Computer equipment sits unused

After much hoopla last year about putting the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools on the high tech highway, the equipment needed for the trip is sitting unused in the schools. Officials say the installation is going as scheduled.

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

After receiving a $535,000 grant from Ameritech amid much hoopla last February, Close Up government teachers and students looked forward to traveling the "information superhighway" by the time school began in September.

In August, $80,000 worth of personal computers were delivered to labs at Plymouth Canton Educational Park. Teachers and students were excited about "distance learning" with personal computers, accessing via Internet the Library of Congress and university data bases. They anticipated "town meetings" on euthanasia, national health care, gay rights and other topics with experts and students from other states.

But none of that is happening. A month has gone by, and still sitting on table tops are boxed Apple computers that feature stereo speakers for CD-quality-sound output; unidirectional microphones for high-quality sound input; Sony color picture tubes; and tilt and swivel bases.

"We've been short-circuited. We're not on the information superhighway; we're stuck in the tollgate with four flat tires," according to Mike McCauley and Bill Gretzinger, Close Up teachers. Close Up is a government class that uses a hands-on approach. "The electricity is there, it's just not hooked up."

"There's no sense of urgency. Do they really care about getting kids onto the superhighway?" asked McCauley. "We want the kids to have fun. The burden is on teachers. But how can I make that happen if I don't have the tools?"

Richard Egli, Plymouth-Canton administrative assistant for community relations, said, "the holdup is

City seeks to increase industrial tax base

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The city's industrial tax base has declined, and Plymouth officials are talking about doing something about it.

City commissioners heard a report Monday from an Industrial Property Task Force which studied the health of Plymouth's small industrial sector.

While small, that sector has traditionally paid a significant share of the city's tax burden — and that keeps taxes down for residents and business owners.

But the task force found that during the last 20 years, the share of taxes paid by city industrial property has declined.

"City commercial property has contributed an increasing share of property tax revenues during the same period," according to the task force report.

Yet, commercial growth "has not been sufficient to offset the decline in industrial tax base, and this has resulted in an increased residential tax burden over the past 20 years," the report stated.

In 1973, industrial firms made up 29 percent of the city's taxable property; now, they make up 11 percent, the task force found.

Meanwhile, the portion of taxable property contributed by commercial businesses has risen from 19 to 25 percent. The contribution of residents

Adistra could locate staffers in Plymouth

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

While Adistra Corp. is moving 200 employees out of Plymouth, another 150-300 employees could be locating here.

That's what company president Chris Boyle told city commissioners on Monday. His appearance at the regular commission meeting was to seek approval from the commission for the move of employees to Romulus.

Commission approval is necessary, in order for Adistra to get a tax abatement for its new facility.

Commissioner Dennis Shrewsbury asked Boyle if commissioners rejected the move and Adistra lost its tax abatement, would employees still move to Romulus?

"We're committed to the move," Boyle said.

He told commissioners the company had been a good corporate citizen for 30 years. "Adistra Corp. has spent many millions of dollars for our own use (renovating buildings), but with the city of Plymouth in mind," he said.

New program will keep heat on for needy

A novel program called The Good Neighbor Team, designed to "keep the heat on" this winter for needy people in western Wayne County, Farmington and Farmington Hills, has been announced by the Observer Newspapers, Bergstrom's Inc. of Livonia and the Salvation Army.

The Observer, with offices in downtown Plymouth and Livonia, and Bergstrom's, headquartered in Livonia and serving the suburbs, devised the plan after Bergstrom's offered to donate 800 hours of service work to those in need.

The Salvation Army offered its services as a clearinghouse for requests.

The Good Neighbor Team is designed to provide furnace service and repair, and in some cases, parts and furnaces, to the needy who have no financial or other means of keeping the heat on in their homes this winter.

Carrier Corp. heating division, which Bergstrom's represents, has offered to donate some parts and equipment.

Requests should be phoned to the "Good Neighbor Team" number, 313-953-2048. An automated answering service will record the request. This number is not to be used as an emergency number, since it is automated and phone calls are not monitored by live operators.

"We were looking for a way to say thanks to those in our service area for 37 years of good business in the western counties, and found that the Observer Newspapers were looking for ways to do the same thing," said Dan Bergstrom, president of the heating, plumbing and air conditioning company, located at 30633 Schoolcraft Road (at I-96).

Bergstrom believes that there may be a number of destitute people in our communities, especially the elderly and alone, without close relatives and friends, who do not have the money to service and repair their furnaces.

Some of these people are too proud to ask for assistance, so a "good neighbor" has to request it for them.

Steve Barnaby, publisher of the Observer Newspapers, headquartered at Schoolcraft Road and Levan, said, "As the local newspaper of choice, we believe our mission is to serve our local communities in many ways in addition to bringing news and information."

"We're delighted that the Salvation Army is joining in The Good Neighbor Team with us. Their expertise and reputation for finding, screening and taking care of hardship cases will be invaluable," said Barnaby.

Anyone in the Observer Newspapers distribution area may make a request for themselves, a neighbor, or any other hardship case of which they know.

Communities covered are: Plymouth Township, Plymouth, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Livonia, Redford Township, Westland, Garden City and Canton Township.

two-fold. We ordered the equipment and we did not have an electrician until the beginning of the school year. It was one of the positions just recently authorized to be hired back.

"We've been working on the most urgent (high technology projects in the district.) This falls into the next category," he said. High technology equipment is being installed in schools throughout the district.

David Rodwell, director of technology and research, said things are "moving along very well in terms of what the expectations are. Furniture for both labs (at Canton and Salem high schools) and the computer network are scheduled for installation this week and next week. Everything's being done as it was scheduled."

Coordinating the installation is Paul Rodwell, Dave Rodwell's son, of The Computer Connection of Plymouth.

Teachers will be trained on the equipment "right after it's installed," said Dave Rodwell. Times and dates "have to be coordinated with principals and teachers."

Students are anxious to work with the equipment, which will enable them to do computerized video presentations replete with sound bytes in place of term pa-walked into the Close Up room one day last week to find a single computer on line. "When I came in and saw it hooked up, I was really happy. We can't wait til they get the rest going," he said.

Canton junior Allan Carpenter is anxious as well. "In Close Up, we are going to be able to listen (with interactive television) to guest speakers and talk to students across the country."

Area hunters urged to report success

COMMUNITY Buck Pole

It's that time of year again. The crisp fall days are more than a harbinger of winter, it's the time of year when our nimble hunters take to the woods in quest of deer.

And again this year the Plymouth Observer is reviving an old northern Michigan tradition, the buck pole. In those small, rural communities successful hunters would bring their deer to town and hang them on the community buck pole for all to see.

We can't manage a pole in our parking lot, but we do use the names of successful hunters. We'll also take your picture with your kill.

To report success during the deer archery season which just opened, call us at 459-2700. Ask for Jeff Counts, the editor, Kevin Brown or Bridget Moran. If you're headed home and have that deer on your car, stop by our office and have your picture taken. We're located at 744 Wing St., Plymouth, and we're open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For hunters who would like to fax us their stories, our number is 459-4224.

Also, hunters can submit photos of themselves taken with their deer.

Leave forests and parks clean.

Dispute keeps parking lot at high school closed

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Since the week before Labor Day, the new visitors' parking lot at Plymouth Salem High School has been paved and ready for use. But because of a disagreement with Wayne County over the right-of-way, no one has been able to use the 66-car lot along Joy Road.

The entrance and exit are unpaved and closed to traffic. Visitors must park in either the student or staff parking lots.

The county wants the district to pay the $50,000 tab for a passing lane to be constructed on Joy in front of the new lot. Wayne County also is asking the district to widen Joy from Canton Center Road almost to McClumpus Road to handle increased traffic.

The district says the expansion isn't needed.

"We gave Wayne County drawings for their review that show the master plan for the high school site for the entire park," said Mike Schlenke, project manager with Barton Malow, the firm overseeing improvements approved by voters in a bond issue. "They wanted us to widen Joy Road, adding a passing lane to turn into the high school. When you do anything within the rights of way to those county roads, they can force you to do things."

Schlenke estimates the cost of widening Joy at close to half a million dollars. "Light poles have to be moved, sewers installed, and sidewalks re-worked. By the time you get done, it's a major undertaking."

Dale Goby, Plymouth-Canton director of transportation, said the district's subcontractor "has put together an appeal to Wayne County, appealing the determination to put a passing lane on the north side of Joy Road. We feel it is not needed. We don't anticipate any increased traffic as a result of the improvements on the site."

If anything, traffic snarls before and after school have been alleviated with improvements the district voluntarily made during the summer.

A newly constructed bridge allows students to drive from Canton to Salem high school. Parking lots at both schools have been expanded. Students who go to Salem and live south of the park can now drive into the neighboring Sunflower subdivision. Plans call for a road that will start at the park and extend west to Beck. A passing lane on Canton Center Road in front of Canton High School has been added.

"That was where there's high volume, and it seemed more justifiable," said Goby. "The visitor/parent drop-off lot carries less volume, and it's less warranted." The $50,000 could be better spent on higher-priority instructional needs, he said.

Why didn't the district just leave the existing entrance and exit in place? "We could have, but people at the park had tremendous input into what the needs were. The previous circular drive was inadequate," said Goby.

Goby isn't sure how soon the issue will be resolved. "I would think it would be done very shortly, but I really don't have a projection at this point. We're trying to expedite that."

"The county has the best interest of citizens in mind, and tries to have developers seeking permits make all kinds of improvements. That's their opportunity to make major improvements to roadways without charging taxpayers. In this instance, it's taxpayers' bill either way."

The developer of the new subdivision on the north side of Joy isn't being asked to foot the bill "because the sub really isn't impacted," he added. It's not feasible to look at how other metro area high schools have handled similar situations "because there's no precedent involving two high schools at two major cross roads at one site," Goby said. "The bulk of the question is why force the school district to pay for widening Joy?" said Schlenke, who plans to ask the county for a permit allowing temporary asphalt or stone.

"Once we get the permit, we can have the job done within a week. But right now, we're in limbo."

Gov. John Engler caught wind of the snafu Friday, when Richard Egli, the schools' community relations director, was fined $1 at a Plymouth Rotary meeting attended by the governor.

Plymouth city attorney Ron Lowe parked in the closed lot when he visited Salem recently, and was ticketed by security guard and former Detroit Lion Homer Elias. Egli took the heat and coughed up the dough.

Salvation Army looking to fill up food pantry

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

If you want to make a difference in the lives of Plymouth and Canton families, "Make A Difference Day" Saturday, Oct. 22, is for you.

That's the day you can help replenish the dwindling food supplies — given to area needy families — at the Salvation Army food pantry in Plymouth.

"It's set up so an individual can do it or a community," said Kathleen Salla, Canton's new volunteer coordinator. "I thought this was a great opportunity for people to be involved."

On average, the Salvation Army provides food for 100-105 families monthly. Approximately 60-70 percent who are served are Canton residents, said Bill Roberts, Salvation Army social services director.

"The shelves are very low now. It's starting to come in as we have informed the public of our needs. This May through September we were going week to week. It was through the grace of God we got the food out."

"Make A Difference Day" will occur on the National Day of Volunteering. And volunteering is right up Salla's alley. She's in charge of organizing volunteers for a variety of causes and organizations, as well as organizing the groups that need volunteers.

For Oct. 22, Salla is looking for individuals, clubs, organizations, Girl and Boy Scout troops or neighborhoods who want to help out needy families. There's a host of possible volunteer activities in which you can be involved.

If you're sponsoring a neighborhood effort, you can set up a collection site to have neighbors deliver the food. Or you can volunteer two to four hours at a collection site. A site might be set up at Canton Township Hall.

"The idea is that we deliver it all on Oct. 22," Salla said. "We have two missions here. One is to help the Salvation Army. The other is to promote the idea of volunteering and what can be accomplished if we all work together."

If you want to volunteer, call Salla at 397-6450.

Salla is also seeking volunteers for other community efforts. Planning is under way for the Project Arts' Juried Gallery Showing of Fine Arts '94, Oct. 21-23. Volunteers are needed to help set up the show, oversee the refreshment table and serve as hosts or hostesses.

Another big community project in need of volunteers is the Canton Community Playscape. More than 1,500 volunteers are needed to participate in a variety of activities. The playscape will be built by volunteers. Design Day — when the playscape will be designed — is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 27. For more information, call 397-9820 or 397-6450.

Volunteers also are needed for the following efforts. If you are interested, call Salla, 397-6450:

- Help human service agencies while updating your office skills by volunteering for current openings at First Step, Growth Works and the Salvation Army. Positions involve general office skills. Flexible hours can be arranged. Call Salla for information.

- If you have a special interest or hobby, volunteer instructors are needed for craft and enrichment classes at Canton Senior Center, Canton Place and the Salvation Army Community Center.

- A ceramics instructor for adults is needed at the Salvation Army Community Center in Plymouth. This would require a few hours once a week. Classes would be during the day.

- The Canton Township finance department is in need of a volunteer to help the staff with a variety of finance-related tasks such as accounts payable, water and sewer billing. Some general office skills are needed.

- History buffs can learn about history of the community and historic restoration techniques by helping as a volunteer on the Bartlett-Travis House restoration project. There's plenty of opportunities to volunteer on an as-needed basis.

- The Plymouth Symphony is looking for a meticulous volunteer to serve as a historian. Responsibilities include clipping newspaper articles and compiling historical information for the symphony. Most of the work could be done in your home. Other volunteer opportunities are available as the symphony begins its 1994-95 season.

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Empty shelves: Bill Roberts, Salvation Army social services director, is accepting food donations to stock the shelves. Food baskets are donated to needy families monthly. Volunteers are sought to help collect and deliver food to the Salvation Army on Oct. 22, which is "Make A Difference Day" in Canton.

- If you have carpentry, painting or repair skills, your occasional volunteer help would be appreciated by Growth Works, Canton Senior Center and the Plymouth Symphony. One-time projects can be scheduled at your convenience.
- If you like to drive, senior adults at Canton Place could use your help to get to doctor appointments, errands and shopping.

- The Plymouth Community Arts Council has need of a volunteer to help with the Art Rental Gallery. Works of art are available to the community on a rental basis. The council needs someone to assist by completing rental cards and receiving returned art. The gallery is in the Plymouth District Library. Volunteer hours are flexible.

Gallery Walk called a success

Rain on Friday night and Saturday wasn't enough to dull the success of the first-ever Gallery Walk, say organizers and gallery owners.

"Maybe we should make it a twice-a-year event," said Native West gallery owner Annette Horn, who helped organize it.

The event was sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. The group sought to raise money for operations to promote art in Plymouth through auctions at each of the 12 downtown galleries that participated.

"We estimate we had between 5,000-6,000 attendees. For a first time event it was very successful," Horn said.

Horn said she planned today to total art council proceeds from the event.

"I talked to all the gallery owners, some I believe sold a little bit more on Sunday, but I believe every gallery was happy about the exposure," said Randy Lee, arts council director.

In addition to enjoying the art, attendees also got to sample food from various restaurants at each gallery, and listen to musicians playing outdoors.

"The music made for a real nice atmosphere. If people weren't buying they assured us they'd be back," Horn said.

Performing musicians included saxophone players Paul Johannes and Joe Sachs, six members of the Plymouth Symphony and a folk trio.

Horn said her business was up by over 300 people on Friday alone. "It more than likely helped other retailers as well," she said.

Organizers plan a meeting next week to evaluate the event.

The Gallery Walk even drew a California man who flew in just for the event, Horn said.

Miller Woods appraisal sought

The Plymouth-Canton School Board is seeking an appraisal of Miller Woods.

Miller Woods is a 10-acre climax beech and maple forest that's used as an outdoor laboratory by the school district and the University of Michigan.

The woods — off Powell Road east of Beck Road, on a 40-acre parcel purchased for a possible elementary school site — contain trees and plant life that date back 500 years.

Miller Woods has become problematic in recent years. Neighbors have been at odds over the merits of a chain-link fence that now surrounds the forest. The district regularly has to remove debris and old appliances that are dumped in the woods, despite the fence. Signs labeling the ferns, plants and trees are torn down.

Area residents want to pave Powell Road, and the school district would be assessed its portion of the cost. "We'd be assessed a per-lot charge along with the subdivisions," said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business.

The district also is looking into deed restrictions governing the preservation of the woods.

4 major properties on city list

In their report to city commissioners on Monday, members of the Industrial Property Task Force named four major problem industrial properties.

The city needs to become more involved in helping to solve the problems of these properties, and also the problems of smaller vacant properties," the task force found.

The properties are

- Highland Superstores, 909 N.

Sheldon Road. Action Distributing Co., a Livonia beer distributor, is seeking to buy the property and is seeking tax breaks from the city on renovations to the 420,450 square foot facility

■ Bathey Manufacturing, 100 S Mill Back property taxes and interest owed on the 16.5 acre property are more than $2 million. The value and effective reuse of the buildings on the site is limited, even after contamination is sues are resolved. Still, the large site has potential for significant new development, the task force reported.

■ Dunn Steel, 300 Dunn St. Only 1.5 acres of the 5-acre site are being used by a plant food fertilizer manufacturer, and city officials could review the property status with the owner to see if there is interest in more extensive use for the property which includes a 63,940 square foot building. ■ Stahl Building, 800 Junction. Current owner Bay Bank of Massachusetts is talking with a former owner about contamination of the site years ago when it was used for coal gasification, and possible litigation, the task force reported. Roof repairs that could cost $100,000-$200,000 are also needed. Buyers have expressed interest, but nothing can happen until the contamination problem is resolved.

He told city commissioners that the move of 200 employees from the city could benefit Plymouth. "Frankly I think it's good news," he said.

First, he said departing warehouse employees would be replaced with high tech employees whom one city official said would have more money to spend in downtown businesses.

"It is my intention to go further and rehabilitate parts of the building that will be vacated,"

Boyle said of a current Adistra building on Hamilton Street.

Boyle told The Plymouth Observer Sept. 2 that moving operations out of Plymouth is an option, when the lease on Adistra's Plymouth facility expires in five years.

He told commissioners on Monday, "We could be here another 10, 15 or 20 years," adding there are no current plans to leave.

Also, Boyle said the Plymouth marketing and administrative facility could remain separate from the Romulus warehouse and distribution center, saying the two didn't have to be in close proximity.

Of requests for transfer that pave the way for tax abatements, "We've had a few of these over the years," Commissioner John Vos said. "This is one situation where we've had some pluses."

The commission voted unanimously to grant the transfer, allowing Adistra to get a tax abatement in Romulus.

"We want to do everything we can do to help you prosper. It's good for us and good for you," Mayor Doug Miller said.

Construction of a 470,000-square-foot building is planned in Romulus, and will be ready to occupy by spring, according to the company.

Adistra is a marketing company using information systems, teleservices, printing and distribution for clients.

Plymouth police destroy ailing raccoon

Plymouth police responded Oct. 1 to a resident's call concerning a sick or injured animal at Arthur and William streets. An officer arrived to find a raccoon on the sidewalk. It was alive but not moving.

The officer placed the raccoon on the grass and killed it with a 22-caliber rifle.

CSX cited

CSX Transportation was cited for obstructing traffic three times

Oct. 1. One train blocked traffic at the Main Street crossing for seven minutes at 8 a.m. The southbound train, which had two engines and no caboose, was moving at less than 10 miles per hour.

CSX was cited for blocking traffic at the Farmer Street crossing for nine minutes at 7:57 a.m.

The third citation was written when a westbound train obstructed traffic at the Hollbrook crossing for eight minutes, 41 seconds later that morning.

toward the city tax base has risen from 52 to 64 percent, the task force found.

Underused industrial properties — including the Stahl Manufacturing property, the former Highland Appliance property, and others — "are failing to provide their employment potential as well as their tax revenue potential," the report stated.

Ken Merrill, chairman of the task force, presented the report to commissioners at their regular meeting. Other members of the task force are Hugh Harsha, former city commissioner Jim Jabara, City Commissioner Bob Jones and City Manager Steve Walters.

Middle schools hoping to link up electronically

Middle school students and teachers will have a wider range of information at their fingertips if the Michigan Public Utilities Commission approves a multi-million dollar grant for telecommunications linkups among schools in southeast Michigan.

The basis for the grant application, made by the Wayne County Regional Education Service Agency, was a $10.5 million judgment against Ameritech and other phone carriers for overcharging consumers. A lawsuit was brought by the utilities commission. "The court ruling awarded the money to be spent in educational grants," said Wayne Ruchy, a grants educational consultant with RESA.

If it's approved, the grant would provide enough money to link up middle schools with administrative offices and other schools in a wide network.

"Every school board office and middle school would be linked with administrative data and instructional data," said Ruchy. "Schools would have direct access to Internet. They could transport educational material across the country.

"Things like math and science are being taught in a new way. For example, students could compare air or water quality samples in their area to other areas.

"It's a whole new approach to education — to construct knowledge, to exchange ideas for fuller understanding."

The grant asks for $4.7 million. Some 65 percent of the entire student population of the state lives in southeast Michigan.

"We are expecting to hear about the grant before the November election," said Ruchy. "This is an important piece in the Engler administration."

Wife of car dealer remembered

Joyce Massey, deceased wife of Don Massey of Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth, was remembered for her determination and grace and for her avid love of gardening at the dedication on Tuesday, Sept. 20, of the Joyce Massey Memorial Gardens, located on the campus of Madonna University in Livonia.

The ceremony included a blessing upon the gardens by Monsignor Vincent J. Horkan, director of special gifts at Madonna, and the unveiling by Don Massey of a permanent plaque citing the official name and location. Attending were members and friends of the Massey family including the Massey children: son Don Massey Jr. and daughters Brenda Massey Blase and JoEllen Massey. Grandsons Charlie Massey and Matt and Jake Curtis represented the 11 Massey grandchildren.

Mrs. Massey was an astute businesswoman, owning an insurance agency in Plymouth. She died on July 30, 1993, as a result of injuries suffered in an accident which occurred over nine years before her death, exhibiting tremendous strength and determination during her arduous battle to recover.

"It is our hope that this permanent testimony will give remembrance to the gracious lady known as Joyce Massey," said Sister M. Francilene, Madonna University president. "Anyone visiting Don and Joyce at their Ann Arbor home could not miss the lovely gardens tended by Joyce. Even in her illness she would point to her flowers and make sure that one left with an armful of beautiful blooms."

The Masseys have generously supported Madonna for a number of years. For the past five years, Don Massey has donated a new Cadillac to be raffled at the "Around the World" scholarship dinner auction with all proceeds designated for student scholarships. In Joyce's memory, he established the Joyce and Don Massey Endowed Scholarship Fund ensuring Madonna University students scholarship assistance now and in the years to come. He and his wife also contributed significantly to the construction of the Madonna library which was completed in 1984.

Blue Cross cleared by court of appeals

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A state Court of Appeals panel has reversed the $1 million verdict against Blue Cross-Blue Shield in the suit of a man who charged malicious prosecution.

George J. Grosso, a staff psychologist at 10 Southfield Clinic in Southfield, was acquitted on the Blues' 1983 charges of fraudulent billing in connection with a probe of the clinic. An owner and business manager pleaded guilty in Oakland Circuit Court.

Grosso sued the Blues for malicious prosecution and won a $1 million verdict. The appeals court ruled 2-1 that Oakland Circuit Judge Francis X. O'Brien "abused (his) discretion by failing to grant (the Blues') motion for a directed verdict (of acquittal). The evidence was insufficient that the (Blues) lacked probable cause before charges were filed by the prosecution."

Appeals Judges Harold Hood and Robert Danhof said,

"Actions for malicious prosecution have long been disfavored and have not been encouraged except in plain cases."

They said the Blues should be immune from a suit for malicious prosecution if it "makes a full and fair disclosure of all material facts to law enforcement officials. . . ." They said there was "probable cause" to believe Grosso had committed fraud, even if they had provided some missing billing information to a State Police detective.

Dissenting was Jeanne Stempien, a Wayne circuit judge assigned to help the Court of Appeals. "Where failure to make a full and fair disclosure causes the prosecutor to believe that probable cause exists, defendant (Blues) is not immune from liability."

Grosso had performed psychological evaluations in a dispute between divorced parents in a child custody case and billed the Blues.

Republicans endorse judge candidates

The Wayne County Republican Committee has made its endorsements for judges on the Wayne County Circuit Court.

There are 15 candidates for 11 judgeships, including 10 incumbents and five challengers.

Two of the challengers, John Callahan of Detroit and Amy Hathaway of Grosse Pointe Park, are running for a seat being vacated by Judge Michael Stacey, who will retire at the end of the year.

In that race, the Republican Committee endorses Callahan.

Of the other 13 candidates, voters can choose 10 to be circuit judges.

The incumbents are William Leo Cahalan of Grosse Ile, Robert

J. Colombo, Jr. of Grosse Pointe, Andrea J. Ferraro of Grosse Pointe, John H. Hausner of Detroit, Arthur J. Lombard of Grosse Pointe Farms, Cynthia D. Stephens of Detroit, Michael J. Talbot of Grosse Pointe Farms, Paul S. Teranes of Grosse Pointe, Kaye Tertzag of Allen Park and Sharon Tevis Finch of Detroit.

Call hotline to get latest on traffic backups

Area motorists can call a toll-free hotline, (800) 968-9394, to get the latest information on changing traffic conditions caused by bridge reconstruction on area freeways.

The hotline is part of the "BridgeFix" motorist information program created by Michigan Department of Transportation.

The hotline will also inform motorists of the upcoming reopening of northbound I-75.

BridgeFix is a three-year bridge rebuilding program that will be completed in late 1996 or early 1997.

A total of 63 bridges are scheduled to be rebuilt over this period.

M-DOT is currently reconstructing nine of these bridges.

Feeling Depressed?

Common symptoms of Depression are sadness, loss of interest or pleasure, insomnia, poor appetite and weight loss, feeling tired, worthless or guilty, and difficulty thinking or concentrating. Some people also have suicidal thoughts, which can be a major risk if their Depression is left untreated.

Depression is among the most common psychiatric conditions. Approximately 6% of adults have at least one significant episode of Depression during their lifetimes. Women are affected twice as often as men. In spite of how common Depression is, it is treated adequately only 50% of the time.

Depression can occur in episodes, with normal times in between, or be continuous and persistent. Occasionally people who suffer from Depression have high or manic episodes as well.

There are many psychological theories regarding the cause of Depression. Biological factors, including possible deficiencies of adrenaline-like neurotransmitter chemicals in the brain, are also potential causes. It is known that Depression tends to run in families, and evidence supports hereditary or genetic factors.

Several new antidepressant medications have recently been introduced. The incidence of side effects are lower with these newer medications, but some people still experience side effects such as agitation and sexual dysfunction. Also, antidepressants currently available must be taken over a period of weeks before they begin to work. Research is underway to develop additional antidepressants that will work faster, for more people, and have even fewer side effects.

The Mood Disorder Institute, 26105 Orchard Lake Rd., Ste. 301, Farmington Hills, is one of approximately 12 locations nationwide studying these new antidepressants. For additional information, or to see if you qualify for this FREE out-patient study, you may call 1-800-882-MOOD.

Services set for Eddie Dansby, SC dean

Edwynna "Eddie" Dansby, dean of college centers at Schoolcraft College, died Tuesday following a brief illness. She was 55. Services are scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday at the John Santelu and Son Funeral Home, 1139 N. Inkster Road, Garden City. Visitation will be 2-5 and 7-9 p.m. today (Thursday).

Schoolcraft College President Richard McDowell called Dansby "a valuable member of the Schoolcraft administrative team." She joined the Schoolcraft College faculty as an associate professor of marketing and applied management in 1979.

She received the 1986 Presidential Recognition Award and later that year was named assistant dean of college centers. In 1987, she assumed the leadership responsibilities at Schoolcraft College-Radcliff in Garden City.

She is survived by her husband, Fred Dansby, former police chief in Westland; sons, Jeff Coplai and Greg Coplai; stepdaughters, Sharon Jones, Lisa Ingram and Carol Tavormina; 12 grandchildren; and parents Edwin and Hil-da Rose and Ruth and Roy Turan.

She was involved in many professional and community organizations, including the University of Michigan Higher Adult and Continuing Education Committee, the American Association of University Women in Community and Junior Colleges (AAWCJC), American Association of Community Junior Colleges, and Delta Pi Epsilon/Beta Gamma Sigma, her college sorority.

In 1986, she was selected to participate in the AAWCJC Leaders for the 1980s mentoring project. She established the Radcliff Advisory Committee and the Wayne County Regional Police Training Center Advisory Committee. She served on the United Community Services Wayne Division Board.

She grew up in Livonia and started college at 16 at Michigan State University. She later earned bachelor's and master's degrees in business education at Eastern Michigan University and a doctorate in higher education administration from the University of Michigan.

On potty time and politics

During dinner recently, Tony announced he'd been nominated for Student Council. "That's terrific news!" I told him. Then his little brother Joe jumped off the chair and sort of wiggled and hopped a couple steps. He was celebrating, how cute! Then he announced, "Pee pee, NOW!" Dinner table political discussion came to a screeching halt. I ran after Joe as he ran to the bathroom.

This was progress. When Joe first began wearing underwear I would take him to the bathroom every 15 minutes regardless. EVERY 15 minutes. Middle of a phone conversation? Click. Middle of making dinner? Burn. Middle of ironing shirts? Scorch. Middle of changing baby Jack's diaper? Yuck. My daily routine had gone down the toilet so to speak.

Life in 15-minute segments. Can't can tomatoes. Can't nurture political careers. Can't follow the plot of "Seinfeld?"

But then, more progress. While Joe and I were playing Play-Doh one afternoon, he suddenly clutched himself and something. I could only make out a few words. "Sprinklings. Unnies. Potty." I started to strip the wet pants and underwear off. But, oh my goodness, they weren't wet. Everything was completely dry.

Learning to live without hair

■ Hillary and Lauren O'Connor have been called "Coneheads" and asked if they're related to Sinead O'Connor. Those are cruel questions for youngsters who have congenital alopecia.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Everyone could learn a little from Hillary and Lauren O'Connor of Livonia.

The 5-year-old and 8-year-old, respectively, were born without hair on their heads, eyes, noses, ears and other parts of their bodies due to a condition called congenital alopecia.

They've been called "Coneheads" by teens shopping in video rental stores. Tactless adults have asked the girls if they're related to alternative pop star Sinead O'Connor, or if they're from outer space.

Obviously, the comments are upsetting to them and their parents.

"It hurts me deeply. We want to protect our children," Charlotte O'Connor said.

But the children have a remarkable sense of self-esteem. Lauren has politely asked people not to point or stare at her. Unwilling to hide their conditions, Lauren and Hillary rarely wear wigs.

"It's hot in it. It's hard to play in one. I don't like to wear it to school because if I take it off I wouldn't know where to put it," said the jovial Lauren, giggling and shrugging her shoulders.

In September, the National Alopecia Areata Foundation among others spent time trying to educate

The O'Connors' case is rare in

The condition often occurs in families whose members have had asthma, hay fever, atopic eczema or other autoimmune conditions such as thyroid disease, vitiligo, early-on-

Family Emergencies.

No two emergencies are exactly alike. So all emergency care shouldn't be the same either. That's why we designed and equipped our emergency department to handle everything from minor accidents to life-threatening injuries. If there are any questions about the seriousness of the emergency, a specially trained nurse is on hand to evaluate the situation and direct you to the appropriate level of treatment.

And whether you're a walk-in patient or require critical care, you'll receive the same quick and personalized medical attention from doctors who are specially trained in emergency medicine.

Our emergency care is backed by the resources of a full-service hospital. It's available 24 hours a day, every day, and it comes with the understanding that when patients arrive, we're ready to help. For more information, call us at 953-2131.

LORENE GREEN

Lorene, I would like to have my handwriting analyzed.

I am 52 and right-handed. I am torn between a career helping people and a sales career and I would like your input. I am also interested in addressing any negative aspects as I am trying to become more whole emotionally, spiritually, mentally and physically. Thank you.

A.W., Livonia

Today's handwriting is large and quickly written. This combination suggests an extrovert who is lively and can think rapidly. She has a strong need to create a physical impression on her environment. And while she wants to be where the action takes place, she also needs time to be alone occasionally. She probably works on creative endeavors at these times.

This is a woman of intelligence. Her mind is quick and tends to focus on the large picture of things, but can also retain a feeling for details. However, details do not have as much appeal as the big issues.

Our writer knows how to make good use of her time. She probably lives by the old adage "Time is money." There appears to be some preoccupation with money or what it represents to her.

She is independent and willing to take risks. To new ideas she is receptive. Her mind is ever working ahead coming up with original ideas of her own.

She has set high goals for herself and means to accomplish them. Efficiency in the workplace has a high priority. She can eliminate the extraneous and get right down to business. And she wants good equipment to help her expedite the job at hand.

This woman has a unique facility for coupling logical reasoning with intuitive insight. She is a political person in the sense she knows which people to cultivate and which ones to leave alone.

This is not a person who shares a great deal of her personal life with others. She can express herself well and can also be tactful when that is important. I can't help wondering, however, if she is aware that she resorts to sarcasm when she feels threatened. Remember that words one has to eat can be hard to digest.

I see a tendency here to want her own way and sometimes she will try to dominate others. I am cognizant that the next statement is going to sound like a contradiction, but she often feels she is the one who must appease or acquiesce to other people. Her disdain for disharmony has a way of compelling her to yield to the wishes of others. So we know she is living with some ambivalence or indecision.

Our writer has a high level of sensitivity to criticism. Easily hurt, she may feel criticized when none is even intended. She wants approval so very much and may not have experienced enough of it in the past.

Her bold signature tells us she wants to be perceived as a sophisticated woman. However, there appears to be a tad of insecurity just beneath the surface.

This handwriting has a sensuous quality to it. Much of her happiness comes through her senses. If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in the Observer Newspapers, write to Lorene C. Green, certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful.

Zonjic stars at 'Hollywood Nights'

It's hard to say who'll you see in the crowd at Laurel Manor Oct. 20, but there's sure to be someone important there for "Hollywood Nights II," Project SMILE's second annual fund-raiser for St. Mary Hospital.

A native of Windsor, Ontario, Zonjic learned to play the flute while a music major at the University of Windsor and rock guitarist on the Windsor club scene.

Tutored by renowned classical flutist Ervin Monroe, principal flute of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Zonjic developed a promising classical career before his debut as a jazz artist in 1978. His first release was "Alexander Zonjic." Since then, he has released a number of popular recordings on the Warner Bros.-backed Reprise.

Turner joined forces with St. Mary Hospital as an advocate of women's health care at the first "Hollywood Nights" in 1993. She actively promotes Project SMILE (St. Mary Mother and Infant Loving Care Enterprise), the fund-raising organization created to enhance women's and infants' health care services at the hospital.

As part of its continuing effort to respond to the health needs of women from infancy through their senior years, St. Mary Hospital is planning a state-of-the-art Women's Center and Maternity Center addition. The new project will create facilities which are both functional, attractive and accessible and will accommodate the changing needs of women and advances in medical technology.

The toddler who learned to walk in these shoes was born with children's leukemia. If she had been born thirty years ago, chances are she wouldn't have survived long enough to learn to crawl. But thanks in part to your donation to the United Way, today's medical advances have given children with leukemia a 70% chance of survival.

The United Way supports some 140 agencies in Wayne, Oakland and

He'd simply warned me. This was excellent. He'd gained control! We hurried to The Room. And, YESSS! He had taken the process all the way from A to Z, or better, A to P!

A day or two later, big brother Tony had an orthodontist appointment. So I packed Joe, the Fruit of the Loom guy, and baby Jack in the van and drove to school to pick Tony up. Once we were settled in the doctor's waiting room, Joe told me he had to go. YESSS! This is really taking hold! So I asked the receptionist lady where the restroom was. She handed me a key and said, "Go back out in the hall, take the stairs up to the second floor and you'll see it." My face dropped. We'd never make it.

I grabbed the key anyway, much too abruptly to still be polite. I swooped Joe up with my free arm, Jack was in the other, and implored Jack to just hold on, literally, if need be, and we'll be to the potty in a second. So out in the hall and up the stairs we flew. I juggled my two sons and struggled with the key and found the light switch. And, YIPPER, he made it. After he was done, he wanted to go back down to the waiting room to tell Tony about everything. I would have let him go, but all he had on was his shirt. (Reasons for stripping a 2 1/2-year-old boy down to his shirt to pee can only be illustrated by a complex math equation involving height, length, trajectory, trust me.)

With Jack still in my arms, redressing Joe was going to be impossible. And I couldn't put Jack down on the floor in there. It was too cold, too hard, and looked like shiny brick. But the carpeting just outside the bathroom door would be satisfactory. I gathered up the pile of Joe's clothes and coaxed him into the main hall. While I held the door open for him, I noticed another door a few feet away, a Dr. Somebody Or Other was listed on the little plaque. "Oh, please, Dr. Somebody, please be golfing today."

I gently put Jack on the carpet and then reached for Joe's underwear. Dr. Somebody's door opened. Apparently, Dr. Somebody was not golfing. Out walked a patient of his and she saw in the shadowy corner of this second floor hallway an infant lying on the floor, a little boy with his business all hanging out and a ridiculous woman kneeling on a pile of clothing. Dr. Somebody's patient looked shocked.

Since then Joe has mastery over his underwear's leg holes. He can dress and undress without me. And usually on time. And if undressing isn't in time, he brings me the wet results.

Like on Saturday. The children were outside playing; I was inside baking (apples, flour, cinnamon, mess everywhere), and the phone rang. The lady down the street called to say Joe was on the sidewalk, taking his pants and underwear off. She sounded shocked.

Sure enough. There was Joe heading home with his badly timed briefs in one hand and his drenched pants in the other.

"We're getting there," I told him as I brushed the flour off my hands. "We're getting there."

Charlotte O'Connor is that they both carried a recessive gene for baldness.

"The best thought is that it's a rare recessive gene but that's even more rare that it would hit one out of two," O'Connor said.

Although the O'Connor girls were born without hair, their parents didn't realize there was a problem until Hillary was born and Lauren was 4.

"I think I was in denial," O'Connor said about Lauren not having hair the first four years of her life. "The pediatrician never had a patient who didn't grow hair. She just said 'Wait, wait.' She had seen hair grow late with children."

After Hillary's birth, O'Connor took her children to a dermatologist. What she heard shocked her.

"He was a very insensitive man. He said, 'Oh it's alopecia. She'll never have any hair. You'll cry a thousand tears, but there isn't any cure.' It was such a slap in the face."

They grieved a bit over the loss of "the perfect little baby" until they realized that no one gives birth to a perfect child, she said.

The O'Connors went "zooming around to pediatricians" trying to find a miracle cure. They didn't find a "miracle cure," but learned there is a growth potential. In alopecia, hair goes into a hibernation-like state waiting for the brain to signal to the follicles to resume normal hair production. Sometimes cortisone injections or pills, Anthralin cream or ointment, or Minoxidil can give a little boost. They tried using Minoxidil on Hillary but they weren't happy with the results.

"She grew some dense fuzz — but she always has a little bit of fuzz — but never any length. It was thick and dark. It didn't even look like baby hair. Once we stopped all that thick fuzz went away."

Mysterious disorder

Little is known about alopecia. Researchers know that the immune system is somehow involved, according to the National Alopecia Areata Foundation, because the antibodies of those with alopecia are more likely to attack healthy body organs or tissues.

There are no adverse medical effects besides the consequences of not having hair to protect delicate parts of their bodies. The scalp is unprotected from the sun and elements. The eyes are unprotected from dust and glare. The nose and sinuses are unprotected from foreign particles and bacteria.

Linda Cauley, also of Livonia, was diagnosed with alopecia areata (the Greek word meaning "bald") at the age of 2. For 12 years she took the steroid Prednisone, a dangerous medication now associated with a handful of side effects, every time she would lose a patch of hair.

"That's why I never got to the point where I lost it completely and needed a wig," she said about her school years.

Instead she would hide it by placing her hair strategically over the spots until "the steroids would kick in and the hair would grow." Cauley had a full head of hair from age 14 until two weeks before the birth of her first daughter. Then, at age 26, she found another spot and within a year she was areata universalis — all the hair on her body was gone.

"It probably would have went quicker but I was getting cortisone injections right to the scalp but then my spots got so large that the injections weren't doing any good," she said.

New hair

For a while she wore synthetic wigs that left cuts on her scalp. Now she dons a flattering, sun-burn-colored human hair wig that is kept on by suction. Her two daughters are fine, however, statistics show that they are 20 percent more likely to have an autoimmune disease.

The cost of the wigs can be astronomical, according to Cauley and O'Connor. Because of this Cauley and the California-based National Alopecia Areata Foundation are actively trying to find a U.S. senator or representative who will sponsor a bill to force insurance companies to pay for wigs. According to Cauley, wigs are covered for people who have temporarily lost hair due to cancer but not alopecia.

Either way, Cauley is not about to give up her wig. She tried to go without it once at a water park near Disney World but it turned into a traumatic experience for the young mother.

"I stood in the bathroom for 20 minutes crying. My husband sent my daughter in to check up on me."

She ended up wearing a scarf and then as she went down the slide she took it off. Once she hit the bottom, she slid it back on.

"It's the hardest thing I have ever done."

After an intensive search for a child's wig, the O'Connors settled on a $700 wig for Lauren. It turned out to be a nightmare.

"It was hideously ugly. They had cut it before I picked it up. I know other people who have made similar mistakes — $700, $400 mistakes that have never been worn."

Most kids wear wigs until they go to support groups.

"They see that this is the place where it's OK to do this. It's a good start to say, 'I really don't need to do this,'" said O'Connor whose children attend National Alopecia Network support group meetings at Providence Hospital in Southfield.

Lauren only wears hers as a fashion accessory.

"It's a real emotional thing. Lauren wore hers to school for the first time in a long time because she wants to wear barrettes."

Arts walk

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Browsing: Art patrons Francine Westphal (left) of Plymouth discusses the art walk with Creative Framing owner Pat Korna as Julie Martin of Ypsilanti looks at a painting. The event this past weekend was a shot in the arm for the arts in Plymouth.

Arts walk
 Event helped arts flourish in Plymouth

The ARTrageous walk of Plymouth galleries, this past weekend is a good example of what can happen when the Plymouth business community and a group like the Plymouth Community Arts Council get together. The walk brought out hundreds of new people to art galleries in downtown Plymouth, raised awareness of the arts and generated money for the arts council, which has a fund drive going to renovate its new headquarters. There were 12 art galleries on the walk and their owners said the event was the first in which they cooperated. The word on the street was that some store owners are looking toward having a similar such walk in the spring. However, some gallery owners were cautious about the event, saying that while they would welcome an annual art walk or even two a year, they were worried that success would attract other groups and businesses to participate in the event. They were worried the event could lose its focus on the arts. They make a good point. There are plenty of other events in Plymouth that benefit groups other than the arts council and the galleries. The Fall Festival, the Plymouth ice show and the summer music festival are some of those. The art walk was a wonderful community event to benefit a good cause. We're looking forward to the next one. But organizers should be on guard to ensure the event doesn't lose its focus.

MEAP tests tool for public

The MEAP tests being taken by Plymouth-Canton students this month are an important tool parents have in making sure that children are receiving the best education possible for the tax dollars spent. Educational bureaucrats in the Plymouth-Canton district have complained that too much weight is put on the tests by the public and politicians. From a certain educational view point, they may be correct. There is much more to a child's education than the ability to do well on a test. There are important social and critical thinking skills that often don't translate well into test-taking. However, in the constantly changing educational landscape where there seems to be a cure-all solution each week, it's tough for parents and taxpayers to determine if the "new" initiatives of the week are working and if they are worth the money. What we have is an emphasis on the Michigan Educational Assessment Program. Imprecise as some may believe it to be, it is one of few gauges we have as owners of public education to judge the progress of students and the efforts of teachers and administrators. It gives parents and other members of the public a document to review and analyze. Educators in the Plymouth-Canton district haven't been helpful when it comes to MEAP tests. Every year we hear the same stale, old complaint that too much emphasis is put on the tests. And we are cautioned not to compare this year's and last year's test scores because the test has changed. The tests have also sparked a public controversy centered on the coaching of students for the test. Critics in the district contend that coaching allows school districts to cook their MEAP test scores, allowing them to look better than districts that do no coaching. Those critics make a valid point. The MEAP tests were designed to be a realistic snapshot of how students are doing. Too much coaching damages the system. However, it must be acknowledged that some students are not good test takers and helping them get over the fear of a test is giving them an important life skill. While MEAP is a great tool for parents, there is also a responsibility that goes with the power to use it. Parents must be sure they urge their children to take the tests seriously. Let's face it, some kids just don't do that. Let's just hope that tying state-endorsed diplomas to passing the MEAP tests is the remedy. MEAP tests are an important tool in making sure our children receive a good education.

Church opposed

I read with interest your editorial of Sept. 15 pertaining to the Temple Baptist Church relocating in Plymouth Township. Two statements in that article caught my eye. The first was indicating that the decision of the planning commission appears to be a ploy to keep a certain religion out of the community. Are you not aware that the Baptist denomination, of which this church is a part, has many established churches in this area? People wanting to affiliate with the Baptist denomination have many opportunities to do so. The other statement was about the commission being concerned about the traffic this church would generate. You claimed that this argument didn't hold water because there wouldn't be that much of an increase except on Sunday mornings. In your enthusiasm to put down the planning commission and residents of Plymouth Township for vetoing this project, you neglected to mention one important fact. It is not the church the people are objecting to, it's the entertainment complex that will be a vital part of Temple Baptist. What about the two baseball diamonds, the park activities, the concerts, the Christmas mornings or every night of the week? As an editor, it is your responsibility to present all the facts to your readers. For the record, I live on the opposite end of the township, so the decision of the planning commission doesn't affect me on a personal level. Except for the tax dollars you say I will contribute in helping the township fight this case. That is all right with me, as I fully agree with their decision.

Labels

I would like to comment about your article, "House library privacy bill fuels parents' rights rift" (Sept. 26). In the article, Rep. Harold Voorhees (R-Wyoming) is referred to as a "religious conservative." According to the dictionary, religious is defined as "conscientious; diligent." Conservative is defined: "moderate; not extreme." Sounds to me like this kind of person has good moral values - the type of a person we need in public office - and I thank the media for identifying them to me. However, why do I never see identification, or "labels" if you will, on the opposite type of person? I never recall reading or hearing about a "Mr. so and so . . . a pagan liberal!"

Help is available

Recent and past acts of violence in southeast Michigan cause us great concern and prompt us to write in order to provide information to readers that may help prevent future tragedies. The fact is, at any one time, there are many people having difficulty dealing with problems and stresses in their lives who contemplate violent acts, while externally there is little evidence that such a serious threat exists. Other times the threat is made overtly, and in these cases the threat should be taken very seriously. Individuals close to the one having committed the violence often say they never suspected such a thing might happen; however, hindsight may point to clues that problems were brewing. It cannot be said, however, that anyone should see such a thing coming. What we can say is that there are many avenues for finding help to deal with life's problems and stresses. We can say it is especially sad that violence and murder do occur because there is help available to resolve problems before anyone becomes harmed. Some avenues for assistance include calling 911, an EAP at work, your local community mental health agency, various social-service agencies, psychologists, social workers, and numerous listings in the Yellow Pages under Mental Health. Hegira Programs Inc., with over 20 years' experience in Behavioral Health Care services in Wayne County, offers a full range of mental-health and substance-abuse treatment services. We can help provide relief from difficulties at work, family and marital problems, depression, anxiety, suicidal and homicidal threats, schizophrenia, and bipolar disorder, to name just a few mental-health issues. We also offer treatment for addiction to and abuse of alcohol, cocaine, crack, heroin, and numerous other drugs. For more information on our services, please call our Psychiatric Intervention Center at (313) 721-0200 for mental-health treatment services, or Oakdale Recovery Center at (313) 397-3088 for Substance Abuse treatment services. Our services are affordable, and are based on an ability to pay. We also accept public funds and most insurances. If you or someone you love is suffering from mental-health or substance-abuse problems, please don't let it go on. Help is available, so please call. POINTS OF VIEW

Sign of the times

Worry not, the season still holds much in store for us

Great Caesar's ghost! It occurs to me that one need not traipse very far to find suspense.

In keeping with the season, I shall don my armor and tackle some of the more horrendous tasks within my everyday haunted household.

Forget dungeons and dragons — have you the courage to clean those drain traps in the sinks? Dare you peek beneath the fridge and oven? Will you be overpowered changing the cats' "dude ranch." Oh mighty warrior? Do battle to scrub that crematorium of a grill to store, or just hurl it out with the trash?

And what if I miss trash day owning only one barrel that has a lid on it? Good Lord! These are tiny terrors that always make my skin crawl. Talk about creepy stories — a few too many frightful tales of various escapees lately.

The gent next door recently stopped

QUEST COLUMNIST

by to report that a man mad as a balloon had just shambled into his house and asked him for a ride to Chicago.

He's so kind that he probably would've if not on his way to work. He then refused the specter his roommate's bike, and when pressed for money gave the ghoul a dollar to leave. Yeah, right — and have a nice day! If you've got a spine, there's a tingle for it.

In comparison, telephone solicitors and puppet politicians merely seem mischievous ghosts to challenge one's strength of character. Snap on the news for more horror. Never you mind Transylvania or the Tower of London, try pondering over Bosnia and L.A.

On the lighter side, the search for Bigfoot may have ended with a recent story accompanied by bodacious footage of a huge but toothless black bear trespassing to luxuriate nightly in a local yokel's Jacuzzi.

The only thing missing was his enormous stogie and a snifter of brandy. The astonished homeowner no doubt thought he was the only one entitled to get away from it all.

Day-to-day life consists of many hobgoblins to exorcise. I am not so concerned with fending off vampires as I am with finding a decent bulb of garlic to cook with. There are bills to pay, hair raising indeed.

Menacing Christmas catalogs bring dreams of debt soon to dance in your head. Dental checkups to brave, broken eyeglasses that leave you helplessly flailing about and such tortures as how the heck did I get toothpaste stuck in my hair anyway?

Later, when chores are done and spirits are quaffed, we huddle exchanging really scary stories. In preparation for the hectic season before us we recall mysterious and hilarious fiascos of past holidays.

Just who was the creature that smashed the one-of-a-kind champagne glass at Thanksgiving?

What fiend spirited away Mother's lovely gift of handmade chocolates? Banish those heathens who eat like sharks but contribute nothing in the way of conversation.

Dreadful forebodings are shared over the monstrous makeshift magician who once nearly flambéed the entire family with their alcoholic dessert creation. Did anyone ever figure from whence came the charming but blotto guest who pirouetted with gay abandon into and upon the sumptuous Christmas buffet table? These are the truly uncanny thrillers we laughingly love, live and learn with.

Local nuances to tip scales in race for governor

The late Speaker Tip O'Neill used to say, "All politics are local."

On paper, John Engler and Howard Wolpe are running a statewide campaign for governor. In reality, the Republican incumbent and his Democratic challenger are in a series of local and regional contests.

Public Sector Consultants did some interesting polling that confirms the point. Examples:

■ Gov. Engler kills Wolpe in small-town and rural Michigan, even though Wolpe once represented a congressional district out there.

■ Democrat Wolpe is way ahead in Detroit and has the active support of the mayor.

■ Wolpe is close in the major outstate cities and the suburbs. Engler's support is fairly even across income lines and classes. Note his rural and small-town support. Wolpe is off base, as I see the data, in talking about Engler's wealthy friends.

I cite PSC's data because it squares with my own observations.

Engler's people say the election will be close and will be decided in Oakland County — specifically Novi, the Farmington area and Royal Oak. My guess is that those areas haven't been helped much by last March's Proposal A, the massive school finance reform plan.

Oakland districts like Farmington, Southfield and Bloomfield Hills actually have been hurt.

Proposal A is the chief reason Engler is so strong in rural and small-town Michigan. School finance reform was salvation to small districts without industrial tax base. My readers in southeastern Michigan have no idea how many of those districts' backs were to the wall.

Engler also does well in areas that had double-digit property assessment increases — the metro suburbs and Great Lakes shoreline areas. But when you complained about soaring assessments to locals in (say) Lansing, they didn't know what you were talking about. Metro suburban and central outstate people live in different worlds.

"All politics are local."

Engler has three other reasons, besides Proposal A, to be nervous about the more affluent metro suburbs. First, his 1991 cuts in Detroit Institute of Arts aid and symphony orchestra grants irritated many Republican arts contributors. Second, his tinkering with the Department of Natural Resources caused the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, hardly a bastion of flaming liberalism, to bash him for many long months. Third, about 40 percent of MEA-member teachers vote Republican, but 75 percent of the GOP-leaning teachers I talk to say they're voting against Engler because of House Bill 5128, the bargaining law.

I calculate Engler will lose 28,000 teachers' votes.

Four years ago, most prognosticators said Gov. James Blanchard easily would win a third term. Two men disented — Blanchard and Engler. In fact, Engler said the margin would be 20,000 to 50,000 one way or the other. (He won by less than 18,000).

All of this has been fairly scientific. The day after the 1990 election, I went to Lansing to pick up vote results, but the Secretary of State's office was moving like molasses, so I bought a State Journal and read it cover to cover. On the next to last page were the horoscopes, which I usually skip.

One horoscope said, "You will have more time for your family." It was Jim Blanchard's.

Another horoscope said, "The job you wanted is yours." It was John Engler's.

So much for science.

Time's urgently at hand to change public schools

I received an enormous response to my column two weeks ago on charter schools and the Noah Webster Academy.

I listened carefully to the voice mail messages. The points of view came through loud and clear.

People are dismayed at what's going on today in our public schools.

■ A woman in Livingston County said, "I have a son who is 4 years old and I would like to put him in a private school situation. I feel that after being a homeowner for over 10 years I have a right to decide where my money is spent (for education)."

■ Another woman from Lathrup Village commented, "I am a public taxpayer. My money is going for public schools that I pulled my son out of. Yes, I put him into a private Christian school, where for $3,000 a year he is learning art, French, band and many other subjects that I am very happy with instead of spending the first three months of every year like he did last year studying for a MEAP test that they can't even score adequate grades on."

The leading candidate for blame is the MEA (Michigan Education Association), the teachers union:

■ A man from western Wayne County said, "We do need schools that don't teach only what the Michigan Education Association wants to teach. We need alternative teaching. We need privatization."

■ A Rochester man pointed out that, "Certification and qualification mean two different things when it comes to public school teachers."

■ Another man from Livingston County even wondered, "Where can I get a deal like you to get some kickbacks from the MEA?" (For the record, I don't take kickbacks, and anybody who works for this newspaper who does will be fired).

The core argument was put with admirable simplicity and directness by a reader from Brighton: "Why should I pay public taxes to pay for the garbage taught in public schools?"

There were many variations on that basic point:

PHILIP POWER

■ A Farmington Hills reader argued that, "We've had the kids in private schools and now a couple have graduated. I feel they got a great education. I think it's totally unfair that we have to pay twice" (i.e., both taxes and tuition in private school).

■ A woman from Eaton County pointed out that, "We see no reason when we have lived in Michigan for 18 years and pay taxes every year that our children should not also receive a free education and not have to go to the local public school and have things that we disagree with taught to them."

In addition to being struck by the vehemence of opinion on this issue, I came away from listening to reader comment more convinced than ever that now is urgently the time our public schools have got to change for the better.

Or else we will wind up with two systems of education in Michigan: One, private, responding to people's demand for good teaching and learning and another, public, unresponsive, poorly funded and justly regarded as the dumping ground for the lower classes.

I can't imagine any outcome more damaging to the fabric of our society than a school system which drives us apart — into economic and social classes, into differing religious and ethnic groups — instead of bringing us together as Americans.

Plymouth Symphony program

The Plymouth program on Oct. 15 is one of 12 this season, making it one of the most extensive, said conductor Russell Reed, who is starting his eighth season.

"I feel really good that we are back in the Salem Auditorium," said Reed. "We didn't play there all last season. We consider that our home station."

Guest pianist Pauline Martin will join the Plymouth Symphony for Prokofiev's "Piano Concerto No. 3 in C Major," a rousing Russian composition that Reed called "one of the most outstanding piano concertos ever written."

The season grand opening is Weber's "Euryanthe Overture," a seven-minute piece that Reed said would be a perfect start to the season.

Brahms' "Symphony No. 1 in C Minor," will close out the evening. Though the work is Brahms' first symphony, it is exceptional, the conductor said.

"He was very mature when he began to write symphonies," said Reed. "It's a major work."

Funny cast keeps up frantic pace in spoof

Rehearsing: Susi Regan as Poppy Norton-Taylor (left), Richard A. Schrot as Frederick Fellows, and Shirkyann Kaledjian as Brooke Ashton in a scene from "Noises Off."

BY CATHIE BREIDENBACH
SPECIAL WRITER

Michael Frayn's uproariously funny comedy "Noises Off" opens the Meadow Brook Theatre's season with dizzying energy and precision choreography by director Donald Ewer. "Blocking" may be the traditional term for a director's plan of where actors stand and move on stage, but choreography more accurately describes the intricate nine character movements in "Noises Off" that begin in the moderately fast-paced Act 1 with characters alighting in and out of doors and hilarious crescendo. Movements on stage become a frenetic dance impeccably executed by the Meadow Brook cast in this story about a second-rate traveling theatrical troupe performing a trite English sex farce entitled "Nothing On."

To the Act 1 action of musical doors and characters racing up and down the stairway, Frayn adds in Acts 2 and 3 a nine player game of keep away with a liquor bottle, and a juggling routine that keeps two bouquets of flowers and a prickly cactus in constant motion.

Simultaneously characters continue racing and hopping up stairs and running and tumbling down them — all the while putting on a live play. It's an extraordinary sleep stick fugue heightened by Frayn's masterful verbal humor of witty puns (if that's not an oxymoron) and double entendre.

Amorous couples secretly sneaking in and out of bedroom doors in staple fare in the bedroom farce that Frayn speaks in "Noises Off." He expands the themes of the sex farce by adding a play within a play — an honored theatrical tradition begun by one William Shakespeare.

"Noises Off"

▶ THEATER: Meadow Brook on the campus of Oakland University, Rochester.

▶ CURTAIN TIMES: 2 p.m. Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays; 8 p.m. Tuesday-Friday; 6 p.m. Saturdays; 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 8; 6:30 p.m. Sundays. Show ends Oct. 23.

▶ TICKETS: Range from $18 to $28.50. Student, senior citizen and group discounts available. Call (810) 377-3300.

In "Noises Off," a traveling British theater company is putting on a bad sex romp called "Nothing On" complete with secret lovers, a scatterbrained housekeeper who calls everyone "Love," a house hunting abelk, a bumbling burglar in a mask, a curvaceous bimbo who loses her dress within minutes of the opening curtain and runs about the remainder of the play in her lingerie.

That's the play within the play that the company is rehearsing in Act 1 and which we see performed at two stops on their itinerary, the second time from backstage thanks to a rotating cast designed by Peter Hicks.

The frame play speaks theater stereotypes like the harried stage manager and the disastrous dress rehearsal just hours before opening night.

Featured soloist: Pauline Martin will be the featured soloist at the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's season premiere Oct. 15.

Martin is a West Bloomfield resident and affiliate faculty member at Wayne State's music school. She is a Canadian native known for masterful interpretations of a wide range of repertoire.

She was the featured soloist with a Detroit Symphony Orchestra string ensemble's "Tribute to Glenn Gould." She has also performed with the Orchestra London Canada and many other Canadian orchestras, the New American Chamber Orchestra and the Florida West Coast Symphony.

She is a founding member of the St. Clair Trio, which has recorded a series of soon-to-be-released compact discs. The other trio members are concertmaster Emmanuelle Boisvert and assistant principal cellist Marcy Chanteaux.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra continues their season 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5, at Belleville High School. The concert "English Variations," will feature enchanting sounds of the English countryside.

Livonia Symphony program

DiBlasi and the 65-member Livonia Symphony Orchestra will be joined by husband and wife piano team, Ralph and Tina Votapek, who will perform Poulenc's "Concerto for Two Pianos" at the season premiere concert on Oct. 22.

PREVIEW

The program, entitled "Double Your Pleasure," offers variety, said DiBlasi. It includes Gabrieli's "Fanfare for Double Brass," performed with two brass choirs. There is Sibelius' Symphony No. 2, one of the conductor's most popular works and an enjoyable one for audiences, DiBlasi said.

Vaughn-Williams' "Fantasy," will be performed with two string orchestras and five string soloists. Also on the program is music from the hit musical, "Les Miserables."

"There's a little bit of something for everyone. You have music for people who love strings, music for brass lovers, a complete symphony and two excellent soloists performing piano music," said DiBlasi, who is in his 22nd year as conductor of the Livonia Symphony and its predecessor.

The Votapeks live in East Lansing and are on the MSU piano faculty. Both have had distinguished performing careers, dating back to 1962 when they met while studying at the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

That year, Ralph Votapek won the first Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition in Moscow, which featured 45 pianists from Europe and North America.

Talented duo: Husband and wife piano team, Ralph and Tina Votapek will perform at the LSO's Oct. 22 concert.

He has performed around the world and appeared with the symphonies of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Detroit.

Tina Votapek made her New York Town Hall debut in 1962 to critical acclaim. She studied in Rome with Carlo Zecchi on a Fulbright Scholarship.

The couple has given two-piano, four-hand recitals at MSU, and have been soloists in two-piano concerti of Bach, Mozart and Mendelssohn, including a performance of Mozart's work during the bicentennial of the composer's birth.

They have appeared on some of the most prestigious recital series in the country, including the Van Cliburn Series in Fort Worth, Texas, and the Pabst Theatre series in Milwaukee.

"We've got the best season around," said LSO conductor Francesco DiBlasi. "We always try to have interesting programs."

Like "Nothing On," it's also part sex farce because the director (Randall Haynes) is secretly wooing both the curvaceous, but spacey actress (Shirley Ann Kaladjian) and the company stage manager (Suzi Regan). Not only must he juggle the two women and the last-minute pressures of pulling together a cast of quirky personalities for opening night, just hours away, but he must also keep the ancient alcoholic actor (Donald Ewre) from an amorous rendezvous with a bottle, and keep squabbling lovers (Guy Paul and Jenny Turner) from sabotaging the production.

Kaladjian and Sherry Skinker camp up their roles by flinging their arms dramatically, and striking overblown theatrical poses. Richard Schrot, Guy Paul, and Jenny Turner capitalize on the humor in a plate of sardines that gets endlessly misplaced, forgotten and finally squished.

Alexander Webb and Guy Paul round out the cast that exceeds at comedy dialogue and at maintaining the frantic pace in Frayn's hilarious theatrical dance.

LET'S GO! DINING

Restaurants join fight against hunger

BY BRIAN LYBAGHT
STAFF WRITER

We go out to eat for a variety of reasons: We're hungry, or we want to enjoy the company of friends and family, or we have a special craving for that pan-roasted whole red snapper studded with herbs and sliced shallots and served on a bed of wild rice.

But on Thursday Oct. 13 there's another reason to dine out. Because someone else is hungry.

It is World Food Day, and more than 100 restaurants have pledged to be part of the 7 percent solution. They will donate up to 7 percent of their gross receipts for the day to hunger relief agencies. The money will be donated to the Food Council of Michigan, a statewide network of food banks that offer provisions to soup kitchens, shelters, pantries and other non-profit feeding agencies.

Many Wayne and Oakland County restaurants are taking part. Among the participating restaurants are the Ram's Horn and Buddy's Pizza chains. Also involved is the Livonia-based food wholesaler, N. Leone and Sons. The Jewish Community Council is also a sponsor.

The event is several years old and many several restaurateurs said that publicity and an interest on the part of the dining-out crowd makes World Food Day a busier than usual Thursday. People want to do good while satisfying their appetites. The restaurants want to do good, too.

"We're in the food business," said Robert Jacobs, owner of Buddy's Pizza. "This is a way of giving back because we've been fortunate enough to be successful."

Another upcoming food bene-

Serving lunch: Robert Jacobs (center) serves pizza to Corinne Roberts of Plymouth, Charles Downey, and Jay Reminga at Buddy's in Livonia.

fit is "Comedy Night III for Action Against Hunger," at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Fischer Theatre in Detroit. The evening of comedy raises money for Forgotten Harvest, an organization that collects perishable food from bakeries, wholesalers, vending companies and other health-department approved sources and delivers it to soup kitchens and shelters. Tickets are $50 and up.

Comedienne Elayne Boosler is on the bill, as are local funny-men Ken Brown and John Hefron. Mark Ridley will emcee. Call (810)557-2587 for information.

Jean Gonya, president of the Gleaners Community Food Bank in Detroit, said the 7 percent solution is significant even though it's not the biggest revenue generator for his organization.

"It's not a major fund-raiser, but it feeds a lot of hungry people," said Gonya whose agency gathers food and distributes it to 180 feeding centers.

"It's very important because there are a lot of little people who learn. It's a day people take the kids out for dinner, and there is an awareness of the problem that kids have," he added.

He said the agencies the Gleaners supply serve 155,000 meals a week. If that sounds high, consider that the Gleaners distributed 11 million pounds of food last year.

The good news is that the distribution level is declining because fewer people are hungry, he said.

Gleaners distributed 13 million pounds of food in 1992. Gonya estimates the figure will be 10 million this year.

"It's got to do with the economy," he said. Things are improving.

"The bad news is that when the next recession comes, it's going to jump again."

The other bad news is that nationally, 35 percent of the hungry people in America are children, Gonya said.

"We're not even thinking about that next generation of kids that is being messed up because of lack of nutrition," he said.

Among the Observer-area restaurants pledging their receipts are all metro Detroit Ram's Horns; Buddy's Pizza restaurants; John Edwards, 9910 N. Telegraph, Redford; Redford Inn, 25800 Five Mile, Redford; and Original Romano's (carry-out only), 29275 14 Mile, Farmington Hills.

Westborn plans harvest celebration

Westborn Markets will salute home-grown agriculture with "Michigan Harvest Days" Saturday, Oct. 8, at the Berkley store, (2245 Woodward) and Sunday, Oct. 9, at the Dearborn store, (21755 Michigan).

There will be a petting farm for the kids, that includes a miniature horse, calves, baby chickens, lambs and piglets. The farm travels with its own barn and children will have the opportunity to touch the animals.

The farm will be at the Berkley store 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 8 and at the Dearborn store noon to 5 p.m. Oct. 9.

Doug Jacobs and the Red Garter Band will be performing at the Berkley store 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Oct. 8 and noon to 3 p.m. Oct. 9 in Dearborn. Accompanying the Red Garter Band will be the Doghouse Mountain Boys who will play country music in Berkley 1-4 p.m. Oct. 8 and 2-5 p.m. Oct. 9 in Dearborn.

Popular comedians to visit Detroit area

Here are some upcoming comedy events you won't want to miss. Bronson Pinchot and Roger Kabler joined forces in March after recognizing the possibility that their talents combined could make for an explosive comedy team. They will be appearing together 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 6 and 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 7-8 at Joey's Comedy Club, 5070 Schaefer, between Michigan Avenue and Ford Road in Dearborn. Tickets are $12 per person. Dinner and show packages are available. Call (313) 584-8885, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Friday for reservations. After writing and rehearsing for two months in Los Angeles, Pinchot and Kabler emerged and hit the road circuit where comedy club audiences were shocked and delighted at their unexpected twists and free flying antics. Pinchot is known for his long-running TV series "Perfect Strangers," and his movies "Beverly Hills Cop I and III" where he played the bizarre art dealer Serge. Kabler is best known as the Zima Guy from the Zima commercials and his NBC series "Rhythm & Blues." "We're doing what we like — exploring a pure form of comedy. We're doing all the stuff we couldn't get away with on TV." Jonathan Katz is a Boston-based comic who has been a regular on "Letterman" and Showtime. Hailed as one of the most creative minds working today, he appears Oct. 13-15 at the MainStreet Comedy Showcase in Ann Arbor. Call (313) 996-9060 for reservations. The crew down at Woodward and Montcalm has been at it for more than a year now. Second City's third review, the follow-up to "Kevorkian Unplugged" and "Power to the People Mover," opens "some time in October," according to spokespersons and their latest ad. Will this mean a more substantive sampling of fresh Motown-flavored humor (we've been waiting!), or just more of "Second City's Greatest Hits?"

Stay tuned for the answer next month in Robert Sadler's comedy column on the third Thursday of the month. Comedian/actor George Wallace will be appearing in concert at the Fox Theatre in Detroit on Saturday, Oct. 22. America's favorite clown, Red Skelton will be appearing at the Fox Nov. 5-6. Call Ticketmaster (810) 645-6666 for tickets. Wallace was most recently seen starring in his own sitcom for CBS-TV titled "Tall Hopes." He derives his comedy from everyday, simple shaming moments of life. Skelton holds a record 20 consecutive years on television, and is one of the best loved clowns in America.

Stallone, Stone explosive in 'The Specialist'

LET'S GO! Sylvester Stallone and Sharon Stone team up for the first time in "The Specialist," a thriller opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters.

In an ever-tightening circle of intrigue and betrayal, an explosives expert and an alluring beauty face a trio of relentless opponents: a powerful Cuban-American crime boss, his arrogant son and their renegade hit man. In the sultry tropical heat of Miami, these combustible elements ignite in a suspenseful struggle between quick-witted survival and an obsession for revenge.

Since 1976, when his indelible portrayal of up-from-the-streets prizefighter Rocky Balboa led the box office and earned an Academy Award for Best Picture, Sylvester Stallone's films have amassed nearly $1 billion at the box office around the world. Sharon Stone followed the international success of "Total Recall" with the daring "Basic Instinct," which both broke the $100 million barrier. Now these two cinematic superstars bring their undeniable heat to the action and sensuality of

"The Specialist."

Explosives specialist Ray Quick (Stallone) is lured from his solitude into the world of May Munro (Stone). May has nurtured a lust for revenge against her parents' murderers since she was a young girl, and it has now come time for them to pay. With her seductive wiles, May infiltrates the criminal Leon family, led by Joe (Rod Steiger), who ordered her parents' murders years ago, and his swaggering heir apparent, Tomas (Eric Roberts). As the danger rises, Ray begins helping May dispose of the assailants, one detonation at a time.

Killer-for-hire Ned Trent (James Woods) has also ingratiated himself with the Leons and threatens to expose the truth about May's past... and to lure his ex-partner, Ray, into an explosive confrontation. May's web of deceit threatens to spin out of control as her lies compound upon one another. As time runs out, Ray is pulled further into May's obsession. Is she falling for him or trapping him?

"The Specialist," directed by Luis Llosa, features a supporting cast of three dynamic actors — James Woods, Rod Steiger and Eric Roberts — who boast six Academy Award nominations among them. This villainous trio of characters spark the fiery action and growing passion between the leads. All are trapped in a heated race between May's long-deferred revenge, now realized with Ray's deadly skill, and three unforgiving criminals who will stop at nothing to stay alive.

"The Specialist" is a Jerry Weintraub Production directed by Luis Llosa and produced by Jerry Kimball. The film, written by Alexandra Seros was shot on location in Miami for worldwide release by Warner Bros.

For Stallone, "The Specialist" offered a longed-for opportunity to return to the richly realized characters of his earlier career, without abandoning the action genre that has made him a superstar. "I've basically held to a certain kind of role and have been pigeonholed, as it were," Stallone explains. "But with this film, I could become a little more emotional, a little more sensual, a little more inventive and adventurous."

Thriller: Secretive explosives expert Ray Quick (Sylvester Stallone) and sultry May Munro (Sharon Stone) become dangerously involved in Warner Bros.' suspense thriller, "The Specialist."

Sharon Stone sees "The Specialist" as "a two-boxes-of-popcorn" movie. The picture is both mysterious and an action movie at the same time. It's visually extraordinary.

"The Specialist" is rated R, under 18 not admitted without an accompanying parent or guardian.

Burton is faithful to spirit of Ed Wood

JOHN MONAGHAN

I'm an Ed Wood fan; have been ever since my first bleary-eyed encounter with "Plan Nine from Outer Space" on the late, late show as a kid. For me, Tim Burton's Wood bio-pic is among the most anticipated releases this year. I offer this personal reflection because the following gushing about "Ed Wood," which opens area wide tomorrow, might strike some as a bit excessive. More than one critic left last week's preview screening scratching his head and asking "Why?"

The answer is up there in beautiful black and white. The movie brilliantly captures the chutzpah of Wood, often called the worst director of all time, as he tries desperately to get backing for his low-budget, grade-Z epics in the 1950s.

Tim Burton can relate. Interviews with the director of "Beetlejuice" and "Batman" reveal another obsessive oddball who had his own tribulations a decade ago when, as a young animator at Disney, the studio told him that his sensibilities were too disturbing for kids.

New Touchstone Pictures, a division of Disney, has allowed Burton to make this potential turkey. They're courting Hollywood's most eligible young director in the hopes that he'll get "Ed Wood" out of his system and direct another blockbuster.

During his own career, Wood wasn't so lucky. Constantly in need of funds, he cut deals with meat packers and even the Baptist Church. As a result, he had to cast investors' sons, change titles, even get baptised along with the cast and crew in order for backers' checks to clear.

First there was "Glen or Glenda," an exploitation picture about sex-change operations that turned into a heartfelt confessional piece about Wood's real-life obsession with women's clothes, especially Angora sweaters. He wrote, starred, produced and directed, just like his idol Orson Welles.

A World War II veteran, Wood actually went into battle wearing bra and panties underneath his uniform. Getting killed didn't bother Wood as much as getting wounded and having medics discover his secret.

As Wood, Johnny Depp proves once again that he's not just another pretty face (or pair of legs). Time and again he's taken peculiar parts and this might be his best yet. He captures perfectly Wood's unique blend of optimism and profound lack of talent.

While walking past a casket shop one day, Wood spotted Bela Lugosi trying one of the plusher models on for size. Hollywood had written the horror star off as a has-been and a drug addict, but Wood had the faith to cast him as a God-like overseer in "Glen or Glenda" and as a mad scientist in his second film, "Bride of the Monster."

Although he has top billing in "Plan Nine," Lugosi's really on screen for less than a minute. The rest of his part is played by a much taller stand-in (actually Wood's wife Kathy's chiropractor) who walks through his scenes hiding his face behind a cape.

Martin Landau is Lugosi in "Ed Wood" and he's nothing short of incredible. He plays the part with a surprising lack of camp, depicting the authentic pathos of a man once at the top of his profession now on the skids and drinking formaldehyde. There's already talk of an Oscar nomination.

The smaller parts are equally convincing, from Jeffrey Jones' phony psychic Criswell to Bill Murray's affected actor Bunny Breckenridge, two of the stranger members of the Wood entourage. In one amazing scene, Wood actually meets Orson Welles (deadringer Vincent D'Onofrio) at the Brown Derby.

Visually, Burton's first black-and-white feature is a beaut. Especially convincing are recreations of scenes from the actual Wood films. The clever title sequence, its own mini-tribute to Wood, employs cheesy animated octopuses and flying saucers.

Howard Shore's score mines familiar themes not only from Wood's movies, but also early Lugosi classics like "The Black Cat."

"Ed Wood" is based in large part on Rudolph Grey's "Nightmare of Ecstasy," an invaluable collection of anecdotes from former friends and colleagues. With a character this rich, Burton wisely sticks to the facts as we know them, proving that, in Wood's case anyway, truth really is stranger than fiction.

"Lions and tigers and bears, oh my! Lions and tigers and bears, oh my!"
You and your family might feel like repeating these lines from the movie "The Wizard of Oz," after spending the day at the Toledo Zoo.

While the zoo does have lions and tigers and bears, these aren't the only inhabitants in this nationally known compound. It is home to more than 2,500 animals representing 460 different species.

One of the most enjoyable exhibits is the aquarium which is the largest in North America. Children and adults can become mesmerized by the many displays of exotic fish and other fresh and salt water creatures.

The aquarium also houses the "South American Rainforest," which duplicates the temperature and habitat of this vanishing area of the earth. Another favorite attraction is the newly renovated Kingdom of the Apes where visitors can watch chimpanzees, orangutans and families of gorillas — including two with babies born earlier this year — as they cavort in the 17,000-square-foot outdoor Gorilla Meadow.

"African Savanna" offers visitors the opportunity to come nose-to-nose with hippos in the world's only underwater Hippoquarium. Also roaming the "Afri-

Visit joeys at Detroit Zoo

Six bouncing baby kangaroos called joeys can be seen at the Detroit Zoo, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

The joeys can be seen with their heads poking out of their mothers' pouches. "Our six joeys are about a year-and-a-half old," said Scott Carter, curator of mammals at the zoo. "They also delight visitors by hopping around their grassy exhibit, which is in the south-west corner of the zoo, between the Asian wild horses and the Nilgai Antelope."

Recognized as one of the premier zoos in the United States, the Detroit Zoo at the intersection of 10 Mile Road and Woodward, off I-696 in Royal Oak, features more than 1,200 animals roaming throughout 125 acres of natural exhibits.

Admission is $6 adults, $4 senior citizens, $3 children ages 2-12 and free for children under 2. Call (810) 398-0903 for more information.

After working up an appetite, stop by the new Carnivore Cafe, where you'll dine in authentic lion and tiger cages, originally constructed in 1927.

A variety of foods — all a la carte — are offered at fairly reasonable prices. A ¼-pound cheeseburger is $2.20 and fries $1.25. Deli sandwiches, are about $4, salads, $3 and ice cream $1.35 for a single.

If buying lunch is not in the budget, there are a number of umbrella tables where visitors can enjoy their home-packed picnic lunch.

After eating, explore the other exhibits — the Reptile House, where the king cobras normally gain the attention of onlookers, and the Bird House filled with free-flying exotic and colorful birds. Watch the polar bears prowl the Bear Grotto. Take a short walk to Cheetah Valley and watch these graceful predators roam or rest in their "natural" sanctuary.

Education, combined with enjoyment, is the goal of the Toledo Zoo. Education is also the prime objective of the Diversity of Life and Adaptation exhibits. Microscopes and hands-on displays allow zoo visitors to explore the world of insects and animal adaptations.

Close proximity of exhibits, as well as their attractiveness and informational appeal, make the October offers children the opportunity to visit a haunted forest during "Boo at the Zoo" 6:30-10:30 p.m. Oct. 20-23; and Oct. 27-31. The "Pumpkin Path," Oct. 29-30, is the zoo's safe alternative to trick-or-treating. In addition to 16 decorated stations where treats are dispensed, children can enjoy storytelling, puppet shows, and a number of other Halloween activities.

The Toledo Zoo, which is $5 adults and $2.50 children ages 2-11 and senior citizens, is one of those places that many people say "they want to visit," but haven't.

Badlands Trip fun, interesting

The Nalepka family recently returned from a South Dakota vacation with their grown children, and they took the Plymouth Observer along. Son Daniel and wife Lois live in Brooklyn, N.Y., while daughter Nancy and husband Chris came from Claremont, Calif. Mary Nalepka related: "We did all the sights: The Badlands, Wall Drug, Mt. Rush-more, Custer State Park (where the bison roam in huge herds), Crazy Horse Monument, the Needles Highway in Spearfish Canyon, which is near Deadwood, S.D., an old gambling town that has been revived. "You can sure lose your vacation money at the slots or blackjack table. (We didn't!) We also took a trip to Devil's Tower in Wyoming. South Dakota is a great vacation for everyone, a lot to see and do. It's packed with history. "I was born and raised in the southwestern part of S.D. in a little farm town called Owanka."

Family reunion: In South Dakota at Mount Rushmore are Chris and Nancy Rohlman with Mary and Richard Nalepka. They took along their Plymouth Observer, and shared vacation memories with us.

Gymnastics: The Chicago Kidz take their act from the street to the Windy City to The Greatest Show on Earth, where they combine hip-hop, gymnastics, jump rope, acrobatics and aerial leaps and bounds.

Circus features animal trainer

Thrills and excitement await circus fans Oct. 5-9 at the Ringling Brothers Barnum & Bailey Circus, and Nov. 16-20 when the Moscow Circus comes to the Palace.

The "Greatest Show on Earth" continues at Joe Louis Arena in Detroit through Oct. 9. Tickets available at the box office, all Ticketmaster locations, or by calling (810) 645-6666.

Gunther Gebel-Williams, the greatest wild animal trainer of all time, returns to the giant steel cage as a special guest star. Since his farewell tour over three years ago, Gebel-Williams has remained an active member of the circus family as Vice President of animal Welfare, overseeing the management of exotic performing animals.

"It is great news for circus fans around the world that Gunther Gebel-Williams has agreed to share the magic and grace of his incredible talent with the public," said Kenneth Feld, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus President and Producer. "Gunther changed the face of animal training, establishing a relationship of trust and mutual respect between man and animal. Gunther is truly a circus legend."

In celebration of the 200th Anniversary of Circus in America, this special Celebration Edition of "The Greatest Show on Earth," features three rings featuring exciting artists from around the world in never-before-seen displays.

Animal lovers will delight when Mark Oliver Gebel presents a rare combination of four-legged stars. Elephants and zebras — animals that normally bristle and paw in one another's presence — perform harmoniously together in one ring as they respond to Gebel's voice.

"Zebras are skittish by nature," said Gebel, "which makes this act especially challenging. Not only must the animals trust me, their trainer, but they must also learn to trust and perform alongside animals that are, in the wild, their natural enemies."

The Moscow Circus, starring the incomparable Flying Cranes, and Moscow Circus elephants, returns to the Palace in Auburn Hills, Nov. 16-20. Call (810) 645-6666 for ticket information. The circus has been a much beloved cultural tradition in Russia and the surrounding Republics ever since the days of Catherine the Great and has been delighting audiences the world over through its tours for the past five decades.

Moscow Circus is known for the superb artistry of its performers and for the time honored tradition of the one ring.

Michigan is known as the Apple Variety state where many different kinds of apple varieties are grown to meet the taste demands of people.

Major varieties grown in Michigan include the late summer variety — Paula Red followed by McIntosh, Jonathans, Ida Reds, Romeas, Delicious, Golden Delicious, Winneps and Spys.

There are lots of apple orchards in the New Boston area including Apple Charlies, Davies Orchard and Cider Mill, New Boston Cider Mill, and Tupac's Orchard.

Close to home, favorite places to go include Plymouth Orchards, which has a potty farm. Long Family Orchards, Yates Cider Mill and Franklin Cider Mill.

After an afternoon of picking apples, close the ones you don't eat in the refrigerator. Apples prefer cool temperatures. If you're storing apples in your cellar or garage, protect them with a blanket or covered box when temperatures drop. Some people wrap apples individually in newspaper to keep them fresh in a cool place.

Apple cider can be frozen and enjoyed year-round.

Here are some places to pick apples and the state's largest cider mill. Call ahead to check hours and availability of both.

STREET SOUNDS

Too Many Dogs
— Starlings

Starlings is not a band in the traditional sense, but is the solo project of Chris Sheehan, a veteran English musician who wrote, played and produced everything on "Too Many Dogs," Starlings' second album for Atlantic Records. This makes perfect sense, since "Too Many Dogs" sounds much like a Nine Inch Nails album; unfortunately, it's one without all the hooks.

The 10 songs here deal with anger and consist of NIN-type drum loops and whispered vocals, but where Trent Reznor injects brutal guitar riffs and/or harsh screaming, Sheehan simply rides out the songs to their tepid conclusions. His lyrical outlook isn't as bleak as Reznor's, just less interesting: "I hate to have to listen to anybody else, it sounds like noise/And I hate to have to ever have to go to work, I just wanna play with my toys," (from "Tears Before Bedtime").

Sometimes after multiple listenings, music that is atmospheric and initially sounded dull can insinuate itself and grow on the listener. This is not the case with "Too Many Dogs." The uncontrollable fury of bands like the Sex Pistols and sometimes Pearl Jam makes their music come alive and gives their songs vitality. As the Clash once sang: "Let fury have the hour, anger can be the power."

Whether you like the works of Nine Inch Nails or not, the aggression and venom in Reznor's songs always make the listener take notice. Listening to Starlings, one comes away thinking that never before has being mad at the world sounded so boring.

Walking on a Tightrope
— Johnny Adams

Johnny Adams is royalty in New Orleans. Since he cut his first R&B single in 1959, the Dr. John-produced "I Won't Cry," Adams has had critics falling over their words to try to describe, in some small manner, the majesty, the subtlety, the finesse and the bone chilling beauty of the man's voice.

For a man who spends so much time in jazzy, gospel-based rhythm and blues music, it makes perfect sense to call him one of a small and select handful of the greatest blues singers on the globe. His 1962 "Losing Battle," also produced by Dr. John, was the last thing he had close to a hit before he apparently pulled the shutters back down in his New Orleans neighborhood.

If it hadn't been for Rounder Records signing him in the early 1990s, this prodigious power might have been lost to those who call this music magic forever.

Two albums I recommend are 1989's "Walking on a Tightrope," a collection of Percy Mayfield material, and 1991's "Johnny Adams Sings Doc Pomus: The Real Me." These aren't merely solid pieces of work by a journeyman vocalist. They're among the finest recordings ever laid to a laser.

Slightly akin to Ray Charles in soulful integrity, Adams is gifted with a perfect sense of musical and dramatic timing. He's quintessentially hip, the master throat artist. He turns a phrase with more shading and authority than anyone, outside of Ray Charles.

Teenage Symphonies to God
— Velvet Crush

Even if the ultra-blue jean jackets, the McCartney Hofner bass, and a turtleneck in the band photo don't give it away, it's obvious from the first chorus of "Hold Me Up" that Velvet Crush wishes it was 1965 again. More simply put, they are a retro band, trapped along with the Black Crowes and Lenny Kravitz in a world they don't want.

Their bio even compares their music on "Teenage Symphonies to God" (550 Music/Epic) to "the celestial sound that Brian Wilson had in mind" when he described the Beach Boys' legendary "Smile" album as the four words that make up this album's title. And though none of the 12 songs here will even have the staying power of... oh... "Kokomo," the Mitch Easter-produced trio makes a pleasant enough pop sound. In fact, Velvet Crush would be easily comparable to the current brand of power-pop grunge, such as Material Issue or Ugs Overkill, but many of their originals are quieter and more thoughtful than anything those two bands would crank out.

In all, most of today's record buyers don't care if bands recycle the '60s. The age market this group will appeal to was still in grade school when vinyl began its decline. So the teenagers can go ahead and put the Velvet Crush disc on. They'll lie on their beds, close their eyes and enjoy the music. Then they can pretend that they'll have to get up and flip sides after six songs.

Cause & Effect: A hard 'Trip'

After the death of one of Cause & Effect's founding members, his musical partner wanted to give up. Cause & Effect is back, though, with an album dedicated to the deceased musician.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Just as David Gahan and Martin Gore make up the core of Depeche Mode, Sean Rowley and Robert Rowe weaved their talents to create the synth-pop trio Cause & Effect.

Their independently distributed 1991 debut "Another Minute" was so successful that Zoo Entertainment picked up the distribution and helped push the single "You Think You Know Her" to No. 24 on Billboard's Hot 100 Singles chart.

In November 1992 the California-based duo recruited drummer Richard Shepherd and hit the road. The tour was going well until disaster struck.

Rowley suffered a fatal asthma attack in Minneapolis, Minn.

"My first thought was that it was over," said a choked-up Rowe via telephone from New York. "I hadn't worked with anyone else. It had always been Sean and I. It was hard to imagine doing it without him."

Rowe and surviving drummer Shepherd recruited old acquaintance keyboardist Keith Milo and tried to resume the tour. However, the jaunt was plagued by equipment malfunctions, theft, automotive breakdowns, management disputes and mounting legal problems. Rowe, who had worked with Rowley on and off since the mid-1980s, went into seclusion.

"I did a lot of thinking and tried to write songs. I felt hollow but I realized that I really liked doing this and I wanted to continue," said the British-born Rowe who also suffers from asthma.

A month later, he and Shepherd emerged and performed during the "Acoustic Christmas" benefit concert with Soul Asylum, Suzanne Vega and David Byrne, sponsored by Los Angeles alternative radio station KROQ. It was rough but they saw a glimpse of the light at the end of the tunnel of depression.

"There was so much support that night, for what we were going through, and the letters we were getting from fans, I couldn't really quit and let the fans down because they wanted us to continue," Rowe explained.

The trio jetted to England and recorded "Trip" with famed producer Martyn Phillips (Erasure, Jesus Jones and the Beloved.) They intended on making "an uplifting record about entering into a soul search." While still uplifting in the musical sense, "Trip" turned into a story of self-discovery and a eulogy of a lost friend. Nonetheless, it has garnered success for the young trio. The first single "It's Over Now (It's All Right With Me)" has received moderate airplay and is one of the top requested songs at the 3-D nightclub in Royal Oak.

Cause & Effect tells its stories with lush ballads ("Alone") and burbling dance rhythms (the first single "It's Over Now").

"Soul Search" is one of the songs Rowe penned while in the self-proclaimed "hibernation."

"I took a drink of holy water," he sings. "It tasted like the pipes were rusty. I listened to the words of wise men. It sounded like their words were dusty. In the morning would you let me wake with something to believe in 'cause in the morning I only ache for something to believe in."

The aching feeling Rowe awakened with continues in "Sinking" where he pleads with a friend to try to understand his situation: "If you were in my shoes you'd think about it twice because I'm sinking, sinking to a place I've never been before."

The poppy "In Shakespeare's Garden" is by far the most touching. In the song, an anxious Rowe pleads for his "angel to appear."

"I'm sitting in Shakespeare's garden underneath a tree wishing that my missing angel could sit next to me, to help me breathe."

Despite intensely emotional lyrics Cause & Effect gets a lot of flak because Rowe's vocals are similar to Depeche Mode's Gahan. But being compared to Depeche Mode isn't necessarily a bad thing, Rowe said.

"It's certainly good and they're certainly one of the biggest synth bands," he said. "They always pigeon hole you. When you think of a synth-based band, everyone thinks of Depeche Mode. If people really listen to the music and what it's about, (you'll see Cause & Effect is) very different."

The next step is touring, which Cause & Effect will begin in mid-October. (There isn't a Detroit date scheduled yet.) You can't blame Rowe for being a little apprehensive. "I've never been so nervous in all my life," he said with nervous laughter.

High-tops: Reaching a new high in style

BY KYLE GREEN
SPECIAL WRITER

The Detroit fashion elite have many difficult decisions these days.

The choices are endless. True authentic retro looks or new flashy flashbacks, black or midnight black, tight-fitting or cumbersome... and that's just jewelry. Don't even start with clothing.

Nevertheless, many of today's fashion ideas are mirrored designs of streetwear from European fashion slaves. One idea in particular which has been a hot fashion accessory is expected to smolder on this side of the Atlantic is a simple twist on an old athletic favorite — platform high-tops. This rediscovered disco fashion trend inspiration graced the catwalks, sidewalks and dance floors of London where it became a fashion staple accessory.

Ravers, fashion elitists and even store mannequins sport the retro-1970s fashion heatwaves with a modest twist to the standard athletic foot apparel.

The platform trainer, English for sneaker, is partially essential to any platform wardrobe, according to Figen Somali, manager of The Boot Store's Kings Road Store, located in one of the London's fashion districts.

"It's European," Somali said, "and it's appealing. Like Timberland (boots) don't appeal to American (tourists), but it is American. This is English and is appealing to Americans."

The Boot Store, which specializes in American and European boot styles, sells a platform sneaker made by Rappa's Shoe Inc. at its five London stores for almost $50 a pair, unlike Timberland work boots which can cost more than $200 for a basic style.

The Rappa's sole stands roughly 1 1/4 inches tall, and its shell is constructed of canvas. The shoes come in black, wine and the best seller white and appeals mostly to females, Somali said.

"They like the style," she said. "We have had ladies in their 30s and 40s who buy them. The usual age is 18 to 24 years old."

"If we had the men's sizes we would have doubled the sales."

Shellys Shoes of London sells two styles of platform high-tops at its 11 London stores. One style made by Converse with rubber soles and canvas bodies and was available in a wide variety of colors and sold for roughly $60 a pair. The second line is a black, white and silver-colored nylon-constructed model made by Junior Gaultier and sells for just over $100 a pair.

Shellys reports solid sales of both styles to shoppers of either sex, but would not provide specific numbers, according to one of the company's fashion public relations consultants.

"You could wear them with a suit, probably right now a single-breasted and bell bottoms is very in," she said. That's probably the appeal that they are an oddity, but you could wear them with a bomber jacket and jeans, if you must."

That was the idea that Heidi Lichtenstein, co-owner of Cinderella's Attic in Royal Oak, had when she ordered platform high-tops made by Nana.

Out of the "dozens" ordered, few have been sold, Lichtenstein said.

"People who are really into platformed shoes will buy authentic platform shoes, not athletic platform shoes," she said.

The black and white canvas-styled shoe, complete with skull and crossbones accents, attracts attention in the store's window on Main Street earlier this year, but the curiosity ends there.

"Everyone likes them, but some people are afraid (to purchase it), and there are a new breed of people coming in here who like the music and not the music and the lifestyle," Lichtenstein said.

Stepping up: Platform tennis shoes, a cross between the disco trend and the run-of-the-mill sneakers, have found their way from England to the United States.

New assistant AD

It was a new job Sue Heinzman reported to Monday. But trying new things is nothing new to Heinzman.

The Plymouth-Canton school district's athletic trainer has been selected to fill the vacancy as assistant athletic director, left vacant when Jack Finn resigned in August.

"She's got a vast background, in administration and sports medicine," said athletic director Paul Cummings. "That's the thing. She's got an undergraduate degree in physical education (from Eastern Michigan), she did her student teaching here, she was the softball coach at Northville and she has her master's in sports medicine.

"Then she applied for this and, in my opinion, was the best candidate."

Heinzman was a trainer at Canton HS before leaving to do her graduate work at the United States Sports Academy in Alabama. When she returned to this area, she went to work for a physical therapist; last year, she was hired as the district athletic trainer.

Chiefs run 2nd

It was a battle Saturday at the Grosse Ile Invitational, one which Brighton's girls team came out a winner in the eight-team event at Lake Erie Metropark. Canton placed second, five points behind Brighton's 39. Saline was third with 59.

Becky Wolfrom continued her strong season, placing second in 19:33. Other Chiefs to score: Beth Knight, sixth (20:34); Tracey Cavin, eighth (20:58); Megan Barresi, 13th (21:05); and Jamie Vergari, 14th (21:15).

"We ran quick," said Canton coach George Przygodski. "It's a fast course. It was a race between some pretty good programs. It was good to go in and mix it up with some of the better teams in the state.

"We're showing improvement in our conditioning and racing techniques."

Salem wears WLAA crown

BILL BRUBAKER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Staying focused: Salem's Mark Wesner was really out of the running for a top-five finish on his team, but his score turned out to be pivotal.

When all the calculations had been calibrated and the figures totaled, the winner still could not be decided — not until another man's score was included, and even then the final result produced the narrowest of victory margins.

BY C.J. RISA
STAFF WRITER

From the start, it figured to be a tight race, probably between two teams: Livonia Churchill, the defending champion in Western Lakes Activities Association golf, and Plymouth Salem, the only team to beat the Chargers in a conference dual meet the last two seasons.

Even before the first stroke had been struck, those two were the odds-on favorites to vie for the WLAA crown, with possible intervention from North Farmington and/or Northville.

And yet, no one could have anticipated this.

Churchill concluded play Tuesday at Bras Burn Golf Course in Plymouth, site of the WLAA Tournament, then added up its score — 395. Salem followed suit, putting together its five best 18-hole totals, and came up with — 395.

Which left the sixth golfer as the deciding factor. Salem's Mark Wesner had an 82. Churchill's Mike Cotter shot 83.

Salem won by that single stroke. "That's why, with these kids, you keep telling them every stroke counts," said Salem coach Rick Wilson.

He provided the perfect example. Wesner, normally one of Salem's top scorers, was having an off-day. On his final hole, he put his approach shot onto the bank of a pond. Perhaps thinking his score probably wouldn't count anyway, Wesner might have played it half-heartedly.

But he didn't. "He took a shoe off, stepped into the water — and it was cold; about 50 degrees outside — and played it," said Wilson.

The result: Wesner salvaged a bogey. At the time, he didn't realize how important that was.

As vital as Wesner's effort turned out to be, Wilson was happiest with Ryan Andrzejewski's performance. "This is the kid who really came through," insisted Wilson.

Indeed he did. Andrzejewski, who shot a 46 in Salem's nine-hole loss to Churchill Sept. 9 at Whispering Willows, figured to be the Rocks' fifth scorer. Instead, the junior shot a career-best 74 to earn co-medalist honors for the tournament with North's Drew Sopha.

Other Salem scorers: junior Mike Hjeltnestad, 77; sophomores Brian Fox and Jeff Lear, each with 81; and senior Brian Covington, 82.

Churchill coach Kirk Oeler felt he had nothing to be displeased about. "I was happy with our kids," he said. "They were very consistent. We had all five kids medal and we didn't win — I think that's the first time that's ever happened.

"I felt if we broke 400 that would do it. The nice thing about it was, no one shot a real big number for us. So it doesn't throw us off track. Our stroke average is still coming down."

Churchill was led by Dave Higham at 77. Next for the Chargers was Jason Kiehler (78), followed by Chris Kiehler (79), Leon Kashawlic

Late goal gets Canton a tie with Salem

BY C.J. RISA

Nothing was decided Monday when Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem tangled in a boys soccer match that, as far as the Western Lakes Activities Association standings go, meant nothing.

Or was there? The first time these two met, in the championship of the Plymouth Invitational Aug. 27, Salem leveled Canton with a shocking 5-1 victory. So even though the Chiefs had not lost since, there was still a score to settle.

They weren't able to do it Monday, not exactly. But their strong second half resulted in a 1-1 draw that certainly delivered a message.

"It was typical of a Canton-

Salem game," acknowledged Salem coach Ken Johnson. "And I knew they wouldn't want to take another 5-1 drubbing, would they?"

They wouldn't, and they didn't. Still, the Chiefs weren't as powerful as they looked five days earlier in beating Livonia Churchill; they surrendered a goal with 17:15 remaining in the first half on a defensive error. Andy Makins brought the ball down the right wing, and when a Canton defender committed, he eluded him.

Makins crossed the ball in to Matt Simons, on a run through the middle, and Simons buried it behind Salem keeper George Tomasso.

The Rocks dominated play the remainder of the half, although it was the Chiefs who came closest to scoring when Greg Kilby hammered a shot from 22 yards out off the crossbar.

The second half was a different story. "I'm glad we came back," said Canton coach Don Smith. "We came back strong. That's what we're going to have to do when we get to the (WLAA) playoffs and districts, which are coming up pretty soon."

The Chiefs had the better opportunities through the final 40 minutes, with Chad Dale getting off a couple of good shots that Salem keeper Brian Bacylnski handled. Finally, with

It's an old story — your score is posted, you're finished, just watching, trying to be patient, knowing the situation is under someone else's control.

The waiting is the worst. For Steve Ausmeek, that was more than an adage. He had lived it.

Three and a half weeks ago, at the Northern Michigan Amateur Tournament at Gaylord Country Club, Ausmeek was in the clubhouse with the lowest score. "All the scores were up," Ausmeek recalled. "All but one. Then that guy came in and beat me."

Ausmeek ended up second out of 108 golfers. So on Sunday, when he discovered his score of 73-73/165 was atop the Observer & Escanaba/Whispering Willows Tournament standings, he took the news hesitantly.

Nervously, too. He really didn't need to be reminded by Peter Hegg, one of his sponsors, that it was "the same scenario today" as in Gaylord.

As it turned out, it wasn't. The only threat still on the course was William Heman (of Livonia), who had shot a 75 Saturday and was in one of the Canton seeks 3rd-straight; Salem faces test

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Time to check the computer playoff rankings to see who may be headed for the post-season tournament.

The only unbeaten school left in Observerland is Redford St. Agatha (5-0). The Aggies are also a good bet to make one of the four spots in Class D-Region IV.

In Class AA-Region II, Livonia Stevenson (4-1) and Wayne Memorial (4-1) are still in the hunt, with Westland John Glenn (3-2) and Plymouth Canton (3-2) poised to make moves.

In Class AA-Region III, Redford Catholic Central (3-2) faces an uphill battle after losing to Warren DeLaSalle.

In Class A-Region III, both Farmington High (4-1) and Farmington Harrison (4-1) are very much alive. Meanwhile, North Farmington (3-2) helped itself last week by upsetting previously unbeaten Stevenson.

As for the prediction race, yours truly and the "Smiling Irishman," Dan O'Meara, each correctly picked 13 of 15 games. O'Meara's overall mark for the season is 58-17, compared with 56-19 for Emons.

Here is a look at this weekend's action:

FRIDAY'S GAMES

(all at 7:30 p.m.)

Liv. Stevenson at Westland Glenn: Stevenson (4-1, 2-1) hasn't beaten the Rockets (3-2, 3-0) since 1987. The Lakes Division crown is at stake. Glenn could clinch a spot in the Western Lakes championship with a victory. Stevenson must find some type of passing attack to keep the Rockets' defense honest. PICKS: O'Meara casts his ballot with Stevenson, but Emons sides with Rockets.

Liv. Franklin at Liv. Chardon: The bad news is that both teams are winless. The good news is that somebody is going to come out a winner. Chardon's defense appears to be slightly better, but the Patriots seem to have the ability to score more points. Turnovers may determine this one. PICKS: O'Meara favors Patric, but Emons gets Charged up about Churchill.

Luth. Westland at Clarenceville: Lutheran High Westland coach Dennis Tu-oni missed his first game since 1960 after undergoing surgery last week for a detached retina. The Warriors (2-3, 1-3) led 7-0 against Harper Woods Lutheran East (coached by Tuoni's son), but came out a loser, 30-7. Clarenceville (3-2, 3-1), meanwhile, is on a roll with three straight wins. Tailback Martin Seman is averaging 170 yards per game. PICKS: Two votes for Clarenceville.

Ply. Canton at Northville: The Chiefs (3-2, 3-0), led by pint-sized nose guard Shaun Dyer, have blanked two straight opponents and could be on a collision course with Farmington Hills Harrison in two weeks for the Western Lakes title in the W.L.A.A. Northville (2-3, 1-2) has been struggling and could be in trouble if tailback Ansel Kersey is out after suffering an ankle injury. PICKS: Canton gets the nod.

Farmington at W.L. Central: The Falcons (4-1, 2-1) suffered their first loss last week at the hands of Glenn, but still remain in the hunt for the Lakes Division title and a playoff berth. Central (2-3, 0-3), which has lost three in a row, is very suspect on the defensive end. PICKS: The Falcons return to flight.

Wayne Memorial at Wyandotte: The Zebras (4-1, 2-1) rebounded from their loss to Monroe by rolling up 41 points against Woodhaven. Meanwhile, Wyandotte (2-3, 2-2) fell to a mediocre Dearborn Edsel Ford team last week, 35-12.

The green light should be given to Stan Stevenson and company. PICKS: Wayne makes it a memorable night.

Redford Union at Monroe: Thanks to the new Mega Conference, this crossover matchup is a mismatch. Monroe (5-0, 4-0) is flat-out tough, led by tailback Jeff Gons. RU (2-3, 1-2) must find a running game after being limited to minus-37 last week in a 27-0 setback to Dearborn. PICKS: Try those Monroe shock absorbers.

Garden City at Taylor Truman: Winless Truman is a welcome relief for the Cougars (1-4, 1-2), who met one of the state's top teams last week in Belleville. The Cougars couldn't overcome a 29-0 halftime deficit before losing 36-10, but a bright spot was quarterback Mike Marlow, who hit 11 of 17 passes for 120 yards. PICKS: GC writes a Truman Capote novel.

Red. Thurston at Belleville: The Eagles (2-3, 2-2) gave up a ton of yards on the ground last week in a 27-7 loss to unbeaten Allen Park. Josh Short had 230 of those yards. Melvinda (2-3, 2-2) fell last week to Dearborn Heights Crestwood in overtime, 11-8. Thurston upended Crestwood a week earlier, 19-18 in overtime. PICKS: Thurston quenches its thirst, O'Meara says, but Emons takes the Redbirds.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

(all at 1 p.m. unless noted)

Ply. Salem at R. Farmington: Although coach Tom Moshimer is hobbling with a knee injury after getting wiped out on the sideline two weeks ago against Stevenson, Salem (2-3, 1-2) managed to beat Walled Lake Central last week. Moshimer, who sat up in the press box, had to see what he saw from the bird's-eye view in tailback Mike Brennan, who had 178 yards in the Rocks' 35-18 win. North (3-2, 1-2) is looking better and better after upsetting Stevenson last week, 6-0. The Raiders, who lost close games to Glenn and Farmington, could easily be unbeaten at this juncture. PICKS: North winds blow O'Meara's way, but Emons believes Salem is Rock-solid.

W.L. Western at F.H. Harrison: The state-ranked Hawks (4-1, 3-0) have rebounded nicely since their opening-day loss to Birmingham Brother Rice, but coach John Herrington has to be concerned about injuries. Quarterback Jake Lawson is out for a while, so sophomore Kevin Bamberg is at the helm. Western (1-4, 1-2), meanwhile, is a mere shell of the 1992 Class A runner-up squad. The Warriors' only win is against winless Livonia Franklin. PICKS: Harrison executes a Western roundup.

Sheep Burgess at St. Benedictine (2 p.m.): The Spartans are searching for their first win after getting clobbered last week by Riverview Gabriel Richard, 38-12. Benedictine (3-2, 2-1) is coming off a 25-15 win over Allen Park Cabrini in a Catholic League Tri-Sectional game. PICKS: Benedictine doesn't have Demick Alexander anymore, but still has enough to take Burgess.

St. Agatha vs. Waterford Our Lady (7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field): It's another tough C-Section test for the unbeaten Aggies, who got 172 yards in 53 carries from Bill Matti in a 10-0 win last Saturday over state-ranked Royal Oak Shire and former Aggie coach John Golder. Lakes (4-1, 2-0) is always dangerous under coach Mike Boyd. The Lakers are rated No. 4 in Class D. PICKS: Lakes is Emons' choice, but O'Meara sticks with the Aggies.

Redford CC vs. N.W. Notre Dame (7:30 p.m. at Clarenceville): The Shamrocks (3-2, 0-1) could get a breather this week after losing two in a row to state powers Orchard Lake St. Mary and Warren DeLaSalle. Sophomore Greg Call got the start at quarterback last week against DeLaSalle, completing five of 11 passes for 96 yards and one interception. Notre Dame (2-3, 1-1) edged U-D Jesuit last Sunday, 15-14. PICKS: CC rides comfortably off into the sunset.

Madonna tips UM-D

The trend continues for Madonna University's volleyball team.

The Lady Crusaders are still difficult for any other NAIA team to handle — the reason they are ranked 19th in the NAIA. But teams in the NCAA Division II-affiliated Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference are another matter.

Madonna lost its third-straight to a GLIAC team last Friday, falling to Hillsdale 15-8, 15-13, 15-12. Previously, the Crusaders had been beaten by Saginaw Valley State and Oakland University.

On Tuesday, they rebounded to defeat NAIA foe University of Michigan-Dearborn 15-0, 15-11, 15-13 at UM-D. The win raised Madonna's record to 10-5.

Julie Wood led the winners with nine kills. Julie Martin and Mo Paulin had five apiece. Kelly McCausland contributed four service aces.

Schoolcraft College

The Lady Ocelots battled the Eastern Conference's only unbeaten team, Henry Ford CC, but bowed 15-8, 15-6, 10-15, 17-15 Tuesday at SC.

The attack continued to center around Shannon Gottschalk and Julie Campau. They combined for 54 kills, Campau getting 30 and Gottschalk 24. Campau had 13 digs and Gottschalk 12. Janet Zabivnik contributed 50 assists-to-kills and 10 digs, and Vicki Rohraff had four service aces and six digs.

VOLLEYBALL

The loss dropped SC to 3-2 in the conference and to 11-10-3 against junior college foes. Henry Ford is 5-0 in the conference.

Last weekend, SC hosted the Schoolcraft Invitational, with three teams from Illinois — Elgin, Parkland and McHenry — competing. The final result of the best-of-five games round-robin tournament: SC, Elgin and Parkland all went 2-1, with McHenry going 0-3.

SC defeated McHenry 15-8, 12-15, 15-4, 15-3 and, in its final match, Elgin by a 14-16, 16-14, 15-11, 10-15, 16-14 score. The Ocelots lost to Parkland 15-7, 13-15, 15-11, 15-10.

Leaders for the three matches: Campau and Gottschalk with 64 kills apiece, Sarah McDowell with 19; Zabivnik with 143 assists; Campau with 39 digs, Gottschalk with 38; Zabivnik with 33 and Jannel Hemme with 32; and Rohraff with 11 service aces.

Ocelots stop Columbus

Schoolcraft College pulled away from a 2-0 halftime lead with four second-half goals to outdistance Columbus State (Ohio) CC 6-1 in a men's soccer match at Columbus.

Nasser Salame and Chris Hayes gave the Ocelots a 2-0 lead at the intermission. Hayes assisted on Salame's goal; Tim McCauley got the assist on Hayes' goal.

In the second half, Fadi Bazzi took over for the NJCAA's ninth-ranked team, scoring twice in a 19-minute span. Ryan Smith and Ryan Phipps drew the assists.

Mo Hijazi increased the SC lead to 5-0, Bazzi assisting, and Mario Piacentini got the final Ocelot goal, assisted by Phipps. Columbus State got a goal in the final seven minutes off an indirect free kick.

Brian Mylnarek was in goal for the win, which improved SC's record to 5-0 in Region 12 and to 8-1 overall. Last Wednesday, the Ocelots were edged by University of Michigan, 2-1 at U-M.

Some familiar faces were on hand for the Wolverines, in particular Mike Presley and Ryan Carriere, both former SC stand-outs. Presley marked SC's Bazzi and did a creditable job, but midway through the first half Carriere tripped Bazzi in the penalty area and a penalty kick was awarded. Hayes converted, making it 1-0 SC.

U-M got that goal back before halftime, putting in a rebound after an indirect free kick, then got the game-winner 25 minutes into the second half.

DeLaSalle takes care of Shamrocks

FOOTBALL

Redford Catholic Central's football winning streak in the Catholic League Central Division, which dated back to 1989, has come to an end.

CC committed four turnovers Saturday night and lost 14-5 to Warren DeLaSalle, one of the state's top Class AA teams, before an overflow crowd estimated at 5,000 at Roseville Memorial Field.

The Shamrocks, who had a 218-207 lead in total yardage, fell to 3-2 overall, 0-1 in the Central Division. DeLaSalle is undefeated in five games, 1-0 in the Central. Both of DeLaSalle's touchdowns came after the Pilots recovered CC fumbles.

CC answered with a 35-yard field goal by Ron Bialobrzeki with 1:30 left in the half to cut the lead to 7-3. The Shamrocks' scoring drive started at their own 24 and ended at DeLaSalle's 18.

A strange series of fumbles led to DeLaSalle's final points. CC fumbled at its own 45 and DeLaSalle recovered, only to fumble the ball back at the Shamrocks' 10.

But CC fumbled again, and the Pilots fell on the ball at the Shamrocks' 14.

DeLaSalle picked up a first down on fourth down and goal from the CC 4, and three plays later, the Pilots scored on a 4-yard pass to Jerry Trondle. The ball was tipped at the line of scrimmage by one of CC's linemen.

DeLaSalle took a safety late in the game to give CC its final points.

Chiefs roll to win over North

In a rematch of last year's Western Lakes Activities Association final, Plymouth Canton defeated host North Farmington 67-49 Tuesday in girls basketball.

Both teams are 6-3 overall, but the defending champion Chiefs improve to 3-1 in the league while the Raiders drop to 1-3.

Junior center Sarah Warnke scored 20 points and helped Canton rebound the Raiders. Kristi Fiorenzi added 10 points, Amicia Crayton and Mary Anderson nine apiece.

Senior Allaha Gordon scored a game-high 24 points for North. Carrie May had nine, Kathie Collins eight and Liz Weber seven.

Canton took charge with a 16-9 first quarter, led 35-23 at halftime and put the game away with a 15-8 advantage in the third.

■ Salem 66, Churchill 30: Junior forward Shellye Sills scored 13 points and senior guard Kelly Lukasik added 11 for host Plymouth Salem (7-3, 3-1), which earned the easy WLAA win Tuesday over Livonia Churchill (1-8, 0-3).

Jamie Clark paced the Chargers with 11 points and 14 rebounds.

■ Agape 33, Zoe Christian 26: A strong third quarter carried Plymouth Agape Christian to victory Tuesday at Zoe Christian.

Agape, which improved to 4-2 overall and to 3-0 in the Metro

Christian Conference, led 14-10 at the half before building their cushion to 27-11 with a 13-1 third-quarter surge.

Gretchen Balsch's 11 points paced Agape. Crystal Palmer had nine.

■ Divine Child 69, Mercy 41: The host Falcons were in control early after they outscored the Marlins 21-5 in the first quarter Tuesday.

Tara Overaitis, a transfer from Livonia Ladywood, scored 18 points in three periods of play to lead Divine Child. Carrie Carpenter and Mary Murray added 10 apiece.

"We thought we set up a pretty good defensive plan, and Murray drilled four straight 15-foot shots on us in that quarter," Mercy coach Larry Baker said. "She didn't miss."

"We were concerned about them inside defensively, and they shot extremely well from outside."

Julie Angell had nine points to lead the Marlins while Carrie Schwagle and Felicia Brooks scored seven each.

The Falcons, who led 38-14 at halftime and 56-29 after three quarters, are 4-0 in the Central Division and 9-1 overall. Mercy is 1-2 and 5-4.

■ Regina 53, Ladywood 44: Maria Cady poured in 19 points Tuesday, powering Harper Woods Regina (3-6, 1-3) to the Catholic League Central Division win over Livonia Ladywood (4-4, 0-4).

Senior Melissa Campeau scored 13 for the Blazers, who lost for the fourth straight time.

It is hunting season, but fish still biting

OUTDOORS

BILL PARKER

I know summer's over and it's hunting season, but the fishing has been pretty good lately, too. And while there should be plenty of hunting success stories phoned in to me over the upcoming weeks — which I will undoubtedly relate to you — there are still some fish tales to pass along as well. Plus, I'm not in the office this week to answer the phone and take those calls and no, I refuse to bring a portable with me on the hunt.

Before we hook into the fishing stories, just a reminder to call me with your success reports. Whether it's a 8-pound salmon or a 12-pound walleye, a limit of ringnecks, a couple of ducks, a buck, a doe, a bear or a hare give me a call and report your success. (Wives often call in for their husbands and kids.)

Now on with the anglers. There was a changing of the guard this year in the Michigan Bass'n Gals circuit as Westland's Patty Thompson won the 1994 Angler of the Year honors. Thompson earned the title by having the highest weight total (19.74 pounds) through five club tournaments.

Diane Wayne of Dearborn Heights placed second, Canton's Linda Bennett was third, Mary McTaggart of Lincoln Park was fourth and Mary Ashteneau, also of Canton, placed fifth.

Ashteneau was the defending Michigan Bass'n Gals Angler of the Year and won the title in 1991 and 1992 as well.

Michigan Bass'n Gals meet at 7 p.m. the second Thursday of each month at the Ponderosa Steak House in Taylor (Southfield and Van Born).

Michigan Bass'n Gals will hold an open tournament on Oct. 23 on Case Lake. Registration is $50 per boat. There is a $5 late fee after Oct. 9. Registration will be accepted up to 7 a.m. on the morning of the tournament. Call (313) 981-3367 for more information on the club or the upcoming tournament.

Red Man results

Livonia's David Result took first place and big bass honors in the sixth and final Red Man Michigan Division qualifier held recently on the Grand River.

Fishing weedlines using grubs and spoons, Result caught a limit of five fish that tipped the scale at 12 pounds, 9 ounces. His biggest bass was 5 pounds, 2 ounces.

Result earned $1,000 for first place, plus an additional $1,000, a fishing rod, cap and trophy from Abu Garcia for catching the biggest bass of the tournament.

The top 30 anglers in the Michigan Division, determined on a basis of pounds and points over the six qualifying tournaments, advance to the Red Man Regional where they will compete against the top 30 anglers from four other regionals for a spot in the Red Man All-American.

Four area anglers qualified for the regional event from the Michigan Division.

Rochester native and Livonia resident Art Ferguson won the Michigan Division with 196.50 points (47 pounds, 6 ounces). Kyle Grooms of Bloomfield Hills placed fourth with 185 points (38-10), Neil Coomes of Troy was 14th with 146 points (24-01) and Result placed 16th with 122 points (29-13).

Livonia's Jerry Dietrich just missed qualifying, placing 31st with 81.50 points (17-04).

The winning edge

Southfield's Terry Sanders knows there are big bass in Shorehill Lake. He's caught them many times in the past.

So when Sanders took his friend's son, Jayson Symons, on a bass fishing trip on the Bloomfield Hills lake he wasn't surprised when the 16-year-old landed a largemouth that weighed close to six pounds.

What was a surprise was the fact that the 5.82-pound bass was big enough to earn Symons the state title in the 1994 Plano Big Bass Junior Championship. Symons won a check for $250 for the state-winning catch and now is eligible to win a $10,000 scholarship.

The state winner in the Big Bass World Championship (a similar program for adults) will represent the junior champions from their respective states in the BBWC Finals, Nov. 4-5 in Florida. The BBWC World Champion wins $100,000 for himself and a $10,000 college scholarship for the junior champion from his state.

Andrew Tajblik, of Toledo, Ohio, won the Michigan BBWC state championship in July when he caught a (believe it or not) 10.76-pound largemouth in the Randall Lake Chain (near Coldwater) in July. If Tajblik wins the BBWC World Championship, Symons wins the scholarship.

Hunters and anglers are urged to report their success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to Outdoors, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Fax information to (810) 644-1314 or call Bill Parker at 901-2573.

CC keeps playoff hopes alive with shutout

Andy Gignac tallied a goal and one assist Tuesday, keeping Redford Catholic Central's boys soccer playoff hopes alive with a 2-0 win at Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

CC is now 6-2-2 overall and 3-2-2 in the Central Division of the Catholic League.

SOCCER

Dan Kogut had the other CC goal, while Tom Derhake chipped in with the assist.

Goalkeeper Jeremy Podolak posted the shutout.

■ STEVENSON 3, FARMINGTON 0: After a scoreless first half, Livonia Stevenson (9-0-2, 4-0) tallied three unanswered goals in the second half against the host Falcons (5-5-2 overall) to win the Lakes Division crown outright claim in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Goalie Jim Groves recorded his second shutout.

Nick Deron scored twice for the victorious Spartans, while teammate Steve Willford contributed a goal and one assist.

Charlie Roberts assisted on the game-winner. Bernac also scored the Chargers' first goal.

On Sept. 30, host Churchill fell to non-league foe Rochester, 2-1.

final four. Himm couldn't catch Aumock, however; he shot an 81 Sunday for a 156 total.

Aumock's victory was secure — at last. And although it was just his second O&E Tournament, the Rochester Adams graduate ('88) believed the victory was overdue. That's because of what happened to him last year in his first O&E tournament.

"I was ahead with nine holes left," said Aumock, "then bogey, bogey, bogey. It's not like I was nervous — I just couldn't get the ball to go."

Luck favored him this year. While many of the field of 118 had to deal with a driving rainstorm that delayed the start Saturday, Aumock went off in the afternoon, when the weather had cleared.

Despite poor conditions, some good first-round scores were posted. Mark Holowicki (Farmington Hills) led with a 71; Aumock was next with 72, followed by Bob Carlson (Livonia) with a 73 and Murray Brooks (Westland) at 74.

On Sunday, the weather was better but the scores in general weren't. Holowicki shot a 79 for a 150 total, good for third place; Alex McLuckie (Livonia) came closest to challenging Aumock with a best-round score of 72 to finish second with a 147. Mogg (Birmingham) was fourth at 77-74/151.

In first flight, Rick Wheeler (Livonia) opened up a big lead with a 73 Saturday and coasted to victory with an 81 Sunday for a 154 total. Bob Dates (Canton) placed second with a 79-79/158, with Dan McInerney (Troy) third at 78-83/161.

Darrell Johnston (Livonia) won second flight with an 81-89/170. Kevin Behn (West Bloomfield) was second with 84-87/171 and Nick Moutafis was third at 85-88/173.

Top finisher in third flight was Greg Greslik (Livonia), 97-101/198, followed by Paul Shedik (Troy), 101-102/203 and Ron Retzaff (Southfield) 101-103/204.

IMPRESSIONS

The score posted Saturday by Rick Wheeler certainly didn't look like First Flight stuff.

The Livonia resident shot a 73 — officially, the third-best round of the day in the tournament. Wheeler is a 22 handicap. He returned to this planet on Sunday with a still-solid 81 for a winning total of 154. Second place went to Bob Dates, assistant director of the Canton Parks and Recreation Services, with a consistent 79-79/158. They were the only two first-rounders to post scores under 160.

"We were all playing for second," said Dates.

Wheeler almost added the perfect finishing touch to his championship on the seventh hole Sunday. His drive bounced right to the stick and stopped — only an inch or two away from a hole-in-one.

WITHDRAWN

Ken Klisz of Farmington Hills started the tournament Saturday knowing that other obligations would prevent him from playing Sunday. Still, one has to wonder if he had second thoughts.

Playing in the championship flight, Klisz fired an opening-round 75 to put him within striking distance of first place and certainly in the running for some sort of gift certificate.

QUITE A CADDY

Last year, Karl Nagy of Livonia finished second in the championship flight. This year, he called on some expert advice — former O&E champ and current pro Dean Kobane.

A Livonia Churchill and University of Michigan graduate, Kobane aided his friend by caddying for him. Since he turned pro, Kobane couldn't play. He is competing on the Hurricane Tour in North Carolina, one of several minor golf tours around the country.

"It's a whole different world," said Kobane of his experiences. He hasn't won anything on the tour — not yet, anyway. Nagy finished 10th at 76-81/157.

FORGET THE WEATHER

Despite the inclement conditions — pouring rain in the morning delayed Saturday's start — there were only a couple of no-shows in the field of 118. And many of the golfers raved over the condition of the greens, saying they were in excellent condition.

Soccer from page 1C

9:04 remaining, Jeff Fliss' corner kick dropped in the box to Simeon Allmyer; he tapped it to Graham Wilk, and Wilk netted it to knot the score.

The tie put Canton's record at 9-1-2; Salem is 8-2-3.

Although the result wasn't exactly satisfying to either side, it was a better result for Canton than in the team's first meeting. "That was a bad showing for us," said Smith. "We weren't ready, and we didn't play well, either."

"Tonight, our defense played well."

Johnson thought the outcome could have been different — with particular reference to a no-call in the second half, when Salem forward Mark MacInnis was tripped in the penalty area with Salem still leading, 1-0.

"I hate it when officials tell me, 'I'm not going to make a close call like that in a big game.' A penalty's a penalty," the Rocks' coach said.

And a win's a win, a loss is a loss, and a tie is...

Canton 2, Huron 1: The Chiefs' shutout streak ended at five games, and their unbeaten string (now at 10) almost went with it Saturday at Ann Arbor Huron.

The River Rats scored in the first half and clung to their 1-0 lead until the final eight minutes. Canton finally tied it on a goal by Ryan Meeth, with Jeff Fliss assisting. The game-winner came moments later, when Graham Wilk scored with Fliss, again, assisting.

The Chiefs have already clinched first place in the Western Division — which means they will play No. 1-ranked Livonia Stevenson twice in a row. They close out their regular-season schedule with Stevenson Wednesday, then meet the Spartans in the WLA championship match a week later at Canton's field.

Since both Canton and Stevenson are in the same Class A state district (as well as Salem and Livonia Churchill) hosted by Redford Union, there's a chance the two teams could meet three times in a row, if they draw each other in the first round of the district.

Salem 3, Brighton 2: The Rocks trailed Brighton — which earlier this season had been ranked No. 1 in the state — 1-0 at the half, but three second-half goals lifted them to victory Saturday at Salem.

Mike Kley tied it for the Rocks, Trevor Pruett assisting. Mark MacInnis then put them ahead, assisted by Matt Sarkesian; Doug Herriman got the eventual game-winner, with the assist going to Chris Curry.

PCA 6, Huron Valley 0: The first half was all Plymouth Christian Academy needed to prove its superiority Tuesday at Westland Huron Valley Lutheran.

The Eagles (6-2-2 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference) built a 5-0 lead by halftime and coasted to the victory. Dan House and John Pugno each scored twice in the opening half, and Brian Fair added a single goal. Art Partain had the only goal of the second half.

Shawn Walker had two assists and Fair, Partain and Brian Thomson each had one.

(80) and Gary Kreis (81).

It was a two-team title race all the way. Northville was a distant third, 26 strokes behind at 421, with North fourth at 422. Fifth went to Walled Lake Central (425), followed by Walled Lake Western (429), Livonia Stevenson (430), Livonia Franklin (445), Farmington (449), Plymouth Canton (452), Farmington Harrison (457) and Westland John Glenn (468).

The top five scorers were named conference medal-winners. That group included North's Sophs, Salem's Andrzejewski, Franklin's Jason DeGrande (75), Churchill's Higham and Salem's Hjeltnetad.

The next 10 best scorers were named division medal-winners. They were: at 78, Central's Matt Festa and Churchill's Jason Kiebler; at 79, Churchill's Chris Kiebler; at 80, Northville's Rob Rankin and Churchill's Kasehvic; and at 81, Salem's Lear and Fox, Canton's Brian Carlson, Churchill's Kreis and Northville's Eric Swetlik.

SERIES CHAMPS

The trip to the USSSA Men's Class C World Series in Brookhaven, N.Y., Sept. 23-25 proved profitable for J.D.'s Softball/Kirk's Automotive. The team, which plays at the Canton Softball Center, collected the title with back-to-back wins in the final rounds over 4M Sports Cafe of East Detroit.

J.D.'s survived the 32-team invitational with a 7-5 win over Reid's Concrete of West Jordan, Utah; a 14-1 triumph over International Awards Rumors of Lubbock, Texas; a 12-3 victory over Hooters from Richmond, Va.; and, in one of the top games of the tournament, a 19-16 win over the Red Machine from Miami, Fla.

In their last game of the winner's bracket, and their first against 4M, J.D.'s won 19-8. The final was no better for 4M; it lost 7-5, giving J.D.'s the championship.

J.D.'s Jim Morgan was named the tournament's MVP, and Brad Waitrus was the defensive player of the tournament. Other all-tournament selections from J.D.'s: Dave Mossioan, Charlie Rose, Bob Newbery, Dan Barr and manager Jeff David.

Other team members: Dan Brooks, Russ Bukowski, Rick Burkhardt, Derek Fisley, Rob Gladstone, Pat Koepfer, Jim McLennan, Jim Morgan Sr., Willie Nuttall and Barry Vaughn.

PUNT, PASS, KICK WINNERS

Champions were crowned in seven divisions at the annual Punt, Pass and Kick program sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Services Sept. 24 at Griffin Park.

Winners in each division will advance to regional competition at Griffin Park Oct. 15.

Division winners were: Eight-year olds, David Neu, 69-feet, 8-inches; nine-years, Tony Cruz, 128-2; 10-years, Jonathon DeBono, 184-0; 11-years, Todd Shirman, 148-11; 12-years, Brian Lehman, 219-8; 13-years, Bill Wanniger, 206-8; 14-years, Jeff Bugeja, 238-4.

Second-place finishers in each division: Eight-years, Nolan Sanders, 69-2; nine-years, Timothy Strabbing, 126-0; 10-years, Ricky Martin, 148-8; 11-years, Truy Gerek, 133-9; 12-years, Doug Plateau, 166-3; 13-years, Justin Bradley, 172-11; 14-years, Mark Micale, 192-1.

BUS DRIVERS 2ND

The Bus Drivers, a 12-year-old team from Plymouth and Canton, finished second in their division at the 3-on-3 Gus Macker Basketball Tournament in Fort Wayne, Ind., last weekend.

Team members are Scott Setlock, Jeff Swartek, Nick Duca and Jim Reddy.

FOX HILLS SCRAMBLE

It was close, but the Johnson team proved best at the Fox Hills three-man golf scramble Sunday. The Johnson team shot a 13 under-par 59; they were followed by the Carpenter team's 12-under 60; the Johnston team's 11-under 61; the Omentanaki's 10-under 62; and the Paul's and the Mulkinch's nine-under 63.

Also, Kenneth Kosal connected for a hole-in-one on the second hole.

A total of 48 three-person teams participated.

LIONS SWEEP

The Canton Lions varsity got a pair of first-half touchdowns from Brandon Evans that sparked them to a 16-7 victory over the Garden City Chargers Sunday. Evans followed his first-quarter TD with a 42-yard punt return in the second quarter. Bill Wanniger booted two two-point conversions for the Lions.

The Lions JV stayed unbeaten with an 8-0 triumph over the Chargers. Grant Grayer scored the game's only TD in the third quarter. The freshmen prevailed 13-0 over the Chargers, with Todd Shirman tossing a touchdown pass to Bill Pitt, and Pitt scoring another TD in the second half.

STEELERS STUMBLE

All the Plymouth-Canton Steelers teams had a tough time with the Ypsilanti Braves — except the junior varsity. They made an 11-yard scoring run by Andy Kocoolaki in the first quarter stand up for an 8-0 triumph, improving to 4-0.

The Steeler varsity fell to the Braves, 22-0, and the freshmen were beaten, 12-0.

Introducing the GOOD NEIGHBOR TEAM

A program to help "Keep The Heat On" this winter for needy people in the western suburbs of Detroit

The Good Neighbor Team is designed to provide furnace service and repair (non-emergency), and in some instances, parts and furnaces, to those who have no financial or other means of keeping their furnaces operating this winter. Up to 500 hours of service will be donated to those in need.

Indications that this program may be able to assist you:

- Marginal furnace operation
- Continuous falling of furnace
- Furnace no longer provides heat
- You have no financial means to repair furnace

Requests for service assistance will be monitored by the Salvation Army. Phone 313-663-2048 to request assistance on an automated answering service. Leave complete information, including name, address, and daytime where you can be contacted by the Salvation Army.

This is not an emergency service. This is not a heating bill payment program. As a heating safety reminder, always call your gas company immediately if you smell gas.

BOOK BREAK

VICTORIA DIAZ

Meeting the authors via videocassettes

One evening last week, I experienced - via some wonderful videocassettes - an up-close-and-personal, fireside visit with three of my favorite authors: Joyce Carol Oates, Toni Morrison and Ed McBain. (How's that for eclectic taste?)

If you'd like to get better acquainted with some of your favorite authors off-the-page, you might want to examine all the many authors-series videos currently available through major bookstores. (Also, don't forget to keep the cassettes in mind when you're out there this season, searching for the perfect holiday gift!)

In addition to Oates, Morrison, and McBain, videotapes are available on such noted writers as Joseph Heller, John LeCarre, Norman Mailer, Gatha Christie, Lillian Hellman, David Mamet, T. Coraghessan Boyle, Ernest Hemingway, and many, many others.

All of those I viewed featured not only personal interviews with the writer, but also included brief readings from their work, along with some discussion on how that work was created.

Oates talks with NPR

"Joyce Carol Oates" (In Our Time Arts Media, Inc., A Moveable Feast Series, $19.95). Running time: 30 minutes. Here, in her home beside a little creek just outside Princeton, N.J., the prolific author of fiction and non-fiction talks with National Public Radio correspondent Tom Vitale on her childhood, her writing and her relationship with the students she teaches at Princeton University.

The former University of Detroit professor also breaks out some childhood photos for Vitale. In one of them, she is a studious-looking pupil, part of a class at a one-room schoolhouse near Lockport, N.Y., her birthplace. Looking at the photo, she seems to feel slightly apologetic for her early education, grumbling a bit about how "it couldn't have been very good."

Throughout the interview, Oates is, by turns, surprisingly inarticulate and remarkably eloquent. (Husband Ray Smith who, with Oates, founded the Ontario Review Press in 1974, makes a brief, rather stilted appearance. In his presence, Oates seems to turn almost agonizingly bashful.)

At her most eloquent, she speaks of writers and the process of writing: "I think most novelists are like magpies or crows, taking bits of details and ingredients from real life and weaving them all together in a sort of fanciful nest . . ."

In the glass-walled office where she created it, Oates reads a vivid scene from her 1989 novel, "American Appetites."

"McBain" (RM Arts Profile of a Writer Series, $19.95). Running time: 55 minutes. Watching this, you get the distinct feeling that Ed McBain (aka Evan Hunter) is one of what is probably a minority of writers. The author of the popular 87th Precinct detective thrillers (and many other novels) seems to be a marvelously-gifted conversationalist.

In appearance, somewhere between a graying movie idol and an English professor who reads GQ, he takes us on a personal tour of his "literary domain" here. We visit the 9th Precinct

Southwest home furnishings take flight

■ The Sipapu Company, a Santa Fe/Taos home furnishings store, introduces authentic handcrafted Southwest furniture to Plymouth.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

On a flight back from Santa Fe, N.M., last Christmas Brian James and Lisa Ritchie had an idea. Why not bring a bit of the Southwest they loved so much back home to Michigan?

The two Livonia residents opened The Sipapu Company, a Southwest home furnishings shop in Plymouth last March. It features handcrafted Southwestern furniture, and a whole lot more.

"We wanted to surround ourselves with New Mexico," said Ritchie.

The name Sipapu comes from the Anasazi Indians who believe in the legend where they called a village on the site of Santa Fe, the dancing ground of the sun. They believe the people came from an underworld beneath the earth's surface. After many years, they emerged through the earth onto land and into the light. The small opening they came through is called Sipapu (see-pah-pohh).

Dining and bedroom sets, hutches, armoires, entertainment centers, tables, chests and benches are hand made by McMillan's Old Santa Fe Furniture Co. and Rob Doelling of Santa Fe.

"We wanted quality but to still be cost competitive with prices in New Mexico. We liked the things we were seeing there. It's their non-corporate, no corner-cutting style that appeals to us. Do this the way it should be done."

Sipapu also carries furniture by cowboy L.D. Burke who crafts all of his tables, mirrors, and benches accented with carved horses heads by hand. The pieces are delightful to look at as well as functional. The inscription along the bottom of one mirror reads "if my mare could cook I'd marry her."

"It certainly is whimsical. His furniture is distinctive, primarily one-of-a-kind especially this blue bench," said the 42-year-old James.

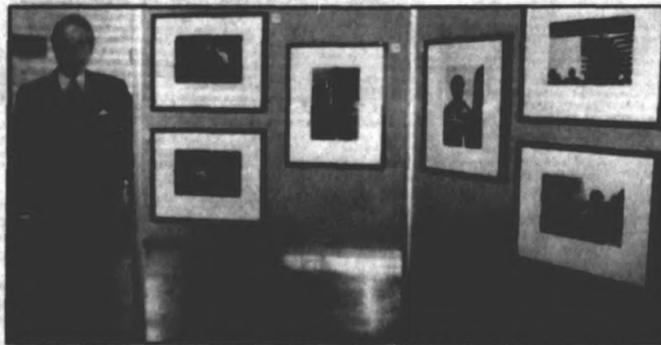

"All of the furniture merges well with other styles. You don't have to have an adobe house with two cactuses outside. You can put this furniture with different non-Southwest pieces. We encourage people to use Southwest. Even in the Southwest rarely does someone have Southwest furniture from the front door all the way through to the back door."

Along with Southwest furniture, The Sipapu Company is weavings, pottery and sculpture, not to mention accessories like Apache Indian warrior masks and tin lizards, symbols of perseverance in American Indian culture, all in a historic Queen Anne style structure

AMY EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Electronic Catalogue: James Aho of Westland designed and produced the "Countdown to Eternity" exhibit in Detroit. The 62 photographs by Benedict Fernandez focus on the final days before the April 8, 1968 assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

James Aho believes Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. would have liked the Detroit design and setting for "Countdown to Eternity," a photography exhibit by Benedict Fernandez continuing through Oct. 23 at Focus Hope's Center for Advanced Technologies at 1400 Oakman Blvd. in Detroit.

Combining computer technology, video and sound with Benedict's 62 black and white images immortalizing the last 355 days of the Nobel Peace Prize winner's life, Aho's multi-media presentation tempers tradition with state-of-the-art technology.

"The way Dr. King set about producing economic opportunity, if he were alive today he would have loved having the exhibit here because this building is really a 21st century high technology manufacturing facility meant to ensure equal economic opportunities for disadvantaged youth. When it was designed it was with a Star Trek image in mind," said Aho, a 17-year Westland resident formerly of Birmingham. "We wanted to combine a traditional gallery setting with high technology. Computer generated images from the exhibit cycle on the screen while sounds adding Dr. King's voice digitally mixed on a computer deepens the involvement."

Two massive screens follow the succession of images found in the catalogue. Video monitors at each end of the exhibit recall the era of civil rights marches and Dr. King's "I have a dream" speech. Photographs installed gallery style

■ ARTS AND CRAFTS NEEDED

Calling all artists and crafters from Garden City, Redford, Plymouth, Canton, Westland and Livonia, New Morning School in Plymouth is looking for you to exhibit in its fourth annual Celebration of the Arts 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 12 at the Northville Community Center.

The deadline for application has been extended to Oct. 30.

Participation is open to exhibitors who create art or crafts of original design and execution. Last year's juried show featured 70 artists exhibiting painting, pottery, jewelry, photography, fiber art, wood, wearables, and seasonal items. Proceeds from the event benefit New Morning School, a nonprofit preschool through eighth grade parent cooperative serving students of all abilities from the gifted to the learning disabled. For more information or to apply call show chairwoman, Leslie Stolaruk at (313) 420-1214.

were Aho's responsibility. He groups them according to events like Resurrection City, and Dr. King's funeral where separate images capture Jacqueline Kennedy and Robert F. Kennedy, who would die from an assassin's bullet only a few months later.

"I had a picture in mind of creating an electronic catalogue of the exhibition. In keeping with the electronic catalogue idea there's even an artist's statement at the beginning," said Aho, a grants writer in Focus Hope's development office.

Produced by the Manchester Craftsmen's Build with support from the Ford Foundation, the exhibit records Dr. King's life and death in the late 1960s. It captures the mood of the civil rights struggle and Dr. King's non-violent approach to it. Fernandez, founder and chairman of the photography department at Parsons School of Design/New School for Social Research in New York City for 22 years, does not consider himself a photojournalist but rather a photo-anthropologist or photo-editorialist. His complete body of work including the photograph of Dr. King's children gathered around the open casket at his funeral was finally released in 1990 by Dr. King's youngest daughter, Bonnie. It took the family 22 years to be able to deal with that image, and allow its publication.

"Most of these photographs have not been seen until recently," said Aho, a photographer who's exhibited work at the Scarab Club in Detroit.

"For the older viewer it's a remembering. What I want the children to come away with is history."

Aho hopes schools take advantage of the opportunity for a close-up view of history, and Focus Hope's Center for Advanced Technologies which serves not only inner city youth, but economically disadvantaged suburban youth as well with its Machinist Training Institute and through degree programs offered at CAT.

The nationally touring exhibition opened in Pittsburgh, Pa., and will be presented in communities of color and economic need throughout the United States. Sites hosting the exhibit were selected because of their commitment to community economic development. The belief that economic equality is a key to social justice was a major theme for Dr. King in the latter part of his life.

"Countdown to Eternity" has been exhibited in 27 countries including Africa and the former Soviet Union. It will make 13 stops in the United States.

The main event during the run of the Detroit exhibit will be the Walk for Justice Sunday, Oct. 9. Since the mid 1970s Focus Hope has annually brought together thousands of people from Detroit and its suburbs to walk peacefully together in support of civil and human rights. The Walk for Justice is patterned after the non-violent civil rights marches of Dr.

King.

Focus Hope is a metropolitan Detroit civil and human rights organization under the direction of the Rev. William Cunningham. Its purpose is to resolve the effects of discrimination and injustice and to build integration. Founded in 1968 as an interracial movement of volunteers, Focus Hope employs nearly 600 people and involves 42,000 volunteers to date. Its Food Prescription program supplies nutritious food to as many as 49,000 at risk mothers, infants and preschool children at five centers in Detroit, Inkster and Pontiac.

Exhibition hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week. For information or group reservations for the free exhibit call (313) 494-HOPE.

Livonia Artists set annual sale

BY LINDA ANN CHOMEN
SPECIAL WRITER

Fall is here and with those gold and red leaves come an abundance of gray, wet days. Brighten up the walls in your home or office with a new painting from one of the Livonia Artists Club members at its annual fall show and sale, Oct. 15-16 in Laurel Park Place Mall, Newburgh and Six Mile in Livonia.

From 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, 18 artists, predominately watercolorists, will display florals, landscapes and genre scenes in the style of Realism with a few abstracts thrown in for good measure. "It's all fine art, primarily watercolor. Oils have lost favor. Oils are so dark and heavy. Decorating has become so light and airy," said publicity person, Audrey Harkins.

"We've picked up a couple of new demonstrators this year. People really like to watch artists paint. We'll not only have watercolor but pastel demonstrations as well."

Demonstrating their watercolor technique for onlookers on Oct. 15 will be Livonia artists Eileen Bibby, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Al Weber, 2-4 p.m.; and Tom Igel, noted for his lighthouses and birds, 5-7 p.m.

On Oct. 16 Harkins will demonstrate watercolor, noon to 2 p.m. and Henry, pastels 2:30-4:30 p.m.

Harkins, whose lived in the same house in Livonia for 30 years, took her first watercolor class in a continuing education class in 1980 but has drawn for as long as she can remember.

"When I was a little girl, I drew clothes and colored them for paper dolls. It seems to be a natural instinct," said Harkins during an interview in her home where florals and landscapes line the walls as if it were a gallery.

After her husband of 41 years died in 1991, Harkins did not pick up a brush for eight months because "everything was dark." Eventually she began to see a little light and started painting and exhibiting again thanks to the support of her four sons, seven grandchildren and four granddogs. One of her latest works, a monotype of an iris, will be on display in the LAC show.

Prices for the framed art in the show will range from $50 for a monotype to $500 for a sofa-size painting.

The Livonia Artists Club has nearly 40 members who meet the third Monday of the month September to May in the Livonia Civic Center Library.

(similar to his fictional 87th), see what was once Italian Harlem (where he grew up during the Depression), soak up atmosphere at a blue-collar bar (where he and an interviewer stick out like sore thumbs), stroll through a snow-covered Central Park, and drop in at The Mysterious Bookshop.

McBain reads works

We also get a glimpse of his awesome office, and hear him read (nobody does it better) from several of his works.

I should emphasize that this film is not just something for McBain fans. Anyone looking for a gritty, audiovisual tribute to New York should be impressed.

"Toni Morrison" (RM Arts Profile of a Writer Series, $19.95). Running time: 52 minutes. Easily the most moving of the three productions, this quietly engaging, at-home interview with one of America's foremost novelists focuses mainly on Morrison's novel, "Beloved." Here, she talks at length about how it was conceived (rather circuitously), how it was written, and how she dealt with its painful subject (a mother who murders her own child to save it from slavery, then encounters its "spirit" in later life).

Answering those who perceive her characters as often larger-than-life, Morrison says that they are merely life-sized — then adds, in her melodic, mesmerizing voice, "Life is large."

Dramatic readings from the novel make this a timeless jewel of a production

Victoria Diaz of Livonia, a longtime member of Detroit Women Writers, tracks the books and literary industry for the Observer Newspapers. She has a lifelong interest in reading, "everything from great novels to cereal boxes." You can leave a message for her on a Touch-Tone phone by dialing 953-2047, then her mailbox number, 1854.

with half-tower built in 1893.

"The pottery is unique. We're concentrating exclusively on folks practicing pottery today to encourage the craft to continue," said James.

The hand-built pottery is made by the Indians of eight Northern pueblos including the Acoma, Santa Clara, Jemez and San Ildephonso.

"We tried to get a good cross section of the different pueblos in New Mexico," said the 28-year-old Ritchie.

From time to time, The Sipapu Company will present guest artists at the shop as they did last weekend during the first Plymouth is Artraqueous gallery walk. Storyteller dolls came alive with internationally acclaimed ceramic artist, Alma Loretto.

"The story behind the piece is what makes it so interesting," said Ritchie, currently a business student at Madonna University.

In addition to merchandise seen in the shop, doors, light fixtures, ristra, kivas and whatever you need to complete your authentic Southwestern decor is available through The Sipapu Company.

The Sipapu Company is at 298 S. Main Street and Penniman. Hours are 1-6 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday, or by appointment.

30-Year 4Max ARM

5.95% rate

8.498% APR

Most adjustable rate mortgages can jump 6% over the life of the loan. Ouch. Not the case with our 4Max ARM, which can jump no more than 4%. And as a homeowner, you'll save money with lower monthly payments the first year. Ahhh, much better.

Typical APR (annual percentage rate) includes interest on loan and other fees, and is based on a $100,000 loan with an 80% loan-to-value ratio. The APR may increase after closing. Interest rates and terms are subject to change at any time without notice.

B'ham condos rise from apartment

■ An older apartment community in Birmingham is getting a new lease on life as condominiums. Renovations are under way inside and out. Several former tenants are staying on as owners.

By DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Michigan Condominium Corp. has built both a niche and a reputation converting apartment buildings to condos in suburbia.

Its resume includes Bloomfield Club in the township, Valley Wood and Woods of Livonia in that community, Moon Lake in West Bloomfield and Rochester North there.

Its most recent project is Glennwood Terrace, 35 two-bedroom townhouses off Woodward at the Hunter junction in Birmingham. Units range in price from $89,900 to $124,990. About half are still available.

"Our usual plan when we buy is doing between 30 and 60 and 80 units and selling out within a year," said P. Craig Cubba, vice president for Michigan Condominium.

"Our major client over the years is the young, single professional or newly-married who wants to own rather than rent. And, empty-nesters, retirees. They want the advantage of living in a condo without exterior maintenance," Cubba said.

The apartments at Glennwood Terrace, constructed in 1958, were built in a semicircle on just under four acres. Mature trees now fill in the landscape.

The site is bounded by condos, a naturally-wooded flood plain and a cemetery. A short stub street funnels traffic to and from Woodward.

Most units are compact but functional with about 950 square feet.

The main level consists of a combination living room/dining room, kitchen and powder room. Two bedrooms upstairs share a full bath. The laundry is in an unfinished basement.

Standard features include air conditioning, refrigerator, range and dishwasher, choice of hardwood floors or carpeting and ceiling light fixtures including the bedrooms.

An a la carte menu of upgraded options includes finished basement ($6,750), new furnace ($1,350), new air conditioner ($1,250), refinishing of hardwood floors ($400-$1,500) and six-panel interior doors and locks ($1,500).

"There's new cabinets, countertop and vinyl in the kitchen," Cubba said. "The sink is new, faucets are new, all new appliances except microwave. Anything that's broken or cracked, we replace."

"All furnaces, I think, have been replaced in the last 10 years. Roofs are a couple of years old. We're redoing porches, landscaping, painting, putting brass outside. Lights are new," Cubba said.

The exterior is mostly brick with wood siding and trim.

"The architecture here is a little different from our other ones," he said. "Most don't have finished basements or hardwood floors. Buildings here lend themselves to more flexibility."

"What's nice about the conversion process is you can take a building, update it, and prices are 20 to 30 percent lower than if this were a new construction project."

"The major thing for this was proximity to downtown Birmingham," Cubba said. "I tried it and it's about a 15-minute walk from Woodward and Maple to here."

Most condo owners at Glennwood Terrace will pay a monthly association fee of $103, which includes water and maintenance.

The condominium subdivision is in the Birmingham Public Schools. The property tax rate for city, school and county services is estimated at about $45 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value.

That means the owner of a $100,000 condo in Glennwood Terrace would pay about $2,250 annually.

Jamee Floch and her son, Wyatt, have lived in Glennwood for six years and will become owners rather than tenants with the transformation from apartment to condominium.

Glennwood Terrace: Apartments in an attractive location can be converted to condominiums with some attention to detail on renovations, a builder here maintains.

"I'm a single mom. This is perfect for us," she said. "I looked around and knew there was nothing else comparable as far as price, location and safety."

"I think it's sort of mystical back here in a circle with lots of trees and a stream and ravine in back. I feel like we're in the country but near downtown."

Dorothy E. Porritt has lived at Glennwood since the complex was built in the late '50s and will continue to do so.

"I like the area," she said. "I was born in Birmingham. I can walk to town, which I like. It's nice and convenient. It's pretty. When the snow comes, the plow comes in. We get good service."

Both Floch and Porritt said they were initially surprised and dismayed to learn about the transformation to condo. But when they checked out alternatives, Glennwood seemed like a good buy.

"My son starts school in another year and I wanted Birmingham," Floch said. "Things seemed to fall into place."

"It's just a quiet courtyard setting . . . so convenient to Birmingham," said Gloria Phillips, sales representative.

The model/sales office at Glennwood Terrace, (810) 645-2520, is open 1-6 p.m. daily, closed Thursdays.

It's easy, it's powerful, it's Telenet

EMORY DANIELS

Using Telenet to access a destination is almost the same as using the telephone.

If you know the destination "address" for the destination site, then use Telenet in the same way you would direct dial on the phone.

Telenet is the oldest of the Internet access tools, and probably still is more efficient than Gopher and WWW.

In fact, the verb form "telnets" means to establish a connection to a remote computer connected to the Internet network.

To reach Telenet on O&E Online, go to the main menu, type P for Programs, I for Internet, and T for Telenet. A Telenet prompt appears on your screen. To connect to a site, merely use the command open. To "hang up" the connection to the remote site, type close at the prompt.

To connect to another computer using Telenet, you need to know either the remote computer's domain name or the machine Internet address (a series of numbers). The domain name usually is sufficient but sometimes won't connect.

When you first connect to a remote site, scan the welcome screen, menus, and helps given. Write down any special commands you will want to use, such as how to exit that site.

If you're at a remote site and can't find exit instructions, first try logoff and then close.

To reach Telenet on O&E Online, go to the main menu, type P for Programs, I for Internet, and

So let's log some Telenet miles on the Internet by visiting a few sites. First let's try the National Education Association bulletin board. At the Telenet prompt, type open nebbba.nesoc.gov and hit RETURN.

Sports fans can use Telenet for NBA, NHL, NFL schedules. For the NBA, at the prompt type open culins.colorado.edu 859 and for NHL do the same but substitute "860" for "859."

Telenet to the White House with open info.umid.edu, which will take you to the University of Maryland. Choose item 13

"Search Titles by Type" and enter "White House." Then use "White House" on second page of listed entries.

Voyager is a Lansing-based commercial on-line service that will let you try it out for an hour or so.

You may have your favorite Telenet access sites. E-mail them to me, and I will share with readers like you in a future column.

You can direct questions to Emory Daniels by e-mail with emory@oconline.com, at voice mail at 953-2047 then dial 1910, or fax number 591-7279.
