Candidate offers board advice

An unsuccessful candidate for the Plymouth-Canton school board gave the board and new school superintendent a bit of advice on Monday: Communicate better.

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Old school board candidates don't die, they just fade away until the next election. As Plymouth-Canton trustee Barbara Graham pointed out, that's usually the case, but not with Peggy Kalis, third-highest vote-getter in the June 13 election.

Kalis outlined goals she'd like to see the board and administration pursue at Monday night's board meeting.

Topping the list of concerns voters raised as she traveled the campaign trail was the poor communication between the board and the public, Kalis said.

"I listened to a lot of concerns from parents, and the No. 1 concern was the way the board communicates with citizens," she said. Kalis surveyed area districts and found that residents elsewhere have more access to the board than do Plymouth-Canton residents.

Board president David Artley said communications is a subject the board will discuss at its workshop on 1994 goals and objectives set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, July 18, at 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth. Other topics include student housing and cost containment.

Trustees Susan Feiten and Mark Horvath asked how the board intended to get the word out that public participation at the workshop is welcome.

Horvath suggested that communication be the first agenda item. "We should make sure as many people are as involved as possible," he said. Superintendent Charles Little said, "I think we will be talking about this for more than just one meeting, but we'll have preliminary discussions Monday."

Art in the Park starts Saturday

Artists from all across the country will mingle with local residents and tourists in Kellogg Park this weekend during the 14th annual "Art in the Park."

The event on Saturday and Sunday is one of the largest in the state with more than 350 artists participating this year.

This year's show will feature a wide range of art, from hand-crafted jewelry and pottery to basketry, calligraphy and furniture, and promises to be the best show yet, said show organizer Dianne Quinn. Patrons will also have a chance to experience the creative process as they watch various artists demonstrate their techniques.

"We are growing not only in the quantity of artists, but also in the quality," said Quinn.

Fran Toney, Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce director, who has been helping man busy phones at the chamber agrees. "The phone has been ringing off the hook with questions about the show," said Toney. "This is always a big weekend in the city."

This year's show may continue the upward growth pattern. The addition of steel and jazz band performances to the show has been a big draw for crowds, and this year's entertainment promises to be more of the same. Scheduled performances by Bakrs Bata, a steel drum band from Seattle, Dan the Magic Man, children's entertainers Chatsuqua Express, Matt Watroba and Robert Jones and the Michigan Vocal Arts Ensemble will highlight the art show.

Hiring practice at schools prompts questions

BY M.B. DILLON

Plymouth-Canton schools' custodial-maintenance workers say residents were denied the opportunity to apply for a newly-created $48,800 supervisory job, as the position was posted only internally. Responsible for maintenance operations at the two high schools, the supervisor will replace two plant engineers, both of whom were union members.

Maintenance union representative Christopher Gears told the school board Monday he objects to the way in which the matter was handled.

"It's apparent that some board members and administrators have no ethical or financial concerns with what we feel are contractual obligations to each other.

"The position is a newly-created position at the park, and it was only posted internally," said Gears, an elementary school plant engineer. "We have denied a great deal of community members equal opportunity to seek this job."

Gears said no law was broken, "but we have to ask ourselves did we violate an ethical practice? And did we get the most qualified candidate?"

Gears said the candidate chosen "has far less experience, leading us to believe the selection was made before the job was even posted. The message I see us sending to the community and to students is, 'Don't worry about college, but membership in the good old boys' club.'"

Gears also objected to area coordinator Ken Jacobs overseeing maintenance.

"I'd like to suggest that his efforts, time and expertise be concentrated on drugs, gang activity, racial intimidation, safety, and the conduct of students at the park," Gears said.

Board president David Artley said Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent for employee relations, is on vacation and that the board wasn't in a position to respond.

Newly-elected trustee Mark Horvath didn't let the issue drop. "Where are we going with this?" he

District to wire several schools

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth-Canton school trustees awarded a $126,739 bid to Advanced Lightwave Communications, Inc. of Ann Arbor, one of two vendors that previously installed fiber-optic cabling in the district.

Funded by the 1991 bond project, cabling will be done at elementary schools, including Erikason, Field, Hulsing, Farrand and Miller to equip the district's high technology network.

"Bids were solicited only from the vendors who have previously installed cabling within the school district," said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business, in a memo to the superintendent.

Asked by trustee Sue Feiten why more bids weren't sought, Hoedel said, "There's a learning period being in the system. A company that's never done this before will be slower and have more questions."

Dave Rodwell, director of research and technology, said the contract was advertised and specifications published, but didn't say where. "The only two who bid were ones who've performed work for us before," he said.

Advanced Lightwave Communications, the recommended low bidder, did infrastructure work at four Plymouth Canton middle schools and six elementaries.

The work will complete the cabling of the district with the exception of Gallimore Elementary, Lowell Middle School, and Tanger and Starkweather centers.

By law, the district is not permitted to spend bond money on a school it doesn't own. Lowell is leased from Livonia.

"I think the law is outmoded," said Roland Thomas, school board treasurer. "I think we need to seek assistance from our legislators and make those changes. It's the silliest thing I've ever heard. It's like saying you can't wire for electricity."

Superintendent Charles Little said he'd write the district's legislators. "I've heard concern about this around the district as recently as today. I can understand how someone at Lowell would feel," he said. "The analogy to electricity is right on point. I'll write that letter, that will be done."

"The other way to skin the cat," said Thomas, "would be to have Livonia wire the school, and put it in our bill. But then it comes out of operating (not bond) money."

Executive serves on hospital board

David A. Brandon, president and chief executive officer of Valassis Communications Inc. of Livonia, has been elected to the St. Mary Hospital Board of Directors.

St. Mary Hospital is at Five Mile and Levan in Livonia. Brandon lives in Plymouth.

Brandon is responsible for the strategic planning and day-to-day management of both Valassis and its subsidiary Valassis Inserts.

A 1974 graduate of the University of Michigan with a B.A. degree in speech communications, Brandon joined Valassis in 1979 after working in sales and management for Procter & Gamble Co. for five years.

While with Valassis, Brandon has been fast food sales coordinator, national sales manager and vice president of sales and marketing.

In 1983 he was named executive vice president and chief operating officer, and then president and CEO in July 1989.

He also is a member of the Valassis Communications Inc. board of directors.

Brandon, who also serves on the Central Michigan University Board of Trustees, is a member of the Young Presidents Organization, the Republican Eagles, Meadowbrook Country Club, and Muirfield Country Club.

A former University of Michigan football player, he is a member of the University of Michigan

"M" Club, the University of Michigan Alumni Association, and is founder and president of the David A. Brandon Foundation, a Michigan charitable organization.

Other St. Mary Hospital board members include: Sister Mary Dennis, chairperson, Sister Mary Alexander, Sister Mary Alfonsa, Sister Mary Avila, Sister Mary Janice, Sister Mary Modesta, hospital president and CEO; Sister Mary Renetta, executive vice president and chief operating officer of the hospital, Donald Brock, M.D., Thomas McNish, corporate secretary, Consumers Power, Kenneth Myers, president, William Beaumont Hospital Corporation, John O'Reilly, CPA, Guardian Industries, Mitchell Salihany, M.D., vice-president medical affairs, St. Mary Hospital, and Thomas Worniak, CPA.

Jacob Sobieraj, who recently completed his term of six years, continues to serve as an ex officio member of the board.

Board members decided to pursue broadcasting meeting agendas on Omnicon cable television. Kalis also urged the board to look into staff development, shared decision making, educational audits, class size, an alternative high school and modular scheduling, and the lack of respect between teachers and students.

Kalis encouraged the board to appoint a student liaison; ratify unsettled contracts; and look at the goal-setting process and teacher training.

CSX cited for traffic delays

CSX Transportation was cited by Plymouth police four times in one day for obstructing traffic.

From 7:47-7:49 a.m. July 8, a train with two engines delayed motorists at the Holbrook crossing. The train, clocked at under 10 mph, blocked traffic for the same period at the Starkweather crossing.

From 10:25-11:03 a.m., a northbound CSX train blocked traffic at the Mill crossing. For nearly nine minutes, the northbound train also blocked traffic at the Ann Arbor Trail crossing. CSX was ordered to appear in 35th District Court in 20 days.

Therapy helps hurting stop, they've found

BY M.B. DILLON

Before she found relief through a technique called myofascial release, Aileen La Bret's back was so tight it felt like a drum.

"I tend to hang on to tension in my neck and shoulder muscles," said LaBret, a Plymouth resident who works at the National Bank of Detroit in Westland. Aggravating the painful problem was "the way I count money with my head down and look at the computer screen with my neck crooked."

At her doctor's suggestion, LaBret saw the physical therapists and massage therapists at Hands

On Center in Plymouth.

"It took (physical therapist) Mark (Mijsbergen) three months to loosen up my back. It was as tight as a guitar string," said LaBret. "When he got done with me, you could pick up the skin on my back like you can a puppy dog's. He gave me exercises that I'll do for the rest of my life to keep it under control."

Physical therapists perform myofascial release by gently stretching the skin in various directions to loosen the fascia. Fascia is the tough, connective tissue that spreads throughout the body in a three-dimensional web without interruption from head to foot. Unlike deep, trigger-point massage, the skin is pushed and pulled to restore mobility.

Visible in raw chicken as the dense, white slippery tissue covering the meat, fascia encases the muscles, bones, nerves, organs and vessels down to the cellular level. It's a tissue system of the body to which relatively little attention has been paid in the U.S. until the last 15 years.

It was developed by a German physical therapist in the 1940s who was told she might lose her legs due to systemic disease and severe circulation problems.

"She started doing strokes with her fingers, pulling and stretching the skin and increasing her circulation dramatically," said Mijsbergen. The technique worked; the woman kept her legs and myofascial release was born.

Mijsbergen and his colleagues at Hands On — physical therapist Johan Comuth and massage therapist Barbara Bixler — have seen myofascial release work for accident victims, arthritis and mastectomy patients, athletes, and others with restricted motion due to poor posture and other causes.

"The trick is to keep the pressure on (with the hands), giving tissue time to stretch," said Mijsbergen. "Range of motion also can be restored by applying manual joint mobilization, stretching and range-of-motion techniques with the connective tissue," said Comuth. Both Mijsbergen and Comuth received their training in the Netherlands, their native country.

A person's soft tissue layers should be able to glide over each other. Therapists can locate restricted tissue when they detect that "different skin layers don't want to slide over the fascia," said Mijsbergen. "Sometimes the problem is so severe you can see swelling and depressions in the skin," said Comuth.

Myofascial release "might feel uncomfortable, but it shouldn't be painful," Comuth said.

Bixler says myofascial patients note longer-lasting, more permanent relief than from traditional physical therapy techniques "because the releases occur in layers."

LaBret is a believer. "I've recommended it to several of my friends. The work they do can be a little painful because they're breaking up adhesions, but it's a good kind of pain. These are caring people who know what they're doing."

Canton police seek information on attacker woman fended off

Canton police are seeking information about an unidentified man who reportedly attempted to rape a woman in the parking lot of the Canton Commons Apartments early July 8.

The 23-year-old woman told police that the man approached her as she walked alone in the parking lot of the apartments where she lives at about 3:10 a.m.

and said: "I'm going to rape you, bitch." When the man grabbed her, the woman struck the man in the face with her elbow, according to police.

The woman then grabbed the man, threw him to the ground and punched and hit him in the face. The woman told police that the man's face should be scratched from the struggle.

The man then got up off the ground and ran away. The woman ran in the opposite direction toward her home. The woman told police that from her apartment window she believed she saw the man after the attack and that he could have been going to another apartment or toward I-275 in the direction of the rest area, according to police.

The woman told police that she was at a Garden City bar earlier in the night and it is possible the man followed her and friends home from the bar. She also told police that when she returned to the complex she walked a friend home who also lives in Canton Commons.

The suspect is described as a white man with brown or black hair, 5 feet, 11 inches-6 feet tall.

He wore a flannel shirt and jeans. Anyone with information is asked to call Detective Dave Schreiner, 397-5338, or the police department general number, 397-3000.

Voter will head to the polls, but it won't be to vote for FDR

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Canton is a far cry from the township of farmlands and one-room schoolhouses Irene Winkel remembers when she first registered to vote 60 years ago.

"We used to walk down Hanford Road and pick wild asparagus and wild grapes," said Winkel, who recently registered to vote on her return to Canton where she was raised. "The fields were just covered with wild flowers. You can't imagine it now."

She is nothing short of amazed at how the township has transformed in the years since she married and left Canton and more recently after spending 20 years in Florida. "I just can't believe it. There are such beautiful homes. They're huge."

At 82, registering to vote in time for the Aug. 2 primary is just as important as the first time she registered when she was in her 20s and her father was the township clerk. The first time she voted — for FDR — it was in the township hall at the corner of Canton Center and Cherry Hill.

Her father, Colburn Dennis, also was the owner of a general merchandise store. Originally he owned two stores. Winkel, mother of Canton Fire Marshal Art Winkel, and her family lived in the upstairs flat of the store on Canton Center Road.

"He sold everything from crockery, farmers' overalls to food. It was the only store around for a long time," she said, recalling that Julien's store was at its familiar spot on Canton Center and Ford roads but was more like a restaurant in those days.

Winkel can recall all the farmers who have long been associated with Canton. She went to school with their children in the Hanford and Canton Center schools.

"The Palmer family grew the best corn in the state. In fact, Canton was known as the sweet corn capital," Winkel said.

She has fond memories of the one-room schoolhouses, which she attended through the eighth grade and then went on to Plymouth High School. "There was a big stove in the middle of the room. That's how we kept warm in the winter. Kids brought vegetables and meat from their farms. We made soup — actually the teacher did," Winkel said.

She recalls being in charge of her baby brother, also named Colburn — who took over the family store when her dad retired — and taking him to school. "I remember listening to the older kids in the school recite their lessons. I loved to read. From the third grade on I was reading everything."

And yes, like all the other kids, Winkel walked a mile to school. She also recalls living in a house at Beck and Hanford, which is still standing. "When we were kids, the snow would be so thick and deep my daddy had to walk in front of us to make a path for us," Winkel said.

In a simpler time when crime wasn't a worry and no one locked their doors, Winkel recalls learning to drive a Ford Model T when she was 9. When she was about 12-13, Winkel would drive into Plymouth to get ice for the store. "I don't remember having a license," Winkel said.

She also remembers women helping on the farms. "They helped until their kids grew up and then the kids helped their fathers on the farm," Winkel said. "After chores were done, the boys would play ball and the girls would skate. We used to go on hayrides too."

She met her husband, Arthur Winkel, when she worked in the family store. "I met him when he delivered papers in the store. For 46 years he worked for the Detroit News. That was his first and only job."

When the Winkels married, they moved to Detroit. The Depression, however, forced them to move to Dearborn Heights where homes were less expensive. That house cost $2,800 with $300 down. "We paid I think $28 a month. And they painted the house and put a new roof on for us."

asked. "There's a lot of history here. I don't want to put (new superintendent) Dr. (Charles) Little in a bad spot. But we should look into it."

Little said he'd investigate the matter. Walt Bartnick, administrative assistant for employee relations, disagreed with Kearns, saying the job was posted externally. "I can't tell you specifically where, but it was advertised out side. One of the finalists was an external applicant, so I'm not sure what Mr. Kearns was saying into it."

Two or three people outside the bargaining unit also were interviewed, he said.

Recommended for the job by the district is John Kelly, currently working in the high schools' refrigeration/boiler operation.

"We wanted to have better control of the park situation, and this was a way to do it," said Bartnick. "The person will be a liaison directly responsible to Ken Jacobs."

Bartnick denied Kearns' claim about the "good old boys" network. "The individuals on the hiring panel made their selection based on the merits of each candidate. I would assume the person recommended is the most qualified."

One plant engineer retired. The second is being reassigned, Bartnick said.

As for Jacobs being overburdened, "that's his decision. We wouldn't assign someone to him if we didn't feel he could handle it. He's one of our most capable administrators."

For local business owners, "Art in the Park" means big sales.

"We used to gauge our success by the crowds during fall festival. Now we use 'Art in the Park.' This is the high point of the summer," said Carol Laing, owner of the Dairy King.

All of this sounds good to Quinn. It was 14 years ago that Quinn, a Plymouth resident, decided that Kellogg Park was the perfect place to host an art fair. Quinn was also visiting art fairs with her works of calligraphy.

"I went to the city council and suggested that Plymouth could do just as well as some of the neighboring communities with an art fair. People love to come here any way," she said. City officials were receptive to the idea, and Art in the Park was born.

At that time, we really were just in the park, with just 30 artists. Now we are one of the largest shows in the state," said Quinn.

Recently retired from The Cutting Quarters, Quinn now devotes herself full time to the running of this and two other art shows in the area. Milford's Art in the Village and the Novi Arts and Crafts show.

The art show has become a family affair. Quinn now employs her daughters Raychel, 16. This year, Raychel will oversee the mini-station and information booth, and has been helping out with paperwork.

"She is a great help. She does everything for the show and helps make it a success," Quinn said.

And success it is. The show has been rated a state "treasure" by Michigan Living magazine and was lauded "Best Art Fair" by Gems of the Great Lakes. It is also favored by local residents.

Dairy King owner Laing not only looks forward to show as a business person, but also as a patron.

"This event draws such a nice crowd. I love 'Art in the Park.' My husband isn't so thrilled, though, because I end up spending so much," she said.

Art in the Park will be held in and around downtown Plymouth's Kellogg Park 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. July 16 and 17. Main Street, Pennum Avenue and Ann Arbor Trail will be blocked off for the event. For more information, call 454-1314.

Changes planned

The landmark Julien's convenience store will likely be joined by a new AAA Michigan regional claims center.

The Canton Planning Commission Monday recommended rezoning of nine acres — from residential to commercial — on the west side of Canton Center Road, south of Julien's at Ford Road, and across from Meijer.

"The whole corner is designated commercial on the master (land use) plan," said township planner Jeff Goulet.

AAA also owns another 2-3/4 acres just north of the property recommended for rezoning. AAA plans to only use the frontage of the property for the new building, Goulet said.

Information is not yet available on the proposed center. "There is no site plan yet," Goulet said.

No one commented in opposition to the proposed rezoning during the public hearing Monday night.

Little said he'd be skeptical of Livonia doing the cabling. "We need to look at more than one way to address the issue," he said.

Work at Gallimore Elementary is on hold until after the housing committee reports to the board in January on whether the school will be converted for other uses.

Tanger is used for itinerant programs, and Starkweather is used for adult and continuing education programs.

Population rises

But Wayne County lags behind region

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The region's population is rising and falling at the same time. How can that be?

On one hand, births outnumber deaths. On the other, more people are moving out than moving in.

On balance, the seven-county region is seeing "the largest, sustained population increase the region has experienced since the 1970s" — 70,000 persons, 1.5 percent, in the three years and three months between the official census date of April 1, 1990, and July 1, 1993.

So says the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), which last week released its estimate of population and housing units for Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Washtenaw, Monroe and St. Clair counties.

But that 1.5 percent growth rate still "remains below the U.S. (3.7 percent) and those of nearby states such as Ohio (2.2) and Indiana (3.0)," said SEMCOG. It means the region can expect to lose more seats in Congress and the Michigan Legislature if the trend continues.

Wayne was the only county to lose population — more than 21,500 or 1 percent, to 2.09 million.

Numerically, Oakland was the biggest gainer — 50,400 of the 70,000 increase occurred there, mainly due to single-family housing growth. Percentage-wise, Livingston County grew most — 8.5 percent to 125,000.

Detroit topped one million with only 6,000 to spare. If, as expected, the central city drops below the magic million number in the 2000 census, it will lose many legal seats, including auditing its own books.

Population gainers among western Wayne cities and townships during the three-plus year study period were:

■ Northville Township — up 7.8 percent to 18,670; housing units grew by 11.7 percent to 6,856; household size fell from 2.54 to 2.48. The building boom was one of the largest in the region.

■ Plymouth Township — up 4.2 percent to 24,648 persons; housing units grew by 5.6 percent to 9,307; household size fell from 2.64 to 2.6.

■ Northville city — up 3.3 percent to 6,437 persons; housing units grew by 5.3 percent to 2,613; household size fell from 2.51 to 2.46.

■ Westland — up 2.3 percent to 86,689 persons; housing units grew 4.3 percent to 34,525; household size fell from 2.53 to 2.48.

Population losers:

■ Redford Township — down 2 percent to 53,306; housing units grew 0.3 percent to 20,186; household size fell from 2.68 to 2.62.

■ Garden City — down 2 percent to 31,209; housing units grew 0.2 percent to 11,235; household size fell from 2.84 to 2.73.

■ Plymouth city — down 1.8 percent to 9,384; housing units grew 0.5 percent to 4,284; household size fell from 2.64 to 2.6.

■ Livonia — down 0.1 percent to 100,785; housing units grew 2.4 percent to 36,782; household size fell from 2.77 to 2.7.

In general, areas seeing the biggest population growth were north of the South Boulevard-Cooley Lake Road Line (20 Mile) and west of Haggerty Road.

Debate set for Congress candidates

The 13th Congressional District candidates will have a debate beginning 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, July 26, at the Sheraton Inn, 3200 Boardwalk in Ann Arbor.

The 13th District includes Canton and Plymouth townships, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southeast quadrant of Livonia.

The Democrat candidates are David Geiss of Wayne, state Rep. Lynn Rivers of Ann Arbor and Fulton Eaglin of Ann Arbor.

The Republican candidates are John Schall of Ann Arbor, Cynthia Wilbanks of Ypsilanti Township and Dennis Fassett of Belleville.

Breakfast will be served for $10. Call 665-4433.

New teaching center on tap for U-D Mercy

With a $1.1 million grant from The Ford Fund, University of Detroit Mercy's College of Engineering & Science will create the Ford Advanced Computing and Teaching (FACT) Center, a state-of-the-art communication, computer and presentation facility.

This new technology will give faculty and students the ability to acquire, manipulate and present digital artifacts providing them world-wide access to information and powerful new ways to teach and learn, said Leo Hanifin, dean of the college.

The center will be a new structure on the McNichols-Livernois campus in Detroit and will include:

- A 1,300 square foot Advance Computing Lab with 30 engineering work stations.
- A 120 student capacity Advance Delivery Classroom, which will receive and deliver remote programming. This room will be used for large meetings, technical seminars and workshops.
- A multi-media courseware development lab which will allow faculty to bring new levels of imagery and computation into their instructional materials.

For example, students will be able to see the inner workings of an entire chemical processing plant on a computer screen or they may watch the process of a single injection molding die as materials flow into the die, cool and warp.

This center will train tomorrow's engineers with these important skills and educate them to both seek and create new knowledge, said Hanifin.

Michigan lawyers are wrestling with the question of whether to certify legal specialists, the way medical doctors do.

"You open your Yellow Pages, and everybody (advertising) is a drunk driving or divorce specialist. Who's to say these are valid?" asks Michael Legg, the Farmington Hills attorney presiding over the argument.

There's great pressure, for example, to certify family law specialists — divorce, child custody, child support, adoption. Michigan has new laws allowing attorney-arranged adoptions.

It seems like most doctors are specialists — orthopedic, OB-GYN, psychiatry. There appears to be some public benefit to that," Legg said in an interview.

Legg chairs the State Bar of Michigan's Representative Assembly, a 150-member group that meets twice a year. The assembly is a policy-making group for the 29,712-member State Bar. Among its committee leaders are Maureen Thomas of Bloomfield Hills, Edward Haroutianian of Southfield, Linda Hallmark of Bloomfield Township, Gregory Ulrich of Livonia, Donald Morgan of Plymouth, and John Harris of Brighton.

Lawyer specialist certification mulled

Legg, once known for his Republican Party leadership in western Wayne County, today is special projects manager in corporate recruiting for Compuware in Farmington Hills. "I'm out of politics," he said.

But not out of the hot seat. "This question comes up about every five years," Legg said. "The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that there's nothing to preclude a lawyer from advertising as a specialist unless the state has an approved list."

The American Bar Association has accredited six specialties — civil trial, criminal trial, business bankruptcy (two), consumer bankruptcy and creditors' rights.

The State Bar Representative Assembly, as Legg sees it, has three choices when it meets Sept. 22 in Detroit:

- Make no change.
- Do the certifying itself.
- Accredit organizations that already certify specialists.

Certification could mean anything, but generally it implies a professional has taken continuing education courses and has handled X number of cases in a specialty.

The Dearborn Bar said in a resolution it's unanimously opposed to any form of specialization, according to president Peter Johnston. So are the State Bar's Alternative Dispute Resolution Section, chaired by Lawrence D. Connor of Dykema Gossett, and the Young Lawyers Section.

Favoring specialization are Michigan Lawyers Mutual Insurance Co., which sells legal malpractice insurance; the Michigan Association of Municipal Attorneys, who serve cities and villages; and the Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, the plaintiffs bar.

A day before the interview, Legg attended his group's hearing in Lansing on the issue and summarized the arguments.

"From the Bar's point of view, the certified lawyers have a marketing edge. You'd get a log for your ad. You might be able to raise your rate $25 an hour."

"For others it (certification) may be a negative. A divorce specialist might not get a tax case. In a small county, a customer with a special case might not call the local lawyer. The reason this has failed in the past is opposition from small-town lawyers or one- and two-member firms."

MEA plans own suit against state

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

There are two unusual things about big labor's lawsuit to overthrow a new state law punishing teacher strikes.

First, the Michigan Education Association, which represents the overwhelming majority of public school employees, isn't part of it.

"I don't know why MEA did or did not want in," said Theodore Sachs, general counsel for the AFL-CIO, representing the Detroit Federation of Teachers, AFSCME, Service Employees International and the Operating Engineers.

In a press release, MEA President Julius Maddox hailed the AFL-CIO suit and said a similar MEA suit is pending. "Our own litigation, in several respects, will go beyond the complaint filed by the AFL-CIO because (some) of the punitive peculiarities of the state legislation were aimed solely at the MEA."

Second, the labor federation is challenging no-strike provisions — but not directly attacking sections that prohibit unions' bargaining over charter schools, health insurance carrier, starting day of classes, and composition of school decision-making groups.

Instead, Sachs said Thursday, labor's suit argues that the law was so "sloppily crafted" that the entire law is "tainted" and should be struck down. "There was no debate on the House floor, and it was there only 15 or 16 minutes, and then it was passed," he said.

Among co-sponsors were Reps. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, and Susan Munsell, R-Howell.

"One of the MEA's biggest criticisms was the overnight short window for the anti-strike provisions, but it's just not true," Dobb retorted. "It was part of the whole reform package."

Dobb explained that there were many meetings over the package of bills that was put together in the late fall of 1993. "Since those issues were so controversial, however, they were put aside until we could get the financing settled so that it could be revisited," she said.

"There were eight or nine different drafts. I had enough time to visit with my local MEA board, and there was another revision after my meeting."

The suit asks Wayne Circuit Judge Paul Terranes to declare Public Act 112 unconstitutional and enjoin the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) from enforcing its no-strike provisions.

As for charges that the title of the bill was changed, the title section of a bill frequently is changed to conform to the body of legislation as it takes shape. "It's done procedurally," she said.

A product of the House Republican caucus rather than the committee system, PA 112 was born as House Bill 5128. Both chambers passed it in April on bitter, nearly party-line votes. Engler cheerfully signed it May 2.

It's due to take effect about next April 1. Sachs asked for an accelerated judgment to beat the effective date. Attorney General Frank Kelley, defending MERC, has 21 days to file a reply brief.

Many teachers-union locals are trying to negotiate multi-year contracts to avoid coming under PA 112.

Sachs' brief says the law violates the Michigan Constitution by:

■ Saying courts "shall grant injunctive relief... without regard to the existence of other remedies, demonstration of irreparable harm or other factors." Sachs said the Legislature thus encroached on the judiciary's powers.

■ Denying judicial review of MERC decisions, violating the section of the Constitution which subjects "all final decisions, findings, rulings and orders of any administrative officer or agency" to judicial review.

■ Mandating that MERC fine a public school employees' union $5,000 a day for a strike whether or not the union authorized, ratified or even had knowledge of a walkout. It defines "strike" to cover even protests of a school board's unfair labor practice.

■ Prohibiting a parent union from vetoing a local union's collective bargaining agreement, reserving that power solely for members of the bargaining unit. Those sections "unconstitutionally interfere with and intrude upon internal" union matters.

■ Denying fair procedures in MERC hearings — for example, by "mandating inflexible daily wage fines."

■ Denying "equal protection of the laws" by treating school employees more harshly than other public employees.

■ Mandating harsh, $5,000-a-day fines "without regard to the circumstances (of a strike or) any illegal conduct or provocations" by the school board.

■ Having a flawed title which fails to describe completely what is in the act. It violates the Constitution by amending by reference rather than re-enacting sections of the old law.

Engler signed PA 112 as a "cost containment" measure because it requires competitive bidding by health insurance carriers. The majority of MEA locals bargain for their own subsidiary as the carrier.

The new law will replace provision amendments passed in 1965 when Democrats took over the Legislature after Lyndon Johnson's landslide presidential victory over Barry Goldwater.

New fee plan funds Insurance Bureau

State Capitol capsules: Insurance consumers will get more protection, Gov. John Engler said as he signed House Bill 4871 into law. The "insurance fee" act will assess companies fees on the basis of their volume of business, using revenue to fund the Insurance Bureau, a regulatory arm of the Department of Commerce.

In the past, Engler said, the Insurance Bureau sometimes received insufficient funds in the budget process. If this continues, Michigan could fail to gain accreditation from the National Association of Insurance Commissioners and offer weak protection for consumers.

Engler said the new law will "encourage more companies to base their operations in our state, and thus give consumers more choices."

Jail rent

County sheriffs will be able to charge jail inmates more for their stays under another act signed by Engler. PA 212 doubles the daily amount that can be charged from $30 to $60. It also extends from six months to 12 months the time during which a county can seek reimbursement.

The sponsor, Rep. Sal Rocca, R-Sterling Heights, said his home base of Macomb County spends about $56 a day. He said other counties may follow Macomb's lead in seeking reimbursement.

Fall session

The Michigan Legislature has adjourned until Tuesday, Sept. 13, though a few committees are continuing to meet.

It is scheduled to meet for three weeks, until Sept. 29, then break again until Nov. 10, after the general election.

In the Senate, Sept. 15 is the final day for reporting Senate bills from standing committees, and Sept. 22 is the final day for committee action on House bills.

EMU tuition increased 5-8 percent

The Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents raised tuition by 5-8 percent and residence hall rates by 2.9 percent at its June 28 meeting.

Freshmen and sophomores from Michigan and Ohio will pay $87 per credit hour.

Juniors and seniors from Michigan and Ohio will pay $94 per credit hour.

Resident graduate students will pay $130 per credit hour.

Undergraduate students who don't live in Michigan or Ohio will pay $225 to $240 per credit hour.

Nonresident graduate students will pay $300 per credit hour.

Tuition revenue is expected to provide $59 million, or 45 percent of the EMU budget in 1994-95.

The new charge for living in the residence halls will be $4,148 for a double-occupancy room with 20 meals. Cheaper plans are available with fewer meals.

However, returning students who lived in the residence halls last school year will pay 0.5 percent less than the old rate.

EMU apartment rents were also increased 2.9 percent. At Pine Grove the price is $396 per month for a furnished one-bedroom unit, $439 per month for a furnished two-bedroom unit, $366 for an unfurnished one-bedroom unit and $412 for an unfurnished two-bedroom unit.

At Cornell Courts the price is $396 per month for a furnished one-bedroom unit, $442 per month for a furnished two-bedroom unit, $371 for an unfurnished one-bedroom unit and $416 for an unfurnished two-bedroom unit.

At Westview the price is $450 per month for a furnished one-bedroom unit, $491 per month for a furnished two-bedroom unit, $422 for an unfurnished one-bedroom unit and $465 for an unfurnished two-bedroom unit.

Fewer jobless in Michigan

Michigan's jobless rate is the lowest in 21 years, a state official said.

Seasonally adjusted unemployment decreased from May's rate of 5.7 percent to 5.4 percent for June, according to F. Robert Edwards, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

"This is the lowest the seasonally adjusted jobless rate has been since June 1973 when it was 5.3 percent," Edwards said. "We also showed a large decrease in unemployment from the first quarter of 1994 (January through March) when the rate was 7.9 percent to the second quarter (April through June) which was 5.5 percent."

According to estimates prepared for Michigan by the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, the number of unemployed dropped by 14,000 from May to 256,000 last month.

Most industries reported employment increases last month except for the governmental-education sector, which showed typical seasonal decreases related to school summer recess.

Strongest gains were in the manufacturing of durable goods, including furniture and fixtures, motor vehicles and equipment and fabricated metals.

"Our economic strength has continued to keep Michigan below the national unemployment rate for the third-straight month," Edwards said. Last month the labor force totaled 4,736,000, while employment was 4,480,000.

Radio station has Metro Airport news

Wayne County government has set up a radio transmitter at Metro Airport to get information to passengers while they're in their cars en route to the airport.

The low-power transmitter broadcasts a 6-minute message at 920 kilohertz on the AM band. Anyone within 2 1/4 miles of Metro should be able to tune in the broadcast.

The message provides information on which parking lots are open, which airlines fly out of which terminals, and details on parking deck and highway construction projects.

The cost of the transmitter and associated equipment was $25,000.

Metro also has a parking hot line number of (800) 642-1978.

Dietary fat hotline giving advice

During July consumers can call the American Dietetic Association's Consumer Nutrition Hot Line for information on the role of fats and oils in a diet.

As part of ADA's National Center for Nutrition and Dietetics, the Hot Line is a public service receiving more than 15,000 consumer calls each month.

Dietitians are available on line to answer questions on food and nutrition topics. A recorded message from a dietician discusses the role of fat in the diet and sources of dietary fat.

Trans fatty acids are discussed as well. According to nutrition experts, the bottom line is to reduce total fat and saturated fat intake for a more healthy lifestyle.

At the end of the recorded message, callers are given the opportunity to request a free fact sheet with more information on fats and oils in the diet, to speak with a dietician, or be referred to a dietician in their area for individual or group counseling.

Callers may listen to the message by calling (800) 366-1655 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Dietitians are available 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. TDD service for the hearing impaired is available 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The 64,000-member American Dietetic Association is the nation's largest organization of food and nutrition professionals and serves the public by promoting optimal nutrition health and well-being.

The National Center for Nutrition and Dietetics was established by ADA in 1990 to provide objective food and nutrition information to the public.

This month's message on fats and oils in the diet is funded in part by an educational grant from the National Association of Margarine Manufacturers.

PLYMOUTH

Library election

Candidates running for the Plymouth Library Board will need the signatures of 98 registered voters on petitions in order to run for the board in November.

Marilyn Massengill, Plymouth Township clerk, said that some candidates who have requested petitions for running for the board had incorrectly been informed that fewer than 98 signatures would be needed.

Also, those petitions must be filed at the Wayne County Clerk's office in Detroit, and can't be filed at either the city of Plymouth or Plymouth Township.

The filing deadline is at 4 p.m. Thursday, July 21, for the election to be held Nov. 8.

Massengill said that about 12 persons have requested petitions for the board, and added that to come up with the required 98, candidates should obtain at least 110 signatures.

The number of signatures needed on a petition is based on a formula that takes into account the number of persons who voted in the previous election for that public office.

She said a mistake was made in calculating that formula, leading people to believe that 63 signatures were needed.

New officers

The Salvation Army office in Plymouth will have two new commanding officers. Randall and Karen VanLandingham will be assigned to the office which services the Plymouth, Canton and Northville areas.

Both are fresh from training and have been lieutenants for three weeks. Randall VanLandingham was a Salvation Army member in Lafayette, Ind., before accepting a seven-year pastorate in southern Indiana. He and his wife, Karen, will share responsibilities in directing the Plymouth office.

The couple was married in 1983 and has three children, Heather, 9, Randall III, 6, and David, 5. For more information about Salvation Army services, contact the office at 453-5464.

Railroad suit

City should drop CSX battle

The city of Plymouth should drop its legal battle with CSX railroad over the time a train can block an intersection following a decision by a federal judge.

Continuing to press the fight would do nothing more than waste taxpayer money on legal fees and perhaps even make matters worse with the railroad. Plymouth officials should look to work with the railroad rather than against it.

The legal action against CSX has been a waste since it started and that became evident on July 1 when U.S. Federal Judge George LaPlata ruled the city of Plymouth can't impose a five-minute limit on the length of time a crossing is blocked when state law allows a seven-minute time span. The city had been trying to fine the railroad for exceeding a local ordinance. Currently CSX is in court fighting $225,000 in fines imposed by the city.

The ruling makes sense. A railroad should operate under state law and it shouldn't have to worry about restrictions imposed by each community through which its trains run. If Northville sets the limit at three minutes and Westland uses the seven-minute rule, it would be impossible for the railroad to put a train together which would not violate local laws.

That would open railroads to fines from every community in the state which wanted to shake down the railroad for money.

Higher fines would do nothing more than increase freight rates, which would eventually translate into higher business costs for the railroad. If such costs were to rise, firms transporting goods would probably turn to trucking firms, which would mean more semi trucks on the road.

The time limit for blocking a crossing was changed from five to seven minutes in January when the state Legislature approved a bill backed by the railroads.

City officials fought the change, contending that trains are not only a nuisance to drivers, but also pose safety concerns for emergency vehicles.

That is an understandable worry. However, if the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township were to merge fire and police operations, such situations could be better handled.

Plymouth does have more than its share of railroad crossings, however, the city should deal with it by working with CSX, not against it. Also, it should look toward merging emergency services to cope with the situation.

Such actions would better serve the public.

Don't halt these good skates

We've seen the signs ("No skateboarding") and we've heard the grumbling ("Council oughta pass an ordinance..."), but we have to say we're dead-set against such anti-skateboarder sentiment.

The Farmington Hills City Council proved some months ago that it's not a mean old Grinch of a governmental body by turning a unanimous thumbs down on a request from local school officials to regulate skateboarding, in-line skating and rollerskiing on school property.

Apparently, some suburban school officials, concerned about safety and liability, want cities to pass ordinances that would keep these wheeled wonders off school property.

Skateboarding, for years the rage with the young and young at heart, has expanded into in-line skating (on something like ice skates with little wheels in the blades) and rollerskiing (with rollers in the skis).

Sporting-goods stores do a brisk business in these items and the trimmings that go with them - helmets for heads and pads for knees and elbows.

But, once you've strapped on the wheels, where, oh where, do you go to roll? Well, before tightening up the laces (or Velcro), a little common sense must be employed.

No, you can't skateboard down the middle of Farmington's Grand River Avenue, Livonia's Five Mile Road, Plymouth's Main Street, Warren and Wayne roads in Westland or Garden City's Ford Road - even though you might beat the motorized traffic during some rush hours.

And nix on wheeling through downtowns or shopping malls where you might collide with pedestrians. The police'll nab you if you try something that foolish.

Before World Cup arrived, soccer guru Roger Faulkner of Rochester claimed that this was the chance for suburban Detroit to polish its image for viewing around the world.

The whole idea is to enjoy this equipment without hurting yourself or bothering others.

But what's wrong with rolling across an empty parking lot at the local elementary school after hours in the company of other like-minded sportsmen and women?

Absolutely nothing, we think. Hey, how about that... somebody finally found a use for an empty parking lot. There should be some sort of civic award.

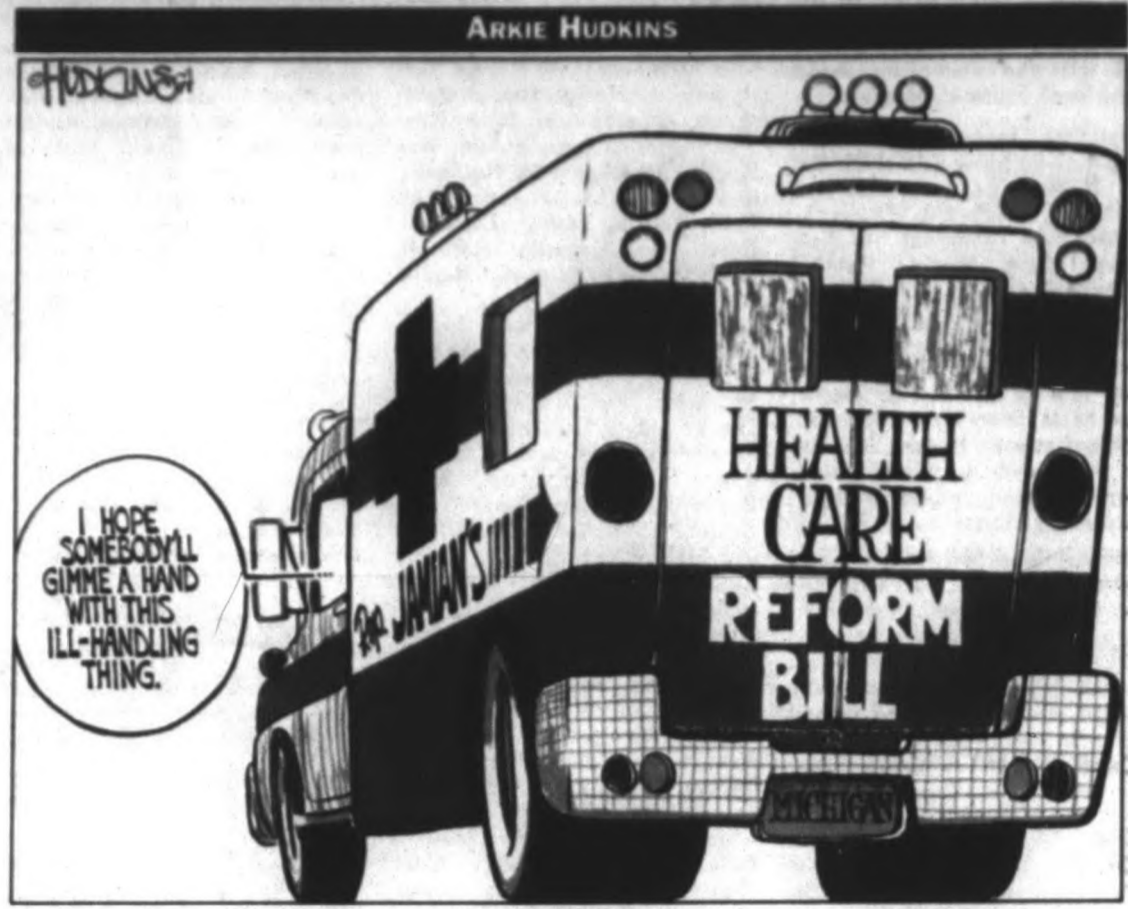

We think that skateboarding ordinances would just add to the woes of young people who often complain that "there's nothing to doooooo around here."

And let's be honest about it: Our police have better things to do these days than roust around 12-year-olds who are peaceably using what the sporting goods stores so readily sell to their parents.

Well, there's one thing you can say about skateboarding: It sure beats sitting in front of a TV set watching cartoons after school and on Saturdays. Skateboarding takes place in the fresh air and involves exercise.

"You burn up 9.5 calories a minute when you're Roller Blading," said a Farmington Hills girl who's just bonkers over the activity.

No, officialdom shouldn't object when skateboarders wheel through empty parking lots. It's a good show, as long as they don't bother others or hurt themselves.

Blasting a blast

I would like to take the opportunity to thank the organizers of our Fourth of July parade, The Fife and Drum Corp and Briefcase Drill Team among many others were outstanding and contrary to some who may feel it inappropriate, I enjoyed the politicians, that we had the opportunity to meet and shake hands or ask questions of. It was very well run and family and friends enjoyed watching it.

However, one thing appeared totally out of place in a celebration of our freedom and liberty on this special occasion. The person sitting in the military vehicle who was firing off some type of loud device while pretending to be shooting an automatic rifle or machine gun at anything or everything along the route.

Many people around me (including veterans of our wars) expressed their dismay or displeasure at seeing this included in the parade. We felt it was out of place seeing someone who acted like they were shooting people and enjoying it. Is this the message we want to convey to our young children who were watching?

tract are stalled in a similar way? In short, if Engler could do it to the teachers' unions, he is just as much of a threat to all unions.

It is a sad day in the ranks of all organized labor when one union or another gets butchered, like Reagan did to the PATCO members. If you are a union member, take a good look at your wages, benefits and your ability to bargain - and then say goodbye. We don't need Engler as president, nor as governor anymore.

Thomas W. Donnelly, Canton

Truth hurts

In response to Pam Westerhold's letter in the July 7 Observer:

I did tell the truth!

On June 2, 1994, at about 4 p.m., your leader Julius Maddon came to Canton High School and ordered all MEA members to give $25 and 10 hours of personal time but not to put anything in writing. Election law requires all money and in-kind service to be reported to the state.

The truth hurts, doesn't it?

Jerry Vorva, Plymouth

Watch your wallet

Union members had better watch their wallets and their livelihoods, as John Engler goes forward in his campaign of bashing the working man and woman. Many Observer readers belong to labor unions, and these union members know the rich history of union gains in wages, hours, grievances and other issues since the beginning of the labor movement.

Well, the unions are all under threat from John Engler. Many politically tuned people have suggested that Engler wants to be elected president of the United States in 1996 and is using every opportunity in Michigan to posture himself for national exposure. Most recently, Engler and the Republican-controlled Legislature destroyed the teacher unions' right to bargain in the passage of House Bill 5128 this past spring.

In April of 1995, teacher unions will have no leverage at the bargaining table, and if the board of education drags its feet, no contracts are possible. The state law now states that when an impasse in bargaining lasts for 30 days or more, the board of education's last offer automatically becomes the contract. Teacher union members will have no recourse.

How would a UAW member like it if Ford or GM caused a month's delay in bargaining, and then Ford or GM's last offer of a 20-percent pay cut and no benefits became the new contract, with no possibility of calling a strike or other protest? What will the Teamsters' brotherhood do when their efforts to gain a fair con-

POINTS OF VIEW

All creatures great and small

Encounter with the animal world can be a scary experience

For a fine old-fashioned surge, most would agree that there's nothing quite like glowing eyes staring through your window in the dead of night.

All creatures great, small and aggravating treat my little back porch like a take-out window at a Dairy Queen. It wasn't long ago when my idea of wild-life was dressing up like some demented trapeze artist to go out and trash the night away at a club called Spit. I find these creatures now far more fascinating than the lounge lizards.

I'm learning, however, that these are not your cuddly critters depicted on calendars. My first visitor was a stray cat dubbed "Trashback." His ludicrously long orange mane caught up all manner of burrs, thistles, sticks and leaves combined with nasty war wounds.

This apparition came to me at all hours in all windows clawing at the screens and baring its fangs in a horrid soundless yowl.

I laid edible offerings out to prevent him from yanking what was now chicken wire to chain link while our own milktoast feline looked on in shock and disgust. As the year passed, a little kindness and a lot of brushing revealed a pet blessed with a dear clownish character. He commands handouts from all the neighbors, yet he seems to have chosen the fellow next door, to his dismay, for serious shelter during foul weather.

Aye, the bird watching here is terrific. I admire that silly squirrel who eats the seeds, and I even found myself looking forward to rousing in the wee hours to spy out at nocturnal visitors.

Ferocious battles ensued overhead where what I thought were cute, small inoffensive coons crawled up the eaves to the fluffy attic insulation.

The esteemed Foghorn Leghorn best described it as "more noise than a couple of skeletons tap-dancing on a tin roof."

Following the scramble out, off the roof, and onto the porch with our laser-like flashlight, I witnessed a gruesome sight, a raccoon the size of a burro reared up and lumbered toward me revealing a totally bald skull not unlike your classic asylum escapee.

A high, thin scream escaped as if from a pinched balloon. Aghast, gulping for air, I went back to bed praying that we had sufficiently terrorized one another to the point of mutual aversion. I've come to recognize our resident road hog, that big brazen skunk, the hideous opossum and those frozen chocolate rabbits as respectable neighbors.

Previous to moving here, my savvy of nature seemed limited to pigeons, gulls, angry hornets and my sister's certainly cool but haplessly flailing suitor who roared up for dates on his motorcycle festooned with the local six-pack of stray mad dogs.

So, I am learning to love our particular gargoyles here. Now, if I can only steel my nerves for those late summer cymbal-crashing cicadas.

Run a success

Plymouth's YMCA's 15th annual run was a tremendous success, with 948 runners in our event on Father's Day run.

We had 60 winners in the Tot Trot and Jr. Jog; 226 runners, walkers and strollers were in our 1-mile family fun run. There were 55 finishers in our 5K walk. Our 5K Run had 312 finishers, and our 10K Run had 261 people finishing. There were 34 brave and avid runners who participated and finished our first Triple Race, which consisted of 1 Mile, 5K and 10K Run.

This year, more community residents and businesses were involved than ever before. Local businesses donated food, beverages, services and information to the runners. A big thank-you to all the volunteers who help make this run a success year after year. Close to 200 volunteers manned corners, served water along the routes, registered runners, served food and beverages and kept the finish line "running" smoothly. Our special thanks to Vietnam Veterans Post No. 528 and Mike Schlott for their dedication.

Dr. Thomas Morse served as race director and as a sponsor. He not only donated his time, money and energy, but he recruited his office staff, patients and family members as volunteers.

The Ford Motor Co. Sheldon Road Plant was another main sponsor, providing start-up money, manpower and pace cars to ensure the success of the run. Dave Diroff was their representative on the run committee.

The other sponsors were: Adistra Business Services, Chris Boyle, McAuley Health System, Lorrie Chlebek, the Michigan Group Realty, Jerry Vorva, Independent Health, Dale Freels, Blackwell Ford, John Blackwell III, Jerry's Bicycles, Mark and Val Scofield, Plymouth Screen Printing, Ed Wertanen, Fleet Feet Sports, Doug Dreher, the Crier and Mike Carne.

Misinformed

After reading your July 4 article "Cleveland faults McNamara for high staff salaries," it became apparent that Clyde Cleveland should spend less time talking to newspapers — and more time reading them.

Had Mr. Cleveland spent a few quarters to catch up on current events, he would have learned the following:

The "overcrowded Youth Home" is no longer called the Youth Home, and it's no longer overcrowded. More than two years of negotiations with judges and state officials have succeeded in bringing population at the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Facility under 200 for the first time in memory.

Yes, some local elected officials also work for the county. And after these individuals put in long hours at the county, they then sacrifice their evenings and weekends serving their communities at council meetings, hearings, and other public events, usually without pay. These dedicated public servants deserve Mr. Cleveland's respect — not his scorn.

It is quite clear that Mr. Cleveland does not stonewall the Detroit Auditor General — he's too busy falling asleep at the switch. How else do you explain his voting to approve the infamous Chrysler Jefferson land sale, where the city paid $42 million for empty warehouses and a bucket of bolts?

Most important, recent headlines would show that ranking city of Detroit officials earn higher salaries than members of my staff. Mr. Cleveland — who has voted to raise his own pension three times — should be aware of his error. While we've all taken wage freezes here at Wayne County, we have yet to find a single pay raise that Mr. Cleveland declined — and he's been on the Detroit City Council for 21 years.

Edward H. McNamara, Wayne County Executive

Open our lakes — but keep those boats from speeding

By now, state Sens. Mat Dunaskiss, David Honigman and Chris Dingell know what should be done.

The question is whether they'll admit it and do it.

Those three worthies make up a Senate subcommittee investigating (beating up on) the Department of Natural Resources' plans to acquire public boat launch sites on inland lakes. Republicans Dunaskiss and Honigman are under special pressure: They hail from Oakland County, where lots of politically sophisticated and well-to-do lakefront property owners pressure them to exclude the great unwashed public.

The theory is that the lakes are "crowded." The notion is childish.

"Crowded" is a function of two things: the number of units and the speed at which they are traveling.

Consider your favorite Main Street or shopping mall at 11 a.m. on Saturday. Count the number of people. They are traveling at walking speed, rarely more than 3 mph. No one bumps into anyone else.

Now in your mind's eye, put the same number of people into cars traveling 50 mph in the same space. Chaos. A massive smashup with many casualties.

Dozens or hundreds of boats will fit onto a lake when the boats are propelled by oars and paddles. But let a few guys roar around in 100-hp craft, throw in a few jet-skis buzzing the swimming areas and mucking up the fish spawning grounds, and you have a "crowd."

The lakefront owners' solution is to exclude all boats except theirs — and of course their brothers' and cousins' and bosses' which are docked at their lots.

Well, Dunaskiss, Honigman and Dingell now know better. Replying to Honigman's question, a DNR official said townships can:

- Impose speed limits.
- Set shared-time rules — e.g., allow water skiing from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.
- Establish "no wake" zones — to control erosion, allow anglers to fish and let kids swim in peace.

The harsh truth is that most townships lack the gumption to use those tools. Even where there aren't DNR access sites for the grubby public, townships won't use those tools.

We are witnessing a massive, statewide failure of local government — mainly at the township level.

Instead, they attempt the ridiculous: pass zoning ordinances prohibiting public launches in "residential" areas, then declare the DNR is violating their ordinance.

In reality, a township is a creature of the state. It can't exclude its parent, any more than a bratty 5-year-old can evict mom and dad.

And when greedy riparian (lakefront and riverfront) owners next to road ends use wood piles to illegally block these entrances from their back-lot neighbors, where are the township supervisors?

Honigman once wrote a scholarly essay about such local governmental actions that he should re-read.

In actuality, the DNR is far from converting every inland lake into a Dodge-'Em ride. In five years, the DNR has purchased just 15 sites — three a year. Instead of halting acquisitions, the DNR should spread the load by acquiring access to every lake over a certain size.

As I said at the outset, Dunaskiss and Honigman know the only workable solution to "crowding": a state law limiting inland lake boat speeds to what is necessary for water skiing, and limiting water skiing to certain hours of the day.

Will they have the courage to advocate it?

Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events. His Touch-Tone voice mailbox number is (313) 963-2047, Ext. 1880.

Fire escape plan touted for safety

According to the United States Fire Administration, more than 65 percent of children who die in home fires are under age 5.

Three thousand children in the U.S. die annually from burn-related trauma, and one million children are burned each year.

Many adults mistakenly believe that in a fire, children will run to, or call for, a parent, said Richard Timmons of First Alert in a press release. Others wrongly believe a child will instinctively know to leave a burning home.

Timmons said young children often hide under beds or in closets thinking they are safe, while older children think they can control the fire.

First Alert recommends the following precautions in event of fire:

- Have a working smoke detector on every level of your abode and in every sleeping room. Test each detector monthly. Change batteries at least once per year and never remove them except for changing.
- Teach children what the smoke detector alarm sounds like and what to do when it goes off.
- Plan two escape routes out of the abode and practice fire drills with children until they can escape the home from every room, especially bedrooms.

■ If children are too young to escape on their own, designate family members to be responsible for them. This is also a good plan to follow for immobile family members.

■ Since most residential fire deaths occur between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., practice fire drills at night.

■ Explain that in a fire it is extremely dangerous to stand up because of the toxic smoke and intense heat. Teach children to crawl along the floor to safety.

■ Teach children to touch doors before opening them and to use an alternate exit if the door is hot. If they exit through the door, teach them to close it. This could help save other family members.

■ Designate a meeting place outside the house such as a tree, street lamp or neighbor's home.

■ Teach children never to re-enter a burning building.

■ Take children to a local fire station so they will recognize fire fighters as sources of help in a fire. Many stations have fire safety education classes for children.

Cost of phone calls going up to 25 cents

Ameritech has begun converting Michigan pay phones to reflect a new 25 cent charge for local coin calls.

All 60,000 Ameritech pay phones in the state will be adjusted by October to reflect the nickel increase, as approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission late last week.

This is the second increase in Ameritech coin-call charges in Michigan in more than 40 years. The 20 cent charge was set in 1976. Coin calls went from 5 cents to 10 cents in 1952. Nationwide, customers in about 40 states already pay a quarter or more for local coin calls.

Customers who want to make a collect call or use their calling card at an Ameritech coin phone need only dial "0." Ameritech has reduced the initial charge for calling-card calls by 15 percent through August.

The STS High School Foundation is looking for host families for European foreign exchange students who plan to spend the 1994-95 school year in Michigan.

The exchange students all speak English, have round-trip airline tickets, spending money, health and travel insurance.

Host families provide room and board only. Currently there is a shortage of 15 host families. Students are waiting to come here, but can't do so unless families volunteer.

To get involved, call Maria Bayne at (313) 729-6102.

Summer baseball update

Scott Kapla, from Plymouth (Redford Catholic Central), struggled through his first year at Eastern Michigan but hasn't had much trouble this summer in the Cape Cod (Mass.) League.

Kapla has been pitching middle relief for Falmouth. In 12 appearances, he has pitched 27 innings, striking out 21. He has a 2.00 earned run average, eighth-best in the league.

And his Falmouth team is in first place with a 17-8 record.

One of the lucky ones

Should anyone wish to brag about their summer vacations, they best steer clear of David Dziuban of Canton. His summer vacation story will be darn tough to top.

I mean, how many kids say they went to a hockey camp where they were instructed by Wayne Gretzky?

And Brett Hull (of the St. Louis Blues). And Kirk Muller (Montreal Canadiens).

Dziuban, 14 years old, will be able to say just that. He is one of 81 youths, between the ages of 7 and 15, randomly selected from the nearly 20,000 who participated in the Coca-Cola Classic/NHL Future Stars clinics.

In addition to the two days of instruction at the Anaheim Mighty Ducks rink, the campers will make visits to Disneyland and a California Angels game. The prize package includes travel and expenses for each camper and his/her guardian.

Since its inception in 1990, nearly 60,000 youths have used the clinics to sharpen their skating, passing and shooting skills.

Salem fall soccer

It seems incredible, but Plymouth Salem coach Ken Johnson has drills starting for the fall boys soccer season. At 4:30 p.m. July 25 at CEP Stadium, conditioning starts, and those who didn't sign up previously may do so. For more information, call Ken Johnson at 397-0668.

Anyone wishing to submit items to Sports Scene can mail them to sports editor C.J. Risak, 38251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, Mich. 48150, or fax them to (313) 591-7279.

Contact sport

Collision: Does anyone still insist soccer lacks contact? If the World Cup wasn't convincing enough, a trip to the Ford Wolverine Tournament at Schoolcraft College last weekend would have been. For results, turn to 4B.

Hines Park falls in controversy

Rain has disrupted play several times this season in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League. But on Sunday, umpires found another reason to call a game.

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

For those who missed the annual fireworks show at the Spree last month, the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League provided an encore performance Sunday at Livonia's Ford Field.

Hines Park Lincoln Mercury and Little Caesars engaged in a doubleheader sparked by controversy, starting at twilight and ending near 11 p.m. when umpires sent both teams home before the second game was finished.

One source who was in attendance said it was the worst scene he's ever watched in the LCBL.

Little Caesars won the first game 10-9 and was ahead 9-6 in the nightcap when the umpires called the game after a controversial play at second base in the sixth inning.

According to sources, two Hines Park players were ejected in the first game, one for arguing a called third strike and the other for saying something from the dugout.

Tempers flared again in the second game.

Sources said the umpires decided to end the night when the Hines Park players and coaches refused to leave the field while protesting what they thought was an illegal slide by Little Caesars Chris Champanois, who was trying to break up a possible double play at second base.

LCBL co-director Lyle Trudell said he'll wait to discuss the incident or take disciplinary action, if any, until after seeing reports on the doubleheader from the umpires and coaches on both sides.

He said Monday that the second game counts as a victory for Little Caesars since it lasted beyond five innings.

Hines Park, despite four straight losses, remains in first place with 28 points and a 14-8 record. Little Caesars also has 28 points but has played two more games and is 14-10.

"Our job is to police the league and I guarantee we will do it," Trudell said. "This time of year is totally predictable. One half or two-thirds through the season, there's a scramble, teams are jockeying for post-season position and tempers flare. But if they act, we react."

About the play in question, Hines Park players and coaches thought Champanois slid into second baseman Dan Eller harder than needed, not only once, but twice on the same play.

Champanois was on first base when a ground ball was hit to the Hines Park shortstop Ed Gundry.

Gundry's throw to Eller beat a hard-sliding Champanois to second but after heading back to the Caesars dugout, Champanois noticed Eller dropped the ball. Champanois raced back to the base head first, a slide that many on Hines Park's side considered to be more aggressive than the first.

New challenge

O'Shea leaves SC to coach Oakland U.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College has lost another coach.

And this one is at a proven national championship level.

Nick O'Shea, who guided the Lady Ocelots women's soccer team to an NJCAA national title in 1987, resigned Monday.

His reason was simple enough: O'Shea has been named to coach the new women's varsity program at Oakland University, which gets under way this fall.

And why would O'Shea leave for a position on a team that would need to be constructed from the club level to compete in the NCAA Division II?

Perhaps the question supplies the answer. As O'Shea said: "At Schoolcraft, I had to start from scratch every year. At Oakland, I can build and get them to play the way I want."

And getting a team to play the way he wants — O'Shea also oversees the state's girls Olympic Development Program — is not so easy.

He knows it. "Like anything complex, it takes time to learn," O'Shea said.

"High school kids can't play the kind of soccer you have to play in college. They don't learn to play possession unless they play with a big-time club team. I want to put my style on a team and keep it from year to year."

The turnover rate at SC is usually two-thirds each year. That alone makes his effort to gain the job at OU seem worthwhile.

There's more, of course. "The other thing I want is a challenge," he said. "I have a junior college title. Now I want another one at a different level."

Ed Kavanaugh, who just assumed the dual role as SC's athletic director and women's basketball coach, now finds himself facing a problem: Fill a position only a month before practices start.

"Yeah, it was a surprise to me," Kavanaugh said. "I'm unhappy he's leaving because he's such a good coach. But it's a great opportunity for Nick."

O'Shea's status as coach at Livonia Church Hill has not been affected, since high school girls teams play in the spring. And, ac-ording to O'Shea, there's no NCAA II rule barring an assistant from coaching in high school.

However, he added that his future at Churchill had not been determined. "It's not something I have to decide upon yet," O'Shea said.

Ironically, O'Shea leaves after getting enough commitments to form one of his most promising recruiting classes at SC. He estimated there would be 16 to 18 players; just two years ago, he had problems putting a full team on the field.

Recruiting was always troublesome at SC. "The biggest drawback at Schoolcraft was when the kids didn't want to live at home," he said. "I couldn't compete with that, I had no comeback for that answer."

O'Shea added, "I know it's less of a problem now at Schoolcraft. This year they may have to make cuts."

O'Shea, who starred for OU as a midfielder through 1983, started coaching Churchill's girls in the spring of '86. The following spring he took over for Ed Dudek at Churchill; the following fall he succeeded Dudek again, at SC.

Canton grad transfers to U-M

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

One year was enough for Jori Welchans.

An all-state keeper for the second time when she played for Plymouth Canton's girls soccer team last year, Welchans signed to play at University of Detroit-Mercy last summer.

This summer, she's changed her mind and transferred — to the school she had her heart set on all the time, the University of Michigan.

The change is not all that surprising, really. Welchans had wanted to attend Michigan last year, but there was no varsity soccer program and the burden was too great financially. So she accepted an athletic scholarship to UDM.

Belchans was no disappointment, to be sure. She appeared in 11 of 18 games, starting nine; she allowed just 10 goals, posting a 1.12 goals-against average with three shutouts. The Lady Titans finishing 11-5-2 overall.

But the school and program were a disappointment to her. "I didn't like the soccer program at U-D, I didn't like the school, and I didn't like the location," she said.

Belchans has received a release from UDM, so she will be eligible to compete this fall for U-M's

Losses mount for Hines

Hines Park Lincoln Mercury is losing its hold on first place in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League standings.

Hines Park lost for the fourth straight time Monday night, falling to Westland Federation 6-3 at Livonia's Ford Field.

Tim Wakefield moved his pitching record to 7-1 with a six-hitter, seven strikeouts and one walk for Westland Federation.

Hines Park fell to 14-8 overall but remains in first place with 28 points.

Federation, which won a make-up game Tuesday against Wendy's 4-2, is 13-7 overall and in second place with 26 points.

Little Caesars has 28 points but has played two more games than Hines Park and four more than Westland and is 14-10 overall.

"Maybe a slurp like this will be good for us, to get us back to reality," Hines Park coach Dave Carroll said.

Mark Messier went 2 for 3 with a home run and scored two runs for Westland Hines Park's losing pitcher was Craig Benedict (Plymouth Canton). Benedict scattered seven hits and struck out five.

In Tuesday's makeup game at Westland John Glenn against basement dweller Wendy's, Westland coach Joe Vondracek was happy with the win but not the way it was attained.

"I told them before the game that 'Putting another loss on Hines Park won't mean a thing unless you kick Wendy's butt tonight,'" Vondracek said. "We won, but we won ugly."

Lee Gardner, making his first start on the mound, threw a complete-game five-hitter with six strikeouts.

Joe Vondracek (Redford Catholic Central/Michigan) was 2-for-3 with a run scored and two RBI. Andy Reynolds was 1-3 with two RBI.

LITTLE CAESARS 10-9, HINES PARK 9-6: Little Caesars star Dave Roman (Livonia Frank in Detroit Mercy) was involved in both ends of the doubleheader victory Sunday by Caesars at Ford Field.

Caesars won the first game 10-9 and the second game was called in the sixth inning after a controversial play at second base with Caesars ahead 9-6.

Roman was the winning pitcher in the first game, going the distance, despite allowing seven runs in the third inning. Heath Fowler's grand slam was the big blow. Brian Burns and Dan Eller had run scoring triples and Charlie Wastel (Plymouth Salem) had an RBI double.

But Roman helped his own cause, hitting a two-run homer in the fourth.

Brian Patuk (Redford CC Saginaw Valley), who was taken out of the game after allowing seven runs in the second, suffered the loss for Hines Park.

Chris Holman (Livonia Stevenson) had a bases-loaded single in the second to drive in two runs. Deandy Jamison was 2 for 4 with an RBI and run scored. Brian Theobald was 2-1 with two runs scored and two RBI. Roman scattered eight hits and improved his pitching record to 3-2. Roman went 3-4 in Game 2, scoring one run and knocking in another in the 9-6 victory. Jamison was 3-4 with two runs scored and an RBI.

Brian Gearhart earned the pitching victory for Caesars. Ed Gaudry (Plymouth Salem/Detroit Mercy) had a triple, two RBI and scored two runs. Fowler added an RBI single.

DELTA 7, WALTER'S 6: Delwal scored three runs in the top of the seventh Monday to rally for a 7-6 win over Walter's at Ford Field. Walter's is 9-10 overall and in fifth place with 19 points.

Mike Pauci (Farmington Hills Harrison) doubled home Matt Green (Farmington/Birmingham Brother Rice), who had singled to start the rally.

Delwal went ahead on a two-run single that got past a drawn-in Walter's infield.

Mike Brusseaux (Redford Catholic Central) suffered the loss in relief for Walter's Kelly Dransfield was the winning pitcher in relief of Delwal starter John VanDenBirk.

Aaron Jones was 3 for 4 with two triples and three RBI for Walter's Dan Taylor (Madonna) was 3-3.

On Sunday, Garden City beat Walter's in one game of a doubleheader and the other game was tied after 10 innings at Ford Field. The extra-inning affair ended in a 4-4 tie. Garden City won the second game 5-3. Garden City owns fourth place with a 10-9-1 record (21 points).

Brian Hicks (Redford Catholic Central) hit a solo homer to tie the score at 4-4 in the sixth inning of the first game. Walter's scored four runs in the fourth inning and Garden City came back with three in its half of the fourth.

Jamie Oliver and Eric Butler shared pitching duties for Walter's.

Marcus Saranovsky and Mark Rutherford (both from Livonia Churchill) shared time on the Garden City mound. Taylor was 3-5 to lead Walter's attack.

Hines Park coach Dave Carroll argued that Champanois should be ejected.

"It's the first time, I thought he should have been ejected," Carroll said. "He was trying to be a football player, taking him out right there."

On top of the ejections in the first game, Hines Park assistant coach Dave Racer gave fans something else to watch: his razing of Caesars pitcher Dave Roman.

Roman let the trash talking get to him as Hines Park scored seven runs in the third inning, but Roman got the last laugh, slamming a home run off the scoreboard in the fourth.

"I told Dave after the game, 'You shouldn't let an ass like me take you out of the game,'" Racer said. "And he said, 'You're right. I did.'"

Nearly 24 hours later, Caesars coach John Moraitis was able to joke about the situation. Writing a report on the incident might be one of the biggest challenges in his 12 years as coach in the LCBL.

"I can hardly spell my own name, let alone write a report," Moraitis said.

first-year varsity program, under Debbie Belkin, a former U.S. team player.

At UDM, in its inaugural varsity season last year, Belkhans split time in goal with another freshman, Nikki Thomas. "He knew both goalies weren't happy splitting time," said Belkhans, referring to Titan coach Mike Lupenec.

Now she steps into a similar situation — another first-year varsity team. And there will be more competition, too: from former standout Alicia Smith, who graduated from Livonia Stevenson in 1992, and Katie Roach, an incoming freshman from Rochester Adams.

"We should have a very good team," Welchans said optimistically. "We have lots of good recruits."

And she has a new beginning.

Another victory Broncos still MSHL's only unbeaten team

In a penalty-filled battle between two of the Metro Summer Hockey League's division leaders, the Broncos managed to remain unbeaten — thanks to a pair of four-goal periods.

The Broncos built a 4-1 lead late in the second period, then withstood a pair of Wildcat comebacks to post an 8-5 triumph Sunday at Plymouth Ice Arena. The win kept them atop the Eagle Conference and left them as the MSHL's only undefeated team.

The game was by far the roughest of the season thus far. A total of 29 penalties were called; by comparison, a total of two were called in Sunday's other two games.

Seven players scored goals for the Broncos. Ron Pietila netted two and assisted on two others, while Kevin Pietila and Steve Bartshe each contributed a goal and an assist. Paul Mazaris collected four assists and Keith Pietila had three.

For the Wildcats, James Mitchell had two goals and an assist; Kevin Berger (from Livonia Stevenson HS), Matt Capaldi and Rick Lance scored goals. Bobby Davis had two assists. The loss dropped the Wildcats to 3-2. BULLDOGS 10, HUSKIES 6: Marc Chiapelli scored three goals and assisted on another, and three others scored twice each to lead the Bulldogs past the Huskies Sunday at Plymouth.

A five-goal second-period was the difference for the Bulldogs, who moved into first place in the Bakes Division at 4-1. Cory Almas got both his goals for the Dogs to lead the spurt.

Matt Greene and Patrick Hultman also scored two goals apiece for the Bulldogs; Hultman had two assists and Greene one. Edward Kruschka (Livonia Franklin) added a goal and an assist, while Bobby Jones totaled five assists and Dustin Sventy three for the winners.

The Huskies (1-3) were paced by Pat Dakhi's two goals and an assist, Chris Smith's goal and two assists, and a goal and an assist each from Jason Schneider and Dominic Catanzarite (Franklin). Greg Shuryan also accounted for a goal; James Wheaton and Joe Sellers (Plymouth/Ohio State) each had three assists. LAKERS 7, REDSKINS 2: Phil Saunders gave the Lakers all the firepower they needed, scoring four goals as they recorded their first win of the season Sunday at Plymouth.

Mike Hamilton and Andrew Perry chipped in with a goal and an assist apiece, and David Scott scored a goal for the Lakers. Brian Halas had four assists, and Matt Allen and Brian Cronan picked up three assists each.

Jack McCoy scored both goals for the Redskins (0-5). BRONCOS 5, SPARTANS 2: The Eagle Conference-leading Broncos led from start to finish Monday in disposing of the Spartans at Plymouth.

Chris Archer scored twice in the third period to make sure the Broncos remained unbeaten (5-0-1). Tom Larson, Mark Pietila and Peter Bourke also got goals for the winners; Jim Pietila and goalie Dave Roach added two assists each. Roach split time with Jim Sexsmith in the nets for the Broncos.

For the Spartans (1-2-1), Tim McConnell scored a goal and had an assist. Kris Kane also scored. Rich Nagy was in goal for the Spartans for the first two periods.

WOLVERINES 10, LAKERS 8: On Monday at Plymouth, the Wolverines got outstanding offensive performances from Scott Lock, Tony Guzzo and Mike Kneiding in edging the Lakers.

A five-goal outburst in the final period proved to be the difference for the Wolverines (3-2), who trailed 6-5 entering the period. Guzzo provided the heroics — after Lock scored his second goal of the period and fourth of the game to pull the Wolverines to within 8-7 with six minutes to play, Guzzo knocked in the tying and winning goals in the final 50 seconds.

Guzzo finished with three goals and three assists, while Lock had four assists to go with his four goals. Kneiding had two goals and four assists, Eric Bilyeu scored once and assisted on another, and Jesse Hubenschmidt finished with three assists. Thomas Best and Derek Billis split time in goal.

For the Lakers (now 1-3-2), Andrew Perry scored three goals, Jason Weber had two goals and two assists.

Along with the '77 Wings, teams from 35 state and foreign countries such as England, Puerto Rico, Slovakia, Nigeria, Sweden and Argentina will compete in what is billed as the fourth largest soccer tournament in the world.

The tournament is held each July at the National Soccer Center and the Blaine Soccer Complex. With 45 soccer fields on site, the NSC is the nation's largest soccer complex.

The weeklong tournament began Sunday with an estimated 12,000 participating in opening ceremonies outside the NSC soccer stadium.

Wolverine crowns its champs

Seventeen champions were crowned at last weekend's XV Ford-Wolverine Soccer Tournament at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The 131-team field included entrants from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ontario. Out-of-state teams had a big influence, winning seven of the 17 divisions.

Local teams made their mark as well.

The '82 Michigan Wolves, based in Livonia and coached by Don Gemmill, won the boys Under-12 competitive division with a 1-0 victory over the Fraser Strikers in the final.

The Michigan Wolves, based in Livonia and coached by Les Neal, won the Under-19 boys competitive, taking Club Ohio Dynamo 18 from Columbus, Oh., 3-1 in the final.

The Michigan Hawks, of Livonia and coached by Paul Dugan, beat the Livonia Youth Soccer Club United, coached by John Boots, 3-0 in the final of the Under-16 girls competitive.

Paul Scicluna's Michigan Hawks '76 team defeated LYSC United '77 coached by Pat McCaul in the championship game, 3-2.

LYSC United, which fell behind 2-0 early, played without starting goalkeeper Lindsay Bryant, who broke two fingers at the regional. Also out of the lineup were Lenay Truechan (Livonia Franklin), Heather Richards (Farmington Mercy) and Emely Lawrence, all of whom have knee injuries.

Margaret Wirth (Mercy) shared goalkeeping duties with Janess Vartanian.

Wirth also played up front, scoring a goal. Angie Snyder had the other LYSC United goal.

In the boys 15-under finals, the LYSC Wings lost to Club Ohio Dynamo 3-1 in two overtimes.

LYSC led 1-0 after a goal by Chris White of Livonia but Ohio tied the score in the last six minutes, then scored two in the overtime periods.

For the Wings, who beat the Michigan Wolves in a semifinal shootout, this was the furthest they've advanced at the Wolverine Tournament.

Motion holds off Finesse to claim tournament title

The Mid-America Motion girls 14-and-under softball team won its third tournament last weekend, capturing the Interlakes Tournament in Walled Lake with a 4-1 record.

The Motion opened the tournament with a 15-5 win over M.S.E. Sporting Goods. Melissa Bako and Annie Bolognino had three hits each, while Kari Flynn, Sarah Talbot and Stefanie Volpe had two hits, two runs and two RBI apiece. Lisa Shaw added three RBI.

In Game 2, the Motion defeated Finesse 4-3, rallying for two runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Jenny Trott's single tied the game, and Shaw's sacrifice fly scored the winning run. Flynn was 2-for-2 with one RBI and Diana Jastrzebski was 2-for-3 with two runs scored.

On Sunday, the Motion defeated Michigan Sports 14-2 to advance to the final.

Bako and Gina Yaquinto had three RBI each, and Jastrzebski and Melissa Thompson added two hits and scored two runs apiece.

In the final, Finesse defeated the Motion 6-3, forcing a second game.

The Motion survived a bases-loaded, no-outs situation in the seventh inning in the second game, turning a double play to preserve a 3-2 lead. Bolognino's RBI groundout in the bottom of the sixth scored Jastrzebski with the winning run.

MUSTANGS IN TOP 10
The Mid-America Mustangs finished ninth with a 2-2 record in the 23-team Smokey Baker All-American Tournament in Milford, Ohio, July 2-4.

The Mustangs lost their first game 7-4 to the Batavia (Ohio) Rockets but rebounded with an 11-6 win over Colton (Ohio).

Mid-America rallied from a 5-4 deficit in the fifth inning when Lauren Wright (Redford) hit a three-run homer. The Mustangs added four runs in the sixth when Sue Huber (Canton) delivered a two-run triple.

The Mustangs mercied the Louisville Lezers 12-0 in their next game July 3. Nikki Kuncic's (Canton) bases-loaded triple was the big hit.

But the Louisville Hit N Misses eliminated the Mustangs 7-3 on July 4, scoring six runs in the first inning to jump in front. Mid-America was scoreless until the seventh when Stephanie Haggerty (Southgate) hit a two-run double.

Manistee River finally getting its due: "needs a good cleanup"

BILL PARKER

OUTDOOR INCIDENTS
A year-long dream is finally turning to reality for Livonia's Dave Cariveau.

The Stream Advisory Committee Chairman for the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishing Association, Cariveau has been coordinating an effort between his organization, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the Welston Area Tourist Association for a weekend cleanup on Michigan's prized Manistee River.

"The Manistee really needs a good cleanup," said Cariveau. "I've got good cooperation and hope to put a lot of people on the water. I asked for a 10-year program, but they want to wait and see how it goes. I hope it goes through because we won't get it cleaned up in one year."
It took a lot of time and persistence on Cariveau's part to complete the task of organizing the cleanup. First, he had to get permission but not just from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. He also needed an OK from the National Forest Service, (the Manistee National Forest surrounds much of the river), and from the Consumers Power Company, which runs Tippy Dam.

"They all came around," Cariveau said. "They're going to lower the water for us so we can get out into the middle of the river without much of a problem."

The cleanup will take place Saturday and Sunday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

Volunteers are needed

Cariveau is still seeking volunteers to work on the river. Interested individuals should meet on the north side of Tippy Dam at the boat ramp. Volunteers should bring gloves, rakes, knives for cutting line, hip boots or waders and a boat if possible. The DNR and the Forest Service will provide garbage bags and Dumpsters, and the Welston Area Tourist Association will serve lunch.

Cariveau sat on the committee that worked to eliminate snagging on Michigan rivers, an objective which was finally achieved at the close of snagging season last fall. Salmon snagging is now illegal statewide.

A big part of the mess in the Manistee River is centered just below Tippy Dam and was caused, in part, by the now outlawed practice of snagging. The Manistee River just below the dam was the area on which snagging was allowed.

Hooks, sinkers and miles of monofilament line are tangled around logs and rocks, making it nearly impossible to fish that area without becoming snagged yourself.

"On Saturday we'll have organized group cleanup, and we'll concentrate on the snagging area just below the dam," explained Cariveau. "On Sunday we'll have a free-for-all. On Sunday you can clean up wherever you want. If you have a favorite hole and want to go clean it up, go for it."

Call the Welston Area Tourist Association for more information, (616) 848-4467.

Big bass biting

Several area bass anglers have recently experienced great success.

Conrad Proctor, of Bloomfield Hills, had a short but sweet stay on top of the Michigan leader board in the 1994 Big Bass World Championships.

Proctor caught a 5.02-pound largemouth on Lake Lanona on a Zax Spook lure and led the division for two weeks.

Detroit water officials continue rationing plan

Recently the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department and a majority of its 118 wholesale water customers agreed to continue the odd/even external water use restriction in the Metro Detroit area.

The restriction is to continue until July 31 unless conditions warrant otherwise. Until then individuals may spray water outside on odd-numbered days if their address is an odd number and on even-numbered days if their address is an even number.

While there is no immediate emergency, the water department and its wholesale customers need the 30 days to cooperatively refine their notification and emergency procedures, according to a press release.

In addition, there remains the potential for an emergency should there be an extended period of hot dry weather and/or another major system failure.

Daytime moths seek out flowers

NATURE TRAILS

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

Pygmy sperm whales grow to a maximum of only 13 feet in length, much smaller than the blue whale that can measure over 100 feet in length. Also in contrast to the norm, walking

We all have preconceived images or notions about certain things. Whales are big, fish breathe by means of gills and moths fly at night.

Well, like with most everything, there are exceptions.

catfish have a primitive lung that allows them to obtain oxygen from the air while they walk from pond to pond.

Moths flying only at night is another axiom that has exceptions too. Clear-winged moths resemble bumblebees as they hover over flowers during the day. They have a heavy body banded with colors to resemble a bumblebee. If you watch one closely you will notice that it never lands on the flower like a bumblebee. They hover near the flower and probe for nectar with their long proboscis.

Hummingbird moths also fly during the day and, as their name suggests, they resemble hummingbirds. They are about the same size, hover to sip nectar like hummingbirds and their long narrow wings are like those of hummingbirds.

Another day-flying moth that may be easily confused for another kind of insect is the Virginia ctenucha. This colorful moth may be mistaken for a wasp. They are about an inch long with dark brown-gray wings that fold over their back. At the base of the forewing is a dark metallic blue color. Blue at the base of the wings blends with the metallic blue body.

In contrast to the dark wings and metallic body is an orange head. Also on the head are two, thin, feather-like antennae. A wasp does not have a feathery antennae. But most people who see this insect are not going to look very close because they think it's a wasp.

If you get a chance to see a Virginia ctenucha moth on some blackberry flowers, take note of the metallic coloration and the feathery antennae. There seem to be more of them this year than in years past.

IT'S 12 NOON. TIME FOR ANOTHER LIFE OR DEATH DECISION.

When you make a habit of choosing high-cholesterol foods, you're choosing a dangerous course. One that could lead to a high cholesterol level in your blood and eventually to a heart attack. Remember that the next time you browse through a menu. And place your order as though your very life depended on it.

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE
This space provided as a public service.

You share the same body, the same life-giving nutrients for nine months. Each of you affects the other in countless ways.

Why is it then that many hospitals treat you and your baby like completely unrelated people?

OUR NURSES SEE THEM AS STILL BEING ATTACHED

You stay in your room. Your baby stays in the nursery. And you're each cared for by a different nurse.

A better way

At St. Mary Hospital we offer a better way to begin. A personal nurse takes care of you and your baby together to encourage the best possible start. So your nurse can tell how your comfort level, moods and medication may be affecting your baby. And how your baby's behavior influences you. This new way of caring is called mother-baby nursing.

Mother-baby nurses

With mother-baby nurses, you can learn by watching the nurse care for your newborn at your bedside instead of out of your sight in a nursery. If you have a question about your baby, the nurse can answer it immediately. You won't have to wait for the "baby nurse."

The Miracle of Life Maternity Center at St. Mary Hospital has mother-baby nursing all the time.

More support, more education. It's a better way of caring.

'Angry Housewives' storm the Strand

Your bills are due, your car's about to be repossessed, and the neighbor's are complaining about your son's rock music. What's a mother to do? Four "Angry Housewives," offer solutions at the Strand Theatre.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Follow the paths of four frustrated suburban women on a precarious voyage of self-discovery that leads them to enter a talent contest in a "Punk Rock" club in "Angry Housewives," at the Strand Theatre in Pontiac through Aug. 14.

"By the end of the evening you'll know each of the women as deeply as if you'd gone through her refrigerator and medicine cabinet and spent the day together chaperoning a class trip," said Attic Theatre publicist Annette Madias.

The cast features lots of talented residents including Rochelle Rosenthal of Birmingham, who plays Carol, a divorced teacher living from one PTA meeting to the next.

Katie O'Shaughnessey of Troy, as Jetta, a young mother straight from the cover of an Ivory soap box, who transforms herself from mousy corporate wife into screaming she-wolf, to the dismay of her ambitious social climbing husband.

Joe Bailey of Rochester plays "Lewd Fingers" — the manager of the punk club, and secretly a very conventional guy. Bailey is making his Attic Theatre debut with "Angry Housewives."

Seth Hitsky of Southfield plays Tim, a teenage boy who is "the first kid on the block with a mom in punk rock."

His mother Bev (Susan Arnold) is a widow, her husband having dropped dead when she showed him the electric bill before dinner.

"I think the show is a lot of fun, and I find it easy to relate to. I played in a rock and roll band," said the Jewish Ensemble Theatre in "Today I Am A Fountain Pen."

"Women who come to the show will relate to one of the four 'Angry Housewives.'" It's a real fast evening. It's a show about women breaking out of their lives and finding out there is something more to life.

In the show, Carol gets a boyfriend, and finds out that she's not as unappealing as she thought.

For O'Shaughnessey, playing a married woman is a first. In the show she's married to Larry, and he keeps her under a tight leash.

"Jetta is timid and does what Larry says," said O'Shaughnessey who has appeared in over 40 musicals in the Detroit area, performing with such groups as Michigan Opera Theatre and Birmingham Theatre.

"Jetta joins a punk rock band and stands up to Larry. Toward the end of the show she gains confidence."

O'Shaughnessey is a 1994 graduate of Marion High School and will be studying theatre arts and engineering at Yale this fall.

The fourth housewife is Wendy (Jennifer Bacon) who has a job tending a draw bridge. She's saving up for a trip to Hawaii with her bland boyfriend, Wallace (Brian Schultz) who has recently won a salmon fishing derby. In the show Wallace joins Bailey, "Lewd Fingers" in a tap number.

"This show offers plenty of musical entertainment," said Madias. "It's full of razzmatazz life, blending blues, pop rock, gospel and punk music styles."

"There's ample parking and great restaurants nearby," said Rosenthal. "The Birmingham Theatre is closed. The Strand Theatre needs your support."

Hitsky, a 1994 Groves High School graduate who will be attending the University of Michigan to study music and theater this fall.

"This is not just your average musical. Tim and his mom are adjusting to his father's death. They aren't getting along, but they care a lot about each other."

Renaissance Festival fans might recognize Hitsky who spent two seasons with the festival.

Like Carol, the character she portrays, Rosenthal is a mom, "but not particularly angry."

"My character is overweight, and uses food as an escape. She's always eating," said Rosenthal who is happily married, and was last seen at

Local youngsters act royally in 'The King and I'

KEELY WYGONIK

Westenberg, starring with Shirley Jones in "The King and I" at the Fisher Theater in Detroit through July 24, doesn't quite look the part. He has too much hair. But Westenberg quickly wins over the audience, establishing kingly dominance with a strong voice and stage presence.

Performances are 8 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 1 p.m. Wednesdays, 2 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. For more information, call (313) 872-1000. To charge tickets, call (810) 645-6666.

Shirley Jones, often called the first lady of American Musical Theatre, is convincing as Anna Leonowens, an attractive English widow who arrives with her small son, Louis in Bangkok, Siam in 1862 to become governess to the King's many children.

In this production, 14 of the king's 16 children are portrayed royally by talented local youngsters including Marlee Green of Birmingham, Kimberly, Matthew, and Nicholas Kerr of Troy, Parker Plague of Canton, Gabrielle M. Rivers of Farmington Hills, and Amanda and Melissa Shin of Bloomfield Hills.

The youngsters were chosen at auditions held at the Fisher, and performed very well on stage. There were lots of smiles and chuckles as the children are introduced one-by-one to Anna by the King in Act 1. They're cute, and very believable. Their voices are angelic.

There's a lot to like about this production of "The King and I" which received a standing ovation on opening night, July 12. The costumes and sets are very colorful, and the music is familiar — "I Whistle A Happy Tune," "Hello, Young Lovers," "Getting to Know You," and "We Kiss in a Shadow."

It's a funny show, but also very sad. The king is baffled by the modern world and Anna's modern ways. Anna becomes the king's adviser and helps him resolve diplomatic problems with the English who think he's a barbarian.

Tuptim, a lovely Burmese girl given to the king as a present is in love with Lun Tha, a Burmese emissary. Susan Hoffman and Jason Ma are wonderful in these roles. There's electricity between them, and their voices are those of young people in love. You feel their longing to be together in a hopeless situation when they sing "I Have Dreamed."

"Small House of Uncle Thomas," a ballet in Act 2 is one of the high points of the show. The dancing and costumes are enchanting.

There were a lot of children in the audience, and to their credit some were less restless than many adults toward the end of Act 1 which lasted an hour and a half.

Graham Kostic, 11 as Anna's son, Louis, and Miguel Marling, 11, as Prince Chululongkorn, comfortably fit their roles and relate very well to each other on stage.

Agent hides double life from wife in 'True Lies'

Special agent Harry Tasker (Arnold Schwarzenegger) leads a double life. Fluent in six languages and skilled in all forms of counter-intelligence, Harry is an international spy for Omega Sector, a top-secret government agency charged with the intervention of nuclear terrorism. For reasons of national security, Harry has kept his real profession secret from his wife, Helen (Jamie Lee Curtis), all the years they've been married. Now, after 15 years, Helen's getting a little bored with the man she thinks sells computers for a living.

Harry has the skills, the resourcefulness and the courage to save the country, now if only he can save his marriage. "True Lies," opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters, is a Twentieth Century Fox presentation. It is directed by James Cameron and produced by James Cameron and Stephanie Austin, with Rae Sanchini, Robert Shriver and Lawrence Kasanoff as executive producers.

The film also stars Tom Arnold, Bill Paxton, Art Malik, Tia Carrere, Eliza Dushku, Grant Heslov and Charlton Heston as Spencer Tribby.

"True Lies" is inspired by a French film written by Claude Zidi, Simon Michael and Didier Kaminka which first came to the attention of Arnold Schwarzenegger.

"When Harry Tasker comes home, he has to lie about where he's been," Schwarzenegger explains. "He goes out and risks his life in every imaginable kind of intrigue and when he goes home, his wife asks how his day went and he fabricates these stories. He tells her how he went to his computer convention and got a new model system and was troubleshooting with the Japanese because their computer system broke down, and so on."

"So here is this superspy," director James Cameron adds, "who throws all his best qualities and all his focus into his work and brings none of it home. No relationship can survive when you don't bring the best part of yourself home."

Jamie Lee Curtis, who plays Helen Tasker, is trying very hard to reignite her marriage. "Helen and Harry have fallen into the classic rut where they're really stopped paying attention to each other and each other's needs and really take one another for granted," said Curtis.

"Helen starts off sort of mousy and a bit repressed," Cameron says. "Through her journey into the world of international espionage, we find that there's this whole other person under there just waiting to come out under the right circumstances. She becomes quite a strong character toward the end, but it's a very goofy transition. Helen's journey is filled with laughs because she doesn't know what's going on half the time and when she does, there's hell to pay."

Tom Arnold plays Gib, Harry's partner at Omega Sector and the only character not lying about something (other than his profession, which no one can know). "Gib's a career spy; he hasn't done very well with his personal life," Arnold explains. "He and Harry are the only two people that are totally honest with each other. When Harry's life starts to unravel, Gib finds it a little amusing because that's what a spy's life is all about. You can't live a double life forever."

Suspense: Arnold Schwarzenegger is Harry Tasker and Jamie Lee Curtis is Helen Tasker in "True Lies."

Clock unearths fond memories

Buried deep in a drawer and inside a little brown paper lunch bag was my clock. Hidden away for years and years. But I rescued it last week - finally. And here it sits, right before me, in the light of day now, keeping track of minutes and hours again. So to heck with all those grumps out there who had shamed my clock into hiding. It's back! And in plenty of time for July 20.

It's not bad really, my little clock. Certainly not bad enough to warrant being in that bag of shame for all those years.

It seems that the focus of the ridicule so long ago was the 3-D diorama situated just below the clock's face. It was the two little plastic astronaut guys standing on the moon beside their landing contraption that made everyone scoff. That, and - underneath the contraption - the tiny orange light bulb that blinked and winked with great purpose and color.

That's my Moon Clock, and it was given to me as a reminder of my 12th birthday, July 20, 1969, the day men from Earth landed on the moon. What a day that was for me and the moon! While more than 600 million people celebrated the moon that day 25 years ago, a little over six celebrated my birthday: Carla and Anna, of course, and Joni, Ellie, Cindy, Julie, and Sarah. They were all there.

But on the night before my birthday it was just me looking skyward and seeing the moon shining down. And I thought of how things had always been: the moon way, way up there in the night sky and us, way, way down here on earth. I thought of the light the moon had always thrown down on the yard separating mine from Carla's, and how that light had helped me see my way home from her house past the scary willow tree and the even scarier bushes and finally up to my back door. That's what I thought about the night before my 12th birthday. I also thought of how gross that would be if the moon really did turn out to be made of green cheese.

The next morning when I woke up, I just knew I was 12. Something, everything was different - better. The air was new. The birds in the yard were new. The sun coming up over the trees was full of promise. And this was my day. And people were landing on the moon just for me.

All morning long, as my Mom and I prepared the picnic lunch we would have at the lake, we listened to the TV. Walter Cronkite and the other guys kept us up to date on the astronauts' progress as they prepared to land on the moon. Along about noon Carla and Anna knocked on my back door. They had their towels and bathing suits with them. They were ready. Then the rest of my "screaming little friends," as my brother always referred to them, arrived.

We all piled into my Dad's Useful Van - it was big and white and had one bench seat and some windows - and that was about it. There was not a speck of carpeting anywhere in that vehicle, so it was very echoey in there. So with the 12-year-old girl chatter, the road noise, and the wind noise (no air conditioner back in those days), we couldn't hear the AM radio giving further space updates. But once we got to Long Lake and my Dad parked the van in the shade, we heard that Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin had climbed into the contraption that would actually land on the moon a bit later. When my friends and I heard that, we screamed, as only 12-year-old girls at the beach for a birthday party can. Then we ran straight into the waters of Long Lake, screaming and laughing the whole way.

We swam and screamed. Those 12-year-old screams were just the type that bounce off the water and become horribly amplified in the process. We didn't much care about that. The world was all ours anyway.

My Dad waved us in when the picnic had been spread. We were all arms and legs and splashing as we clambered to shore. The footprints we left on the sand were lapped away by the waves in an instant. We didn't much care about that either.

When we had finished eating lunch, Mom produced from somewhere a birthday cake, complete with 12 lit candles. The cake was chocolate and out-of-this-world delicious. After we finished eating, Mom insisted we wait to go back in the water. She didn't want anyone to get a huge cramp and sink to the bottom of the lake. We waited. We were, after all, only 12, and we still pretty much did what we were told. Pretty much.

We only swam a bit longer before I saw my Dad waving us to shore again. We had to get going because those men in the contraption were making their way to the moon's surface and we needed to get back to my house to watch the whole thing on TV. We all screamed and with arms and legs and splashes ran to our towels on the sand.

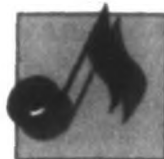

Dad, never one to break the speed limit for any reason, did push the envelope a little bit that day. The big white Useful Van made it

Marcella Detroit has her 'Jewel'

■ London, England, is a long way from Redford especially when you go by way of Oklahoma and Los Angeles, but that's the route taken by Redford native Marcella Detroit who recently released a debut solo album "Jewel."

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

After writing songs for Eric Clapton and scoring hits with her former band Shakespear's Sister, it seems ironic that Marcella

Detroit would find any aspect of the music industry "frightening."

That's the emotion that the Redford native felt, however, as London/Polygram Records released her debut solo album "Jewel" June 21. She quickly added, "It was a natural thing to do though."

Her former band Shakespear's Sister, whose 1992 release "Hormonally Yours" contained the top 10 U.S. single "Stay," had unexpectedly broken up at the request of her partner Siobhan Fahey, when Detroit, coincidentally, was starting to crave performing on her own.

"This is the first record I've ever done that's a direct expression of who I am, rather than me trying to write songs for a particular project," she said. "This time, I wanted to stay true to the things that are important to me. Everything on the record is about me and things that are important to me."

Winding road

The musical road traveling to the release of "Jewel" was "pretty ugly" sometimes, according to Detroit, but well worth it.

Detroit, nee Marcella Levy, lived near Six Mile and Beech Daly roads in Redford until she was 10. After attending the township's MacGowan Elementary and Lola Valley Junior High Schools, her family moved to Oak Park where they still reside. She played in local bands when she was 15, before moving to Oklahoma.

"Careerwise there was really nothing more to do there," she explained about her reasons to leave the area. "I realized I had to get out. Some friends of mine invited me to move to Oklahoma. They had great connections and a lot of great things happening there."

Oklahoma isn't exactly a hub of musical talent, but it proved to be a good move for Detroit. It was there that her friendship with former Derek and the Dominos bassist Carl Radle led to a productive recording and touring stint with Eric Clapton. She co-wrote "Lay Down Sally" with Clapton when she was 18.

Detroit then moved to Los Angeles where she concentrated on writing songs for artists such as Chaka Khan, Belinda Carlisle, Al Jarreau and Philip Bailey. Writing for others, Detroit said, is "soul destroying" at times because it's preferred that the writer not write anything too emotional.

"It prepared me for (a solo career)," she said. "I consider it kind of like my master's degree. I'm glad I did it. I learned a lot and it prepared me for this."

While songwriting, Detroit trained extensively as an actress, a trade that helped her grow as a performer. Shakespear's Sister was the first project where she could test what she learned while studying acting.

"I used to feel very inhibited about performing; I'd go on stage and close my eyes and try to pretend that there weren't any people there, and eventually I realized that I had to free myself from that," she said. "To be an actress, you have to get in touch with your feelings and regain the sense of freedom that you had as a child and learning that helped me to free myself from that fear."

Stifled creatively

While feeling free on stage, backstage she felt stifled creatively. She also felt that she played second fiddle to Fahey, a former member of Bananarama.

"I accepted that when I took the job; it was her brainchild," she said. "I had to fit into it. That's why I had to take a backseat."

"I was kind of like a hired person. I was hired to help write music, and some guitar and instruments in the record," she said of the band's first album 1989's "Sacred Heart."

By the second album, she was considered a full partner. It was with that album, "Hormonally Yours," that Shakespear's Sister was most successful. The single "Stay" reached the top 10 in the United States; it topped the charts throughout the United Kingdom and Europe.

She doesn't talk much about the breakup of Shakespear's Sister although she said in an interview with the London Sunday Times Magazine on Jan. 30 that the end came as a shock to her.

During an awards ceremony in May 1993, Shakespear's Sister won the "Best Collection of Contemporary Music" prize. It was then that she learned that her collaboration with Fahey was over.

"I made a little speech and said the usual thank yous. As far as I knew, Siobhan couldn't make it to the ceremony for some reason, so her publisher Peter Reichardt, had got up to receive the award on her behalf," she said in the Times interview. "He read out this letter from her which said something along the lines of 'all's well that ends well; I wish Marcy all the best.' It was a real shock. That was the first I had heard of it."

Soon afterward she began recording her debut solo release "Jewel." It was produced by Chris Thomas, who has overseen albums by Paul McCartney, Elton John, the Sex Pistols, the Pretenders and INXS. In addition to writing 11 of the 13 songs, Detroit provided the bulk of the guitars, with additional instrumental shadings from longtime Roxy Music guitarist Phil Manzanera.

Besides showcasing her musical ability, "Jewel" represents the maturation of her artistic and easily-adaptable voice which fluctuates between soulful and shrill. Her album confirms that Detroit was the vocal force behind Shakespear's Sister.

The album was released less than a month ago but it's already received a good amount of publicity. The first single off the album, a powerful ballad called "I Believe," was adopted as the anthem of the Gay Games and the coinciding

Zontians aim spotlight at Detroit

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

The Detroit area, having just hosted the World Cup games, will once again step into the international spotlight when Zonta International club members meet for its annual convention at the Westin Hotel/Renaissance Center July 17-21.

The event will wrap up three years of planning by chairwomen Sylvia Vukmirovich and Barbara Geil. The local chapter bid for the conference, which also marks Zonta's 75th anniversary, about eight years ago.

"It was more (work) than I even thought," said Vukmirovich, a counselor at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. "It's taken more of my time than I can begin to tell you. I think seeing the involvement of all these people and seeing it really pull together and seeing cooperation of almost everyone (has been gratifying). We've had very few disappointments."

Although the convention is scheduled to begin on Sunday, July 17, the event's unofficial kick-off is Thursday, July 14, when the 25 Zonta Bike-A-Thon participants from six countries arrive in Windsor, Canada, after riding from Ohio. The proceeds from the Bike-A-Thon will help pay for the organization's building in Chicago.

On Friday, the group will celebrate the convention with a parade that begins at Grand Circus Park in Detroit, Vukmirovich said.

The official opening ceremony is 7 p.m. Sunday, July 17, where keynote speaker Claudia Fritsche, UN ambassador to Liechtenstein, will speak. Detroit's Deputy Mayor Nettie Seabrooks, singer Aretha Franklin, and Finland presidential candidate Helvi Sipilä will be among the dignitaries in attendance. U.S. astronaut Janet Voss will share part of her fame with Zontians as well.

"Janet Voss will present the flag that she took in space. She took a Zonta flag into space and she's going to present it," Vukmirovich said.

On Wednesday, July 20, Zontians will pay their respects to members who have died during the past year. During the closing banquet and reception, Folake Folanke, Nigeria's equivalent to the U.S. chief justice, will be sworn in as the group's new president.

The entertainment throughout the conference will have a local flair, she said. The Schoolcraft College Wind Ensemble, under the direction of James Nissen, will perform Sunday. The Southfield-Lathrup Choir is singing for Zontians on Monday. The final banquet scheduled for Thursday, July 21, will feature the Great Lakes Quartet which includes Wendy Bloom, wife of Schoolcraft music teacher Brad Bloom.

"I tried real hard to get local talent and I love kids," she said.

Zontians from around the world will tour Detroit throughout the conference taking time out to visit Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum, and the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Incidentally, there are seminars, too. Conference participants can choose which area they would like to learn more about such as their work area, education, women and health issues, or finance.

Vukmirovich has been a Zontian since Schoolcraft College's Vice President for Student Services Barbara Geil chartered the club in 1979. The 36,000-member organization, dedicated to the advancement of women, is established in 65 countries. It's the international aspect that attracted her to the group.

"I think getting to meet many people with many different backgrounds," is a benefit of being a Zontian, she said.

The word "Zonta" is derived from a Sioux Indian word meaning "honest" and "trustworthy." Zonta, which maintains representatives at

It's time to celebrate the compassionate ones

RABBI IRWIN GRONER

Do authentic heroes exist in our time? Traditionally, American children have been taught from the first days of school to respect and revere the founders of the American society — Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln. But this feeling of awe for national political leaders has greatly diminished in our time. The President of the United States in our generation, irrespective of party, is not revered and admired as he was in generations gone by. His faults and lapses are seized upon by the media, and his virtues and values are not extolled. This is true of other political figures who are similarly viewed with distrust. We have grown accustomed to the sharp criticism of investigative reporting. One senses a secret satisfaction that people experience when they learn of indiscretions committed by political leaders.

Other heroes come from the world of professional sports. The outstanding players become household names more familiar than prime ministers, noted authors of state. But they are not really heroes because their glory is transient and when the season is over, the attention of the public will turn to other things. When their physical prowess diminishes, they will fade from view.

The tragedy of O.J. Simpson is instructive. Accused of murdering two victims, his weaknesses and deficiencies are now being scrutinized. One of the reporters recently said on behalf of all the media, "We didn't really know him." How sad it is that the trust so many reposed in him seems to have been based on a public persona conceived of grievous flaws.

We turn to the world of entertainment as we consider the individuals featured in "People" magazine. But these figures are not heroes, they are celebrities. Celebrities are people whose every act and event is interesting simply because they are well-known. Whether they decide to marry or to separate, whether they are coming or going, whatever statements they make about whatever subject creates in an anonymous readership an illusion of intimacy with famous people. But these are not heroes, for they convey no messages that illuminate the mind, inspire the heart or inform the moral judgment.

We should not look for heroes in the public domain. As a child, I learned a legend of my people stating that there are 36 righteous men and women who sustain the world by their nobility and goodness. Even though the world may be morally corrupt, these 36 people exist in every generation. Their lives are so touched by moral excellence that for their sake, the world endures. Their names are not known, their achievements are not glorified, they don't hold positions of prominence, but they sustain the world. Because of their kindness and service and love, these 36 people make the world worthy of God's love. Perhaps we should search for heroes among the unsung and the uncelebrated who demonstrate compassion and offer healing and bring comfort and thereby redeem the world.

Rabbi Irwin Groner is with Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield. If you have a question or comment for him, dial (313) 953-2047, mailbox No. 1862, on a Touch-Tone telephone.

Stonewall march. The walk commemorated the 25th anniversary of the riot at the Stonewall Inn in Greenwich Village that occurred after police raided the gay club.

"The song is about prejudice anyway," she said. "It's interesting that they picked up on that. It gives a whole new dimension to the song."

Dream come true

Also featured on the album is a duet with Elton John "Ain't Nothing Like the Real Thing." The song, included on John's "Dusts" release, completed a dream she's had since she began her music career.

"That was great; I grew up listening to Elton," she said. "One of my favorite albums was the one that had 'Benny and the Jets' and 'Candle in the Wind.' It was one of the best rock albums of all time."

When she's not touring or recording, she, her husband and her son split time between their homes in London, England, and Los Angeles. She said she still misses the Detroit area.

"There's certain things about it that I miss (like) the simplicity of life when I lived there . . . I miss that aspect of it. It was very care-free," said Detroit, who is planning to tour the United States in the fall.

It's also what inspired her the most — hence the surname.

"I've always been into the Motown thing. Being from Detroit, I've always loved black music and blues."

So what's next for the woman who seems to have dabbled in every aspect of the music industry?

"I'm already writing songs for my next album . . . I would like to get into production of myself and other people. I also have an idea for a musical that I'm starting to write. I'd love to do some experimental stuff too."

home in time. We all ran to the family room; Dad snapped the TV on. And there it was — the moon so very close. The picture was rather grainy, so it was a good thing that Walter Cronkite was describing what was going on. And just before the contraption holding the two astronauts landed, a hush fell over all those preteens sitting cross-legged on that floor in that house on this earth. Then at exactly 4:18 p.m. men from our earth way down here landed on the moon way up there. The contraption, the "Eagle," settled to the surface of the moon into the Sea of Tranquility. I remember some moon dust puffing up around the Eagle as it landed. Later that night, at almost 11 p.m., we saw Neil Armstrong step onto the moon and we all heard him say, "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

The footprints at Long Lake of all those 12-year-old feet have long been washed away, the gleeful screams have been silenced, the girls at that birthday party are scattered to the far corners of the country, but what remains 25 years later, are the footprints made on the moon that day, the flag that forever flies up there, a Moon Clock, and the memories of my 12th birthday, July 20, 1969. When the world was still ours.

Save summer scents by making potpourri

Now is the time to preserve the beauty and scents of summer by making a potpourri from flowers that are blooming in the garden.

Many people make dry potpourri, but most potpourri can be made very easily and the scent will last for years and years. Potpourri comes from the French, and means "rotten pot." Early potpourris were made from rose petals mixed with salt, made into a cake that was cured with fixatives and spices. The potpourri we are making is similar to those old recipes.

In Biblical times, people who lived in the desert supposedly kept small bags of potpourri in their clothing to keep insects away. Greeks placed the bags behind each guest at banquets, and early Egyptians put potpourri in graves. In medieval monasteries, monks kept potpourri bags near the infirmary, believing that they would speed the recovery of their patients.

As society became more sophisticated, each member of royalty had their own special fragrance. When a family had created their own "blend," everything from candles, soap, ink, linens and clothing was scented with that fragrance. In 16th century England, a "stillroom" was often built where ingredients for potpourris were mixed.

Today, fragrance is still an important part of our lives and you can create your own personal blend.

Scents-able advice

This concoction isn't pretty, but smells divine and is worth the effort. Choose a glass or ceramic container that is opaque, with a wide mouth. It will need to have a cover that fits tightly - a large cork is ideal - so that the fragrance will stay "bottled" until YOU want to release it. Look through your cupboards for a suitable one, in antique shops, flea markets, etc. Sugar bowls, soup tureens, rice bowls with lids, ginger jars and mustard crocks are some suggestions.

Begin with a container that is at least a two-quart size; when the potpourri is finished it can be transferred to smaller jars.

If the rose petals, other flowers and leaves are too wet when they are picked, lay them on a screen for a day or so until some of the moisture evaporates. They aren't to be completely dry.

Ingredients:

- 1 quart or more rose petals
- 2 cups fragrant flowers or your choice (I especially like lavender)
- 1 cup fragrant leaves, such as rose geranium, lemon verbena, rosemary or lemon thyme
- 1 tablespoon powdered orris root - a fixative - available at Rafal's in Eastern Market or craft shops where potpourri ingredients are sold
- 1/2 cup non-iodized salt
- 1/2 cup each: ground allspice, ground cloves and brown sugar
- 2 crushed bay leaves
- 2 tablespoons brandy - added last.

Put all the ingredients into the container, sprinkle with brandy, cap tightly. Stir daily with a wooden spoon for three or four weeks. The fragrance can be "brightened," if necessary, with a few drops of brandy as the years go by.

Cathy LaCroix earned the nicknames "Crafty Cathy" and the "Craft Monster" from her six brothers and sisters after being bitten by the craft bug in her teens.

Through the years, she tried her hand at needlepoint, quilting and woodworking, but clay's malleability and versatility eventually won her loyalty. Crafting ceramic planters challenges not only her creative ingenuity but provides her with a last laugh, a profitable source of extra LaCroix will bring 200 handcrafted clay creations to the 14th annual Art in the Park Saturday-Sunday, July 16-17, in downtown Plymouth. Ann Arbor Art Fairs start Wednesday

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Leave the dog days of summer behind at one of the largest art festivals in the country - the Ann Arbor Art Fairs Wednesday-Saturday, July 20-23.

Nearly 1,000 exhibitors will fill the downtown streets with paintings, drawings, ceramics, sculpture, photography, printmaking, two- and three-D mixed media, metal/jewelry, glass, wood and fiber.

More than 500,000 visitors are expected to descend on the area to enjoy art, music, theatrics and food at the four-day festival running 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday to Friday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The annual summer rite is really three separate fairs in one: the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, the State Street Art Fair and the Summer Art Fair sponsored by the Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans.

The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, located on South and East University avenues and Church Street, celebrates its 35th year as the original juried show. Out of 2,000 applications received this year for 189 booths, 190 artists (75 of them new) were selected from 38 states.

"Our main mission is high-quality, cutting-edge art. We've come a long way from 35 years ago when they said you shouldn't put art out on the street," said Susan Froelich, coordinator.

Indeed, the art fairs have come a long way since then. The first fair covered only two city blocks. Today, it spans 22.

"It has grown and grown every year. We want to educate the public about art in an environment where people feel comfortable, even those who know nothing about art. We want to provide a friendly and intimate atmosphere," said Froelich.

Throughout the fair's run, artists will demonstrate their particular medium at 20 different booths marked with bright blue banners.

On Saturday, Aug. 20, Weed will present a one-day workshop on "Marketing Your Arts and Crafts." Newborune will do a one-day workshop on painting with textured paper. Cost of these workshops is $54 each.

The college is offering special room and board packages, which include three meals daily.

COLORFUL MOMENTS

Plymouth artist Toni Stevens has won a $250 cash award from the nationally renowned exhibition Watercolor U.S.A. 1994.

Titled "Maryanne," her winning work was selected by juror Townsend Wolfe for Honorable mention status from 122 paintings that will hang in the 1994 edition of Watercolor U.S.A.

"It's a terrific boost to be accepted in a national fine arts competition with the stature of this one," Stevens said.

The free exhibition runs through July 24 in the Springfield Art Museum in Springfield, Missouri.

In its 33rd year, the exhibition drew more than 1,200 entries from nearly 700 artists.

"It's a way of expressing myself. To see something take shape from a hunk of clay, anything in your head, is exciting to me," said LaCroix in an interview at her Livonia home.

The style of LaCroix's planters are influenced primarily by look of the English garden. But country, Southwest and abstract themes as well as those decorated with watering cans and hearts also accent the clay containers. They come in a variety of designer colors, ranging from pastel to deeper reds and blues. They're reasonably priced at $16 each. "A lot of people say they have never seen anything like these before. They can be hung in a grouping. They can be hung outside. A lot of people buy them for their kitchen and bathrooms," LaCroix said. "They're not poured into molds. I flatten it out and mold them myself with my hands."

Before working in clay, LaCroix worked as a hairdresser for 10 years. She came to a turning point in her career after becoming pregnant with her son James. It was then she decided to take a closer look at turning her craft talents into profits.

LaCroix started to imagine a scenario where making and selling crafts could become a source of income, enabling her to stay home with her son. Her first stop was at the library, where she zoned in on books dealing with the basics of working with clay.

"Clay work has always intrigued me, so I invested in a small kiln and started experimenting with huge hunks of clay. At first, I was doing ceramic jewelry. I stumbled onto the planters with hand-molded designs while looking for something to do that was different but marketable," said LaCroix, 38.

"My designs are inspired by my love of flowers. The planters have an English garden look to them. Antique laces are imprinted in the clay to give different background effects."

More than a year ago, LaCroix decided to return to work, only this time as a silk floral designer. She worked part time for Elliotts and the Drapery Boutique in Livonia before being hired full-time by Farmington Hills resident Jackie Schwartz at her interior accents design business in Walled Lake.

Founded in 1985, Designs by Jackie, specializes in producing decorative accessories, including paintings and wood collages for walls for furniture stores. LaCroix creates contemporary silk floral arrangements for the custom accessory service.

Creativity, on and off the job, seems to run in the LaCroix family. Husband Michael owns and operates The Neon Connection in Plymouth. Although signs are his specialty, Michael in the past has created sculptural pieces resembling columns that are filled with neon light.

On the other hand, 7-year-old James' creativity springs from molding clay snakes and bugs alongside his mother at the work bench.

"Clay is also a nice creative outlet for my son to share in. He was working with clay when he was 2 and 3 years old, molding his own creations. It's fun to see what he did then and now. His creations are pretty amazing."

Artist to sign prints

William Moss, known by art buffs and historians alike as "the artist of Detroit," returns to Creative Framing at 653 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, to sign prints during the annual Art in the Park festival.

The signing runs 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., or later, Saturday-Sunday, July 16-17. Moss will draw remarques (small pencil illustrations on the print's border) for an additional $75.

He returns to Creative Framing "by popular demand," after a very successful visit in April, says shop co-owner Christine Burke.

"He was at the shop on a weekend, but we had people stop in all week to look at prints. So many people know the places he paints. They'll often say, 'I worked there,' or 'I grew up there.' The artist is very interesting to talk to because he knows so much about the city," said Burke, a native Detroit, who identifies with many of Moss' scenes.

The artist's works, as detailed as architect renderings, come from a lifetime of observation, fond memories and endless research of Detroit's landmarks. Moss paints from his Tennessee studio today, but he's still fond of the city's riverfront, which appears in many of his colorful prints. Many of the buildings he's painted are no longer standing.

Creative Framing sells all of Moss' limited-edition lithographs, including Olympia, Edmond Fitzgerald, Detroit's Traditions, Detroit's Holiday Traditions, Detroit City Hall, City of the Straits, Briggs Stadium, Michigan Central Depot, Detroit's Riverfront Memories and Delphine.

Prints are $80 to $200. Museum framing runs around $175. Delphine, a waterfront print of Rose Terrace at Dodge Mansion, comes with a video tape from WDIV-TV that describes the estate.

The artist may bring along his latest original, an acrylic painting of Tiger stadium, "if the paint dries in time," said Burke. When the stadium prints are available later this year, they may be signed by a Detroit Tiger ballplayer.

Visitors will be able to watch a potter at work on the wheel or a painter communicating his ideas to canvas.

The 27-year-old State Street Art Fair will feature 200 nationally prominent artists on Maynard, Liberty, William and North University in the heart of the State Street shopping district. The Ann Arbor Fiberarts Guild is at the intersection of State and William. In addition to the art, entertainment will be provided throughout the fair and at Liberty Plaza on the corner of Division and Liberty.

Entering its 24th year, the Summer Art Fair (on State Street from South University to William, Liberty Street from Ashley to Fifth, and Main Street from William to Huron) will spotlight the work of nearly 600 established and emerging artists producing American art and fine crafts. The fair includes an Imagination Booth, located at Liberty and Fifth Street, where families can create works of art for free. A stage at William and Main Street will showcase nationally-known local performers.

Plymouth artist Thomas LeGault will be painting up a storm again this year at the corner of Main and Liberty. For the last 24 years, LeGault has worked in acrylic to paint traditional northern Michigan landscapes in record time — an hour and a half to be exact. He began doing abstract florals a few years back. Although he will have a few of the older works on hand, this year he will offer a new style, test-marketed recently at a show in Muskegon.

"It's a big surprise, a whole new format," said LeGault.

The Ann Arbor Transportation Authority provides shuttle and trolley service for the fair from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday to Friday, and 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday.

Visitors are encouraged to park free at Briarwood Mall, off I-94 on State Street, and Pioneer High School, Main and Stadium, and take the shuttle bus to either the Main Street or South University areas. The fare is $2 round trip for adults. Children 7 and younger ride free.

The trolley operates between the three fairs, charging 50 cents per passenger, or free with a shuttle ticket. For AATA information, call (313) 996-0400.

pears toward the end of the month for mid-September harvest, and spinach late in the month for September harvest.

Flowering kale, an ornamental, and some cauliflower and cabbage varieties prefer shorter days and cooler temperatures to mature. Brussels sprouts have a better flavor if they experience some light frosts before harvesting.

TIMELY GARDEN TIPS

- For a large seedhead on a sunflower (are you in our contest?), apply an application of fertilizer high in phosphorus when flower-heads begin to appear. Phosphorus is the middle number on the fertilizer package.
- Mulch flower beds to keep weeds from growing and moisture in the ground.
- Snip each stem of the petunias to about three or four inches above ground level. You will be rewarded with a beautiful display.
- Fertilize rhubarb by sidedressing about 18 inches from the crowns. Use 10-10-10 nitrogen at a rate of three to four pounds per 100 feet of row.
- Plunge potted plants in a bucket of water and leave them there until no more air bubbles are seen to be sure the roots receive sufficient moisture.
- Snip faded blossoms from day-lilies and other perennials to keep them from using energy to make seeds.
- Marty Figley is an advanced master gardener based in Birmingham. You can leave her a message by dialing (313) 953-2047 on a touch-tone phone, then her mailbox number, 1859. Her fax number is (816) 644-1314.

Quick change: Plymouth artist Thomas LeGault will demonstrate his new style of painting at the Summer Art Fair, part of the Ann Arbor Art Fairs July 20-23.

RE/MAX HELPS KIDS

RE/MAX Detroit Metro donated $80,000 to the Children's Miracle Network Telethon, which aired June 5 on WKBD-Fox 50. The donation, on behalf of RE/MAX associates in Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties, will benefit area children through the RE/MAX Communication Station Preschool and the Center for Human Development at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

RE/MAX Communication Station Preschool is Michigan's only hospital-based, licensed program for children with speech and language difficulties. In 1993, RE/MAX said the preschool provided comprehensive, affordable therapy to more than 70 area children.

Scholarship funds for the preschool come from the RE/MAX Miracle Home Program. As lifetime or annual program members, RE/MAX associates contribute a fixed amount or a percentage of their income earned for each home sale.

This year, RE/MAX associates have pledged $30,000 to the RE/MAX preschool, as its sole sponsor, and $50,000 to Beaumont's Center for Human Development. The $50,000 donation will be generated through a variety of events around southeastern Michigan, including the RE/MAX Miracle Classic Golf Outing Monday, Aug. 22, at Moravian Hills Country Club in Mount Clemens. An old-fashioned family picnic is set for Sunday, July 31, at Frank Budd Park in Clinton Township. For more information, contact Eric Stark at (810) 356-1199.

Before you go house shopping, the Farmington Hills-based Michigan Association of CPAs recommends you do some mortgage shopping. Understanding the various mortgage options, requirements, rates and fees will help you determine how much you can afford to spend on a home and how much you can comfortably finance.

The amount of the loan, the type of loan you select, as well as its annual percentage rate, will determine the amount of your monthly payments. Generally, lenders recommend that your monthly mortgage payments do not exceed 25 to 28 percent of your gross monthly income.

Your monthly mortgage payment combined with other long-term debt payments, including car and student loans, should not exceed 36 percent of your gross monthly income. Although some lenders may issue you a mortgage if you have a higher debt-to-income ratio, keep in mind that the more debt you have, the more difficult it may be to make your mortgage payments.

Most mortgage lenders require that you make a down payment of at least 20 percent of the cost of the home. If you put down less money, you usually must buy private mortgage insurance, which will add to your monthly payments.

Despite the array of mortgage options available today, fixed-rate mortgages are still the most popular. They offer security since both the interest rate and monthly payment are fixed for the period of the loan.

You can obtain a fixed-rate mortgage for a term of 15 to 30 years. Usually, the shorter the loan term, the lower the interest rate, and the faster you will build equity in your home. Because you'll face higher monthly payments on a 15 or 20-year loan, you may need more income to qualify for these mortgages than for a conventional 30-year mortgage. When deciding the length of the loan term, carefully consider your financial ability to meet the monthly mortgage payments now, as well as five, 10 and 15 years down the road. Remember, too, that even if you can't afford a 15 or 20-year mortgage, you can take out a 30-year loan and periodically make extra payments on the loan principal. In this way, you can pay off your loan more quickly.

A fixed-rate biweekly mortgage also enables you to build up equity in your home quickly. That's because you make 26 payments annually, which is equivalent to 13 monthly payments a year, instead of 12. Over the life of the mortgage, these extra payments can save you a substantial amount of interest costs.

Adjustable rate mortgages (ARMs) can save you the most in interest costs during the early years of the loan, but have the greatest long-term risk. ARMs offer a low interest rate for a short period of time, usually anywhere from a year to three years. After that, the interest rate is adjusted either annually or every few years based on market conditions. As a result, your monthly payment can increase over the life of the loan. Lenders use different indexes to determine when and how much the interest rate will decrease or increase.

Some lenders also offer annual and lifetime caps on interest rates — typically 2 percent annually and 6 percent over the life of the loan. This is an important ARM feature that could protect you in the event interest rates rise significantly.

Focusing in on reverse mortgages, time-share 'points'

CONDO QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q: I am wondering if you can help me with the concept of reverse mortgages, which I heard HUD is now insuring. I am a senior citizen and am wondering if it has any applicability to me.

A: Reverse mortgages, which are, in most instances, a financing vehicle for senior citizens, enable seniors to stay in their homes and access their accumulated equity, but do not require an income stream to meet the debt service because no payments are due on the loan until the borrower no longer occupies the home.

The concept of reverse mortgages has been around for about 15 years, but has only become recognized by HUD in the last four years when it established its own insured reverse mortgage program called the home-equity conversion mortgage.

In general, reverse mortgage is a first-lien loan and is underwritten based solely on the equity in the home. It is available to borrowers 60-70 years of age or older (depending on the program) and who own their own homes free and clear or nearly free and clear (as long as existing liens are small enough to be paid for with the proceeds from the HECM loan).

The borrower can obtain advances in a variety of ways, depending on the product, such as in a lump sum, a fixed amount for either a finite number of years or for as long as the borrower lives in the home, under a line of credit, or in any combination.

The loan is satisfied out of the proceeds of the sale of the home. Repayment of the loan is not required until the property is no longer the principal residence of any of the borrowers.

The borrower generally has no personal liability for the debt and there is no income restriction imposed on the borrowers, but all borrowers must be on the title to the property. HUD offers reverse mortgages on either a fixed or adjustable rate.

You should contact HUD or your local bank with any questions you may have concerning the applicability of reverse mortgages to you and then consult with your real estate attorney to review the particular program in which you are interested.

Q: Do you know anything about a time-share arrangement that offers "points" to owners of the time share to convert their weeks to points so as to use their time share weeks in other locations around the country?

A: I have represented a client in a situation where he purchased a northern Michigan time-share unit that offered "points" as an enticement to enter into the condominium project.

Basically, the points boil down to the owner of the unit being able to have a certain number of points credited to his account each year for the one week of usage that he has purchased.

If he does not use all of his points, namely the entire week or all of his unit, he can cash in on those points and use them for additional weeks at other resorts that are within the vacation plan.

For example, if he has bought a one-bedroom unit, and only uses the studio portion of the unit, the balance of the points not utilized may be credited to him for use in staying at another location within the resort exchange program.

Simply put, it is not simple and should be carefully reviewed by the purchaser and his attorney. It is an interesting concept, however, that should be catching on very quickly.

Bridgmont: Heritage Residential Group offers a split colonial with the master suite on the main level and two or three bedrooms upstairs at Victoria Gardens.

New sub attracts area residents

Until recently, a new subdivision of single-family homes hadn't been built in Garden City for several decades. A couple of builders in Victoria Gardens believe that their models will attract move-up buyers who want to maintain ties to the area.

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Two residential builders have staked claim to Victoria Gardens, a 66-lot subdivision on the site of the former Vogel Jr. High in Garden City.

The Heritage Residential Group, headquartered in Farmington Hills, has 44 lots, Michigan General Construction the balance.

About a third have sold since Singh Development of Birmingham transformed the parcel off Henry Ruff just south of Marquette and turned it over to the two builders. The first house was sold about a year ago.

"We basically find people moving up from the surrounding neighborhood," said Stephen Taglione, Heritage president. "They know the area, like the area, grew up in the area."

"We did a market study and saw that the area had nothing really new," said Dawn M. Davis, partner with Michigan General.

"We've got young, mid-life, returned," said Lawrence M. Dragich, Michigan General Partner. "I don't think there's a niche market here. It's more varied than most subs."

"Basically, we see start-ups and first time move-ups in the sub," Taglione said. "Those people have children."

The subdivision is serviced by city water and sewers and sidewalks.

Heritage offers five floor plans - a ranch, three traditional colonials and a split colonial with the master bedroom on the main floor. Prices range from $128,900 for the 1,400 square foot ranch to $159,990 for a 2,200 square foot colonial.

Michigan General offers ranches of about 1,300 square feet for $119,900 and 1,500 square feet for $127,900 and a colonial of 1,700 square feet for $137,900.

The garden ranch with three bedrooms, two baths and an open floor plan is most popular with Michigan General buyers at Victoria Gardens, Davis said.

"Most people in the area have been in a ranch and like the style," she said.

O&E parent buys phone directories

Hometown Directories, a newly-formed subsidiary of Suburban Communications Corp., has purchased four telephone directories from Michigan Directory Co. in Pigeon, located in Michigan's Thumb.

The purchase includes the rights to publish the Clarkston/Waterford Directory (34,000 copies), Hills Area Directory (43,000) servicing Rochester and Rochester Hills, Greater Livingston County Directory (80,000) and Oxford/Lake Orion Directory (22,000).

The purchase price wasn't disclosed. "Our long term objective is to grow our company both internally and via the acquisition route," said Richard Aginian, SCC president. "The purchase of independent telephone directories is a natural compliment to the publishing of community newspapers in several ways."

"The community newspaper gathers information and distributes it via print, voice, fax and computer. The community newspaper also generates advertising demand for information, products and services," Aginian said. "Similarly, a telephone directory also gathers information, telephone numbers and yellow pages advertisements and distributes the information via print and voice."

Community newspapers and telephone directories play off each other's strong points, Aginian said. "Think of it this way - a newspaper creates demand. A phone book satisfies demand."

Bill Hengy, president of Michigan Directory Co. who started the firm in 1978, said he was approached by the several would-be buyers.

"From what I found out about SCC, I thought it would be a good association," he said. "We'll be doing a lot of cross selling. A lot of production work we'll do for them (SCC)."

"That capital will help us improve our directories, too, help modernize some equipment," Hengy added.

Michigan Directory will continue to pub-

A wide foyer, an opening between the kitchen and family room and a studio ceiling in the family room combine to present a sense of spaciousness. A fireplace is standard, as are a dishwasher/garbage disposal, first floor laundry, two-car attached garage and basement.

The model has three bedrooms, two baths.

Popular options include skylights, bay window in the breakfast nook and air conditioning.

"Ninety percent of our customers are upgrading — extra baths in the basement, extra windows, front door, upgraded insulation," Dragich said. "Our average is $20,000 worth of extras."

The exterior is brick and a choice of vinyl or aluminum siding.

The most popular model with Heritage buyers is the Bridgmont, the split colonial, with the master suite on the main floor and two or three bedrooms upstairs.

Standard features include a separate shower and tub, walk-in closet and double vanity in the master, fireplace and vaulted ceiling in the great room, separate dining room and breakfast nook on either side of the kitchen, first floor laundry, attached two-car garage and full basement.

Air conditioning is extra. "This is a modern house for Garden City," Taglione said.

"It combines the best of the old and the new. You have an established tax base and the fact it's located convenient to shopping and job centers — a good, stable school district. Combine that with newness — attached garages, first floor laundry," he said. The exterior is brick and aluminum siding.

Brian and Denise Dunn purchased a four bedroom colonial from Heritage for themselves and their three children.

"We lived in Garden City and liked the area," he said. "We needed a much bigger house. We liked what they offered. The house had everything we wanted. It's a real open floor plan. The bedrooms are all upstairs."

"We wanted to stay in Garden City," Dunn said. "We really like the schools. It's just convenient for us. Everything's here."

Roger and Vikki Corsi are bought a ranch from Michigan General.

"I work in Garden City. We kind of wanted a central location in the middle of everything," Vikki said. "We looked in Livonia and Plymouth. The homes were comparable, but the prices were a lot higher for the same things I got in Victoria Gardens."

"The builder said whatever we wanted to add or do, we will do for you," she added. "I found them very easy to work with."

"We prefer a ranch. I'm not into the up-and-down, up-and-down thing. It's open, not like a box with rooms in," Vikki said.

The property tax rate for school, city and county services is about $40 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value.

Heritage Group models, 458-8143, are open 12:30-6 p.m. daily. Michigan General models, 421-3699, are open daily 12-6 p.m., closed Thursday.

lish a dozen telephone directories, most in the Thumb area.

Operations for Hometown Directories will be moved from Pigeon closer to its service area, although an exact location hasn't yet been determined, Aginian said. A divisional head will be named.

Employees who worked on the directories acquired by Hometown will be interviewed and likely offered the opportunity to keep their jobs during the transition, Aginian said.

"Remember, we're starting from ground zero," he said.

Aginian described the directories as user friendly.

"It's more than a list of phone numbers," he said. "It has a map, listings of churches, hospitals, libraries, schools, zip codes. The listings are in larger type. And if you have two phones, you get two directories. Sometimes, other utilities will charge you for the second."

The directories are updated annually and distributed free to target audiences.

"As the super information highway draws near, community newspapers and telephone directories will be linked," Aginian said.

"Additionally, we will have the benefit of building a combined database of names, addresses and telephone numbers for use by our newspapers and directories to better serve our customers."

"I think this is an exciting move for us," Aginian said.

Thomas R. Ricketta, chairman and president of Standard Federal Bank, Troy, is a gold award winner in Wall Street Transcript's survey of top CEOs. He was named the top CEO in the savings and loan industry. Wall Street Transcript said "Standard Federal has built a commanding franchise throughout the region management has secured this company's hold on core markets, extended its reach into contiguous territory and diversified its business profile. Ricketta's philosophy has melded the best elements of the conservative and the creative, distinguishing Standard Federal Bank as a cohesive, responsive organization."

Carol Gardner of Southfield was promoted from director of account services and public relations for Dennis R. Green Advertising, Farmington Hills, to vice president of the division. She joined the agency in 1990.

C. Reid Rundell of Birmingham becomes president and chief operating officer of Takata, Inc. of Auburn Hills, a supplier of safety restraint systems for the automotive industry. He was a senior executive for General Motors for more than 33 years and an "architect" of Saturn Corp.

James W. Sturtz of Farmington Hills was promoted to executive search consultant for Compass Group Ltd., Birmingham. He joined the firm in 1993. He previously worked in human resources at General Motors.

Matthew M. Wirgau of Troy joins Johnson & Roy/Inc., an urban design and civil engineering firm in Ann Arbor, as president. He had been senior vice president of Farman Group, a commercial real estate firm. He also chairs the board of directors of Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation (SMART) and is an adjunct professor of finance at Walsh College in Troy.

Dan Johnson of Kalamazoo becomes manager of the GFS Marketplace Farmington Hills. The new store at 39047 Grand River opens July 20.

Troy-based Rockwell Automotive has restructured its on-highway and off-highway heavy vehicle business. Richard C. Quaid of Birmingham becomes president of specialty products, a business group formerly called off-highway products. Harold E. Krivan of West Bloomfield, vice president-marketing, also will be responsible for expanding automotive aftermarket business into new markets and new product areas.

Maureen Riley, who'll relocate to metro Detroit, becomes event coordinator for The Palace of Auburn Hills, Pine Knob Music Theatre and Meadow Brook Music Festival. She'll assist show production and in-house operation for all three venues. She had been an event service manager for the Milwaukee Exposition Convention Center & Arena.

Diane Lindquist of Northville joins Corporate Video Services, Southfield, as managing director. She had been production manager for HOM-TV Channel 21 in Okemos. CVS was created in 1990 as the corporate video division of USMaintenance Corp. in Southfield.

Gregory M. Joumas of Lathrup Village joins MARS Advertising, Southfield, as management supervisor of account services. He'll supervise new business activity and direct work on several accounts, including SelectCare, Macomb and Riverview Hospitals and Novi Hilton. He previously was an account supervisor for Chiat/Day Agency in Chicago.

Kathleen Kelly Satut of Grosse Pointe Park becomes division director for grades 1-6 at Eton Academy in Birmingham, the state's only accredited school for students with specific learning disabilities.

AUTOMATED HOUSE
Royal Oak-based HomeTek, L.L.C. teamed up with Honeywell TotalHome Automation to produce a house that does routine functions with the touch of a computer key pad or touch-tone phone.

The system lets you call home before leaving work to turn on lights, air conditioning, heat or Jacuzzi. While on vacation, you can call home to review security, change the lighting or turn off heating or cooling.

The system starts at around $4,000 and can be built into a new house or added to an existing one.

"It's as simple as an ATM machine," says Andy Sallan, HomeTek co-founder. "There's a Honeywell 800 hot line operating 24 hours a day that you can call to have your system reprogrammed remotely when you decide to change commands."

Visitors can tour the house noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, July 9-10, at Royal Pointe subdivision, 6301 Royal Pointe Drive, West Bloomfield. Admission is free.

Livonia dealer wins award in kitchen design contest

Kitchens Plus, a kitchen dealership located in Livonia, won the Local Grand Territory Award in the Sub-Zero 1993 Kitchen Design Contest. Sub-Zero chose Kitchens Plus for its innovative kitchen design using a Sub-Zero refrigerator/freezer. Gary Hancock, president and co-owner, accepted the award at a gala celebration in Scottsdale, Ariz. More than 500 professionals from around the United States and Canada entered the competition.

As a regional winner, Hancock received an expense-paid trip for two to Scottsdale in March, where the national winners were announced at a gala celebration. In addition, Sub-Zero presented a $500 cash award to regional winners.

Sub-Zero invited an expert panel of designers and industry professionals to judge the hundreds of entries. Judges made their decisions based on design creativity, functional use of the kitchen space and innovative applications of Sub-Zero products.

In Kitchens Plus' design its client wanted a navy blue and gray kitchen. One of the reasons why Kitchens Plus used a Sub-Zero refrigerator was because of its adaptability for custom made panels. The designers installed stainless steel panels on the doors allowing the refrigerator to blend with the decor of the kitchen.

Sub-Zero Freezer Company, based in Madison Wis., manufactures premium built-in residential refrigerators/freezers. The company supplies 13 various refrigerator/freezer models throughout the United States and Canada.

Kitchens Plus is located at 31815 West Eight Mile in Livonia. Kitchens Plus' showroom displays kitchens, bathrooms, entertainment centers, wet bars and furniture. For more information call (810) 474-0646.

$9,995. Because there's no such thing as disposable income.

 No matter what income bracket they're in, it's hard to believe that anyone would consider any of their money disposable. Which may explain why we all want to buy things that are actually worth what they cost. Like the Saturn SL. It has the kind of technology you'd find on a more expensive car, like a steel spaceframe with crumple zones, flexible paint and panels that resist chipping, and even a stainless steel exhaust system. Because if there's one thing that's not disposable, it's a money.
 M.S.R.P. of the 1994 SL is $9995 including dealer preparation. Tax, license, transportation and options additional.
 "We also have a fine selection of previously pampered Saturns!"

The only thing as pleasant as buying a Saturn is leasing one.

We hope you've heard how unstressful we try to make it for you when you visit a Saturn showroom. (Because who needs more stress, right?) Anyway, we take the same approach to leasing as we do to everything else. So if leasing a Saturn is better for you than buying one (and we can help you figure that out), then great. The only important thing is to find out how pleasant driving a Saturn can be.
