Vorva loses his re-election bid

State Rep. Jerry Vorva lost his re-election chances in the Republican primary to Gerry Law, a former state representative from Plymouth. Law will now face Democrat Carolyn Blanchard in the general election in November.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

State Rep. Jerry Vorva didn't take a pay raise, didn't take thousands of dollars provided for office costs, and voted to cut taxes.

But while Vorva was only in his first term in the Legislature, former state Rep. Gerry Law had plenty of name recognition, as he'd been elected to four terms.

On Tuesday, Law got a big boost toward returning to the House for a fifth term, as he beat Vorva by 253 votes, 5,203 to 4,950, by unofficial totals.

Democrat Carolyn Blanchard, unopposed in the primary, will face the Plymouth Township Republican in November.

Law was unavailable to comment on his victory. In November, he'll seek to recapture the House seat he resigned from in April 1991 to accept appointment as Plymouth Township supervisor.

Law did not seek to run in November 1992 to continue in the supervisor's job, and accepted a position with the state lottery commission. He left that post this year to campaign to return to the state House.

On his defeat, Vorva — a former Plymouth police officer and city commissioner — referred to some Law campaign mailings: "I'm disappointed the voters couldn't get past the negative advertising," Vorva said.

While observers maintained opposition from the state teachers' union could pose the biggest problem for Vorva, he attributed his de-

Judge hopefuls

Boak to run against Lowe in November race

That unwieldy field of 11 judge candidates has been trimmed to just two.

In the primary election Tuesday, Stephen Boak and Ron Lowe were top vote-getters in seeking to fill a vacancy on the 35th District Court bench.

That means Boak and Lowe will face off in November for a four-year term on the court, which serves Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

And in accepting victory, both candidates stated the themes of their campaigns this fall.

"It proves two things — hard work and experience pay off," said Boak. He said that in campaigning this fall, "I'll try to make sure the electorate knows what my experience is, and why it should be the determining factor."

"I'm very, very excited," said Lowe, Plymouth's city attorney. "This has been a dream of mine ever since I was clerking for (Judge) Dunbar Davis in high school."

"The people recognize that when it comes to experience within the 35th District Court, I've got more experience than any other candidate," Lowe said.

Boak got 2,977 votes to Lowe's 2,902, according to unofficial totals.

Finishing third with 2,299 votes — 603 behind Lowe — was Plymouth attorney Michael Gerou.

Assistant Wayne County prosecuting attorney Karen Woodside, who like Gerou organized an energetic group of supporters and put up plenty of campaign signs, finished fourth with 2,297 votes. Her support was strongest in Northville Township, where she got more than double the votes cast for Lowe, 917 to 420.

Plymouth City Commissioner Dennis Shrewsbury finished fifth, with 1,379 votes, and Edward Zelmanski Jr., the only Canton candidate, finished sixth with 1,030 votes — 757 from Canton.

Rounding out the field were Jacqueline George of Plymouth Township, 705 votes; Victoria Hariri of Northville, 603; Carol Levitte of Plymouth, 566; Maria Petito of Northville, 546; and Kevin Simowski of Plymouth, 415.

Gymnast of the Year has high hopes for her future

BY M.B. DILLON

A focused Shay Murphy gets a running start, leaps up and grabs a 5-foot high bar with chalked hands, gracefully hoisting herself into a standing position, her feet shoulders' width apart atop the uneven parallel bar.

She jumps forward and grasps the higher bar a few feet in front of her.

With strength belying her tiny frame, she hangs from her hands, propelling her ramrod-like body with practiced precision into a giant swing.

Murphy swings 180 degrees until she's perpendicular to the ground in a handstand. Deftly, she switches direction by re-positioning her hands, executing a pirouette before leaping off the bar, somersaulting in mid-air and dismounting with perfect balance.

This is the off-season for Murphy. But even so, it means four-hour workouts, five days a week, at gyms in Bloomfield Hills and Warren. It's that kind of discipline, coupled with considerable skill, that has escalated Murphy to enviable heights in her sport.

Four times, Murphy has qualified and competed in national meets. In 1993, she won both regional and state championships in Level 10 competition, the step just below elite, the level from which Olympic gymnasts are drawn.

After her 8 a.m.-to-noon workout in Bloomfield one recent rainy morning, Murphy spoke about her latest honor, the Michigan Gymnast of the Year title. She'll formally receive the award, bestowed by club coaches to a graduating senior, at a United States Gymnastics Federation dinner in September.

"I was surprised when I was told," said the 17-year-old Canton resident, munching on lunch — a bagel — and waiting for the rain to stop so that she could go to the beach with her Blake Acronaut teammates.

"I'm definitely very happy. It's exciting."

It takes prodding to get the humble Murphy to talk about her achievements. Gymnastics appeals to her "because of the challenges and the chance to meet lots of good friends. And I get to eat all the non-fat yogurt I want," added Murphy, who works at the Ice Cream Center in Canton.

St. John's Seminary dispute ends up in court

By Kevin Brown
Staff Writer

A developer's dispute with the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit over who will develop the former St. John's Seminary property in Plymouth Township has landed in the courts.

Developer Eric Lindquist had signed an agreement with the Archdiocese to buy and develop a senior housing complex on the property, which consists of 175 acres at the southeast corner of Sheldon and Five Mile roads.

But the Archdiocese scrapped the agreement, claiming terms were not met when the developer failed to provide certain information on schedule.

On March 17, Archbishop Adam Maida announced plans for a "world class, first of its kind center for families and young people at the former seminary site."

H. Rollin Allen, attorney for Lindquist, on July 15 appeared before Wayne County Circuit Judge William J. Giovan as the Archdiocese was seeking a restraining order to keep Lindquist from appearing before the township planning commission to seek approval of his plans.

The judge denied the Archdiocese motion.

On July 20, the township planning commission put off action requested by Archdiocese to grant approval for a Center for Youth and Family.

While action on the request was delayed, the delay was not due to Lindquist's claims on the property, said Shirley Barney, township director of community development.

The planning commission is asking to see detailed plans on the Archdiocese project, before considering the request, she said.

An Archdiocese spokesman has said the church has received much support from priests and church members over the planned project, and some parish youth groups have already asked to book retreats there.

After the church in 1992 voided an earlier signed agreement to sell the property to a Maryland firm, the matter ended up in court with the church prevailing.

Lindquist has proposed working with the church to develop the property together.

Resident reports theft of chairs

A 77-year-old Henniman Street resident told Plymouth police that sometime July 29-30, someone stole from his front porch seven new white plastic chairs valued at $35. There are no known suspects.

Harassment

A 29-year-old Plymouth woman told police that her ex-boyfriend has been harassing her with unwanted telephone calls. The 25-year-old Inkster man told the woman he would steal her car and break into her apartment.

The woman fears for her safety. Police advised the woman about stalking laws. They also learned there is an outstanding paternity warrant for the suspect's arrest.

'Way too much'

Shortly before 9 a.m. July 31, Plymouth police arrested a 35-year-old Elk Rapids man for drunken driving. An officer observed the motorist run a stop sign on northbound Main Street and drive toward Edward Hines Park.

When the man was pulled over in Hines Drive near Lantz Cleaners and asked for his license, he said, "Just arrest me."

Asked how much he had to drink, the man said, "Way too much."

He failed sobriety tests and his blood alcohol level was .27. He was processed, jailed and given a court date.

Unwelcome advances

A 65-year-old Sheldon Road resident told police that a 72-year-old acquaintance has been harassing her on the telephone. She told officers she's lapsed with the man several times as a friend.

He has made more out of the relationship than there is, she said. The woman said she went to the man's house Saturday to tell him she has a boyfriend, she thinks a lot of it and asked the man to stop calling.

He nonetheless called five times in 24 hours, once while an officer was present taking a complaint July 31.

The woman told him not to call or come over any more. The officer then took the phone and told him the same. He told the man to stop or a warrant would be issued for his arrest.

The man then told the officer the woman wasn't worth it and that he would not call again.

man came at the him and threw a punch.

The complainant blocked the punch with his left arm. He then punched the suspect in an attempt to defend himself. The Milford man then punched the complainant's truck, damaging the passenger door.

He later pushed the complainant and shut the truck door on his foot. Police said the Milford man's blood alcohol level was .13 percent. He was ticketed and given a court date of Aug. 22.

Teen escapes

A 15-year-old being transported from a youth detention center escaped his escort Monday at a Burger King restaurant, and is suspected of breaking into a house and stealing cash and jewelry, Plymouth Township police said.

The incident opened at 4:43 p.m. when the youth, of Hamtramck, fled the Burger King restaurant at 40880 Plymouth Road after his handcuffs and a belly chain were loosened, according to the police report.

The youth was being transported from Children's Village in Pontiac to Boyssville in Monroe County.

At 6 p.m. a woman who lives on Pinetree, just two blocks from the Burger King, reported someone had broken into her house, took cash left on a dresser, jewelry and clothes.

Witnesses reported seeing a youth matching the escapee's description nearby at Orangelawn and Haggerty, waving cash at passing drivers, apparently seeking a ride, the report said.

The youth was described as 5 feet 10 inches, blonde with blue eyes.

Intruder flees

Awakened by a noise at 2:37 a.m. Saturday, a woman saw an intruder standing at the foot of her bed. She screamed, and he fled.

According to the report filed with Plymouth Township police, the man who had broken into the trailer on Jackson Street was young and dressed in black. Police followed footprints north to a road where they lost the trail.

The intruder was described as 5 feet 5 inches and possibly blond.

Artists baffled by complaints over work

BY M.B. DILLON

Shadia Zayed, a 1994 Canton High School honors graduate and award-winning artist, was shocked and hurt to learn people have complained about the painting she and fellow art students did at Salem High School.

The mural — painted on half a dozen wooden plywood panels that formed a temporary wall erected by construction workers — was deemed "vulgar, obscene and Satanic" by parents at the high school for their toddlers' swim classes.

Monday, the wooden wall came down. Zayed said she was told it was ordered down by the superintendent's office. District spokesman Richard Egli said Superintendent Charles Little didn't order the wall taken down.

"It was a temporary location which was designed to show off some art work by the students. When the work outside reached a point where it could be taken down, it was," Egli said.

Zayed said the whole experience bothered her.

"We were told the wall was coming down because of the election, but that isn't true," she said.

"I was kind of sad (about the complaints). I put a lot of work into it, and I never thought anyone would be offended. The person called it Satanic; there was nothing I intended as Satanic. My themes are feminist," said Zayed, who plans to study fine arts at Eastern Michigan University this fall.

The flames in her painting symbolize violence in society and the destruction of inner cities, she said.

Zayed is a vegetarian, a theme also reflected in her work. A portion of her painting portrayed a meat-eater and read, "Nice juicy steak, anyone?"

When Zayed saw the mural Monday, she realized someone had defaced parts of it with spray paint.

The mural was assigned to Zayed's advanced placement art class by teacher Kris Darby. It was completed four months ago and the artists have received many compliments, said Hilda

Zayed, Shadia's mother

Amy Thomas, a 1994 Salem High School graduate, painted another of the panels. "I don't understand it," she said. "I don't think there is anything wrong with it."

Thomas, who will study photography at Washtenaw Community College in September, painted flower people, with flower heads and bodies. "I did it just as spontaneous art for art's sake."

"The only thing there was any controversy over was a fetus" painted by Jef Jenkins, she said. "But in the end, they said it could stay up because it was just a painting. I think he was saying abortion should be made legal."

Thomas said "people have a right to express their views. Other people may not like it. If they don't want to look at it, they can close their eyes. They don't have to agree with it either."

The parents who complained declined to be quoted by the Observer.

Thomas said it's a shame the children of the complaining parents are getting a negative impression of art.

"I think maybe they could have showed the kids it was art. They don't have to turn them off to art at such a young age."

Hilda Zayed is hurt and baffled by the incident as well. "I wish she (the unhappy mother) would have asked about this painting. We are Christian Orthodox. We are church-going people. We were born in Jerusalem where Jesus Christ was born."

Traffic island proposed for streetscape project

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

An island should be created in the middle of Main Street between Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman this fall, as part of the first work scheduled for the downtown streetscape improvement plan.

Also planned for fall is work between Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman on the curb and sidewalk on the east side of Main, along Kellogg Park.

City Manager Steve Walters told city commissioners on Monday at their regular meeting that this segment of streetscape work was selected because it would be readily seen by the public, to allow a good look at what the downtown streetscape improvement plan will involve.

"It would allow us to see the physical improvements on the site and allow fine-tuning if something is really a problem," Walters said.

The city downtown development authority is scheduled Aug. 10 to make final selection of various streetscape materials, including the type of benches, street lights and trees to be installed as part of the street-sidewalk renovation, DDA Director Steve Guile said.

On Aug. 15, the city commission is scheduled to review these design elements, for final approval.

Guile said these last elements of the streetscape design need to be decided, so bid specifications can be prepared by January or February in time for work starting again in March or April.

"With good weather we can get all of it done I'm hoping in the next construction season," Guile said.

Design elements planned this fall along Main Street are new curbs and sidewalks, brick pavers, new street trees, new street lights, and moving the clock to the island or boulevard planned for Main Street, at a point near Ann Arbor Trail.

Also planned are brick paver crosswalks across Main near Ann Arbor Trail, from Kellogg Park across Main to the sidewalk leading to the downtown parking structure, and from the park to the west side of Main at Penniman.

Also planned are curb extensions or "bump outs" at the east corners of Ann Arbor Trail and Main and Penniman and Main.

The $2.4 million project is to be paid from proceeds of a bond sale backed by property taxes the DDA collects in the downtown development district.

The city commission approved the project in June 1993, but put it on hold when the state Legislature began reconsidering the state property tax system which affected DDA revenue to be used to pay for the project.

When that process was resolved this year — the Legislature included state backing for planned DDA projects if DDAs had trouble meeting bond debt — the city commission last month approved seeking bonds on the project.

Construction bids should be taken at the end of Fall Festival next month, city officials said, so work can begin right after the festival.

Schools drafting policy on 'out of district' students

BY JILL HALPIN
STAFF WRITER

School officials are now drafting guidelines to deal with area students who live in the Plymouth-Canton Community School district but wish to attend school outside the district.

At the July 25 meeting of the school board, Superintendent Dr. Charles Little told board members of letters he had received from two students wishing to attend schools outside of the district.

"They are trying to exercise choice, and there are no guidelines for this," Little said.

Associate director for community relations Richard Egli said that the guidelines will set an important precedent for dealing with unique situations within the school district.

"We have a number of options ranging from not permitting anyone to leave the district to letting anyone who lives here go wherever they want. We need to be somewhere in between," Egli said.

Other than a general policy outlining the eligibility of residents and non-resident students to attend school in the district, there is currently no document dealing with students who wish to attend schools outside of the district while their parents maintain residence with district boundaries.

The guidelines will have financial ramifications. Following the December 1993 changes in school funding, that state now awards a per pupil amount to school districts. The current per pupil amount is approximately $5,400-$5,500, Egli said.

"If the student leaves the district, the money goes with them," he said. Egli said that officials are currently investigating the legalities of the situation.

Development of the guidelines poses a difficult decision for school officials. "On one hand, you want to help a student, but you are looking at financial aspects of the situation," Egli said.

Excavation work complete at dump site on Michigan Avenue

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Despite delays and the excavation of more waste than anticipated, the cleanup of the former 3M dumping site on Michigan Avenue is winding down.

"We are pleased this is coming to an end," said Bob Paschke, 3M environmental engineering manager. "It is our anticipation to completely wrap it up by this fall."

The final excavation of about 18,000 cubic yards of waste and contaminated soil July 19 marked the end of phase I of the cleanup at the 3.5-acre site, which was a former paint and adhesives dump behind Keller-Stein Florist along the south bank of the Lower Rouge, north of Michigan Avenue, east of Lilley.

Original estimates of the amount of excavation needed topped about 6,000 cubic yards of waste and contaminated soil. The waste has been transported to a hazardous landfill in Model City, N.Y.

The EPA and 3M negotiated a consent agreement for the cleanup of the site. Work on the site began in May 1993. Some 25-30 years ago, 3M employees dumped the company's paint and adhesive wastes in an old channel of the Rouge River. The EPA also found concrete and asphalt chunks, piping, rods and other construction debris.

Phase II is now under way, which includes studies to determine what effect the disposal of waste and contaminants has had on ground water, soils, the Rouge River and sediments in the river, said Ralph Dollhopf, EPA on-scene coordinator.

"Then it's a matter of waiting to get the results back," Paschke said.

Results of the studies are expected back by the end of October-early November. At that time, it will be determined whether any more work must be done to the site. "It is our sense that all the actual waste has been removed," Dollhopf said. "A phase III is not contemplated. But any work would move in a more relaxed mode."

The EPA will review 3M's report and determine whether to sign off on the cleanup. "We will determine whether we all agree that things were done as they were supposed to be done in the administrative order," Dollhopf said.

Clean fill dirt has already been backfilled in areas that were excavated. Air monitoring devices in place during excavation have been removed, as have sheet piling along the riverbank.

"The bank restoration is complete. We used rock to prevent erosion," Paschke said.

Officials at 3M will work with the state Department of Natural Resources to close the site. "We'll have to start to look at the DNR cleanup standards," Paschke said. "We are pleased this is all coming to an end."

Though Paschke said he could not say how much the cleanup cost 3M, he admitted that delays in the cleanup — expected to be completed in late 1993 — and the excavation of more waste and contaminated soil than expected — cost more than anticipated.

Work at the site was stopped in January because crews of Roy Weston Inc., which was hired to clean up the site, encountered not only cold weather but a deep frost line, slippery conditions and a lot of snow. Work resumed in March. EPA officials said they had expected the clean up to be much further along.

Paschke said 3M officials will be on hand at a September gathering of nearby residents to answer questions about the site and cleanup. "I hope by then we will have preliminary reports back on phase II," he added.

feat "probably more to Right to Life."

To defeat Vorva, the anti-abortion group had sent mailings urging voters to reject Vorva, who is pro-choice.

"I only missed four days work, I had a good voting record, I wouldn't change one vote," Vorva said. "I'm glad about what I was able to do for this district and the state of Michigan." Vorva said he would complete law school and open a practice in Plymouth.

Turnout for the primary was slightly higher than local clerks predicted, but still light compared to general elections. In Plymouth Township, 5,664 votes were cast as 32.3 percent of registered voters voted.

In the city, 6,975 people voted, or 32.9 percent of those registered to vote.

Among those voting at the Plymouth Cultural Center at 7:30 p.m. was Jim Arsenault of Plymouth. "I'd rather not say," said Arsenault, on who he voted for. "I go for the Christian candidates." Voting just before the polls

Patterson to face Warfield in November

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Incontested Republican Bruce Patterson outstripped his Democratic opponents in the race for Wayne County Commission 11th District. He will square off with Democratic top vote getter Ken Warfield of Wayne in November.

"I am delighted," Patterson said, referring to his vote totals throughout the 11th District.

Warfield took Democratic opponent Len Straub of Huron Township out of the running for the seat now held by Democrat Bryan Amann who is not seeking re-election.

"I'm not taking anything for granted," said Warfield, the mayor and former fire chief for the city of Wayne. I want to thank everyone who voted. I want to thank them for their confidence.

In unofficial results, Patterson took the lead with 5,627 votes. Warfield received a total 5,320 compared to Straub's 4,556.

"This is the start of a wave," said Straub, who despite his loss was happy with the support he garnered as a political newcomer.

The next county commissioner for District 11 will have to answer the issues. He's only in office for two years.

Each candidate took his own community in Tuesday's primary race. The 11th District includes Canton, Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren townships, and the cities of Belleville, Wayne and Romulus.

Patterson was particularly happy with his results in Canton where he received 3,061 votes compared to 1,524 for Warfield and 1,115 for Straub. Warfield was no less happy with results in his hometown of Wayne where he received 1,409, compared to 663 for Patterson and 362 for Straub.

"That is fantastic when your community gives you the support," Warfield said.

As vote totals rolled in Tuesday night, Patterson said he planned to work just as hard regardless of which Democratic candidate he would face in November.

"Based on the response I got this evening at the polls, I'm optimistic," said Patterson, an attorney and the director of planned giving in Eastern Michigan University's Development Office.

Straub, owner of Architectural Design, an architectural engineer ing, design and building company, said he thought he would beat Warfield at the polls. "Wayne County Chief Executive Ed McNamara's office promised it wouldn't back up either Democratic candidate until after the primary. When I started with issues, Warfield had the McNamara machine behind him."

"McNamara needed a clone, a puppet or one or the other," said Straub, who ran a low budget, grass roots campaign.

Warfield, who supported McNamara, denied Straub's allegations. "There will be times when I will agree with McNamara's proposals and other times when I won't," Warfield said, adding that no one pulls his strings.

Mel Foster, her coach, says his protegee is "naturally talented. She's got flexibility, upper and lower body strength, and no fear." She competed as an elite gymnast for two years, he added.

Murphy graduated in June from Canton High School but didn't compete for the Chiefs. "I don't know how to put it without sounding conceited, but Shay is at much too high a level to have competed in school," Foster said.

Murphy received scholarship offers from dozens of universities, including numerous Michigan schools, Penn State, Oregon, Kentucky, Nebraska and Alabama. She'll attend the latter this fall.

"One of my teammates went there and came back and told me how great it was. I went there for a few meets. I liked the girls and I loved the coaches," said Murphy, a gymnast since the age of 4.

In addition to her abilities, Murphy's Gymnast of the Year award recognizes her reputation in the community and relationships with fellow gymnasts. Despite her age, Murphy already has a well-rounded resume. She's worked as a physical therapy aide at the University of Michigan Hospital and at Ann Arbor's MedSport. She's coached young gymnasts and is an avid skier and reader.

What's ahead? Possibly a career in medicine. "I liked working at MedSport," she said. "I helped younger kids and football and baseball players with sports-related injuries. I got to do ultrasound and electro-stimulation. It was cool getting to do that stuff."

The real love of her life is Kayla, her 1-year-old niece. "She's awesome," says Murphy.

New area code won't affect cost of calls - Ameritech

Southeastern Michigan's new 810 area code becomes "official" Wednesday, Aug. 10. Beginning that day (8/10):

- Callers from outside 810 must dial 1 plus 810 before entering the seven-digit phone number.
- Callers in the 810 area code to the redrawn 313 area code must also include the correct area code: 1 plus 313 plus telephone number.

"It's important for our customers to remember that the cost of calls is not affected by the area code change," said Dean Hovey, area code manager. "What was a local call before Aug. 10 will remain a local call — even if that call now requires you to dial the area code."

If you forget to use the 810 area code when dialing, you will hear a recorded message reminding you of the area code change, Hovey said. Customers in area code 810 who forget to use 313 when dialing that area code will simply be reminded to "include the area code" when placing their calls.

Telephones in Oakland, Macomb, Genesee, Lapeer, St. Clair and Sanilac counties are in the new 810 area code. Small sections of Saginaw, Shiawassee and Livingston counties also are part of the 810 area.

The redrawn 313 area code includes Wayne, Washtenaw and Monroe counties, as well as small sections of Jackson and Lenawee counties.

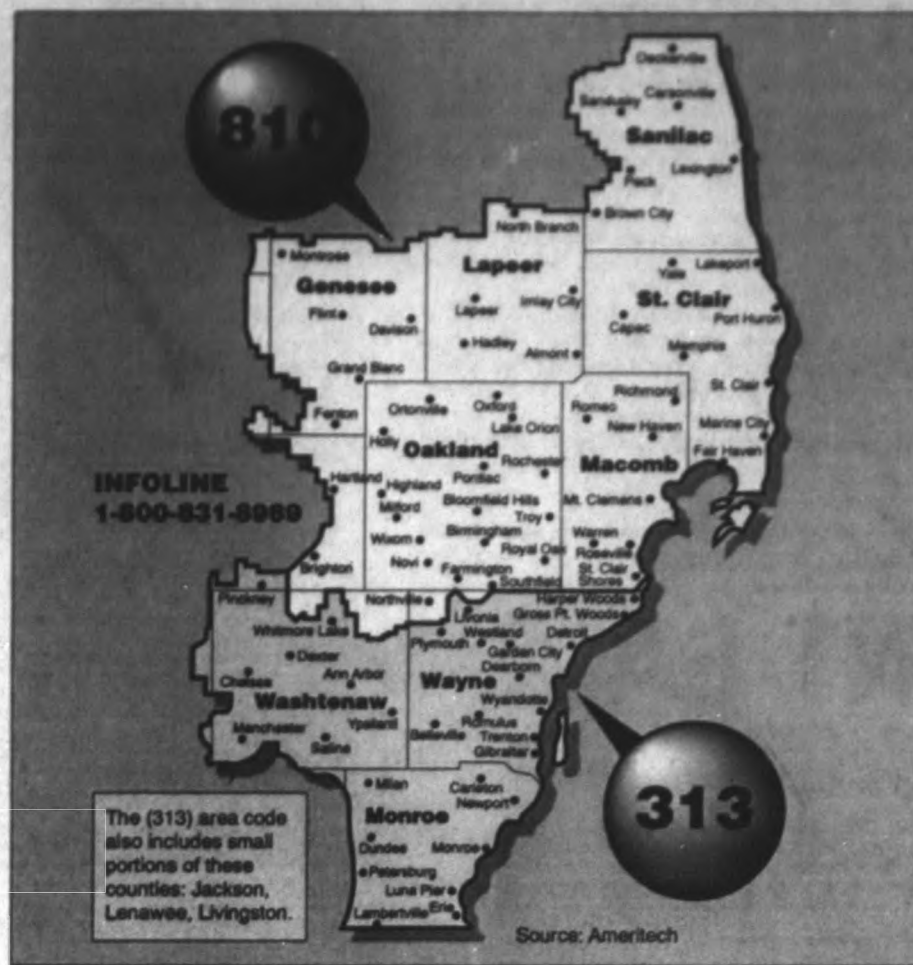

The new 810 area code is needed because the area is running out of telephone numbers, the telephone company said, because of growing numbers of personal pagers, fax machines, computer modems and cellular phones.

More than three million new telephone numbers will be created by the 810 area code, enough to last for the next 15 to 20 years. Ameritech introduced the new area code in December. Since then, people have been able to dial either 810 or 313 to complete calls to the new 810 area.

A survey conducted in May by the telephone company by Consumer Market Analysts of Troy revealed that about nine out of 10 home and business customers were aware of the new area code. More than 40 percent of residential customers had been using the code when placing calls.

Among businesses, 59 percent were using the new area code when making calls, and half were using it when placing advertisements or reprinting stationery and business cards.

"We were pleased to see so many customers already using the new area code this spring," said Hovey. "Obviously, most people won't be caught by surprise on Aug. 10, and they'll be ready to use 810. Ameritech has 12 million customers, primarily in the Midwestern United States."

Area code: Southeastern Michigan's new 810 area code becomes "official" Wednesday, Aug. 10. The new 810 area code is needed because the area is running out of telephone numbers, the telephone company said, because of growing numbers of personal pagers, fax machines, computer modems and cellular phones.

Redford resident takes on McNamara

In the Republican primary election Tuesday for Wayne County executive, Redford Township resident Paul McMaster has won chance to challenge incumbent Democrat Edward McNamara in November.

McMaster was the top vote-getter with 21,187 ballots cast in his favor.

Coming in second was Helen Gotowka of Dearborn Heights with 16,360 votes.

Livonia resident Lawrence Schweiger placed third with 14,589 votes.

McMaster, 26, is general manager of Redford Villa Condominiums and past president of the Redford Township Republicans.

He is also a member of the Redford Township Zoning Board of Appeals and a graduate of Catholic Central High School.

In 1992 he ran for township trustee and lost.

He has been attending Redford Township Board of Trustees meetings regularly for some time.

McMaster could not be reached for comment by press time.

Schweiger, 70, is a retiree from Ford Motor Co. and has long been active in Livonia politics.

Celebrating: Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara (center) enjoys a laugh with parks director Hurley Coleman (at left) and longtime friend Ed Hock at his election night party. McNamara, 67, beat Detroit city councilman Clyde Cleveland in the Democratic primary for county executive by a vote of 133,818 to 88,381. McNamara had a campaign chest of more than $1 million, while Cleveland spent about $30,000. McNamara is the former mayor of Livonia (1970-86), former Livonia councilman (1962-70) and still lives in that city. He has been county executive since 1987. Since that time McNamara has presided over the expansion of Metro Airport, the construction of a new jail and a new morgue.

Ford donation

The Salvation Army Plymouth Corps received a $5,000 donation from Ford Motor Co. Climate Control, which will go to a $600,000 drive to expand the facility, which serves Plymouth and Canton.

The check was presented to the Salvation Army by Marck Schultz at the Ford Climate Control building at 14425 Sheldon Rd. in Plymouth.

"We want the community to know that Ford is more than a motor company, but a friend to the community as well," said John Huneke, chairman of Community Relations.

For more information about the Salvation Army Drive, call 453-5464.

Water restrictions

Watering restrictions imposed by the city of Detroit Water and Sewerage Department have ended.

The Plymouth Township Water and Sewer Dept. asks residents with any questions to call 453-8131.

Pay raises

The city of Plymouth's 17 non-union employees got a 2.5 percent pay raise for the 1994-95 fiscal year, by action of city commissioners on Monday.

The pay raise was equal to the inflation rate and in keeping with raises for unionized city employees this fiscal year, City Manager Steve Walters said.

Some non-union employees will be eligible for merit raises by the plan approved by the commission. The commission had budgeted for 3 percent for pay raises in this fiscal year's budget.

Car wash

The Vietnam Veterans of America will conduct a car wash 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 14, at the Lighthouse Carwash in Canton on Ford Road one quarter mile west of I-275.

The money raised will go toward the group's general fund. The car wash's owner, Mike Neubauer, has agreed to forego the day's receipts and donate the use of the car wash to the Plymouth-Canton Vietnam Veterans of America.

Stained glass: The new L.J. Griffin Funeral Home on Ford Road features a chapel with a 22-foot peak with stained glass. The chapel, which fronts Ford Road, seats 150-170 people.

Family-owned: The Griffin family - (from left) son Larry, mother Geraldine, father Lawrence, and son David - will operate the new L.J. Griffin Funeral Home in Canton and their facility in Westland.

This funeral home's a family affair

Members of the L.J. Griffin family have opened a funeral home in Canton. They'll continue to operate their funeral home in Westland as well.

After 3 1/2 years of planning, the L.J. Griffin Funeral Home in Canton is open.

"We want to be the place where Canton residents can come. We are family-owned," said David Griffin, whose family also operates a long-standing funeral home in Westland. "The family will work between both places."

Accompanied by Canton Chamber of Commerce officials and Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, the Griffin family - founders Lawrence and Geraldine, and sons Larry and David - officially opened the facility on Ford Road, west of Lilley, with the traditional red ribbon ceremony July 28.

The 17,000-square-foot facility features a formal chapel with a 22-foot peak. The chapel, which seats 150-170 people, will be used for those without a church affiliation. It isn't designed to draw families away from their churches, said David Griffin, who will manage the Canton funeral home.

The funeral home boasts a brick exterior with the chapel's stained glass facing Ford Road. Its interior will include three large viewing rooms, lounge, offices, restrooms and the chapel. The body preparation room and casket showroom and storage will be in the basement.

"It's residential in style. We believe the building fits the neighborhood and surrounding buildings.

The traditional funeral homes are colonial. They're generally dark. We wanted something light," Griffin said. The funeral home also will be back-lit at night.

Each member of the Griffin family is a licensed funeral director, including Geraldine. Greeters - generally senior adults or high school students - greet people at the funeral home.

The funeral home is open to serve families of all religious and ethnic backgrounds. As a member of Hospice Services in Western Wayne County, Griffin also is able to direct families who may have special needs, including grief counselors.

Lawrence Griffin opened his first funeral home in 1954 at Plymouth and Southfield roads. As people migrated westward, he opened their current funeral home on Middlebelt in Westland in 1972. Canton was the next natural step for the funeral home to expand, David Griffin said.

Unlike the Westland facility and the former Detroit funeral home, the Griffin family did not build residential living space at the Canton funeral home. Griffin lives in the area, however.

"We want to be the Canton-Plymouth funeral home," Griffin added.

Ribbon cutting: The Griffin family was joined by Canton Chamber of Commerce officials and Township Supervisor Tom Yack at the official red ribbon ceremony.

Madonna offers degree program for doctors, dentists

The daily operations of private practice and quality health care service often place increased demands upon physicians and dentists to know more than just how to diagnose and treat patients. "Medical professionals need to understand, control and manage their practice," said Charles Stahl, accounting and finance chairman and professor, Madonna University School of Business.

This specific business knowledge can be acquired through Madonna University's Medical and Dental Practice Executive Fellows Program, which will begin in September.

The only one of its kind in the United States to focus exclusively on private practice leadership, the program is conducted over a 20-month period. Participants will earn 30 semester hours in credits and upon completion will receive a master of science in business administration (MSBA) degree.

"Our first class to graduate from this program this past May consisted of 22 medical professionals," Stahl said. "This was a 100 percent retention and graduation rate. Based on the comments we received from assessment questionnaires, the participants were especially pleased with the applicability of the course content to their office practice."

Dr. Babu Paidipaty, director of Special Care Units and Respiratory Therapy at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia and a graduate of the first Executive Fellows Program, said that the course is an excellent one for any physician or dentist and better prepares them for changing health care in America.

"This is a comprehensive course on practice management. Medical schools, dental schools and residency programs do not touch on anything about management skills, leadership training, interpersonal relationships and patient satisfaction," said Paidipaty.

With a focus on the entrepreneurial aspect of private practice, seminars cover a wide range of business-related areas including economics and U.S. health care policies, computer applications, accounting and taxation, the legal and risk aspects of business, and the ethics of managing the practice.

Golfers raise money for Y child care

Golfers raised an estimated $10,000 last week to support the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA's child-care program.

A record 100 golfers took part in the eighth-annual benefit at Feltons Creek Golf Course in Canton Township. The number of participants represents a 22 percent increase over last year.

For the past three benefits, the event has been named in memory of Michael Sonk, a former Y board of directors member who contributed substantial time in the renovation of the child-care center, on Wayne Road south of Cherry Hill.

Money from the annual benefit provides program and equipment supplies as well as meals and day care for children with low-income parents.

Prize winners for the day included: best score, (nine under par) team consisting of Larry Lane, Bob Fritz, Mike Yellen and Pat Zurich; best dressed man, Forest Thomason; best dressed woman, Shirley Ritter; longest drives, Mike McDonald, Greg Taylor, Pam Shaw and Charlotte Mahoney, and closest to the pin, Charlotte Mahoney.

'Putting' up: Golfers taking part in the annual benefit for the YMCA child care program are Glenn Anderson, Bill McCliment, Dan Fredendall and Scott Veldhuis.

Library expansion Overcrowding fault of schools

Libraries in Plymouth and Canton are crowded while the Plymouth-Canton school district with its $85 million budget closes its library at Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools early in the afternoon, forcing students to move to the public libraries to do their homework.

It's an absurd situation that never should have been allowed to develop and taxpayers once again will be asked to bail out an inept bureaucracy.

The Plymouth District Library Board is expected to put a half mill property tax question on the November ballot, with the nearly $7 million going for the expansion of its building on Main Street in Plymouth.

It's also expected that the Plymouth Library will ask for a half mill for operating expenses.

There is a need for improved library services in Plymouth. However, before either the Plymouth or Canton library systems ask for more public money, the schools and library systems should sit down, talk and work out a plan to use the current facilities in the most efficient manner.

Because the library systems and the taxpayer have failed to work together, the taxpayer is expected to pay twice for the same service. They're asked to pay school taxes for school libraries that are closed when the kids need them and again to expand a building to house the same children later in the day.

This is especially important because the schools are in the process of spending $12 million from a bond issue on installing high-tech equipment in schools that in many cases delivers the same information as a library.

The problem at the high schools is classic bureaucratic bungling on the part of the schools. The libraries close when school is out because of staffing. School officials have blamed union contracts.

It would be much cheaper to pay for additional library help at the high schools than to build a $7 million addition to the Plymouth Library. And that doesn't take into account the waste of gas used to drive from the high schools to the libraries in Canton and Plymouth after school.

We're sure that the Plymouth Library Board is sincere in its wish to improve library services, and we're convinced those services should be beefed up.

However, until the schools and libraries start working together to develop a plan to serve the Plymouth and Canton communities in an efficient manner, we're skeptical of expansion plans.

Heroism

Who are the heroes? The recent notoriety of a famous sports hero prompted me to clarify the idea of heroism in American life. There are many types of heroes we admire. There are many sports heroes. National heroes. War heroes. But it is the sports heroes who are most popular. They are the ones who get the most fame, the big money, and the adoration of millions. Why?

We have a real fascination and passion for sports. A sporting event represents life in all its twists and turns, ups and downs, overcoming obstacles, and handling various situations. There is a winner and a loser. We hail the winner and discuss all week long what had happened or what should have happened or could have happened to affect the outcome.

The key phrase is that sports represents life. Life is not confined to four 15-minute quarters. There are an unlimited number of players in the Life Game. You play every game, are involved in every play, and the game lasts a lifetime. The heroes of this game will not be found on the cover of Sports Illustrated. They will not be honored for their autographs. Most likely, they will not be rich or famous or admired by millions.

So who are these heroes? What do they do? What do they look like? Where do they live? To answer those questions you have to know that a hero is any person admired for his/her qualities or achievements and regarded as an ideal or model.

Maybe it is the single parent who finally got her college degree so she can support her kids on her own, get off ADC, contribute more to the community, and gained her self-respect.

Maybe it is the kid who worked his tail off to get straight C's on his report card. Maybe it is the egghead who finally got a base hit in last night's game. Maybe it is the introvert who gave a speech in front of his peers. Maybe it is the father who works two jobs or 12 hours a day to support his family. Maybe it is parents who both work but still make sure they are cheering for their kids at the game, or the band concert, or the dance recital. Maybe it is the person who finally got off drugs and put their life back together. Maybe it is the volunteer who helps with Little League, or visits a nursing home, or tutors a student, plays a game with their little brother, or a multitude of other activities.

Could it be that there are hundreds, thousands, even millions of these Life Heroes? What do they look like? Where do they live? They come in all shapes and sizes, colors, races and creeds. Chances are that you see them every day. They are the ones who never give up, who overcome everyday obstacles, and face life with a positive attitude. If you are looking for a hero to emulate, look for the Life Heroes. They are everywhere!

Church opposition

Will government ever listen to its constituents? I doubt it. It is the same story at every level of government, from federal right down to the township level. The citizens tell officials what they desire and the officials proceed with their own or special interest group agendas.

I am referring to the Plymouth Township Planning Commission's actions regarding the Temple Baptist Church proposal of a colossal entertainment complex at Ridge and North Territorial Roads. Citizen opposition has grown steadily as knowledge of the complex has increased. Taxpayer frustration increases while the commission agrees to vote on the issue then tables the issue. They tell us, the residents, that we are rude and to "Shut Up".

Citizens are sadly mistaken if they think government will change or listen to the taxpayers. Even at government's lowest level, the township, we are heard and our wishes and desires are completely disregarded. Their responses to us are: Pay your taxes and keep your mouth shut because we appointed officials and bureaucrats will make the decisions for you.

A success

Recently, the Educational Excellence Foundation (EEF) sponsored a golf outing at Fellows Creek Golf Club as a fund-raiser and honoring retired superintendent of schools, J.M. Hoben. This was the first attempt by EEF to raise funds from a golf outing. It was a huge success, providing over $5,000 for projects that will assist in the education of children in the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

Many, many people were involved - organizers, contributors and participants, including even some real golfers. I would like to thank them all publicly. Thanks too, to the local press for helping to make the event a success. Each of you touched EEF and the young people in the community through this golf outing.

A repeat performance already has been scheduled for next year.

'Real' growth bypasses region

Despite the encouraging population increases, suburban Wayne County has little cause to celebrate.

Usually, population increases are a sign of prosperity and social health. According to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, our regional planning agency, population rose 70,000 or 1.5 percent in the seven-county area in the 3 years following the 1990 census.

As a whole, Wayne County lost 21,527 people. The three inner cities of Detroit, Hamtramck and Highland Park lost a total of 22,648. So the Wayne suburbs gained 121. That's an insignificant increase.

More people are moving out of the region than moving in. What gave us a net population increase was a high birth rate.

Southeast Michigan as a whole doesn't look good compared to the nation as a whole and neighboring states. That 1.5 percent growth rate still "remains below the U.S. (3.7 percent) and those of nearby states such as Ohio (2.2) and Indiana (3.0)," said SEMCOG.

The political fallout will be that our county and region can expect to lose more seats in Congress and the Michigan Legislature if the trend continues.

Much of suburban Wayne's "growth" still is the shuffling of people. For example:

Detroit lost 21,166, is barely above one million and probably will sink below 1 million by mid-decade.

Older suburbs - Livonia, Redford Township, Garden City and the city of Plymouth come to mind - had population losses. Only outer suburbs like Plymouth Township and Northville appeared to gain.

In general, areas seeing the biggest population growth were west of Haggerty Road and north of Oakland County's 20 Mile Road line. Biggest percentage gainer among counties was Livingston - up 8.5 percent to 125,000.

That will mean more demands for public water and sewerage service. It will mean more demands to convert two-lane black-topped county roads into four-lane concrete roads with left-turn lanes and traffic signals. Meanwhile, the people causing this need for new infrastructure will chant, "No new taxes."

Much of the "growth" will be nouveau riche folks moving to lakefronts in northern Oakland and Livingston counties. They will complain that their lakes are "crowded" and want to restrict access, both to the general public and to back-lot owners. They will want manicured lawns, and the fertilizer runoff will accelerate weed growth in the lakes.

The developments reinforce our views that:

1. Detroit's decline costs everyone money. Fortunately, Detroit has a mayor in Dennis Archer who is willing to bury the political hatchet. Suburbanites need to match Archer's attitude.

2. Public transportation is still a dire necessity. Archer and suburban county executives seem willing to put together a single public transit system that was unwisely never developed in the 1970s and '80s.

3. "Urban sprawl" - eating up 40 percent more land for 6 percent more population - continues to be a clear and present danger to our tax bills, our older residents, our existing infrastructure and our greenfields.

SEMCOG, the Wayne County road agency, the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department and Michigan Department of Transportation will need to examine very, very critically all development plans. There isn't true growth. And we're going to need the taxes for school computers, more police, better prisons and improved parks.

Boating tragedy buoys need for lake regulations

The Lake St. Clair boating tragedy moved me. I didn't know the victim, but I often have traveled across the spot off Metro Beach where he died last week at the age of 28.

The victim was in an unlighted, 19-foot boat at 2:30 a.m. Another boater in a 25-foot craft was traveling so fast that he went right across the darkened boat, leaving his prop marks on the victim's body and sending his craft to the bottom.

At this writing, the Macomb Sheriff's Department still is investigating, so I won't second-guess anyone on blame. But it does underscore the point I made a few weeks ago: Our lakes aren't really "crowded" because crowding is a function of (a) the number of boats and (b) their speed.

I suggested state-mandated speed limits because local governments lack the guts to do the job.

First to call was Dr. John Richardson, the former Farmington mayor, my dog's veterinarian and a lakefront property owner in northern Oakland County. His solution was boater training.

Richardson is 100 percent right. You need to pass a test to get behind the wheel of an automobile, taxicab, bus or truck. A kid needs training to handle a shotgun in the field. Well, one should pass tests on handling a boat, boating laws and courtesy.

An Orchard Lake resident suggested that fees for using state-owned public access sites should be set to "discourage high-powered, loud boats and encourage low-powered, hand-powered and sail-powered watercraft."

Currently, a boater using a public access site pays a flat fee per visit or for the season. The reader suggests hand- and sail-powered craft be admitted free, those with one to 10 hp pay $5 a day, and 10 or more hp pay $20 a day.

The concept is sound. It would be expensive to administer because every launch would have to be staffed all the time.

TIM RICHARD

Currently, a boater using a public access site pays a flat fee per visit or for the season. The reader suggests hand- and sail-powered craft be admitted free, those with one to 10 hp pay $5 a day, and 10 or more hp pay $20 a day.

Phil Ginotti, an old Northville Record colleague now on the state Senate staff, takes the side of riparian owners. He says lakefront owners bear the cost burden for ecosystem improvements to inland lakes, but the state declines to share the cost, even where there is a public launch site.

Suppose, Ginotti says, "a homeowner lives next to I-75. I-75 develops a major pothole right behind his back yard. The homeowner is billed for that pothole." An analogous situation is occurring on lakes.

"At Long Lake in Commerce Township, a public lake, lakefront property owners will pay up to $3,000 each this year to raise the level of the lake and keep it viable for boating. When it became apparent several years ago that steps needed to be taken to raise the lake's level, property owners commissioned a study and divided the cost of an $800,000 pump and well," Ginotti writes.

Ginotti blames transient boaters moving from lake to lake for introducing zebra mussels and Eurasian milfoil into previously virgin inland waters.

The visionary answer is to manage lakes not on the basis of waterfront ownership but through "basin-oriented care" — having all residents of a region draining into a lake control non-point pollution, septic tank and field maintenance, lawn fertilization and domestic animal droppings. It's an intelligent idea.

Ginotti fails, however, to convince me township governments lack the resources to support the speed limits they have failed to enact. The truth is that grass-roots government will spare no expense to banish "outsiders" but turn a blind eye to the sins of local voters.

The state still needs to enact inland lake speed limits and usage times.

Mentally ill face stigma along with illness

A stigma serves only to quarantine the mentally ill from the rest of society. It brands any person seeking professional services with a mark of shame. Bred from ignorance, fear, and guilt, the stigma of mental illness isolates and punishes those in need of help. It creates for consumers a sense of impotency against achieving normalcy, of being acceptable within society.

Some individuals are fortunate in that they have family and friends who know about their mental disabilities and are supportive, understanding and accepting of them. Others, of course, are not so fortunate. They constantly dread that an employer, landlord, neighbor, lover, or acquaintance will discover their secret. They fear the "stigma" associated with a psychiatric label because a part of the general public continues to adhere to false assumptions which associate mental disorders with incompetence, dangerous action and hopelessness.

The general public will not alter these attitudes until we all stop reinforcing them. People who have mental disorders need to be thought of as people first whose goals, desires and opinions count. They need to be thought of as capable of recovering and able to successfully manage their lives. They are worthwhile individuals who have so much to offer each and every one of us.

They continue to contribute to society as lawyers, bankers, business managers, social workers, and in all other types of occupations. You might not be able to identify them because they fear your rejection if you do discover they have a psychiatric history. Pervasive discrimination and stigmas continue to undermine the health and hopes of people with mental disorders.

Can you imagine living with the constant fear that people won't accept you because you have a disability over which you have no control? Wondering constantly if people will fear you because they think individuals receiving psychiatric help are dangerous and violent? Working at menial jobs because your employer doesn't think you are capable of anything more responsible?

These things happening constantly would be extremely stressful to a person, as well as doing tremendous damage to their self-confidence and self-esteem.

Optimistically, we can prevail over our ignorance and prejudice in regards to people who have been psychiatrically labeled. A start is with the voices of people courageous enough to tell their personal stories about their diagnosis, hospitalizations, experiences in the treatment systems, and most importantly, the difficulties encountered in recovering because of negative attitudes and discrimination.

Mental illness is different from physical illness in the one fundamental aspect that it tends to disturb and repel others rather than evoke their sympathy and desire to help. This is because of the stigma based on fear, prejudice and ignorance.

Do your part to eradicate these vicious, disabling attitudes in our society and don't perpetuate the myths associated with mental disability. It is best said by Joanne Verbanic, founder of Schizophrenics Anonymous Self-Help Support Group (started in Michigan), "the stigma is harder to deal with than the illness itself."

Help make life easier for people with mental disorders, don't make it more difficult than it already is. If you would like more information regarding mental illness contact, your local Mental Health Association in Michigan.

Ads not only negative part of unfocused primary race

I've seen a lot of elections in my time, and I cannot remember one that was so close in so many statewide races with so many voters still undecided at the very last moment.

No campaign really "took off," unless you count Ronna Romney's shrill talk-show style and family name ID.

The reasons why say a lot about the confused and unsatisfying state of our politics today. Obviously, the fields were very crowded.

Eight candidates running for nomination to the U.S. Senate (six Democrats and two Republicans) and four Democrats vying for the dubious privilege of running against incumbent Gov. John Engler produced big-time clutter in the minds of the voters, not to mention the TV screens.

Moreover, with most of the races very tight, most candidates savagely "went negative" with their TV advertising in the last week. Whether it was Spencer Abraham accusing Romney of flip-flopping on abortion or Lana Pollack accusing Bob Carr of being the insider candidate of the Washington elite, negative is nasty.

The only problem is: Negative works. So the dominant impression left in the minds of most voters is that there is something bad about virtually every candidate. And thus the growing sense of the plague on both your houses and, consequently, low voter turnout.

There are two more subtle and important reasons underlying the dynamics of this particular election.

First, the timing.

August is a terrible time to have a primary election. Those voters who are not blissfully on vacation or focused on getting ready to get away are coping with the heat and humidity and certainly not in any condition to concentrate on what the candidates are trying to say.

Leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties have a lot of explaining to do about why they tolerate this silent conspiracy to hold Michigan's primary elections at this weird time. (Most states have their primary elections in June (when people are around) or September (when they're back). We should, too.

Second, the media.

"Miserable" is the only way I can describe the coverage given to the statewide races in the big city papers and TV.

When the media wasn't trivializing the substantive differences between candidates by speculating about who was ahead and who was behind in the polls or in fund-raising (the "politics as horse race" syndrome), the main focus of attention was snide reviews of the various TV ads. Then, adding insult to injury, the columnists complained that the races were "boring" and the candidates not compelling enough.

PHILIP POWER

August is a terrible time to have a primary election.

From the media's perspective, there were just too many different candidates, or not enough reporters available to cover the races thoroughly, or not enough news hole in the papers or air time on TV.

No doubt this is all true. But the fact remains that in this election the media coverage failed to focus on the serious substantive differences between the candidates' positions on the issues of the day and on the subtle but very important differences between them in character and experience.

The net result was that undecided voters represented the largest electoral block right up to the day before the election. And last-minute negative TV advertising swayed those few undecided who held their nose and actually came out to vote.

Certainly we can — must! — do better than this.

Tigers win league title

The Tigers are champions of the 13-year-old Prep Division in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League.

The Tigers, who won eight of their last nine games, defeated the Reds 12-11 in extra innings in the championship game.

The Tigers roster consists of Zack Bornemeier, Matt Bush, Matt Carpenter, Nick Costa, David Fiedor, Chris Ford, Bryan Kulczyki, Mike Mayer, Nat Nelson, Damon Pietraz, Brian Sommariva and Mike Watta.

The coaches are Mike Watta, Ken Nelson and Bob Ford.

All-Stars 3rd in state

The Plymouth Canton Babe Ruth All-Stars finished third in the 15-year-old state tournament.

The All-Stars defeated Port Huron 9-1 and Grosse Pointe 6-3 but lost to Alpena 3-2 when the tournament host team rallied in the bottom of the seventh from a 2-1 deficit. St. Joseph eliminated Plymouth-Canton with a 5-2 loss. The All-Stars turned four double plays in the Grosse Pointe game.

The All-Stars advanced to the state tournament with 13-3 and 8-4 wins over Clinton Township. Nick Hurley and John Kaczmarek won two games; Jason Pennebaker saved two and Brian Kolb one.

The offense was led by Pennebaker with seven hits and three RBI, Jason Bricker, five hits and six RBI; Brian Confer, five hits and one RBI; Chris Rogers, four hits and three RBI; Mike Elsner, four hits and four RBI; and Hurley, four hits.

Nathan Laramie, the center fielder and leadoff batter, had a double, two RBI and two fine defensive plays against Clinton Township but missed the rest of the tournament with a pulled hamstring.

The roster also includes Pat Marsec, Brian Baker, Ray Horton, Keith Balcom, J.R. Griffin and Tom Dementsenare. The team is managed by Gary Coleman, and the assistant coaches are Jim Horton and Bob Woods.

West shuts out East All-Stars

Grid game: Rob Shepley (20) played defensive line.

It was a one-sided outcome Saturday in Lansing as the East All-Stars, made up of seven Observerland players, fell to the West in the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association classic, 20-0.

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

The sun set in the West at the 14th annual Michigan High School Football Coaches Association All-Star game played Saturday at Lansing Sexton.

The East squad, featuring seven players from Observerland, came up short in a 20-0 loss to the West squad, which was made up primarily of players outside the metro Detroit area.

The series is now tied at 7-7.

"It was tough and we made a lot of mistakes," said Livonia Stevenson wide receiver Brad Morgan, who plans to walk on at North Carolina State. "We kept our defense on the field the whole game and we put them in a bad position."

Morgan finished with two catches for 20 yards.

Four East turnovers and a ball control attack by the West made it a lopsided affair.

The West had a total of 193 yards to the East's 156.

"All week in practice we went against a passing offense, and then we come up against a ground attack," said Redford Catholic Central's Doug Brzezinski, a 6-foot-5, 270-pound defensive tackle headed for Boston College. "It kind of threw us off, but after the first half we made some adjustments and played a lot better football on the defensive side."

The damage, however, had been done in the opening half as the West built a 17-0 lead.

Micah Morris of Bay City Central scored the game's first touchdown early in the second quarter on a 61-yard run, capping a nine-play, 90-yard drive.

An East fumble led to another West score later in the quarter as Flint Central's Andre Weathers took a pitch on a reverse and romped seven yards untouched into the end zone.

Midland's Chris Stanton then added a 34-yard field goal to end the half after teammate Cheo Walker (East Lansing) intercepted a John Thomas (Utica Eisenhower) pass and returned it 35 yards.

Stanton added another field goal, a 29-yarder, in the final quarter to complete the scoring. (He set an All-Star record with two field goals.)

"This is a big jump from high school," said Farmington Harrison defensive back Nick Burgess, who is headed for Carthage College (Wis.), an NCAA Division III school. "There was a lot of talent, a lot of people who can play at the Division I level."

"It's the size, plus the execution here is a lot better. It's not sloppy."

Plymouth Salem's Rob Shepley, a 6-2, 230-pound nose guard going to Ferris State, will have fond memories despite the loss.

"Ten years from now I'll remember we got beat, but I'll also remember all the guys I met and what a good time we had," Shepley said. "There were a lot of double teams. And the size of the players I was going against is a lot different than when you're playing linebacker."

Wide receiver Mark Kalaj, Livonia Clarenceville's first-ever All-Star representative, had the distinction of catching the game's first pass (for 9 yards).

"I'll remember how the guys got close," said Kalaj, who is undecided between College of the Desert (Calif.)

Hines Park loses 12-3, in LCBL championship

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Westland Federation pitcher Tom Wakefield deserved to start the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League All-Star Game (played Wednesday night) but he probably opted for a rest.

Wakefield earned some time off following Monday's courageous nine-inning 12-3 victory over regular-season champion Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury in the LCBL playoff championship game at Livonia's Ford Field.

Wakefield scattered seven hits, struck out eight and walked only two on 2 1/2 days rest. Wakefield (from Taylor and Spring Arbor College) threw nine innings of six-hit ball in Friday's playoff opening victory against Delwal.

What's that arm made of, anyway?

"When I first went out there, it was a little stiff, but then I let my mind take over," said Wakefield, who led the LCBL with a 9-3 record. "At first, it was just curve balls, but then I established the fastball. Toward the end, I could put the ball wherever I wanted to."

For proof of Wakefield's dominance, he struck out Chris Kirkey (Westland John Glenn), Matt Horvath and Ed Gundry (Plymouth Salem) in order following Charlie Winstel's leadoff single in the ninth inning.

"The one time he blew it past Horvath, the umpire said he thought it was 88, 89 miles per hour," Westland coach Joe Vondracek said. "This was his all-star game."

Westland, in its second year in the LCBL, advances to the All-American Amateur Baseball Association regional which starts Saturday in Altoona, Pa. At stake is a berth in the AAABA national tournament in Johnstown, Pa.

Hines Park is headed to the National Amateur Baseball Federation in Cincinnati, Ohio, but has no chance to return to Johnstown.

"He's put together a good team, one that sacrifices for each other," Hines Park coach Dave Carroll said. "And Wakefield's the best in our league."

"He's the best pitcher I've caught in a long time, and I've played on Team Canada," said Westland catcher Mark Messier, who is from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. "I talked to Tom last night and he said he was ready then."

Westland beat Hines Park 9-4 on Saturday before Hines Park forced a final game with a 16-3 victory Sunday.

Hines Park jumped to a 3-0 lead after two innings, but got only two more hits over the last seven innings.

Hines Park scored twice in the first inning, following singles by leadoff batter Matt Horvath and third batter Jason McLenaghan. Heath Fowler hit a sacrifice fly to score Horvath and Robin Roberts (Henry Ford CC) added an RBI single.

Dave Smith scored two goals and assisted on five others, while Jason Weber had a pair of goals to go with four assists. Phil Saunders led all goal scorers with a hat trick and he also added an assist.

David Lambeth had two goals and Chuck Vockler and David Scott added one apiece.

Kevin Beaudoin led the Bulldogs with two goals. Matt Greene and Cory Almas had one goal each.

Westland expands post-season roster

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoff champion Westland Federation won't take any rentals from runner-up Hines Park Lincoln Mercury to this weekend's All American Amateur Baseball Association regional in Altoona, Pa.

Westland was allowed to pick up four players from any of the other six teams in the LCBL.

Westland coach Joe Vondracek likes several Hines Park players but chose against taking any since Hines Park will play in a National Amateur Baseball Federation regional starting Wednesday in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Vondracek has decided to take Walter's catcher Jeff Schaffer (Livonia Franklin) and infielder/outfielder Dan Taylor (Madonna University) and Delwal pitcher Gary Mroz (University of Detroit Mercy).

Vondracek was also waiting Wednesday afternoon to hear from another pitcher in the LCBL, who was trying to get permission to leave work for the regional.

The top three teams from the Altoona regional advance to the AAABA national championship in Johnstown, Pa.

"(Hines Park coach) Dave Carroll asked me flat out, 'Do you want to take any of my players?' and I said 'Yeah but I don't want to tear apart your team,'" Vondracek said. "Who wouldn't want (Hines Park's) Ed Gundry in the middle of his lineup? But that would destroy their chemistry and I want them to go down there and win that thing. They're a good team."

Taylor and Schaffer are capable of playing a number of positions and Mroz is a crafty right hander on the mound.

"I love Schaffer, he's a great kid, athlete and hitter," Vondracek said. "We don't have a long ball threat I'd like, but we can run teams off the field with the addition of Taylor. And we need guys with a lot of junk that have con-Winstel (Plymouth Salem) tripled in the second and came home on Gundry's single.

Wakefield received great support from his defense as center fielder Ryan Peavey, second baseman Mike Davis and left fielder Jeff Schuck made outstanding catches.

"I couldn't do it without them," Wakefield said.

Westland had 19 hits off Hines Park pitchers Dan Eller and Dave Lerner.

The bottom three batters, Jeromey Cosby (Westland John Glenn), Messier and Schuck were a combined 8-for-12 with five runs scored.

Peavey went 4-for-5, with three RBI and scored two runs in the leadoff spot and third batter Joe Vondracek was 3-for-5 with two RBI and a run scored. Mark Rose, the fifth batter, had a two-run double.

Mark D'Antonio hit a solo homer in a five-run eighth inning and finished 2-4. Cosby (Westland John Glenn) was 3-4, including a triple off the fence in the eighth; Messier had two hits and scored twice with one RBI and ninth batter Schuck was 3-4 with two runs scored and an RBI.

Westland scored three runs in the fourth and knocked Eller out with three more in the fifth, highlighted by Schuck's double.

Vondracek's bloop triple down the right field line, after fouling off several pitches with two strikes, scored a run in the seventh. Peavey also tried to score in the seventh but was thrown out at home by second baseman Gundry.

Peavey tried to knock the ball out of catcher Fowler's glove but Fowler held on. The collision caused some commotion but no ejections.

"He intentionally went at me the last time (on Saturday)," Fowler said. "I just cut him off, put the ball in his face, that's it."

control on the corners like Mroz. He comes from the side and has that sinker."

■ Gary Gray, the player, also will make the trip with Westland. This Gary Gray is from Allen Park.

The other Gary Gray is the LCBL co-director.

Westland's other famous player is catcher Mark Messier, a name a little more known nationwide and in Canada than Gray. Messier is second cousin to third baseman Joe Vondracek and is from Saulte Ste. Marie, Ontario.

Playoff summary

Hines Park, coming out of the loser's bracket after losing Saturday to Westland 9-4, won two games on Sunday.

Hines eliminated Delwal 8-0 and handed Westland Federation its first loss of the playoffs, 16-4.

Against Westland on Sunday, Hines Park hitters combined for 22 hits and pitcher Chris Kirkey tossed a complete-game five hitter with 12 strikeouts and two walks.

Heath Fowler had five hits, a walk and five RBI. Matt Horvath, Gundry and Jason McLenaghan had three hits each. Vondracek had an inside-the-park homer for Westland.

In the victory against Delwal, Brian Paluk scattered nine hits with 10 strikeouts and four walks in a complete game effort.

Hines Park scored six runs in the fifth on five consecutive hits. Robin Roberts and Horvath had RBI singles and A.J. Rumberger contributed a two-run double.

Fowler had four hits and McLenaghan added three hits.

In Westland's win Saturday against Hines Park, Andy Reynolds scattered eight Hines Park hits to record the complete-game victory. Mike Davis hit a grand slam to add to a 4-3 lead in the sixth inning for Westland. Ryan Peavey was 1-for-3 with two runs scored.

Gundry led Hines Park with three hits.

Steele's headed to Battle Creek

Steele's is proving to be no run-of-the-mill Connie Mack-age (18-and-under) baseball team.

Sparked by several Observer-land standouts, manager Chet Kapla's club won the American Amateur Baseball Congress double-elimination district tournament last weekend at Madonna University Park with a 6-2 triumph over Ypsilanti.

Steele's (29-18 overall) advanced to Wednesday's opening round game against the Wyoming Royals in AABC regional play at Battle Creek. Westland Federation, the Little Caesars Amateur Baseball Federation champions, earned an automatic bid. The winner of the 16-team regional advances to the Connie Mack World Series later this month in Farmington, N.M.

"Every kid on our team played and contributed," Steele's manager Chet Kapla said. "I feel good about our team. We're not going to pick up any additional players for Battle Creek. We'll go with what we got. I think we have as good of pitching as anybody around."

A four-run fifth inning, highlighted by Bryan Besco's three-run homer, gave Steele's the championship victory on Sunday.

Brian Reynolds, who pitched six innings of five-hit baseball, was the winning pitcher. He needed relief help from Derek Besco, who earned the save by holding Ypsi scoreless in the seventh.

Derek Besco, who along with twin brother Bryan earned All-State honors in football and baseball at Westland John Glenn High, led Steele's offensive attack by going 3-for-4.

Both Bescos are headed to Michigan on baseball scholarships.

Catcher Juan Sanchez, a Redford Catholic Central High product bound for the University of Detroit Mercy, added two hits.

Center fielder Dave Kapla (Redford CC) was Steele's top hitter in five tournament games with a batting average of .462 (6 for 13).

Other top hitters included Derek Besco, .375 (6 for 16); Sanchez, .364 (4 for 11); and Bryan Besco, .357 (5 for 14).

Bryan Besco led the team in RBI (nine) and runs scored (five). Third baseman Jeff Lance (Redford Thurston), Kapla, Derek Besco and Sanchez each added four RBI.

Steele's also received stellar defense from second baseman Eric Marcotte (Plymouth Canton).

In Friday's opener, Steele's right-hander Joel Hildebrand pitched a four-hitter, striking out seven and walking five over seven innings in a 6-2 victory over Macomb Great American Pasttime.

Kapla, Derek and Bryan Besco each had two hits.

Derek Besco belted a solo homer, while Bryan added an RBI triple. Kapla knocked in two runs and scored twice.

On Saturday, Bryan Besco's two-run single in the fifth inning sparked a six-run uprising as Steele's downed Blazey Electric of Saginaw, 7-3.

Jason Rice (Northville) went 2-for-4 for the winners.

Daric Terry pitched the first 6½ innings to gain the victory. Mark Watt came on to earn the save.

Blazey was then eliminated by Steele's in a six-inning mercy rule game, 10-2, as Trenton's J.J. Putz allowed just two hits while fanning seven.

National wins 5-4

The Canton Cobras had the best team in the Incredible Girls Fast-Pitch Softball League this year, so it was fitting their players made the big plays Saturday in the annual all-star game.

Amber LaGrow's single in the bottom of the seventh inning sent Dina Aon of the Farmington Fantastics to the plate with the winning run for the National League.

The Nationals rallied from a 4-0 deficit to tie in the sixth inning at Farmington City Park and won it 5-4 in the seventh. Aon had the started the National half of the inning with a double.

That made Jackie Nicastrì of the Cobras the winning pitcher.

She worked just one inning, entering in the top of the seventh and holding the American League scoreless.

The Nationals had only one hit in the four-run sixth — a two-run double by Asha Bell. The Americans also made four errors in the game while the Nationals were perfect on defense.

Michelle Menghini of the American team and Northville Niners was named the most valuable player after she had a double and a triple, scored two runs and batted in a run.

Northville's Andrea Moretti pitched four solid innings to start the game for the Americans, holding the Nationals to two hits and no runs.

Rhonda Saunders and her Northwood University teammates got greedy when it came to running the basepaths.

Whenever a Northwoman reached base, her sights were stealing the next one.

The final 1994 NCAA statistics bore that out, as the Northwoman finished seventh among all Division II members with a school-record 165 stolen bases.

Saunders, a 1991 Livonia Clarenceville High School product, not only shattered the Northwood season record (63), but also the career mark.

She was second among all Division II players in steals, finishing two behind Ferris State junior second baseman Paula Hensell's 65.

In NU's three meetings this year with Ferris, Saunders won the individual battle, 4-1.

"My philosophy has always been to bunt and run," said second-year Northwood head coach Suzanne Brown, who was previously head softball coach and athletic director at Farmington Hills Mercy High. "I like to force the other team to make plays. I feel that sooner or later, they'll make a mistake."

Northwood and Saunders made quite an impression during the Great Lakes Conference season.

"If a team knows you're a running team," Brown said, "it puts added pressure on them not to make a mistake. You don't necessarily have to have fast players to be successful with a running game. Whenever you steal, the other team may end up throwing the ball around, or they may end up out of position going to cover the bases."

While four Northwood players stole 17 or more bases in 1994, Brown singled out Saunders as the team's most potent weapon.

LAKERS 17, WILDCATS 12: Kevin Brady had four goals and a pair of assists Sunday as the Lakers spread the wealth with 10 goal scorers in a win over the Wildcats.

Dave Smith, Jason Weber, Chuck Vockler and Andrew Perry added two goals each. Weber contributed five assists, Vockler had four and Smith three for the Lakers.

Rick Lance scored four goals for the Wildcats. Teammates James Mitchell and Jeff Mitchell had two goals each.

Bobby Davis had six assists, Michael Zeller had five and Jeff Mitchell contributed four.

or Henry Ford CC (for basketball)." Many of us exchanged phone numbers. We're going to keep in touch."

"I was the first alternate and I knew somebody wouldn't be able to go," said Bint, who recently turned down a football offer from Grand Valley State to play baseball at Concordia College. "It was a tough game, but a great experience playing against the best in the state."

University of Michigan-bound Jon Jansen, a 6-foot-8, 235-pound defensive end from Clawson, paced the East defense with 10 tackles. Pete Chernow (Decker-ville) added nine, while Livonian Kevin Babcock (Dearborn Divine Child), headed for Northwood University, and Brian Krenzle (Utica Ford), each had seven. Brzezinski was in on four tackles and batted down one pass.

North student shows write stuff

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS

BILL PARKER

When Lisa Bagley wrote an essay for extra credit last year in her Advanced Placement English class at North Farmington High School, she probably didn't realize the recognition the essay would garner her.

The short story entitled "Following the Goldminers: A New Age Alaskan Adventure" recently won third place in the Senior Division of the Norman M. Strung/Outdoor Writers Association of America Youth Writing Scholarship competition.

"It was a great honor to receive this award," Bagley said. "I had written the essay as an extra-credit assignment for my Advanced Placement English class at the end of my junior year. I based my essay on a hiking trip I had taken to Alaska the summer before."

Bagley, who will attend the School of Natural Resources and Environment at the University of Michigan this fall, received a $200 scholarship for her winning entry.

nation-wide competition by virtue of a third-place finish last fall in the Michigan Outdoor Writer's Association Youth Writing Contest.

"I entered the (OWAA) contest a year ago after I placed third in the local (MOWA) contest. I really kind of forgot about it," explained Bagley. "I had no idea I won anything. It was really quite exciting."

Becky Eggleston, of Spokane, Washington, took first place honors and Michelle Snyder of Los Angeles, California placed second.

Bagley hopes to get into environmental policy after college and admitted, "I'd kind of like to keep writing, too."

Proctor eyes regional

Bass angler Conrad Proctor, of Bloomfield Hills, won the "Catch of the Day" for Michigan in the Chevy Truck World Cup Fishing Tournament on July 23. Proctor's 19 1/2-inch, 4-pound largemouth was the largest bass registered in Michigan on July 23. Proctor won a $200 prize plus a chance to compete in the Northeastern Regional with a top prize of $50,000.

Fishing Mud Lake in Lapeer County, Proctor caught the bass over a weed bed while fishing a "Phish Stick" (surface lure).

Earlier this year, Proctor enjoyed a stay atop the Michigan leader board in the 1994 Big Bass World Championship with a 5.02-pound largemouth.

Peregrine Falcons named

The three peregrine falcon chicks born around Mother's Day on top of the Book Building in Detroit now have names.

The winning entries in a recent contest conducted by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources are "Aerial", "Booker", and "Speedster".

The decline of the endangered peregrine falcon has been linked to chemical pesticides. As birds of prey, they are indicators of the biological health of other species and the conditions of the environment.

Michigan's restoration program began in 1986 and is funded through the DNR's Natural Heritage Program by the Nongame Wildlife Fund. The major goal of the program is to reestablish 10 breeding pairs of peregrine falcons in Michigan by the year 2000.

Contributions to the Nongame Wildlife Fund may be made by check or money order (payable to Nongame Wildlife Fund) to the Michigan DNR, P.O. Box 30180, Lansing, MI, 48909. (Detroit Peregrine Program should also be noted on the check.)

Kirtland's Warbler census up

Researchers, biologists and volunteers counted more endangered Kirtland's Warblers in Michigan during the 1994 mid-June census than ever before.

"This is great news and it shows that the Endangered Species Act can and does work," said DNR director Rollie Harmes. "It is a testament to scientific wildlife management and the cooperation among the DNR biologists, the U.S. Forest Service and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in restoring the warbler's needed habitat."

The census was completed in mid-June with participants counting 633 singing males. That's a 30-percent increase over the 1993 count of 485 and surpasses the previous record of 502 singing males counted in 1961.

Anglers are urged to report their success. Encouraged and comments are also encouraged. Send information to: Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI, 48009. Fax information to 644-1314 or call Bill Parker 6-10 p.m. Monday at 901-2573.

Social wasps: Nests of social wasps are often discovered this time of year because all during the summer their numbers have been growing and their nests have been increasing in size. Wasps can sting several times and not die.

Watch wasps from distance

RAYMOND E. BULLOCK

SKY WATCH
As I walked through a field of flowers counting butterflies recently, there were bees, wasps and other insects on the flowers and among the plants. I've done this many times though the years and I've never been stung.

hive would soon have no workers. Most bees and wasps are solitary insects. We think of them as social insects that live in large colonies because those are the species that get the most press. The social wasps and bees are the most noticeable and are the kind most likely to sting. They sting if their nest or hive is threatened or disturbed.

Stinging insects that are feeding on flowers do not "want" to sting everything that disturbs them. They are far more interested in collecting pollen or nectar for themselves or their nest mates. In the case of honey bees, when a worker stings an animal, its barbed sting remains in the body of the animal. When the bee flies away some of its internal organs remain attached to the sting. This kills the worker bee. If working bees were programmed to sting at every little disturbance, the Nests of social wasps are often discovered this time of year because all during the summer their numbers have been growing and their nests have been increasing in size. Yellowjackets and bald-faced hornets are the two most frequently encountered. Both species build a nest of paper in the shape of a top, if there are not space restrictions. Yellowjackets frequently build underground in an abandoned animal tunnel system. Bald-faced hornets typically build in bushes.

If one ventures too close to a nest, the insects are programmed to defend the colony. In the case of wasps and hornets, they can sting several times and not die. Several individuals will rally to the defense call which works very well in repelling intruders.

Though we think of these insects as pests, if their turf is not invaded, they are actually beneficial insects. All wasps and hornets kill other insects to feed their young or themselves. Some species have been imported intentionally to control pest insects. Their efforts have been very beneficial. Bees, of course, pollinate flowers and provide both wax and honey as by-products.

Only a couple species of stinging insects provide most of what we know about their kind. They should not be judged by just a few. Respected from a distance, YES!

Meteor shower coming in August

RAYMOND E. BULLOCK

SKY WATCH
The Great Encounter between Jupiter and Comet Shoemaker-Levy 9 has passed, and Jupiter did not fall out of the sky. Not that it was expected to fall; it's just that there was so much hype about the "collision," one expected something catastrophic would occur.
While the event wasn't visible to the public at large, the images shown by NASA were most impressive. The dark circular rings that appeared in Jupiter's atmosphere as a result of the impacts were more than scientists had hoped for. The big question now is whether the rings will last for years or dissipate quickly. Given the speed of the rotation of the giant planet, I'd opt for the latter.
The earth will have its own bombardment from space later this month, but don't panic, our encounter will be nowhere as violent as that suffered by Jupiter. The annual Perseid meteor shower is one of the year's best, but the display in 1994 should be especially nice.
The Abrams Planetarium Sky Calendar reports that the night of Aug. 11 and morning of Aug. 12 could be the best chance until the next century to see an unusually good display of the Perseid meteor shower.
One of the year's best meteor showers, the Perseids will reach its peak on the morning of Aug. 12. Meteor showers are named for the constellation from which they appear to radiate, in this case Perseus.
Meteors burn up about 20 miles above the surface of the earth, although if an exceptionally large meteor fails to burn completely, it could strike the earth and produce a crater.
Most of Earth is covered with water, so any meteor impact is more likely to produce a big splash than a big crater.
Is it possible to be hit by a meteor? Well, there are records of some startling encounters with meteors on earth, but you have a better chance of winning the Michigan Lotto than being hit by a meteor.
An excellent aid for learning constellations and keeping up to date with the sky is the monthly "Sky Calendar," available from Abrams Planetarium, Michigan State University, East Lansing, 48824. A one-year subscription is $7.50.

INTRODUCING
The New Life Center at Providence Park
Where families are born...close to home

A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE
Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.
A UNIQUE APPROACH
It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births*. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.
THE CHOICES ARE MANY
From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF But don't take our word for it. Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

A&W is searching for coney connoisseurs

The search is on for metro Detroit's Quickest Coney Dog Connoisseurs who will compete in devouring a 75-foot A&W coney dog at the Michigan State Fair in August. The contest honors the 75th anniversary of A&W Restaurants and the Easter Seal Society of Southeastern Michigan. Proceeds from A&W coney dogs and A&W rootbeer to be sold in conjunction with the contest, will go to Easter Seals.

Fifteen contestants will be chosen to vie for first, second and third prizes based on how quickly they devour a five foot section of the giant coney — the equivalent of eating 10 normal size A&W coney dogs.

The Quickest Coney Dog Connoisseurs contest is open to adults age 18 or older. Submit typed or printed entries on an 8 1/2 by 11-inch sheet of paper.

Explain why you want to do this anyway? (25 words or less); how do you plan to train for the event? (25 words or less), name, address, daytime phone number. Mail your entries to: Quickest Coney Dog Connoisseurs, A&W Restaurants, Inc., 17197 North Laurel Park Drive, Suite 500, Livonia, MI 48152. Entries must be postmarked no later than Aug. 12. The contest will be at the fair 3-6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 26.

Make Believe Productions is looking for a male actor age 38 to 50 to play the lead villain in a feature length action-drama. Auditions will be 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6 at the Northville Recreation Center, 303 W. Main Street, downtown Northville. Call (810) 474-5316. Shooting will begin the end of August and continue through September in Hillsdale, Fenton, Wixom, Northville, Farmington Hills and Oscoda. Bring resume to audition. No formal experience required.

Lynn Dickinson, a 1978 graduate of Redford Union High School, is hoping some of her friends will see this and come down to The Ritz, 17580 Frazho Road in Roseville on Saturday, Aug. 13, to see her, but especially Weird Al Yankovic who will be performing there. Call (810) 778-6404 for ticket information.

Dickinson, will be behind the scenes during the show helping Al with quick costume changes.

After graduating from high school, Dickinson went to Wayne State University and earned a bachelor's degree in communication, and moved to Los Angeles to continue her education.

She met Al in 1991 after a crazy song she wrote for the Dr. Denton Show on radio was named number 10 out of 25. For the last couple of years she's been taking care of Al's publicity and quick costume changes. Dickinson's also a budding screenwriter. I'm sure this isn't the last we've heard from her.

Millennium presents funny shows

Summer events at the Millennium Theatre Center in Southfield beginning this Thursday and Friday, feature classic laughs of master playwrights and sketch comedy by metro Detroit's wackiest new comedy troupe.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

There will be laughs galore this August at the Millennium Theatre Center, 15600 J.L. Hudson Drive, west of the Plaza Hotel in Southfield.

Detroit Classic Repertory Company will present a Theatre Festival of Classic Comedies, 8 p.m. Thursdays, and 3 p.m. Sundays, beginning Aug. 4 continuing through Aug. 21. Reserved tickets are $12.50.

Mr. Paulie's Fruit & Vegetable Company, a wacky new comedy troupe, will turn on the laugh machine 8 p.m. Fridays, beginning Aug. 5. Shows continue through Aug. 19. Tickets are $10.

Tickets for both events are available through Ticketmaster outlets or by calling (810) 552-7000. The Millennium box office is open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and two hours before each performance. Call (810) 552-7000 for information.

Paul Mentier who founded the group is director and producer for the troupe which includes Adam R. Freund of West Bloomfield and Susie Prekel of Bloomfield Hills.

The other writers are Adam Freund, D.A. Justice and W. Jay Reynolds.

"Everyone writes on their own. Most of us are influenced by everyday life," said Mentier. "For example, we have a Driving School sketch. I was driving through Birmingham and pulled up behind a Driver's Ed car. I started thinking about what they might teach in a Birmingham Driver's Ed Class — how to change lanes while talking on your cellular phone, and how to put on make-up by looking in the rearview mirror."

PREVIEW

Mentier said that while Monty Python and Kids In The Hall are strong influences, Mr. Paulie's Fruit & Vegetable Company works hard to create original material.

"You won't see the things we do anywhere else," he said. "We were all born and raised around town. We live here, we are Detroit, and our comedy is heavily influenced by where we live. We're a lot of fun and pretty harmless. We try not to offend anyone. We want to entertain you, but bring your imagination, we don't have a lot of sets."

Detroit Classic Repertory Company's festival will feature five one act plays — three in the first half of the program, two in the second. Artistic director Kirk Haas has gathered works by five classic playwrights for a very funny evening of theater.

The plays represent short looks at the humorous trials and tribulations of love and marriage. Directors Henry Bennett and Randall Godwin join Haas in presenting the festival.

"Everyone can relate in some way to the classics," said Haas. "We're presenting five very funny shows in two hours with a cast of seven who portray 17 different characters."

Here are the works to be presented: Bernard Shaw's "How He Lied to Her Husband," Anton Chekhov's "A Marriage Proposal," Guy de-

Comedy: Susie Prekel and W. Jay Reynolds are members of the wacky, new comedy troupe, Mr. Paulie's Fruit & Vegetable Company.

Maupassant's "Forbidden Fruit," Thomas Simon's "Gueullette — The Surprising Surprise," and "de Marivaux — The Test" by de Marivaux.

"These are mini farces," said Haas. "How He Lied to Her Husband," is about a romantic poet who falls in love with a married woman. He writes her poems, and wants to marry her. The woman's sister-in-law discovers the poems and shows them to the husband. The woman tells the poet to deny the poems are his. When confronted by the husband, the poet lies about the poems. The husband then gets mad at the poet for not loving his wife."

"Classic theater is acceptable and not offensive to anyone," said Haas. "Everyone will see a little bit of themselves and something to relate to in these shows."

leasly silly plot riddled with non-sequiturs.

"Housewives" follows "four frustrated suburban women on a precarious voyage of self-discovery" that leads them to form a punk rock band and enter a talent contest at a local club.

The women are a diverse quartet. Bev (Susan Arnold) is a widow whose husband dropped dead when she showed him the electric bill before dinner. Desperately trying to deal with overdue bills and a teenage son (Seth Hitaky) who shuns school and blasts rock-and-roll music, Beth is inexplicably the only one who dresses like the 1950s kind of Donna Reed gone awry.

Carol (Rochelle Rosenthal) is a recently divorced music teacher who has become a compulsive eater. Her life blossoms anew when the club owner, Lewd Fingers (Joe Bailey) is attracted to her. Thus in a show that is ostensibly pushing women's liberation, Carol cannot regain self-esteem without a man's attentions.

Jetta (Katie O'Shaughnessy) is a ditty young mother completely dominated by a chauvinistic husband (Daniel Mailley) who is insensitive to everything except his corporate image. She benefits the most from the rock band, transforming herself from mousy housewife to sexy, assertive woman.

Wendy (Jennifer Bacon) is the most puzzling character. She lives in a tower and tends a drawbridge, which doesn't seem to qualify her as a suburban housewife. Frustrated with her bland boyfriend Wallace (Brian Shulz), she conceives the "Angry Housewives" band and then is strangely determined to quit the whole thing even after earning Wallace's approval.

Nevermind these plot glitches; the wonderful cast abounds with both musical and comic talent. Arnold is delightful in her 1950s style elfin glasses, whirling around her pink kitchen in "Think Positive" when her life is a shambles. Rosenthal's Carol is pert and sassy. She excels at comic delivery and belting out her songs with a power that belies her petite height. In "Generic Woman" she hilariously laments that's she's "a name brand woman in a plain wrapper."

O'Shaughnessy shines vocally with "Not at Home," a plaintive ballad explaining how hopelessly submerged Jetta is in her husband's dominance. Bacon leads the women in a rousing "It's Gonna Be Fun." Act I culminates with the four women performing a frenetic rock number.

Bailey and Shulz deftly perform "Betsy Moberly," a soft-shoe number about the girl they both once knew who was "most likely to." Mailley has a strong comic presence and wonderfully expressive face. His character laments "Nobody Loves Me" when he finally realizes what a jerk he is.

Hitaky also has excellent comic timing and holds his own vocally when he complains he's the "First Kid on the Block" with a mom in punk rock.

When "Angry Housewives" is funny, it is very, very funny due to the energetic cast. Director Rick Frederick, musical director Steve Dedoes, and choreographer Valerie Mould make the most of what they have within the script limitations. It's another non-sequitur, but "Angry Housewives" manages to be utterly charming and entertaining.

'Airheads' rock airwaves

DThe Lone Rangers, a struggling Los Angeles rock and roll band, just about have it all: the sound, the look, the attitude.

If they can just get their song played, surely everyone will recognize their talents, and record companies will come begging for their services.

But with all they have going for them, The Lone Rangers can't even get arrested, until they inadvertently take a radio station hostage in an attempt to get their demo played in "Airheads" now playing at metro Detroit movie theaters.

A Twentieth Century Fox presentation, "Airheads" stars Brendan Fraser, Steve Buscemi, Adam Sandler, Chris Farley, Michael McKean, Judd Nelson, with Michael Richards and Joe Mantegna. It is directed by Michael Lehmann and written by Rich Wilkes.

"This film is not a goofy spoof of rock and roll," said director Michael Lehmann. "The characters take themselves seriously and the situation plays itself out as a pretty straight-forward hostage drama, but from a humorous perspective. The guys in this band aren't really dangerous, they're just rock and rollers who want their music played."

"The three bandmembers represent different types of rock and rollers," according to producer Robert Simonds. "Lead singer Chazz (played by Brendan Fraser), for instance, is the disenfranchised artist. He believes his music to be art and has a great deal of integrity when it comes to the music. He just wants to be heard.

"Bass player Rex (Steve Buscemi) embodies the raucous hostility and rebellion of youth. The problem is he's getting old and should have given up on rock a long time ago.

"And drummer Pip (Adam Sandler) is along for the ride. He goes with the flow, almost Zen-like."

In addition to our heroes — known collectively as The Lone Rangers — "Airheads" features a gallery of comic characters portrayed by an impressive ensemble cast.

Joe Mantegna plays Ian, the radio station's aging star DJ. Michael Richards, who plays the baffling Kramer on the hit television series "Seinfeld," is Doug Beech, a much put-upon station employee who tries to thwart the three musicians' plans. Chris Farley, a standout cast member of "Saturday Night Live," plays a cop caught up in the frenetic hostage negotiations.

Amy Locane plays Chazz's disillusioned girlfriend, Kayla. Ernie Hudson plays Sgt. O'Malley, the cop in charge of the hostage situation. Michael McKean, also a "Saturday Night Live" cast-member — is Milo, the radio station's weasel-like program manager.

Judd Nelson plays Jimmy Wing, a sleazy record company exec. And Nina Siemaszko is Suzzi, a radio station secretary who has designs on Pip.

Lone Rangers: Judd Nelson (left) plays Jimmy Wing, a sleazy record company executive and Brendan Fraser, Chazz, a musician in "Airheads."

"Airheads" also boasts performances by two metal rock bands: White Zombie is seen headlining at the Whiskey, and Houston-based Galactic Cowboys portray gimmick-based rock band Sons of Thunder at KPPX's record release party where Chazz makes the decision to seek radio airplay.

Win tickets to movie about lovable seal

Don't miss this great opportunity to win four tickets to take your family to a preview screening of "Andre" the story of a seal who adopted a New England family.

It's easy to enter. Just write and tell us about an animal who adopted your family.

Maybe it was a stray cat who refused to leave your doorstep. A dog that followed you home. Or it could be a dog or cat you adopted from an animal shelter that fit right in, and has adopted you to become like one of the family. I've heard of squirrels adopting families, and birds too.

KAREN MEIER

Picture worth 1,000 words

One morning not long ago, I was ushered into a studio, told to look this way and that, and in a blink of an eye, and the flash of a bulb, my picture was taken. My official, for keeps, color picture. The one you see now at the top of this column. The one that's worth the thousand or so words I'm about to write.

The old picture, the black and white one, was just a temporary one. And I had some hard good excuses why it looked the way it did. First of all, I didn't know it was going to be taken. As a matter of fact, nobody knew it would. It was an impromptu shot. There happened to be a photographer, a camera with film in it, me, and an empty chair all in one spot. There was no time to fret or prepare.

Second, it was taken eight days after my fourth child was born. That was a maternity top I was wearing, nothing else really fit yet. Third, two of my four children were with me that day. I tried really hard not to be distracted, but Joey was dismantling a large coat rack and clanging metal hangers together while Jack and clung red and made urgent goat noises.

And lastly, I couldn't find my brush that morning, so I had to use a comb. That's a little bit like using fingernail scissors to cut down a tree limb. Not useful. So you see, I had lots of reasons back then. But now, with an appointment and a studio, I knew I'd better do something.

So, I called my sister Beth for advice. She thought I shouldn't look like a harried housewife who had just given birth to a fourth child. "Look nice," she said. "Dress up," she said. "No T-shirts and mussed hair," she said. "Wear something pastel, no dots or stripes. And leave the Peter Pan collars at home. A dab or makeup, lipstick, maybe. Don't use your real pale stuff, something with a bit of color instead."

I was nodding my head all the while, not so much in agreement, but because I was dumbstruck. How am I suppose to conceal what I am? I AM a harried housewife who just had another baby. It's impossible for me to look nice. I may be able to wrangle "presentable," but nice? And that bit about "dress up." I've got two blouses, one pink and one white, both sort of silky sheer material - both just ducky when you're not a nursing Mom. But tacky if you are.

A Mom's uniform

And what nerve to say that a T-shirt wouldn't be appropriate. It's part of my Mom uniform. I have a drawerful of them - all clean and practical. "And Beth," I wish I could have said, but was too embarrassed, "how can I be sure I've left my Peter Pan collars at home, when I don't really know what they are?"

And pale lipstick as opposed to lipstick with more color? Indeed! I have NO lipstick; I have never bought lipstick. I did, though, have lipstick until a month ago, some that my mother-in-law gave me with some other makeup in this huge kit for my first Christmas as a married lady 13 years ago.

But Joe got into big trouble wrecking it when he used my white bedspread as an artist's canvas and the lipstick as his paintbrush. Also managed to decorate the bathroom cupboards, some upstairs wallpaper, the carpeting underneath his new baby brother's crib and some of his puzzle pieces. If you have any helpful hints for removing 13-year-old lipstick from cream-colored carpet, let me know.

Anyway, I don't know who Beth thought she was talking to, referring to pale lipstick and other lipsticks as if I had any to begin with. After the phone call, I was beside myself.

That same afternoon I took Carmen to her gymnastics practice. I consulted with some of her teammates' Moms. They always look so nice when they bring their daughters to the gym. I figured they'd have some very helpful hints for me. Well, it seems they thought a nice pastel blouse would be nice. "Lose the T-shirts" was the consensus.

One suggested wearing some clunky earrings; they show up better and they're all the rage now. And don't forget a necklace and let your hair out of that ponytail and remember to put some red lipstick on, otherwise it'll look as if you have no lips at all. And some blush. And the fluffier the hair, the better. And don't wear your glasses.

What to do

I left the gym with a terrible knot in my stomach. How was I going to pull this off? I had none of that stuff and it was 6:20 p.m. and I was headed to Tony's baseball game which would run until 8 p.m. and then he and his two baby brothers and I would dash back to the gym to pick Carmen up and then drive home with the whole gang and fix a late supper for Dad who was working late. Where was I going to shop?

'Be prepared' Disaster relief unit ready for action

What started out as a collection for the victims of Hurricane Andrew two years ago has become a full-fledge disaster relief unit for Michigan Baptist men, in part because of the dedication of Wayne Vann.

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

Wayne Vann and the Boy Scouts have a lot in common. They like to "be prepared" and uphold their duty to God and country and "help other people at all times."

Vann isn't a scout. He's a state lay coordinator of Brotherhood (missions) for the Baptist State Convention of Michigan. As such, he has spent three years organizing the Michigan Baptist Relief Unit that provides for people in need because of hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, earthquakes and similar disasters.

"There was a time when I was growing up that if someone asked me who the homeless were, I would have said the wino in the gutter," said Vann. "But today, I know homeless can also mean the school teacher and the banker. We never know when we'll become the victims."

What started out as a collection of volunteers and donated trucks collecting clothing and food for the victims of Hurricane Andrew in August 1992 - and later working with an Ohio feeding unit to serve more than 165,000 hot meals - has grown to become a mechanized "meals on wheels" packed into a 16-foot Wells Cargo trailer and a 40-foot tractor-trailer.

Donations are what have helped Vann get the unit up and running. First came the small trailer, donated during the Hurricane Andrew collection drive. Then came the big rig, a "gift" from the North Carolina disaster team. In between, volunteers trained and worked with an Ohio disaster team.

The big rig needed some painting. That was donated by Redford sign painter George Cumming who "knew I was going to be painting and lettering that truck" after seeing a story in The Observer.

"This is how it's all been coming together," said Vann. "People want to help and be a part of it."

Another is Romulus businessman Robin Kind who has made several personal donations and now is launching a campaign to raise

JIM JAGDFELD/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

$50,000 so Vann can buy the rest of the equipment the team needs.

Currently, the big rig is equipped with four bunks, shower and toilet, full kitchen, washer and dryer and 700-gallon fresh water tank - to provide for the volunteers who will prepare and serve the food under its 20-by-40-foot awning. The equipment for the mass feedings - 190 cases of food, cookware, tankless water heater, generator and triple-bowl sink - is hauled in the smaller trailer.

Vann's new shopping list includes two large generators, a high van cube with a minimum 16-foot box, 20-foot-by 20-foot tent, water purification system, several large propane tanks, hot water power washer and insurance for the vehicles.

"He has a good relationship with business, so he feels he should be able to raise the money and I think so, too," Vann said. Without any publicity, Kind landed the first donation, $250 from Brite Sales and Service.

"People would want to give to such a cause as this, (but) they just need to be made aware of the need," Kind said.

Considering there's already one disaster unfolding this summer - the flooding in Georgia - and hurricane season in force, Vann is hoping to have enough money to buy the equipment by summer's end. He already has his eye on a couple of generators and a truck that are available.

"People need to understand that no one is exempt from disaster," Vann said. "And we feel that in the initial response we should be able to provide food and shelter. So we remain optimistic about reaching our goal."

People interested in making a tax-deductible donation to the Michigan Baptist Disaster Relief Unit can send a check, payable to the Baptist State Convention of Michigan, to Disaster Relief, BSCM, 15635 W. 12 Mile, Southfield 48076. For more information, call (810) 557-4200.

Students head overseas for senior year

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Going south: Livonia Franklin senior Anne Spieles took her time packing for her one-year visit to Uruguay.

Every spring a handful of high school seniors are forced to decide whether to go to commencement or their sports' playoff game. Usually, that ultimatum is met with public outcry, and/or classmates' lack of understanding.

Livonia seniors Jeff Neville and Anne Spieles had an even tougher decision to make. They could either study abroad and miss their senior year of high school, or stay home, go to commencement and spend their last year of high school with their friends.

The Livonia Franklin High School students decided to move overseas for a year. Neville will leave for Finland on Aug. 13. Spieles left in mid-July for Uruguay.

The toughest part of the decision was the fact that they probably won't get credit for the classes they are taking overseas. So both of them will have to repeat their senior year once they return to the United States.

Spieles, who has studied Spanish for four years, isn't too thrilled about having to repeat her senior year but she went ahead with it anyway.

"It's gonna be a great experience. It's gonna be worth it," said Spieles who organized her trip through Youth for Understanding International Exchange.

Plus, she planned ahead once she realized what she was up against.

"I made sure I made a lot of friends with the people who will be graduating (in 1995)," she said with a smile.

Neville agreed. He doesn't think he's really missing much by going to Finland.

"Well, I went to my brother's graduation and I hated it," he said. "I really didn't enjoy it. I just think the benefit of me going to Finland will greatly outweigh the setbacks."

Neville, who only needs four more credits to graduate, was told that some of his classes in

Members celebrate Inglesia founding

Members of the congregation of Iglesia Ni Cristo (Church of Christ) in Plymouth are celebrating the 80th anniversary of the founding of the church.

Some 150 members from throughout western Wayne County gathered July 17 for a special celebration locally after gathering July 3-4 in Chicago with members from the Ecclesiastical District of Midwest. Members came from Manitoba, Can., Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Missouri, Colorado and Texas, according to Brother Jose Joson of the Inglesia in Plymouth.

"Inglesia Ni Cristo is the most prominent church in the Philippines and the fastest growing church in Asia," Joson said.

The "Inglesia," as it has been known in the Philippines where it first appeared in 1914, is now operating in the United States, Canada, Mexico and in 65 other countries in Europe, the Middle East, parts of Asia and Australia.

The anniversary is commemorated in all ecclesiastical districts of the Church in the Philippines and overseas by special thanksgiving worship services. In the Philippines, Brother Eraffio G. Manalo, the Iglesia Ni Cristo's executive minister, officiated the dedication of a 2,000-seat house of worship in Barangay New Era, Dasmariñas, in Cavite province.

Although the Iglesia Ni Cristo was first preached by the late Brother Felix Y. Manalo in Punta, Santa Ana, Manila, in 1914, its faithful believe that the church was founded by Jesus in Jerusalem in the first century. Its beliefs are based solely on the Bible, and its ministers preach that the church in the Philippines is the re-establishment of the first-century Church of Christ.

The Inglesia believes that the late Brother Felix Y. Manalo was the messenger of God and his primary mission was preaching original Christian doctrines, citing Isaiah 41:9-10, 43:5-6 and 46:11-13 as well as Revelation 7:2-3 as proof.

Born to Catholic parents near Manila in 1886, Brother Felix was introduced to the Bible in the convent of an uncle who was a Catholic priest. He later converted to Protestantism and became a preacher and pastor of several Protestant denominations before embarking on a divine calling to preach about the Iglesia Ni Cristo.

Brother Felix led the church for almost 50 years, spreading its beliefs throughout the Philippine archipelago. At the time of his death in 1963, the Iglesia Ni Cristo was already an influential church in the country's major towns and cities.

The Inglesia's leadership went to his son Eraffio, who has steered the church to unprecedented growth in membership. On July 27, 1968, he led the founding of the first overseas Inglesias in Hawaii and California, the fulfillment of the biblical prophecy on the "gathering of God's people in the Far West" as mentioned in Isaiah 43:5, according to Joson.

Outside the Philippines, the Iglesia today has more than 450 locales (a locale is the equivalent of a Catholic parish) and prayer groups around the world.

Hospice Services offers kids' camp

Hospice Services of Western Wayne County Inc. will offer Camp Phoenix, a weekend bereavement camp for children ages 6-15 who have suffered a significant loss of a loved one.

The camp takes place Aug. 19-21 at the YMCA's Camp Ohiyasa in northwest Oakland County. As a result of grants from Ronald McDonald's Children's Charities and the Women's Committee for Hospice Care, Hospice Services is able to offer Camp Phoenix at no charge to campers.

"Children have a unique ability to combine sadness and happiness in their efforts to survive a significant loss; they cannot be sad 100 percent of the time," said Vicki DesJardins, director of social services at Hospice Services. "Children need to grieve when someone they love dies, but they may not understand what they are experiencing."

According to DesJardins, children's grief may include secret thoughts and fears about death which frighten them, while the adults in their lives may be overwhelmed with their own feelings of grief.

The weekend camp experience is designed to facilitate a healthy grieving process in a safe, shared, accepting environment. The children will learn about the grief process, support systems, expressing feelings and problem solving skills and experience the value of community and teamwork.

Leisure time will offer a variety of outdoor activities, including swimming, canoeing, nature trails, arts and crafts, campfires and challenging rope course.

"Camp Phoenix will help children to view life as a series of gains and losses and to view death as a natural part of life," DesJardins said. "At the end of the weekend, the children will have an opportunity to participate in a memorial service. The service will allow them to remember their loved one in a positive way, and to validate the importance of that relationship in their lives."

The camp is named for the mythological Greek bird believed to have had a 500-year life span. At the end of each life cycle, the Phoenix burned itself on a funeral pyre and, out the ashes, a new Phoenix arose.

"We chose to name the Camp Phoenix because we believe the grieving process can be an experience which leads the human spirit into a rebirth or 'growing process,'" said DesJardins. "Certainly, grief is a difficult and painful process, but when successfully supported and worked through, a rebirth can follow."

The camp session begins at 6 p.m. Aug. 19 and concludes at noon Aug. 21. Children will be divided into groups based upon their age and developmental ability. There also will be a high ratio of adults to children.

Hospice is the compassionate care for the terminally ill and their families. Hospice Services provides a comprehensive program which enables the patient to live each day in the peace and comfort they deserve. Care is provided based on need rather than ability to pay.

A full range of bereavement support services are provided for a minimum of 13 months, including monthly grief support groups, twice yearly adult grief recovery series, an extensive children's bereavement program and memorial services.

Openings for the camp are limited and registration packets must be returned to Hospice Services by July 15. The packets are available by calling DesJardins or Joan Johnson at 522-4244.

Hospice Services of Western Wayne County Inc. has offices at 6701 Harrison, Garden City (522-4244) and at 127 Main St., Plymouth (459-0548).

Golfers take to the greens for kids

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

When charity-minded golfers tee off at the Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth Aug. 12, they'll be helping kids in need.

The event will be the 1994 NCS Charity Golf Classic, a benefit for Northwestern Community Services, a private nonprofit mental health counseling clinic with offices in Canton, Garden City and Livonia.

Organizers are hoping to attract 100 golfers and raise $15,000 for NCS which like other charities is facing a shortfall in fund-raising at a time when demand for services is increasing.

Recognized for its work in family therapy and crisis counseling of children, a large portion of the work done by NCS is with children whose families cannot afford counseling. Last year, the agency provided help to 1,814 such children who needed outpatient counseling, hospitalization or crisis counseling and demand is even higher this year, according to Thomas Farley, director of the NCS resource department.

"Right now we have seen two times the number of children we actually have funds for," Farley said. "We thought it would let up during the summer months and it hasn't, and our outpatient clinic is 86 percent over what we budgeted for."

NCS usually has an annual spring golf outing, sponsored by Central Distributors in Romulus, but with the budget crunch, a second one was proposed. Jumping in as the corporate sponsor is Top Value Muffler Shops, headquartered in Livonia.

Paul Di Pirro at Top Value has helped "jump start" the event by actively recruiting golfers and lining up prizes. Lining up volunteers is Peggy Studzinski, an NCS board member.

The event will have a scramble format with a shotgun start at 1 p.m. The cost is $125 ($44.50 of which is a tax-deductible contribution) and covers 18 holes of golf and cart, choice of a steak or fish dinner at 7 p.m., an open bar all day on the course and in the clubhouse and a golfer's gift pack of balls, tees and the like in a tote bag.

There will be four hole-in-one and putting contests with prizes that include a car, as well as awards for the top men's and women's teams, closest to the pin and longest drive.

Participants will also have a chance to bid on golf and sports items like tickets to concerts and sporting events and golf packages as part of a silent auction.

Organizers are also looking for tee/green sponsors. Sign sponsorships are $100 for a laser-printed tee/green sign. Hole sponsorships are $1,000 and include a foursome for golf and the tee/green sign.

Response has been slow because the NCS event is competing with golf outings sponsored by both the Garden City and Canton Chambers of Commerce, but organizers are hopeful of reaching their goal, Farley said.

"It's a tough time of the year to do it because there are so many golf outings going on, but we have to meet our goal," Farley said. "This will help us make up for areas where we've seen contributions decline, while we still fundraise in other areas."

The deadline for golfers to register for the outing and for tee/green sponsors is Wednesday, Aug. 10. For more information, call Farley at 425-4940.

Like the pros: Paul Di Pirro of Top Value Muffler Shops and Peggy Studzinski, a Northwestern Community Services board member, are spearheading the Aug. 12 golf benefit.

Searching the aisles of Meijer's at 10 p.m., I learned a few things: One, mid-July is time for the dark, wintry items to be on display. Pastels? Passe. Two, square necklines and large white buttons make me look like a pilgrim. Three, makeup is REAL expensive. Lipstick, for instance. You get this little tube of waxy color for five bucks. (Five bucks? I was outraged. Just to make your lips a shade darker? Why not just bite on them real hard? I headed for a little basket of CLEARANCE lipsticks, looked for the reddest one, and threw it in my shopping cart.) Four, clunky earrings, well, earrings in general... couldn't find

How am I suppose to conceal what I am? I AM a harried housewife who just had another baby. It's impossible for me to look nice.

em. Oh well. Five, stretchy cloth headbands with knots at the top make me look 30 years younger.

The next morning I awoke extra early. First, I cut the tags from my sturdy headband and my new black dress with its white dots, then showered, used the electric hair curlers, put my red lipstick on, found earrings in my drawer that had backs, applied some 13-year-old rouge — or is it blush? — to attain the same effect as when your 2-year-old blurts out in church that his "penis is wrecked" which it isn't, his diaper is just too tight, but that's neither here nor there.

So anyway, with red cheeks, red lips, fluffed hair, a dark dress, three of my four children, off to the studio I went. As I pushed Joe and Jack in the stroller across the parking lot, some wind severely maimed my hair. And then Carmen and I struggled mightily to get the stroller up the many concrete steps.

I arrived a trifle sweaty and a bit mussy, but I made it in spite of it all. And so, I smiled.

Finland may count toward credit here.

"They won't automatically (transfer over); they'll accept the language credits because I'll have to learn Finnish," he said. "What I have to do is I have to send back summaries of the courses I'll be taking and they'll decide if they're appropriate courses."

Not too many seniors leave to study abroad, according to Gideon Levenbach who, along with his wife, is a local representative for the American Institute for Foreign Studies Scholarship Foundation.

"That's very unusual," Gideon Levenbach said. "The outbound is very small. Part of it is they don't want to give up their activities, and sometimes they have trouble getting credit for the year. Senior year is always a very special year for American students. It's not a special year in foreign countries."

In other countries, students usually only celebrate graduation from college. So when they attend a U.S. high school during senior year Levenbach said it's a "real thrill" for the visiting teens. Neither student had planned specifically to miss their senior year. It just happened that way.

"Actually, I always wanted to be an exchange student... I just went through with it this year. There's a lot of paperwork I had to fill out. I found time this time," Neville said.

Volunteers would commit to two-four hours a week and must have their own transportation and tuberculosis testing. Training is provided by Hospice of Michigan Cancer Foundation.

For more information, call Lyn Semeyn at (810) 477-7400.

The Michigan State Fairgrounds Exposition Center, at 1120 W. State Fair Ave., Detroit, needs volunteer help for the 1994 Michigan State Fair Aug. 25 through Sept. 5.

Volunteers are needed to work four- to six-hour shifts in the information booths, as administrative help, setting up and decorating exhibits, parking lot attendants, merchandise sellers, merchandise sellers golf-cart drivers and general cleanup.

'Roommates' paints vivid family picture

Roommates: My Grandfather's Story," by Max Apple (211 pp., Warner Books, $19.95.)

"In a big gray clapboard house in the industrial district of Grand Rapids my family began, like many immigrants, to put all they had into their children. . . . At home we spoke Yiddish, but at school my sisters and I hung on to English like the life raft it was."

So writes award-winning author, Max Apple ("The Oranging of America," "Free Agents"), of his beginnings.

"Roommates" is not a story of Max Apple as a writer, however. It is the true-life story of a man and the family to which he belongs, and the way each of them ultimately deals with a terrible tragedy that touches their lives. (Also, it should be noted that it is something other than what its sub-title implies, for it often focuses up-close on individuals other than Apple's enigmatic grandfather, Herman "Rocky" Goldstein.)

In 1968, Apple (now a professor of English at Rice University in Houston) may have been the only student enrolled at the University of Michigan whose roommate was his 93-year-old grandfather. Though the two didn't know it at the time, they would either be "roommates," or live in very close proximity to each other for the rest of Rocky's long life.

This did not mean that they got along well. (Hardly anyone got along well with the irascible, argumentative Rocky.) Neither did it mean that they lived side by side because Rocky, in his old age, grew utterly dependent on Max. As a matter of fact, at times, it seems to have worked the other way around; it is hard to imagine the grandson ever being able to break the ties that bound these two men together until Rocky's death in 1982 at the age of 106.

Max explains his apparently unequivocal devotion toward his difficult grandfather as "filial affection." It's not an explanation, but then who can ever really explain love in any of its various forms?

In any event, Rocky is so difficult that he sometimes comes across as downright mean-spirited, making his grandson's devotion not just maddening, but seemingly mad as well. For example, in a snit over his grandson's choice of a bride, Rocky refuses to attend the wedding, staying at home and locking himself in the basement to sulk. This prompts Max's response: "During the ceremony, I didn't pay attention, all I thought about was the stubborn old man in the basement."

At another time, when Max's then-fiancee, Debby, invites Rocky to join in an Ann Arbor softball game, the old man spits in response. Later, Debby, hurt and angry, tells Max, "You'd make an excuse for the guy . . . if he had killed every kid on the playground." At the time, you've got to wonder if she isn't right.

Ultimately, though, the aging grandfather redeems himself, many times over. At 100-plus years, he steps in when tragedy strikes and, in any way he can think of, acts as the glue which will hold his much-younger family together through a long and painful nightmare.

Max Apple is at his best when showing us in small but telling ways, the day-to-day reality of this tragedy, the sometimes peculiar coping devices we come up with to bear the unbearable, the abiding value of humor, and the ways that ordinary people sometimes turn extraordinary in the face of extraordinary events. In doing this, he rarely lapses into an excess of sentimentality, and never into cynicism.

Though he paints a touching portrait of his complicated grandfather, the vivid picture he captures of his own two small children as they try to live with their loss may exceed everything else Max Apple accomplishes here. By the time you close this book, you'll feel you personally know the quick-witted, in-sightful little girl who finds unlikely solace in baseball statistics, and the small boy who plays tight defense with TV cartoons and an amazing Super Ball collection.

Again, this is the story of a family. As in our own families, these people may touch us, please us, surprise us, tickle us, frustrate us, sadden us, madden us, gladden us.

In the end, they may, for the most part, remain enigmas, as some in our own family do. Somehow, though, having met them, we feel enlarged and enlightened. Even with all their foibles, we miss them when they are gone, and find ourselves wishing their visits could have lasted much, much longer.

Sculptor works in Italian tradition

The Livonia Arts Commission presents an entire show of such work by sculptor Sergio De Giusti Aug. 8 to Sept. 10 in the Civic Center Library Fine Arts Gallery.

STAFF WRITER

Working in clay to sketch a proposed relief for permanent installation in a new Livonia cultural center Sergio De Giusti, surrounded by the work in his Redford Township studio, looks every bit the internationally commissioned sculptor he is.

Over the years, the Italian born De Giusti has created public art that includes a 20 panel frieze for the rotunda of the State of Michigan Library and Archives Building in Lansing, four bronze panels on the life of Dr. Martin Luther King at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, and bronze doors for the Church of San Vito in Italy.

Sculpture - relief and three dimensional, medallions, and charcoal drawings executed during the last three years by De Giusti will be on exhibit Aug. 8 to Sept. 10 in the Fine Arts Gallery on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, 32777 Five Mile and Farmington Road.

In addition to the original work in this special exhibit, a photographic overview will show the public art De Giusti's created throughout the years since it would be impossible to assemble it in the gallery.

"Sergio is a major name in sculpture. He's one of the few doing the bas relief that has recognizable theme to it, and very Italian. The figures that come off the wall are just incredible," said Jack Olds, the former arts commissioner who invited De Giusti to show.

Abounding Relief: Overflowing with relief, the Redford Township studio of Sergio De Giusti overwhelms visitors. Pictured behind the Italian born sculptor are medallions based on obscure operatic repertoire by Verdi and Wagner eventually to comprise an exhibit focused on opera. ements of moodiness and alienation speak of contemporary society. Adrift in an impressionistic environment, the haunting images intrigue viewers holding them steadfast in the eerie spirits' grasp. "A lot of people have never seen my work. I wanted to show what 30 years of artistic conviction is like and images that reflect what I believe in," said the 52 year old sculptor.

"I came out of a hard edge era of the '60s when nobody was using

WOOD CARVING SHOW

The Livonia Wood Carvers Club hosts their 20th annual Wood carving show Aug. 6-7 at Eddie Edgar Sports Arena, 33841 Lyndon at Farmington Road in Livonia.

More than 100 exhibitors will display wood carvings of wildlife, birds, animals, miniatures, human figures, marquetry and relief inside the arena while outside chain saw artist, Al Heron will carve a variety of subjects from a bare log.

The show offers novices as well as experienced wood carvers the opportunity to pick up the latest, books and videos as well as carving tools, knives, and blanks which already have the shape of the duck or other subjects started.

figures. My works are traditional with a figurative theme. There's a hidden message which deals with the anxieties of our time. People see their own psyche in what I do."

Seemingly at unrest, the figures trigger the mind to produce images of an underworld. Twisting and writhing, bare female torsos surface to cast a totally different light on the work.

"In my work there's a certain kind of darkness, the wrapped figures reflect a warmth and isolation."

De Giusti became fascinated with relief, and the idea of images emerging from a plane, the first time he saw the medium as a child in Italy.

"I work in the tradition of Italian sculptural relief. I found relief mysterious. There's a mystery of what you see. The plasticity and freshness of clay is something I'm always going to love," said De Giusti.

"As far as the wrapped figures, wrapping is a very ancient way of treating the figure. It's a historical concept, shrouding and hiding the figure. In Christianity, there are two concepts of body and soul. Shrouding has always been associated with death, the afterlife and resurrection."

De Giusti quickly stresses, he "doesn't make religious works, but does reflect the Italian tradition of relief. I'm a link to the Italian experience, a product of 20th century Italy."

Born and raised in Maniago, Italy, De Giusti came to this country in 1954. He never forgot his Italian heritage or the long line of masters before him.

"My work has a certain historical derivation. Growing up in Italy, I was influenced by sculptors from Donatello on down. Manzu and Marini are the people I admire. All of us are indebted to someone," said the Detroit Artists Market board member.

Medallions playing on operas by Verdi and Wagner will eventually be exhibited together in a show focusing on opera. De Giusti, who has designed official medallions for the U.S. Department of Treasury, primarily dramatizes obscure operas in this most current series.

"I tried to avoid standard operatic repertoire. I went for images from Verdi's 'Attila the Hun' and Wagner's, 'The Flying Dutchman' that deals with the turmoil of a man doomed to sail the seas forever until a woman saves him."

Besides De Giusti's medallie sculpture and relief, three dimensional figurative work in the exhibit overwhelm with deep and darkly mysterious, shrouded imagery. "What Work Is" is a visual representation of a poem by Philip Levine. It is the first, three figures of six to come.

De Giusti is very involved with arts-related community events, donating work and serving as an advisor for fund-raising auctions, and curating exhibits. He recently gave a gift of his sculpture to the Italian Consulate in Detroit.

The arts commission will host a reception to meet De Giusti 6:30-8:30 p.m. Monday, Aug. 8 in the gallery.

Library gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday.

Workshop is set on art therapy

Art creates flow in life and in counseling situations. Social workers, counselors and therapists can explore its use in a one-day workshop from the Oakland University Continuum Center.

The workshop, "Art Therapy," will be offered 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on campus. Sylvia Walworth will present the workshop, which also qualifies for six National Board Certified Counselor credits.

The fee is $59; MasterCard and Visa accepted. Register by Tuesday, Aug. 23. Call (810) 370-3033, outside Oakland County, call toll-free 1 (800) 370-3042.

Participants will learn basic art assessment tools that can be used with children and adults. Included will be information on what to look for in clients' drawings and how to move through impasses for self and client. More sophisticated techniques and current applications of art to healing strategies will also be presented.

Campus is easily accessible from both I-75 and M-59.

The Continuum Center is part of OU's Department of Continuing Education, and specializes in programs of professional development and personal enrichment.

Canton Center Road.
 "We're looking for somebody who has some interest in art, and promoting culture and art in the Canton area. They don't have to know a lot about art, but would like to help," said Tim Haber, show co-chair with Marsha Wright.
 "There's more behind the preparations than people realize. We want someone who is willing to put some time into it. We're not settling for an adequate event. We want a first class show."
 Last year's exhibition featured 48 area artists working in a variety of media including painting, pastel, colored pencil sculpture, photography, clay, collage, cast paper and mixed media. Juror, Susan Froelich chose 88 pieces from a field of 115 entries. Artists hailed not only from Canton but Plymouth, Westland, Livonia, Northville, Williamston and Belleville as well.

 "We want this to be a top notch show. We're trying to show artists from Canton but we want to attract big talents from other areas as well. It's open to all artists," said Haber of Canton.
 "We're starting out small and each year we want to improve on it. We're increasing the prize money from $850 to a total of $1,000."
 The gallery showing will be held in the township hall again this year. Once Summit on the Park, a multi-purpose recreational center, is completed in 1995 the artwork will be exhibited in a special area already planned.

 "We're only able to have the show two days but next year we plan to hold it for a month. Once the Summit is built, it will be nice. It's geared toward community and cultural activities," said Haber.
 Applications are being accepted through Sept. 23. Pi Benio, Adrian College art department chair, will juror the exhibit from slides submitted by artists Oct. 8. The fee is $10 for Canton artists, $15 for non residents. Commission fees will not be subtracted from sales of artwork.
 For more information on the gallery showing of fine arts or an application call Haber (313) 455-5045, or Wright (313) 453-8021.

REAL ESTATE LISTINGS

Know tax impact from selling, renting

Homeowners who want to relocate or move to larger or smaller quarters should determine whether it's in their best interest to sell or rent their current residence.

In making this decision, the Farmington Hills-based Michigan Association of CPAs urges homeowners to consider the impact their decision will have on their tax bill and personal financial situation.

Selling a principal residence is the best, and often the only, option for homeowners who need the equity in their current home for a down payment on a new one.

Homeowners who realize profits on the sale of their primary residence may qualify for a special tax break that can help to put their next home within financial reach: The tax law allows homeowners to defer taxes on their real estate gains if they purchase or construct another residence of equal or greater value within two years before or two years after the sale date of their principal residence.

So, for example, if you realize

$50,000 profit on the sale of your home that is taxed at the 28-percent tax rate, you'll be able to defer $14,000 in taxes by buying another home of equal or greater value within the specified time period.

Older homeowners may qualify for an even greater tax break. Generally, individuals who are age 55 or older before the date of the sale of their residence, and have occupied the residence for three out of the last five years, may exclude from their income a gain of up to $125,000 ($62,500 for a married individual filing separately). This tax break is especially advantageous to individuals who choose to trade down to a less-expensive residence and plan to rely on the profits from the home sale to support their retirement lifestyle or other special needs.

A homeowner who puts his or her former principal residence on the market, and then encounters difficulty in selling it, may be able to rent the residence for a temporary period and still defer gain on the sale. However, the homeowner must demonstrate that the rental is in contemplation of the sale. Otherwise, the personal residence is deemed to have been converted to a rental property, in which case the deferral of taxes on the gain is not allowed.

For example, a homeowner relocates as a result of a job change, puts his or her residence on the market, and buys a new home in another city. After several months, the old residence doesn't sell. Preferring to have the house occupied rather than empty during the sales period, the homeowner then decides to rent the residence while continuing efforts to sell it.

Under conditions like these, the IRS typically views the homeowner's rental action as a temporary measure and is likely to allow the gain on the sale of the residence to be deferred.

On the other hand, if the homeowner relocated and rented out the former residence without ever trying to sell it, the former residence will most likely be treated as a rental property for tax purposes. For some individuals, converting a former residence into a rental property may offer greater financial rewards. It gives owners the opportunity to generate steady income.

What's more, although owners cannot defer the gain on the sale of a rental property, they are entitled to a wide range of tax deductions that can sharply reduce their tax bill.

Mortgage interest, property taxes and costs associated with operating and maintaining the rental property, including insurance premiums, repairs and depreciation, may be deducted from rental income. Net losses (generally up to $25,000) can then be subtracted from the owner's gross income. Losses that cannot be deducted in the year incurred can be carried over into future tax years.

Since special tax rules apply in the year a property is converted to a rental, an owner may want to consult with a tax professional before making the conversion.

Cite misconduct as a defense; compare accountant fees

CONDO QUERIES

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q. I am president of a homeowners association and we hired an employee who is now suing us because he is claiming he is handicapped and we have discriminated against him. When he filled out his employment application, he was not completely honest about his employment history since he was fired for unsatisfactory performance. Do we have any basis to defend this action? We do not have any insurance coverage.

A. You should consult with an attorney as soon as possible, but there is some good news. A recent Federal Circuit Court Appeals decision has found that an employer can defeat a discrimination suit by uncovering evidence of employee misconduct that was not disclosed at the time of hiring after the suit is filed by arguing that the employee should not have been hired at all (or should have been fired sooner).

The Sixth Court, which covers Michigan, also has accepted this defense. However, the burden is on the employer, who must actually prove that it would not have hired the employee if it had known about the omission.

Q. I am a board of directors member of a condominium that has obtained several bids from accountants. One accountant charges $130 per hour, but bills one-quarter hour for every phone call. The other accountant, who is more experienced, charges $170 per hour, but bills in tenths of an hour. I am trying to convince the board that the $170 per hour accountant may well be cheaper than the $130 per hour accountant, both from experience and actual cost. How can I convince the board of that?

A. An accountant who charges $170 per hour may well be more experienced and well known in his/her field, and may be able to accomplish the task more expeditiously and efficiently than the $130 per hour accountant. Moreover, a five-minute phone call to the $130 per hour accountant who bills in quarter hours, which is not uncommon in the accounting and/or legal profession, will cost the client $32.50, whereas a five-minute conversation with the $170 per hour accountant will actually cost the association less, i.e., $17.

Also, the "cost" should not be the primary or sole criterion in determining whom to choose as a professional. The board should look into factors such as flat fees, hourly rates for other personnel in the firm, interest charges, as well as the actual cost, as in this example, of a phone call that turns out to be cheaper, even though the hourly rate charged by the more expensive accountant is greater.

Lake estate: This four-bedroom colonial, with a three-car, side-entry garage, is expected to be a popular model at Troy Lake Estates.

Builder expects moving up buyers

Nothing succeeds like success. Residential builders who create a niche and establish a loyal following usually enjoy a great deal of success. And when a special piece of property comes along, you almost can't miss.

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Builder Gary Tadian knows Troy.

So when a developer transformed a gravel pit off John R north of Square Lake Road into a spring-fed pond with 60 buildable lots, Tadian just knew he was the right guy to construct and deliver the houses.

After all, he had already done a dozen subdivisions in the city. So he acquired the property, Troy Lake Estates, and hopes to have models ready by fall. He expects a quick sell.

"We feel this will be a successful development obviously for the lake, the surroundings - there's wetlands to the south that probably won't be developed and to the east, city land - and the Troy schools," Tadian said.

"We've built in Troy since the early '70s," he said. "We're comfortable with the municipality. We have a following here now. We feel good about our reputation here. We key on customer service. We take care of customers, so they come back."

A dozen deposits had been placed at Troy Lake Estates as of last week.

Buyers can choose from among three models - two colonials and a two-story with the master bedroom suite on the main floor. Size ranges from 2,700 to 3,200 square feet. Price ranges from $250,000 to $325,000.

All models come with a three-car garage, fireplace, first-floor utility room, basement or walkout, oven, microwave, dishwasher and garbage disposal in kitchens and whirlpool tub and separate shower in master suites.

Tadian anticipates that the most popular model will be a 3,000-square-foot colonial with four bedrooms, 2½ baths, living room, family room, den, kitchen and dining room.

That house would cost $260,000 with lake access, more than $300,000 on a lakefront lot with walkout. Twenty-two lakefront lots are available.

The site will feature city water and sewers and sidewalks. Exteriors will be mostly brick. Air conditioning is an extra option.

Tadian said he wouldn't be surprised if some prospective buyers move from just across the street.

"Emerald Lakes has been a popular project in Troy," he said. "I feel we're going to get some updated buyers for this community. We may get people who like the area, like to live on a lake. It would be a natural move for them."

"There will be professionals here. We're going to get older families, younger families, empty-nesters. We're going to get high-tech executives. I think we'll have an array of consumers here."

Troy residents tend to like to stay in the city when they upgrade, Tadian said. Transferees also are drawn to the area.

"It's a traditional community. I build traditional housing. We've got a following here. We know the brokerage community."

"We know customer expectations. We don't give them more. We don't give them less. We have it fine-tuned. If we build in 20 communities, we can't do that."

"Words I keep hearing when I'm in here is it's a peaceful environment, a lake community with all the city features. M-59 and I-75 are real close."

Office market up in most suburbs

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

The overall metro Detroit office market has shown dramatic improvement during the first six months of this year, but different suburban submarkets had different results, at least one analyst concludes.

"In the vast majority of communities, the question is no longer if there is a recovery taking place, but rather how pronounced will it be," reported Joel I. Feldman, senior vice president and associate broker with First Commercial Realty & Development in Southfield.

Since January, an overall reduction of 435,000 square feet of vacant office space has occurred, Feldman reported. Some 48.6 million square feet in 410 buildings was surveyed.

"It's a function of better economic conditions, pent-up demand and we're coming out of the recession," he said. "Decision makers are more likely today to go thumbs up rather than thumbs down about leasing office space."

"This is progress, real, genuine progress, not just the lateral movement of a tenant from one office facility to another."

"Strong leasing activity has resulted in a much healthier relationship between supply and demand. A reduction of vacant space and its replacement by viable tenants has translated into net absorption.

"And finally, the significantly increased geographical spectrum of the recovery is indicative of its scope and its magnitude."

Since July 1, 1993, the overall metro occupancy rate, including downtown Detroit, has increased to 82.5 percent from 81 percent, Feldman reported.

Several local submarkets - Livonia, Bingham Farms, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and Novi - now have occupancy rates of 90 percent or better, he indicated.

Lots of room

However, Troy and Southfield, with rates of 78 and 79 percent, respectively, continue to be major problem areas.

"There are no simple answers to certain situations in specific circumstances."

"The major problem Troy is up against now is they (developers) were most abusive overbuilding during the so-called boom years than in any other municipality in metro Detroit."

The property tax rate for Troy Lake Estates is about $39 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owner of a $287,000 house in the subdivision would pay about $5,600 annually in property taxes.

An annual maintenance fee for the lake and common areas hasn't yet been established.

"The interests, I think, are the lake — it's serene and beautiful — and the school system," said Fran Gutov, sales counselor for Tadian Homes. "People who put deposits down are really excited."

Robert and Cecilia Lawson plan to move across the street from Emerald Lakes to Troy Lake Estates with daughters Lauri, Jennifer and Danielle.

"I'm not on a lake, and that's what interested me — the lake lot," Cecilia Lawson said. "I wanted to move to be on the water. My husband wanted to basically stay in the area."

"I wanted the children to remain in the schools," she said. "I like Athens High School. My oldest will be going to Oakland University, and that's close by. And what of the model itself?"

"I like the first-floor laundry," she said. "The walkout basement is a plus. That means more living space."

Elliot Gold, Lorraine Stefano and their son, Jonathon, also plan to move from one part of Troy to Troy Lake Estates.

"We're in the southern part now. My wife wants to live on water," Gold said. "Our son is three. That's why schools are important."

The colonial's open look and two-story foyer were especially impressive, he said.

"We like the family room/kitchen set-up," Gold said. "They're not right against each other. The family room is a little off to the side."

"The main thing was location — the water and western exposure so the sun would come down in our back yard. We wanted new construction. We didn't want to move into a 25-year-old house."

Until models are completed at Troy Lake Estates, prospective buyers are asked to call Fran Gutov, sales counselor, at 828-7880 to make an appointment to view plans and models at other Tadian building sites.

"Number one, they must retain existing tenants. That means concessions (on rent). But that's a two-edged sword. It helps a rebound, but then you may get the musical building syndrome."

"You also have to attract new tenants. Troy just hasn't been able to do it. You try to sell from amenities you already offer. You have to find the right buttons to push, what companies need."

Feldman was more optimistic about Southfield's prospects for a rebound. He suggested that government officials and developers take a different view of older office buildings in the southern part of the community.

"It's prime for demolition," Feldman said. "Alternative uses I envision would be predominantly retail with some residential, apartments or condominiums."

Southfield is the largest submarket in the metro area, downtown Detroit, second, and Troy, third.

A second quarter office market overview prepared by Cushman & Wakefield of Southfield concurred with Feldman's finding that the vacancy rate in metro Detroit decreased by about one percent during the past year.

PIZZA SUPPLIER

Olender Equipment Co., a Livonia-based, family-owned restaurant equipment dealer, will be the lone supplier of 32 large conveyor pizza ovens to the 1994 Woodstock Festival in New York.

"Olender was the only company capable of furnishing the number of ovens needed on a rental basis," said George Mills, equipment specialist for Olender.

The Woodstock project will be accomplished with 90 percent recycled conveyor ovens.

Upwards of $3 million in pizza sales could result during the four-day period of the concert, some estimate, which is a lot of dough in more ways than one.

AGENCY ACQUIRED

Al Lang, a Bloomfield Hills resident, has signed a long-term contract to remain as president. Lang Insurance Group provides products exclusively for credit unions and their members.

Poyle and Pullen own two other insurance agencies that specialize in business coverage — Poyle Associates in Farmington Hills and the Clarkston Insurance Agency.

REWARD WORKS

Southfield-based Guardian Alarm said response to its Good Neighbor $500 reward program is "overwhelming." The program, designed to help reduce criminal activity and bring communities closer together, covers metro Detroit, Kalamazoo, Lansing and northeast Ohio.

The reward program has three steps: Immediately report a burglary or break-in to police, or give police any information you have about a crime that has occurred in your neighborhood. Next, call Guardian's toll-free number to report the incident. Finally, if the tip results in an arrest and conviction, Guardian gives $500 to the caller, who remains anonymous.

Guardian offers crime prevention packages and will discuss the subject with local groups. The company says it will display a sign at the city or subdivision entrance to warn would-be burglars about the reward program.

You'll need a Guardian reward sticker on your door to participate in the good neighbor program. To get one, call 1 (800) STAY-OUT.

WEBB MILESTONE

The Jervis B. Webb Co., headquartered in Farmington Hills, celebrated its 75th anniversary recently with a picnic and quality celebration day at its New Hudson manufacturing facility. More than 600 employees from southeastern Michigan participated.

SOUDOUGH ONBOARD

Next time you fly Northwest Airlines from Detroit, check out your dinner roll.

Northwest has started serving rolls baked by Sourdough Bread Factory in Pontiac on all its out-bound Detroit dinner flights. The airline will serve Michigan potato, sourdough white and sourdough rosemary olive oil rolls on a two-week rotating schedule.

Sourdough Bread Factory is a division of Unique Restaurant Corp., Bingham Farms. Regional chefs, including Brian Polcyn, owner of Arcadia in Auburn Hills, helped Northwest design its new "A La Carte" menus. Polcyn recommended Sourdough Bread Factory breads to the airline.

Sourdough's retail bakery is adjacent to Trattoria Bruschetta in Novi's Hotel Baronette.

WORLD'S BEST

The Detroit area office of Bozell Worldwide in Southfield was awarded the grand prix trophy, the highest advertising award, at the 41st annual Cannes International Advertising Festival in Cannes, France. The winning ad, "Snow Covered," a 30-second image commercial for Chrysler Corp.'s Jeep division, beat 4,000 entries from 50 countries.

Bozell is the first U.S. advertising agency to win the award since 1986 and the first Detroit agency to ever win the grand prix trophy.

The computer-generated spot, which closes with the line "There's only one Jeep," debuted during the winter Olympics on CBS.

WINS PR AWARD

Judy Wax Goldwasser, owner of Wordwatch corporate writing consultants in Birmingham, won a first-place and an honorable mention at the 13th annual International Association of Business Communicators/Detroit Renaissance Awards.

She won first place for a national public relations campaign and honorable mention in the sales/promotion category for a 12-page Sunday supplement to the Ann Arbor News.

Goldwasser also co-authored

"Unstuck for Words: How to Start and Finish Any Writing Project," published by Cedar Bend Press in Ann Arbor.

WELLNESS CENTER PLANNED

Farmington Hills-based Computare Corp., a computer software and services company, held a groundbreaking ceremony July 1 for an employee wellness center next to its headquarters at 31440 Northwestern Highway, between 13 Mile and Middlebelt.

The 45,000-square-foot facility, for employees and their families, is among the most comprehensive centers ever set up by a Michigan business, the company said.

The center will include daycare for 88 children, a cafeteria for 350 people and a fitness facility with a full-court gymnasium, racquetball court, jogging track and golf training room.

The daycare will be managed by the work/family division of Merrill Palmer Institute, a non-Computare said the on-site facility will enhance its employees' overall health and well-being and "help employees successfully balance the demands of health, family and work life." The company employs 900 people in southeast Michigan.
