It's been revised "not to the extent the ACLU (American Civil Liberties Union) would like, but it's within the guidelines decided by the courts," he said. The policy protects the rights of free speech, he said.

The policy gives students "the right to distribute at reasonable times and places unofficial written material, except that which is obscene to minors, libelous, pervasively indecent, advertises services not permitted to minors by law, invades the rights of another person, constitutes fighting words, the very expression of which injures or harasses, or presents a clear and present likelihood that school operations will be disrupted."

"Anyone wishing to distribute or display non-school sponsored written material must first present for approval a copy" to administration.

Likening the school board to George Orwell's "1984" and Big Brother, Washington said in his years of practice, he's defended people accused of murder and rape. "Now this administration has given me the privilege of representing someone who is accused of the crime of possession of an idea with intent to distribute. That isn't a crime, and never will be."

Canton High School junior Carme Wheeler and other students who spoke said the administration can expect walkouts and student strikes. "We won't stop until students have control of their own school. I have one more year here, and I don't need to feel threatened."

Obviously, there has been a rise of fascism in America and in high schools, and your bureaucratic methods don't address it," said student Ron Lann of Fenton.

"I look at you and see white people in suits and ties. Your parents probably paid for you to go to college. We know what it's like to struggle out there every day. You think it's a mess now? You just wait."

School board president Roland Thomas said he expects the policy to apply to all students. "With constitutional rights comes responsibility," he said. "Students have certain rights to express their opinions, but within the guidelines of this policy." The policy passed 7-0.

Money stolen from restaurant

After grabbing $100-$120 from a cash register Saturday at the Pagoda Inn, 44515 Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township, a man fled and escaped in a small car, according to a report filed with township police. At about 10 p.m., a man described as white, 6 feet, thin and in his early 20s, asked an employee for change for the telephone, according to the report. Once the cash register was opened, he reached over and grabbed a bunch of $20 bills, ran out of the building, scaled a brick wall, got in a small car and left the scene. Police are investigating.

Radio enthusiasts plan meeting

The Stu Rockefeller Amateur Radio Society invites anyone interested in amateur radio to its next meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Meetings are on the second floor of the Plymouth City Hall and refreshments are provided. Field Day plans will be discussed at the Tuesday meeting. Field Day is an annual two-day exercise in which radio amateurs throughout the country operate under simulated emergency conditions using no utility power to test their ability to provide emergency communications.

The club will operate Field Day from the Plymouth Township Park at Ann Arbor Trail near McClumpha.

In describing Little, the board used phrases such as "dynamic leader, outgoing, high energy, and exceptional communicator." Trustees liked the fact that he considers the public to be his customers. They also like his high expectations for staff and students, focus on students, and visibility. Another plus is his non-adversarial bargaining technique, trustees said.

"He's an outstanding person," said board member Barbara Graham. "I liked his comments on how he interacts with the board. He has a strong development program for staff and students, focus on students, and visibility. Another plus is his non-adversarial bargaining technique, trustees said."

Monson oversees the well-regarded Westwood Public Schools, located in suburban Boston, with an enrollment of 2,000.

The board sees Monson as "an excellent communicator, articulate and thoughtful with strong management skills and high visibility." Trustees spoke highly about his staff development programs and strong academic background. "He lunches with staff and actively seeks input," trustees said. Board members also liked the fact that his district pays for employees to earn advanced degrees.

"He gave us a clear vision for educating children," said trustee Sue Feiten. "I saw a passion for the betterment of mankind. He wants to teach our children to act morally. He would be able to implement a plan, monitor it and re-evaluate it."

"He believes you have to model behavior you want kids to learn. He's an advocate for non-contradictory bargaining."

Airport from page 1A

And he'd like to know why, especially when he says he has been the only successful business at the airport in about 10 years. Malone wants to know why the state, which owns the airport, didn't just hire a manager for the facility.

"I have objected to this process from the beginning. The state has had a history of grandfather clauses," Malone said.

Since the state began the bidding process in late 1993, they re-bid in February 1994.

Malone said he's been sitting on the edge. "When you have a business in this circumstance, there's a reluctance of people to do business with you," he said.

Kitzie Aviation, which operates a small maintenance business out of an Oakland County Airport hangar, was the state's top choice and is negotiating a contract with state officials. Kitzie was not among original bidders in late 1993. Malone has 30 days to get out.

Randy Collier, state Bureau of Aeronautics licensing and enforcement manager, said the FBO and manager jobs were combined as a cost savings.

It's what's best for the airport. We felt we had the responsibility to the public to make sure we got the best deal. Collier said. "No. Money wasn't the only important item. We are trying to get the best operator for the deal."

Malone said airport users are organizing a petition that will be sent to Lt. Gov. Connie Binsfeld. We have a majority of support in the airport that we should stay here. People are satisfied with our job, Malone said.

Malone is also concerned about his investment. "I invested in more and more equipment (including airplanes and two fuel trucks). There has been no consideration, no discussion, no feeling of responsibility (on the state's part)," Malone said.

But Collier said Malone doesn't own any buildings or land at Metroport. "He'll take all that with him," Collier said.

Malone filed a Freedom of Information Act request to see bid documents of other participants in the process. Malone said Kitzie bid $1 for management and $1 for the premises, far below the range of $82,000-$145,000 to manage the facility.

on bread from Zingerman's Deli in Ann Arbor.

They include the "Desert Rose" on grilled Italian rustic bread with tomato pesto, mozzarella and tomatoes; the Harvest Moon Grill, which includes grilled eggplant, sweet red peppers, pesto and cheese on grilled sesame seed bread; and the Mexico City, a wrapped up botana. Most sandwiches are in the $4.25 to $5.25 range.

Juices, described as "quenchers and vitalizers" in the menu, include a carrot and apple juice combination, a carrot, apple and ginger drink and the "Anti-Virus Cocktail" of apple, orange and lemon juice combined.

Juice prices are $2.55 and $2.95. The Harvest Moon also offers Mexican botanas, salads and soups, and boxed and bottled food.

Yochum said the menu changes some as the seasons change. "Our soups in the winter are more hearty and filling. In spring we have more light salads and fruit salads."

Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays. The Harvest Moon is open until 9 p.m. Saturdays and open noon to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Once the streetscape goes in, Yochum said she hopes to put a few tables outside.

INTRODUCING The New Life Center at Providence Park

Where families are born...close to home

A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE
 Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH
 It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

THE CHOICES ARE MANY
 From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF Visit our Open House on Sunday, May 1. Our staff will be available to answer questions from 1:00 to 4:00 pm. Plus, there are free gifts waiting for you. Or, if you have questions now, give us a call.

Ex-Pursell aide announces Congress candidacy

Cynthia H. Wilbanks

Cynthia H. Wilbanks, president of Michigan's Children and former district coordinator for U.S. Rep. Carl D. Pursell, is seeking the Republican nomination in the race for Congress from the 13th District.

Wilbanks began the campaign Tuesday among supporters on the campus of Cleary College in Ypsilanti.

Observer communities that are part of the 13th District include Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Westland, Garden City and part of Livonia.

"She promised to run an aggressive, positive, grassroots campaign and to communicate with voters in every community of the district."

Wayne and Washtenaw counties deserve leadership in step with the concerns of area residents," said Wilbanks. "We live in a rapidly changing world which demands that our elected representatives in Washington employ new ideas and seek innovative solutions. Yesterday's tired approaches to today's fast paced problems simply no longer work," said said.

Wilbanks, 43, lives in Ypsilanti Township. She has more than 20 years of involvement in southeast Michigan, ranging from grassroots volunteer work to managing a congressional district staff to heading a statewide nonprofit child advocacy organization.

"I bring a solid record of proven leadership, one which will build toward the future while recognizing the past. I am committed to providing a new style of representation for our district, which reflects the firmly held beliefs, interest and hopes of the people of our congressional district."

"My personal experience was gained here in the communities which comprise the 13th District," she said. "My knowledge of the federal government comes from years of acting on behalf of constituents, not from years of manipulating the system from inside the Washington beltway," said Wilbanks.

Wilbanks is currently on leave from her position as president of Michigan's Children, a statewide nonprofit advocacy organization. She served as district coordinator for former Congressman Carl D. Pursell from 1979 to 1992. Before becoming district coordinator, she served as a field representative for Pursell from 1977 to 1979. She was a staff assistant for former Congressman Marvin Esch from 1973 to 1976.

"I know what issues are important to our district's voters," said Wilbanks, outlining economic growth, a balanced budget, crime and safety, education and concern about high taxes as items to be addressed.

"I also understand what's at stake. I understand the consequences of uncontrolled government spending, I understand the havoc wreaked on families due to increased violence, I understand the need to prepare our children to be competitive and successful in a world marketplace and the need to strengthen families in our communities," said Wilbanks.

"I have the ability to lead and work toward resolution of these issues. I don't intend to sit on the sidelines in Congress. Wayne and Washtenaw counties need a member of Congress who is informed, concerned and qualified," said Wilbanks.

A graduate of Redford High School, Wilbanks holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan. She is married to Roy Wilbanks and is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor.

She was a Republican nominee for the University of Michigan Board of Regents, has served as president of the Ann Arbor Republican Women's Club and is the vice chair of the Washtenaw County Republican Executive Committee.

Wilbanks' community activities include: Glacier Hills Retirement Center Board of Directors (1992 to present), advisory council chairperson for the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce Innovation Center (1989-1990), board of directors of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce (1988-1989), government relations co-chair for the Michigan Technology Council (1986-1988). She is a graduate of the Ann Arbor Chamber of Commerce Leadership Program (1986) and has worked as a volunteer for the local Meals on Wheels program.

She is a Rotary member and has served on the Volunteer Council for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

She was selected as an Outstanding Young Woman of America (1981).

Wilbanks is the second Republican to enter the race. John A. Schall of Ann Arbor, formerly of Livonia, announced his candidacy last year.

David Geiss of Wayne, a former aide to U.S. Rep. William E. Ford and Fulton Eaglin, an attorney from Ypsilanti Township, are seeking the Democratic nomination.

Filing deadline is May 10. The primary is Aug. 2.

Power line warning issued

Consumers Power is asking school principals for their assistance in helping children understand the danger associated with electric power lines and substations.

The request comes after a 12-year-old Comstock boy was fatally electrocuted when he touched a 46,000 volt power line while climbing a utility tower after school on March 28. The boy had climbed over a six foot, locked fence topped with 18 inches of barbed wire to gain access to the tower.

"I am calling on you as a school principal to help our children understand the danger associated with electric power lines and substations," said Paul Elbert, the utility's senior vice president for energy distribution, in a letter distributed to elementary and middle schools throughout Consumers Power's service territory.

The letter included an electric safety message aimed at young audiences to be reproduced and distributed to students. Consumers Power also has films, videos and teacher guides available to schools for use at no charge.

Consumers Power is the principal subsidiary of CMS Energy Corporation and Michigan's largest natural gas and electric utility, serving six million of the state's 9.5 million residents in 67 of the 68 Lower Peninsula counties.

Water Club Grill plans to open April 22

Veteran restaurant executive John Cleveland thinks Plymouth is the perfect spot for the ocean and the Great Lakes to meet and that is where he'll be locating his new Water Club Grill, 39500 Ann Arbor Road, scheduled to open April 22.

"Our goal is to be the destination seafood restaurant for the Plymouth Canton Livonia Novi Ann Arbor area," Cleveland said. "The Water Club Grill will feature a menu of fresh and salt water fish plus pasta, meat and chicken dishes in a fun atmosphere."

Cleveland is no stranger to seafood restaurants. A resident of Ypsilanti and native of Ann Arbor, he began his career in 1975 as a manager of Dooley's in Ann Arbor. He had two tours of duty with the CA Mier Corp. restaurant chain. From 1977-87, he served as an employee and executive assistant with East Side Charley's in Harper Woods, Northville Charley's, Northville, Fairlane Charley's, Dearborn and as a regional manager for the chain's facilities in Michigan and Colorado. In 1989 he rejoined the company managing the Gandy Dancer Restaurant in Ann Arbor and opening the Big Fish Restaurant in Dearborn.

Cleveland, a graduate of Michigan State University's School of Hotel and Restaurant Management, said he evaluated a variety of locations before deciding on the Ann Arbor site, which is just east of I-275.

"We have a golden opportunity to establish the seafood restaurant in this west side area, with the luxury of a major thoroughfare nearby," Cleveland said.

Cleveland said the Water Club Grill expects to employ 80 persons.

Jenkins, a resident of Livonia, began her career in 1977 with Meadowbrook Country Club in Northville as a wait person before joining the Italian Cucina restaurant in Plymouth in 1990 as general manager.

Restaurant names chef, manager

The Water Club Grill has named Tommy Keshishian executive chef and Joy Jenkins general manager.

John Cleveland, owner of the facility, made the announcement. The new restaurant, at 39500 Ann Arbor Road, is scheduled to open later this month.

Keshishian served as a chef with the Italian Cucina restaurant, also in Plymouth, since 1988. He also was chef with Maxwell's Restaurant in Farmington Hills, and an executive chef with

State report recommends 12 more appeals judges

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

State lawmakers grow weary of Marilyn K. Hall issues one of her State Court Administration reports.

Hall recommended the Court of Appeals, which now has 24 judges, get a minimum of 12 new judgeships no later than 1997.

Her report last November added that the Michigan Court of Appeals docket is growing faster than that of any of the other large comparison states. Criminal appeals increased by 122 percent in Michigan between 1988 and 1992. Civil appeals increased by 34 percent.

The Legislature, occupied with school reform and budget woes, responded by:

- Creating four new judgeships and restructuring the court.
- Placing Proposal B on the Nov. 8 ballot to cut down appeals by about one-third. The proposed constitutional amendment would eliminate the automatic right of appeal of convicts who had pleaded guilty, permitting appeals "by leave" (permission).

For years the court administrator has recommended a major expansion of the Court of Appeals, which handles 95 percent of appeals from trial courts. The caseload, she said, justifies 54 judges. The backlog is about three years. Each year 1,000 more appeals are filed than are disposed of.

The second highest court was created by the 1963 Constitution with nine judges. By 1986 it had doubled to 18. The current 24 judges work in panels of three.

Meanwhile, court watchers are predicting the Court of Appeals will turn more conservative because all the new judges will be added in the southwest portion of the state. No new judgeships are scheduled for the metropolitan Detroit area, where incumbents, never beaten, will be seeking reelection to six-year terms.

Wayne County was in the first district with five other counties, stretching west to Jackson. The new first district has just three counties—Wayne, Monroe and Lenawee. It will lose one judge, Thomas J. Brennan of Dearborn. His post will be eliminated because he is past 70 and may not run for reelection.

Incumbent Judges Roman S. Gribbs of Detroit and Maura Corrigan of Grosse Pointe Park have filed for reelection.

Oakland County was in the second district with 14 other counties, stretching west to Lansing and north to Arenac County. The new second district has four counties—Oakland, Macomb, Genesee and Shiawassee.

Incumbent Judges Michael J. Kelly and Marilyn J. Kelly, both of Bloomfield Hills but not related, and Kathleen Jansen of Harrison Township have filed for reelection.

The excitement will be in the new third district, which gets all four new appeals judges. That U-shaped district starts in Muskegon on the west, goes down to Berrien County and across southern Michigan, ending in Livingston County. Legislative elections indicate it's the most conservative section of the state.

Depending on the number of votes, the four winning candidates will have terms of 10, eight, eight and six years. Court watchers already refer to it as Gov. John Engler's "court packing plan."

The fourth district, northern lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, will gain Brennan's seat.

Hall sticks to her guns—more judges. Among 29 states with appellate courts, the average number of filings per judge was 205. In Michigan the average was 493 per judge.

Cost of adding four judges this year: $2.2 million in operating and a one-time expense of $428,000 for office equipment and furnishings.

Court employees unload on senators

BY TIM RICHARD

They're in the middle of the battle of the sexes. They deal with people in divorce—the most stressful human experience next to the death of a spouse or parent. They explain legalisms to non-readers. They come to work early and leave late.

They're Friend of the Court employees, and it was their turn Thursday to complain to state senators about how shabbily the public treats them.

"We deal with illiteracy. People can't understand forms or even the signs on the wall," said Fran Lesinski, a Troy resident who works for FOC in Wayne County.

"The organization has a pyramid shape. There are 400 employees, and there is no avenue to be

JA to honor civic leaders in business hall of fame

Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan will give out four academy awards of business at the second annual Business Hall of Fame on April 28 at the Ritz Carlton Hotel in Dearborn.

The winners are John Barfield, founder and chairman of Barfield Companies of Livonia, Walker Cisler, retired chairman of Detroit Edison, the late Eugene Power, founder of University Microfilms International, and the late Alfred Sloan Jr., former president of General Motors.

Tickets to the Business Hall of Fame are $150 and may be purchased by calling (313) 255-3900.

Barfield, 66, started the Barfield Companies in 1954 with the founding of Barfield Cleaning Company, which was sold to International Telephone and Telegraph in 1969. In 1974 Barfield established Barfield Building Maintenance, followed by Bartech Personnel Services in 1977 and Barfield Manufacturing in 1978. In 1990 Barfield incorporated Utility Support Services, which provides meter reading and other field support services to investor-owned electric and gas utility companies.

John Barfield

Walker Cisler

Alfred Sloan

Cisler, 96, grew up in rural Pennsylvania and graduated from Cornell University in 1922 with a degree in mechanical engineering.

After many years with New Jersey's Public Service Electric and Gas, Cisler joined Detroit Edison as chief engineer of power plants in 1943. Almost immediately, he was given a leave of absence to serve in the Army overseas. Originally commissioned a lieutenant colonel and assigned to the rehabilitation of utilities in the Mediterranean Theater of Operations, he was appointed chief of public utilities by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and given responsibility for directing the restoration of utility services in Germany.

Returning to Detroit Edison after the war, Cisler was elected executive vice president in 1948, a director in 1951 and president later that year. In 1964 he was elected chairman of the board, a position he held until his retirement in 1975.

Power, who died last year at the age of 88, attended the University of Michigan, where he got a bachelor's degree in 1927 and a master's degree in 1930. From then until 1938 he worked with Edwards Brothers, an Ann Arbor publishing firm, and engaged in experiments with microfilm techniques for reproduction of research materials.

In 1938 he founded University Microfilms International and began offering microfilm editions of rare books to the scholarly market as a way to preserve and disseminate data that would not otherwise be available. The next year he established a dissertation publishing program with a pioneering goal: Doctoral candidates could make dissertations available to others on microfilm on an economical on-demand basis.

Power was instrumental in the growth and development of the micrographic industry. He founded the National Microfilm Association and the International Micrographics Congress, organized the first large microfilming project for libraries, and helped procure a core group of German scientific journals and disseminated the data therein to western scientific community during the war.

UMI was purchased by Xerox in 1962 and then acquired by Bell & Howell in 1985. Today UMI is a major information publishing company with headquarters in Ann Arbor and offices around the world.

Sloan, who died in 1966 at the age of 91, received an electrical engineering degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology before the turn of the century and began his career with Hyatt Roller Bearing in New Jersey. Sloan ran the bearing company as general manager from 1899 to 1916, when William Durant persuaded him to become president of United Motors, a new combination of parts suppliers to the auto industry. Two years later United Motors became part of General Motors and Sloan became a director and vice president in charge of accessory operations.

Sloan assumed the presidency of GM in 1923, a time when the corporation accounted for about 10 percent of new car sales in this country. When he retired in 1956 the corporation had become the largest producer of cars and trucks in the world.

heard or to proceed with a career path," Lesinski told a subcommittee chaired by Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

"These are fierce battlefields," said Eaton Circuit Judge Thomas Eveland. "There are outrageous and unfounded attacks. Disagreements turn to diatribes. There are complaints of gender bias on both sides."

"Emotional people plus an adversarial process result in an explosive situation," Eveland said.

Geake chairs a subcommittee of the Senate Family Law Committee. In eight hearings around the state, starting with Livonia and Pontiac, he has heard Friend of the Court staffers take hours and hours of brutal beatings from people with very serious complaints.

"Many of you will say, 'We can do a better job with more resources,' and that's all right. We realize the resources have not kept pace with the growing rate of divorce."

Friend of the Court is an arm of circuit courts, half of whose caseload is divorce suits. FOC processes child support and alimony payments, deals with child custody squabbles, and holds conciliation conferences. One FOC employee after another cited evidence that Michigan's system is the best in the nation, the envy of many states and even foreign nations.

"Our operation needs attention, resources and direction," said James Rashid, chief judge of Wayne Circuit Court, whose FOC operation has drawn the bulk of the criticism.

"Make SMILE mandatory," said Rashid, referring to an Oakland County program of three times-a-month meetings with people going through divorces. The acronym stands for "Start Making It Livable for Everyone."

Rashid urged lawmakers not to limit a judge's authority to order custody and visitation. "Resist the temptation to make hard and fast rules for decision makers."

"You heard people who purport to have complaints against the Friend of the Court," said Ellen Abbott, FOC for the Oscoda and Moesta counties circuit. "The bulk weren't."

About cited complaints, Geake heard about unenforced court orders, failure to make pickups on bench warrants, failure to prosecute bad checks, failure to prosecute kidnappers, stalking, lies by the other party, and just bad parenting — all the duties of judges, police, prosecutors and ex-spouses, but all blamed on FOC staffers.

Funding is inadequate, said Clinton County FOC Terry Clarke, because county general funds are the primary budget source. "Our revenues go to county general funds. Then we have to compete with other needs."

There was a strong consensus among FOCs that they should continue to be accountable to circuit judges rather than being to prosecutors or the county board.

Schoolcraft College has sewing seminar

Schoolcraft College's 11th annual Sewing Seminar will take place 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 30, in the Liberal Arts Building on the Livonia campus. Fees are $57. Call 467-4448.

The keynote speaker will be Peg Treacy, an award-winning corporate image consultant and president of Churnhill Associates. She will discuss why perceptions are more influential than reality, and the way others see you is the way they believe you are. Participants will see how clothing style and colors ultimately influence the personal package they present. Treacy's corporate clients include General Motors, McDonald's, Ameritech and First Federal of Michigan.

The seminar comprises 44 workshops, including making bridal gowns, beading, working with luxury fabric, heirloom sewing, seiger techniques, couture trims, leather and suede, flat pattern design and duplicate stitch embellishment.

Sewing books recommended by the seminar's teachers will be available for purchase, and creative displays featuring the latest in sewing technology will be presented.

County seeks soil pollution control

By RALPH R. ECHINAW
STAFF WRITER

Industrial and commercial development of polluted land in Wayne County would likely accelerate if a change in state law requested by county government is approved.

County officials want to take over many of the key oversight responsibilities of the state Department of Natural Resources, which has been criticized for being slow in processing the pollution remediation permits that developers need to build on contaminated land.

"We have too many problems with the DNR," said county commission vice chairwoman Kay Beard, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City.

They don't seem to understand urban problems. They're heavily weighted with rural people.

Last December, Wayne County government got Lansing approval to regulate air pollution. A new county Department of the Environment was formed, and now county officials are trying to get authority to regulate the issuance of ground contamination remediation permits.

This would come with $22 million from the state government to pay for overflying.

The DNR currently issues these permits, which tell developers just how clean they have to make their property before building on it.

However, some developers have waited more than two years for the DNR to act on a permit application. Wayne County deputy executive Michael Duggan told the mayors and supervisors of 28 communities at the Conference of Western Wayne meeting April 8 that county government would have answers to permit applications within 90 days.

The CWW passed a resolution supporting Wayne County's efforts, and the county commission seems unanimous in support.

"This is a practical approach to protecting the environment and the people of Wayne County," said Jim Anselowicz, Plymouth Township public services director.

The next major hurdle is expected to be a public hearing the morning of Tuesday, April 19, in the state House's Conservation, Environment and Great Lakes Committee. The hearing will be on the fourth floor of the Capitol building in Lansing. The public is welcome.

Committee members will listen to public opinion and discuss the three House bills (6063, 6064 and 6065) that would give Wayne County the responsibility to administer ground pollution laws.

"If we get this thing out of committee, we're going to be in business," Duggan said. "If we don't, it's going to be a long process."

Wayne Township Supervisor Tom York asked Duggan who would take over the day-to-day administration of the laws.

County manager Michael Frawick, D-Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township and part of Livonia, supports the county government's plan that recommends appointing a deputy clerk to head the department, he said.

Pitches: Duggan asked the Conference of Western Wayne to support the county effort to take administrative control of soil contamination.

Commissioner Thaddeus McCarter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township, takes a practical view of protecting the environment.

County's health care plan can benefit local employers

BY RALPH R. ECHLINAW
STAFF WRITER

President Bill Clinton's public health care plan might be stalled in Congress, but Wayne County's contribution to medical insurance goes into operation next month.

"We think this is going to bring national attention when this thing gets rolling," said Patty Kukula, the director of Wayne County's Patient Care Management System.

Once operating at capacity, the system is supposed to provide health coverage for people who work in Wayne County and their dependents. The maximum number of people the system can cover is 12,000.

Here's how it works: Area hospitals collectively contribute $4.5 million a year to the cause, which covers one third of the cost of the health coverage and the administrative cost of screening and processing applicants.

Two companies called "A Total Health Choice" and "A Best Choice Alliance" will provide the coverage for $108 per month per person. (Cost for dependents may vary.)

However, there are restrictions.

Employers must pay at least one third of the cost, or about $35. Employers may choose to pay all or part of the last one third. Employees pay the rest.

At least five employees per employer must be signed up.

None of them can have had health coverage within the past year.

The average rate of pay for participating employees can be no more than $10 an hour.

Ben Ciccarelli, owner of Livonia's Affordable Dry Basement, was one of the first employers to sign up.

Ciccarelli has six employees, and says that providing health coverage ought to help him retain good employees. "It's tough enough competing with the guys who aren't properly licensed and insured, let alone provide health insurance," he said. "If you have anybody who's any good, and they get an opportunity to move on, they'll do it without health care."

But Ciccarelli is skeptical enough to say he'll participate cautiously and see if it works out. "We could always bow out gracefully and hook up with something else."

Other employers contacted by the Observer were miffed because they didn't qualify for the program.

Roger Hoshuk, a Plymouth attorney, sought health coverage for himself and a secretary, but was turned down because he doesn't have five employees. "I constantly have my ear to the ground when it comes to health insurance," he said. "There's no good system out there."

MichCon warns of imposters

The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. is reminding customers to beware of imposters.

First, request identification. All MichCon employees must carry a photo ID card. Customers are encouraged to carefully examine the identification card and match the information and photograph with the person claiming to be a MichCon employee.

Second, ask the purpose of the visit. If customers call for service, the MichCon employee will be able to explain the reason for the call. Finally, if customers are still suspicious of the person claiming to be from MichCon, customers should not allow the individual into their homes.

Call MichCon for verification. Customers also are advised to know how their gas meters are read. Approximately 90 percent of MichCon meters in the metropolitan Detroit area are read from outside of the home. The majority of inside gas meters have been converted to outside meter reading devices.

MichCon is a wholly owned subsidiary of M.C.N. Corporation, a natural gas distribution, transmission and storage company serving 1.1 million customers.

Attack on MEA

Teacher union would suffer with House plan

STAFF WRITER

Republican lawmakers this week are trying a showdown move to chip the wings of the powerful Michigan Education Association.

Democrats call it "anti-union, anti-teacher, anti-local control."

House Republicans intend to discharge their pet bill from the House Labor Committee, bringing it directly to the House floor where they have a 55-52 advantage and a chance of passing it in April.

"That bill has an anti-strike provision, management rights and required bidding on things like health insurance," said Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, who supports the discharge.

"The governor stopped by our caucus. He thanked us for keeping up the issue, and for showing courage and true leadership," Vorva said.

Gov. John Engler proposed those measures in his Oct. 5 special message on education, but they were little discussed during the months-long debate over finance in Proposal A.

The big political question was whether all 55 Republican representatives would hold fast to force the bill to the floor and pass it. Vorva said there were "minor items" of disagreement but wouldn't reveal the closed caucus discussion.

Rep. Jerry Vorva

Under the shared leadership system, a Democrat chairs the Labor Committee this month while Republican co-speaker Paul Hillegonds presides over the full House.

Democratic co-speaker Dennis Hertel appointed Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, and seven other Democrats to a task force which will conduct public hearings on the bill. The first is at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 14, in the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building, 2 Woodward, Detroit.

MEA represents some 120,000 teachers, administrators and school employees in most districts outside Detroit.

The bill would provide sanctions against teacher strikes, strengthen administrators' powers, and require school boards to bid out health insurance and other contracts instead of letting MEA bargain on behalf of its subsidiary, MESSA, an administrator of benefits.

There is strong support for such legislation in the Senate, controlled 21-16 by Republicans.

The Senate, however, is waiting for action from the House where support is weaker.

"There's a 60 percent chance we'll get something," predicted Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion.

"The amendments would also affect higher education," said Jack Nightingale, a faculty member at Eastern Michigan University and president of the Michigan Conference of the American Association of University Professors.

"It may be that Republican supporters of Proposal A already see that it will result in a serious financial shortfall in funds for education and are looking for ways to control costs by placing the burden on the backs of teachers and professors," said Nightingale.

The AAUP chief and Democrats said anti-strike sanctions are aimed entirely at teachers, not against boards and administrators who fail to bargain in good faith.

Hertel said Republicans are attempting "to punish the unions for not supporting the governor's school finance plan or to head off the predicted shortfall in K-12 funding."

AROUND PLYMOUTH

Eight in race

Eight residents will vie for three seats on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education in the June 13 election.

Two four-year terms are open. Voters also will fill the remaining year of Dean Swartzwelter's four-year term.

Running for the four-year terms are Stephen Kijanczyk of Canton, Susan E. Davis of Canton, Carol Bollman of Canton, Peggy Kalis of Plymouth, and Mark Horvath of Canton.

Seeking the one-year seat are trustee Susan Feiten of Plymouth Township, Valerie Greene of Plymouth Township, and Carolyn Bradley of Canton.

Feiten was appointed last November after Swartzwelter resigned for personal reasons.

Expiring are the four-year terms of trustees Les Walker and Carl Battishill, neither of whom is seeking re-election.

The award will be presented at the chamber's Business Expo May 3 at the Mayflower Hotel.

Nominations for awards given to three high school juniors and seniors should be sent to the chamber at 386 S. Main St., Plymouth 48170. The award focus is on citizenship, extracurricular activities and academic performance of a student. Deadline for nominations is April 21.

Chorus performs

The 125-voice Plymouth Community Chorus performs its 20th anniversary spring concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 23, and 4 p.m. Sunday, April 24, at Plymouth Salem High School at Joy and Canton Center roads.

Tickets are $7 for adults and $5 for seniors, available in Plymouth at Sideways gift shop, and in Canton at Dearborn Music and the Agape Book Store.

Stamp show to leave mark on city

The 25th Plymouth Stamp Show will take place on Saturday and Sunday, April 23-24, at the Plymouth Central Middle School, located at Church Street and Main in downtown Plymouth.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday. It is sponsored by the West Suburban Stamp Club.

Gov. John Engler has issued a proclamation declaring the week of April 18 to 24 as Michigan Stamp Week. His declaration coincides with The Plymouth Show dates.

The West Suburban Stamp Club will offer a special stamp cancel by the Plymouth post office and set of two cachet covers honoring the Detroit Tigers on the 10th anniversary of their 1984 World Series Championship. The design for one cover will feature an old English "D" with a tiger head inset; the other cover will feature the tiger head alone. Printed in orange and black, the team colors of the Detroit Tigers, this year marks the first time the Club has issued color cachets.

The covers will bear a Babe Ruth commemorative and a Winter

Olympics commemorative. The show cancel design features the inscription "1984 World Champions" centered between the dial and the team's traditional old English "D."

Collectors can obtain the covers at the show or by mail at a cost of $4 per pair. To order by mail, send a check or money order along with a No. 10 stamped, self-addressed envelope to Hal Williams, West Suburban Stamp Club, PO Box 700049, Plymouth, Mich. 48170.

The Plymouth Show is a qualifying national show in the APS "World Series of Philately." The Grand Award winner of this Show will be eligible, along with the winners of 31 other qualifying shows, for the APS "Champion of Champions" competition at Stampshow 94 to be held in August in Pittsburgh, Pa. The grand award winner of The Plymouth Show will receive a framed original duck drawing by noted wildlife artist Larry Hilliard.

In addition to the Grand Award, a Reserve Grand Award, the usual five levels of medals and a number of special awards will be presented to exhibitors.

Science Olympiad teams to compete

The Science Olympiad teams from Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools are scheduled to compete Saturday, April 23, in the Science Olympiad State Tournament at Michigan State University.

The teams qualified for state competition after Salem placed first and Canton placed second in the Wayne County Science Olympiad Regional Tournament. Coached by Marcia Luzzo and Mary Gerrelts, the Salem team is led by captains Ben Hess and Stephanie Hong. Under the direction of coach Jerry Morris, the Canton team is led by captains Piyush Bharti and Delia Chien.

Members of the Canton team competing in the tournament were Kim Anderson, Bharti, David Chan, Chien, Mhairi McCune, Dan Millward, Jacob Montgomery, Paul Moore, Larry Morris, Justin Palk, Dardik Saraiya, Praveen Sateesh, Jennifer Schnoes, Kai Sung and Jaime Tache.

Salem team members competing were Sangita Baxi, Jason Coats, Mike Dahn, Mark Flynn, Hess, Hong, Harry Lee, Mike Lim, Shan Niroola, Vinod Rans, E.J. Sieracki, Deepa Sreenivasan, Brian Tiburzi, Jessica Turza, Mike Ozbolt, Neel Varde and Julie Warne.

Bills would end prisoner 'good behavior' option

BY TIM RICHARD
Staff Writer

A Senate panel listened to the murdered girl's mother — the issue is loss, not cost — and advanced two bills that could add $100 million to the cost of Michigan prisons.

Circulated petitions, and I expected their signers' concerns would be the increase in taxes," said Alana Hoelt, whose daughter, Cynthia Marie Jones of Marquette, was among the victims of serial killer Leslie Allen Williams.

I could count on the fingers of one hand the number of people concerned about an increase in taxes. The issue was loss, not cost," Hoelt told the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He (Williams) was not made to serve his minimum time in prison," said Hoelt, who helped collect more than 2,000 petition signatures asking for "truth in sentencing" laws.

Who would oppose this except criminals?" added Linda Clark, Flint widow with two children. Her husband, Kevin, was murdered last spring by five teenagers. "We know their sentence will be substantially less than what we hear in that courtroom."

If there is anything that speaks soft on crime, it is time off for good behavior," said Patrick G. Urban, Fenton father of two of Williams' young victims.

The Senate group heard only one dissenting voice as it gave 30-0 approval to two bills Tuesday and sent them to the full Senate. The bills would:

- Assure that felons who commit assaultive crimes would serve at least the minimum sentence in secure confinement. Currently, some may be paroled or released to half-way houses.

- Eliminate "good time" which can reduce an inmate's sentence by seven days per month and replace it with "bad time" under which an inmate's sentence could be lengthened beyond the minimum for prison infractions.

Committee chair William Van Regenmortel, R-Jemison, said the state may need 30,000 additional prison beds (currently, 30,000 beds are behind bars). The Senate Fiscal Agency estimated a one-time construction cost of $90 million and annual operating costs of $38 million. This year the Corrections Department budget is $1.1 billion.

The dissenter was Barbara Levine, director of the Michigan Appellate Assigned Counsel Office, who, nevertheless, admitted.

Truth in sentencing is a wonderful slogan.

It's wrong, Levine said, to lengthen a prison sentence for minor institutional infractions, as disobeying an order, insolence, fighting with another prisoner and unauthorized occupation of a cell.

By eliminating "good time," Levine said, "You're taking away time (lengthening the sentences) from people who aren't misbehaving."

Michigan could have truth in sentencing, she said, if judges explained disciplinary credits at the time of sentencing. "Seven days a month isn't hard to compute. They would have to serve at least 77 percent of the minimum sentence," she said.

Prosecutors have the power to lengthen sentences by (1) selecting how they will charge, (2) demanding, (3) not plea bargaining down too far, and (4) and appealing light sentences.

Levine drew the committee's ire when she said spending more on prisons "takes money away from social programs."

If enacted, the bills would apply to those convicted of first- or second-degree murder, kidnapping and hostage taking, drunk driving or drunk boat that caused death or long-term injury, burning a house, buildings, woods or mines, assault, armed robbery, unarmed robbery and bank robbery, disarming a police officer, breaking and entering an occupied house, first-degree child abuse and sexually abusive activity.

Local students learn to design with computers

Students from the Plymouth Canton Education Center are preparing for careers in technical fields by enrolling in Computer Aided Design (CAD) courses offered as part of the district's articulation program at Plymouth Canton Education Park.

Three levels of the program in Drawing CAD exist, an offered which include course in Architecture and Computer Aided Design. These courses are designed to prepare students for employment after graduation.

Open to students from Plymouth Canton and other district schools, the classes are taught by Carl Wyman at PCEC. He is a part of the district's articulation program in the technical field.

In Engineering Drawing I CAD I, students are introduced to engineering drawing using scales, triangles, templates and compasses. Students develop multiple views of objects and they learn how to dimension them. As sectioned parts and 3-D drawings are constructed, students begin to see how products are manufactured. In this course, students begin to make drawings on the computer and generate hard copies on a plotter.

The second course, Engineering Drawing II CAD II, helps students determine if they want to go into architecture or engineering. Students learn to solve mechanical engineering problems. Using IBM computers, students work on the AutoCAD computer program only AutoDesk.

According to Wyman, this program is the most popular one at the colleges and industry for training in CAD. Architectural drawing also is studied in this course. Students learn the structural parts of a building, how to read a complete set of house plans and how to design floor plans and elevations.

In Engineering Drawing III CAD III, advanced engineering drawing skills are learned. Students develop descriptive geometry problems on the drawing table and create 3-D drawings on the computer using AutoCAD. Students conclude the class by completing a working drawing in the field of choice, such as mechanical, welding, piping, electrical, aeronautical or civil engineering.

In Architectural and Computer Aided Design, residential architecture is explored. Students study how current building materials and methods are used to produce the post modern designs they will develop on the drawing table and computer. They learn all of the necessary skills to draw a complete set of house plans. Related study includes community planning and building codes.

"In the CAD classes, students can visualize and apply things they learned in physics classes," Wyman said. "Students are self directed and excited about learning descriptive geometry and CAD."

Wyman explained that a great deal of time is spent teaching students descriptive geometry, which makes doing the 3-D CAD much easier. Students learn the "language of industry," which prepares them for college and the workforce.

Prior to graduation, students who have taken these classes are sought for employment by local companies. Some students are hired as full time employees after graduation and others use their skills to work part time jobs while attending college. About two-thirds of the nearly 300 students enrolled in the classes are planning to attend four year colleges after graduation. The rest plan to enroll in two year technical programs at local community colleges.

Senior Shane Bjorge of Plymouth plans to study civil engineering at Michigan Technological University next fall.

"I am already prepared to do many of the drawings required in college courses," Bjorge said. "I have learned to visualize what objects look like. I will have to do a lot of that as an engineer."

Bjorge credits his teacher with providing students the kind of instruction they need to learn the skills they will use in their careers.

"Mr. Wyman is a great teacher," Bjorge said. "He doesn't just tell us what to do. He lets us think on our own and work together in groups."

To encourage female participation in the classes, Wyman will be a presenter in this year's "Girls Excel in Math and Science (GEMS)" conference. Offered to middle school students, this conference is designed to encourage girls to pursue careers in math and science fields.

Next fall, the advanced drafting and the CAD courses will be combined and taught in a larger classroom. This larger teaching area will allow students to share computer equipment.

As a part of the district's Tech Prep Program, an articulation agreement with Henry Ford Community College is being finalized for implementation in the fall. The agreement will allow high school students to receive college credit for CAD classes they have taken at PCEC.

Any business or individual interested in supporting the program by donating IBM computers which are capable of running the AutoCAD program may call the Math and Vocational Education Office at 416-7905.

Summer camp offered for elementary kids

The Extended Day program will offer elementary school children a safe and fun environment during the summer months. The program is offered at the Plymouth Canton Education Center from August 1 through August 19.

The program will provide hands on service training from Operation SMART, a pioneering national program of Girl's Incorporated. The weekly charge for the program, including all field trips, will be $120 with a 10 percent discount if a family has more than one child enrolled.

The summer camp offers a variety of after school activities, including arts, sports, activities, and field trips. Registration can be obtained at your child's elementary school or from the Extended Day Office in the Education Center, 40200 Five Lakes, Plymouth. For more information, call 420-7040, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Day-care registration scheduled

Registration for the 1994-95 Extended Day child care program offered by the Plymouth Canton Community School District will take place in April and May.

From April 18 to 29, children currently enrolled in the Extended Day Program may be registered for the 1994-95 school year.

Families using the service on a fixed schedule will pay $4.50 per day for morning care and $5.50 per day for afternoon care. For families that require a flexible schedule, the fees will be $5.50 for a morning and $6.50 for an afternoon. Families contracting for a maximum schedule (five days, both morning and afternoon) will pay $9.50 per day.

New families will have the opportunity to register for the program at their child's elementary school from 4:30 to 6 p.m. on the following days:

- Eriksson, May 2; Hoben, May 4; Miller, May 5; Fiegel, May 9; Bird, May 10; Farrand, May 11; Allen, May 12; Field, May 16; Smith, May 17; Isbister, May 19;

Gallimore, May 24; Hulsing, May 25.

Staff will be available on these dates to answer questions and to accept applications. Enrollment is limited and will be conducted on a first-come, first-served basis. For more information, contact the Extended Day office at 420-7040 or 420-7041.

In the heating and cooling game, the odds are 4 to 1 in your favor.

Geothermal heating and cooling is four times more efficient than propane or natural gas.

There are several energy choices when it comes to heating and cooling, but only one is four times more efficient than the rest: Geothermal.

Geothermal is the most advanced, cost-effective heating and cooling system available. It uses the earth's constant temperature to create an even, comfortable temperature in your home. Geothermal can save you up to 60% on your annual heating, cooling and hot water costs. It's easy to operate and requires virtually no maintenance. Plus, it's good to the earth, using a natural and renewable energy source that's clean and safe with no open flames or fumes.

Geothermal: It's your best bet.

To learn more about Geothermal, call Detroit Edison's Heating and Cooling Information Center at 1-800-833-2786.

Area students put up houses

Six Madonna University students traveled to Wichita, Kansas, during spring break to build houses for low-income families as part of the Habitat Collegiate Challenge.

The students are Angie Moloney of Livonia, Emily Litvinski and Rachael Larose of Redford Township, Anne Mondro of Westland, Dawn Phillips of Detroit and Steve Dorobek of Lincoln Park.

Hotline is for racing wrongs

The Michigan Racing Commission has a new toll-free, confidential hotline for reporting rule violations and safety hazards on the state's eight horse racing tracks. The hotline, (800) 973-5000, is open 24 hours a day. Callers will reach a recorded message that instructs them to leave information pertaining to the rule violation or other information they wish to report. All calls are free of charge.

Opera theater holds Mom's Day contest

This Mother's Day, children can give their female parent the royal treatment by voting her Cinderella for a weekend.

In honor of Mother's Day and Michigan Opera Theatre's production of Prokofiev's Cinderella ballet May 6-8 at Detroit's Masonic Temple, there will be an essay contest for children age 5-12. They are asked to express in 150 words or less why their female parent deserves to be treated like Cinderella.

Included with all entries must be the mother's name, child's name and age, address, phone number, grade and name and location of school.

The winner's female parent will receive a dress and shoes from Hudson's and a make-over. Then she and up to six people may eat dinner in The Grille at The Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Then the gang will be chauffeured to and from the Masonic Temple for the 8 p.m. performance of Cinderella.

The female parents of the runners-up in the contest will get prizes, too.

The winner will be announced 2-6 p.m. Wednesday, April 27, on WQRS-FM. Entries must be postmarked by Friday, April 22, and mailed to Michigan Opera Theatre, Cinderella For A Weekend, 6619 Second Ave., Detroit, MI 48202. For additional data, call (313) 874-7830.

School board members get kudos for extra studying

Eleven area school board trustees and eight boards of education are among 78 trustees and 40 boards that will receive Keys Awards from the Michigan Association of School Boards April 21.

The trustees earn points toward Keys Awards through formal instruction, workshops and seminars on education issues, through service to their communities and on the job experience.

The winners of awards of merit are Bloomfield Hills Public Schools trustee Deborah Macon, Clarencville Public Schools trustee Lisa Burr and Linda Ahnert, Livonia Public Schools trustee Susan Thompson, Troy School District trustee Rebecca Rader and Farmington Public Schools trustee Joseph Svoke, who also won a certified board member award.

Awards of distinction were given to Avondale School District trustee Gerald Sieh and Rochester Community Schools trustee Darlene Woolsey Janulis.

Certified board member awards went to Avondale School District trustee Janice Pohl and Livonia Public Schools trustee Kenneth Timmons.

Standard of excellence awards, which go to boards on which at least half the members have received the award of merit, were given to the following school boards: Bloomfield Hills, Clarencville, Farmington, Garden City, Livonia, South Redford and Troy.

World's Most Powerful Slow Drain Cleaner

Imagine how thick the "ring" in your bathtub would be if it wasn't cleaned since your house was built. That is how thick the gunk in your pipes is. No wonder you have slow drains!

Most of your drain pipes are horizontal like your tub. If you pour a drain opener into the tub, it just runs along the bottom. The thick scum ring on the sides is left behind. That happens in your pipes, too!

Plumb Clean is an exclusive, highly concentrated powder. It clings and attaches to the build-up. Plumb Clean then penetrates into the build-up and biodegrades the soap scum, grease, food particles and other waste leaving your pipes clean and trouble free.

Plumb Clean contains Plurazyme™, the most powerful enzyme complex available. In fact, Plumb Clean was rated Best Buy by a leading consumer magazine. Plumb Clean is so safe a child can use it. That makes it good for the environment too! It's so revolutionary it's money-back guaranteed!

School superintendent Tougher questions needed

The Plymouth Canton school board narrowed down the field of six superintendent candidates to three this week and will interview them extensively next week.

All are from school districts from outside of Michigan. They are Gary Hagler, Durand Area Schools; Charles Little, of the Frontier Central Schools in suburban Buffalo, and Robert Monson, of the Westwood, Mass., schools.

When they are interviewed we urge school board members to ask tougher questions, the main one being: How do you plan to give kids a good education under Proposal A?

In the wake of the tax shift mandated by the March 15 election, and the setting of per pupil spending by the state, that question is the most significant. And it was conspicuously absent last week when the six candidates for the superintendent's job were interviewed.

The list of 10 questions were light weight and could be answered by anyone who has taken a management 101 class in college. The questions focused on communication, planning, professional development and labor negotiations.

Also missing, apart from a question about school finances, was a question about school curriculum.

Developmental education being pushed by the school district has become controversial to some parents. And asking superintendent candidates which way they would go on the issue would have been a benefit.

Again, that didn't happen. But there was more that didn't happen. The names of the 67 people who applied for the job were not made public. They should have been. Critics have complained that no women were among the six finalists. If that list would have been made public that issue could have been addressed.

The list was kept private by a Chicago consulting firm charged with narrowing down the field. By keeping that list private and allowing that firm to select the finalists, the school board has abdicated its role as the public overseers of the school district.

The board has allowed the educational establishment and professional educators to take over the role that should be played by elected officials.

Residents in Plymouth and Canton won't ever know if there was a well qualified woman among the 67 people who applied. They'll also never know if a local educator applied for the job. The very least the school board could do now is make that list public.

But while we are critical of the process used, we wish the school board the best success in selecting a new superintendent. The three finalists appear well qualified for the job and all have been involved in fine educational experiences.

However, let's hope the board asks significant questions when the second round of interviews with the narrowed down field starts next week.

It's the least the board can do for the public.

A welcome limit on appeals

Our state Court of Appeals is like the funny poster they sell in office supply stores showing a harried worker with his legs spinning like wheels as he runs. In the caption, he says:

"The harrier I go, the behinder I get."

The more appellate judges we add, the farther behind the court gets. The case backlog grows faster than the taxpayers' ability to pay for new judges.

In 1965, the Court of Appeals first full year in business, there were nine judges. By the 1980s there were 18 judges. Since 1980 we've been blessed to have 24 judges.

This year we'll add four more justices for a total of 28. And that's a pittance. Jay Marilyn K. Hall, the state court administrator, her conservative recommendation for 1994 is 12 more judges, and she adds that we really ought to have 54 to keep the workload the same as other states.

Meanwhile, Michigan's population has been virtually flat. We have seen a slight increase in manufacturing jobs, we have seen farming shrink, and our school enrollments are falling, but the number of appellate judges just grows and grows.

The culprit: more case filings, more appeals. Hall's numbers are mind numbing: in 1970 we kept it simple at 290 filings, by 1980 that grew to 600 in 1990 and more than 1,000 in 1993. Generally a 15 percent increase a year.

Well, instead of adding more Court of Appeals judges until half the state is hearing judicial appeals from the other half, let's examine the problem at the source. There is a way to cut extraneous appeals without harming the quality of justice.

Yes, Voters should consider supporting Proposal B on the Nov. 8 ballot. It would curtail the Court of Appeals workload by 50 percent or so by denying convicts who plead guilty the automatic right to appeal.

In real life, the Court of Appeals almost always affirms lower court decisions when the convict says he had a bad attorney, should have been charged with a lesser crime, or uses other jailhouse-lawyer malarkey.

The Michigan Constitution (Art. 1, Sec. 20) grants "an appeal as a matter of right." Proposal B would add "except that an appeal by an accused who pleads guilty or nolo contendere to a crime shall be by leave (permission) of the court."

In other words, a convict still could appeal if he has a good case, but it wouldn't be an automatic right.

In real life, the Court of Appeals almost always affirms lower court decisions when the convict says he had a bad attorney, should have been charged with a lesser crime, or uses other jailhouse-lawyer malarkey.

But it will send a few cases back for resentencing when the judge has departed from sentencing guidelines by imposing too long a prison term without a good reason stated on the record.

Michigan's sentencing guideline system, based on actual judicial experience, is only a few years old. It's a common sense system. The guidelines work to save many an offender from an overly harsh sentence imposed by a vindictive judge having a bad day.

Proposal B—to eliminate automatic appeals by those who have pleaded guilty—is also a common sense solution to the cancerous Court of Appeals docket.

To weary taxpayers, Proposal B makes more sense and costs less than adding dozens of new judges at $108,000 a year apiece.

LETTERS

Indy on Powell

This letter is for all the "Indy" drivers who drive "Powell's race track." This road is dangerous. There are potholes galore, small hills which obstruct vision, children walking or riding bikes, and of course animals. I have a difficult time pulling out of my driveway. I can look and all is clear, but suddenly "Mario Andretti" is on my bumper. Why drive so fast down a road that throws gravel at your car, and runs your suspension? After all, you're only going to the stop sign at Beck and you have to wait there for at least 10 minutes. What's the rush? Maybe Powell Road wouldn't look like a street from California's earthquake if some of you would slow down.

Maybe a better name for Powell would be "Township Turpike." Slow down.
Debby Seaton, Plymouth

Auction success

The following is an open letter to our friends and supporters in the Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Novi, Redford, Farmington and surrounding communities.

Thank you to the 500 friends from the Observer & Eccentric area who attended the New Morning School Auction on March 26 at the Laurel Manor Banquet Facility. The auction was a resounding success and your support for our school was evident in the generous bidding that took place. Some $80,000 was raised which will be used to support the school's educational programs. We invite the community to participate in our programs for children ranging in age from 3 to 14 years. Programs range from a K-8 school-to-summer and Saturday enrichment classes.

We especially thank those donors who contributed to the Computer Fund—we are well on our way toward a network of computers that is child friendly and accessible to each student throughout the day. We appreciate your support.

Elaine Yagiela, executive director
New Morning School

Mettetal concerns

Let's take a long, last look at Mettetal Airport. Has anyone seen a profit and loss statement regarding the operation of Mettetal Airport?

The reason is the airport has been operating at a loss under private ownership and to continue in operation, it had to be purchased with public money. Almost $5 million from the FAA Trust Fund—or 10 percent of every plane ticket. To stay in operation no one has been told how much taxpayer money will be needed.

Is there a need for Mettetal? Does an alternative exist that has the capacity that could provide the service that Mettetal does?

Yes, the Willow Run Airport manager has stated that "there is more than enough capacity at Willow Run to house and provide a runway for all of the small airplanes at Mettetal."

Let's look at a few criteria as to whether or not we want to own Mettetal Airport:

■ Safety—the 2,000 foot runway was declared "unsafe" by the FAA in 1964 and nothing has changed.

■ Liability—if there was to be a plane crash or accident at Mettetal, the taxpayers of Plymouth and Canton Township would have to foot the bill.

■ Noise—just listen and you can hear for yourself. Ask any resident of Romulus about whether or not the noise and vibrations from Metro Airport have caused any structural damages to the houses in Romulus.

■ Contamination—why have we not heard anything about the removal of five underground storage tanks that were leaking and left contaminated soil at Mettetal Airport within the last three years.

■ Expansion—any expansion is prohibited by the Joint Operating Agreement between the state and the citizens of Canton Township.

Everyone knows that the state has already purchased land on the north and south side of Joy Road. This expansion will allow for jets to land and take off. Providing for small jet traffic is the only way for Mettetal to make any money.

■ Taxes—The airport now encompasses 84.9 acres. The industrially zoned $1.2 million in property taxes in 1990. Public ownership of Mettetal has resulted in all of that property being tax exempt and a loss of over $1.2 million.

Supervisor Tom Yack of Canton Township stated that, "The only reason Mettetal Airport was being purchased was to tie up land that was prime for light industrial development and therefore would also eliminate competition for Metro West in Plymouth Township."

Thus, we have a political pay back by politicians, including Gov. Engler to Bob DeMatia, who is a financial investor in a local Plymouth newspaper, The Crier.

POINTS OF VIEW

Community the loser when politicians conspire

No good deed goes unpunished, goes an old saying that tells a lot about human nature, especially when politics is involved. It comes to mind because it has been proved again as Canton Community Foundation executive director Bill Joyner has been canned.

Don't believe what Township Supervisor Tom Yack and Wayne County Commissioner wannabe Bruce Patterson say about Joyner's political activity performed on his own time.

As foundation board president, I was fed the same line by Yack two years ago. In my naivete, I believed him when he told me that a contributor was withholding money intended for the foundation because of Joyner's support of a candidate running against one favored by the donor. A check of contributions to the foundation for the last year will show that this same person was responsible for over $40,000 in donations. Go figure!

I also find it strange that those who expressed concern about Joyner's political activities are the only two sitting board members who have previously sought out Bill to run their own campaigns.

Why is it that those who enjoy most their own First Amendment freedoms seem to be the first to deny Bill Joyner the same? Why would Yack and Patterson "protest too much" in the local press? Rest assured it is not their concern for the community that motivates them.

Anybody who is at all familiar with the political scene in a place like Canton Township knows well that the supervisor, regardless of who it may be, has tremendous control over developers and would be investors in the community. Canton is booming. Many stand in line for a piece of the action.

And every one of them knows that there is a price for doing business in such a community, regardless of its name. The unspoken rules say this toll is paid in either of two ways. First, it can take the form of direct contributions to non-profit organizations within the community, like the foundation. American Yazaki tops the list in this area with its concern for the community in which it does business.

Or, these funds can be channeled into the personal or political coffers of the elected officials. A review of recent history in Plymouth and Plymouth Township more than illustrates this point. Those involved were so blatant in feathering their own nests that the media in south-east Michigan began to speak of the "in-cestuous politics" of those communities. The money is always there while a community is growing. It's just up to the politicians to decide where they want it to go.

It looks like this penchant once associated with the Plymouths has now moved south. The seemingly magnanimous comments about building up the foundation's endowment by channeling half of its income in that direction are but a smoke screen for the passive euthanasia that is about to take place.

The truth is that the current political establishment of Canton has no concern whatsoever for less fortunate residents of the township. An organization dedicated in part to caring for people does not meet their needs. But not so regarding their own political hides.

The good people of Canton are about to get a front row seat as this drama unfolds and the human cost of unabashed partisan politics is unveiled within their community.

Those pulling the strings think they are just ridding themselves of Bill Joyner. Unfortunately, the baby is being thrown out with the bath water, and a lot of people who will need help in the months and years ahead won't get it.

Parking problems mar great day for charity run

Pleasant Ridge turned out to be not so pleasant.

Some of us who participated in the Race for the Cure at the Detroit Zoo early Saturday morning found that out the hard way.

When the zoo lots filled, we headed for nearby streets, including those in the community of Pleasant Ridge.

A bunch of no parking signs greeted us, and were reinforced by a policeman. No parking here, he said, go a few streets further south.

Ready to follow his directions, although getting a little frantic about the distance back to the zoo and the time, we came upon the Pleasant Ridge Community Center, and its buttoned-up-tight outdoor municipal pool.

Its empty parking lot beckoned invitingly, although it was clearly marked "Parking restricted to authorized vehicles."

No one would be using an outdoor pool, we speculated, and we won't be cluttering their streets, so we pulled in, then scamped the several blocks to the zoo.

It was a gorgeous day. And thousands from all over metro Detroit had turned out for what has become the largest race in Michigan.

Along with 300 cancer survivors, many ran in memory of grandmas, moms, daughters, friends and co-workers who had died from breast cancer.

But the atmosphere couldn't have been more upbeat.

Registration was efficient. Music played as people "grapevined" in an aerobic workout. A rainbow of balloons beckoned us to the starting gate. People were turning fear and grief into something positive.

They had paid anywhere from $13 to $20 to run, walk or race-walk the 5K distance. And through the donations of corporate sponsors and dedicated volunteers, none was tapped off for administration. All that money will go directly to research, education, detection and support for fighting breast cancer.

A spirited group of volunteers offered water, verbal support and time splits as we wended our way around the zoo through the friendly streets of Huntington Woods.

Crossing the finish line, we were greeted with pink carnations and lapel pins. An assortment of fruit, bagels, muffins and juices awaited — supplied by those corporate sponsors.

So we headed for our cars on a high, the combination of the endorphins, people and day itself. As we approached the lot, we noted that our car had been joined by maybe 20 others, neatly lined up.

And they had one thing in common — a rectangular piece of paper attached to the windshield. Yes, a ticket.

In our minds, Pleasant Ridge was capitalizing on the parking overflow. It would cost us $25 more to have participated in the race.

A dispatcher at police headquarters wasn't sympathetic. "We have our orders," she said.

A call to the Pleasant Ridge Community Center confirmed that they did not use the facility until 1 p.m. that day. So our parking did not interfere with any activity.

It somehow doesn't seem right that people should end up paying more for a parking ticket than for a cure for cancer.

I suggest that Pleasant Ridge donate at least half of the parking ticket money collected to the Race for the Cure. And that race officials work toward that community's future cooperation.

After all, the city of Huntington Woods allowed thousands of people to run through its streets. Pleasant Ridge could endure a few cars on its roads and in its unused community center lot — for such a worthy cause.

Computer problems plague library patrons, court staff

I thought I had it bad until I listened to a friend of the Court staffers tell their woes about handling child support payment.

My problem is vexing, but it won't make me go hungry. It's the computers in the Wayne-Oakland Library Federation (WOLF). They are very slow and very inaccurate.

I wrote about those miserable computers a few years ago. I pointed out that where you used to see one or two people standing using the old-fashioned card catalog to look up books, you now see a dozen people sitting at computer terminals for 20 minutes at a crack.

No longer can you flip through a drawer of the card catalog like a deck of cards and glance quickly when one interests you. Instead, you have to (a) type in a key word, (b) scroll down, (c) stop at what you think is the correct entry, (d) call up the entry, (e) read it, (f) exit the entry and (g) print out the information.

It's user hostile, and I said so in print. I implored the WOLF pack not to extend the computer system. In reply, I got a dumb letter from Alpha WOLF, the director, telling me how great computers were for librarians.

The dummy totally missed the point. What about the library patron?

Against my reasoned advice, WOLF expanded the use of computers. Recently I had to hunt for a classic play, "The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde, for my Great Books group. The computer indicated no copy in my local library, but there was a copy at "ORIN," their abbreviation for Ortonville. Nuts, I thought, that's 35 miles away.

Distrusting the computer, I walked over to the 822 section of the bookshelves, and guess what? Not just one or two copies of "The Importance of Being Earnest," but 13! Right, a dozen plus one.

On the occasion of National Library Week, April 17-23, I renew my plea that WOLF scrap its idiotic computers and go forward to the card catalog, and I add the testimony of Ellen Abbott, who does Friend of the Court (FOC) in rural Osceola and Mecosta counties.

FOC works on divorce cases. It accepts child-support payments from (usually) dads and writes checks to custodial moms, so the kids can eat. Michigan is installing a new computer system in FOC offices, starting in smaller counties.

"My own office is behind because of the new computer system. The state-mandated computer system is a nightmare," Abbott said, calling it "not user-friendly" and complaining that state experts "won't listen to the product users."

Gosh, that's exactly what I said about WOLF's computer.

"My office has taken a giant step backwards in enforcement," Abbott told a state Senate panel headed by Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville. "Now I'm lucky to issue checks once a week. I used to have a payment history. Now I have (from the computer) a financial history, which even I can't understand."

Abbott warned that in May larger counties will start having the state computer system inflicted on them.

Sounds like state bureaucrats don't pay any more attention to the users than the head of the WOLF pack does.

S'craft teachers win national awards

Two Schoolcraft College teachers have received the 1994 National Institute for Staff Organizational Development Teaching Excellence Award.

The teachers are Dale Boye of Schoolcraft's Haggerty Road campus and Patricia Rubio of the Radchill campus in Garden City.

Schoolcraft will pay the way for Boye and Rubio to attend the International Conference on Teaching Excellence in Austin, Texas, in May to receive their awards. The cost to taxpayers will be $2,000.

"Basically, these are two very good teachers," said Conway Jeffress, Schoolcraft vice president of instruction. "And they've been doing it for a good while. They've been good teachers for a long time."

Boye, a math teacher and Livonia resident, joined Schoolcraft in 1964 as a part time instructor. He has been a full time teacher since 1970. Boye's professional publications include an elementary algebra text, an intermediate algebra text and a handbook designed to teach scientific calculator use.

He has been active in his profession as a member of the National Association for Developmental Education, the American Mathematics Association for Two-Year Colleges and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Boye has likewise been involved with the Schoolcraft Developmental Education Task Force, Faculty Search Committee and Faculty Senate. He was active on the Athletic Committee and has served as golf coach.

For the last 15 years Rubio has been a consultant for the Michigan Department of mental Health.

Plumbing seminar coming

Industry experts will share the latest data about installation and code requirements of advanced plumbing systems at a seminar April 21-24 at the Holiday Inn, Livonia West.

This seminar will provide a comprehensive examination of advanced plumbing systems. It is ideal for contractors, designers, inspectors and engineers. Topics will include steam and condensate systems, medical gas systems, high rise plumbing, cross-connection control, corrosion and cathodic protection and specification writing. Emphasis will be put on installation and inspection of systems for conformance with code requirements.

Cost for the seminar is $385 and includes continental breakfast each day and lunch on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Attendees must bring a copy of the required text, the ASPE Data Book, which may be ordered for $110. Call 540-1511.

PLYMOUTH SPORTS SCENE

Track listings set

The Observer sports staff will compile the lists of area best times and distances for boys and girls track and field this year. Here are the guidelines coaches should follow in reporting information.

Dan O'Meara is the contact person for girls track. Steve Kowalski for the boys.

Coaches can fax their updates to the Observer (591-7279), call Monday night between 8:30 and 10 p.m. or deliver it personally to the Livonia Observer office, Schoolcraft and Levan roads.

Girls coaches should call O'Meara at 953-2141, and boys coaches should call Kowalski at 953-2106. Coaches can leave the information on voice mail if necessary.

Whether calling (especially if using voice mail) or faxing information, first and last names of athletes should be spelled out or written clearly. Please indicate what school you are representing. Times must be converted to meters.

The deadline for the Thursday paper is Monday night. No updates will be taken Tuesday. The first list will run Thursday, April 21.

U-D Mercy honorees

The University of Detroit Mercy recently honored its top student athletes at the first ever President's Academic Athletic honors luncheon.

Named to the Midwestern Collegiate Conference and President's honor rolls (cumulative 3.25 grade point average for at least three semesters): Rebecca Willey (Livonia Ladywood), women's basketball; Matt Boland (Plymouth Canton), men's track; and Brigitte Dery (Farmington Hills Mercy), women's track.

Also named to the President's honor roll (3.0 GPA for at least two semesters): Laura DiBasio (Livonia Stevenson), women's tennis; Dario Raikar (Livonia Churchill) and Scott Wiggins (Stevenson), men's soccer.

The UD Mercy men's golfers won the team excellence award for a 3.1 GPA led by Eric Granata (Plymouth-Dearborn Divine Child) and Brad Paskievitch (Canton).

Churchill's late goal tips Salem

No coach likes opening the season against a league powerhouse, but that's just where Livonia Churchill's Nick O'Shea found his team Wednesday at Plymouth Salem. The result: a tense, up-and-down match either team could have won, filled with as many mistakes as great plays.

As Marie Spaccarotella jogged off the field with five minutes left in the match, she announced to her coach, Nick O'Shea: "I'm sick. I'm sorry, but I'm about to throw up."

However sick the Livonia Churchill sophomore forward might have felt could not have compared with the ill feelings she spread among her Plymouth Salem soccer opponents.

Spaccarotella got the Chargers' season off to a bright, if somewhat erratic, start with two second-half goals that proved more than Salem could overcome. The 2-1 setback Wednesday at Salem evened the Rocks' record at 1-1.

"She loves to score goals," said O'Shea of his star forward, who shattered Churchill's single-season goal-scoring record by netting 28 — as a freshman. "She just goes hard and at the net, all the time. And that's hard to stop."

Salem's Ken Johnson wouldn't disagree: "She's a one-man wrecking crew."

Churchill came into the game as a big favorite because, although Salem had the advantage of already having played a game, the Rocks had just two returning starters from last season's squad.

O'Shea wasn't about to paste a rebuilding tag on his opponent, however. "Salem always has a good JV," he declared.

If Wednesday's match was any indication, the Rocks will indeed be a force to be reckoned with. The two teams were evenly matched throughout, with one player serving as the tie-breaker — Spaccarotella.

The game was scoreless at the half, and the play through the first 40 minutes was just as even. O'Shea preached the same philosophy at the break that he had through the first half: "Keep it simple. They were trying to do too many things. I think they were nervous."

Churchill owned the first five minutes of the second half, and the result was Spaccarotella's first goal, punched in from about 15 yards out with 35:30 left.

The lead didn't last, though. The Charger defense could not contain the Salem forwards. With the Rocks applying pressure, Churchill cracked. Jaimie Marinos crossed the ball to Heather Buchanan, and her shot deflected past Charger keeper Kristen Kammer to knot the game at 1-1 with 28:36 left.

In the last 16 minutes, Churchill began to assert itself. A poor goal kick by Salem keeper Julie Buczek resulted in a chance for Michelle Zawislak, but Buczek recovered and deflected it over the bar. Then a perfect cross from Lizz Szkrybalo eluded Buczek, but three Charger forwards charged right past the ball.

Two minutes later Spaccarotella centered the ball into the box and Zawislak deflected it wide of the net. After that, Spaccarotella got control of the ball in the middle of the box with her back to the net and fed Aimee Cousino, but Buczek made a great diving stop.

The frustration finally ended just 20 seconds after Buczek's save on Cousino. Spaccarotella took a pass from Jenny Wysocki 18 yards out. Buczek came out to challenge her, and Spaccarotella rolled in the game-winner with 8:17 left.

"I knew coming in, with the talent they had up front, it would be tough," said Johnson.

Board action falls short

By C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The issue has been addressed but not necessarily resolved.

The Plymouth Canton Board of Education answered allegations brought at Monday's meeting by parents of six softball players, who claim Plymouth Canton softball coach Jim Arnold cut their daughters from the high school team because they played slow pitch rather than fast pitch last summer.

The parents got no satisfaction, however. The board dismissed claims that Arnold cut players for reasons other than a question of ability, instead disciplining him for a violation of Michigan High School Athletic Association rules regarding illegal practices.

Arnold has declined comment on the situation.

On reviewing the board's decision, Ray Knickerbocker, who manages the Mid-America Mustangs' slow pitch teams the girls played on last summer, wondered if board members had read the material presented to them.

Trustee Dave Artley — who sat in on school superintendent John Hoben's March 30 meeting with athletic director Paul Cummings, administrative assistants Gary Balconi and Jim Finn, Plymouth Canton principal Tom MacKenzie, Plymouth Salem principal Jerry Ostoin, and executive director for instruction Tom Tattan — responded, "We all read them."

Knickerbocker expressed his doubts.

"It's not a question of (players') ability," Knickerbocker said at Monday's meeting. "What it was, was a factor above and beyond. It was intimidating and threatening statements made to players."

The only people who really knew what was involved were the parents and students. None of the players or parents were ever asked any questions by any investigative body. Yet they are the people who know exactly what transpired."

The board dealt with the issue of the players cut by noting that five of nine seniors, four of 11 juniors, five of 12 sophomores and nine of 29 freshmen were cut from the varsity and junior varsity teams.

Still, Knickerbocker insisted ability was not the primary factor. "Never, ever, have I had a Mid-America player cut from any high school team," he insisted, adding that he has been running the program since 1988. "And now there are six cut from one team."

He added that since authorities did not question parents and players whom he said Arnold verbally abused and threatened, he could only surmise the board "doesn't really realize what the situation here is... I don't think they have much of a concern."

There was nothing done in regard to the intimidating statements.

What bothered Knickerbocker further was that Arnold was reprimanded and placed on probation by athletic director Cummings for holding illegal practice sessions.

"What does that mean?" Knickerbocker said. "Nothing."

Thompson reacts to succeed

By C.J. RISAK

No athletes need apply. Not unless they're serious about an education, first and foremost. Because when talking about an Ivy League school, one should always remember: There are no athletic scholarships.

Which made Stacey Thompson's explanation for her softball success thus far this season all the more puzzling: "This is the first time I ever went into a season without any goals in mind. I'm really an analytical person. It seems like, between school and work, I'm always thinking."

"So this is kind of a nice change, to just go out and play."

An Ivy Leaguer who has abandoned the mental aspects of her game, relying solely on her athletic ability? Sounds almost blasphemous!

But Thompson, a senior on University of Pennsylvania's softball team, swears by it. And her statistics provide proof: At the end of last week, Thompson, a Plymouth Canton graduate from Plymouth, led the Ivy League in hitting with a .415 average.

Her current average (through Monday) was .386 — still best among the Quakers. She also led the team in triples with three, was second on the squad with three doubles, and had nine runs batted in. Even better, after Penn's sweep of Cornell Monday, the team was 12-13 overall, 2-2 in the Ivy.

It's been 22 years (1982) since the Quakers posted a winning record in softball. They could end that streak of frustration this season.

Thompson will be a key to their fortunes, for certain. If she were giving it any thought — and she's not ("I had no clue," she answered when asked what her batting average was) — Thompson would note that this season's stats are a marked improvement. She's already nearly matched last season's totals (286, four doubles, two triples, 10 RBI).

Her change in philosophy can be traced to a change in position. The Quakers' catcher her first two seasons, she was told by coach Linda Carothers "not to be surprised where I find myself in the lineup." Thompson recalled, "just because she wants me in there."

But the one place Thompson never expected to be inserted was third base. "I always swore I'd never play third base," she said. One reason: While playing first base at Canton, she got hit in the

Crusaders still in top spot

The streak ended, but not for long.

Madonna University, which won its first four baseball games in NAIA District 23 play, lost the opener of its doubleheader at Siena Heights 5-1 Sunday thanks to a four-run first by the Saints.

But the Fighting Crusaders quickly retaliated behind Mike Grahl's five-hit pitching and Aaron Jones' clutch hitting to defeat Siena 6-2 in the finale.

Combined with Madonna's nondistrict sweep of Calvin College Saturday, the split Sunday left the Crusaders with a 23-8 overall record, they are 5-1 in the district. Siena was 19-18 overall, 7-3 in the district through Monday.

In Sunday's second game victory, Grahl improved to 3-0 by surrendering no earned runs on five hits and two walks, striking out two in seven innings. Madonna broke a 1-1 tie with a run in the third and took a 3-2 lead into the sixth.

That's when Jones slapped a two-run double, highlighting the Crusaders' three-run rally. Jones finished with two hits and three runs batted in. Jim Solak was 3-for-3 at the plate, scoring three times, and Scott Anderson and T.C. Raptis had two hits apiece, Raptis knocking in a run.

Jeff Kugelmann took the loss in the first game, his second in three decisions. He allowed four earned runs on six hits and three walks in six innings. Dave Wood was the winner for the Saints, stopping the Crusaders on six hits. Dan Taylor had two of those. Kurt Wilczynski's ground out drove in Madonna's only run.

In Saturday's sweep of Calvin, Craig Overaitis slugged a two-run home run in the first inning as part of a 3-for-3, four RBI performance, pacing the Crusaders' 11-1 six-inning mercy at Madonna University Park. Joe Jentzer was the pitching beneficiary, improving to 2-1 with a five-hit, one-walk performance.

Taylor had two hits and two RBI and Solak added two hits and an RBI.

The second game was much the same — an 11-1 Madonna victory, this one a five-inning mercy. Freshman Craig Benedict kept his collegiate record perfect, giving up one run on three hits and one walk, striking out five in four innings.

The Crusaders led 8-0 after two innings. Steve Zann clubbed a two-run homer in the first, Solak hit a solo shot in the second, and Craig Peterson smacked a two-run job in the fourth. Peterson had two hits and three RBI. Tim Kasubowski had two hits and an RBI, and Shawn Penzak, Anderson and Jeff Pendell each contributed a triple, with Penzak and Anderson getting an RBI.

Tuesday's games against Concordia College were rained out; they are re-scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday at Concordia. Madonna's nondistrict games with Northwood, slated for Friday, will be played Wednesday.

Terrasi gets MVP as Madonna rolls

SOFTBALL

A trip to the Adrian College Softball Invitational last Friday and Saturday proved fruitful for Madonna University.

The Lady Crusaders, behind the stellar pitching of tournament MVP Dawn Terrasi, won a pair of one-run games en route to claiming the championship with a 4-0 mark.

In Saturday's round-robin finale, Madonna rallied for five runs in the fifth and two in the sixth to beat Franklin College (Ind.) 8-4. The Grizzlies led 3-0 after two innings and were clinging to a 3-1 advantage entering the fifth.

But Madonna got a two-run home run from Jeanie Baxter (from Redford St. Agatha) and a solo shot from Mo Paulin (Livonia/Farmington Hills Mercy) in the fifth to turn the game around. Paulin finished with three hits; Mandi Armstrong had two and scored twice.

Terrasi stopped Franklin on six hits and one walk to earn her fourth victory of the tournament.

Earlier Saturday, she handcuffed Wittenberg University (Springfield, Ohio) 4-0 on a three-hitter. Terrasi walked one and struck out two. Michelle Birchmeier (Redford Thurston) provided all the runs needed, slugging a three-run homer over the left field fence in the third. Jill Burt added two hits for Madonna.

The Crusaders reached the finals with a pair of one-run wins Friday, 6-5 over Adrian and 2-1 over Alma. The win over Adrian took 10 innings, with Terrasi outdueling Lisa Lamberson, who last year won 25 games to lead all pitchers in the NCAA III. Terrasi allowed seven hits and hit two batters, striking out four.

Birchmeier's single, her second hit of the game, delivered Paulin with the game-winning run in the 10th. Burt had two hits and two runs batted in.

The Crusaders improved to 17-5 with the four-game streak.

REGIONAL QUALIFIER

Shay Murphy, a senior at Plymouth Canton High School and a Canton resident, was one of three members of the Blake Acrobats gymnastics team to qualify for the Region 5 Championships this weekend at Michigan State University.

Murphy advanced by virtue of her second-place finish and 36.60 score in the all-around at the Level 10 (Senior II Division) State Meet, held March 19-20 in Ann Arbor. To reach the regional, gymnasts had to better 34.0 in the all-around.

Murphy's state meet results are: first in the uneven parallel bars (9.10), second in the balance beam (9.05), second in the floor exercise (9.25) and fifth in the vault (9.2).

Murphy is the defending regional champion. She will compete against gymnasts from Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois, as well as Michigan, at the regional. The top seven in each division will advance to the Junior Olympic National Championships May 12-15 in Seattle, Wash.

MID-AMERICA SOFTBALL

The Mid-America Motion girls slow-pitch softball team will begin its under-14 season Wednesday with the league opener at the Canton Softball Center. Following league play, the Motion will continue the season with tournaments in Tennessee, Ohio and Indiana.

The Motion, which completed its '93 season ranked fourth in the Great Lakes Division and 14th in the nation, is managed by Bob Bako.

Two roster spots are still open. Anyone interested in trying out can contact Bako at 522-5607.

RECREATION UPDATES

A senior golf league will begin play Tuesday, May 10, at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton and will continue through mid-August. The league is open to all area seniors age 50 and over. Cost is $14 for registration plus weekly greens fees. A league meeting will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday, April 27, at the Township Administration Building. For more information, call 397-5110.

An Early-Bird Men's Softball Tournament is slated for May 14-15 at Canton's Heritage Park. Cost is $100 for teams in Canton Parks and Rec leagues and $115 for others. The tournament is open to adult men's class D and E teams. For more information, call 397-5110.

Isshinryu karate classes are being held at the Canton Recreation Center, at the corner of Michigan and Sheldon, every Monday and Thursday. Lessons are open to all levels; cost is $35 for 10 weeks. The instructor is Sam Santilli, a seventh-degree black belt. Call 397-5110 for details.

Shutout victories put Chiefs back on track

By C.J. RINAK
STAFF WRITER

With the Western Lakes Activities Association schedule getting underway Wednesday, it seemed a good time for Plymouth Canton's soccer team to reveal its true identity.

Which hasn't yet been defined. Best guess is it's probably somewhere between that opening-day embarrassment against Troy — a 4-0 loss — and the two wins in three days in the last week by an 11-0 margin.

"I think it brought us back to reality a bit," said Canton coach Don Smith of the loss to Troy. If it cost the Chiefs some of their confidence, they no doubt regained it by routing Adrian 7-0 Saturday and Dearborn 4-0 Monday. Both matches were played at Canton.

The lopsided wins did not convince Smith. "We've got some work to do," he emphasized. "We've been changing some people around a bit, so it will take us some time."

Against Dearborn Monday, the only real problem the Chiefs experienced was scoring, although the final result didn't indicate it. But after scoring twice in the game's opening 12 minutes, they struggled to put the ball into the net despite numerous chances.

Indeed, the majority of the

game was played on a 50 yard field — in the Pioneers' end. Canton's first two goals came from Melissa Tomei and Angie Page. Alyson Nounne made it 3-0 late in the first half, and Julie Majewski capped the scoring with a goal late in the game.

Sarah Warnke was in goal to record a relatively easy shutout. Assistants went to Nounne, Majewski, Kara Moylan and Therese Ideblad.

The Adrian game was even less a test. The Maples had just 11 players to start, and finished the match with 10. It was 5-0 by halftime. Tomei and Nounne each had two goals; Mandy Salin, Kelly West and Kristie Drinkhahn scored one apiece. Ideblad had two assists, and West, Drinkhahn, Page and Robyn Vachow had one each. Tracy Lute got the shutout in goal.

Smith wasn't pleased with his team's lack of finishing against Dearborn — "We've just got to get our heads on the ball," he said — but he also doesn't believe the loss to Troy was a true reflection of his team's ability.

Of course, with the WLAA season underway, it won't take long to figure just how good the Chiefs are.

Rocks' trip south is winless

BASEBALL

Plymouth Salem coach John Gravlin hoped to repeat the formula which brought the Class A baseball championship to Salem in 1991 by opening the season with a trip to Ohio.

Three years ago, the Rocks traveled to Cincinnati for a scrimmage to open their season. Salem made the trek to Centerville, Ohio Thursday for a double-header against the undefeated Centerville High School squad.

But if 1991's luck is to rub off this season, Salem has to hope for better results. The Rocks lost 12-2 and 13-5 to Centerville, which hasn't lost in nine games.

"We made it down there Thursday and practiced Friday for Saturday's games," Gravlin said. "The weather was good, but by the results, I wish it would have rained."

In the opener, Centerville scored 10 times in the third inning to pull away. Nirav Kher

King, took the loss. Salem scored three in its third to tie the game. Junior first baseman Brad Lear knocked in the first run on a sacrifice fly and Ahmande Grimes knotted the score with a two-run single.

Bill Stiles led off the fifth with a single and later scored on a Lear hit. Sam LeGrow, who pinch-ran for Brian Proctor, scored Salem's final run on Grimes' second run-scoring single.

"Centerville is a top-notch program," Gravlin said. "Everyone in their lineup can hit. If we have to learn these types of lessons, it's better to do it now. They gave us some back-to-the-drawing board items."

"I expected our pitching staff to be more prepared and didn't think they would hit us that hard, even this early in the season. Centerville's pitching wasn't that great, but we didn't hit like we could. We didn't swing the bats with authority."

■ CANTON 5-17, W.L. CENTRAL 3-7: Plymouth Canton opened its season Saturday with a double header sweep of Western Lakes Activities Association rival Walled Lake Central at Canton.

Scott Valimont was the winning pitcher in the opener, striking out six. "He threw a real good game," said first-year Canton coach Ed Turek. Eric Marcotte had two hits.

The second game was halted after six innings by the 10-run mercy rule. Anthony Pastor started and earned the victory, going the first 4 1/2 innings and giving up six of the runs. Eric Stidham relieved and finished up.

The Chiefs pounded the Viking pitching, with Adam Gilles getting three hits and Marcotte, Sean Romanowski and Matt Paupore each adding two.

Softball cuts

And that was not the thrust of this thing."

Hoben summarized in his March 30 letter to board of education president Roland Thomas: "Under my investigation, I believe that appropriate action has been taken and that it will be monitored by Mr. Cummings and staff, and that the coach has used his discretion in trying to assemble the best athletes for his team on the basis of their performance at tryouts."

Knickerbocker, and the parents of the players involved, are convinced they can prove otherwise. What their next action might be had not been determined, according to Knickerbocker. Staff writer M.B. Dillon contributed to this story.

Relay wins carry Canton to triumph

Olive Ikeh, Tracey Cavin, Mary Anderson and Ndu Okwumabua each had a hand in three wins to propel Plymouth Canton's girls track team to victory in a tri-meet hosted by Ann Arbor Huron Tuesday.

Canton finished with 79 points, outdistancing both Huron (54) and Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard (21).

"It was a good start for us," said Canton coach George Przygodski. "Ann Arbor Huron is a strong team, especially from the 800 and up. Our coaching staff was very impressed with Tracey Cavin."

Cavin, a junior, won the 400-meter run in 1:01.9, led off the Chiefs' first-place 800 relay team which included Becky Uryga, Nancy Hoffman and Ikeh (1:55.8), and anchored the winning 1,600 relay of Okwumabua, Hoffman and Lisa Soash (4:21.5). Cavin also had a 2:36 split in the 3,200 relay.

Ikeh, also a junior, was equally impressive. She won the 200

(28.6) and teamed with Becky Bockstanz, Anderson and Okwumabua for a first in the 400 relay (54.2).

Anderson had a pair of individual victories, in the 100 (16.8) and 300 (49.8) hurdles, to go with her relay win, and Okwumabua added a victory in the 100 (13.3) to supplement her two relay wins.

Another first for the Chiefs went to Becky Baigrie in the discus (83-feet, 8-inches), in which she edged teammate Mary Israel (83-3).

SOCCER

Spartans reign in opener

Despite heavy rain Tuesday, the Livonia Stevenson girls soccer team opened the 1994 season on a bright note with a 4-1 non-league victory at Brighton.

The Spartans were powered by freshman forward Nicole Tobin, who notched a pair of goals.

Junior midfielder Misty Heath opened the game's scoring for the Spartans, who also received a goal from junior midfielder Laura Fedrigo.

Rola Khoury and Heath split time in the nets for the Spartans.

Stevenson, which enjoyed a 4-0 halftime advantage, had its shut-out attempt ruined when Brighton scored with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

"I'm very impressed with the way we played considering it was our first game," said Stevenson coach Mary Kay Hussey. "All 17 of our players got in the game. We were able to jump on them quickly and were perhaps a little faster than they were. Brighton is a good team and I don't think the final score reflects what type of team they are."

CC avenges loss in final

By Steve Kowalski Staff Writer

Redford Catholic Central senior Jon Wolfe should have no problem washing dirty clothes next year when he goes away to school.

Wolfe gets enough experience taking his dirty uniform home after a day in the rain and mud on the CC lacrosse field. Take Tuesday afternoon, when Wolfe left the field muddy from head to toe after marking Detroit Country Day's leading returning scorer, Phil Higuera.

Wolfe held Higuera to one goal and one assist as the Shamrocks beat the two-time defending state champion Yellow Jackets, 9-8, at home.

Wolfe took his dirty uniform, once white and now covered with mud, home to put in the wash.

"When I started playing football in seventh grade, my mom showed me how to use the washer," said Wolfe, who plans on playing lacrosse at either Michigan State or Northwood next year. "She said, 'If you're going to play, you're going to have to learn to use it.' I love the mud. It reminds me of playing football."

"The player today for us was Wolfe," CC coach Jim Ryan said. "It doesn't matter who he's against. He comes out and is the most intense player on the team."

CC beat Country Day last year in the regular season but the Yellow Jackets bounced back and beat the Shamrocks in the state championship game, 9-8. CC wasted a four-goal lead allowed Country Day to score the winning goal with eight seconds left in last year's state final so Ryan wasn't comfortable with a 6-2 lead at halftime Tuesday.

The Shamrocks, still looking for their first state championship in lacrosse, led 7-4 after three quarters but the Yellow Jackets had a 4-2 scoring advantage in the fourth quarter. CC had to fight off a Country Day power play in the last 24 seconds to go home victorious.

The Shamrocks improved to 3-1 overall. This was Country Day's season opener.

"Every time we play these guys it goes down to the wire so you can't feel safe," Ryan said. "The state championship game was on my mind."

CC's senior goalkeeper Alex Alvarez stopped 18 of Country Day's 26 shots on goal. Country Day goalie Sasha Stewart made 11 saves.

Senior midfielder Joe Navaleza led Country Day with three goals. Junior attacker Dan Russo had two goals, while Higuera, Tom Lall and Dan Morrison contributed one goal each. Lall added three assists.

The Shamrocks in the past have used the muddy CC field to slow down a traditionally fast team like Country Day.

But Ryan isn't so sure if his players can call the muddy field an advantage this year.

"It would be if we were a lot slower than them but this year I think we're faster," Ryan said. The Yellow Jackets field a young team and are trying to overcome the graduation losses of several fine players, including Matt Tucker, who is playing at Princeton, and Cyrus Fasshihi, who scored the winning goal in last year's final and is playing at Johns Hopkins University.

"To open up against the state runner-up is tough," Country Day coach Bob Dowd said. "CC has a great goalie, good defense and a nice scheme. I'm happy how we played in the second half and we hope to see them again."

Pro-am segment produces part of the action

AL HARRISON

It's not often the pro-am portion of a pro bowling tournament gets all of this attention, however, the Saturday 7 p.m. squad at Bowl One in Troy began with more than the usual introductions.

First, it was Cheryl Daniels singing the national anthem, followed by Jeanne M. Stine, the mayor of Troy, throwing the traditional first ball.

Since this was the celebrity squad members of the local association (GDBA) such as Executive Secretary Tom McKay and President Elsen Smart as well as members of the media, including yours truly, were in on the bowling action.

Even though the pro bowling portion of the U.S. Open is the main focus of the week, the pro-am has a considerable number of prizes with first place earning $2,000 plus a Hawaiian vacation for two, and the top 180 scores bring in some cash.

An Ohio bowler, John Hotarick of Middletown, went home with the first prize. Chris Kasprzanski of Livonia received $250 for ninth place, William Lloyd of Redford came in 18th and won $125 and Michael Schaefer of Troy was first in the handicap division, which earned him $400.

That's good bowling, for there were approximately 2,300 amateur contestants in the pro-am field, including youth bowlers who were in for scholarship money.

As for the results of the U.S. Open, if you watched it last Saturday on ABC-TV, you know who won and how they bowled. As this column is written, I only have the early leaders, and that can change a lot before the match play and TV final five.

If you hear all the radio commercials on bowling for the big skins game by Metrostaff services, this is all due to an invention by David Bergman of Southfield, who developed an item called Easy Bowler.

It's really an aid to the physically challenged person who would like to take part in bowling but because of any type of physical limitation can't grip a bowling ball. The device would then be used.

It was Cora Fiebig and Mike Callaway of Metrostaff who realized the Easy Bowler would be a neat diversion for regular bowlers and a natural for a skins game promotion since bowlers of all ability levels would be competing on an even basis.

It's expected the total amount of prize money could reach about $300,000, with first place in two divisions worth $25,000. The first qualifying round is April 24 to May 22, the second May 23-28 and the grand finals June 12 at Thunderbolt Lanes. See your local bowling center for exact times and dates or call 1-800-758-BOWL.

Marlins dive over rival Marian, 1-0

Farmington Hills Mercy finally got a right bounce of the ball Monday and used it to defeat rival Birmingham Marian in girls soccer.

With only 20 seconds left in the game, Emily Lawrence's corner kick deflected off teammate Jena

SOCCER

Kluska and Theresa Cisco put the loose ball in the Marian net for a 1-0 victory.

"We were getting frustrated because we dominated the offensive part of the game," Mercy coach Deepak Shivraman said. "We should have had a few other goals, but we either hit the crossbar or just missed."

The Marlins outshot the Mustangs 10-4 in the first half and 14-8 in the second, according to Shivraman, who on the other hand was upbeat about his team's defensive effort.

Beth Chmielewski played the entire game in goal for Mercy and got credit for the shutout. She was supported by defenders Laurin Hendrickson, Lawrence, Lynn Drenniak and Sienna DeAgostino.

"The plus part of today's game is the way the defense and goal keeper played," Shivraman said. "(Marian) had a couple opportunities, too, so the game could have gone the other way."

"Beating Marian is such a big boost to our team's confidence and morale."

Forward Heather Richards also played well for the Marlins (2-0), who were without veteran midfielder Flannery Campbell again. She missed the first game because of illness and hurt a knee on spring break. Marian is 1-2.

COLLEGE NOTES

Northwood Institute's Rhonda Saunders, a junior shortstop from Livonia Clarenceville, recently broke the NU single-season records for runs scored (43) and singles (43).

Saunders, who is hitting .421 on the year, earlier broke the school single season stolen base record. She has 49 thefts on the season, just three shy of the Northwood career mark of 52 held by Dawn St. Martin.

Western Michigan University junior Kurt Roth (Livonia Churchill) recently placed ninth in the open hammer throw with an effort of 162 feet, 1 inch at the prestigious Sea Ray Track and Field Relays in Knoxville, Tenn.

A week earlier in the Miami Open in Oxford, Ohio, Roth won the javelin (190-11) and was sixth in the hammer (167-1).

Toast Chuck Muer at tribute to his memory

The public is invited to join the family and friends of Chuck Muer 7 p.m. Friday, April 15, in a tribute to his memory in support of the Chuck Muer Memorial Scholarship Fund for Culinary Arts and Hospitality Students at Macomb Community College.

Muer, Betty and another couple were tragically lost at sea in a storm March 13, 1993, their sailboat was never found.

Bill Kruse of Kruse & Muer Quality Foods in Rochester Hills, Kruse & Muer on Main in Rochester and the Rochester Chop House and Oyster Bar in Rochester, will act as master of ceremonies. Among the family and friends of Chuck and Betty Muer who will speak at the tribute are Certified Master Chef Milos Cihelka, restaurateurs Joe Muer and Charles (Rocky) Rachwitz of Livonia and Susan Muer.

The event will be at the John R. Dmitry Student and Community Center of Macomb Community College and begins with an hors d'oeuvre reception, followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. A tax deductible donation of $5 to the scholarship fund is included in the $25 ticket. Call (810) 286-2222 for tickets.

Chuck Muer was a wonderful man who touched many lives. I'll never forget meeting him at "Big Fish" shortly after a cookbook of favorite Muer recipes was published.

"I'm glad to be the master of ceremonies because I spent 17 years learning in the Muer organization," said Kruse. "I was lucky to be involved with a man who had as much vision, and entrepreneurial skill and people skills as Chuck. We were very good friends, and my kids felt as badly as I did when I told them that Chuck was missing."

Give mom the royal treatment by making her Cinderella for a weekend. In honor of Mother's Day and Michigan Opera Theatre's production of Sergei Prokofiev's Cinderella ballet May 6-8, MOE, Hudson's and the Ritz Carlton, Dearborn are sponsoring an essay contest.

Drama questions artistic themes

CATHIE BREIDENBACH

Donald Margulies' play "Sight Unseen" juggles multiple themes with astonishing dexterity as it tells the story of Brooklyn-born artist Jonathan Waxman, whose paintings command six figures since he was discovered by the media and dubbed a visionary.

One art critic called Jonathan "either a genius or a charlatan" and the play's tension rides on that central ambivalence as it simultaneously juggles theoretical questions about art for art's sake versus the commercialism of art with parallel questions about whether Jonathan is a man of integrity and genius or an arrogant opportunist. The Jewish Ensemble Theatre's richly layered production debuts for Michigan audiences the acclaimed play that was nominated for a Pulitzer Prize.

When Jonathan travels to London to launch a prestigious show, he decides to visit his ex-wife, Patricia, now living in Norfolk with her English archaeologist husband, Nick.

Excavating Roman latrines and ancient waste dumps are Nick's passions as he "studies the past to make sense of the present." When Jonathan visits his ex-wife 15 years after their break-up, he is also studying his past to make sense of his present, and the play's scenes move back and forth in time—beginning in the present and ending in the past, on the day Jonathan met Patty in art school when she modeled nude for his painting class.

John Lepard as Jonathan, Dan C. Bar as Nick, and Susan M. Arnold as Patricia keep the tensions percolating as the three expert actors snipe at one another about pushy Americans who complain of being cold in English houses, the mediocrity of English cooking, and the brashness of modern art. Their verbal parries barely conceal the jealousy, frustration, and regret of the three who try to put a civilized face on long-submerged emotions.

Director Nicholas Calanni superbly paces both Margulies' excellent dialogue and the play's five scene changes. Two revolving sections of set designed by Russell Smith capture the rustic simplicity of Patricia's house with its field-stone fireplace.

Jon's boyhood bedroom in Brooklyn, and the opulent black and white sophistication of the London gallery where a German journalist (Eden Cooper) Sager assaults Jonathan with comments on his Jewishness and with criticisms disguised as a reporter's questions.

She hones in on the central dilemma of the play and attempts to prove that the acclaimed Jonathan Waxman is more a self-serving genius at promotion and packaging than a man and artist of integrity.

Playwright Margulies leaves the question unresolved, because art, as Jonathan explains, take place in the eye and mind of the beholder.

Dine out to help seniors

Patrons of Ann Arbor restaurants can help out area senior citizens just by enjoying a fine meal.

Visitors to any one of the Main Street Ventures eateries—Gratzi, Mandes, Paho's and Real Seafood Company—can ask that 10 percent of their total bill be donated to Neighborhood Senior Services. Patrons must bring along a coupon, token or special gift certificate in order to make their contribution.

The tokens are available in most Ann Arbor businesses. Donations will go to Neighborhood Senior Services, an agency which assists older residents of Washtenaw County in maintaining their own homes.

Cops invade suburban household in comedy

PREVIEW

Fay Masterson and Miko Hughes. Jake, on the trail of a mobster named Osborn (Davi), finds out that the cook is holed up in the suburbs...

He has to deal with Helen, who after her initial misgivings about cops invading her house, decides it's wonderful having two extra family members to feed and care for...

Jake also has to contend with a budding romance between his young partner and the Robbersons' 15-year-old daughter, Cindy (Masterson), and with the admiration of Kevin (Richter), the Robbersons' teenage son...

when the kid thinks of himself as a vampire.

But Jake's biggest problem is Norman From "Policewoman" to "Hawaii '90" to "Highway Patrol." Norman is a walking encyclopedia of detective drama from the past 10 years...

I think people in the '90s want to see family pictures," Chase said. "There aren't many movies that will make adults laugh and also keep the kids entertained that aren't salacious or violent."

Fay Masterson, who plays Cindy, a teenager on the verge of a major hormonal explosion, comes from a serious dramatic background in her native England...

We had a good time making this film," Richter said, "and that made for a congenial arena which encouraged the actors to try things with their roles."

'White Fang' faces new challenges in adventure sequel

In the classic tradition of Disney family entertainment comes the adventure-filled sequel to the 1992 motion picture "White Fang."

Surviving in the harsh and unyielding wilds of Alaska takes strength, determination and courage. For White Fang, the brave and spirited half dog half wolf, a careful journey down river to civilization turns into an extraordinary encounter with a peaceful tribe of Native Americans known as the Haida.

Now, an age-old Indian prophecy is about to lead White Fang into a new world of danger and adventure, and he must rely on his sharp, cunning instincts for survival as he risks his life to save the people and his beloved master Henry Casey (Scott Bakula) and bring the legend of White Wolf to life in Walt Disney Pictures' new live-action sequel

PREVIEW

White Fang 2: Myth of the White Wolf

Charmaine Craig, Alfred Molina and Geoffrey Lewis also star.

White Fang 2 is the directorial debut for Ron Olin, star of the television series "Thirty-Some Thing." The screenplay was written by David Fallon and produced by Preston Fischer. The coproducers are Justin Greene and David Fallon. Buena Vista Pictures distributes.

Filmed on location in Aspen, Colo., Vancouver, Squamish, Whistler and Hope, British Columbia, "White Fang 2" evolved from the classic tale by Jack London but introduces a new character, Henry Casey.

Principal photography for the film began in July in Colorado where the company shot scenes involving a herd of reindeer at an altitude of more than 10,000 feet. In a remote spot an hour north of Vancouver, a replica of a Haida Indian village was built on the banks of the Squamish River. After consultation with the chiefs of the Squamish nation, an area was chosen that didn't interfere with the native fishing on the river.

Animal trainer Joe Camp and his partner, Tammy Maples, had their hands full during the shooting with more than 20 dogs, a Kodiak bear, mountain sheep and a raven. There were five dogs playing the role of White Fang and two playing his love interest, Cinamon. More than 14 other dogs were used, with varying degrees of wolf breeding, to play pack animals in the film.

"White Fang 2: Myth of the White Wolf" is scheduled to open in theaters this week.

UPCOMING MOVIES

There's something for everyone at the movies. Here's a list of what's in the wings.

Opening Friday, April 15: "Surviving the Game" A homeless man discovers he has been recruited as a human hunting target and must use his street smarts and instinct in order to survive.

"Serial Mom" A black comedy about the "perfect suburban family" and the possibility that "Mom" may have segued from carpooling into serial killing.

"Night of the Demons 2" Freddy watch out and Jason beware...sly, sexy and outrageously campy, Angela the Queen of the Demons is back, and this time she's more evil than ever.

"Savage Nights" Main Art Theatre exclusive. Shocking portrait of reckless youth in the age of AIDS is based on the autobiographical novel by the late Cyril Gollard.

Opening Friday, April 22: "Brainiac" Teenage boy faces a living nightmare when his playing of an interactive fantasy game might in fact be responsible for real murders.

"Chasers" A couple of "Chasers" (the Navy equivalent of MPs) retrieve an errant enlisted woman and find themselves well over their heads on an eventful trip back to their base.

"Bad Girls" Four women of the Old West become gamblers to win back their money, their rights and their dignity.

"The Inkwell" On Martha's Vineyard circa 1976, a shy black teenager discovers love for the first time while dealing with the emotional and familial conflicts of the era.

"Backbeat" The story of a young rock quintet who came to be known as the Beatles, and fifth member Stuart Sutcliffe's relationship with photographer, Astrid Kirchherr. Opening Friday, April 29.

"PCU" Tom Lawrence is about to get his first lesson in politically correct behavior as a freshman at Port Chester University when he moves into a renegade dorm that sets out to defy the rigid and "correct" behavior of its fellow students.

"With Honors" True story of Harvard University students who befriend a homeless man. Stars Joe Pesci.

Betty Jean Awrey of Plymouth called with her comment about "Guarding Tess" and "On Deadly Ground."

"Guarding Tess" is a three-on-a-side of one-to-four, and Awrey, Shirley MacLaine was great. The film is comical but there are some emotional parts.

"Guarding Tess" also stars Nicholas Cage and tells the story of Tess Carlisle, the beloved former first lady who is running her own escort service. Detailing legend of being at the mercy of her imperious will, one young agent of cops squares off with her in a delicate war. The film is rated PG-13 (Parents are strongly cautioned. Some material may be inappropriate for young children).

Awrey would give "On Deadly Ground" starring Steven Seagal and Joan Chen a 4. It's an environmental movie, very action packed with a lot of different scenes, she said. It's entertaining.

"On Deadly Ground" tells the story of an oil rig worker who joins forces with an hunt activist in opposition to his former employer's rapacious drilling program and finds himself in a battle of survival. The film is rated R (Restricted Under 18 requires an accompanying parent or guardian).

Parents, how do you decide if you'll let your children see a movie? Do you call other parents? Do you agree or disagree with how movies are rated? What movies have you seen lately and recommend?

Event to feature German food, wine

The Ritz Carlton, Dearborn, will feature German food and wine, along with its popular Cuisine Vitale fitness menus during a spring celebration April 22 through May 30.

The special pairing of low-alcohol German wines with Chef Guenter Seeger's contemporary German cuisine, as well as with low-calorie, low-cholesterol, low-sodium Cuisine Vitale selections, recognizes the fact that wine is an integral part of the dining experience for many guests, no matter what type of food they decide to order.

The celebration will feature a reception, seminar and gala dinner, all three benefiting the American Heart Association.

Prices for the celebration are $50 per person for the reception, $20 per person for the seminar, $100 per person for the gala dinner. A seminar-gala-dinner combination ticket will be $110. A special weekend room rate is also available.

For ticket information, call the Ritz Carlton at 441-2000.

Drama brings legend of Wyatt Earp to life

Mark F. McPherson introduces The Last Knight, the true story of my life and career in the great American West as told by Marshal Wyatt Earp, 8 p.m. Friday, April 15, in the Lila R. Jones Johnson Theater on the Royal Oak campus of Oakland Community College, 739 S. Washington.

Tickets are $10 and include hors d'oeuvres by Durango Grill. Call (313) 544-4903. Tickets will also be available at the door, the evening of the performance.

Since his death in 1929, the controversy over Wyatt Earp's character, frontier experiences and career as a famous and somewhat brutal Western gunfighter and lawman has continued.

Addressing the issue of "who was Wyatt Earp" is McPherson, an actor, playwright and historical investigator.

Portraying Wyatt Earp is McPherson's newest project. He is known locally for his series of other one-character dramas in which he has become such individuals as Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Winston Churchill, George Bernard Shaw, and Charles Dickens.

"The Last Knight" will be illustrated with an extensive

BPW program addresses mom, daughter relationship

Learn how to get along better with mom and to appreciate how special she truly is at the April 21 Garden City Business and Professional Women's meeting at Maplewood Community Center in Garden City. The meeting begins 6 p.m. followed by dinner and presentation. The cost is $10. Call Keely Wygonik, 953-2105, for reservations.

Patti Briggs, director of the Womencenter at Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills is the guest speaker. The topic is "Don't Blame Mom."

Before joining the staff at OCC two years ago, Briggs was a counselor at First Step in Westland, a program that helps abused women.

Wood box simulates tree cavity for nesting ducks

NATURE TRAILS

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

Ducks in trees seem as incongruous as fish walking, yet both exist. Mud skippers found in Australia and walking catfish introduced into Florida both walk on their front fins across land.

And more than one species of duck or merganser nest in tree hollows. Just the other day my children and I watched a pair of wood ducks exploring the tree tops in our backyard.

Both the male and female landed among the branches and peered into cavities created when branches broke away. Some cavities were too small, some were not deep enough, and some may have been occupied by squirrels.

Female wood ducks may choose a cavity for nesting a mile away from water if necessary. Typically they prefer nest sites near a lake or stream, or in a swamp. Most sites are about 30 feet off the ground, but may range anywhere from 5 to 50 feet above the ground.

The opening of the nest cavity must be at least 4 inches across to allow the female to enter. Inside, the opening must be about 5 inches square. An extremely deep cavity is rejected, but a depth of 22 inches is frequently used.

A cavity much deeper than 30 inches would make it very difficult for the young to leave the nest. Only hours after hatching, following a 28 day incubation period, the young climb up the inside wall to the cavity opening. Coaxed by calls from the female on the ground, the young jump from the opening to the ground. Though the opening may be 40-50 feet high, young fall to the ground and often bounce two or three times, shake themselves and then walk toward their mother. Their bones have not completely hardened and this helps prevent breakage.

Females then lead their brood of nine to 12 young to water. There they will learn to eat aquatic plants like duck weed, seeds from sedges, smartweed and others. Frogs, snails, minnows and small salamanders are eaten occasionally.

In summer, adult males will molt their beautiful multi-colored feathers and look much like the gray-colored female. Males in this plumage lack the white ring around the eye found in females.

If you don't have any trees with cavities, try putting up a wood duck box, 24 inches high with a floor size of 10 inches by 18 inches and a four-inch entrance about 14 inches above the floor. Put 2-4 inches of small wood chips in the bottom to simulate a natural cavity.

Women Worldwide Praise the Exciting Discovery by the Now Famous "Wrinkle Cream" Pharmacist

Pharmacist Robert Heldfond receives hundreds of thousands of calls and letters from happy women around the world telling him they love his EBS Wrinkle Cream, which he developed.

No wonder they love EBS, Heldfond says. "It really works really helps skin look younger. My EBS is not only perfect for the woman who may already have the dreaded signs of looking older... wrinkles, crow's feet, facial lines, dry, sallow skin... but is also perfect for the woman who may only have a few lines, or none at all, and is worried about looking old too soon."

Women are astounded by the amazing results and they are also pleased that EBS is five creams in one: a Wrinkle Cream, Moisturizer, Day Cream, Night Cream, and Makeup Base, all in one.

Receive your FREE TRIAL SIZE

If your skin is appearing to age too quickly, here is good news! Pharmacist Heldfond says, "I am so certain you will love my EBS Cream that I have teamed up with department stores coast to coast to offer A GENEROUS FREE TRIAL SIZE OF EBS for the next 30 days to millions of women who wish to look visibly younger. Hurry and call this toll free number, 1-800-454-2323, to learn more about EBS and where in your area you may receive your free trial sample. You will be amazed even with the first application!"

Millions of women have purchased EBS and calls and letters that flow in report, "EBS Wrinkle Cream really works... it's made a difference in my life... it worked wonders for me... People tell me I look 10 to 15 years younger. "The free sample really convinced me."

This woman's letter especially pleases Pharmacist Heldfond. "I tried everything on the market and nothing made a difference. Then I tried a sample of your EBS... loved it...bought a jar...even my husband of 36 years noticed my new younger look." (See below)

Heldfond adds, "If facial lines and aging skin make you look older than you should, buy a jar of EBS Wrinkle Cream and watch things happen. One 4 oz. jar lasts for many months and is sold with a money-back guarantee of complete satisfaction, how can you go wrong?"

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest?

7.50% APR.*

FIXED RATE

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

At First of America, we can lock you into a low fixed 7.50 percent APR loan with terms of up to seven years. To make the offer even more attractive, all fees will be waived, so there will be no annual fee, appraisal fees, closing costs or points. And you'll have a fixed monthly payment that will never change. The sooner you take advantage of it, the more you can save on financing home improvements, education, a car or anything else worthwhile. You can even refinance a loan that you have somewhere else.

Be sure to consult your tax advisor to make sure the interest is tax deductible.

We can give qualified applicants fast approval—usually within 24 hours.

So stop by any First of America office or call for an application or more information. And make last year's nondeductible interest a thing of the past.

Talking helps children deal with violence

Last week, I discussed violence, predominantly on television, at the movies, on video and in music and its impact on children and teens. Briefly mentioned was violence that hits home.

What do you do when a child witnesses horrible violence - beatings, shootings or even a traumatic accident, such as an automobile accident or a drowning? First of all, recognize that violence does have an impact on children. Make-believe TV violence has far less emotional impact than being actually involved in or witnessing it. To witness violence for one child can affect him or her differently than another, but there will be some stress or post-traumatic effect.

When a child suffers from the trauma of violence which in and of itself is a heavy emotional burden, accompanied by some physical injuries or physical illnesses, patience is essential. Along with patience is a loving, watchful eye of an adult. These are signs to watch for.

(1) Nightmares about the violent event or events. Children experience recurring nightmares about awful tragedies and violence. Being afraid to go to sleep or being left in a room alone is a common sign.

(2) Re-enacting the violent scene through play or drawing pictures. Children's artwork may fre-

Project keeps church in stitches

Georgia Beckwith has a cardboard box she'd like to fill to the brim by May with clothing that will be sent to Somali refugees living in camps in southeastern Ethiopia.

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

The box isn't quite running over with stuff, but Georgia Beckwith figures that by the time it's mailed to Ft. Wayne, Ind., in May there will be at least 30 pieces of clothing.

Beckwith, Church Life coordinator at St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Livonia, is leading a drive to sew clothing for 12,500 Somali refugees living in camps in the southeastern border area of Ethiopia.

"We felt we wanted to make the garments for them," Beckwith said. "Some are donating money; we decided to give the gift of time."

Loose-fitting shirts in bright stripes, pants with sashes to hold them up and sheath dresses in wild prints are packed in to the two-foot square box that eventually will be sent to Project Mercy. Five women, including Beckwith, have been making the clothing, using patterns designed specifically for Project Mercy by McCall's.

Making clothing for Project Mercy isn't new to the church. About five years ago, members made shirts for the program after receiving an appeal from its co-founder, Marta Gabre-Tsadick. That time Project Mercy provided the material and eight members of St. Matthew's did the sewing.

This time, Project Mercy is providing the patterns for the shirts, pants and dresses in men's, women's and children's sizes. The seamstresses at St. Matthew's are providing the material. Some use remnants, some use fabrics they have on hand, and some buy the brightly colored fabrics - and donate their talents with a sewing machine.

"Some are more American looking," Beckwith said, pulling a pale green pinstripe shirt and pant set from the box, then snagging a dress to show off. "But we have some with African prints."

Each McCall's pattern comes in three sizes. When Chuck Sondquist, the pastor, asked Beckwith if she could make use of old wedding runners, she was quick to say yes. The runners have been recycled as copies of the original patterns.

The girl's dress takes 1 1/2 yards of fabric, women's sizes about 3 1/2 yards, Beckwith said. The men's shirt takes about 2 yards. While the patterns call for elastic waists, volunteers are being told to make sashes instead. Fitted clothing can be uncomfortable in Africa's tropical heat, Beckwith said.

Some of the extra material also has been turned into matching bags.

"They're displaced people who need something to carry their stuff in," Beckwith said.

The sewing project started in November 1993 and Beckwith has used the church bulletin to spur interest. More people inquire about it with each new request for help, but that fades out quickly when they see the patterns. Beckwith believes it is the set-in placket on the shirt that scares tentative volunteers off.

The clothing isn't the only sewing project at the church. Volunteers are also making ABC (At-risk Baby Crib) quilts that are given to the youngest victims of AIDS. In fact, a dedication was held before the church sent 11 handmade quilts and 12 crocheted quilts to the Wellness Network.

"A larger number are working on the AIDS quilts, I guess because

It pays to plan for D.C.'s 'hostess with the mostest'

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Washington parties look glitzy and overwhelmingly glamorous, but the city's "hostess with the mostest" says they are actually very telling of the politicians and their families.

Washington hostess Allison LaLand told a recent Northville Town Hall audience that her research of past presidents has shown that many hosts were not inconspicuous about their motives.

William Howard Taft, for example, subscribed to the belief that "all guests were not created equal." Using his wife's parties to sway votes, he would serve vintage wines to those who backed him. Everyone else was served a lesser brand, she said.

At other times, the presidents' wives would be the sly ones, LaLand explained. Martha Washington, who was known for not exactly having the most exciting parties, had her finger on the pulse of her guests.

"Her parties were just plain dull but Martha did have the answer to a fairly universal problem," LaLand said. "She knew how to get people to go home."

She would announce that her husband liked to retire at 9 p.m. and she liked to precede him.

LaLand learned these quirks from the White House social files which she was allowed to research in the late 1970s while strengthening her status as a respected hostess. Since then, her regular guests have included Washington social leaders, ambassadors, Cabinet members, White House officials and members of Congress.

Behind the scenes

At the Northville Town Hall luncheon at the Holiday Inn West in Livonia, LaLand shared the history of parties from a behind-the-scenes view.

The United States' third president, Thomas Jefferson, personalized his parties.

"He was a great host, he had a great image. He even had birds flying around and served dinner himself," she said. "He also used a round table because he thought it was undemocratic not to see the faces of the people you were dining with."

During the country's more than 200 years, get-togethers ranged from the lavish to the lame. Ulysses S. Grant and his wife went all out for his friends. His parties featured a 29-course dinner with six wines, LaLand said.

Generally, a period of success was followed by the return to simplicity, she said. Rutherford B. Hayes' wife Lucy was known for her down-home approach. Dubbed "Lemonade Lucy," she organized morning prayers at the White House along with Sunday evening hymn sings.

Lady Bird Johnson followed somewhat in the same vein almost 90 years later. She held the first outdoor barbecue on the White House lawn.

BILL BRISLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

'Mostest': Washington hostess Allison LaLand has plenty to say about entertaining in Washington, D.C.

Eleanor Roosevelt also took a casual approach at times, choosing to serve hot dogs to British royalty at one party, LaLand said.

Jackie Kennedy, however, preferred an elegant touch. She cut meals down to four courses to allow time for Shakespearean plays and the ballet.

Entertaining goal

LaLand uses this historical trivia in accomplishing her lifelong goal as an entertainer of the Washington elite. Upon moving to Washington via Georgia and California, she was dubbed the "hostess with the mostest."

Her secret recipes and open mind are what has made her successful. At the urging of the audience, she shared a few of her secrets. For example, she once fooled her guests with a non-alcoholic punch that many said made them "tipsy." Her secret in

10 ways to resolve our disagreements

MORAL PERSPECTIVES

Conflicts happen. Disagreements are inevitable. People see things differently and react differently.

But are there right and wrong ways to handle our different views that may lead to conflicts? So often we're tempted to choose the "fight or flight" response. But how helpful are those responses to build community? At times such responses may be the only appropriate way. But in most cases, there are some guidelines that can help manage conflict situations.

One religious group has offered some constructive ways to work through our disagreements. Here are a few paraphrased suggestions:

1. Promise to work with a spirit of trust and love to find new insights, learning and growth.

2. Treat each other with respect.

3. Build respect by keeping conversations and communications open for candid and forthright exchange. Avoid asking questions or making statements in such a way that intimidates or judges others.

4. Focus on ideas and suggestions instead of questioning people's motives, intelligence or integrity.

5. Avoid name-calling or labeling.

6. Listen to and clarify each other's views so as to build understanding before responding.

7. Indicate areas of agreement as well as disagreement.

8. Share personal experiences about the subject of disagreement so that others may more fully understand our concerns.

9. Seek to stay in communication with each other though the discussion may be tense.

10. Pray not for the triumph of our viewpoints, but to seek God's grace to listen attentively, to speak clearly, and remain open to the vision God holds for us all as equally created and beloved children of God.

Conflict resolution and conflict management are popular courses in schools and continuing education events. People are interested in finding ways to solve their disagreements in constructive rather than destructive ways.

Hopefully, some of these suggestions can provide some practical guidelines for home, business and community life.

The Rev. Kate Thoresen is director of the Partnership Ministries at the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham. If you have a question or comment, call her at 953-2047, mailbox number 1882, on a touch-tone phone.

some feel more comfortable doing straight stitches," Beckwith said.

The sewing will be an ongoing project for the church and open to people outside the church. More patterns can be ordered and as the two-foot square box fills up, the contents will be sent out to Project Mercy. Persons interested in helping can call Beckwith at 422-6038.

"Looking at the world situation, it's not going to be solved real soon," Beckwith said.

Parisian is a premier fashion specialty department store chain with 30 stores. We are currently offering the quality merchandise and personal service that has been the foundation of more than a century of success. Our motto, "You're Not Just a Customer, You're a Personality," describes the way we treat our customers. If this is the way you'd like to work, we'd like to meet you.

We're excited to announce the opening of our new East Farmington store. At Parisian, we're looking for nice people who already understand how customer service is measured. Then we give them all the training and support you'd want.

A Parisian sales associate should have a professionally aggressive but pleasant personality and a strong desire to succeed. To gain understanding fashion from sales associates, we hire New York University & Rite, Kwik-Kwik-Kwik, Dillard's, The Gap, J.C. Penney, Business, Robert Taylor, J.C. Penney, H. Hays, Polo-Ralph Lauren, Neiman's, Dillard's, Lord & Taylor, Lord & Taylor, The Foot Locker, Condit's, De. Cassidy, Saks, Bloomingdale's, and many providing personal service, we have something to offer you.

Mr. Schmidt, Store Manager

girlfriends" ginger ale, soda wa- ter, tonic and vitalpa juice.

"Parties should be planned with everyone's social calendar in mind," she said. In advance of scheduling her parties, she checks with a variety of sources to make sure that there are no major parties within a week's time. Among her sources are the State Department, journalists and friends. She also checks calendars for religious observances.

One of the secrets to getting important guests is to have the party in a central location." She said that Washington folks have "too much to do" to drive outside of the city for a party.

On the opposite end of the spectrum, she offered hints on how to hint politely to guests that the hostess would like them to leave.

"Tell them, I have a present for you at the door. You can get it on the way out."

Or, "My husband wants to play his favorite tune so we can all sing it before you leave," she said to roiling laughter.

She doesn't use those hints, however. Due to scheduling, she rarely has a problem with guests who have worn out their welcome, she said.

"The parties take place during the week. It's considered an extension of the week day. There is a mass exodus at 11 o'clock," she said.

Many of the nearly 200 member audience were curious about how Laland funds her parties. After giggling nervously, she revealed that in her free time she is also a successful real-estate agent with Soltheby's International Realty. The two careers go hand in hand, she said.

"All those people I'd have become good real-estate clients," she said with a laugh.

Laland is also very money and image conscious.

"If I am to accept a non-paying role at least I was going to get credit for it," she said.

Although she has hosted a variety of guests, one particular party doesn't stand out in her mind.

"I've enjoyed all of it. At all of them I have had a mix of people from the White House (however) I have friends from the Hill from both parties."

Tickets are on sale for next year's Northville Town Hall series. Scheduled speakers are Sen. William Proxmire on Oct. 10, pianist Victoria Solonina on Nov. 14, wine connoisseur Michael Ashington Pickett on March 13, 1995, and NBC correspondent Fred Franis on April 10, 1995. Season tickets are $40 for the lecture and $48 for the lecture and luncheon, both held at the Holiday Inn West, Livonia. For more information, call (313) 349-8855.

Writer has serious, thoughtful nature

GRAPHOLOGY PROFILES

LORENE GREEN

Hi Ms Green, I'm very interested in the area of graphology and I was wondering if you could analyze my writing. Enclosed is a self-addressed envelope.

I am a 38-year-old white female. I possess a master's degree in personnel administration and two bachelor degrees in the social science field.

I would greatly appreciate any input regarding my left-handed writing. Thank you for your time.

M.W., Farmington Hills

Possibly the first thing that one observes in this handwriting is the backhand slant. This is usually chosen by one who has a serious, thoughtful nature. This writer is such a person, and she puts brakes on her true emotions. Before committing herself, she tends to size up a situation. She is a little cautious about being used, manipulated or hurt. She is also good at role-playing. Seemingly, she was raised in a home with more female influence than male.

Although independent, intelligent and capable, her past continues to have quite an influence on her. She would like new opportunities and to break with the past, but has not been able to free herself from it completely.

Few people really know this person intimately. She is reserved and reticent about what she is willing to reveal to others. Confidantes probably are few in number.

She places emphasis on a proper code of behavior as she perceives it. Rudeness in others is difficult for her to tolerate.

Let us turn to her spacing, which is a little on the wide side, but quite good otherwise. She maintains distance between herself and others, so she is not easily influenced by another's thinking or actions. She is well organized and takes on those involvements she can readily complete.

Organizational skills are much in evidence. She is self-directed and functions in an orderly manner. Satisfaction comes from methodical accomplishment.

Time is a precious commodity. She may become impatient with schedules that are wasteful or procedures that lack efficiency. She operates with a sense of purpose and budgets her time so that she gets done as much as possible.

Her desire for efficiency is woven throughout the handwriting. She wants practical information which will help her to attain her purposes as effectively as possible. It is not easy to mislead her. She can cut through red tape to get to the heart of a problem.

Our writer's ballwork would be neat and tidy. She has a place for everything and wants things in their proper place.

Her taste for clothing and interior decorating is probably more on the plain side than fancy or ornate.

Manual dexterity is suggested in her handwriting. She is creative and may have art aptitude. She can probably work well with machines or musical instruments also.

her own needs before venturing out and doing for others.

The downslope to many of her lines suggests she was feeling tired or depressed on the day she wrote. However, I would need writing done at other times to see if this is temporary or a pattern.

Our writer enjoys the beauty of nature. With spring beginning to paint its beautiful colors on the flowers, bushes and trees, her spirits should also bloom.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful and objective feedback is always welcomed. Time does not allow Lorene Green to mail out personal replies.

quently display sad faces, scenes, disturbing graphic scribbles or more detailed work that highlights violence—scenes of spouting blood, gore or dead people.

(3) Being easily startled and having crying spells.

(4) Distrust of people—even people they trusted in the past or before the violence occurred.

(5) Being afraid of sirens, flashing lights, hospitals and other things related to violence or the incident itself.

(6) Watching more violent television programs as opposed to programs more suitable that were once of interest.

(7) Becoming more aggressive in their play—starting to hit other children or destroy property.

(8) Paranoia—suspicious of other people's actions, their environment, a sudden sound, faint noises, even lack of memory as to where they put things.

When these warning signs continue for more than a week or so after the violent event, it is wise to consult professional help. Children need to talk about what their feelings are in order to get the help they need.

On the other hand, if a child displays no obvious warning signs that help is needed, this also could be a problem. Bottled up feelings are like a ticking time bomb, ready to explode. The time and place when the emotional explosion will occur is less predictable. Bottled up feelings can trigger such problems as stomach pains, bedwetting and severe headaches.

Children who witness or are a victim of violence should be persuaded to see that what happened was one incident and that they can feel secure in knowing that the world is pretty much predictable. They should feel free to talk about it over and over again, if they need to.

Young children aren't prepared for violence. Therefore, adults must prepare for them...

Usually, their talking about a violent incident is their way of sorting it out in their mind, coming to an understanding that fits into their own scheme of things. They have to sort it out in an age appropriate manner to bring closure to it and thereby move on.

James Garbarino, author of "Children in Danger," suggests that if a child's home is secure, that's a big plus. The road to recovery from violence is made easier. Young children aren't prepared for violence. Therefore, adults must prepare for them—not in a way that makes a child fearful of the world and/or afraid to explore and interact in his or her environment.

Prepare by teaching children conflict resolution skills early on and encourage them to practice resolving even small problems. Children should be taught good judgment and to trust their good judgment.

Violent tendencies are the deep, dark side of man we care not to witness, or be a part of our lives. Even while living in a world where violence shows its ugly face from time to time, children should know a more peaceful, pleasant face awaits around the corner. Just look and greet accordingly.

Student radio benefit planned

WSDP volunteers are taking it to the streets.

Through Saturday, April 30, WSDP representatives will visit local businesses to get them involved in the 1994 WSDP radio auction.

The WSDP auction is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday, May 14. The auction will be broadcast on 88.1 FM and will benefit the student-run radio station at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

"The WSDP auction is a winning situation for everyone involved," said Bill Keith, WSDP station manager. "The students and station will benefit from increased funding, and businesses will receive excellent exposure through a community event."

WSDP volunteers will provide business leaders with details on how the auction will benefit them and will help the business get involved.

WSDP to air speech

WSDP, 88.1 FM, will broadcast the April edition of the Canton Economic Club at 10 a.m. Monday, April 25.

The Canton Economic Club will feature a speech by Ann Walton, director of Executive Education for the University of Michigan. Crain's has listed the program as the leading business professional consultant program in the nation.

WSDP's broadcast is underwritten by Silver Sounds Professional DJ of Canton. Technical assistance is provided by Omnicom Cable of Canton.

WSDP has been serving the Plymouth Canton community since signing on the air Feb. 14, 1972. The station is owned and operated by the Plymouth Canton Community Schools.

School ball games to be broadcast

WSDP, 88.1 FM, will broadcast Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton baseball and softball this spring.

WSDP will air the top baseball or softball game each week. WSDP's coverage begins

Wednesday, April 20, as Plymouth Canton takes on Livonia Stevenson in baseball. WSDP will air a game each Wednesday through May 2. Broadcasts will begin at 4 p.m.

■ Baseball Softball Schedule

April 20, Canton baseball vs. Livonia Stevenson; April 27, Salem baseball vs. Farmington Harrison; May 4, Salem softball vs. Livonia Franklin; May 11, Canton softball vs. Walled Lake Central; May 16, Salem baseball vs. John Glenn; May 18, Canton baseball vs. Salem; May 25, baseball playoff; May 31, June 4, baseball districts; June 11, baseball regionals; June 14, baseball quarterfinals; June 17, baseball semifinals; June 28, baseball state finals.

Members steam over health club's closure

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER
STAFF WRITER

A change in ownership at the Laurel Park Place mall health club has some members steaming and state officials investigating possible misconduct.

Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley has issued a cease and desist order against United Health Spas Inc. and its registered agent, Thomas Bossi, for alleged improper business practices before and after the ownership change.

Filing a lawsuit against the business under the state Consumer Protection Act "is a real possibility," a spokesman said Tuesday.

"We're also looking into the matter of whether they sold ownership or just setting up shop again under a different name," said Chris DeWitt, director of communications for the attorney general's office.

The United Health Spa on the west end of the mall shut down briefly last week before reopening as Laurel Park Place Spa. New owners are Mellon Associates, a Southfield-based financial services company.

Former United Health Spa members are crying foul over Mel-lon's refusal to honor "lifetime memberships" sold as recently as Feb. 25.

Instead, the company is charging former members a $35 monthly fee to use the facilities, they say.

About 10-15 disgruntled members carrying picket signs staged a protest in the mall parking lot Six Mile at Newburgh, on April 4. Police called to the scene said the picketers were acting peacefully and within the law.

"They knew they were going out of business and they continued to sell" memberships, said Shayla Weston, a two-year member.

Weston said her fiance, Jason Hater, purchased a lifetime membership for $600 on Feb. 25, three days before the club stopped selling them.

Also, the condition of club facilities has deteriorated badly in recent months, according to members. There are no guarantees that maintenance will be better under new owners, they said.

Showers were missing handles, the whirlpool didn't work and the club floor "just wasn't picked up" the last few times he worked out, said Jim Kelly of Livonia.

He has the key to a successful door business.

Fred Cybulski is manager of Empire Doors in Garden City. He has lots of satisfied customers. And he is one of our satisfied customers.

"About a year ago we made a decision to expand to the western suburbs and a concerted effort to advertise locally. This area is booming with people remodeling their homes to conserve energy and updating instead of moving. As far as we know we have one of the largest showrooms in the area. Through our weekly ad in the Observer people are coming in to see our doors for themselves.

"We run an ad every Monday and we believe this consistency is the key. People come in clutching our ad to check out our doors.

When it's a matter of the heart . . . think Providence first.

Comprehensive services. Providence Hospital in Southfield offers a full range of cardiac services. We care for patients from the time they arrive at our Chest Pain Emergency Unit until they complete diagnostic tests, interventional procedures, open heart surgery and cardiac rehabilitation. And Providence also treatment quickly, today's clot-busting drugs, can stop a heart attack in its tracks.

Chest Pain Emergency Unit. That's why Providence opened one of the first Chest Pain Emergency Units in metro-Detroit—to provide care in those initial critical hours after a patient begins to echocardiography, all-arms stress testing, Doppler and trans-thoracic echocardiography. And our cardiac catheterization more than 1,500 procedures, including cardiac catheterization, angioplasty and atherectomy to improve blood flow, blocked or narrowed coronary arteries.

Cardiac Surgery. For many patients, rehabilitation programs at Providence are designed to return people to activities of their living as quickly as possible. Programs begin just days after cardiac surgery when patients are still in the hospital and continue after the patient returns home.

The Board-certified cardiologists offers something else—the special personal care that has been our hallmark for nearly 150 years.

Heart disease, an American killer. Every two and a half minutes, someone in the United States suffers a heart attack. The number one killer of American adults, heart attacks will claim 600,000 victims this year. But for many who seek experience chest pain. Physicians and nurses specially trained in emergency cardiac care procedures can determine the cause of chest pain and quickly begin treatment.

Diagnostic and interventional procedures. To detect heart disease, Providence cardiologists access such state-of-the-art technology as stress angioplasty or atherectomy can significantly improve a heart condition. Other patients require open heart surgery to bypass blocked or diseased coronary arteries. Last year, Providence cardiac surgeons performed nearly 500 of these delicate procedures, restoring patients to more normal lives.

Cardiac Rehabilitation. Cardiac and cardiac surgeons at Providence are among the best in southeast Michigan. For more information on the hospital's cardiac services or for a referral to a Providence physician, please call 1-800-968-5595.

Attorney General Kelley wants billboards banned

BY LEONARD PUGER
Editor

If Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley had his way, there would be no billboards near state freeways.

Several business persons who heard him criticize the "great terrain robbery" Tuesday agreed.

Kelley, who wants more restrictions on freeway billboards, spoke before an estimated 80 people at the monthly Westland Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon Tuesday.

Peggy Ellenwood, business office director for the Westland Convalescent Center, said she "strongly agrees" with Kelley's position.

She especially vocalized her support after hearing Kelley describe the increasing number of tobacco and alcohol billboards.

Echoing her comments was Allen Brooks, who owns his photography studio, who said that a billboard ban would make the state look more attractive.

But he commented that he would hate to see the billboard industry go down the tube.

Kelley said there are numerous reasons for his pushing for billboard elimination along freeways with the "most obvious one being that they are intrusive assaults on our most valuable asset—the scenic beauty of our state."

He was particularly upset that more and more billboards are targeting black and low income neighborhoods to push alcohol and tobacco products.

"We are spending millions of dollars a year trying to educate our young people about the perils of these substances, and yet we allow billboards to expose our children to the sex appeal of smoking and drinking in the most visible and intrusive of all advertising media—billboards," he said.

He said a Detroit city planning department study in 1989 found that 56 percent of billboards in low income and minority neighborhoods promoted alcohol or cigarettes, compared with 38 percent in other areas.

A similar study in Baltimore showed a more striking contrast: 76 percent of ads in minority neighborhoods plugged alcohol and tobacco, compared with 20 percent in white neighborhoods.

Kelley said traffic safety is another reason he wants billboards dropped since they are designed to distract motorists' attention.

The attorney general disputes the argument that billboards promote tourism and business in the state.

"Only 15 percent of all billboards advertise products and services directly related to travel," Kelley said. "Four states, Maine, Vermont, Hawaii and Alaska have totally banned billboards and most of the country's premiere vacation spots likewise have no billboards."

In their place, states have installed smaller logo signs which tell of food, auto and lodging services at the upcoming exit.

Kelley stressed the importance of improving the state's tourism industry, the second largest in Michigan, behind only the auto industry, through controlling billboards.

The attorney general said he supports a bill now in the state legislature which would ban all tobacco advertising on billboards and encourages residents to urge their local state legislators to back the bill.

But he made it clear that he would prefer to have a bill that would immediately ban all new billboard construction and phase out existing ones.

Michigan will never realize its full potential as a tourist state until we eliminate these outdoor billboards," he said.

If the legislature fails to enact billboard controls, the next potential step is to initiate a petition campaign to have a proposal put on the ballot.

Michigan voters went that route nearly 20 years in enacting a "bottle bill," which requires a deposit on beer and soda cans.

Health care forum planned

A public forum on health care will be in Livonia Saturday, April 16.

The event, free to the public, will be from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Livonia Stevenson High, 35500 Six Mile west of Farmington Road.

The forum is sponsored by The Mackinac Center for Public Policy, Citizens Against Rationing Health, and Speak Out America.

The forum will be opened by Lawrence W. Reed, president of the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, followed by a talk on "How to Reform Health Care" by Donald Devine, co-chairman of Citizens Against Rationing Health.

Michael Tanner, director of Health & Welfare Studies of the Cato Institute, will then speak on "The Clinton Plan: Taxes and Rationing."

A panel presentation will include Paul Ehrmann, president of the Community Coalition for Concerned Physicians and Parents, Mark Hurt, health care policy adviser to Gov. John Engler, Gary Stewart, co-founder of Speak Out America, Nevena Marina Mihailoff, a Dearborn physician, and congressman John Jamian.

U.S. Rep. Joe Knollenberg, R-Bloomfield Township, whose 11th District includes most of Livonia and all of Redford, will then talk about "The Latest From Washington." A question-answer period will follow.

Attendees may buy the Mackinac Center study by Doug Bandow with accompanying essays by Reeda and Bradley A. Smith.

"Dangerous Medicine: A Critical Analysis of the Clinton Health Plan" will be available to buy for $3 each.

The forum is sponsored by The Mackinac Center for Public Policy, Citizens Against Rationing Health, and Speak Out America.

Reservations are not needed but seating is limited to 400.

Nutrition clinic offered

"Nutrition Under Stress" will be offered 7-8 p.m. Tuesday, April 19, by the St. Mary Hospital Nutrition Clinic in the hospital's auditorium.

The clinic will provide information on vitamins and minerals and "fact vs. fiction" regarding food and stress management.

The charge is $8 per person or $12 per couple with discounts offered to CareLink members. Registration is encouraged, as seating is limited, call 591-2983.

Everyone knows someone with diabetes.

Fourteen million Americans are living with diabetes. Unfortunately, more than half do not know they have it because diabetes can strike silently. Many will first learn about diabetes when they are treated for one of its complications—kidney disease, blindness, amputation, heart disease or stroke.

Know the early warning signs of frequent urination, unusual thirst, extreme hunger, frequent infections or blurred vision. While there is no cure for diabetes, every day research brings hope. The American Diabetes Association is the nation's leader in the fight against diabetes—funding research, education and patient services.

MARTY FIGLEY

Easter lily: It's not just holiday bloom

The Easter lily (Lilium longiflorum) is the classic symbol of the Easter season with its stately demeanor and white blooms. Perhaps this beauty graced your home for the occasion and now you want to keep it in good condition until time to move it outdoors.

To prolong the bloom, keep it in a cool room in low light (reading level) and out of drafts and keep the soil evenly moist - don't let it set in a saucer of water. If you remove the pollen-bearing, yellow anthers as the flowers open, they won't decline so readily.

After the flowering, place the plant in a bright window (indirect sun) and continue to care for it with regular watering, then begin light applications of fertilizer. Continue until the foliage yellows.

You may then wish to plant the bulb outside where it will flower every summer, or leave it in the pot and set it outside, then bring it back indoors in late November. Be sure to guard against an early freeze. High light and warmth will force it to flower again.

Garden reference

Because April is National Gardening Month, here is a year's supply of garden tips for you to save for future reference.

January: Fertilize houseplants with a liquid fertilizer when they begin showing new growth. Turn them to the light for even growth and pinch back wayward branches to keep them in shape.

February: When planning a garden, decide first what its purpose will be - beauty, entertaining, play, etc. Determine how much maintenance will be required and who will do it. Also, whom are you pleasing?

March: To keep houseplants watered when vacationing, place a block of floral oasis in a container such as a baking dish. Add water to just below the top edge of the block. Push the plant pot into the foam for good contact, so that the water can then be transferred to the soil in the pot.

April: Before planting wildflower seeds, put them in the freezer for a day or two, thaw for a day and repeat a few times just before planting, to improve the germination rate.

May: When selecting plants at a nursery, choose those that are compact and not yet flowering. For tall growing perennials, put the support in at planting time.

'The Age of Rubens': a visual treat

Observerland artists praise the Dutch old masters whose paintings comprise a major touring exhibition. Organized by the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, the exhibition continues to April 24 at the Toledo Museum of Art.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

The Age of Rubens, a magnificent exhibition of more than 100 paintings by 17th-century artist Peter Paul Rubens and 57 of his colleagues and collaborators, resurrects the golden age of Flemish Baroque painting through April 24 at the Toledo Museum of Art, 2445 Monroe.

"It's a fantastic survey of Dutch painting. It really is a visual treat. It gives you an idea of what Dutch homes might have looked like in the 1600s. There's kind of an aristocratic flavor, the content," said Redford Township artist Sergio De Giusti after viewing the exhibition.

He should know. De Giusti taught art history at Wayne State University, sculpture at Center for Creative Studies in Detroit and life drawing at the University of Michigan and Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association.

"The majority of them were paintings to decorate opulent homes. The paintings are truly formalist, clearly defined, not a lot of turmoil in the work."

This exhibition is the first comprehensive survey of Flemish Baroque painting in the United States.

Splendid modeling of musculature on Rubens' male figures, the luminous flesh and beauty of his women and energetic nature of his dogs invite visitors to linger while viewing the monumental assemblage of works that tell a tale of life in an era colored by dramatic political, social and artistic development in Northern Europe.

"It really is an outstanding view of Fleming paintings. Anyone who enjoys painting is going to enjoy this exhibition," said Ralph Glenn of Bloomfield Hills, Art Department chairman at Madonna University, Livonia.

Organized by the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, "The Age of Rubens" pulls together paintings from more than 70 major museums and private collections around the world. Focusing on the painters of Flanders (Belgium) in the 1600s, it features 27 major paintings by Rubens, also works by his pupils Anthony van Dyck and Jacob Jordaens as well as collaborators, Jan Brueghel the Elder and Frans Snyders.

Figure and animal paintings dealing with mythological and religious themes, portraits, genre scenes, landscapes and still lifes rendered lush in rich oils fills 11 of the museum's refurbished west-wing galleries.

"There was a great head of Medusa with snakes. There's a lot of bar scenes that are exciting. Near the end of the exhibition what they did was take down the permanent collection and install it in one gallery," said the Italian-born sculptor, who earned bachelor's and master's of fine arts degrees at Wayne State University.

"It looks like a great salon, where they would exhibit hundreds and hundreds of paintings. It's wall-to-wall paintings from their private collection."

This is the first time some of the paintings including Rubens' "The Garden of Love" from the Museo del Prado in Madrid have crossed the Atlantic. Rubens painted this 9-foot-wide work in honor of his marriage at the age of 53 to the 16-year-old Helene Fourment in 1630 after the death of his first wife, Isabella Brandt, four years before.

Born in Siegen, Germany, Rubens (1577-1640) returned to his mother's native Antwerp after the death of his father in 1587. In later years, he was known as a well-traveled man of many talents. Master of five languages, he played an active role in political affairs due to the fact his art allowed him entrance to high places. Kings and princes treasured his diplomacy skills as Rubens worked to bring peace on behalf of his homelands, the Spanish Netherlands.

However, Rubens is best remembered for creating one of the

Redford sculptor gives art to Italian consulate

SPECIAL WRITER

After two years of collaboration with the consul of Italy in Detroit and miles of Italian red tape, Sergio De Giusti of Redford Township finally realized a dream.

The Italian-born sculptor's gift of three hydrostone reliefs and a charcoal drawing to the Italian consulate were unveiled at a reception Feb. 11.

On hand for the ceremony honoring De Giusti's contributions were Giuseppe Mistretta, Italian consul in Detroit; Stefano Stefanni, consul for the Italian Embassy in Washington, D.C.; and Timothy Nasso, public affairs director, along with a host of other dignitaries.

"We're excited about getting this under way," said Nasso of Royal Oak before the reception in the Buhl Building.

"It's the first Italian works of art done by not just a local artist, but by a local Italian artist given to the Italian government ministry of foreign affairs. There's no way we would have been able to do that. We worked to lend a combination of classical and contemporary elements to the recently renovated conference room where the art is installed."

Through the Italian consulate offices, Mistretta says, he hopes to bridge the Old World with the new. De Giusti's artworks, together with the contemporary furnishings, unite the past, present and future of the Italian community in the Detroit area.

"When we expanded the consulate, we had a conversation. We wanted to put something of value in this room, to have significance. Nothing could be more significant than having pieces by an Italian artist, to put bureaucracy with art

GLASS AS ART

Judy Shellhaas of Plymouth will team with Bonnie Clark of Dearborn to present a variety of stained glass styles as part of Michigan Glass Month during April at the Michigan Guild Gallery, 118 N. Fourth, Ann Arbor.

Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call (313) 662-0339 for information.

Shellhaas' specialty is combining stained glass with carved wood. Her original media being wood. She has taught wood carving classes since 1974 at various places, including Greenfield Village in Dearborn. She only recently began to add stained glass for additional color to her carvings.

Among the pieces she is displaying is the prototype of the Christmas tree ornament she made for the White House's display commemorating 1993 as the Year of the American Craft.

Clark is a more traditional stained glass artist who likes to use a variety of kinds of glass in her work. She has on exhibition a number of small stained glass objects in the gallery including boxes, a kaleidoscope, and two dimensional panels.

The Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans is a national non-profit arts organization that sponsors the Ann Arbor summer Art Fair.

ART ON DISPLAY

Visual Arts Association of Livonia will host its spring art exhibit of member artwork May 1-27 in the Livonia City Hall lobby, Farmington Road and Five Mile. There's no admission charge.

A reception to meet the artists will take place 2-4 p.m. Sunday, May 1.

Juror Nancy Thayer will judge the works tonight. The Livonia Cultural League, the city of Livonia and the Livonia Arts Commission are co-sponsoring the show.

VAAL is dedicated to advancing the knowledge and appreciation of the creative arts by offering studio classes and twice-yearly exhibits.

June When training vines, use spring-type clothespins to hold them. The groove on the inside, closest to the spring, will hold the support wire and the outer groove the stem.

July When cutting flowers for arrangements, cut on a slant for more water absorption. Cut when the bloom is in the advanced bud stage. Mature flowers hold more water. Spring blooms open readily from a bud. Violets need to be fully opened.

August Don't fertilize your lawn if it's turning brown. It's resting. Wait until it begins to grow again. If you are on a watering schedule, do it early in the morning or later evening.

September Divide spring-blooming perennials after they have gone dormant. Use a sharp spade to dig around the plants. Many can be separated by hand. If you grow miniature roses in pots, remove them from the pots and plant them in the warm compost pile for the winter. In May repot them, adding compost as needed, then prune.

October Plant spring-flowering bulbs. The planting hole needs to be three times the diameter of the bulb in depth. Incorporate a bulb booster with the soil at the bottom of the hole. Bulbs mustn't touch the fertilizer.

November Pot bulbs for forcing for winter color. Paper whites, Chinese Sacred lilies, crocus, hyacinths and tulips work well. Dig the hole for your live Christmas tree before the ground freezes.

December Aerate the soil around perennials and shrubs with a garden fork before the ground freezes. Give them a deep soaking. Mulch after the ground is frozen.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS

■ Remove cones and mulches gradually from roses but don't wait too long, or humidity will build up in the cones and cause irreparable damage. Fertilize them.

■ As sprouts of spring-flowering bulbs peek out of the ground, apply bulb food to the soil. Water well. A 10-10-10 mix is good.

■ Repot and trim house plants.

■ Dethatch the lawn if necessary. Aerate it for better water penetration.

Filters will help color your shots

FOCUS ON PHOTOGRAPHY

MONTE NAGLER

There are countless types of filters on the market, many of which are outrageous and needless. But certain filters, used properly, can be important additions to your photo accessories.

They can turn an ordinary picture into something quite special.

Today, I'm going to discuss the five essential filters for color film: the ones I feel you can put to good use to help get rave reviews for your photographs. In my next column, I'll talk about the important black and white filters.

Polarizer This is the most essential filter of all. The polarizer will reduce reflections, cut through haze and, most important, deepen colors, especially the blue in the sky. Shooting at a right angle from the sun, a polarizer will dramatically darken the sky for an impact-filled photo. Think of a polarizer as putting a pair of sunglasses on your camera.

Skylight While a skylight filter will slightly warm up colors, its main function is to protect your lens. Think of it as an inexpensive "insurance policy" for your expensive lens.

Diffusion A diffusion filter will make you a hero when photographing subjects in bright light.

Harsh facial lines will be eliminated and more glamorous shots will result. Diffusion filters are available in a variety of strengths from a very slight softening effect to extreme diffusion.

Close-up Most lenses can't focus any closer than a couple of feet, so if you want to produce some good closeups of flowers, you're just out of luck. Simple solution: a set of close-up filters. It's like placing a magnifying glass on your camera. Sound exciting? It is! Close-up filters come in sets of three, allowing you to select whatever strength works best for you.

Colored filters Orange, red, magenta—any color you want is available. Colored filters can be used to really spruce up a sunrise or sunset by adding the filter color to the overall scene. For best results, use slide film and be sure to bracket your exposures.

There you have it! These five filters will help to dramatically improve your photographs.

Short shot

Monte Nagler's popular photography classes begin Wednesday, April 20, at The Community House in Birmingham. Don't miss this special opportunity to sharpen your photography skills. Call The Community House at (810) 644-5832 for registration information.

Soft touch:

Monte Nagler used a diffusion filter to soften facial lines in this family portrait of Sarah and Harold Fried of Birmingham and their delightful daughter, Leah.

DETROIT INSTITUTE OF ARTS Saturday-Sunday, April 16-17 "Art of the American Indian Frontier: The Chandler-Pohrt Collection" continues through June 26 at 5200 Woodward. Related events in Lecture Hall include a symposium on American Indian art traditions 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday and a lecture and slide presentation, "The Collector Speaks: Recalling the Roots of Chandler-Pohrt," 2 p.m. Sunday. Five esteemed American Indian scholars and artists will discuss the past and present of their own tribal art traditions in the symposium. Fee is $30 general public, $25 members, seniors and students; call 833-9178 for symposium information and 833-7978 for registration information. Richard Pohrt will speak on the origins of the collection Sunday; call 833-7888 for information. A series of three-week, hands-on American Indian art workshops will be offered in Education Studio for each of three groups - elementary, middle and high school - Saturdays from late April to June. Call 833-7978 or 833-7977 for specific dates and registration information.

ALEXA LEE GALLERY Saturday, April 16 - An exhibit of still life paintings of Lala Kadaj and Nina Marshall will continue to May 24. Opening reception to meet the artists 6-8 p.m. Saturday. Kadaj usually paints the still life with a focus on the individual objects with no apparent background. This point of view combined with her heavy impasto paint gives a contemporary view to the traditional genre of the still life. The large format, fragmented composition and vibrant color of Marshall's pieces produce a contemporary view of a conventional subject. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday and by appointment, 201 Nickels Arcade, Ann Arbor, (313) 663-8800.

RACKHAM GALLERIES Saturday, April 16 - A Medical Illustration Exhibition by masters of fine arts candidates Michael Austin, Matthew Bohan, Lisa Petkun and Tanya Leonelli continues to April 18 at 915 E. Washington in Ann Arbor. Opening reception 5 p.m. Saturday. Call (313) 764-0397 for information.

JANICE CHARACH EPSTEIN MUSEUM/GALLERY Through April 14 - "Feast of Freedom," an acclaimed exhibit of Passover ritual items from around the world, continues on the main level of the gallery. Also "Written with Light," a one-man exhibit highlighting Eric Freedman's innovative color photographs of Israel, continues on the upper level of the gallery. Hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday, 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, in the Jewish Community Center, 6600 W. Maple at Drake, West Bloomfield, (810) 661-7642. Accommodations upon request for the vision and hearing impaired.

Memories: Artist William Moss' circa 1959 lithograph of Briggs Stadium is among the landmarks in his "Detroit Traditions" collection of limited-edition prints.

Detroit artist at Plymouth gallery

BY JANICE TIGAR KRAMER SPECIAL WRITER

Local historians and art buffs call William Moss the "artist of Detroit." His detailed lithographs - Briggs Stadium, Detroit City Hall, Michigan Central Depot and the like - show the city he remembers as a youth.

The native Detroiter will sign his colorful, limited-edition prints 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday, April 16, at Creative Framing, 853 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

The artist, who has relocated to Tennessee, grew up on Detroit's east side in the 1940s. He says his affection for Detroit, its skyline and architecture began during his daily ride to Cass Technical High School. His works, as detailed as architectural renderings, are the result of keen observation, fond memories and historical research, said Christine Burke, Creative Framing co-owner.

"I can't wait to meet him," Burke said. "I grew up in Detroit and know all of the places he did. I think it'll be interesting for customers who know Detroit to meet and talk to this artist."

Custom Framing sells 12 of Moss' limited prints, among them, Olympia Stadium, Edmond Fitzgerald, Detroit's Holiday Traditions, Detroit City Hall, City of the Straits, Briggs Stadium, Michigan Central Depot, Detroit's Riverfront Memories and Delphine. The price range is $80 to $150; museum framing runs around $175, Burke said.

Two prints come with a bonus: Detroit Traditions, a 1954 print of a riverfront dock and downtown street, comes with a Bob-Lo T-shirt. Delphine, a boat docked at Rose Terrace off Dodge mansion, comes with a tape describing the estate.

Burke and partner Pat Korona generally don't speculate about art, but they think the demand for Briggs Stadium, a 1959 print of Tiger Stadium at Michigan and Trumbull, will increase if the ball field is replaced.

Moss is the second artist to visit the Plymouth shop this year. Kathy Jackobsen, a contemporary folk artist from Connecticut, signed a whopping 1,350 prints of downtown Plymouth's ice festival during her eight-hour stopover in January.

Heritage Village lures: location, price

Two Southfield builders have combined to provide what they say is a tremendous opportunity for families looking for a new house - Farmington Hills for less than $170,000. A quality school system and access to shopping are major attractions.

Kaftan Enterprises, more widely known for involvement in the apartment field, and Richter-Rosin, a second-generation residential building company, have joined forces to create Heritage Village in Farmington Hills.

Work already has begun on the initial phase, 48 houses off Drake Road, north of Grand River. The subdivision is nestled between Hillside Estate Condominiums and Farmington Research & Industrial Center. It backs up to Heritage Park.

"Location and price - you can't beat it," said Dennis Yashinsky, partner at Richter-Rosin.

Kaftan developed the parcel. The two companies will build for buyers on a rotation basis.

"I envision a family-oriented development, although we do have a lot of empty-nesters looking," said Mel Kaftan.

Six models are available, ranging from a two-bedroom, two-bath ranch of 1,360 square feet priced at $149,900 to a four-bedroom, 2½-bath colonial of 1,900 square feet at $164,900.

The most expensive model, the Essex, also expected to be one of the most popular sellers, is a 1,800-square-foot colonial with three bedrooms and 2½ baths priced at $169,900.

The Essex features a two-story foyer, nine-foot ceilings, a living room/dining room combination and a kitchen/breakfast nook that opens to a family room.

Upstairs, the master bedroom contains a cathedral ceiling and its own bath. The two other bedrooms share a bath.

Entrepreneurial spirit succeeds

Mark A. Taylor perceived himself as a master salesman blocked from corporate advancement by his relative youthful age.

He continued to work hard for several years, then channeled his unhappiness into action. Taylor and his wife, Vera Angelico, started their own company customizing and selling computerized shipping systems.

It was a struggle at first. But now, nearly 4½ years later, EVCOR, headquartered in Plymouth Township, has topped the $1 million mark in annual sales while employing 10.

"This is beyond my wildest dreams," said Taylor, 38, who isn't about to rest on his laurels. Following are edited excerpts from a recent interview.

What exactly is EVCOR?

Taylor: The way I would explain it is computer shipping systems. Our niche has been integrating our system into existing business platforms.

It's like a franchise, with no rules to follow. There are 18 EVCOR owners with 34 offices around the U.S. We all have our own corporations. We pool a portion of our sales for national advertising, trade shows. We're a buying group. It's a network.

We have a computer software development firm that writes a basic program for all our offices. It's a separate company we have an exclusive contractual relationship with.

How do your financials look?

Taylor: According to my CPA, we paid all our bills and the federal government. We started on a shoestring and provided for all our growth internally.

Last year, we had sales between $1 million and $1.5 million, about $1.2 million. At the end of the year, we had 5 percent left over. I think that's good.

Our aim is to grow 50 percent this year. Last year, we grew 33 percent.

How did you happen to link up with EVCOR?

Taylor: I was working for Pitney

Bowes at a trade show in Chicago. I'm standing and looking at 10 or 12 people at a little booth and wondering, "What does he have?" It was computerized shipping systems, really high tech compared to what we had. I thought, "They'd kill us in Detroit." I started talking with the rep, he saw that I worked for Pitney

All models have several different elevations. Standard material is brick belt line, then vinyl siding. However, brick and fieldstone upgrades are available.

"What's exciting here is it's Farmington Hills, we have 100 lots and it's custom houses at affordable prices, basically," Yashinsky said. "It's accessible to everything. Twelve Oaks is a couple minutes away, expressways, schools."

"The developer thought so much of it, he took half for himself. He's honest, hard working. He does what he says he'll do. When we had the opportunity to do business with him, we jumped at it," Yashinsky said.

"We have a Farmington Hills address, Farmington Hills schools and we're priced from $150,000 to $170,000," Kaftan said. "That's what sets us apart. There are a lot of lovely areas in Farmington Hills with the same amenities, but they're over $200,000."

"We're offering homes at a price you'd have to move 20 miles away to get," Yashinsky said.

Kaftan shields Heritage Village from the research/industrial park to the south with a large berm, a wooden fence and pine trees.

"We'll do custom building for people if they want changes," said Jim Rosin.

"We're going to be doing side-walks in here," Yashinsky said. "We want to create a neighborhood. Most people we talk to have children."

Standard features in all the models at Heritage Village include two-car garage, basement, first floor laundry, and range, dishwasher and garbage disposal. "We meet with every single customer who buys in this subdivision," Rosin said. "We give them the same amount of attention personally in details as we do in our 3,500-square-foot houses."

Dana and Janet Wold will move into a three-bedroom colonial from an apartment in Farmington Hills.

"My wife wanted a new house. I wanted to be closer in, Livonia or the Farmington area, rather than Canton," Dana said. "This subdivision was priced in our price range. The builder had a quality reputation. This was a good deal."

The Wolds were especially attracted by the floor plan — the dining room/living room on one side of the lover, the kitchen eating nook on the other side flowing into the family room — and the spaciousness of the bedrooms.

"I was surprised to find such a good location," Dana said. "The subdivision backs up to Heritage Park. I'm a runner and I've run it a few times. I'll be able to get in pretty easy."

Glenn and Kim Greff are buying an Essex, their first new house.

"It's more open, has nine foot ceilings, a lot of big windows," Glenn said. "You get a lot of light."

"I really like the Farmington Hills area," he said. "We started

Bowes and he asked if I had ever decided to go into business for myself.

And then?
Taylor: I began to research them, saw the technology was a lot more advanced.

Why were you unhappy with where you were?

Taylor: I worked for Pitney Bowes since '76. I was in the top 5 percent in the country in terms of field sales. I had been in the top 5 percent as an area manager. I was the first guy to do it both ways.

I didn't get promoted. I think it was my age. Everyone in my position was in their 40s and 50s. What Pitney Bowes was at that time was an old boys' club.

During that time frame, I was reflecting what I wanted to do with my life. I was disappointed, frustrated, resigned.

I visited a friend in New York and met Dr. Aurora Callicot. She coached me into having the courage to open my business.

Was it an easy decision?

Taylor: I talked it over with my wife. She was working in an architecture office. We didn't have a nest egg saved up. We were in our middle 30s. I went to four or five banks, the Small Business Administration, SCORE. They all said, "We don't provide venture capital."

Dr. Callicot said, "Just do it."

So you did?

Taylor: We quit at the same time. We took every dime we had in the bank, everything, to become part of the (EVCOR) network. It was over $10,000. I had my computer and a piece of demonstrator software and brochures.

Vera was going to answer the phone all day, beep me prospects, type proposals. I'm doing cold calls, direct mailing. I'm talking to anyone who would talk to me. Finally, I found a couple people interested and got a few sales.

I would think that most companies of any size would already have their shipping department computerized.

Taylor: In the shipping area of a company, you have blue-collar people there, high school grads. A lot of time people don't want to pay attention to it. It's hot, dirty, not as glamorous.

We're right in the middle of a transition now. At first, the biggest objection was it was too complicated that no one would use it. We'd have to design it so easy, anyone could walk up and use it.

Martin: Every time you scan a parcel, an invoice is created immediately. Inventory is relieved immediately. A (shipping) label comes out with all the bar codes.

Through rate shopping, what looking at housing prices and we were excluded. We looked at this development and the price was in our range.

Heritage Village is in the Farmington School District.

The property tax rate in Heritage Village for schools, city and county services, following last month's statewide election is expected to be about $40 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value.

That means the owner of a $150,000 house would pay about $3,000 annually in property taxes. A monthly maintenance fee is projected at $20.

Other projects with the Richter-Rosin stamp include Woodland Ridge and Mission Springs in West Bloomfield and Three Oaks and Country Oaks in Farmington Hills.

Kaftan has constructed Westbury Apartments in Auburn Hills, Fox Pointe in Farmington Hills and Oakbrooke in West Bloomfield.

Home Advantage finds honest contractors

Ever felt the frustration of trying to locate a trustworthy electrician, or the distress of paying a contractor to fix a leak in your roof only to have it leak on the next rainfall?

Home Advantage, a Garden City-based home improvement referral service, takes some of the anxiety out of locating reputable contractors and service firms.

Home Advantage refers thoroughly screened businesses to provide quality service and fair prices for consumers. The businesses screened cover 100 categories, including remodeling, carpet cleaning, appliance repair, etc. The service is free to all metropolitan Detroit homeowners.

Screening includes verifying licenses and insurance, checking with the Better Business Bureau and detailed interviews with recent customers.

own lawn service when he was 16, founded the referral service in 1993 as a way to help senior citizens from losing money from dishonest contractors. It's now helping new and current homeowners.

"The honest contractor is out there," Paul said, "however they can be hard to find."

According to the Council of B.B.B. Annual Inquiry and Complaint Summary 1992, the number one business people call the Better Business Bureau is to inquire on home improvement contractors. The number three reason is to inquire on service firms. With these kinds of figures, we trusted consumers needed this type of service, Paul said.

Home Advantage is supported through the membership of approved contractors and service firms. It's free to homeowners.

The Rev. J.D. Landis of United Methodist Church, Romulus, has used Home Advantage several times for his church and home.

As a church, he said, "it is a challenge to find quality workmanship with reliable prices. Home Advantage provided us with names of contractors and service firms and proved they do both."

Home Advantage Referral Service can be reached at (800) REFERRAL or (313) 733-5778. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.
