THE PRIMARY:

A VOTER'S GUIDE

Voters in the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will be served up a full platter of candidates on Tuesday at the primary elections. The top local race is the contest for 35th District Court, which has attracted 11 candidates.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The primary election Tuesday has drawn interest from plenty of candidates, but municipal clerks predict voter turnout won't differ much from the average primary.

"I'm going to predict 30 percent and that's pushing it I think," said Plymouth Township clerk Marilyn Massengill. "We have not had as great an interest from the absentee voters. We're not getting (ballots) back that fast."

City clerk Linda Langmesser also predicted a 30 percent turnout. "Absentee ballots are running a little more than average. They're coming back real good every day," she said.

Polls are open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday. Absentee voters can turn in ballots to the city until 8 p.m. Tuesday. In the township, voters under age 60 should return absentee ballots today, others can return them to their regular voting precincts by 8 p.m. Tuesday, Massengill said.

Voters in Plymouth and Plymouth Township can vote in only one partisan section of the ballot. You can't split your vote between parties. Voters also vote for just one candidate in each race.

Democratic candidates in the governor's race are Lynn Jondahl, Larry Owen, Debbie Stabenow and Howard Wolpe. Gov. John Engler is the lone Republican.

Democratic candidates for U.S. senator are William Brodhead, Bob Carr, Joel Ferguson, John Kelly, Carl Marlinga and Lana Pollack. Republican candidates are Spencer Abraham and Ronna Romney.

Democratic candidates running for U.S. Congress, 13th District, are Fulton Eaglin, David Geiss and Lynn Rivers. Republicans running are

A forum of candidates for the 20th District state House seat presented an opportunity for a showdown between incumbent Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, and former Republican state representative Gerry Law.

But Law, of Plymouth Township, who is challenging Vorva in the Republican primary Aug. 2, had a prior speaking engagement and didn't attend the 7:30 p.m. forum at Plymouth city hall.

Vorva did show, along with Democrat Carolyn Blanchard of Northville Township, an attorney and former health care worker. She is running unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Public turnout for the forum was light, with just 13 people in the audience.

Still, the candidates addressed issues and fielded a range of questions in the 70-minute program sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Jaycees.

cost of locking people up, programs that strengthen families," Blanchard said.

She said the change in how education is paid for "is not going to provide adequate funding, we're all going to have to pay additional millages. We're not providing an adequate tax base for educating our children."

Both candidates were asked what is the most pressing issue facing the state. Vorva said, "We have to focus on what's going on in our district," adding that this is a community relatively safe from crime and this must be maintained.

Blanchard said, "We have to address how we can cut down on crime. We need a society that holds the family in respect, we need to support our children and our families. There needs to be jobs available so that families have the money to support themselves."

The candidates had sharply different responses to the question, "Will schools be adequately funded?" Vorva said in June $1.6 billion was raised in sales taxes for education by the new state taxing structure. "There will be absolutely no problem funding education," he said, adding money for education continues to rise, from $9.2 billion last year to $10.2 billion this year. "Proposal A is apparently working," he said.

"I don't believe this plan will work," Blanchard said, adding some districts including Southfield report problems with raising sufficient money. "I think we need to find a more equitable way to fund schools," she said, adding the sales tax increase is less fair to poor people. She said raising the income tax is more fair because it is based on an individual's ability to pay.

Vorva was asked if he disliked teachers. He said some teachers have taken offense to their public funding being scrutinized. "I think it was a fair thing to do," he said, adding that such examination is proper. "They shouldn't be mad at people (state representatives) who are doing their job," Vorva said.

Blanchard stressed her background as a health care worker working in private homes and housing projects around Wayne County, and as a defense attorney who has worked in prisons around the state.

To help raise money to build a 15,000-square-foot play structure at Plymouth Township Park, organizers are raising money through a "Buy a Board" campaign.

Donors can give as little as $5 to buy a small board, or as much as $1,000 to have their family's name engraved on a plaque on the play structure. Donations of various amounts within that range qualify donors for other recognition.

The playscape will be geared to kids ages 2-13 and will be handicapped accessible. The projected cost is $100,000.

Two women plead not guilty

Canton police are continuing their investigation following a raid on a tanning-massage parlor on Michigan Avenue July 26.

Two women, whom police identified as Korean, pleaded not guilty to prostitution charges at their arraignment before 35th District Court Judge John MacDonald July 27.

Kiyon Martin, 48, of Novi was charged with running a prostitution house and accepting proceeds from a prostitution house, both felonies. She was also charged with accosting and soliciting, which is a misdemeanor. Martin is free on a $20,000 bond/10 percent for each count.

Martin is the owner and operator of the Ocean Brite Tanning Salon in the 43000 block of Michigan Avenue, said Tammie Colling, Canton police community relations officer.

Chas Sim O'Keefe, 43, of Chicago, Ill., was charged with one misdemeanor count of accosting and soliciting. She was released on $100 personal bond.

A preliminary examination on the charges is scheduled for Aug. 5 in 35th District Court.

"We will be checking on their immigration status," Colling said, referring to the women.

The salon was not closed fol-owing the raid. "Our goal is to get the operation shut down," Colling said.

During the raid, police confiscated U.S. currency and other evidence. Police plan to institute state forfeiture proceedings against the business.

Police raided the salon at about 7 p.m. July 26, following a 4½-month investigation. "We received a complaint of possible solicitation there," Colling said.

State chamber gives nod to Vorva

On the eve of the primary election Tuesday, candidates and some state organizations announced more endorsements.

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce last week announced it was endorsing Jerry Vorva, R-

Plymouth, in his bid to seek re-election in the 20th District state House race.

Meanwhile, the Michigan Human Rights Campaign Committee announced its support of Carol Levitte in the 35th District judge's race.

In announcing the endorsement for Vorva, chamber official Rich Studley said, "Jerry Vorva's voting record shows that he believes business tax cuts are instrumental to encouraging productivity and economic growth. Jerry Vorva has also supported lower taxes on hard-working entrepreneurs."

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce represents more than 6,100 employers statewide.

Candidates explain expense information

Two candidates last week sought to clarify information about their pre-election campaign expense reports.

State Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, reported spending $9,173 on the campaign during the reporting period ending July 17. A higher figure, recorded on his expense report and reported in the July 25 Observer, reflected payback of an earlier campaign expense reports.

Dennis Shrewsbury, a Plymouth city commissioner and 35th District judicial candidate, said his campaign expense report was filed on time, as it was postmarked one day before the July 22 deadline. A state elections bureau clerk had said July 25 that Shrewsbury had filed late.

By the period ending July 17, Shrewsbury reported spending $13,394, which puts him roughly in the middle of the pack when assessing candidate spending in

CLARIFICATION

School officials estimated that the money that may be recouped from an alleged price-fixing scheme by Michigan dairies and school bus distributors may be as much as $98,000, not $9 million as reported in the July 28 issue of the Plymouth and Canton Observers.

Chevy stolen

A Chevy Blazer was stolen late Thursday or early Friday from the west lot at Aline Plastics, 40300 Plymouth Road, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

The owner, a Plymouth resident, told police the windows of the truck may have been left open due to hot weather. The theft happened sometime between 4 p.m. Thursday and 1:15 a.m. Friday, the report continued. Police have no suspects.

'Somebody Special' award caps Parisian preview

STAFF PHOTOS BY JIM JAGGERS

After months of anticipation, hundreds of specially-invited guests were treated to a night on the town Sunday with the area's newest retailer, Parisian, which introduced itself to the community with a $10,000 donation to a local charity.

The new store officially opens for business at 10 a.m. today.

Donald Hess, president and CEO of Parisian, and Elliot Marcus, manager of the new Laurel Park Place store, presented the "You're Somebody Special" check to Crossroads of Michigan, a Detroit-based ecumenical social service ministry.

Crossroads operates a soup kitchen and two counseling centers. The non-profit organization offers emergency aid to families in addition to learning centers and job training.

Four metro-area organizations were honored as runners-up, each receiving $500. They are Coalition on Temporary Shelter, First Step, Lighthouse of Oakland County and Poverty and Social Reform Institute.

More than 120 nonprofit organizations submitted nominations for the award.

The judging panel included Schoolcraft College President Richard McDowell and Duane Marsh, executive director of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce. Other judges included Molly Luempert, supervisor of education and community service, Detroit Edison; Elaine Draker of Wayne State University, Ruth Benedict of Crain's Detroit Business and Virgil Carr, president of United Way, Southeastern Michigan.

The award presentation capped the special two-hour preview of the 150,000-square-foot store. Guests were treated to desserts, coffee, music and Angela Beasley's Puppet People and Puppet Monsters, colorful, larger-than-life creatures with a penchant for singing and dancing.

Parisian offers a week-long series of events to celebrate its grand opening in Livonia. The puppet people and monsters will be on hand to entertain shoppers.

In the children's department, larger-than-life teddy bears will entertain young shoppers with stories and refreshments. In addition, designer appearances, trunk shows and special fashion shows will be held daily.

The Birmingham, Alabama-based retailer offers a mix of clothing, shoes, accessories and cosmetics for women, men and children.

'Technology Today' class offers insight into future

BY JILL HALPIN
STAFF WRITER

Gone are days when industrial arts meant making moveable paperweights in shop class. Teachers at Plymouth-Canton Educational Park have taken the concept high tech and turned out a class for both college-bound and vocational education kids alike.

"Technology Today" is a half-year class for ninth- and 10th-graders that will debut at the park this fall. Designed through the cooperative efforts of 10 math and science teachers from both Canton and Salem high schools, the course will offer students an overview of current technology in six areas: drafting and computer aided-design, electronics, transportation, communication, applied physics and careers in technology.

"This is a survey class designed to show students how technology is used in our world today," said Barb Church, area coordinator. "The emphasis of the class runs the gamut. We want students to experience all of the career opportunities . . . from those for which you need a graduate degree to those you don't," said Church.

Throughout the semester, course teacher Frank Pavia will use hands-on activities to help students gain an understanding of new technology. The course was also designed to give students practical experience to use in tandem with the theoretical information they gain in other classes, Church said.

For instance, when students build a model bridge, they will apply physical principles they may have already been exposed to.

Students will also be exposed to some new innovations. In the drafting portion of the course, students will have a chance to work with Auto CAD 12, a design program used by automotive companies to design cars. Pavia will use the program on a new IBM-compatible computer networked to classroom monitors to take students step-by-step through the design process.

"Although the students can't always necessarily get onto the system themselves, they will have exposure to it this way and see how it applies to drafting," Pavia said.

To emphasize the concept of technology in communications, students will make business cards using lithography, as well as explore photography through the use of the pinhole camera. Pavia said that many of the projects will emphasize math and science concepts. Students will use applied physics in an automation and robotics projects using LEGO's pneumatic trainers.

"The areas covered really are quite different. The student who enjoys photography may feel quite differently about drafting. The exposure is quite broad," said Church.

Church said the decision to add such a class to the curriculum came about last year, when teachers noticed a gap in the class offerings. While students had the option to elect full classes in certain areas, there weren't any broader offerings that touched on the topics overall.

"We didn't have a structure for kids to learn about all of these areas. It should help them make some career decisions," said Pavia. He is also hopeful that the class will be universal and will help students with and toward the future make some scheduling decisions.

"We are not just cutting them out for college prep. When we enter into the applied physics portion, we don't say, 'This is college prep,' because the ideas could be used equally well in the building trade," Pavia said.

Canton resident will serve on board of health agency

Michael Ayre, a resident of Canton Township, has been named to the board of directors for the Combined Health Appeal of Michigan (CHAM), a nonprofit health agency based in East Lansing.

Ayre is the regional human resources director for ADVO Inc. of Livonia. CHAM's board of directors is comprised of 12 individuals from throughout the state of Michigan.

"I am pleased to add Michael to our board of directors," said CHAM Executive Director Ed Gillespie. "His professional skills and his personal commitment to CHAM's mission make him an excellent addition to our board. I know he will serve with distinction."

In addition to his work with CHAM, Ayre also serves on the board of directors of Big Brothers/Big Sisters, and he is active in the St. Thomas A'Becket Athletic Association of Greater Detroit.

CHAM represents 15 different regional and/or national health care agencies, conducting payroll-deduction campaigns to raise funds for service, education and research of deadly and disabling diseases. For more information, call Jill Lewis at 1-800-968-2426.

Both candidates were asked if a law should be enacted to prohibit the hiring of "scab" workers during a strike. Vorda said he was a former union shop steward, but added, "Employers should be able to maintain their companies, they have investors to answer to." He said it's illegal for public employees to strike.

Blanchard said she favored such a law. "Labor and management need to work out problems, maybe there should be a time limit," she said.

McNamara seeks Dem nomination

Local voters on Tuesday will choose their respective nominees for election to the offices of county executive and commissioner.

At the top of the county ticket is the race for county executive, where incumbent Democrat Edward McNamara is challenged in the primary by Detroit city councilman Clyde Cleveland.

McNamara, 67, is the former mayor of Livonia. He still lives in the city. He has been county executive since 1987. Since that time McNamara has presided over the expansion of Metro Airport, the construction of a new jail and a new morgue.

Cleveland, 59, has been a Detroit councilman since 1974. He is a former chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and Democratic convention delegate for Jimmy Carter, Jesse Jackson and Jesse Jackson in 1980, 1984 and 1988, respectively.

Three Republicans are seeking the nomination of county executive: Helen Gotowka of Dearborn Heights, Lawrence Schweiger of Livonia and Paul McMaster of Redford Township. Republican voters will chose one of the three to run against the Democratic nominee.

Schweiger, 70, is a retiree from Ford Motor Co. and has long been active in Livonia politics. Through the years, Schweiger has run for county commissioner, city council, register of deeds and city clerk. He ran for county executive once before in 1982.

Gotowka, 73, also sought the county executive job in 1982, but as a Democrat. Her other campaigns include a try for U.S. Congress and a 1972 run for Wayne County clerk as a Republican. A retired Ford Motor Co. secretary, Gotowka has never held elective office.

McMaster, 26, is general manager of Redford Villa Condominiums, a member of the Redford Township Zoning Board of Appeals and a graduate of Catholic Central High School. In 1992 he ran for township trustee and lost.

County commission

In the four Observerland county commission races, only one incumbent has an opponent in the Aug. 2 primary election.

In the 12th District, which includes Garden City, Westland and Inkster, incumbent Kay Beard of Westland faces Inkster resident Christonna Carswell Campbell in the Democratic primary.

The winner takes on Republican Bhagwan Dashairya of Westland in the November election.

Beard, 73, has been a county commissioner since 1979. For the past two years she has served as vice chairwoman of the commission. In 1992 Beard was unopposed in the Democratic primary and went on to beat Dashairya in the general election by a vote of 34,049-13,992.

Campbell, 37, is the founder and owner of Quality Counseling and Community Services, a non-profit organization designed to provide substance abuse treatment for women with children. Campbell also works for the Macay juvenile detention facility as youth residential director.

In the 11th District, which includes the townships of Canton, Van Buren, Huron and Sumpter and the cities of Wayne, Romulus and Belleville, incumbent Democrat Bryan Amann has chosen not to go for re-election.

Seeking the Democratic nomination are Kenneth Warfield of Wayne and Len Straub of New Boston.

Canton Township resident Bruce Patterson is unopposed in the Republican primary for the 11th District.

Warfield, 54, was a Wayne firefighter for 27 years, retiring as chief in 1989. He was elected to the city council in 1991 and currently serves as mayor.

Straub, 50, owns and operates a company called Architectural Design, which specializes in landscaping and house building. He has never run for political office before.

In the 9th District, which includes Redford Township and Dearborn Heights plus Livonia east of Middlebelt, incumbent Democrat Michelle Plawiecki of Dearborn Heights is unopposed in the primary.

In November, however, voters may choose between Plawiecki and Republican Curt Charles Najarian of Redford Township, who is also unchallenged in the primary.

In the 10th District, which includes Northville, Plymouth City and part of Livonia, incumbent Republican Thaddeus McCotter of Livonia has no primary opponent.

Advocacy group backs pro-choice candidates

The Michigan Abortion and Reproductive Rights Action League has announced its endorsements in state House and state Senate races, plus stated a preference for two of the candidates running for the 13th U.S. Congressional District seat.

In the 16th District of the state House, which includes Redford Township south of Five Mile Road, Democrat Kevin Kelley is endorsed.

In the 12th District of the state Senate, which includes Westland, Republican Jerry Stabley is endorsed.

In the 13th District of the U.S. Congress, which includes Canton and Plymouth townships, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City and the southeast quadrant of Livonia, the League likes Democrats David Geiss and Lynn Rivers.

MUSIC NOTES

CHRISTINA FUOCO

3rd Matinee: It feels right

Content with his family life, ex-Mr. Mister vocalist Richard Page was taking care of his baby when he got an unexpected phone call. Patrick Leonard, who has produced albums for Rod Stewart, Madonna and Roger Waters, asked if he'd be interested in collaborating with him.

"He just wanted to know what I was doing," Page said. "I said, 'I'm changing a diaper.' We got together the next Monday and wrote about 12 songs in two weeks, or some ridiculous amount of work.

"I thought I should be doing this, and I thought it felt right."

The result is "Meanwhile," the 11-song debut album from 3rd Matinee on Reprise Records. The album is much more adult-oriented than Mr. Mister. However, Page finds it difficult to categorize.

"It doesn't easily fit a format; you've got 11 different songs with 11 different sounds," said Page who serves as lead guitarist and vocalist. "There's an apparent eclectic quality to what we do, but that's because we're interested in more than one brand of music, one kind of sound."

Leonard's projects have spanned the spectrum of musical genres. He's had his hands on most of Madonna's recordings, including her current hit "I'll Remember," Rod Stewart's "Unplugged" album, and Roger Waters' "Amuse to Death." To him, working on his own project was no different than working with other artists.

"I produce, play keyboards and write songs and people call it different things, but to me it's all the same," said Leonard, who is 3rd Matinee's keyboardist and background vocalist.

He does feel that he has more freedom with his own projects.

"I guess the difference is I don't have some dominating force that's going to have the final say over everything," he said. "I started out making records with my own bands. I've always written music and made records and recorded my own stuff since I was a little kid. It's more comfortable for me to do it for myself."

Collaborating initially two years ago, Leonard felt immediately comfortable with Page. Their admiration is mutual. Page called him an "inspiration."

"It's nice to have compatibility; we're very close in what we believe we should be doing," the soft-spoken Leonard said. "We both have families and they're important to us. I consider it a gift almost to have someone who is complimentary and completes the vision and at the same time it's a person that you like."

If you have a question or a comment for Christina Fuoco, call her at (313) 953-2047, mailbox number 2130 on a touch-tone phone, or write her at The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150.

STREET SOUNDS

Picture This — Debbie Davies

No, there aren't a lot of well-known women blues players, so what. Debbie Davies doesn't think that should be an issue. She deserves your ears because she's one of the finest contemporary blues guitarists and singers out there. Period.

Having just released a criminally overdue debut for Blind Pig, "Picture This," some of the guitar goddess status that's held her in good stead in Southern California for the past decade should begin seeping into the groundwater of the blues and rock mainstream, if there's any justice.

Three years with Albert Collins certainly brought her some of that attention, but she was soaring all the competition back when she was lead burner for Maggie Mayall and the Cadillacs, and blew Mick Taylor off the stage and down the block back around 1985 or so.

The new CD, which will doubtlessly be featured for much of her shows, is a scorching mix of hearty originals (of which "24 Hour Fool" is the standout), classic cuts from Freddie King and Don Nix, one of the year's best in the form of her version of Delbert McClinton's "Better Off With the Blues" and a smattering of obscure gems — a more representative sampler plate of Debbie Davies you won't find.

Sponge soaks in a potential hit

■ The Detroit-based band Sponge will release their major label debut CD on Tuesday. Beginning next week, fans outside of Michigan will get to see what the buzz is all about.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Since last winter, rumors have been flying around Detroit about Sponge's record deal with Columbia/Chaos Records.

One popular story was that the much sought-after Detroit band decided to sign with Columbia only after they were promised an opening spot on the next Soul Asylum tour.

"That's really interesting. I've heard one or two different things," said vocalist Vinnie — no last name, just Vinnie.

His favorite story is that Columbia Records president and chairman Don Lenner knew all the lyrics to a song so that was reason enough for Sponge to join the company's roster which also includes Alice in Chains, Pink Floyd and Fishbone.

There is some truth to that one.

"He did know the lyrics."

The real story is rather uneventful. Sponge just thought they were getting a good deal. Part of the agreement is the Tuesday release of the 10-song CD "Rotting Pinata." Filled with dirge-like guitar and Vinnie's laid-back yet emotional vocals, "Rotting Pinata" was co-produced by the band and Tim Patalan of The Loft recording studio in Saline. Tim Palmer of Mother Love Bone, Pearl Jam and Tears for Fears fame mixed the record.

"This (the release of "Rotting Pinata"), of course, kicks a lot of other things into play."

Touring, interviews and more touring is part of the plan to continue the buzz about Sponge. It's not that they haven't been busy already. Two weeks ago they did a gig at the New Music Seminar in New York, ironically with Wig, an Ann Arbor-based alternative rock band which will release their major-label debut in early October. Sponge, which has received a fair amount of press abroad, also played the 89X Birthday Bash at the Phoenix Plaza Amphitheatre in late June with the Afghan Whigs, Beck and The Odds.

The real promotional campaign begins next week when Sponge kicks off a four-week tour of the south and southwest with Rust, Inch and Failure.

"After that, God only knows."

Uncertainty is a feeling with which Sponge is familiar. A majority of the band learned the in and out of the music industry as a part of the hard alternative rock band Loudhouse who was signed and subsequently dropped by Virgin Records. Putting that rocky relationship behind them, he and the rest of the group — guitarists Mike Cross and Joey Mazzola, bassist Tim Cross and drummer Jimmy Paluzzi — are ready to trust Columbia.

"I guess I have a better feeling just because of the support we've gotten. They've done a great job so I have a lot of faith."

Detroit seems to believe in

On the road:
Detroit-based alternative rock band Sponge — Jimmy Paluzzi (from right), Joey Mazzola, Vinnie, Mike Cross and Tim Cross — will tour in support of its Columbia/Chaos Records debut album "Rotting Pinata."

Sponge as well. The quintet has played only a handful of unannounced shows the past few months and garnered a considerable following. Vinnie said he won't be disappointed if the rest of the nation doesn't catch on to the band as quickly.

"We have plenty of time to get the name out. This is just the beginning."

Tour turns into 'Paid Vacation' for Marx

Making his Marx: Singer-songwriter Richard Marx will play Pine Knob Music Theatre Aug. 6 in support of his latest release, "Paid Vacation."

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Singer Richard Marx has learned during his summer tour that whatever you dread the most, turns out to be the most fun.

Before stepping out to promote his latest album "Paid Vacation" he rejected the idea of touring "about 10 times." He wasn't up to the grueling, marathon world tour that accompanied the release of his previous albums. Eventually, however, he gave in, feeling he had to do it out of necessity.

"I don't trust my record company to promote my record," said the Chicago resident. "I don't think that any record company is really going to put weight behind the project like I could."

Now that he's performing live, he has found it to be revitalizing.

"It's really fun; I don't know (if) it's because I didn't want to do this tour, but I've never had this much fun playing live," Marx said. "It's possible that it's because I know it's such a short tour and I can already see the light at the end of the tunnel."

At the end of this tunnel, Marx will return to where he feels the most comfortable — in the studio. For his follow-up to "Paid Vacation," he may bring his father, Dick, along with him again. Their recent collaboration was a number one for them. The single "Now and Forever," the theme from the film "The Getaway," features a string arrangement by the elder Marx. Dick Marx and a 60-piece orchestra joined Richard Marx on three dates this summer as well.

The million-selling artist is also planning on producing albums by other musicians — preferably up-and-coming singers.

"It's all unknown people. I like producing them because they don't carry any baggage with them. They're more willing to try things."

Among his subjects are an Italian girl who calls "one of the greatest singers I've ever heard in my life." He's also looking forward to producing a rhythm and blues singer.

"I can let all my R&B demons come out then."

Richard Marx performs at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6, at Pine Knob Music Theatre, I-75 and Sashabaw Road, Independence Township. Tickets are $24.50 pavilion, $12.50 lawn. For more information, call (810) 377-0100.

Information on limited engagements only should be submitted two weeks in advance to: Christina Fuoco, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150, or by fax at (313) 951-7279. To ensure publication, the venues' addresses and phone numbers with area codes must be included.

"Clear and Present Danger" plays off the frustration America experienced during the Iran-Contra Affair. Many of us suspected that then President Ronald Reagan knew more than he was letting on about arms sales to the Contras, but it was impossible to make that accusation stick.

A similar scenario fuels Tom Clancy's cleverly plotted thriller, which deals with American covert military action against a Colombian drug cartel. It's payback time for the President who has lost a close friend in what first appears to be a senseless murder at sea.

"What I'd like to propose I can't propose," says the President, well played by Donald Moffat. His thinly veiled suggestion leads an elite group of American soldiers south to secretly blow up the cartel's drug shipments and factories.

Harrison Ford returns as Jack Ryan, the CIA agent he played in the powerful "Patriot Games." This movie doesn't quite stack up, but it does have some of the same elements — Ford's likable performance, a complex plot and bravura action scenes by Australian director Phillip Noyce ("Dead Calm").

There's plenty of talk before our hearts get pounding on the narrow Colombian streets where an American minivan caravan is ambushed. Machine guns and rocket launchers make mincemeat of the vans, leaving Ryan and a few others running like rats in a maze.

It's the best part of a movie, especially in face of the climax, where Ryan routinely dukes it out in a coffee factory. The main villain here is set up as our hero's South American counterpart, but the connection could be stronger and their final showdown more inventive.

More interesting is the way the two sides in the war against drugs are portrayed. The cartel leaders discuss business while bowling and hitting baseballs. They throw gala birthday parties on luxurious estates with loads of family, friends, food and music.

Ryan barely gets to talk to his young son and daughter, except to counsel them on the proper use of a submarine water toy. His wife, a pillar of strength played rather boringly by Anne Archer, is wrapped up in her own work as a doctor who, by her own admission, makes more money than the president.

Could the screenwriters, including macho man John Mills, be making a statement about America's tiresome, tiresome role as world policeman or are they saying that Americans are just plain dull and materialistic? Or Ryan's first tragic trip to Bogata, all he and his colleagues can talk about is the water.

Ryan, after all, is far from a dynamic hero. Ford sleepwalks through the first half of the film, appropriate but not especially exciting to watch. After that climactic speed boat chase in "Patriot "Games," and now bearing the responsibilities of the dying CIA director (James Earl Jones), you can hardly blame him.

The always watchable Willem Dafoe plays the kind of guy we hoped Oliver North really was, but probably wasn't. He's a paramilitary expert who leads a group of soldiers into covert battle. When Washington pulls the plug on the mission, he knows it's up to him to get his boys out of the jungle.

Political scandal buffs will enjoy picking out the similarities to Iran-Contra, especially in the chain of command. It's no coincidence that the President hopes to heap much of the blame for the operation on James Earl Jones à la William Casey in the history books.

But don't mistake all the intelligence in "Clear and Present Danger" for a really great movie. As with the books of Clancy and his counterparts, it's still the kind of thriller best enjoyed on summer vacation.

Engler takes us down the Yellow Brick road to Oz

As the comet Shoemaker Levy 9 bombs Jupiter and flood waters devastate parts of Georgia, Michigan residents are being inundated with campaign literature for the Aug. 2 primary.

Not earth-shaking news, you say? No, not of the magnitude of the first two, which are natural disasters. But ignoring the Aug. 2 primary may create an epochal man-made disaster: four more years of partisan politics for every Michigan citizen.

Can we afford that?

As a lifelong citizen of Michigan, I'm concerned that our state is beginning to resemble the Land of Oz, as in the classic movie, "The Wizard of Oz."

One does not need to be within earshot of the state Capitol to hear the continuous bellowing — "I am the all-powerful Oz." Gov. John Engler keeps his Republican "munchkins" in line, and pulls all the strings from behind his curtain of authority, as he grabs more power from the people of Michigan.

The mean-spirited wizard recently yanked the authority to determine state ballot language from the Board of Canvassers, and bestowed it upon The State Administrative Board, which he controls and chairs. State Sen. John Kelly rightfully called the move, "A palace coup."

Never mind that it was we, the voters, in 1965, who removed such power from the State Board because it was so partisan. Never mind that the Constitutional Convention of 1963 set up the Board of Canvassers, so it would not be controlled by one party. But hey! That's history! In the land of the all-powerful Oz, it doesn't seem to matter.

Where is the outcry on behalf of the citizenry, who expect fairness from the state government? Will our senators and representatives take John Engler to task for his latest power move?

We've caught him with his hands in the cookie jar. In March, citizens approved a total package known as Proposal A to pay for Michigan schools. But the wizard keeps giving away million-dollar cookies to special interests, assuring their votes for his continuation on the throne. There will probably be enough cookies left for the school kids of Michigan this year, but will there be enough for the next year?

The governor and his wife hope to add three more munchkins to the Emerald Palace by the year's end. The exploits mentioned indicate that Daddy John had better clean up his act if he is going to be a fit role model for his own children. I say, let's give him the time to do this — a permanent leave of absence.

Still not convinced that it's important enough for you to go to the polls Aug. 2? Do you remember all the politicians who followed the yellow brick road to Lansing after the past election?

Many of them still have not acquired the qualities and characteristics that would have made them great statesmen and stateswomen, rather than mere party politicians.

I'm sure many of you will recognize Rep. Scarecrow from western Wayne County. He's still without a brain. He doesn't have a clue about the issues. Many of us tried to talk with him earlier this year about school issues, but he preferred to show us pictures of his family, and tell us how well qualified he is to do our jobs. How did the straw vote turn out? A politician trying to get "a head" — not a statesman.

And there's the rusty Tin Man, the senator from Clinton Township still squeaking by after all these years. The chink appeared in his armor during the last election when he switched from the Democratic to the Republican Party. The grazing must have been better on the other side of the fence.

Our Tin Man Senator still doesn't have a heart, either. On the issue of casino gambling in Detroit, he recently said, "If Detroit votes yes on gambling, why should we give it to another entity, like the Indians, when we can make money?"

Because the Indians already operate gaming casinos, our Tin Man appears to be a government bully who wants to take something else away from the Indians.

And finally, that Cowardly Lion (Lion) of a Senator. To his constituents he declared he would have to vote "no" on the issue of revoking collective bargaining rights.

But when it came down to the actual vote behind closed doors and in the dead of night, he chose to run with the rest of the rat pack. Remember, Cowardly Lion, it's a jungle out there! We think the public interest would best be served, if we send you back to your private reserve.

It is up to us, the voters to clean up the damage done by the twister of partisan politics, which has swept some of our elected officials off to Oz. Just as the comet bombarding Jupiter broke into fragments five times as hot as the sun, we need to send our own powerful shock waves to Lansing and turn up the heat. We need to elect individuals who will be independent thinkers and decision-makers, individuals who will garner our respect and confidence.

Vote Aug. 2.

LETTERS

A response

Dear Steve:

Your letter is somewhat surprising and just a little hurtful.

I'm thinking back over the past four years that we've known each other, and the numerous, numerous times we have met at various social and business functions, had lunch together, talked at the bookstore, or in the park. I'm thinking about the many times you've thanked me for my friendship to you, my dedication to the community, my involvement, my good work on the city commission. You've said all those things to me, Steve, to my face. You thanked me profusely for the letter of support which I wrote to you when you were fired from McNamara's staff two years ago. You said that you appreciated my concern and care.

You didn't object to having your picture taken with me when I came to help the National Honor Society students decorate the trees in Kellogg Park. You didn't object when the photographer said, "This will make a great campaign brochure picture!"

Steve, don't you remember that the picture of you first appeared in my campaign literature in February 1994? And don't you remember making a joke and laughing when we saw each other at the Schoolcraft College Dinner for the Women's Resource Center in March, and talked about the brochure? You didn't ask to remove the picture then. And when we saw each other at the Ann Arbor Road Development meeting for the Chamber of Commerce, you didn't ask me to remove the picture then. And when I attended the Eastern Michigan spring Football Kickoff in April, and you were there because you work there, you didn't ask me to remove the picture then. Nor, Steve, did you ever mention that photo or any other photo in my brochure during the months of May or June or July, when we saw each other personally at several public functions. And I'm sure you know that my brochure has been reprinted three times since February.

I'm saddened, Steve, that you had five months worth of opportunity to voice your concern to me personally, and you never did. Instead you chose to write a public letter one week before the election. Why is that, Steve? Was it because you were concerned with my ethics, or was it intended to be a political maneuver to help me lose the election?

I'm sorry you chose the option you did, when we could've discussed it personally, and resolved it. None of the photographs in my brochure are intended to do anything except show my involvement in the community, and my non-partisan ability to work with people from many diverse social, economic and political backgrounds. That's the kind of person you want for a judge, isn't it Steve?

It's westward ho! for a pioneer look

Call it Santa Fe style, American Country West, Cabin Chic, Rustic Lodge or just plain pioneer. The look is simple and direct, and yet it makes a strong, spirited statement. It's not surprising that today's generation has embraced the rugged handcraftsmanship of the Wild West. To escape from hectic lifestyles, it's often comforting to come home to the simplicity of good, basic design and the natural beauty of native materials.

The Santa Fe or authentic Southwest decor is a true mix of cultural traditions, including Native American, Mexican, Spanish and Scandinavian. The most intriguing aspect of this look is that you can personalize it to fit your own design tastes. A massive lodgepole pine bed is softened with Victorian lace linens, Adirondack chairs rest atop antique Navajo rugs, and vintage Beacon blankets upholster the seat of a Mission-style sofa.

Do it yourself

Susan Norton fell in love with log furniture on a trip out west. The former mechanical engineer scouted local sources for a log bed for her home, and encountered dead ends. So, after months of research, she decided to manufacture her own.

Today, Norton owns The Greater Indoors, 163 N. Woodward in Birmingham, a retailer of American Log Furniture Designs crafted of lodgepole pine. The wood is so named because Plains Indians used it to make tepee poles. Norton's manufacturing facility is located in Royal Oak and her designs include canopy beds, dressers, nightstands, desks, sofas, chairs and tables. The bed pictured is the Towne & Country ($3,295 for Queen size), whose posts are made of Michigan white cedar with a full root trunk. The company uses only naturally-killed pines, assuring an ecologically sound harvesting process and contributing to reforestation. A less expensive kit line is available and customers can choose from two different finishes.

Among the accessories in Norton's eclectic showroom are antler chandeliers ($1,312), Indian blankets (from $89), wooden lamps with parchment shades ($219), Pueblo drum tables, birch bark tables ($495) and Dale Tiffany Mission-line lamps ($355 for floor lamp.) Thousands of Pendleton wool fabric samples await your selection for upholstery needs.

Norton calls the lodge look, "timeless, homey, rustic" and guarantees her furniture will last generations.

Rodeo days

Robert Ray invites "best of the West" collectors to "decorate with American history." His storefront/gallery, Cowboy Trader, 725 S. Adams in Birmingham, offers vintage saddles ($650-$2,400) and boots, Navajo rugs ($300-$3,000), Western art, beaded moccasins and "cowboy kitsch" that includes a pair of 1935 brass bookends ($250).

Ray loves the warm, rich desert colors and the coziness of Western-inspired decor. He carries the premier design tote, "Cowboy High Style" by Elizabeth Clair Wood. In her book, Wood emphasizes the easy mix of cowboy with Victorians, contemporary steel and glass pieces, Arts & Crafts Furniture and Spanish Colonial. When you visit Cowboy Trader don't miss the storefront Indian who stands guard out front and the centerpiece parchment wigwam light fixture decorated with Indian symbols. It was rescued from the old Wigwam Restaurant on Woodward.

As you read this, I will have just returned from a trip to Colorado to visit friends who opened a bed and breakfast in Crested Butte. I'll share their Elk Mountain Lodge decorating style with you in a future column.

Northland Mall shoppers pardon its dust

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

Long talked about. Long on the drawing boards. Now under way.

Forty year-old Northland Mall in Southfield, the nation's first "planned shopping center," is renovating to open with a new look in time for the holiday shopping season in November.

Simultaneously, Hudson's is totally remodeling its Northland store also built in 1954. The Northland store serves as the company's Michigan headquarters.

And there's still more . . . a Montgomery Wards department store is under construction for a fall debut and a T.J. Maxx announced it's coming to Northland, too.

Financing for the mall's $9 million remodeling project, first proposed in 1992, became available Aug. 1 when Equitable Investment Management Co. bought out its partner, Shearson-Lehman at Northland. The mall will now be managed by Compass Retail Inc., a subsidiary of Equitable, with the present staff remaining in place.

The mall's last renovation came in 1970, but in the '90s where retail analysts urge frequent updates and revisions, the renovations are long over-due.

The renovations can also be seen as a commitment by retailers to bolster an older part of the city of Southfield. Hudson's remodeling plans end rumors that the Northland store would become a clearance center.

Kathie O'Malley has managed Northland for the past five years. She said Northland's marketing plan is to be a "value driven, but not discount," shopping center.

"Of course we're driven by the bottom line," she said. "But, we have a mix of national and local independent retailers who understand our market and offer fashion goods and value to sophisticated consumers."

The "new" Northland will have lower ceilings, lots more light, new flooring and smaller columns to see around. The walls will be painted in soft peaches, blues and creams with accents in teal and green marble, according to O'Malley.

The mall remains open during construction because most of the heavy work is done through the nights. O'Malley said The Pacers, the mall's active walking club, is feeling the impact of construction the most, finding their morning routes taped off or blocked by scaffolding.

"I guess I'm a little shaken by it all, too," O'Malley conceded. "Everyone knows I'm big on insisting that the mall always be clean, neat and tidy."

When it's all done, the mall's existing courtyard will be covered to become home to three new stores currently under lease negotiation. There will be a new restaurant in the food court and on the far end, a new en-

Concours and Somerset for that flapper feeling

According to French couturiers of the 1920s, the epitome of style is having your fashions match your automobile.

Pink Mercedes? Arrive in a pink suit and silk scarf. Silver Pierce Arrow? Step out in a black, sequined, strapless gown.

For the second year running, shops at the Somerset Collection will dress the models arriving at Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 7. The pairing is in the true tradition of the Concours events of the 1920s and '30s, when haute couture designers presented their latest collections along with the latest automobiles in the south of France where high society went "on holiday."

"Having fashions at the Concours makes the Michigan event unique in the world," said Amanda Turner, fashion director at the Somerset Collection in Troy. "The Concours in Paris and California do not include fashion. We have selected clothing that matches, both in style and color, five very classic automobiles including a vintage Jaguar and a 1940 maroon, Ford station wagon with pale wood paneling. The fashions come from Mondi, Vittadini, Joan & David, Rodier, Talbots, Saks, and Joan Vass, to name a few."

Sophisticated, is the attitude, Turner insisted.

A 40th Anniversary Party will be held in November, doubling as a fund-raiser for the Boys and Girls Clubs of Michigan. Commemorative Pewabic Pottery tiles by artist Marshall Fredericks featuring The Boy and The Bear, will be given out to guests.

Meanwhile, over at Hudson's, the venerable store is getting a facelift and departments are moving and expanding with the goal of making the store more convenient and user friendly to shoppers.

Because of the remodeling, Hudson's is moving its annual holiday storybook show's location from the Northland store's exhibit hall to Summit Place Mall in Waterford.

Hudson's at Summit Place is just about done with its own renovation, making this store similar in appearance to the Oakland Mall Store remodeled two years ago. Carol Dirwa of Warren has shopped at Northland since it opened. She had nothing but praise for the mall's plans.

"I'm just so glad Hudson's is staying and modernizing its store here," she said. "I don't know what I'd do if anything happened to my Hudson's. It's good to see they're not going to let this mall slide. It's got such a variety of stores and so many choices for shoppers."

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Give meat a rub down for best barbecue flavor

Ask my momma what she likes to make on a hot sultry summer evening for dinner, and her response would probably be like many who read this column - "reservations."

But leaving the kitchen to swelter on the deck in the backyard, especially with tall cold one in one hand and a pair of long handled tongs in the other near the grill, is my way of coping with the dog days of summer.

When the Janes Gang gets the urge to cook on the grill, chicken, fish, beef and freshly picked vegetables seems to be just what the doctor ordered. Since our summer budget always seems to be stretched a few days before payday, the chicken, fish and lesser cuts of beef usually end up marinating for a few hours in a delightful mixture of citrus juices, oil and fresh herbs.

Tonight was a little different. After a searing softball game in 90 degree heat and equal humidity, we ventured in to find the lowly chicken sitting unadorned and cold in the refrigerator. Thinking that reservations were in order, and realizing that tomorrow night and the two following would find us away from home, we decided to cool the chicken.

We just couldn't toss the chicken on the grill plain, yet nobody wanted to wait until the chicken finished its bath in marinade at 9 p.m. Instead, I followed the advice of Chris Schlesinger and John Willoughby, authors of the newly published "Big Flavors of the Hot Sun" (William Morrow & Co. copyright 1994, $27.50) and used a spice rub for a different taste treat.

Dry Rubs

Rubbing food with spice mixtures prior to cooking is a key technique in creating highly flavored foods. Schlesinger and Willoughby claim "when food that has been rubbed with a spice mixture is cooked, the dry rub creates a super-flavorful, slightly crunchy crust on the outside, while the interior retains its own distinct flavor."

Dry rubs have been around for decades and are very popular in the barbecue pits of the South. Before a beef brisket or a pork shoulder undergoes the long, slow roasting of the barbecue process, it is rubbed with a blend of spices that each pit master refers to as "mah special secret rub."

The authors claim that dry rubbing is a kind of marinating. Not only is dry rubbing faster but the tastes derived from using a dry rub are far more intense than a wet marinade which usually ends up muddled.

Wet marinating has a tendency to tenderize more than accentuate the flavor, especially when vinegars and high acid citric juices are used.

Dry rubbing, on the other hand, especially over the higher temperatures of a grill provides a spicy crust and a great flavor. "Big Flavors of the Hot Sun" is packed with hot recipes and cool tips from the spice zone.

Schlesinger and Willoughby suggest that when using a dry rub, begin with small handfuls (yes, your hands as no other tools work as well) and coat the entire surface of the food that you choose to cook. Using a bit of pressure to rub in the spices (that's why they call it a rub!) mix the spices into the flesh so they adhere. When cooking, don't be concerned when the spice rub begins to darken; this is what usually happens when spices cook. As long as the rub is not burning over direct flames, everything should be fine.

Cooking Tips

Schlesinger and Willoughby offer five ways to work smarter, not harder, when cooking. Their first suggestion is to "salt and pepper just about everything." Use kosher salt and fresh ground pepper, the two tastes most widely appreciated by just about everyone who eats.

Second, they recommend that the cook "purchase good ingredients." Your dry rub is going to be only as good tasting as the spices you rub on. If that jar of garlic powder has seen the light of the vernal equinox, reinvest in fresher spices. Most importantly, the authors suggest that everyone who cooks "learn how to check for doneness."

"How long should I cook?" is one of the toughest questions in cooking. The answer, of course, is "till it's done." Schlesinger and Willoughby also suggest that when you choose to cook, be prepared, organized and clean. The French call it "mis en place," and everyone, for health and safety sake, should oblige. Lastly, the cooks claim that their number one, numero uno, the biggy principle to cook by is: Relax and have fun. My sentiments exactly, boys. Buy the book, you'll love it.

Good Harbor Vineyard

MICHIGAN Wineries FULL OF PROMISE

BY RAY & ELEANOR HEALD

After the coldest growing season in 1992, and the second coldest growing season in 1993, followed by the severest winter in nearly two decades, we can still stay with pride, the Michigan wine industry has not only survived the vagaries of mother nature, it has made strides.

We talked with some of those vintners, who despite the weather, are full of hope.

Bruce Simpson of Good Harbor Vineyards in Lake Leelanau explained the last growing season by saying that the vintage of 1993 presented many of the same weather-related obstacles as did 1992. May and June were cool and damp. This caused a reduced fruit set in vineyards throughout Michigan. Yields were 30-40 percent lower than normal.

Just how cold did it get? The coldest temperature Simpson recorded in the Leelanau area vineyards was 10 degrees below zero. "Good Harbor is at the northern grape boundary, however many times it is more moderate in northern Michigan than inland areas of southern Michigan. We had about 200 inches of snow and my pruning crews, on snowshoes, bent over to reach the top two wires of a six-foot trellis."

Bruce Zabadal, an associate professor in the Department of Horticulture at Michigan State University, and Director of the Southwest Michigan Research Extension Center, said that around Jan. 19 temperatures ranged from 17 degrees below zero to 29 degrees below zero in southwest Michigan.

"There will be no vinifera crop in 1994 from southwest Michigan," he said. "In late spring, there were less than 5 percent live buds and at some sites only 1 percent. In northwest Michigan, about 25 percent of the buds survived. Wineries there will have a very small crop."

Is it worth battling mother nature in Michigan? "I'd say yes," said Larry Mawby of L. Mawby Vineyard in Suttons Bay. "If severe winters occur only once in every 15 years, it's an acceptable risk."

Mawby's been saying for several years that Michigan should focus on sparkling wine production from the classic Champagne grapes, chardonnay and pinot noir. These grape varieties

See WINE, 2B

Winemakers look toward the future

A non-vintage Brut sparkling wine made by a Solera process from L. Mawby is on the horizon. Our research doesn't indicate that anyone else in the world has tried this. If you know of one, call our voice mail, please.

"I think it's a neat idea," Larry Mawby said. "The sparkler will always be made from grapes originating in the same vineyard. This is a long-term project, and I'll probably release the first bottles in 1997."

Mawby's also thinking about the new millennium. For the year 2000, he'll release about 100 cases of a Prestige Sparkling Wine Cuvee. "I wanted a wine of the millennium; somewhere in between, I'll release the Solera Champagne," he said.

Pinot noir, planted four years ago at Chateau Chantal, is beginning to show promise.

Bruce Simpson, master of proprietary names at Good Harbor, will release a riesling, vinoys, chardonnay blend from the 1993 vintage, but at this writing, he had not decided on a name. Simpson is also planting pinot noir for a sparkling wine program.

Vis-a-Vis White and Red will carry lot numbers. Up to now and for the foreseeable future, the wine does not bear a vintage date, so the lot numbers will allow you to track the freshest wine.

Leelanau Cellars will not be for wine lovers only. Beer is on tap at the new Leelanau Brewing Co. The first brew will be named Aurora Beerealis, complete with a hologram label.

"In the first year, availability will be by-the-glass through the winery tasting room only," Skolnick said. "Later, we'll expand to sales in Traverse City restaurants."

etals are picked earlier for sparkling wine; they don't need as much ripeness. Lower sugar levels with higher acidities are needed for sparkling wine. It's cool in Michigan. In the years when it's cool in Michigan during the summer, the state can make world competitive sparkling wine.

This has been done. Mawby's Bienv de Village Brut ($30) is a knockout and not only holds a high position when tasted against domestic counterparts, it competes well in head-to-head competition with champagne.

"Grapes came in at reduced ripeness levels in both 1992 and 1993," said Simpson. "But tasted now, there is an abundance of fruit flavors. I truly believe that letting Michigan's grapes hang on the vine as long as possible results in extra flavors even at reduced ripeness levels."

A recent tasting of these wines makes us concur with Simpson on the flavor side of the issue. However, there's another question at hand with respect to riesling and its survival in a winter like 1993-94.

When grapes hang on the vine late into fall, vines have little time to "harden" and store carbohydrates to survive the winter. A quick cold snap with freezing temperatures within two to three weeks of harvest may not only cause bud mortality, but without snow cover may kill the vine.

Such an event occurred mid-October 1993, ten days earlier than normal. Because it was a cold growing season, there were entire crops still hanging.

Riesling took a big hit this past winter. Bud mortality was significant throughout Michigan. Creative pruning of the vines in spring are yielding a small crop overall. The vines don't look manicured this year, but it was a way to save a crop.

"Riesling needs a better site than chardonnay," said Chateau Chantal's winemaker Mark Johnson. "It needs a warmer location, higher on the hill to prevent frost and cold injury. Riesling did suffer more in summer 1993 than chardonnay."

Is the jury still out on vinifera in Michigan? "I think so," Mawby says. "However, pinot gris is still the one varietal for which I'd plant more. It's one of the few vinifera we can pick sufficiently early and make as a balanced dry wine every year."

Johnson balances this comment. "It's only a matter of time until it's recognized that Michigan can grow riesling better than California," he said. "If Michigan's wine industry is going to be recognized outside this state, it's with vinifera. If we're going to bang heads with California on chardonnay, we won't make it, but they can't take us lightly with riesling."

A tasting with Bill Skolnick, Leelanau Cellars winemaker indicated that cold-growing-season chardonnay on good sites makes good wine. We also retasted some wines from 1992 and found them to be better after a year in the bottle. Vis-a-vis White ($9) which is 50 percent chardonnay and 50 percent viognier is showing some exciting tropical fruit with a balanced, generous finish.

Chef Larry will show you how to give a really good rubdown

See Larry Jones' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

This variation is on the zaatar spice and nut mixture that is used in the Middle East for a variety of culinary purposes. Chris Schlesinger and John Willoughby, authors of "Big Flavors of the Hot Sun," (Copyright 1994, William Morrow, $27.50) have left out the sumac, a woody, earthy tasty spice that is quite difficult to find in the United States and have substituted fresh herbs. The way herbs interact with the nuts is simply amazing. The authors suggest you try it on chicken thighs. I had delightful results with cut up chicken and catfish.

PERSIAN STYLED NUT RUB

1/4 cup sesame seeds
1/4 cup ground pistachios
2 tablespoons ground almonds
1/4 cup finely chopped oregano
1 tablespoon ground allspice
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

In a medium size saute pan, roast the sesame seeds, pistachios and almonds separately over medium heat, shaking the pan frequently to prevent burning, 4 to 5 minutes each. When all the nuts are roasted, combine them with the remaining ingredients and using a coffee grinder, blender or food processor, process until fine, about the consistency of cornmeal. Makes about 1 cup of dry rub.

The authors suggest the following spice rub be grilled on duck legs, but the sesame oil, curry and basil was just screaming for a turkey breast I picked up on sale at the grocery store.

DUCK SPICE RUB

1 tablespoon sesame oil
1 teaspoon minced garlic
1 tablespoon minced ginger
1/2 cup curry powder
1 tablespoon minced fresh red or green chili pepper of your choice
2 tablespoons green pepper
corns
1/4 cup coconut milk
1/4 cup fresh basil
Salt to taste

Heat the sesame oil in a saucepan over medium heat until hot but not smoking. Add the garlic, ginger and curry powder and cook, stirring constantly for 1 minute. Add the chiles, peppercorns and coconut milk and bring to a boil. Reduce the heat to low and simmer for 30 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in basil. Spoon over cooked duck or turkey breast. Makes a little more than 1 1/4 cups.

Known at the East Coast Grill as their own special masala, this mixture is the base seasoning for many of the dishes the authors cook. It's particularly good on anything that flies or swims.

EAST COAST GRILL MASALA

1/4 cup ground cumin
1/2 cup curried powder
1/2 cup chili powder
2 tablespoons ground allspice
2 tablespoons cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons fresh ground black pepper
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon

Mix all ingredients together and use as desired. Covered and stored in a dark place, this rub will keep for 6 weeks. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

All recipes from "Big Flavors of the Hot Sun."

For beer and coffee lovers, Skolnick has plans for a Coffee Stout. French Roast coffee beans will be added to the barley mash imparting a strong coffee flavor to the brew.

St. Julian Winery in Paw Paw will have a new addition to its visitor center, 716 S. Kalamazoo St., Paw Paw, that will be opening in September.

For a modest price, visitors will be able to enjoy light fare, such as homemade pizza from the on-site bakery, with wine from the new wine bar equipped with a 12-bottle Cruenett to keep opened bottles fresh.

POLLA AL VINO BLANCO

2 (2½ pound) chickens, cut up
4 tablespoons olive oil
2 onions, chopped
1 cup St. Julian Village White wine
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1 tablespoon flour
3 tablespoons chopped olives
½ cup chicken stock
4 anchovy fillets, crushed
½ cup St. Julian Red Wine Vinegar
4 cloves garlic, crushed
3 tablespoons chopped parsley

2 tablespoons fresh basil, chopped

Sprinkle chicken with salt and pepper and dust with flour. Rub flour well into skin. Heat the oil in a heavy skillet and sauté the onions until tender. Add chicken and brown well all over. Add the St. Julian Village White wine and cook 5 minutes over high heat.

Dissolve the tomato paste in the broth and add to pan. Simmer for 45 minutes or until chicken is tender.

In a small pot, bring St. Julian Red Wine Vinegar to a boil. Add olives, garlic, anchovies, parsley and basil and simmer for 3-4 minutes. Pour sauce over chicken to serve.

BAKED TROUT WITH CREAM SAUCE

1 large (5 pound) trout, cut in half, and filleted

Butter

6 tablespoons finely chopped shallots

1½ cups Boskydel Vignoles, a dry white wine

Juice of 2 lemons

6 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Salt and pepper to taste
½ cups heavy cream
6 tablespoons finely grated bread crumbs

Generously butter a large, shallow baking dish. Arrange fillets in the dish, side by side. In a saucepan, combine shallots, wine and strained lemon juice and bring to a boil. Add parsley, salt and pepper; stir, then pour over fillets.

Place them in the oven at 375 degrees for approximately 40 minutes or until fish is done.

Bring cream just to boiling point, then pour over fillets. Sprinkle with bread crumbs, and return to oven only long enough for bread crumbs to brown slightly. Serve immediately along with Boskydel Vignoles. Serves 6.

Recipe from Boskydel Vineyards, Lake Leelanau.

VAN BUREN BROCCOLI SOUP

3 tablespoons chicken base

¼ cup parsley flakes

½ cup flour
½ cup St. Julian Cream Sherry

Add first seven ingredients and cook on low heat, stirring occasionally. Clean and cut broccoli. Boil for 12 minutes until tender. Add immediately to the mixture.

Increase heat to medium high. Simmer and stir. Melt butter, mix with flour to get a creamy mixture. Add to soup. Stir and allow to thicken. When thickened, add St. Julian Cream Sherry, and mix well.

Hilling vines helps ensure their survival over winter

BY ELEANOR AND RAY HEALD
SPECIAL WRITER

Always a willing spokesman for winegrowing in Michigan is Dave Braganini, president of St. Julian Wine Co., Michigan's largest winery. "On the vines, all buds below the snowline survived," he reported.

"When the 20 below zero temperature hit, there was on average 18 inches to two-feet of snow cover. Every vine on the 15 acres planted last year is fine. These new vines were all under the snow."

These plantings indicate that for the future St. Julian is hitching its success wagon to riesling, merlot, cabernet franc and char donnay.

Some growers in southwest Michigan are now considering hillling vinifera vines to ensure winter survival. This is a labor intensive and time-consuming effort. "It's expensive," Braganini said, but "losing an entire crop is even more costly. Some growers may take chances and not bury their vines. Such serious winter kill of vinifera varietals was never a serious threat before the past winter."

Bruce Zabadal reported that new equipment is being developed to make the task of hillling vines somewhat easier. He also said that none of the 3,200 vines planted in spring 1993 were lost. "These were principally merlot and cabernet franc," he said. "Newer plantings by Michigan State Horticulture Department of pinot noir, muscat otton nel and cabernet franc suffered only 10 percent bud mortality."

It was not just vinifera that suffered. "Hybrids are experiencing crown gall," Braganini told us. This is not uncommon after severe winters. At the site of the disease, trunk cambium layers under the bark split, and the vine is then subject to other diseases and loss of its vascular system.

Because St. Julian is so large in comparison to the state's other wineries, Braganini says he's not worried at this time. But he cautions consumers to not look for any big sales of Michigan wines in late summer and early fall. "Since we know it will be a short crop in 1994, wineries will be attempting to stretch their inventories," he said.

This may be hard to do if St. Julian, in particular, continues its growth spiral. May 1994 sales were up 38 percent over a year ago, and St. Julian's Detroit metro area distributor sold more St. Julian wine in the first six days of June than it did in all of June 1993. These wines are hot!

The St. Julian Village Wines have a new, attractive, upscale label. "I'm most pleased about our Village wines together with Great White and Simply Red," Braganini said. "I'm pleased to make such a good product so inexpensively. People are recognizing their value in the under $5 category."

U-pick update

Peach crop thin, but keep trying

Michigan's peach crop is forecast at 15 million pounds, 69 percent less than last year, according to the Michigan Agricultural Statistics Service. Last winter's freeze devastated the crop and damaged many trees. Approximately two-thirds of Michigan's growers will not have peaches this season. Berrien and Van Buren counties were hit the hardest.

Here's a U-pick update.

■ For freshly picked or U-pick cucumbers for pickling, call 459-4414 in Canton.

They're still picking blueberries at Hazen's Blueberry Farm on the north side of Wise Road between Carroll Lake and Bogie Lake roads, Commerce Township, (810) 363-4072.

■ Northville's Farm Market moved to Highland Lakes Shopping Center on W. Seven Mile.

It's open Thursdays 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

■ I've started receiving calls about pickles. If you have a good recipe to share, send it to me, and I'll print it in this column.

Veteran educator gets Thurston job

BY MARIE CHESTNEY

STAFF WRITER

James T. Finn, a 20-year veteran of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, has been appointed an assistant principal at Thurston High. The South Redford Board of Education named Finn to the post Monday.

Finn replaces Beverly Castleberry who retired in June. He joins an administrative staff headed by Marlene Kukuzke, principal, and James Urick, assistant principal.

Both Finn and Kukuzke are newcomers to Thurston. Kukuzke was named Thurston principal in May. The former principal of Fisher Elementary succeeds Stuart Schauder, who also retired in June.

In his 20 years with Plymouth-Canton schools, Finn has worked both in academics and in athletics. He recently served as both the instructional area coordinator for physical education and the district's assistant athletic director.

During his career he has taught physical education, mathematics and English, and the re-middle and high school levels.

"Mr. Finn brings a wealth of experience to this position and I believe he will do an outstanding job," said Superintendent Jan Jacobs. "He is a very student-centered person, and we will find him working tirelessly to prevent student problems from occurring in the first place."

At Plymouth-Canton, Finn on two occasions also served as interim middle school assistant principal.

He has been involved in district committees for curriculum, mathematics and English, and the reorganization of the middle school day.

He also served as a member of the student support services committee and has been a substance abuse trainee.

Besides serving as director of the Plymouth-Canton Camp Program, he also has coached basketball, volleyball and baseball.

He has a master's degree in physical education from Eastern Michigan University as well as a specialist degree in educational leadership from EMU. He also holds the necessary certification to be an assistant principal.

Local school district registering students

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district is now registering new students for the 1994-1995 school year.

Parents may also register new students at the Pupil Accounting Office in the E.J. McClendon Educational Center, 454 South Harvey, Plymouth. All new high school students must be registered through the Pupil Accounting Office.

To register, parents must bring the child's birth certificate, immunization record, proof of residency and social security number.

For more information, contact the Pupil Accounting Office at 416-4842 between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

When the folks at Midwest Carpet Broker decided to expand and include residential sales, they advertised in various publications, but soon discovered that "no other publication has offered this overwhelming response or this kind of return on our advertising investment."

They often ask their customers how they heard about Midwest and if the answer isn't "my mother, brother, aunt or friend" it's "I saw your ad in the Observer."

"Our Observer ads not only pay for themselves, they are helping us become a success story."

Let us help you write a success story, we're just a phone call away.

PLYMOUTH SPORTS SCENE

Singles tennis champs

Campions were crowned in seven divisions at the Canton Parks and Recreation Services Singles Tennis Tournament, held July 16-17 at Plymouth Canton HS.

Dave Verderbar won twice, collecting titles in the men's 20-29 division and in the men's 30-39 division. Verderbar defeated Bob Bresch 6-1, 4-6, 6-1 in 20-29; in 30-39, he beat Randy Whately 6-2, 6-4.

Whately rebounded from that loss to upset Theo Ulinfus 6-2, 6-4 in the final of the men's 40-49 division.

Other winners included Olive Ikeh in the girls 16-19 division, with a 6-1, 6-3 triumph over Aubri Sheremet in the final; U.K. Ikeh in the women's 20 and over division, with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Christine Donaldson in the final; Dan Gabrys in boys' 13-15, with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 win over Ben Gabrys; and Harry Lee in boy's 16-19, 6-1, 6-4 over Ted Patterson.

Award-winners

The awards were announced following at the Saginaw Valley State baseball season by coach Walt Head, and the Paluk brothers, from Plymouth, were among those reaping honors.

Brian Paluk, a Redford Catholic Central graduate, earned the freshman of the year award. A right-handed pitcher, Paluk led the Cardinals in earned run average at 1.26. He pitched 43 innings in nine appearances, posting a 4-2 record and striking out 27.

Older brother Jeff, a senior right-hander, collected his fourth varsity letter. Jeff had a 4-3 record with a 3.90 ERA, striking out 52 in 57% innings. He finishes seventh on the Cardinals' career ERA list at 4.90; he's also eighth in strikeouts (121), ninth in victories (12) and complete games (nine), and tenth in starts (25).

Jeff was drafted in the 29th round by the Los Angeles Dodgers; he's currently pitching with the Class A Yakima (Wash.) Bears.

Runner-up

Dolly Vettese came back strongly over the last nine holes, but couldn't quite catch second flight winner Shari Morningstar in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association weekly tournament Wednesday at Highland Hills in Highland.

Morningstar, from Royal Oak, jockeyed a 45 over the opening nine holes into a 96. Vettese, from Plymouth, opened with a 50 over the first nine holes, then closed with a 48 — totaling 98.

LCBL All-Star game

The Livonia Collegiate Baseball League will host an all-star game at 7 p.m. Wednesday at Livonia's Ford Field.

The game will feature the first-team all-stars against the second-team all-stars. This is a change in format from previous years when an LCBL all-star team met an all-star team from another league.

The LCBL all-stars have played the Lansing all-stars the last two years.

The LCBL coaches selected the first two teams by secret ballot.

A name noticeably absent from the game will be Delval third baseman Kelly Dransfeldt, a University of Michigan player, who joined the team midway through the season. Dransfeldt made an immediate impact, batting .396 (19-for-48) with a league-high six home runs and 22 RBI.

There will be a home run derby prior to the start of the all-star game and Dransfeldt is expected to participate.

Here are the members of the first team: Jeff Schaffer (Livonia Franklin), catcher, Walter's; Andrew Reynolds, pitcher/first base, Westland Federation; Mike Davis, second base, Westland; Robin Roberts, third base, Hines Park Lincoln Mercury; Dave Roman (Livonia Franklin), shortstop, Little Caesars; Jason McLaughlin, outfielder, Hines Park; Brian Burns, outfielder, Hines Park; Ben Hurst, outfielder, Wendy's; Ed Gundy Jr. (Plymouth Salem), designated hitter, Hines Park.

The first-team and second-team pitchers will be divided among the two teams.

The pitchers named to the first team are Tom Wakefield, Westland; Terry Hayden, Delval; Brian Paluk (Redford CC) and Craig Benedict (Plymouth Canton), Hines Park; and Eric Butler, Walter's. Additional pitchers include Gary Mroz, Delval; Mark Rutherford (Livonia Churchill), Garden City; Jesse Gerwatski (Franklin), Little Caesars; Josh Vagi, Caesars; Brandon Herrin, Wendy's.

The Garden City Collegiate saga ended Wednesday as the Parks & Recreation Commission upheld the LCBL's decision to ban the first-year team from the four-team playoffs, co-director Gary Gray said.

Garden City finished in second place with an 18-11-1 record but was ruled ineligible because of roster violations.

Anyone wishing to submit material for the Plymouth or Canton Sports Scene may send it to sports editor C.J. Rusk, 30051 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48160, or FAX it to (313) 651-7279.

Broncos just manage to finish unbeaten

HOCKEY

There was a lesson to be learned for the Broncos Thursday night.

Sure, they had cruised through the Metro Summer Hockey League's regular season without suffering a defeat, the only team to do so. And in their season finale against the Redskins at Plymouth Ice Arena, they seemed to have matters under control: A four-goal spurt had given them a 4-1 lead over the last-place Redskins with 7:34 remaining in the second period.

But this is get-ready-for-playoffs time. What's happened before doesn't much matter now, something the Broncos almost discovered the hard way. It took the Redskins less than 3½ minutes to knot it up, thanks to Jack McCoy — who then nearly won it for them.

After scoring twice and assisting on another, McCoy scored his third goal with 7:13 left in the game to put the Redskins up 5-4. It stayed that way until just seven seconds remained; that's when Ron Pietila slipped the tying goal past Redskin goalie Stephen Tratechau.

The 5-5 tie was the Broncos' second of the season, allowing them to finish with a 9-0-2 record. The Redskins "improved" to 1-8-1.

After Richard Rathman put the Redskins ahead 1-0 with the only goal of the first period, the Broncos took command — briefly — by scoring four times in less than seven minutes of the second. Eric Laho, Mark Pietila, Ron Pietila and Jim Pietila did the damage, giving them that seemingly safe lead.

Until McCoy took over. He and Chris Regner assisted on Paul Marzis' goal with 3:24 left, then McCoy scored 10 seconds later to make it a one-goal game, Regner assisting again.

McCoy tied it with his second goal (unassisted) with 1:52 left in the second period.

Very defensive

Cobras collect their 2nd crown in 3 years

The Canton Cobras gained their second championship in three years in the Incredibly Girls Fastpitch Softball League, this time by defeating the Northville Niners in Thursday's championship game.

BY C.J. RUSAK
STAFF WRITER

For the first time Thursday evening, Jim Arnold was caught unprepared.

Fortunately for his team — the Canton Cobras — it came after the game, and the championship in the Incredibly Girls Fastpitch Softball League, had been decided.

Arnold fell for the most overused sports trick of the past decade: He got dunked, drenched by his jubilant players who goaded him into posing with them for a team photo after they had stopped the Northville Niners 3-0 in the title game, played at Canton HS.

"I didn't think you'd fall for that," one of the Canton players' parents said to Arnold after the soaking.

It was about the only thing that didn't go according to Arnold's plan. Cobra pitcher Jackie Nicastri was nearly untouchable, tossing a two-hitter and striking out 10. She walked the first batter of the game, Melissa Petrosky, and she reached second base — which was as far as any Niner baserunner advanced.

And no others got a free pass, either; it was the only walk issued by Nicastri.

Benedict sparkles in Hines Park win

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The Livonia Collegiate Baseball League's regular season and defending champion Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury lived up to their top billing Friday at Ford Field.

Manager Dave Carroll's team opened the 1994 playoffs with a 6-3 victory over Little Caesars, as right-hander Craig Benedict threw a complete game.

Benedict, who prepped at Plymouth Canton High and was Madonna University's ace as a freshman this spring, withstood a shaky start to earn his fourth-straight LCBL victory.

Benedict gave up two runs in the first inning and one in the third, but settled down and held Caesars scoreless the rest of the way.

He threw 121 pitches, while scattering eight hits and three walks. Benedict fanned five.

"I didn't want to take Craig out early, the only way he was coming out was if he had given up a couple of more runs," Carroll said. "Once he got into a rhythm, there were a lot of groundouts and fly balls."

"He did a nice job."

Caesars, which out-hit Hines Park 8-5, couldn't capitalize with runners on base.

They scored twice in the opening inning on a double by Dave Roman, an RBI single by Chris Champanoan and an RBI single by Brian Theobald.

Hines Park got a run back in the second on a homer by Heath Fowler.

Caesars put another run on the board in the third to go ahead 3-1, but couldn't score off Benedict in the fourth with runners on second and third and no outs.

Trailing 3-1, Hines Park rallied for four runs in the fifth.

Jason McLenaghan, a smooth-fielding shortstop, clubbed a two-run triple. Matt Horvath added an RBI single to put Hines Park on top, 4-3.

Fowler and Horvath then pulled off a double steal to give Hines Park a two-run cushion.

McLenaghan's fielder's choice scored Charlie Winsel in the sixth to give Hines Park a three-run cushion.

Caesars reliever Jason Carter held Hines Park scoreless over the final three innings. But the damage had been done as starter Josh Vagi was charged with the loss.

To make matters worse, Caesars and Theobald, the starting left fielder, to a broken hand for the remainder of the double-elimination tournament.

Theobald was injured sliding into second base in the fifth inning.

Earlier in the week, center fielder Jason Sizemore broke his finger sliding into the third base bag.

Despite the injuries, Caesars veteran manager John Moraitis refused to alibi.

"It was a good ball game," Moraitis said. "We had our chances, but Hines Park played decent defense, especially McLenaghan. He took some hits away from us."

Roman, a Livonia Franklin High product who plays for the University of Detroit Mercy, doubled twice in a losing cause. Theobald also collected two hits.

Westland wins

Westland Federation broke a four-game losing streak against Delval on Friday, winning the first-round playoff game between the two teams 10-2 at Ford Field.

Westland, the second-seeded team, scored seven runs in the last two innings to break away from a 3-2 lead and win handily.

Westland ace Tom Wakefield ran his record to 8-3 with a complete game effort, striking out 10 and walking only two in nine innings.

Delval scored its first run on an RBI single by Terry Hayden, scoring Mike Pesci (Farmington Hills Harrison). Delval's other run came after singles by Dave Tykoski and Jeff

The end of summer means bargain days aren't too far away

Happy days are here again.

As the month of August arrives, we will soon see the return of the "Good Old Days," the annual BCA promotion in most of the local bowling centers offering bargain prices on bowling lineage and food.

All BCA members participate but each can use their own ideas for the "Good Old Days" promotion as long as it occurs in August.

The theme says it all, as the prices are rolled back to yesterday's and those who want to come in and try bowling for the first time have good incentive to do so.

For the regulars, it is a great time to bring the ball out of the closet, dust it off, and get ready for the coming season. Check with your local bowling center, as the dates of the promotion will vary from house to house.

Time is running out on the "Early Bird Special" for the Pro-Am event of the upcoming Greater Detroit Open pro bowlers tour at Taylor Lanes in October.

Early Bird entry forms are on the counter at the bowling centers, enter now and save money. Be assured of your preferred squad times. The $99 entry fee includes getting a new Brunswick Gold Rhino Pro Bowling ball, one of the reactive resin types which are the hot item on the market today.

If no forms are available call 946-9092 and they will send it to you. The Pro-Am is always a lot of fun, a chance to bowl with three different pro bowlers as partners to compete for cash prizes to $1,000 for each squad.

Early bird deadline is Aug. 13.

■ The NSBA (National Senior Bowling Association) has sent out its first newsletter along with a folder which specifies the membership and tournament rules.

This is among their age group. It is well organized and has had a successful first season of operation. The next tournament will be held on Sept. 10 at Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington Hills.

For information on the NSBA, call (810) 358-3740.

The July tournament was held at Merri Bowl Lanes.

■ The Michigan Masters Wheelchair Tournament will take place at Merri-Bowl in Livonia starting Friday, Aug. 19. Livonia's Bob Calderon is one of the favorites to bring home the winner's trophy. It is well worth the trip to come on down and watch these bowlers perform.

Ciale and a Wakefield balk.

Delval was without third baseman Kelly Dransfeldt, the league's home-run leader with six in only 49 at-bats. Dransfeldt missed the game because he was attending his sister's wedding.

Wakefield was helped defensively by third baseman Joe Vondracek, who made a fine play on a bunt to throw a man out and an over-the-shoulder catch in short right field by second baseman Mike Davis on a pop fly by Pesci in the eighth.

Delval starter Gary Mroz suffered the loss, leaving with two outs in the eighth and a 5-2 deficit. Pesci, the reliever, got the first batter he faced on strikes to end the eighth but Westland erupted again in the ninth.

Westland loaded the bases on a single, double and a walk and Lee Gardner drove in all three runs with a triple off the right-center field fence to highlight the ninth.

Ryan Peavey and Mark D'Antonio each finished 3-for-5 for Westland and Davis was 2-5.

"It was a hell of a game until we broke it open," Westland coach Joe Vondracek said. "Wakefield is the best pitcher in the league. This was a big win."

Cobras

The final play of the game summed up Northville's fortune. Jenny Frisbie singled with two out, the second hit of the game for the American Division champions (they finished 12-6) — and then she was caught off base as she rounded first.

"We've been playing good ball, we have some good athletes," said Arnold after the victory, which allowed the National Division champion Cobras to finish their Incredibly season with a 15-2 record. "We played quite a few ballgames this year, and we played in a couple of good tournaments."

What Arnold was looking for in the Cobras was something that would help his Canton high school players improve. He found it.

"The kids came together as a team," he said. "They built some character."

How the Cobras scored their runs proved that. The first was a gift, courtesy of the Niners. Jenny Sikora singled with one out in the second, Canton's first hit of the game.

The ball got past Northville rightfielder Courtney Bartel and Sikora raced around second, heading for third. When the relay throw got past Northville third baseman Mandy Sabo, Sikora trotted home with the game's initial run.

More sloppy defense resulted in a second Cobra score in the inning. Amanda Welton reached base when centerfielder Frisbie dropped her fly ball, allowing Welton to reach second. A wild pitch by Andrea Moretti — who pitched an otherwise strong game — moved Welton to third, and Amy LaGrow's groundout scored her.

Amy Price scored the final run for the Cobras, opening the fourth with a walk, stealing second, reaching third on an error by Petrosky and scoring on Welton's two-out single.

The Cobras managed just four hits off Moretti, with Sikora getting two of them. But they made just one error and only one Niner walked — two big reasons they claimed the championship.

Which wasn't really that important, according to Arnold. "The summer program is there to have fun," he said. "I'm not as hard on them in the summer as I am in the spring."

Of course, he wouldn't mind a few of those dunkings to end the high school season, either.

Hockey

On Tuesday, the Broncos won for the ninth time in 10 games and clinched first place in the Eagle Conference by stopping the Huskies 12-6 at Plymouth.

Leading the winners was Tom Larson with four goals and an assist, Mark Pietila with three goals and four assists, Peter Bourke with a goal and four assists, and Keith Pietila with two goals and two assists. Robert Krohl had a goal and two assists; Bob Kangas scored once, and Brad Cook and Jim Pietila each had two assists.

The Huskies got two goals and two assists from Chris Smith, a goal and two assists from both Joe Sellers (Plymouth/Ohio State) and James Wheaton, and single goals from Jason Schneider and Darren Catanzarite (Livonia Franklin).

Dave Roach and Jim Sexsmith split time in goal for the Broncos; Kris Kubalak was in the net for the Huskies.

■ WOLVERINES 4, REDSKINS 2: Scott Lock set up one third-period goal, then scored the clincher with 25 seconds left Thursday at Plymouth.

The Wolverines, now 7-3-1 and assured of second place in the Eagle Conference, led 1-0 after two periods. They were paced by Krikor Arman's two goals; Tony Guzzo also scored once. The Redskins got goals from Dwight Parrish and Eddie Switkowski.

Both Derek Billis and Thomas Best were outstanding in goal for the Wolverines; so was the Redskins' Stephen Tratechau.

■ BULLDOGS 16, LAKERS 6: The second period of Tuesday's game at Plymouth was just over seven minutes old, but the outcome was pretty well decided — the Bulldogs already had a 7-1 lead, thanks to two goals and two assists from Dustin Sventy.

Sventy finished with four goals and two assists, as the Dogs improved to 6-3-1. He had plenty of help: Jody Kaufman had three goals and four assists, Matt Greene had three goals and an assist, Edward Kruscha (Livonia Franklin) had two goals and four assists, Cory Almas had two goals and an assist, and Bobby Jones scored two goals.

The Lakers (3-5-2) got two goals and two assists from David Lambeth, two goals and an assist Cari Schumacher, a goal and two assists from Phil Saunders, two assists from Andrew Perry, and a goal from Chuck Vockler.

'Mike & Maty' prove to be a dynamic daytime duo

BY JOHN CROOK

"We're kind of like the 'Sleepless in Seattle' of talk show hosts," says Maty Monfort of her teaming with stand-up comic Michael Burger.

That's not entirely a flip comparison. TV critics around the country are hailing "Mike & Maty," airing daily on ABC, as one of the freshest and most appealing hours to hit daytime television in a long time.

"I think the show is different," Monfort says. "It's hip and younger and happier than most of the shows that are out there right now."

"TV Guide recently wrote that we were one of the three wholesomest hours left. I like that - wholesomeness, in the sense that we come on and we really just want people to have a good time with us, not to feel that we're the only ones having a good time."

The only downside: Her husband, Atlanta radio station operations manager Tony Novia, has to commute to Los Angeles on weekends to see her.

Born in Pinar del Rio, Cuba, Maria Matilde Monfort (her grandmother nicknamed her Maty) was only 18 months old when she and her parents fled the Communist country in 1967 and eventually settled in Miami. Years later, she took a job as host of a local music video show to help pay for her studies at the University of Miami.

Thus began an eight-year association with Univision, a Miami-based Spanish-language cable service that made her face familiar in 18 countries.

She became co-host of the variety show "Sabado Gigante" ("a really big Sabado," partner Burger translates helpfully), then served as host of "Hola America," a live daytime talk show.

Burger, a native of Long Beach, Calif., says he knew from the age of 12 that he wanted to be a talk show host and invested a lot of his schooltime toward that goal.

"Kids used to say to me in class, once they got to know me, 'How far can you get the teacher off the subject?' If I thought history was going a little slow..." he laughs. "It's so sad, I used to think of school as really a loose framework for what I did. I was really playing this kind of subliminal talk show host, working on my craft. You know, try to do a nice, tight 10 (minutes) before recess. I guess it's just something I've always wanted to do. I knew it in junior high school."

Burger managed to earn a communications degree from California State University between gigs and embarked on a successful unconventional career as a cruise ship comic and a warm-up act for TV sitcom tapings.

As the Undercover Comic, Burger attended corporate board seminars and retreats, where he was introduced as a newly hired CEO. He then would outline, poker-faced, radical business changes that would take the company in question into inevitable bankruptcy, to the thinly veiled panic and nervous laughter of his corporate "peers" who swallowed it all whole.

"This thing airs five days a week. There lies the rub," he acknowledges. "I loved my life prior to this. It used to be that my biggest decision when I got up in the morning was whether to watch 'Bewitched' or 'Donahue.' Now I really have somewhere to go and somebody to report to."

Burger, who was signed for the show first, helped audition 85 female co-host applicants.

"I sat down and tried to discover, in 15 minutes or less, whether I could spend every morning with this woman. I mean, I haven't been able to do that in my personal life," says the 37-year-old bachelor. "I didn't know how I was going to do it for TV. We were looking for that little spark."

The "M&M" executives later told Monfort that when she walked in, they said to themselves, "Oh, God, please let her be able to speak!" Exactly 47 minutes later, she had the job.

Despite the accolades, "M&M" has faced an uphill battle for ratings, since the show inherited a less than prime timeslot in many markets.

"And we're proud of that," says Burger drily. "The show actually is part of a government relocation program. Until we prove our innocence, we cannot air. (In Miami we're) on at 1:30 a.m. People are going, 'Should we watch 'Mike & Maty' or get ready to knock off a liquor store? Whaddya wanna do?' What kind of demographic is that? People watch this who are their own fathers. You need someone who's a little higher up the food chain dialing you in."

NFL's best QBs head south for charity

BY JEFF PLASS

The "NFL Quarterback Challenge" is no Mickey Mouse event.

Set at Walt Disney World Resort's Palm Golf Course in Orlando, Fla., the charity fund-raiser attracts some of football's best signal callers.

NBC airs Part 2 of the taped competition on Sunday, July 31, with football commentators Tom Hammond, Joe Gibbs and Paul Maguire calling the action.

Competitors include Drew Bledsoe (New England Patriots), Randall Cunningham (Philadelphia Eagles), John Elway (Denver Broncos), Boomer Esiason (New York Jets), Warren Moon (Minnesota Vikings), Brett Favre (Green Bay Packers), Rick Mirer (Seattle Seahawks), Neil O'Donnell (Pittsburgh Steelers) and Steve Young (San Francisco 49ers).

The players compete in four events designed to measure the various skills needed to be a top NFL quarterback.

accuracy, speed and mobility, distance and recognition.

"The event that was probably the easiest, I did the worst in," O'Donnell says, referring to the accuracy portion, in which players throw at a variety of moving and stationary targets. "Hitting the stationary targets is harder than you'd think."

"People adjust to the football," he adds. "When you have stationary targets, there's no such thing."

Shannon Tweed stars in the premiere of "Cold Sweat" on the USA Network, Thursday, Aug. 4.

A professional hit man (Ben Cross) mistakenly kills an innocent young woman and becomes involved in a maze of double-dealing and deceit.

The movie features a bizarre array of characters (including Lenore Zann as a ghost) drawn together by an odd twist of fate.

Tweed portrays a cold-hearted wife Adam Baldwin and Henry Czerny co-star as her lovers.

Catching up with 'Guiding Light'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Dear Candace: I watch "As the World Turns" and I was wondering who is the actress who plays Lily. She is my favorite character and I would like to know how to write to her.

I also watch "Guiding Light," but I have recently missed a lot of it. On one of the episodes they said that Alan-Michael's father was put in jail. Was that a way of writing him off the show?

Dear Reader: The talented Martha Byrne portrays Lily on "ATWT." You can write to her in care of As the World Turns, CBS, 51 West 52nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

On another note concerning Lily Many fans have written in to say how happy they are with the pairing of Lily and Damian (Paolo Seganti). One reader wrote, "I am so glad Lily is dumping wimpy Holden. I was so tired of him whining about a woman he could barely remember. Damian is so exciting, and I think he is a perfect match for Lily."

The role of Alan Spaulding on "GL" has been taken on by actor Ron Raines. The character was last played by Daniel Pilon (Max Dubujak, "Ryan's Hope"). Alan was sent to jail because he accidentally shot his son Phillip at Blake and Phillip's wedding. At the time, the character's departure was dictated by the story line.

Dear Candace: I can see why "The Young and the Restless" didn't win very many Emmys this year. The show has become totally disgusting. Jill (Jess Walton) can't control her libido, and now John (Jerry Douglas) is acting like some kind of sex maniac. All Victoria (Heather Tom) wanted to do was get Cole (J. Eddie Peck) into bed. Now her brother Nick (Joshua Morrow), is trying to do the same thing with someone else's girlfriend.

"Y&R" used to be my favorite show. It's time for the writers to get the show back on track. I'm tired of nothing but sex, sex, sex!" Loving Interest, Louisville, Ky.

Dear Reader: "Y&R" is definitely having one hot summer. But to its credit, except for Nick, all this lovemaking is happening between married couples.

Thiessen's number comes up '90210'; Rea to star in HBO's 'Citizen X'

Tiffani-Amber Thiessen has been picked from about 200 hopeful actresses who auditioned recently for a role on Fox's "Beverly Hills, 90210." Stephen Rea ("The Crying Game") will star as Russian police detective Viktor Burakov, whose job it was to crack the case.

According to a press release, Thiessen will play Valerie Malone, "the daughter of Jim and Cindy Walsh's best friends from Minnesota. On the surface, Valerie is beautiful, smart and complex – an innocent sweet athletic all-American girl."

Thiessen's acting credits include "Saved By the Bell: The College Years" and the film "Son in Law."

The former Soviet republics are yielding another harvest for HBO Pictures, makers of "Sakharov" and "Stalin." In September, another true-life drama, "Citizen X," begins production in European locations. Based on the book "The Killer Department" by Robert Cullen, the film will depict the story of the 1982 manhunt Stephen Rea ("The Crying Game") will star as Russian police detective Viktor Burakov, whose job it was to crack the case.

The National Association of Broadcasters reports an 81 percent increase in the amount of children's programming on TV stations nationwide since the institution of the Children's Television Act in 1991.

The average amount of weekly programming has increased from 2 hours for a serial killer who may have taken the lives of as many as 52 victims to 3 hours and 40 minutes, according to the NAB, and much of the added programming is locally produced.

The NAB is hoping to pre-empt any additional regulation by the Federal Communications Commission, which licenses stations and enforces programming standards.
